Ruidoso Debates Access To Public Information

By DORIS CHERRY

Nearly all information made or received by any public agency is considered by New Mexico law, to be open for public viewing.

But recent requests to various departments of the Village of Ruidoso for information prompted the village manager and attorney to pull out and impose an old policy that requires all requests for information to be made to the village manager.

"I oppose this kind of policy," said Ruidoso village councillor J.D. James at the Ruidoso village meeting Tuesday.

James, during the part of the meeting reserved for elected officials reports, was offended by a copy of a letter included in councillor's packets that required anyone wanting to talk to village employees first had to have permission from the village manager. The letter was directed to Ruidoso News reporter Chuck Stallings.

"I have a problem with this," James said.

James said he knew the letter and policy was caused by several articles published in the Ruidoso News. James said the problem is that people other than newspaper reporters need to talk to village employees.

James was concerned that the policy was not reviewed and approved by the council.

Councillor Jerry Shaw also was troubled by the interoffice memo regarding the release of documents or information to any person other than village employees, the mayor or village councillors without permission from the manager. Or that person requesting information must fill out an application requesting the information. Village attorney Patricia Ortiz prepared the memo as a proposal for manager Ron Wicker.

Wicker defended the stance because numerous employees had complained about being approached by the reporter wanting information that day or by the next day.

"We cannot operate without some control," Wicker said. "I was the person responsible for the memo, it was the only way to operate the city effectively without disturbance."

Wicker said he was going to keep the application/permission policy in effect until Capitan District, Carrizozo District and Ruidoso will have additional questions on their ballots.

Capitan District will ask voters to approve a bond issue for $1.3 million to construct and furnish a middle school facility. If the issue passes, residential property taxes will increase about 96 cents per $1,000 taxable value in 1994, according to information provided from the school's bond counsel. In 1995, the tax will decrease 25 cents per thousand from the 1994 rates. From 1996 through the retirement of the bonds in 2002, school property taxes will go back to the pre-1994 rate.

In 1992, tax rates for residential properties in Capitan School district were next to the lowest in the county. Only Corona District paid less, at $4.479 per thousand for residential properties and $4.54 for non-

Carrizozo Needs Deeds For Street Easements

By RUTH HAMMOND

Status of the Carrizozo Street paving project was discussed during the Jan. 26 meeting of the town council. Trustees Harold Garcia and Eileen Lovelace with mayor pro tem Patsy Vallejos presiding conducted business for the evening.

Changes to the specifications and drawing for the street paving project for 12th street will be completed this week. Questions asked by CDBG (Community Development Block Grant) specialists will be answered as soon as possible.

The town will need quit claim deeds for the street easement at the north end of the street. The small bridge will be replaced and the rock curbs will remain in place with crushed fine rock to be filled in between the new rollover curb and the old historical rock curbs.

In other business trustees tabled the 1991-92 audit to be presented by De'Aun Willoughby. The audit will be presented at the Feb. 9 meeting.

—Discussion of the possibility of leasing the Carrizozo Municipal Airport was tabled to a later meeting. Airport manager Hal Marx told the board his plans are to have his plans completed within three months. He agreed to provide packets for the trustees with all necessary information.

—Marx reported a Citation jet plane landed at the airport recently and used 3,500 feet of runway to stop.

—Marx said he could make arrangements for Jet A fuel to be available at the airport if he knew the fuel would be used within a few weeks because the fuel needs to be processed if it sits for more than six weeks or so.

Ruidoso Sewer and Water Utilities Losing Money

By DORIS CHERRY

Ruidoso Village Councillors got good and bad news from the village auditor at their regular session Tuesday.

Auditor Ronnie Hemphill reported the village ended the 1991-92 fiscal year with a surplus of $82,000 in the general fund. The bad news was the village utility fund for sewer and water was continually losing money, so much so Hemphill predicted it would experience a deficit in the near future.

That prompted village manager Ron Wicker to recommend councillors consider another sewer rate increase. Wicker said over the last four to five years the village has transferred considerable funds from water to sewer to keep from raising rates. However, the council approved a $2 increase, which Wicker considered too low to offset costs at the wastewater plant. Instead, he recommended a minimum rate of $7 a month.

Wicker said a study made of the wastewater costs reflected a need of rates as high as $17 a month to do all the work needed at the plant. Wicker suggested the village also impose a $5 a month fee on all households within the village with septic systems. He reasoned those septic tanks must be pumped periodically, and that septic sludge is so concentrated it unbalances the wastewater plant. The companies which pump septic tanks must pay a fee to dump the waste at the plant.

Councillor J.D. James argued that households with septic systems that are pumped pay a fee to the pumping service already. If an increase of sewer rates is passed, James wanted the proposed $5 charge dropped.

Also in the audit, Hemphill pointed out four noncompliance areas from past audits that had been corrected. One of the noncompliances was at the airport, where a clerk had "written off" certain receivables as uncollectable. Since the area was noted by the auditor the clerk has been terminated because only the council can "write-off" such debt by resolution.

In the area of procurement, Hemphill noted the major noncompliance was the village's failure to publish a request for proposals for engineering services. Instead, the village had the engineer who was hired for one specific contract working on other projects. Hemphill considered the situation an oversight.

