I, Leslie Ellis, Clerk of the Probate Court and ex-officio Recorder of the County of Lincoln, New Mexico, do hereby certify that the above is a true and correct statement of the financial condition of Lincoln County, New Mexico, as shown by the records of this office.

In testimony whereof, I have hereunto set my hand and affixed my official seal, this 30th day of January, A.D., 1904.

[seal] LESLIE ELLIS, Probate Clerk and ex-officio-Recorder, Lincoln County, New Mexico.

Death of Captain Lea of Roswell.

Captain J. C. Lea, first mayor of Roswell, died in that city Friday last of pneumonia, after an illness of eight days. Captain Lea was a descendant of one of three brothers, natives of England, who in the early colonial days crossed the Atlantic to the new world. Among these descendants was numbered R. E. Lee of Confederate fame. Captain Lea was born in Tennessee in '41. He served through the civil war on the confederate side, retiring with the rank of captain. He came to New Mexico in '75; arrived in the Pecos Valley in '77, where he engaged in cattle raising. Roswell was then a cattle ranch, 400 miles from a railroad, and part of this county. He served as county commissioner of Lincoln county for a number of years. Captain Lea saw Roswell grow from a cattle ranch to a progressive American town of 5,000 people. He was instrumental in the creation of Eddy and Chaves counties in the legislative session of '89. He was a member of the board of regents of the New Mexico Military Institute. He was elected first mayor of Roswell last December, as a token of respect and esteem. At one time he was one of the largest property owners in Chaves county, and at the time of his death still held much valuable Roswell city property. His demise was unexpected and will be regretted by the many who had the pleasure of knowing him during his long, active and honorable career as a citizen of New Mexico.

A Lincoln County Outlaw Captured.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Lewis, of Socorro county, returned to Socorro Thursday with Claud Barbee who is under indictment in the fifth district for the killing of Special Officer Hamilton, of Lincoln county, of Nogal some four years ago. It is charged by the Bisbee Review that Barbee was kidnapped from the jail at Douglas, Arizona and hurried across the line to avoid habeas corpus proceedings which had been instituted in his favor. There is no confirmation of this and the fact that the New Mexico officer got his prisoner is about all that interests the Socorro county officials. Barbee has been employed since the killing on the Double Circle ranch near Clifton, Arizona. He was given a preliminary hearing before Judge Green and his preliminary trial set for February 23.

Call for a Republican County Convention.

A delegate convention of the republican voters of Lincoln county is hereby called to meet at the courthouse, in the town of Lincoln at two o'clock p.m., Saturday, the 27th day of February, 1904, for the purpose of electing five delegates to represent the county in the republican territorial convention, called to meet at Las Vegas, on March 19, 1904, and to transact such other business as may come before said convention. The respective chairmen of the various precincts, who were appointed and acted as such during the last campaign, will call primary meetings in their respective precincts, and at such meetings the voters will elect the same number of delegates from each precinct, to attend the convention at Lincoln, called as above, that they elected to the last republican county convention. G. B. BARBER, Chairman Republican County Central Committee. I. N. Analla, Secretary.

THE CAPITAN NEWS

CAPITAN, - - NEW MEXICO.

King Pete has been on his throne so long now without an accident that he is beginning to think of himself as a record-breaker.

It is telegraphed that an alleged plot to rebel against the local government has been discovered at Panama. What—so soon?

Our idea of self-control is a man who can walk past a gang of snowballing youngsters on the street without marring his dignity.

After all Prof. Langley may be trying to invent a new kind of submarine boat, merely using the word "aerodrome" as a subterfuge.

China is to reorganize its army and improve its equipment. Probably each soldier will be armed with a paper kite and a brass dinner bell.

When London has decided whether or not it eats too much it will find it equally profitable to ask itself if it doesn't drink a little too much.

Mark Twain ate his Thanksgiving dinner in Italy, and perhaps he will tell us in the course of time how he likes macaroni as a substitute for turkey.

The London Times states that in thirty-four years "40,000 English children have been sent to Canada"—en route to the United States, many of them.

It is asserted by one of the scientists that the sun is gradually losing its heat. That is always a pretty safe statement to make at this season of the year.

The hunter who shot a hole through his boat and got instead of ducks a ducking deserves rank with the man who sawed the limb off between himself and the tree.

Now that the football season is over the rest of the year in the universities can be devoted to various trifling pastimes—mathematics, science, languages, and the like.

A Missouri man has discovered a process whereby he can make cigars out of straw. If he tries to use it he is likely to find himself buried under suits for infringement.

Apropos of Mr. Carnegie's praise of the blessings of poverty, it is to be noted that the men who describe these in the most roseate terms are usually conspicuous for their success in dodging them.

There is a suspicion that some of the alarming reports of the danger that threatens from the cotton boll weevil originated in the minds of the cotton speculators. Shame be to him who weevil thinks!

Professional pugilists will be lenient in their criticism of Mr. Fitzsimmons' work, bearing in mind that he is only forty years old. When he has grown to be 75 or 80 he will expect to be judged by severer standards.

The head of the Mosely educational commission hit out a happy thought when he said that here in America a fourth R had been added to the historic three R's, making them "readin', ritin', rithmetic and reason."

