IS KOCH A FRAUD?

A German physician named Koch, has recently discovered, or pretended to have discovered, a cure for consumption, and now the consumptives of the world are turning their wan faces toward Berlin, the home of the discoverer of the elixer of life.

It may be that when Nature puts her deft hands upon lungs of man or woman, and impairs the running gear of the entire anatomy, that science can stop despoiliation of the human system, but we doubt it. The idea strikes upon our senses like that of the promised coming of the Indian's Messiah, in anticipation of which dances are now being pranced and the workings of our Government disturbed.

But there is a division in the inquiring and scientific mind.—Some doctors who stand at the head of their profession, say that he is a humbug. By this they are not understood to mean that he stands exactly in the light of an imposter. He may believe that he has discovered the fountain of youth, or something like it, which has been sought for in vain ever since our first father yielded to the seductive importunities of our first mother for a kiss and finally acquiesced by saying: "I don't care A-dam if I do."—But granted that this Dutchman is a great physician. Men as great have erred in judgment. More than one enthusiast have honestly claimed, or at least felt honest in claiming, that they had discovered perpetual motion. But this does not satisfy.

Eminent medical authorities appear to believe that the claim of Dr. Koch is worth investigating. Surgeon General Hamilton thinks that the statements given to the world by Dr. Kock are based on close study and careful observation. Dr. Hamilton intends to make a thorough examination of the declared discovery. Other medical men will do the same.—But supposing that a consumption remedy has actually been discovered. Would it be safe in the hands of the ordinary, the general practitioner.

Accepting the theory that Dr. Koch is a great benefactor to his race in the discovery he professes to have made. With this view of the case it does not follow that the blessings will be widely diffused. On the other hand great harm, injury, may result from it. Those suffering men and women who realize that life for them is short will have their hopes renewed and will expend large sums, and then think of the disappointment and suffering resulting. For persons who feel themselves under sentence of death will grasp at the slightest straw and the eminent position held by Dr. Kock will naturally induce many to make every effort to try this wonderful agent.

While this question will puzzle the doctors for a time it will carry vain hopes to thousands upon thousands of incurables. It may be possible that something may be done in the incipient stages of consumption, but it is against nature that long standing cases can be cured. The elixir of life is pretty but not tangible.

FORT STANTON.

Ft. Stanton, Dec. 2, '90.

DEAR MAJOR:

The Cavalry troop at this Post marched for the railroad at one o'clock Monday, December 1st., in full field equipment. Stock cars and tourist sleepers have been ordered by telegraph to be in readiness at Carthage by the 4th inst.

Their route of travel to Fort Meade, South Dakota, is via. Denver, Colo., thence by Freemont, Elkhorn and Missouri Valley railroads to Sturgis, Dakota, at which point they disembark for Fort Meade.

The men and officers left here for the front in excellent condition and spirits, all being eager for the war-path. Major Adams and the officers' ladies leave for the railroad on the 3rd inst., overtaking the marching column by relays.

Last Friday, Nov. 28th, an event occurred in the family of our Post Quartermaster Sergeant, among the wee sma' hours of the morning, Mrs. Harvey presenting her husband with a fine girl baby. Mother, babe and father are doing very well.

More Anon,
BOY IN BLUE.

CHET. KISTLER, one of the noblest of the noble, bravest of the brave, truest of the true, died of heart disease at his Las Vegas home. The sincerest condolence of the LEADER is extended to the stricken mother and his heart-broken brother, Russ. Indeed while lovers of free schools in general live in the Territory so long will the sudden taking away of the author of the Kistler Bill be deemed a public calamity.

AGENTS WANTED. WASHINGTON, D. C.