The council corrected the situation during the meeting by approving a contract with engineer John Shaw of Ruidoso for

News Staff Attends State Bar Seminar

Robert H. Johnson, executive director of Foundation for Open Government (FOG) spoke about the public's legal right to inspect public records and how that right relates to governments during a panel discussion at the State Bar of New Mexico annual Bar/Media seminar on "Privacy vs. the Public's Right to Know: First Amendment Issues" held in the Albuquerque Journal facility Jan. 23.

Lincoln County News co-publisher Ruth Hammond and reporter Doris Cherry heard Johnson tell how certain governing bodies are trying to inhibit that right by adopting procedures that require the public to fill out a form identifying the records needed. He also provided examples of violations of the Open Meetings Act and noted that if a governing body closes a meeting to the public to discuss personnel, the personnel has to be a specific individual, not a group as a whole.

Other members of the panel included Assistant New Mexico Attorney General Al Lama, Judy Olean counsel to the New Mexico Municipal League and Janice D. Paster, New Mexico Senator and member of the Senate Judiciary Committee. All panelists agreed the New Mexico laws concerning open records are too vague. Legislation has been introduced this

Board Votes To Not Renew Lock Contract

Capitan Board of Education voted unanimously to not extend the contract for superintendent David Lock.

Following a closed session during a special meeting Thursday, Jan. 21, board members Tom Trost, Jack King, Ron Roybal, Preston Stone and Ervin Aldaz unanimously voted against Lock's contract renewal. Stone made the motion to not renew.

Board president Trost said Lock had done some positive things during his two years as Capitan schools superintendent, but the board members thought it was in the best interest of the school not to renew Lock's contract.

Lock's current contract will expire June 30.

Parents Beware Of Curfew Violations

The Carrizozo curfew ordinance for the town states it is unlawful for a minor under the age of 18 years to be upon or remain upon any public thoroughfare or any public place at any time between the hours of 10 p.m. and 5 a.m. unless accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Police department head Charlie White explained the ordinance does not require the minor be charged with any offense, rather the parent or guardian of the minor shall be charged with violation of ordinance 86-132, section 5-1-6A, and said parent or guardian shall be guilty of a petty misdemeanor.

According to White, the ordinance has been in effect and will now be more strictly enforced.

general engineering services not to exceed $15,000 a year.

Overall, Hemphill said, the audit has substantially improved from when he was first hired four years ago. He gave credit to Leeann Boswell and other staff for their accounting practices.

Also Tuesday, councillors authorized village attorney Patricia Ortiz to research problems and recommendations concerning smoking ordinances from other municipalities and public offices, then draft a proposed smoking ordinance which will designate smoking and non-smoking areas in buildings owned by the village.

Wicker requested councillors consider a smoking ordinance because of the recent Surgeon General's report on secondary smoking being a health risk. Wicker foresaw possible future lawsuits from employees who were exposed to secondary smoke. Also, Wicker said, there is no policy for smoking and non-smoking in the Civic Center. Councillor James had noticed a hole burned in the center's carpet by a cigarette.

Councillors did not want a total ban on smoking in village buildings, because non-smoking employees would complain about smoking employees taking too many breaks just to light up.

In other business, councillors:

—Approved a right of way vacation for Deer Trail adjoining Lot 4A, Block 8, Pinecliff Subdivision Unit 5.

—Instructed Wicker to meet with Lincoln County manager Andy Wynham concerning road maintenance of Gavilan Canyon Road, and not consider transfer of ownership of Gavilan for Airport Scenic Drive, as proposed by the county.

—Tabled a proposal for the village to apply for liquor license to be used at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center, and opted to have any group wishing to serve liquor provide a "picnic" license.

—Approved Mayor Victor Alonso's appointment of Joe Gomez to the Parks and Recreation Board, Mac McDougal to the Highway 48 Advisory Committee and Dr. Jim Miller and Frankie Jarrell to the Martin Luther King Jr. Commission.

—Accepted consent agenda items including a proclamation of Message Therapy Awareness Week, two special permits for wineries participating in the Connoisseur Classic special event in the civic center, a resolution and grant application requesting $2,000 for equipment and $2,000 for summer youth employment for beautification projects from the Keep New Mexico Beautiful program, scheduled a public hearing on Feb. 9 on a proposed ordinance concerning Collective Bargaining and funding certification for the MainStreet project to be sent to the New Mexico State Highway and Transportation Dept.

—Heard a report from Dr. Bob Walters of the village MRS committee about his recent trip to the meeting of the Nuclear Waste Technical Review Board. He asked for and received continuing support from the council to continue opposition to the proposed project on the reservation.

residential properties such as commercial. Property owners in Ruidoso District paid $9.751 per thousand for residential and $10.054 for non-residential. Carrizozo District property owners paid $8.277 per thousand for residential and $8.283 for non-residential. Hondo District property owners paid $6.781 per thousand for residential and $6.955 for non-residential. Capitan District property owners paid $6.37 per thousand for residential and $6.416 for non-residential. These figures are from the Lincoln County Treasurer's Office and reflect only the tax rates imposed by the school district. Additional rates for state, county operational and levies; various municipalities (cities), sanitation districts, livestock, soil and water district and other taxes are added to the amount assessed for the school districts. The Capitan and other school tax rates are based on the debt owed for various bond issues for school construction projects, Capital Improvements Taxes or two mill levy, and other operational costs.