There is a new method of "shaving without a razor." You smear your face with a lathery mixture, and when you rub the lather off the beard comes with it. The skin may come off at the same time, but that is merely incidental. The main object is to get the beard off.

The Dentist's Side of It

"Now, then, grow!"

I didn't know he thought it. Certainly there was no murmur from his lips, as the dentist turned away from my chair. But, however that may be, the complaint was stayed on mine, and I looked curiously at the man as he stood there where the sunlight shone full upon him, gently brushing a slender, delicate film of steel with a piece of soft chamois skin.

Then he paused and turned toward me. In my eyes he surprised a question. There was something of embarrassment in his, like a man accustomed to certain amenities which he had overstepped for the moment. I put it into the word:

"Well?"

"Yes, I almost said it aloud."

The dentist laughed. I joined him. There was no denying it—he had thought it.

"Try to look at it from my standpoint," he said. "I know it is painful to you, but think of the sacrifices I make."

I said I would try—go ahead. The tooth had ceased asking for further recognition.

"I can't make friends," the dentist resumed, "like the lawyer or the doctor who relieves pain instead of creating it, nor like the merchant who sells you goods you really don't want, or the—but why enumerate? The dentist stands alone."

"But," I interjected, "you charge so—"

"Tut, tut," he said. "The price is reasonable compared with other skilled effort. But I want to tell you my side of it. You look like a good fellow. Sit there and listen."

Flattered—and as the tooth had ceased hurting—I was quite willing. The dentist resumed:

"All day I labor for the good of humanity, without thanks. Do you ever—any of you—think of the sacrifices I am required to make? If I want a cocktail I must refrain; if I like onions with my steak I only dare to look at them; if I enjoy a cigar I cannot take a whiff of it, nor a cigarette—until the day is done."

He began rolling a cigarette with manifest pleasure.

"All day I must attend to the woes of others—eye teeth, wisdom teeth, molars—pains, aches, tears, howls and unkind feelings when it is all past."

He blew thick clouds of smoke from his nose with great satisfaction.

"But it is pretty hard to feel friendly toward you when you cause us pain every time we come to see you," I suggested.

"That's it. You only take a cursory view of the case. Don't I relieve the pain finally? The dentist is looked upon by his patrons as a skilled instrument of torture—a sort of refined affliction come to curse humanity. You look at it yourself, as it appears to me every day, and think how you would like it. I don't have the satisfaction of the barber, who may gag his customer and tell him the neighborhood news, or give him the freedom of speech to which every citizen is entitled and engage him in a political discussion while he operates on him."

"But that wouldn't be fair when you charge by the hour," I could not help interposing.

"Oh, pshaw! That isn't it. The patient's nerves are in no condition to enjoy interesting conversation—and there is another sacrifice, we are required to make. No odorous foods, no drinks, no tobacco, and stand on your feet all day for the benefit of humanity, and then humanity gets grievously sore after it is all done. We are only permitted to express our feelings silently, and sometimes we are caught in the act at that."

The dentist drew another dense volume of smoke in for a delicious visit with the air cells, and accepted the sympathy of the thirteenth and last patient of the day.

Christ and His Work

That Jesus of Nazareth was a carpenter by trade before He began His ministry is generally assumed. Painters and poets have represented Him as working beside Joseph at the carpenter's bench. The assumption rests, however, upon a single sentence in St. Mark's Gospel. In the parallel passage in St. Matthew He is spoken of, not as a carpenter, but as "the carpenter's son." There is no other mention in the Gospels elsewhere in the New Testament.

That Jesus was a woodworker of some kind was a tradition early current, and yet evidently received with some doubt. Justin Martyr, one of the earliest Christians after the apostles whose writings have come down to us, says that Jesus "was deemed a carpenter, for He was in the habit of making plows and yokes." As will be shown later, this probably means only that Jesus had enough knowledge of woodworking to make certain agricultural implements. In fact, the recorded sayings of Jesus according to the careful analysis of them in the current Craftsman tend to show that His regular earthly vocation was quite other than the carpenter's.

Jesus in His sayings shows familiarity with domestic, commercial, professional and agricultural life. The grinding of grain, the making of bread, the mending of clothes, the washing of dishes, are used by Him as illustrations. He knows the ways of the banker and the money lender, of judges, lawyers, policemen, criminals and physicians. He quotes the current prices of articles of trade. He has observed children at play and the professedly devout at prayer. He knows the details of feasts and weddings even to the order of the guests at table and the proper kind of garments. But the references to these things are rather those of an observer from the outside than of an expert from the inside.

Even if He did make plows and yokes, as Justin Martyr says, it would seem to have been as a part of farm work rather than as a carpenter. That a preacher and teacher should have neglected to draw illustrations from his own trade which He had seen His father practice when He was a boy, is incredible. The only conclusion seems to be that the passage in St. Mark's Gospel is based on a misunderstanding of the fact stated in St. Matthew's that Joseph had ceased to ply his trade before Jesus was old enough to be interested in it, and that Jesus himself was not a carpenter, but a shepherd and farmer.—Chicago Inter-Ocean.

