LITTLE LOCAL ITEMS

MATTERS OF INTEREST TO THE PEOPLE OF THE COMMUNITY

Octavino Perea and mother of Lincoln, are in Carrizolo for a few days visiting with relatives.

Geo. Spence, Jr., is back from a trip to Albuquerque and other poins in the central part of the territory.

Manager Barlow of the Vera Cruz mines left for a short business trip of a few days.

W. T. Butler, electrician at the Vera Cruz mines, was in town over Sunday.

Milton Baird, who is with an engineering corps at Tucumcari, was in town over Sunday.

Prof. C. L Davis, teacher in the White Oaks school, was down for Saturday and Sunday.

George Roslington, who has been quite ill with typhoid fever for some time, is able to be around again.

Misses Nettie Lee and Nellie McMain spent Sunday in White Oaks. Miss McMain's mother returned to Carrizozo with them.

Miss Nettie Lee was taken suddenly ill at the bank on last Monday. She was taken home and is gradually recovering.

Howard Hall is mounting one of the largest deer heads that has ever been seen in this country. The buck was killed by Frank Gray.

Mrs. E. R. Kelley left the latter part of last week for Albuquerque, where she will visit with her daughter for some time.

Passenger train No. 3 was held here for quite a little while yesterday on account of the derailment of several cars of a freight train below Oscuro.

Dr. and Mrs. E. G. Sugg left yesterday for New York. The doctor has disposed of his business here and they have left us for all time.

Miss Lorena Sager is assisting with the books at the Exchange Bank for a few days during the illness of Miss Nettie Lee.

Mrs. A. H. Harvey has been suffering from a severe attack of neuralgia in the teeth for the past week or so.

Thos. J. Haddy and wife, of Calumet, Mich., who has accepted a contract with the Vera Cruz mines to have mined so much ore per day on an average, reached here Saturday, and has gone out to the mines.

W. C. McDonald and H. W. Hall have moved their office from the building occupied by the News to the Oriental building formerly occupied by Frank Tapp.

We understand that school will be opened in the new school house on next Monday morning. Work was completed on it Wednesday and if the contractor, Mr. Laughlin, arrives in time to turn it over to the school board it will be occupied next week.

Any one noticing Mr. E. Babcock strutting around like a successful candidate, or any one wondering why the aforesaid gent fails to speak should not be too harsh with him. Since last Sunday he is the daddy of a fine big boy.

Miss Elsie Mountz, a graduate of the State Normal University of Pennsylvania, has arrived in Carrizozo and has accepted a position as teacher in the Carrizozo schools, having charge of the third, fourth and fifth grades. Miss Mountz has been in Torrance county teaching for the past two years.

On Wednesday of this week we were the recepient of a big box of fine home-grown apples—the kind they raise over about Lincoln. Great, big, lucious fellows, and they taste better than they look. Mr. Octavino Perea, one of the old-timers and best known of Lincoln county citizens, was the doner, and he sure is entitled to our most sincere thanks, which we hereby extend.

A hunting party composed of Contrator Melton, O. M. Henry, Chas McMasters, Phoebe Guthrie, Frank Pearce and E. D. Fred, all of Carrizozo, and W. H. Forbes and son, Willie, of El Paso, left town at an early hour last Sunday and went out to Water Canyon in quest of quail. The party spent the entire day out there, returning that evening with over one hundred birds and a wagon load of cotton tials.

Jewell, the little seven year old daughter of "Skeet" Henley, met with a very painful accident on last Wednesday morning, when, in company with several other little girls, she was playing around a new house being erected near her parents home. In some manner the little ones knocked over a window frame, and in its fall struck little Jewell on the head and arm. Quite a bad cut was made in the childs head and her arm was badly bruised, no bones being broken however.

SCHOOLS CLOSE

On last Monday morning the public schools of Carrizozo on the north side were closed for the week on account of the fact that scarlet fever was in the town, and it was deemed judicious not to expose the children.

Emuel, the ten-year-old son of Mrs. Syl Anderson, was the unfortunate youngster to first suffer from the disease, but we are informed that he is doing very nicely and it is not feared that the trouble will spread to other families.

FIRED THE CREW

The entire crew on the Rock Island dining car from which the Chinamen were taken at Carrizozo by immigration officers a few days ago, is said to have been discharged as soon as the car reached Chicago.

This is the fate met by the other diner crew who were supposed to have secreted Chinamen a few months ago, except that in that case the employes of the railroad company apparently took it for granted that they would be discharged and did not again show up.

MIDNIGHT FIRE

At about midnight on last Friday Carrizozo had another midnight fire. This time it was the Stokes building, on El Paso Avenue, near Second street, and the old frame house just north of it.