Currently Capitan Schools need the additional space a middle school will provide in order to maintain its student/teacher ratio. If the school continues to grow as it has in recent years there will be a greater need for a middle school facility. Educational research shows that grouping students of similar developmental stages is more beneficial to them. The facility will provide a separate building for grades, 6, 7, and 8. Now, grades 7 and 8 are located within the high school building.

Capitan Schools Superintendent David Lock and high school principal Darrell Stierwalt will speak on the bond issue and the school's needs during a round table discussion on K-BUY radio out of Ruidoso at 10:20 a.m. Friday, Jan. 29. Listeners can tune in to 13.60 AM or 93.5 FM.

Carrizozo Schools will ask voters to continue their two-mill levy for another three years. The Capital Improvements Act, or two-mill levy, collects two mills, or $2 per $1,000 of taxable property per year. If continued, the two-mill levy will be good for three years. Carrizozo receives funds from the state to match the two-mill money collected from property owners. The funds can be used for maintenance and remodeling, but cannot be used for salaries.

This year, according to Carrizozo superintendent Jimmie Banks, the school plans to use the two-mill money for priorities recommended by school staff. Cooling systems for the school is the first priority. Landscaping came next, followed by leveling and replanting of the football field, a new floor for the new gym, a student lounge with phone. Banks explained the phone in a student lounge would be a separate line, and would be set up so students could only make local calls.

Other projects on the "wish list" include painting the new gym, painting the elementary building, new flooring in the cafeteria, a new nurse's office, a counter for the high school office, sprinkler system for the football field, a modern ditto-type machine, more MacIntosh computers for teachers, carpet in the elementary building and many others.

Banks said the school only receives about $26,800 from the two-mill levy collected on district properties. The State of New Mexico provided the District with about $13,500 to match the two-mill levy funds last year. The amount limits the size of projects the school can do with the two-mill levy funds.

There is no money borrowed with two-mill levy, therefore, no interest or financing costs are paid by the taxpayer.

Ruidoso School District also is asking voters to continue their two-mill levy for another three years. The money is used for maintenance and remodeling, but not for salaries.

Polls will open from 7 a.m. to 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 2.

Voters who live in Socorro County, but within the Carrizozo School District will vote at Carrizozo Schools Administration Building. Voters who live in Socorro and/or Torrance Counties and within the Corona School District will vote at Corona Village Hall.

If voters have moved and not updated their voter registrations, they still have to vote at the poll appropriate to the resident location indicated on the registration, said Lincoln County Clerk Martha Proctor.

Persons wishing to vote absentee for all school district elections may do so in person at the County Clerk's Office in Carrizozo until 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 29. Absentee voters may also request an absentee from the clerk's office until 5 p.m. Friday, Jan. 29. The ballot must be returned to the clerk's office before 7 p.m. Tuesday, Feb. 2.

If voters have any questions about which school district their precinct is located, or any other questions about the Feb. 2 school elections, they may contact the Lincoln County Clerk's office at 648-2394 in Carrizozo.

Parker is a spring 1992 graduate of New Mexico State University with a Masters degree in Agricultural Education. He is currently employed with the United States Department of Agriculture as a market news reporter in Oklahoma City.

Miss Wyre is a fall 1992 graduate of Texas Tech University with a Masters degree in Agricultural Education.

The couple plans to make their home in El Reno, Oklahoma.

Utility Audit May Save School Money

The Capitan Board of Education, with only three of five members present, tabled the decision on superintendent David Lock's contract until a special meeting today (Thursday) Jan. 21.

Members Tom Trost, Ervin Aldaz and Preston Stone went into closed session at the beginning of their Thursday, Jan. 14 meeting to discuss personnel. When they returned 55 minutes later, they made the decision to call a special meeting. The Jan. 14 meeting was the last regular session for outgoing board members Stone and Aldaz. Members Jack King and Ron Roybal were absent. Board candidate Russell Schearer was at the meeting also.

After the closed session and decision to conduct another closed session in the special meeting today for consideration of the superintendent's contract, the board finished its business within 30 minutes.

Members approved the employment of Lois Coons and Kathy Chapman as Head Start bus drivers.

Also with Head Start business, the board approved a memorandum of understanding which will allow a Head Start student to ride the regular school bus in the mornings. The student lives 45 miles from the school. She will ride in the regular school bus in the mornings and be returned home at noon in the Head Start bus. Normally Head Start students ride the special Head Start bus, but the extreme distance will place a hardship on the Head Start bus routes.

The cafeteria will have a new 12 foot table, purchased from Allied School and Office Supply. While the table was not the cheapest available, board members agreed with Lock the table will be higher quality and last longer.

Members also unanimously approved Lock's recommendation to purchase a Gestetner Print Station for $6,034 from All American Copier. The printer will produce copies at lower cost since cheaper paper may be used. The station will be located in the library.

The board also approved an agreement with New Mexico Audit Inc. for the company to audit the school's utility, fuel and phone bills and determine whether the school can save money in any of the areas. The company will not charge for the service, unless a saving is realized, then it will charge 50 percent of the amount saved.

Board members watched a video sent by Gary Granger on a product named Silverlux which claims to reduce the cost of lighting. Last month Granger presented a different lighting system to the board.