Last Tag for Looking.

Just a vision of golden hair,
And eyes of blue, a lovely pair,
Laughing at you from behind a chair;
"Last tag for looking."

Upon the street I see her pass
A smiling, charming, little lass,
Who calls up through my window glass;
"Last tag for looking."

A sunshine girl with a sunshine heart
From whom you really hate to part
When once you've heard her say, so smart;
"Last tag for looking."

"The best of friends must part," they say;
Mine eyes are filled with tears to-day
Because my sweet has gone away—
"Last tag for looking."

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Northern New York Apples.

Twenty-five thousand barrels of apples await shipments at one station alone on the New York Central railroad which runs through the towns of northern New York that produce each year such bountiful crops of fruit. This year's product is a record breaker, and in many orchards piles of apples still lie on the ground ungarnered, the sudden and severe weather of last month having caught many apple farmers unawares before they had harvested all their fruit. From the peach orchard not far from Rochester 30,000 baskets of peaches were gathered which were sold for 50 cents a basket from the orchard, thus netting the comfortable little sum of $15,000—which for one season's profit is not bad.—Boston Transcript.

How Patti Keeps Her Voice.

Adelina Patti, asked to write in the autograph album of a well-known Buffalo lover of music, penned these lines: "A beautiful voice is the gift of God."

And she added as she closed the book: "I have kept my voice by spending only the interest, never the principal. Spend only the interest, never the principal," she repeated, "and you have my secret, if it be one, for retaining the voice."—Buffalo Times.

Good News From Minnesota.

Lakefield, Minn., Jan. 4.—Mr. William E. Gentry of this place is one of the best-known and most highly respected men in Jackson County. For 45 years he has suffered with Kidney Trouble and now at 77 years of age he has found a complete cure and is well.

His cure is remarkable because of the length of time he had been suffering. Cases of 40 years' standing might be considered incurable, but the remedy that cured Mr. Gentry seems to know no limit to its curative power. Mr. Gentry says:

"I have suffered with misery in my back for about 45 years and had all the troublesome symptoms of Kidney and Urinary disease. I tried various kinds of remedies, but all to no effect until I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills. Now I have no pain in my back, and feel quite well in every way. "I am 77 years of age and I feel better than I have for the last 40 years. I attribute it all to Dodd's Kidney Pills."

"An' how's yer husband the day?" asked Mrs. Rafferty of Mrs. Muldoon. "Sure, an' he's no better," replied Mrs. Muldoon. "The doctor's afraid mortality will set in."

Insist on Getting It.

Some grocers say they don't keep Defiance Starch because they have a stock in hand of 13 cr. brands, which they know cannot be sold to a customer who has once used the 16 oz. pkg. Defiance Starch for same money.

Those Who Have Tried It will use no other. Defiance Cold Water Starch has no equal in quantity or quality—16 oz. for 10 cents. Other brands contain only 12 oz.

WHAT GERMANS CALL AUTO.

It is Described Fully by an Expressive Name.

"It seems to me that the German language has a bit the better of the English tongue when it comes to the name given that useful and popular thing, the automobile," said an observant man in the New Orleans Times-Democrat, "though I will admit there is a chance for controversy on this point. The German for automobile is 'selbstfahrer,' meaning literally 'self-driver.' This seems to me to be a better and more expressive name for the automobile. It seems to me to come nearer describing the thing than the English word. Yet it cannot be insisted that English combination of the words 'auto' and 'mobile' is altogether unhappy. It would mean almost literally 'self-mover.' That is very far from being bad. There are many worse combinations in this day of rapid word making. Still I have a strong preference for the German way of saying automobile. 'Selbstfahrer' seems to me to fit the bill.

"By the way, the German for telephone is not bad either when you come to think of it. 'Fernsprecher' they say in German. Here we have another very happy combination. Literally 'fernsprecher' means 'far-speaker.' This is what the telephone is from my way of looking at it. Possibly it is not so musical as the English word. Yet there is a deal of poetry in the idea of 'far-speaking,' something just a bit suggestive of the echo. I do not regard this combination quite as fortunate as the other one to which I have referred, but it is by no means bad at that. I like the other word and think we could make no very serious mistake if we should steal it and incorporate it in the English language. It might simplify our language to some extent because of the many uses to which we have put the prefix 'auto' already."

Cow Bells.

Scarlet, purple, orange light
Fades to palest green;
Farm-house windows grow less bright
Where the glare has been.
Dusky lie the fields about,
And, faintly heard again,
Far off, thro' mist and dew,
Cow-bells down the lane,
Tinkle, tinkle, clink-a-clink,
Cow-bells down the lane.

Swallows cheep on circling wings;
Winds have chilly grown;
And the cricket shriller sings;
Trees look strange and lone,
Nearer, clearer, past the woods,
A silvery refrain:
Winding slowly up the hill,
Cow-bells down the lane,
Tinkle, tinkle, clink-a-clink,
Cow-bells down the lane.

Bess and Brindle, Snowflake, Jet,
Breaths like new-mown hay;
Dewey noses, trickling wet,
Barnyard wend their way.
One by one, faint, pearly stars
Watch the twilight wane,
And the put-up bars shut out
Cow-bells down the lane,
Tinkle, tinkle, clink-a-clink,
Cow-bells down the lane.