THE South Homestake Mine was sold by deputy sheriff Langston on Monday the 24th ult., to satisfy judgment and costs in favor of Rolla Wells, of St. Louis, Mo.—The Mill, belonging to a separate corporation, will be sold on the 13th inst., to satisfy a judgment held by the same party. It is to be hoped that not many months will elapse before this property will be placed in such shape, legally, that it will be possible for it to resume it's place among the producing properties which it's merits entitle it to. These costly and protracted litigations over mining properties in this district have hitherto been a very serious drawback to the interests of this camp. While it is possible that such a condition of things could not be obviated we sincerely hope that the end has been reached and the work of development will in the future go forward and the building up of the town of White Oaks will be commensurate with it's natural resources and go forth unhindered. Such a consummation is most devoutly to be wished for.

Something for the New Year.
The world renowned success of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, and their continued popularity for over a third of a century as a stomachic, is scarcely more wonderful than the welcome that greets the annual appearance of Hostetter's Almanac. This valuable medical treatise is published by The Hostetter Company, Pittsburgh, Pa., under their own immediate supervision, employing 80 hands in that department. They are running about 11 months in the year on this work, and the issue of same for 1891 will be more than ten millions, printed in the English, German, French, Welsh, Norwegian, Swedish, Dutch, Bohemian and Spanish languages. Refer to a copy of it for valuable and interesting reading concerning health, and numerous testimonials as to the efficacy of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, amusement, varied information, astronomical calculations, and chronological items, &c., which can be depended on for correctness. The Almanac for 1891 can be obtained free of cost, from druggists and general country dealers in all parts of the country.

Six months in the territory, three moths in the county and thirty days in the precinct constitutes a voter in New Mexico—providing he is a citizen of the United States.

Judge Bailey, of the Penasco country was in town this week, trading stories and for goods.

THE Congregational Sunday School will have a Christmas Tree in the Congregational Church on Christmas Eve, for the delectation of the little folks. The novel feature of the entertainment will consist in having no programme, but a jolly good time. There will be a Christmas lunch or supper spread for the children, after which one for the older members of the school and congregation, which will be followed by the appearance of a veritable Santa Claus, who will proceed to distribute the presents which good St. Nick has generously provided for his friends. The whole will be under the direction of a good committee which will take charge of and see that the presents reach those for whom they are intended. Let the children have such an enjoyable occasion as will be a green spot in their memories when the after years shall come to remind them of this Christmas of 1890.

The World Enriched.
The facilities of the present day for the production of everything that will conduce to the material welfare and comfort of mankind are almost unlimited and when Syrup of Figs was first produced the world was enriched with the only perfect laxative known, as it is the only remedy which is truly pleasing and refreshing to the taste and prompt and effectual to cleanse the system gently in the Spring time or, in fact, at any time and the better it is known the more popular it becomes.

POST-OFFICE NAMES.

Odd Cognomens Bestowed Upon Some Newly-Created Offices.

Naming a post-office is like naming a child—there is no accounting for the taste displayed in the name selected. Usually the post-office is named after the town, and when the town is started some enterprising citizen gets in his deadly work and the town is named after him. Others take their names from surroundings and often from incidents which happened when the site was first selected. Some are good, others bad; some long and some short, but there seems to be a general disregard of the proprieties in the selection of names. For instance, Happy Camp is the name of a newly-created post-office in California, and the probabilities are that the inhabitants are constantly fighting, and the only person who is happy is the undertaker, who is growing wealthy. Mountain View is more likely to be the name of a village at the bottom of a two-hundred-foot hill than to be near a mountain, while Marble Cliff is very remote from a marble quarry.

Passing events also help decide the names of places, and with the Johnstown horror fresh in the public mind many smaller towns will select that name to emphasize the establishment of the place.

Peace and Cain are two villages where post-offices have been established in Alabama, while Rat, Rye and Urbanity have been discontinued. Sassafras is the name of a spicy Arkansas village, while people who desire to go to a new postal station in Alaska will have to have their letters addressed to Belkofsky. California has a choice collection of new names. Bitter Water, Calabasas, Orcut and Simiopiis make a splendid quartette. Tourtelotte and Bovina are Colorado offices. Dakota, as becomes a newly-admitted State, is selecting names for its new offices from among those who advocated its admission, and is getting rid of its old Territorial names, reminiscent as they were with the names bestowed by cow-punchers whose idea of the ridiculous was very keen.

