There is said to be a man in Alamo who kisses his wife every morning before going to work, and then his associates wonder why he is always so sour for an hour or so in the morning. Possibly a glimpse of the wife would answer their wonder.

Harry Sims, proprietor of the Valley Ranch, a resort near Pecos, in San Miguel county, has been appointed receiver of the federal land office in Las Cruces. vice H. S. Bowman, resigned. Mr. Sims has been active in New Mexico politics for a long time and is a brother of United States district attorney Sims, of Chicago, the federal official who succeeded in geting a $29,000,000 fine against the Standard Oil company.

To the people up in the frozen north it may seem strange to hear of bees swarming on Christmas eve but that is just what occurred on the Rosedale place, the residence of J. M. Conn, near Artesia. On the afternoon of December 24, Mrs. Coon was attracted by a familiar sound in apiary and looking there saw a swarm of bees gathering just as if it were the eve of the 4th of July.

County Surveyor Thuerer returned on Wednesday from almost a week's stay in Lincoln. The Surveyor will soon have to visit the lower end of the county and make an estimate on the probable cost of repairing the road from Lincoln to the county line toward Roswell.

A meeting preliminary to the organization of a local lodge of Rebekahs was held at the Bank building on Wednesday night of this week. From all indications at the present it won't be a great while until we will, in fact, have a local lodge of this organization.

Syl Anderson is compiling a book explanatory of the resources of Lincoln County and will soon have ten thousand copies of it doing missionary work for this section among the farmers of the north and east. This is a good move and will doubtless prove of value to the county. Other sections are profuse in their use of "printers ink" and reap the harvests thereof, but little has ever been done to let the outside world know of what we have to offer the newcomer.

The Carrizozo Automobile Company have just purchased a 24-horse power Buick car and will soon be in position to handle a big business. They have secured the services of Mr. Frank Jones, of El Paso, and that gentleman will have charge of the mechanical end of the business. The company anticipates putting on a daily service between this place and Lincoln by way of Nogal, Capitan and Ft. Stanton. They expect to carry the mail and if successful in securing the contract will give the mail from the east to Ft. Stanton to the addresse fully two hours earlier than parties at Ft. Bliss get theirs. It is a commendable enterprise and we wish it success.

A CARD

Owing to repeated calls for the second production the School play will be given again on Friday night January 15.

Practically all expense of the last production can be eliminated as we have all the materials on hand, and it is hoped that a larger amount may be raised for the school fund, than before.

The doors will be open at 7.30 and the entertainment will begin at 8 o'clock. The admission has been put down to 25 cents to all parts of the house and no seats will be reserved. Work on a second play, to be given about the middle or last of February, will begin soon.

In behalf of the members of the members of the Club, I thank the public for the interest and appreciation it has manifested.

KILLING AT ALAMOGORDO

Thursday of last week the quiet little town of Alamo was considerably worked up over the killing of a Mexican on the streets. It seems that five of the grading gang from north of town were here waiting for their time and to help it along they were drinking. On their way out of town two of them engaged in a fuss over $1.25 which the murderer claims the murdered man owed him. In the quarrel the one struck the other with a rock and no sooner was it done than he retorted with a dagger thrust which pierced the heart. The man walked about 25 yards, and dropped dead. The murderer and his companions went on down the track but were captured about 2 1-2 miles from town and are now in jail. The parties are all from old Mexico. —Alamogordo News.

SCARLET FEVER WAGES

A very deplorable state of affairs exists at Lincoln and in fact all through the lower end of the county in regard to the acute prevalence of Scarlet Fever.

A fair estimate of the number of cases was given to us by a highly responsible party as being about seventy-five, and another well-informed and equally reliable gentleman placed the number of deaths resulting from the trouble as being fully fifty.

And what is still worse is the fact that absolutely no precaution is taken to prevent a spread of the disease. No evidence of a quarantine is to be found and everybody in that community is continually exposed if they venture on the public thoroughfares.

Children are dying every week and new cases are heard of all the time. If the matter continues until warm weather, and it doubtless will, it is hard to tell where or what the end will be.

LIVE STOCK AND AGRICUTURE

"The secret of successful farming will be found in live stock," said Mr. James J. Hill, the railroad magnate of the Northwest a few weeks ago. "Our farmers must learn how to farm. Every year they are robbing the soil, taking away and putting nothing back.