Harrigan's Unconscious Bull.

Edward Harrigan, the Irish comedian, is occasionally guilty of an Irish bull, as this incident proves. He was seated at a table in a cafe with a fellow-actor. The friend had ordered whisky, and the liquor was served in a decanter-holding enough for several drinks. They sat for some time talking, and when the time came for paying the bill, the friend informed the waiter that he had had but one drink. "What?" said Harrigan. "Only one? It seems to me you have had two."

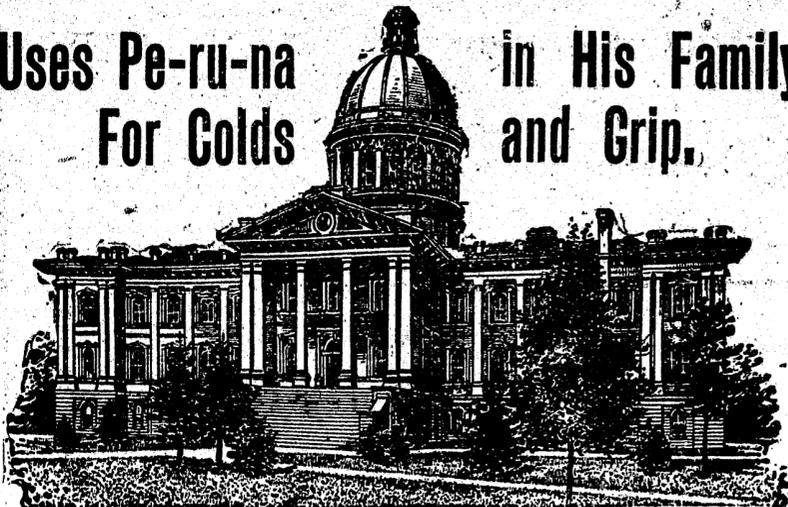

"No, Ned, only one," persisted the friend. "Well, perhaps you are right," said Harrigan. "I'll admit I didn't see you take the first drink, although I did see you take the second."—New York Times.

Bear No Match for Horse.

Roadwarmer, a well-known California race horse, killed a bear a few days ago. Roadwarmer was one of the string of racers that Ralph Vernon was taking to Covelo for the winter. When the bear was in reach the horse squared around and a battle royal commenced, the horse using his hoofs to good advantage. When Vernon managed to get the horse away the bear was lying in an unrecognizable mass and the horse was uninjured.

GOVERNOR OF OREGON

Uses Pe-ru-na For Colds in His Family and Grip.

CAPITOL BUILDING, SALEM, OREGON.

A Letter From The Governor of Oregon.

Peruna is known from the Atlantic to the Pacific. Letters of congratulation and commendation testifying to the merits of Peruna as a catarrh remedy are pouring in from every State in the Union. Dr. Hartman is receiving hundreds of such letters daily. All classes write these letters, from the highest to the lowest.

The outdoor laborer, the indoor artisan, the clerk, the editor, the statesman, the preacher—all agree that Peruna is the catarrh remedy of the age. The stage and rostrum, recognizing catarrh as their greatest enemy, are especially enthusiastic in their praise and testimony.

Any man who wishes perfect health must be entirely free from catarrh. Catarrh is well nigh universal; almost omnipresent. Peruna is the only absolute safeguard known. A cold is the beginning of catarrh. To prevent colds, to cure colds, is to cheat catarrh out of its victims. Peruna not only cures catarrh, but prevents it. Every household should be supplied with this great remedy for coughs, colds and so forth.

The Governor of Oregon is an ardent admirer of Peruna. He keeps it continually in the house. In a recent letter to Dr. Hartman, he says:

STATE OF OREGON,
EXECUTIVE DEPARTMENT.

The Peruna Medicine Co., Columbus, O.:
Dear Sirs—I have had occasion to use your Peruna medicine in my family for colds, and it proved to be an excellent remedy. I have not had occasion to use it for other ailments.
Yours very truly, W. M. Lord.

It will be noticed that the Governor says he has not had occasion to use Peruna for other ailments. The reason for this is, most other ailments begin with a cold. Using Peruna to promptly cure colds, he protects his family against other ailments. This is exactly what every other family in the United States should do. Keep Peruna in the house. Use it for coughs, colds, la grippe, and other climatic affections of winter, and there will be no other ailments in the house. Such families should provide themselves with a copy of Dr. Hartman's free book, entitled "Winter Catarrh." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus Ohio.

The next grand social event in Capitan will be the K. of P. ball and supper on the 19th inst.

The year 1903 will go into history as one of accidents and disasters. But 1904 has evidently started out to eclipse its record—war in the far east between Japan and Russia, and the greatest loss by fire, in a quarter of a century in the city of Baltimore.

A dispatch from Roswell says that the body of a man was found on Thursday of last week in the Eighteen Mile Draw about 20 miles southwest of the city. The Roswell authorities were not notified until Tuesday, the news being brought by a party of men who were en route from Hope. The man was identified as Ygnacia Rubio, the son of a prosperous Lincoln County rancher. The deceased had been shot in the left arm and in the back of the head, the last bullet coming out of his mouth. The man had been dead at least ten days when found. Robbery was the cause of the crime as Rubio's pockets had been turned inside out and all valuables taken out of them.