The warm climate of Georgia boasts of an Arctic town, while Sinker is the name of a village in Idaho.

The people of Illinois were so glad to get new postal facilities that they did not stop to complete the names, and sent them out as Lis and Mac. Nall and Check are two villages in the Indian Territory. Fritz, Snyder and McBrayer represent the ruling population in three Kentucky places. China is located in Michigan, and Minnesota boasts of its short Line Park. Missouri contains Last and Clip. Raten is in Nebraska, while Redstone takes its name from the granite hills of New Hampshire. New York is provided with a Bent, an Echo and a Jayville. Crom and Wharf are the names of two post-offices in North Carolina, and Scrub, Ego and Twin have Ohio written after them on envelopes.

Ale and Joy, while both are in Oregon, are not in the same county, and there is no connection between the two. Peach Tree, Early, Orphan's Home and Venus are in Texas. Exit and Joe are in the neighboring State of Virginia, and Washington has a newly-created small post-office called Nickel, while Fossil and Shell complete the list for Wyoming.—Washington Post.

THE LITTLE WOMAN.

She Needs Only Express Her Wishes and They Will Be Obeyed.

A pretty little woman with soft, appealing eyes, a low voice and an air of daintiness in dress and manner. Not much force about such a little creature, you say? She will never set the world afire. My dear sir, you are mistaken. It is just such sweet, helpless-seeming little women who have set the world afire—at least the portion of it over which their influence extended—and who will do it again. I'll wager Helen of Troy was such a woman. The dainty bit of femininity seems very helpless indeed. She sits still and lets a man attend to her fare, she takes the seat he offers, she accepts his assistance in getting out of the stage, and she accepts it all with a pleasant smile. Yes, my friends, that is the woman that rules the world. She rules it by her helplessness, just as the whitest, sweetest, daintiest morsel of a baby, enthroned in frills, and cambric, and fine lace, can govern an establishment of men, and they feel proud of their tyrant. The tyranny of weakness is the strongest in the world. The woman who rules is really the woman who says: "Protect me." The woman who says: "I will protect you," is the sort of hybrid who may rule one man, who may always spell woman with a capital W, and prefer a stub pen, but that is the extent of her monarchy. Weak woman, daring to face the March wind; weak woman, with no idea as to her rights or her wrongs; weak woman, with strong opinions as to the value of a kiss, a smile, a pleasant word; weak woman will have all arms opened to her with a request that she will only express her wishes and they will be obeyed.—N. Y. Fashion Bazar.

Father's Qualified Consent.

"I'd like to ask you, sir," said the young man in hesitating tones, "might I—might I—marry your daughter?"

"Humph," replied her father. "You might—"

"Thank you, sir."

"You might, I repeat, but it would be one of the most inexplicable accidents that ever happened in this country."—Washington Capital.

Railroad Facilities.

The improved facilities of train service on A. T. & S. F. R. R. from New Mexico is an excellent one.

A fast express leaves El Paso, Deming and Silver City early each afternoon, making the run to Rincon, and from Wallace to La Junta, by daylight, arriving at Kansas City evening of second day, and Chicago morning of third day after day of departure. This train carries Pullman palace sleepers from El Paso to Kansas City, and Los Angeles to Chicago, with Pullman tourist sleepers Los Angeles to Kansas City making direct connection at La Junta for Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, and at Bucklin for St. Louis via Price, Pa.

The train from San Francisco with palace sleepers to Kansas City and tourist sleepers to Chicago) leaves Albuquerque daily about noon, strikes darkness near Wagon Mound, arriving in Kansas City evening of next day, and in Chicago the following morning. An additional Pullman sleeper is attached at Las Vegas, running through without change to Denver via La Junta and Trinidad.