The second nine weeks honor roll was presented and students on it commended.

Board members approved another special meeting for 7 p.m. Thursday, Feb. 4 in the school library to canvass the votes from the Feb. 2 board election and bond issue.

Board members and Lock discussed briefly the Feb. 2 bond issue election. Lock was to talk to Capitan Senior Citizens Wednesday, he and a board member were to meet with the Alto Home Owners' Association at 7 p.m. Wednesday, Jan. 27 at the Alto Club House and Friday, Jan. 29 they will have a round table discussion about the bond on KBUY Radio in Ruidoso.

ROSWELL, N.M.—Matthew J. MacVeigh, a high school sophomore at New Mexico Military Institute, has been named Distinguished New Cadet in his troop for the month of January. MacVeigh is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. MacVeigh of P.O. Box 82, Capitan.

One cadet from each of the 14 troops in the corps of 850 high school and junior college cadets is chosen each month for the honor of Distinguished New Cadet. The commandant of cadets makes the choice, based on the recommendation of the cadet chain of command.

Founded in 1891, NMMI is a state-supported, coeducational military high school and junior college.

—Police department head Charlie White reported he and relief officer Bill Murry attended a certification school in Alamogordo Jan. 21. White said when he asked Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane if the sheriff's department would cover the town while he and Murry were gone, McSwane said he did not have the manpower that day.

White was concerned about the joint powers agreement between the town and the sheriff's department and whether it included coverage for police protection.

Trustees agreed to review the joint powers agreement and asked White to let the mayor know the next time both officers would be out of town. The mayor will notify the sheriff and make the request for coverage for the town.

—A closed session to discuss personnel matters was held for one hour and five minutes. No action was taken.

McSwane Responds

Sheriff James McSwane told the News Wednesday that his office is more than willing to work with the Carrizozo Police Department but does require more advance notice because of officers' duties.

McSwane said there were no Carrizozo calls received Jan. 21 while White and Murry were gone, but if there had been any calls the sheriff's office would have responded.

VOTE FOR THE CAPITAN MIDDLE SCHOOL BOND ISSUE

Your vote is vital to the future of Capitan Schools. The School desperately needs extra classroom space to maintain qualtiy education.

Your vote for the $1.3 million bond issue on Tuesday, Feb. 2, will help Capitan Municipal Schools construct a needed facility for mid-school grades 6-8. Money from the bonds will be used to design and construct a 15,000 sq. ft. facility with seven classrooms and science and computer labs, administrative office space and bathrooms. The extra classrooms will provide enough space for the current student population, and the design will allow for expansion.

Capitan Schools ask voters to help preserve the schools' quality education by providing enough classroom space to maintain current student/teacher ratios shown by test scores to provide education above the state norms in most cases. Capitan's additon of the Head Start program for four year olds also creates a demand for space. Building a middle school will provide additonal rooms for the 6-8 grades and will open up classrooms in both the elementary and high school. At present enrollment, there will be 63 sixth graders at Capitan School in the 1993-94 school year, 52 seventh graders and 40 eighth graders, or 155 students in grades 6-8. With that enrollment, the proposed middle school would have 22 students per classroom. Projections for the 1994-95 school year show 37 sixth graders, 63 seventh graders and 52 eighth graders.

Capitan Schools have grown 70 students in the last two years.

A positive vote for the bond issue will cost property owners 96 cents of taxes for each $1,000 of taxable value of their property in 1994. Taxes will decrease in 1995 to 71 cents per $1,000 value. In 1996, current outstanding bond debts from previous projects will retire. From 1996 through the retirement of the middle school bonds in 2002, taxes will go back to their 1992 level. That means someone with a $60,000 home, assessed for taxable value at one-third that or $20,000 assessed will result in about $19.82 more in taxes in 1994.

THE NEED

The Capitan Board of Education is dedicated to the appropriate instruction for all students and to the maintenance and repair of all school buildings in the District. In addition, the Board must continue to maintain and build classrooms in order to meet anticipated growth in enrollment.

The proceeds from a successful election will go towards the construction of a new middle school. The following questions will appear on the ballot for voter approval:

GENERAL OBLIGATION BOND QUESTION

"Shall the Board of Education of the Capitan Municipal School District No. 28, County of Lincoln, State of New Mexico, be authorized to issue general obligation bonds of the District, in one series or more, in the aggregate principal amount of not exceeding $1,300,000 for the purpose of erecting a middle school and erecting, remodeling, making additions to and furnishing school buildings and purchasing or improving school grounds or any combination of these purposes, said bonds to be payable from general (ad valorem) taxes and to be issued and sold at such time or times upon such terms and conditions as the Board may determine?"

"He has ink in his blood," this statement applies to many people who have devoted their lives to newspapering. We've just finished reading the latest book by columnist and author Lewis Grizzard. It's entitled, "If I Ever Get Back to Georgia, I'm Going to Nail My Feet to the Ground."

Grizzard's extensive and varied newspaper career tells us that he has a gallon of ink in his blood. Sports was his first love before he became a syndicated columnist. He was sports editor of the Chicago Sun-Times for three years, but couldn't wait to get back to Georgia and the Atlanta Journal and Constitution.