Local and Personal.

This is the anniversary of Lincoln's birthday—February 12.

A. M. Loomis, internal revenue inspector, was in town Thursday.

S. T. Gray was called to Alamogordo yesterday on company business.

Uncle Billy Lea, a cousin of the late Captain Lea of Roswell, was in town yesterday.

Mrs. Curry and Alfredo Gonzales of Lincoln were married in that town on Tuesday.

Forest McKinley, U. S. special land agent, has been attending to matters connected with the land office.

B. J. Baca of Lincoln, an old-time politician, who filled many offices in the county, was in town yesterday.

J. E. Webber, representing the El Paso Herald, was drumming up business for his paper in this locality this week.

W. Q. Fawcett returned this week from a trip to Roswell. He was accompanied back by Mrs. F. who was visiting in the metropolis of the Pecos.

The jury commissioners met at Lincoln Wednesday for the purpose of selecting the names of jurors to serving at the March term of district court.

E. W. Hulbert, county treasurer and deputy district clerk, was in White Oaks this week, and made this office a pleasant call on his return to Lincoln.

M. M. L. McReynolds has been improving his place south of town for the past few weeks, preparatory to making it his permanent residence.

P. F. Anderson, a young man who claimed to represent the Copper Queen mining company of Arizona, was examining some prospects on the Bonito last week. If the assays from the samples taken justify, the owners will be made a reasonable offer.

The proverbial stork made an early call Sunday morning at the home of G. L. Bradford and wife. It's a boy, and all concerned are well and happy. Several storks have been hovering around Capitan for a month or more, and are expected to alight at any moment.

The Markham dramatic company, comprising four people, gave an entertainment in the schoolhouse Monday evening. It was the first opportunity in many months given the people of this section, and they availed themselves of it. By request, the company will show again this evening, with an entire change of programme.

GUNTON-M'CUULOCK.

A pretty wedding occurred at Coalora on Wednesday afternoon, when Charles Gunton and Miss Mamie McCulloch were united in marriage. A number of invited guests were present. The bride has lived in Coalora with her father for a considerable time. She is an accomplished young lady and very popular in this town as well as Coalora.

The groom has lived in Coalora about three years, during which time he has been in the employ of the New Mexico Fuel company. He is well known and is very popular.

The bride and groom were the recipients of many presents from their friends.

This estimable young couple have the best wishes of the entire community for a long and happy life, and may the rose of happiness ever bloom by their pathway of life, and the current of their united lives flow in undisputed bliss.

A ball was given in the evening by the groom, at which the friends of the newly-married pair danced till midnight.

Mr. and Mrs. Gunton will keep house at Coalora where they will be at home to their many friends.

The Leap-Year Ball.

One of the most pleasurable social events of the season was the leap-year ball given by the ladies of Capitan and Coalora to their "bests," Friday evening. It went to show that when the ladies get together, something above the average is sure to result. The different committees exercised their offices with becoming grace and dignity.

At the appointed hour the hall was filled with gallants and fair ladies and sociability and good fellowship was the order of the evening. There were about fifty couple on the floor when Markham's orchestra gave the signal for the grand march.

"No rest till morn,
When youth and pleasure meet,
To chase the glowing hours
With flying feet."

Dancing continued without a stop until midnight, when supper was announced. It consisted of the usual good things provided on such occasions. The bread, cakes and pies (all home made), were especially fine and reflected credit on the cuisineistic education of the fair bakers, and were conceded to be at least as good as "those that mother used to bake."

Supper over, the gentlemen had the one chance of the evening and asked the ladies to dance. The ladies seemed to enjoy the unusual honor of asking the gentlemen for the dances, and the gentlemen appeared to enjoy the novelty of the experience. Mirth and music held undisputed sway until a very early hour, and the gents expressed themselves as having had one of the most delightful of evenings. It was remarked that they never before realized how gracious the ladies of Capitan and Coalora were. Of course there were a number of proposals by the ladies—but that is another matter.

The committees in charge of dance deserve great credit for the success of the evening and the pleasure afforded all present.

The battle of Fort Stephenson, though not in itself a great battle, was the first really brilliant effort of the War of 1812. The youth of the hero, the disparity of numbers on the opposing sides, and the decisive triumph leading directly to Perry's Victory on Lake Erie and the Battle of the Thames, aroused a burst of enthusiasm throughout the country, similar to that which followed Dewey's achievement a few years ago.

The brevet rank of lieutenant-colonel was at once conferred upon Croghan; and later, by joint resolution of Congress, a gold medal suitably inscribed.—From "George Croghan, Hero!" in "Four Track News" for January.

CHURCH CONSOLIDATION.

Evangelical Churches Consider Adoption of Trust Methods.

Trust methods are about to be adopted by evangelical churches. Dr. R. F. Coyle, who has just returned from the meeting of the Presbyterian Social Union in New York City, says there is a movement on foot by which Protestant churches will co-operate with each other and will consolidate many of the smaller pastorates.