The Santa Fe Route aims by its fast time, fine equipment and reasonable rates, to merit the patronage of the traveling public.

Newspaper Laws.

Dr. Tuckerman, editor of the Western Cleveland, has taken a course [illegible] and compiled the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States, as the result of his investigations, the following, which we publish upon his authority:

1. Subscribers who do not give express notice to the contrary are considered as wishing to continue their subscriptions.

2. If subscribers order the discontinuance of their papers, the publisher may continue to send them until all arrearages are paid.

3. If subscribers remove to other places without informing the publishers, and papers are sent to the former address, they are responsible.

4. If subscribers order their papers discontinued, they are responsible for the subscription until all arrearages are paid.

5. The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers from the office, or leaving them uncalled for, is evidence of intentional fraud.

6. Subscribers can pay in advance for their papers, and if they give notice at the end of the time they do not wish to continue taking the paper, the publisher is authorized to send it until the subscriber will have to pay all arrearages, if any are found to be due.

7. The postmaster is authorized to send to the office to which it is directed the paper of a person who refuses to take it from the office where it is left, or who orders it discontinued or orders the postmaster to take it from the office, or have a friend take it out and say that the publisher leaves him will little to do but send the bills for it.

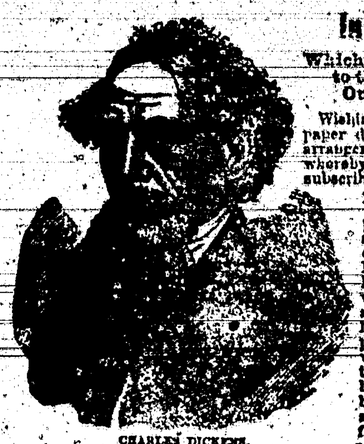
GRAND PREMIUM OFFER!

A SET OF THE

WORKS OF CHARLES DICKENS,

In Twelve Large Volumes,

Which we Offer with a Year's Subscription to this Paper for a Trifle More than Our Regular Subscription Price.



CHARLES DICKENS.

Wishing to largely increase the circulation of this paper during the next six months, we have made arrangements with a New York publishing house whereby we are enabled to offer as a premium to our subscribers a Set of the Works of Charles Dickens, in Twelve Large and Handsome Volumes, with a year's subscription to this paper, for a trifle more than our regular subscription price. Our great offer to subscribers eclipses any ever heretofore made. Charles Dickens was the greatest novelist who ever lived. No author before or since his time has won the fame that he achieved, and his works are even more popular to-day than during his lifetime. They abound in wit, humor, pathos, masterly delineation of character, vivid descriptions of places and incidents, thrilling and skillfully wrought plots. Each book is intensely interesting. No home should be without a set of these great and remarkable works. Not to have read them is to be far behind the age in which we live. The set of Dickens' works which we offer as a premium to our subscribers is handsomely printed from entirely new plates, with new type. The twelve volumes contain the following world-famous works, each one of which is published complete, unabridged, and absolutely unabridged:

DAVID COPPERFIELD,
MARTIN CHUZZLEWIT,
NICHOLAS NICKELBY,
DOMBEY AND SON,
BLEAK HOUSE,
LITTLE DORRIT,
OUR MUTUAL FRIEND,
PICKWICK PAPERS,
BARNABY RUDGE AND CHRISTMAS STORIES,
OLIVER TWIST AND GREAT EXPECTATIONS,
THE OLD CURIOSITY SHOP AND THE UNCOMMERCIAL TRAVELER,
A TALE OF TWO CITIES, HARD TIMES AND THE MYSTERY OF EDWIN DROOD.

The above are without question the most famous novels that were ever written. For a quarter of a century they have been celebrated in every nook and corner of the civilized world. Yet there are thousands of homes in America not yet supplied with a set of Dickens, the usual high cost of the books preventing people in moderate circumstances from enjoying this luxury. But now, owing to the use of modern improved printing, folding and stitching machinery, the extremely low price of white paper, and the great competition in the book trade, we are enabled to offer to our subscribers and readers a set of Dickens' works at a price which all can afford to pay. Every home in the land may now be supplied with a set of the great author's works.