Every year the crops grow smaller under that kind of farming. The only redemption is to feed as much of the products as possible to live stock and return the manure to the land. The farmers of other countries know more than we do. They have been farming for thousands of years and their lands are richer today than ever. We must learn how to breed and feed live stock—that is the secret. Establish stock shows, and the whole country should be interested in such events.

"In 1950 the population of the United States will be 200,000,000. It will take products of all our agricultural lands to feed us and if we destroy the producing power of our lands instead of building it up, we will starve. The future of the country depends upon agriculture. The only successful agriculture is that built upon live stock as a foundation."

Mr. Hill is right, but already the people are waking up and the interest in live stock is evidenced by the growth of such live stock expositions as the National Show at Denver, which opens its Fourth annual event in the new Amphitheatre on January 19th.

We extend to all our numerous customers

The Compliments of the Season and thank one and all for their liberal patronage during the past year.

We will endeavor to merit your confidence the coming year.

TAYLOR & WINGFIELD

What was one of the most high-handed and most crudely disguised attempts at graft, magnitude considered, ever perpetrated upon the long-suffering and ever-patient tax-payers of Lincoln County was the farce of considering bids for the county printing by our Honorable Board of County Commissioners at their session early in the week.

At their last session the Commissioners ordered a notice to be printed calling for bids on the county printing for the ensuing two years. Such notice was published, and two bids were the result. One of these bids was rendered from this office and the other eminated from the office of the Carrizozo News.

These bids were opened late in the afternoon session on Monday. That of "The Outlook," a Republicau paper, was found to be, on an average, fully 25 per cent lower than that of The News, a Democratic paper.

Now here was an unlooked for state of affairs and necessitated prompt and radical action. In order to spar for wind and hold more button-hole conversations, at 4:05 p. m. the Commissioners adjourned until Tuesday morning.

After supper on Monday night these guardians of the public funds met in closed session in a room adjoining the County Clerk's office and went more extensively into a comparison of the two bids. But no kind of figuring at their hands could make the bid of our competitor compare with that of "The Outlook" in point of economy.

Immediately after the Commissioners came forth from their "star chamber session" we asked their conclusion in the matter and was, by them, informed that no conclusion had been arrived at.

On Tuesday morning we were in the court room before the body opened its deliberations, which they did at 8:50 a. m., and the first matter considered was that of awarding the above contract.

Taylor, in a very abrupt manner, said he favored the bid of the News, giving no reason for so doing. Mr. Duran then spoke up and said in a very forceful manner that he favored the lower bid. He said that he considered one bid just as responsible as the other; that as a matter of business economy the "Outlook s" bid was highly prefferable; that Mr. Haley had enjoyed the revenue of the public printer for a number of years in succession, and that a change was no more than just, and insofar as he was able he would protect the public funds, and was in favor of the bid from this office as a matter of economy.

Again did Taylor come forward with: "Well, I still favor the bid of the News. Don't you, Charley?" "Yes," replied Wingfield, and that was how the tax-payers came to loose a possible two or three hundred dollars, "Maybe."

The possibility of this "maybe" coming to the rescue arises in the simple fact that "The Outlook" has employed Messrs. Barber & Gierke, attorneys, and has appealed from the outrageous, and we contend, illegal, action on the part of Taylor and Wingfield, and will ask the District Court to decide as to whether or not the tax-payers of the county must pay the political and friendly debts of these two gentlemen.

A clever press agent in New York who wanted to give a story the widest possible circulation, went to all the newspaper offices and threatened them with various and sundry court proceedings if they dared publish a word of it. The result was that every paper issued an extra edition with the story prominently displayed on the front page just to show the press agent that they were not to be intimidated.

One way of promulgating good government is to donate the county printing to the "official organ" without calling for bids and another way is to declare for your favorite office regardless of what effect it will have upon the county Treasury after bids are called for.

A Hot Springs, Ark., dispatch says, "Senator Elkins came here yesterday afternoon to take seven baths." How dirty some folks must be, to need seven baths in one afternoon. No wonder Abruzzi hesitated about marrying into such a family.

Those bank robbers who looted a safe in Iowa the other day and secured only $5,000 are to be pitied. They escaped in an automobile and at the speed they were driving when last seen, $5,000 will be a mere bagetelle in repairing the machine.

An exchange informs us that J. D. R'k'f'l'r recently had another tooth extracted. Well, what of it, he still has as many teeth as hairs.

And now Champ Clark says the average cost of a woman's hat is about $5.00. Champ you're a ——.