Grizzard's recollection about newspaper people he has worked with spurred our memory about some real talented people and "characters" with whom we have been associated with in over 40 years of newspapering. A few of them were a part of Lincoln County, at least for a time.

* * * * * * *

Getting out a newspaper was a lot more complicated when we started out in the business in 1948 as news editor of the Roswell Morning Dispatch. After a year with the Dispatch, Don Wright, editor of the Roswell Daily Record hired us as reporter-photographer. We spent the next 25 years with that publication. In fact, we hired Jerry McCormick, present editor of the Roswell paper, as our man in Ruidoso. He lived in Ruidoso and sent copy to Roswell for publication in the Record. Later, the Record publisher decided to experiment with a weekly newspaper, the Lincoln County Record, which we edited along with the Roswell Daily Record. Don Rigginbach was our man in Ruidoso for a time. At one time we had a three-person staff in offices across from the Post Office in Ruidoso. Danny Guynes was the ad man, Dorothy Sullins the office manager.

The weekly experiment lasted about six months before it cratered. We recall 16-hour days on Mondays when we put together both the Monday Roswell Record and immediately following, the Lincoln County Record. Ah, Journalism.

We got to know Vic Lamb, editor and publisher of the Ruidoso News, in those days. They threw away the mold when they made Vic Lamb. He was quite a guy.

But, back to "characters" we have known, of which Vic was one. There was reporter Don Pinkston, who had worked for New York newspapers and who wrote the first story about the bear cub, Smokey. Smokey was rescued in 1950 from the forest fire in the Capitan Mountains. Pinkston's story launched Smokey's long career. The village of Capitan owes him something. Don Wright, my predecessor at the Roswell Record, had hired Pinkston. He also hired a reporter named Bonay and with whom we shared the newsroom. Bonay apparently had a sinus condition. He'd sit at his typewriter with two sticks jammed up his nose. We don't know why, but Wright took him into the men's room one day and fired him. Bonay immediately fainted dead away upon hearing that unhappy news.

* * * * * * *

Then there was the sports editor we hired out of New Jersey. Unfortunately, we never met the man. He came to Roswell, didn't like the barren country he had traversed to get there, dropped us a postcard saying, "Thanks, but no thanks," and returned to New Jersey. We often wondered what he really was like. Then there was the man we hired over the phone from Iowa or Idaho, we forget which. We waited and waited for his arrival because we were shorthanded. He never showed. We later learned he had dropped dead in Amarillo on his way to Roswell.

* * * * * * *

Then there was the young woman we hired for society editor. On her resume, the first item said her health was excellent. Not true? Except for her eyes, maybe her health was good. We discovered she had only five percent or normal vision and she had "floating eyes" which would drive you nuts. They wandered constantly from side to side. She later got much needed, professional help. She had to acknowledge a handicap.

* * * * * * *

Next week:

The man named Bear who was a Bear.

His sister, who was a Wolf.

The grouchy reporter with the super typewriter.

The vanishing sports editor named Crow.

Lincoln County News publisher Paul Payton and his one-lung press and his amazing inserting machine.

Stay tuned.

VA Promotes Appointment Recruitment

According to Joseph S. Cordova, Director, VA Regional Office, Albuquerque, the Department of Veterans Affairs (VA) is encouraging qualified minority real estate appraisers and construction compliance inspectors to contact the Loan Guaranty Division for assistance in submitting an application for potential appointment consideration to the fee appraiser or inspector rosters.

This ongoing recruitment effort would enable a greater number of minority individuals, who meet all prescribed state and VA qualifying criteria, to submit their respective applications to VA for consideration and possible future appointment to the fee panel roster. Interested parties may call the Construction and Valuation Section at the Albuquerque Regional Office (505) 766-2218 for more information on this program.

SBA Overhauls Loan Programs And Eligibility

More than 47,000 businesses will become eligible for U.S. Small Business Administration (SBA) loan and procurement programs under a major overhaul of SBA rules for assistance.

Besides expanding eligibility and streamlining the process; the changes reduce the number of different standards from 30 to nine, account for eight years of inflation and, for financial assistance, establish a two-tier eligibility test under which a company can qualify as a small business if it meets test conditions.

"I've got a GREAT idea . . . Let's test Bill Clinton and see what we can get away with!"

Inside The Capitol

by Jay Miller

SANTA FE—With a quarter of New Mexico's work force dependent on federal bucks, our state finds itself in a precarious position as the national government moves toward downsizing, especially in the defense industry.

Fortunately, our risky status is cushioned by well-positioned political influence.

In Congress Sen. Pete Domenici and Rep. Joe Skeen are on subcommittees dealing with defense appropriations and Sen. Jeff Bingaman is on a subcommittee handling defense authorizations.

Skeen legislative aide Bruce Donisthorpe says he doubts any other state has as much fiscal influence in Congress when it comes to defense spending.

Rep. Bill Richardson's position as a deputy whip in the House gives him a seat at the table when House leadership strategy is formulated.

Added to New Mexico's congressional clout is Gov. Bruce King's influence with Pres. Bill Clinton as a result of their long friendship, King's early support, and New Mexico's nine-point victory margin for Clinton.

New Mexico's strong voice on how military spending will be reduced is strengthened by other advantages. Most of the downsizing will come in troops and material. New Mexico-based defense spending is not in either of those two areas. We have no large bases nor big defense contractors.