POST-OFFICE NAMES.

Odd Cognomens Bestowed Upon Some Newly-Created Offices.

Naming a post-office is like naming a child—there is no accounting for the taste displayed in the name selected. Usually the post-office is named after the town, and when the town is started some enterprising citizen gets in his deadly work and the town is named after him. Others take their names from surroundings and often from incidents which happened when the site was first selected. Some are good, others bad; some long and some short, but there seems to be a general disregard of the proprieties in the selection of names. For instance, Happy Camp is the name of a newly-created post-office in California, and the probabilities are that the inhabitants are constantly fighting, and the only person who is happy is the undertaker, who is growing wealthy. Mountain View is more likely to be the name of a village at the bottom of a two-hundred-foot hill than to be near a mountain, while Marble Cliff is very remote from a marble quarry.

Passing events also help decide the names of places, and with the Johnstown horror fresh in the public mind many smaller towns will select that name to emphasize the establishment of the place.

Peace and Cain are two villages where post-offices have been established in Alabama, while Rat, Rye and Urbanity have been discontinued. Sassafras is the name of a spicy Arkansas village, while people who desire to go to a new postal station in Alaska will have to have their letters addressed to Belkofsky. California has a choice collection of new names, Bitter Water, Calabasa, Orosi and Simiopiis make a splendid quartetto. Tourtelotte and Bovina are Colorado offices. Dakota, as becomes a newly-admitted State, is selecting names for its new offices from among those who advocated its admission, and is getting rid of its old Territorial names, reminiscent as they were with the names bestowed by cow-punchers whose idea of the ridiculous was very keen.

The warm climate of Georgia boasts of an Arctic town, while Sinker is the name of a village in Idaho.

The people of Illinois were so glad to get new postal facilities that they did not stop to complete the names, and sent them out as Lis and Mac. Nail and Check are two villages in the Indian Territory. Fritz, Snyder and McBrayer represent the ruling population in three Kentucky places. China is located in Michigan, and Minnesota boasts of its short Line Park. Missouri contains Iaat and Clio. Raten is in Nebraska, while Redstone takes its name from the granite hills of New Hampshire. New York is provided with a Bat, an Echo and a Joyville. Stem and Wharf are the names of two post-offices in North Carolina, and Scrub, Ego and Twin have Ohio written after them on envelopes.

Ale and Joy, while both are in Oregon, are not in the same county, and there is no connection between the two. Peach Tree, Early, Orphan's Home and Venus are in Texas. Exit and Joe are in the neighboring State of Virginia, and Washington has a newly-created small post-office called Nickel, while Pursit and Shell complete the list for Wyoming.—Washington Post.

THE LITTLE WOMAN.

She Needs Only Express Her Wishes and They Will Be Obeyed.

A pretty little woman with soft, appealing eyes, a low voice and an air of daintiness in dress and manner. Not much force about such a little creature, you say? She will never set the world afire. My dear sir, you are mistaken. It is just such sweet, helpless-seeming little women who have set the world afire—at least the portion of it over which their influence extended—and who will do it again. I'll wager Helen of Troy was such a woman. The dainty bit of femininity seems very helpless indeed. She sits still and lets a man attend to her fare, she takes the seat he offers, she accepts his assistance in getting out of the stage, and she accepts it all with a pleasant smile. Yes, my friends, that is the woman that rules the world. She rules it by her helplessness, just as the whitest, sweetest, daintiest morsel of a baby, enthroned in frills, and cambric, and fine lace, can govern an establishment of men, and they feel proud of their tyrant. The tyranny of weakness is the strongest in the world. The woman who rules is really the woman who says: "Protect me." The woman who says: "I will protect you," is the sort of hybrid who may rule one man, who may always spell woman with a capital W, and prefer a stub pen, but that is the extent of her monarchy. Weak woman, daring to face the March wind; weak woman, with no idea as to her rights or her wrongs; weak woman, with strong opinions as to the value of a kiss, a smile, a pleasant word; weak woman will have all arms opened to her with a request that she will only express her wishes and they will be obeyed.—N. Y. Fashion Bazar.