The larger building was built about ten months ago by C. M. Stokes, and was for a time occupied by Mrs. A. J. Phelps as a millinery store. More recently Mr. Stokes sold the building to Geo. Roslington and W. F. A. Gierke, who are the losers by the fire These gentlemen had no insurance, being at the time of the blaze waiting for rates on the building. The other building was owned by some Texas parties and the loss on it was in considerable. Messrs. Roslington and Gierke suffer a loss of probably $650.00 or $700.00, and it is supposed that the fire was caused by tramps starting a fire in the old building.

TO STUDY MEDICINE

Melvin G. Paden, Jr., left on the latter part of last week for Louisville Kentucky where he will persue a medical course in the Louisville University.

Melvin is a graduate of the New Mexico Military Institute at Roswell completing the course there last Spring.

He will be away from home for two years at least, spending his vacation next summer at the old home in Virginia.

The people of Carrizozo wish him the greatest success, and although he will be greatly missed, we are assured that he is preparing himself for a great future.

THE FATAL GUN

Under the above heading, the St. Louis Times appropriately calls attention to the "pistol toting" habit as follows:

When Robin Cooper and Senator Carmack of Tennessee met, each was armed. Had neither man carried a pistol there would have been no shooting. The country's criminal history is filled with incidents proving that the habit of carrying deadly weapons is quite as serious as any of the disagreeable things that prevail in the United States.

Senator Carmack is dead because of a trifling difference in politics that might have been adjusted over a cup of tea or a mint julep. Had the two men come together in the street at a time when both were unarmed somebody's face might have been slapped or somebody might have had a black eye as a result of a scrimmage but it is hardly likely Carmack would have died, and there would not have begun a feud of vast proportions.

When Harry Thaw went to the Madison Roof Garden in the summer of 1906 he made a mistake in taking a pistol with him. The pistol ended the life of a man, but it didn't punish the bad man, for the reason that Sanford White never knew that he was struck and consequently had no knowledge of the penalty he was paying for his wrong doing. Young Thaw has been paying, however a very high price for the satisfaction he had in standing over a dead man's form with a smoking pistol in hand. But for this pistol White might have continued a few years longer in spite of his ill health and Thaw would have saved the state New York a large sum of money.

While pistol carrying is practiced all over the country, and is everywhere productive of bad results, the real home of the gun toter is south, many instances, hot headedness is mistaken for pride. The hair trigger gentlemen of the southern states would do well to leave their pistols at home or remove the chips from their shoulders.

HELD FOR VAGRANCY

On yesterday morning Constable John Adams raided the Red Light district and arrested four women, Mattie Smith, Juanita Saldiva, Jessie Kelly and Carmen Alonzo, on the charge of vagrancy. The four were arraigned before Squire Thompkins Thursday afternoon, and on motion of their attorneys Spence and Hall, entered pleas of not guilty, and asked for time to prepare their cases.

Judge Thompkins continued all four cases until 9 o'clock tomorrow and released the women under a one hundred dollar bond each.

Many of the better element of our citizens are high in their praise of Constable Adams' action and consider his efforts to rid the community of undesirable characters is a just one. Especially the location of the nuisance is what is galling to most people, the place being in what is probably the most used of any thoroughfare entering the town.

THE OUTLOOK

Enterered as second class matter January 4th, 1907, at the postoffice at Carrizozo, New Mexico, under the Act of Congress of March 3rd, 1879.

A WEEKLY NEWSPAPER DEVOTED TO THE INTERESTS OF LINCOLN COUNTY
PUBLISHED EVERY FRIDAY BY ERNEST D FRED

SUBSCRIPTION PRICE

One Year (in advance) $1.00
If not paid within six months $1.50

The temporary roll call of the house of representatives for the sixty-first congress has been completed and published It represents a chars list of the new house as shown by unofficial election returns, and givee the politics of all of them. According to the publication the next houss will consist of 210 republicans and 172 democrats, a total of 391; against 389 in the house during the last session, of whom 223 were ree publicans and 166 democrats. The result is a net loss of four from th- republican side and a net gain of six on the democratic side, the discred pancy being due to present vacancies. All told, the democrats gained seventeen districts, and the republicans twelve. The most marked advance made by the democrats was in Indiana, the home of Mr. Bryan's running mate, Mr. Kern. Of the entire thirteen members constituting the Indiana delegation, only two will be republicans in the next congress, whereas in the present congress there are eight republicans from that state. Colorado will not send so many democrats as Indiana, owning to her smaller population, but that state recorded even a greater revolution in that, whereas, all three members of the present delegation are now republican, in the next house all three will be democratic. Mr Bryan's own state of Nebraska added two to the democratic column of the house, making an equal division of the six members from that state.