"As it is now," said Dr. Coyle, "in many of the villages one will find a number of small churches, none of which have a good congregation."

"At the Murray Hill hotel in New York recently there was a meeting of representatives of the Methodist, Presbyterian, Baptist, Congregational and other denominations. Resolutions were adopted looking to the consolidation of all Protestant denominations in small places. Thus, if the people of any town want a Methodist church, all the other denominations will help in establishing and supporting that church. No other denomination will establish a church there until the community has grown so much that the first church is inadequate. This will enable some one of the denominations to have a successful church, where, under the present system, there would be four or five churches, none of which would be successful."

"I was surprised to find how unanimous all the representatives were concerning the benefits this system would confer, and I believe it will be adopted soon."—Denver News.

"Now," said his mother severely, "you've got a stomach ache just because you stole into the pantry and ate all that mine pie." "Yes," groaned the boy, "but it was worth it."

KNOWS NOW

Doctor Was Fooled by His Own Case for a Time.

It's easy to understand how ordinary people get fooled by coffee when doctors themselves sometimes forget the facts.

A physician speaks of his own experience:

"I had used coffee for years and really did not exactly believe it was injuring me although I had palpitation of the heart every day.

"Finally one day a severe and almost fatal attack of heart trouble frightened me and I gave up both tea and coffee, using Postum instead, and since that time I have had absolutely no heart palpitation except on one or two occasions when I tried a small quantity of coffee which caused severe irritation and proved to me I must let it alone.

"When we began using Postum it seemed weak—that was because we did not make it according to directions—but now we put a little bit of butter in the pot when boiling and allow the Postum to boil full 15 minutes which gives it the proper rich flavor and the deep brown color.

"I have advised a great many of my friends and patients to leave off coffee and drink Postum; in fact, I daily give this advice." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Many thousands of physicians use Postum in place of tea and coffee in their own homes and prescribe it to patients. "There's a reason."

KING OF THE MASTODONS.

Remains of Enormous Animal Found in New York Village.

In the village of Belvidere, west of this city, says a Hornellsville (N. Y.) dispatch to the Chicago Chronicle, have been discovered the bones of a mastodon from all appearances the king of his race of prehistoric animals. The first bone discovered, which was about four feet in length, was taken to Bradford, and there Dr. James Johnson, formerly connected with the Smithsonian institution, pronounced it to be a portion of a rib of a mastodon. Dr. Johnson notified Alban Stewart of the institution of the find and he came to Belvidere. Together the two scientists took a force of workmen and began making excavations along the railroad.

Thus far three ribs and four vertebrae have been unearthed. This makes a section of the animal's back about eighteen inches in length. The largest mastodon ever unearthed is in the Smithsonian institution, and the vertebrae of his skeleton are five inches in width, the whole animal being twenty-five feet long and thirteen feet in height.

"Each of the vertebrae of the animal discovered near Belvidere is six inches in width, thus making the animal when alive the largest known at this time. Compared to other mastodons, he would stand like a Jumbo compared to the ordinary elephant.

Mr. Stewart is authority for the statement that these are by far the largest bones of any animal ever discovered. He asserts that the animal must have lived 25,000 years ago.

Her Sense of Humor.

Drew J. Linard, a civil engineer who had charge of one of the most difficult divisions on the Oroya railroad, recently completed in Peru, is nearly always accompanied by his wife when engaged in his various engineering enterprises. Once while riding mule-back through the mountains in Nicaragua they came to a point from which could be seen both the Atlantic and Pacific oceans. Mr. Linard says he gazed at the sight for several minutes, deeply impressed by its magnificence, and then, his wife reaching the spot where he stood, he said to her:

"Bella, what do you think of this view? Here you can see both oceans at the same time!"

She glanced carelessly from one ocean to the other and replied: "Oh, so you can. How funny!"—New York Times.

Dancing for Children.

It is never a good idea to send a child to the dancing class so distractingly gowned that she cannot put her mind on the instructions of her teacher. A simple little frock, not any more "frilly" than any afternoon pique dress she might wear, is best. And for Reginald the same notion is the most satisfactory, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. Do not insist on making him tog out as brother Will would when going to his first big dinner. It seems almost a shame to insist that children should wear high buttoned or laced boots for the dancing class, but it is by far the most sensible, for until the ankles are strong and not prone to any turning the high shoes, with, however, very low heels, are the best.

Youngster Was Game.

Bourke Cockran has a pious neighbor with a 15-year-old son who does not promise to be exactly "a chip off the old block," this little incident leading him to that conclusion: Not long ago the father discovered to his sorrow that his boy and several others of the neighborhood had a habit of matching nickels. The wrathful parent led the erring lad to the time-honored attic where hangs a certain strap. The boy didn't have any agreeable impression of what was to come, and, on the ground that it is only the first plunge that counts he called out: "Say, dad! I'll go you heads or tails for two lickings or none!"—New York Times.