Father's Qualified Consent.

"I'd like to ask you, sir," said the young man in hesitating tones, "might I—might I—marry your daughter?"

"Humph," replied her father. "You might—"

"Thank you, sir."

"You might, I repeat, but it would be one of the most inexplicable accidents that ever happened in this country."—Washington Capital.

Railway Time Table

The most attractive of train service on A. T. & S. F. R. R. from New Mexico is an excellent one.

A fast express leaves El Paso Deming and Silver City early each afternoon, making the run to Rincon, and from Wallace to La Junta, by daylight, arriving at Kansas City evening of second day, and Chicago morning of third day after day of departure. This train carries Pullman palace sleepers from El Paso to Kansas City and Los Angeles to Chicago, with Pullman tourist sleepers Los Angeles to Kansas City making direct connection at La Junta for Pueblo, Colorado Springs and Denver, and at Buxton for St. Louis via Kansas City.

The train from San Francisco (with palace sleepers to Kansas City and tourist sleepers to Chicago) leaves Albuquerque daily about noon, strikes darkness near Wagon Mound, arriving in Kansas City evening of next day, and in Chicago the following morning. An additional Pullman sleeper is attached at Las Vegas, running through without change to Denver via La Junta and Trinidad.

The Santa Fe Route aims by its fast time, fine equipment and reasonable rates, to merit the patronage of the traveling public.

Free Reading Matter

There are various schemes for supplying reading matter at a trifling actual cost. What would you think if you could get literature free?

Drop a postal to G. T. Nicholson, G. P. and T. A., A. T. & S. F. R. R. Co., Topeka, Kan., and ask for a copy of "To Mexico Palace Car." THE North Homestake Mine is making satisfactory progress in it's development work. The main shaft is now down 960 feet, showing a large body of fair grade ore. The various cross-cuts made at the lowest levels reached a strong and healthy lead which will richly compensate the owners for the expenditure in developing the property. The new machinery for the Mill was all put in place on Tuesday, and the work of reduction was renewed after a rest of the several months during which necessary repairs were being made. 35 tons every 24 hours in the future will result in a golden harvest, and the whole property, under the able and efficient management of Supt Frank Lloyd, is a sufficient guarantee that the highest expectations will be realized. This is the bonanza gold mine of New Mexico and with other promising properties in old Baxter Mountain will doubtless make White Oaks in the sweet by-and-bye the banner camp for the yellow metal in the Territory.

COURT NOTE.

Some very funny transactions have attracted the attention of the people during this term of court.

Aside from Jimmy Dolan, Ed. R. Bonnell and Buck Powell, the grand jury is the very weakest Lincoln County has had for a long time, and the work of Jimmy and Ed. especially has been great and they deserve the only credit due the body. Indeed, were it not for those we have mentioned, we would have no grand jury

Col. Fountain has made some peculiar moves in several cases, and I am very sorry to see it. An officer's actions should be above the appearance of peculiarity and no one knows this better than Col. Fountain, hence I regret it.

Measure cussing because scrip is not worth much more than a few cents on the dollar.

Langston has cornered Fall, of Dona Ana County half a dozen times and wants White Oaks to have a county seat even if they have to make the mining district a county. Fall says Lang. talks well but he's not substantial, and Lang. wilts.

H. B. Fergusson, worried over news of his child, returned home Wednesday morning.

Chas. Weideman has begun a contest against Scipio Salazar for the office of Treasurer. The main point is in throwing out Raventon.

The court moves slowly it being difficult to get cases in shape for any work and just enough to keep a drag on the court.

Clerk Brunner has not, as yet, approached the Captain's office for the taffy I gave him.