Of the other democratic gains, Ohio recorded three, Illinois one and Kentucky one.

The most striking accretions of the republicans were made in North Carolina, where three members were taken from the democratic column, and in Oklahoma, where there was a gain of two. Missouri and Pennsylvania also switched two members to the republican side, and New Jersey, Rhode Island and Wisconsin each supplied one to the republican side.

Whenever a demure little miss, any where from 16 to 60, rushes up to you, throws her arms around your neck and calls you "daddy," you may be justified in having a hunch that you are being "stung." The following is a clipping from yesterdays El Paso Herald, and is a special from San Antonio, Texas, to that paper: "Thomas L. Ryan, a traveling salesman of Kansas City, is looking for a pretty girl who rushed up to him as he got off a train at the Sunset depot, throw her arms around his neck and called him "papa."

Ryan wants to get another look at the girl, for he believes that she can explain the sudden disappearance of a $125 diamond stud from his shirt front.

It was one of the most clever thefts ever committed here. Ryan says that the the girl evidently bit the diamond from its fastenings. The girl claimed to have made a mistake in Ryan for her father, whom she was expecting on this train and, after she disappeared, Ryan discovered his loss. He at once reported the matter to the police."

Says the New York Evening Post, Who shall say which is the true American woman, the housekeeper of the Kansas farm, of the Tennessee mountain cabin or the city flat? There is no composite of the American woman, who is least of all to be studied on Fifth avenue or Newport, or to be judged by the "stories" about her in the illustrated Sunday supplements. That she has her faults, wherever she be, is perfectly obvious, since she is but human. We are inclined to think that a serious and careful student would find the educated American woman less interested in political and social questions than her sisters abroad. But, on the other hand, if there is narrowness along these lines, where is her equal for charitable work? Where any others who merit such praise for maintaining the artistic and the refining influences of the home?

A peculiar state of affairs exists in regard to the election returns from Torrance county, and the failure on the part of that county to make returns leaves in doubt the result as to how the race between Messrs. Lutz and Hewitt will terminate. In answer to a telegram from "The Outlook" to Nathan Jaffa, Secretary of State, last Wednesday, the following message was received by us: "Returns not in from Torrance county. Can give no information yet." It certanly looks peculiar that such a county as Torrance, where every district in the county has communication with others, should be over two weeks getting in its election returns. As the matter now stands there is a very great doubt as to which of the above mentioned gentlemen has been elected as councilman.

The republican leaders of the territory should get together at once and start an energertic movement toward securing statehood at the approaching session of congress. Mr. Andrews stated during the campaign that he was very positive that if elected he would get statehood at the short cession of the present congress and he was supported in the statement by every one of the prominent republicans of the territory who took an active part in the campaign. The statement came very near being a promise. It was made in perfect good faith in spite of democratic insinuations to the contrary, and no stone should now be left unturned to show once more the utter folly and futility of democratic predictions.—Socorro Chieftain.

Delegate in Congress W. H. Andrews, elected to succeed himself as New Mexico's representative at the national capitol, left Albuquerque Saturday night for Washington, to begin knew the campaign which is to result in the admission of New Mexico into the union at the hands of the next congress, according to Mr. Andrews statement.

Much pension business and other matters which have been accumulating will keep the delegate very busy from now on in Washington.

Over in Russia they fine people who kiss in public. It costs ten roubles if a copski catches you osculating on the street, or ten roubles if the horrid deedski is done in a street car or railway trainovitch. A young lady recently kissed her mother in a street car, and it cost her the ten roubles, which is $7.70 in United States money. A recent enactment renders persons who send declaration of love on post cards liable to a fine of five roubles.

BETTER TIMES

Times are improving in the Sunshine Territory. Wool is going up in price and is selling rapidly and lambs are bringing very good figures Many of the sheep raisers have either sold or contracted for the sale of their lambs and during the present month 150,000 lambs will be shipped out of New Mexico to the big livestock markets and to feeders. This will bring a good deal of cash to the territory. Wool is also moving and is now bringing from twelve to thirteen cents per pound. The mining interests especially of Lincoln county are very active and several of the big mining companies there are putting on an increased force of miners and placing much new machinery in operation. It is estimated that 150 miners are now emyloyed at good wages and more will be put on in the spring. This brings a good deal of money into circulation in the territory and makes times better for all concerned.—New Mexican.