The major portion of New Mexico's military spending is in the areas of research, development, testing and evaluation. Those sound like the areas in which a nation's peacetime defense budget should be spent.

New Mexico's defense facilities seem ideally suited for modernizing the military with an emphasis on efficiency and cost effectiveness. We already have a network of research universities, national laboratories, and military installations working together on defense, waste management and other problems.

Nuclear waste cleanup is another natural for New Mexico's federal research facilities. Where better can the feds go for their research than to the labs that developed nuclear technology in the first place?

These advantages should give our politicos good ammunition for keeping the federal dollars rolling into New Mexico.

Federal defense money is not the only subject of hot competition. Lively battles are also being waged over the top federal jobs in the state.

The U.S. attorney post is one of the most visible of the federal plums. It is currently held by Don Svet, who switched parties from Democrat to Republican when it began to appear Democrats had forgotten how to win the White House. It worked. Svet recently got the job.

He's likely on his way out as King and Democrats in our congressional delegation get pressure to appoint a strong Clinton supporter. The job could go to a Democrat from Svet's office but more likely selections are Clinton faithfuls Ira Robinson, Patrick Apodaca or Chris Key.

Robinson is a former Bernalillo County Democratic chairman and district attorney. He accompanied his wife, a Clinton delegate, to the Democratic National Convention in New York last summer.

Apodaca ran unsuccessfully for attorney general in the 1990 primary election. The Albuquerque attorney, with deep roots in southern New Mexico, worked hard for the Clinton ticket.

Key is a longtime personal friend of Clinton's dating back to their days as classmates at Oxford. His support from Gov. King may not be as strong as Robinson's or Apodaca's but Key could be looking at a major post in Washington.

Another federal plum that allows New Mexicans to stay home is the state directorship of the Farmers Home Administration. James Lewis, Gov. King's chief of staff, and Steve Anaya, perhaps the closest Anaya to the King family, are major contenders for that position.

Pres. Clinton has a new federal judge to appoint in New Mexico now that Jimmy Campos has taken senior status. Santa Fe lawyer John Pound has his name in the hat for that post. Pound is a close advisor of Gov. King and state chairman of the Democratic Leadership Council, the centrist group that supported Bill Clinton's candidacy from the beginning.

Letters To The Editor

EDITOR—The Capitan School Board is asking the voters to approve a bond issue for a new middle school. The School Board made a good decision. Separating kids of that difficult middle age group from both the younger elementary kids, and the older high school kids is a good reason to build a new facility. There are lots of reasons to indicate that Capitan could live without a new school facility. And yes, Capitan, has very high taxes. But after weighing the facts, its an easy call, because there is no doubt that a new middle school would definitely improve the education environment for the kids. There isn't a better reason to vote "yes".

HOLLIS FUCHS,
Capitan.

EDITOR—I wish to express deep felt thanks on my behalf and the board of Ruidoso Care Inc. (Ruidoso Meals on Wheels).

We receive no federal or state funds so we exist only on the basis of donations and the work of our volunteers.

A special thanks at this time of year to the many people who have made it possible to feed 40-50 seniors, many of which are homebound, three times a week.

Thank you so much to all the volunteers who make this possible and all the clubs and individuals who have made donations to ensure survival of this program.

VERNA ADAMS, RN.
President of the Board of Directors.
Ruidoso Care (Meals on Wheels).

EDITOR—He called his book, "The Invisible Government." Published in 1962, it sold out six editions. Its author, Dan Smoot, had been an FBI agent. Smoot convinces us that a ruling elite rules America. Named, "The Council On Foreign Relations," the CFR has the power to rule. And it does.

Founded in 1921, the CFR began attracting Rockefeller money in 1928. David Rockefeller was CFR chairman for 15 years. One important player is George Bush. Bill Clinton is a member. His administration is loaded with CFR members as was Bush's.

Now a young writer, Bill Jasper, recently published his own updated espose' of the CFR. Entitled, GLOBAL TYRANNY...Step by Step, The United Nations and the Emerging New World Order," Jasper's book should be on your reading list.

Jasper and Smoot agree that the CFR persistently advances the New World Order. The New World Order is a plan that leading socialists and communists have no problem working toward. To many of us, the New World Order sounds too much like the old world fascism.

RAYMOND C. WILSON,
San Juan Bautista, Calif.

The Other Side

By Owen Russell

I received some reliable advice from a stockbroker friend of mine the other day. He said I should consider selling my stock in National Shoe Company because if the Clintons start setting trends in styles of dress, we could be in a bunch of trouble. I have told this story to some of my other friends and have been surprised that I had to go on and inform them about the propensity for residents of Arkansas to go barefoot before I got any reaction out of them. I trust I won't have to do the same with my reader(s).

(Write something about Joe Montana applying for a job with CBS. It worked for David Letterman. Both are being passed over on their road to fame and fortune, but I need to collect my thoughts on this. If Joe stays in San Francisco, he may begin to develop a Dan Quayle complex. By allowing the Letterman show to go to CBS, NBC may be getting ready to learn something about letting an adversary out of the tent. Anyhow, when and if I feel like it, I should say something about it.)

Mystery: Why is the pink in my white socks more colorfast than the red in my shirt?