Mrs. Fairbanks tells how neglect of warning symptoms will soon prostrate a woman. She thinks woman's safeguard is Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Ignorance and neglect are the cause of untold female suffering, not only with the laws of health but with the chance of a cure. I did not heed the warnings of headaches, organic pains, and general weariness, until I was well nigh prostrated. I knew I had to do something. Happily I did the right thing. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound faithfully, according to directions, and was rewarded in a few weeks to find that my aches and pains disappeared, and I again felt the glow of health through my body. Since I have been well I have been more careful, I have also advised a number of my sick friends to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and they have never had reason to be sorry. Yours very truly, Mrs. MAY FAIRBANKS, 216 South 7th St., Minneapolis, Minn." (Mrs. Fairbanks is one of the most successful and highest salaried travelling saleswomen in the West.)

When women are troubled with irregular, suppressed or painful menstruation, weakness, leucorrhoea, displacement or ulceration of the womb, that bearing-down feeling, inflammation of the ovaries, backache, bloating (or flatulence), general debility, indigestion, and nervous prostration, or are beset with such symptoms as dizziness, faintness, lassitude, excitability, irritability, nervousness, sleeplessness, melancholy, "all-gone" and "want-to-be-left-alone" feelings, blues, and hopelessness, they should remember there is one tried and true remedy. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound at once removes such troubles. Refuse to buy any other medicine, for you need the best.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—For over two years I suffered more than tongue can express with kidney and bladder trouble. My physician pronounced my trouble catarrh of the bladder, caused by displacement of the womb. I had a frequent desire to urinate, and it was very painful, and lumps of blood would pass with the urine. Also had backache very often.

"After writing to you, and receiving your reply to my letter, I followed your advice, and feel that you and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have cured me. The medicine drew my womb into its proper place, and then I was well. I never feel any pain now, and can do my housework with ease."—Mrs. ALICE LAMON, Kincaid, Miss.

No other medicine for female ills in the world has received such widespread and unqualified endorsement.

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

THE LUCK of RASTUS

"Yes, Suh, I suttently does b'lieve in luck, Suh," said Rastus, wiping the lather out of his victim's eye and spreading a fresh layer on his bristly chin. "Some folks says dey ain't no sech t'ing as luck. Huh! Dem's de very folks dat ain't nevah had no luck. Dat's why dey don't believe in it. Dat's right, Suh. Ain't I got a neat li'l business' heah? Don't I make moah in a week den most cullud folks makes in a month? Well, Suh, it all come from a stroke uv luck—jest pure, plain, eve'y-day luck. Like to heah all about it, you say, Suh? Suttently I'll tell you."

"When I fust struck N'York I warn't wurth a dollar. All I could get was a ole close job—goin' round buyin' up ole close, you know, Suh, an' hollerin' in. Cash paid."

"De man I worked for larnt me how to clean and press close, which I done rainy days. Dat where luck struck me one day when I was brushin' up a mighty nice black coat dat warn't hardly worn none, but had got too li'l for de gent that owned it. I turned de pockets inside out an' had started to press it when I felt sumpin' rattle twixt de linin' an' de tail of de coat. It was a letter, done sealed an' stamped an' addressed to a lady over in Eighty-first street."

"You know, Suh, de finder keeps. I didn't let my boss see dat letter, but made out to spell through it myself. It was a sure enough love letter tellin' de lady dat Mr. Jack Winters had done make up his mind to go to Brazil de very next day an' he jest couldn't go widout tellin' her how much he love her. It sure was a purty letter. 'Peared like dey's had a sort of fuss an' Mr. Jack Winters was might' anxious to make up, but was 'feared the lady warn't uv dat opinion. He didn't ax her ti write back. Stead of dat he tell her to be down at de warf de next afternoon to bid him good-bye so's he know by dat whether she give him any hope for the future. De date was eight months old, so it look like a losin' job to waste any time deliverin' dat letter, but I jest t'ought I'd try an' see what come uv it, so I went ovah to dat address dat ve'y evenin'."

"Well, Suh, I found de young lady sure enough—a powerful purty girl she was, too, but she didn't look to say real happy, spite uv her good looks. She hadn't no moah den glanced at it fore she jumped up an' said: 'Maw, you gotter help me cancel all dem invites, right quick, 'cause dey won't be no reception heah to-night. Do hurry!'

"De ole lady looked like she'd drop in a faint. 'What on earth done all you, Grace?' she ax. 'What's in dat letter? Lemme read it dis' very minit.'"

"De young lady didn't pay no 'tention a tall. She set down fore her desk an' writ an' writ faster den I evah see anybody chase a pen, an' in jest about five minits she had a pile uv notes ready for me to 'tribute."

"I'll give you a dollar apiece to deliyer dem letters,' she says. 'Don't fergit a single one, 'cause de mattah is ve'y impohtant.'"

"Well, Suh, mebbe I didn't hustle: Dey was eighteen notes to deliver, an' I done it all inside uv two hours."

When de folks axed questions I say, like de lady told me, 'Miss Grace ain't well.' Dat's all she say foh me to tell 'em. At 9 o'clock I was back an' she glimme eighteen dollars sure enough in spite of her maw's objections, which was ve'y strong, for de ole lady was still mad as a hornet. 'Now,' says de young lady, 'I got one moah letter for you to take care uv, an' when I gits de answer you're goin' to heah from me right off, so leave me your address so's I can write to you.'"