JOHN L. SULLIVAN ON ELECTION RETURNS

It's a good job for every man out of jail that the election is over, for there's been heaps of things hanging fire till the wind jamming was shut off and the votes tallied. Some of the also-rans think that the country is going to spring a leak because they didn't win, but it aint. Inside of two months if there are any men out of work it will be because they don't want work, not that they can't get it.

All the country needs is a rest from con-talk so the farmers can spend the money coming to them from the big crops I've seen gathered in the big states of the West, and the factories in the East will have to hump themselves to keep up with what's wanted.

This country is going to be too darned busy to listen to the yells of soreheads, and every duck with a dent in his politics better forget it and reach out for his part of the plunder that's due everybody that's in right with himself.

EASY PICKING

On last Monday when P. M. Johnson and Ed Harris went out after some horses that were grazing between Mr. Johnson's house and the mal pais, they saw three deer with the bunch of horses. Mr. Harris went back to the house after a gun and when he returned had no trouble in killing one of the deer.

KEEP MONEY HERE

The names of six government depositories which are to handle the receipts of the United States Forest Service, after December 1, when its organization for the administration of the National Forests will be removed from Washington to six field districts in the west, have just been announced.

The designation of western banks to handle the moneys recieved from timber sales, permits for stock grazing and for special uses of various resources in the National Forests is an innovation which will mean that all the receipts of the Forest Service in the future will be deposited to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States and made available for cirulation in the part of the country from which it is derived, within the limits of the amounts allowed by law for government deposits, instead of being forwarded to the Treasurer at Washington. The banks which have been named and which have all consented to serve the government are located in the district headquarters of the Forest Service at Denver, Ogden, Albuquerque, Missoula, Portland and San Francisco.

They are as follows:

Western Montana National Bank, Missoula, Montana. Headquarters of first district, including northeastern Washington, northern Idaho, northern Wyoming and northwestern South Dakota

Denver National Bank, Denver, Colorado. Headquarters of second district, including Colorado, southern Wyoming, South Dakota, northwestern Minnesota, Nebraska, western Kansas, southeastern Utah.

First National Bank, Albuquerque, New Mexico. Headauarters of third district, including Arizona, Arkansas, New Mexico and Oklahoma.

First National Bank, Ogden, Utah. Headquarters of fourth district, including Utah, southern Idaho, western Wyoming, eastern Nevada, and northwestern Arizona

First National Bank, San Francisco, California Headquarters for fifth district, including California, and southwestern Nevada.

First National Bank, Portland, Oregon. Headquarters for sixth district, including Washington, Oregon, a small part of northern California, and Alaska.

The estimated receipts for the National Forests for the present fiscal year will be approximately $2,000,000, making the receipts from each of the six districts range from $275,000 to $350,000. The depositories will receive all remittances due the government for use of the National Forests after December 1, and deposit them to the credit of the Treasurer of the United States, According to the plan which has been approved by the officials of the United States Treasury, the Forest Service and the officers of the various depositories, when a timber sale, stock grazing, or special use application is made, the forest supervisor will fill out a letter of transmittal in duplicate and tell the applicant to remit the amount directly to the national bank which is the depository for the district. Remittances will be in the form of a national bank draft, express or post office money order and will be payable to the bank, since forest supervisors are not allowed to receive money. The letter of transmittal is virtually a deposit slip to accompany the remittance. The duplicate copy goes to the district fiscal agent All remittances will be assembled and checked up at the end of each day, a single certificate of deposit made out by the bank and mailed to the Secretary of the Treasury. This simple plan which has required months for the Teasury officials and officers of the Forest Service to perfect, is one which will expedite business both for the users of the National Forests and for the force n the office o; each district forester, and at the same time will make it possible for the government to deposit the National Forest receipts in western banks, and help the circulation in that particular section of the country where it is originally spent.

A PECULIAR DISTINCTION

Probably never in the history of the courts of this country has such a decision been rendered as was recently handed down in the highest criminal court in the state of Texas. It will certainly prove of deep intrest to those students of criminal law, for the points involved, are ones that frequently come up in trails of such cases.

The decision is nothing more nor less than that a man may hand a woman a deadly poison, well knowing that she intends to use it to take her own life and at the same time, unless he uses force or threat, he is not criminally liable for her death.