* * * * * * *

Treason is a charge invented by winners to justify hanging losers. This bit of wisdom is supposedly attributed to Ben Franklin, but he didn't say where he got it.

Originality is that quality referred to in the description of your work by someone who doesn't know who you got it from.

Plagiarism is the description given by one who does.

Stale is the description of wit plagiarized one time too many.

Cliche is the description of a bit of wisdom that has been plagiarized so often it becomes stale.

Trite refers to the statement that remains unplagiarized by popular consent.

If this is an example of word association, maybe it explains why my analyst followed me over the hill. Psychiatric testing includes a section on incomplete sentences which is supposed to give some indication of a person's personality because only certain types of idiots will finish the sentence in a particular way, so if any of the foregoing statements are incomplete sentences, I surely must be in trouble. However, you should have seen the expression on his face when I told him what the ink blots looked like.

* * * * * * *

I am sometimes amused by some of the public opinion polls that are conducted by the media. A very complicated question over which the experts disagree is asked of a select number of people, supposedly representing a cross-section of the public, and invariably a majority of those polled support the position taken by the questioner. How can this type of poll be helpful. They are asking a question that cannot intelligently be answered without some amount of knowledge in the field and expect the answer from someone who is spending all his time trying to make a living and could care less about the subject to represent a valid opinion on the subject. It seems to me that it is impossible for someone to make an informed judgment on a subject without knowing something about it, and most people on the street have neither the time, energy, nor interest to have spent the effort necessary to comment on the question. This is probably the number one defect in the so-called democratic system. It assumes an informed electorate, but the questions dealt with are generally too complex for the electorate to be informed, which means for the system to work, we have to rely on our representatives to make our choices for us.

CORONA PEOPLE FOR THE WEST

Corona Chapter Of PFW Re-elects Chairman Hays

The Corona Chapter of People For The West met Jan. 11, 1993 in the Rec Room. The main agenda was the election of officers. Bill Hays, the current chairman, was reelected for another term. Other officers elected included Ron Merrit, Vice Chairman; Cheryle Millican, Secretary/Treasurer; and Sandra Merritt, Reporter.

A report on the BLM; Rio Bonita Land Trade was given by Bill Hays. All members present expressed support of the County Commissioners in their law suit against the BLM.

At the December meeting the Chapter watched a video presentation entitled, "America's Godly Heritage". The video, by David Barton of WallBuilders, clearly sets forth the beliefs of our Founding Fathers concerning the proper role of Christian principles in education, in government, and in public affairs of the nation. "America's Godly Heritage" also provides excerpts from court cases showing that for 160 years Christian principles were officially inseparable from American public life.

The historical reviews were accompanied by many of the famous portraits, pictures and pictorial reliefs from America's history. After the members viewed the video, they voted to publish a quote out of the film each week in the Lincoln County News. If anyone is interested in the video, they may contact Beverly Merritt at 849-1128.

The next meeting of the Corona Chapter of People For The West will be Feb. 8, at 6:30 p.m. in the Corona Rec Room. Everyone is invited to attend.

Carrizozo School Begins ADA Work

By DORIS CHERRY

Carrizozo High School was without natural gas the last few days, shut off at the meter by the state inspector after leaks in the lines were discovered.

A routine inspection test of the natural gas lines which lead to newly installed gas heating fixtures at Carrizozo High School revealed a leak somewhere in the system, reported architect Dale Zinn to the Carrizozo Board of Education at its regular meeting Tuesday.

As a result, the inspector "red tagged" the project and shut off the gas at the meter.

Zinn said he met with the contractor who was certain the leak was on a pipe on the roof. The contractor was to test the pipe between the high school boiler and meter to isolate the leak. If the contractor is successful in finding the leak on the roof, Zinn was to petition the inspector to allow the boiler to be refired, since they knew there would be no danger of explosion.

The heating fixtures were nearly completed and working until the inspector discovered the leak.

Zinn requested the board approve a change order to the contract with the gas contractor to find and repair the leak.

Wednesday, Carrizozo Schools superintendent Jimmie Banks reported the contractor isolated several leaks in the pipes and repaired them. The inspector was to check the lines again Wednesday afternoon.

Solar collectors will provide heat to some areas of the high school while the gas is off and teachers have been given the option of staying in their rooms or relocating elsewhere in the school complex until the problem is corrected, Banks said.

Once the leak is repaired and the new heating fixtures in operation, Zinn will require staff to be trained on their operation.

Another code violation at the high school was the lack of a sump pump in the basement. The basement has a "French drain" which does not connect to the sewer lines. Zinn said he negotiated with the inspector and received a 60-day extension so the inspector would not "red tag" the project because of the sump pump.

In order to isolate and repair the leak, and to install a sump pump, board members Gary Hightower, Eugenia Vega, Nick Serna and Jan Barham approved change orders of $2,500 and $1,589 respectively to Hays Plumbing and Heating.

Ned's Plumbing and Remodeling Company will be doing construction projects to bring the school into compliance with the Americans with Disabilities Act and other needed work. The board approved Zinn's recommendation to accept the proposal from Ned's Plumbing and Remodeling of Carrizozo to provide a year of work for $60,000. Zinn established a three phase approach to work, with the ADA compliance first priority. As much other work will be done as possible with the funds remaining. Zinn said Ned's rates were very moderate, lower then the state rates.