"Well, Suh, dat last letter was addressed to Mr. Jack Winters in Brazil—de answer to de one I found in de coat. Long about five weeks later, when I'd begun to t'ink Mr. Jack Winters never got his letter after all, here come a note from de young lady sayin' she wanted me to call at a certain office down town, where I'd find sumpin' to int'rest me. What you s'pose I found? Five nice new five dollar bills, sure as you're bawn, Suh. De gent dat handed 'em to me said Mr. Jack Winters ordered de money to be delivered to me. He said he was Mr. Jack's brother, an' de ve'y man what fergot to mail dat letter, not dat he actually plum fergot, but when he looked in his pocket an' found it gone he jest natchully 'lowed he'd done dropped it wid oder letters in the box, an' never give it anoder thought."

"He said Miss Grace come mighty near bein' persuaded into havin' anoder man dat she as well as promised her maw to take dat ve'y night I brung her de letter what broke up de pahty. He mentioned dat Miss Grace an' Mr. Jack aimed to git married soon as he could git back from Brazil."

"Well, Suh, dem forty-three dollars bought out de pahtner uv de man what uster run 'dis barber shop when I warn't what it am—now. I tented strictly to business for six months, when I bought out de oder pahtner an' set up for myself. 'Dat warn't much moah'n two years ago. 'You see for yourself, Suh, how well I done. If all come from findin' dat letter. If dat warn't luck what was it, Suh?'—New York Times.

NOT BUILT FOR TWO.

Size of Telegraph Operator's Cage Puzzled Convivial Gentleman.

Wedged in a corner of one of the entrances to Jefferson Market is a little V-shaped telegraph office of the Western Union Company. It is said to be the smallest office in New York, and to do more business in proportion to its size than any other office in the great system that extends the length and breadth of the land.

When the rather tall and comely young woman in charge of the office enters for business every morning one of the clerks in an adjoining dairy pushes a chair in after her and closes the door. There is room for no other furniture except a small shelf for the instrument and a hat peg. A strange operator doing business with persons pushing telegrams through the little window would need pads on her funny bones, but the one there regular'y knows how to dodge the joists.

"Say!" said a florid, portly man who had just been let off with a reprimand in the neighboring ponce court, as he cooled his fevered insides with a glass of buttermilk.

The operator peeped through the little window at him.

"Do you wish to send a message?" she asked.

"Notterday," replied the man. "No messhage t'day. I was only wonderin' how you'd manage, some fine mornin', in your ma'd make you wear an extra skirt and do up your hair in an upholstered pompadour?"—New York Times.

Big Wages to Cooks.

A skillful cook commands a higher salary than the average clergyman or college professor. At present French cooking is most in demand, and French cooks get the highest salaries. The professional cooks are divided into two classes—chefs and seconds. The chefs receive salaries varying from $3,000 to $12,000 a year. The seconds receive from $1,000 to $1,500.

COMPLETELY RESTORED.

Mrs. P. Brunzel, wife of P. Brunzel, stock dealer, residence 3111 Grand ave., Everett, Wash., says: "For fifteen years I suffered with terrible pain in my back. I did not know what it was to enjoy a night's rest, and arose in the morning feeling tired and unrefreshed. My suffering sometimes was simply indescribable. When I finished the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills I felt like a different woman. I continued until I had taken five boxes. Doan's Kidney Pills act very effectively, very promptly, relieve the aching pains and all other annoying difficulties."

It is useless to say, "see here," to a man who can neither see nor hear.

More Flexible and Lasting, won't shake out or blow out; by using Defiance Starch you obtain better results than possible with any other brand and one-third more for same money.

"Here's an account of a woman who committed suicide because her husband had died," said Growells, as he glanced up from his paper. "What do you think of that?" "I think," answered Mrs. G., "that she married the one man in about one billion."

The secret of the popularity of Baxter's "Bullhead" 5-cent cigar is revealed in one word—"Quality."

It is usually the dizzy-pated man who becomes dissipated.

Why It is the Best is because made by an entirely different process. Defiance Starch is unlike any other, better and one-third more for 10 cents.

FEMALE WEAKNESS

542 1-2 Congress St.
PORTLAND, MAINE, Oct. 17, 1902.
I consider Wine of Cardui superior to any doctor's medicine I ever used and I know whereof I speak. I suffered for nine months with suppressed menstruation which completely prostrated me. Pains would shoot through my back and sides and I would have blinding headaches. My limbs would swell up and I would feel so weak I could not stand up. I naturally felt discouraged for I seemed to be beyond the help of physicians, but Wine of Cardui came as a God-send to me. I felt a change for the better within a week. After nineteen days treatment
I menstruated without suffering the agonies I usually did and soon became regular and without pain. Wine of Cardui is simply wonderful and I wish that all suffering women knew of its good qualities.

Periodical headaches tell of female weakness. Wine of Cardui cures permanently nineteen out of every twenty cases of irregular menses, bearing down pains or any female weakness. If you are discouraged and doctors have failed, that is the best reason in the world you should try Wine of Cardui now. Remember that headaches mean female weakness.