The decision has created considerable of a stir in Texas. The history of the case is as follows:

Pearl Baxter was an attractive young girl who lived in her father's family on a ranch in Archer county, which is situated in the northern part of Texas, not far from the Oklahoma line. Among the neighbors was a young man named Sanders. He had paid her a marked attention, and there can be no doubt that she had the utmost confidence in his assurances of affection. A time came, however, when the ardor of that affection lessened, greatly to the young woman's distress. There were suggestions that he had become engaged to be married to another. In her anguish Pearl Baxter threatened suicide, and it is believed that she more than than once informed her fickle lover that she contemplated taking her own life. While she was in this state of mind she left her father's house one evening and called at the home of Sanders, who lived with his sister in a neighboring village. She did not find him there but as she was coming away she met him in the street and they had some conversation and then separated. Pearl Baxter returned to her father's house and went to bed but between 1 and 2 o'clock in the morning it was discovered that she was not in her room. She had evidently gone from the house barefooted, for the tracks left by her naked feet upon the damp earth were followed into a sorghum patch, where she was found upon the ground, dead, with a bottle containing a small quantity of carbolic acid by her side. Her death was subsequently proved to have been due to carbolic acid poisoning.

Sanders was indicted for her murder and found guilty. The theory of the prosecution was that he had by force or fraud or threats compelled the girl to take the carbolic acid which destroyed her life. The conviction has been set aisde by the court of criminal appeals of Texas on the ground that the indictment was insufficient, because it failed properly to negative the idea that Pearl Baxter took it voluntarily and of her own free will. According to the law of Texas as laid down in the opinon of reversal, Sanders was not criminally liable for her death to any extent or in any respect, even though he knew that carbolic acid was a deadly poisoniand that the girl intended to take it, unless he excercised some force or used some deception induce her to do so.

CELEBRATED THE ELECTION

Over in Italy at a little town not far from Naples, the news of the election of Mr. Taft was received in due course of time and it resulted in a celebration which would have done credit to most any small town in this country.

It seems that a majority of the residents of the place had lived in the United States and intended returning to this country as soon as business conditions warranted the belief that they would have plenty of steady employment. Others had heard from returning immigrants of the political situation in America

From the election of Mr. Taft these residents of a far distant country, held a big mass meeting, made eulogistic speeches, exploded fireworks and celebrated the occasion in regular American style.

The demonstration indicated the faith even these foreign people had in the ability of the Republican party to maintain prosperty and it also showed their affection for the land of the free, of which many of them will doubtless yet become citizen.

KILLED HUSBAND

Las Vegas, N. M., Nov, 16—During the term of court which begins today Mrs. Virginia Valdez de Teitlebaum will be arrained on the charge of mudering her husband, J. H. Teitlebaum, a merchant at Tecolote, who was brutaly murdered in his store some months ago.

Teilitlebaum was murdered Saturday, Feburary 14, 1908, in his bedroom at the rear of his store at Tecolote, southwest of Las Vegas. He was found lying on the floor partially dressed. The walls of the room and the floor were spattered with blood, there were great gashes in his face and head and also finger marks on his throat.

David Encinias confessed and implicated Leandro Romero and Estevan Domingues. They were tried at the May term of court, found guilty and are now serving life sentences in the penetentary at Santa Fe.

Leandro Romero confessed a part in the crime and testified that he was urged to commit murder by Mrs. Teitlebaum, who promised to marry him when her husband was put out of the way. Since her arrest Mrs. Teitlebaum has become a mother.

RESTORATION TO ENTRY OF LANDS IN NATIONAL FOREST

Notice is hereby given that the lands described below, embracing 214.80 acres, within the Lincoln National Forest, New Mexico, will be subject to settlement and entry under the provisions of the homestead laws of the United States and the act of June 11, 1906 (34 Stat., 233), at the United States land office at Roswell, New Mexico on Jan. 11, 1909. Any settler who was actually and in good faith claiming any of said lands for agricultural purposes prior to January 1, 1906, and has not abandoned same, has a preference right to make a homestead entry for the lands actually occupied. Said lands were listed upon the applications of the persons mentioned below, who have a preference right subject to the prior right of any such settler, provided such settler or applicant is qualified to make homestead entry and the preference right is exercised prior to Jan. 11, 1909 on which date the lands will be subject to settlement and entry by any qualified person. The lands are as follows: a tract of 37 acres situated in what will probably be, when surveyed, the S ½ of Section 11 and the W ½ of SW ¼, Sec. 12, T. 9 S. R 11 E, NMM, bounded and described as follows: Beginning at a Forest Service monument consisting of a granite stone set on top of a mound of stones, situated on the left bank of Tortolito Canyon 111 feet from the center of the channel, whence Gaylord Peak bears S 14° west; extending thence N. 85° 40′ W, 990 feet; thence S, 82° 10′ W, 1750 feet; thence S, 86° 30′ W, 2160 feet; thence S, 6° W, 295 feet; thence N, 89° E, 2960 feet; thence N 8° E, 330 feet; then e S, 86° E, 1845 feet; thence N 9° E, 320 feet to the point of beginning, Variation 12° 30′ E.