Ned's Plumbing and Remodeling was the only response to a request for proposal.

The board directed Zinn to draw up and negotiate a contract with Ned's Plumbing and Remodeling for approval at the February board meeting.

Rocky Mountain Roofing Company will be receive its second payment for roofing at the school. Zinn said he forewarned the company it has used all its bad-weather days, however, the company is still about 30 days ahead of the payment schedule. After the gas leaks are repaired at the high school, the roofing contractor will begin roofing there.

Banks reported on the on-site visit to the school cafeteria by members of the State Dept. of Education accreditation team. The cafeteria staff received real good reports and had already responded to recommendations made by the team. Banks commended Charlotte Emmons, Sandra Jiron and Christetta Butts for their work with the cafeteria. Banks also noted the things being done to improve the looks of the cafeteria room. Polly Chavez has hung up "pop-art" and will be presenting proposals to begin a permanent art project in the lunch room. Banks said the old curtain with the "C" will also be removed to give the room a new appearance.

Banks also gave a brief report on the accreditation team's visit and review last week. Overall, he said, the team gave the school a good report, and found only a few areas needing improvement, which will soon be addressed. "The school's rosey," Banks said.

The board also conducted a nearly four-hour long closed session to discuss the superintendent's annual evaluation and pending litigation. According to board president Gary Hightower, the board reviewed an evaluation summary compiled from staff evaluations and prepared their own comments also. Banks has another year to serve on a two-year contract approved last year.

Pending litigation against the school is no longer pending, the board learned in closed session. A long-standing suit against the school had been dropped, Hightower said.

No action was taken based on the discussion during the closed session.

Board policies were revised to bring them up to date. Policies updated were notification of board meeting; textbooks selection procedures; definition of student status (two sections); grades to attend nighttime school dances; grades for Writing to Read; cafeteria attendance by patrons; gifts and donations; curriculum changes and attendance.

The board also adopted the Open Meetings Act which sets the time needed for notification of regular, special and emergency meetings. The adoption is done annually.

The next board of education meeting will be Feb. 16.

Officers Installed At CowBelle Meeting

Canyon CowBelles met Jan. 5 at the United New Mexico Bank for their first meeting of 1993. Present were 23 members and welcomed two new members Gail Majors and Julie Baker. A terrific Mexican food potluck was shared while listening to guest speaker John West of the Lincoln County Historical Society. He was trying to gather interest for a museum in Carrizozo to honor area pioneer women.

Our state president-elect Anne Ferguson gave a report on the Annual Convention in Albuquerque and despite the bad weather there were 90+ in attendance. The National CowBelle President, Wilma Ackerman from Kansas was able to attend. Anne gave an update on the things happening on the state level including all the new officers, the new computer membership list, CowBelle member of the Year Viola Jeffers, new committees and exciting ideas. Anne Ferguson gave a note of thanks to our past state president Barbara Wagner and commended her on a job well done.

The Otero Chapter has challenged all the other CowBelle groups to donate $50 to help the NMSU Collegiate CowBelles in Las Cruces. The Canyon CowBelles accepted the challenge and commended the NMSU Chapter for their enthusiasm and terrific membership drive-they currently have 56 members.

Congratulations were extended to the 108 participants in the recent Beef Poster Contest held at the Carrizozo school. Special thanks to Linda Greer for all the hard work she did toward this contest and also to our judges Tom Broom and Cheryl Smith.

HI-PRO FEEDS have asked the CowBelles to hostess a dinner for all local ranchers and persons interested in a new product called "CRYSTALIX". The dinner will be held at the REA Building on Feb. 3. The club is always glad to promote our favorite product — BEEF!

Anne Ferguson also reported on the upcoming Ranch Tour being hosted by the Canyon CowBelles this summer. It should prove to be a great time. Ferguson also told about a disturbing article about the new endangered species list signed into law. We'd all better be on our toes or pretty soon the whole human race will be on the endangered species list.

A very special and unique new officer installation ceremony was conducted near the end of the meeting by Anne Ferguson. A surprise ceremony honoring Anne for all the hard work she has done and for keeping our group well informed was held. Once again, Linda Greer was in the center of the activity as she did a terrific job of hand drawing a beautiful Certificate of Appreciation for Anne and having as many of the CowBelle members sign it as possible. A special thanks to all involved in our super group of Canyon CowBelles.

Cindy King won the door prize. The next meeting will be at her house west of Ancho on Feb. 3 at 11:30 a.m. See you there.

VOTE FOR

CARRIZOZO MUNICIPAL SCHOOL DISTRICT

CAPITAL IMPROVEMENTS ACT

(Two-Mill Levy)

Tuesday, Feb. 2, 1993

PRESENT STATUS and NEED

The Carrizozo Board of Education is dedicated to the appropriate maintenance and repair of all school buildings in the District. In addition, the Board must continue to purchase and maintain equipment for existing and future educational programs.

FACILITIES and EQUIPMENT NEEDS

1) erecting, remodeling, making additions to, providing equipment for or furnishing public school buildings;
2) purchasing or improving public school grounds;
3) maintenance of public school buildings or public school grounds, exclusive of salary expenses of school district employees; and
4) purchasing activity vehicles for transporting students to extracurricular school activities.

FINANCING THE NEED

The current needs of the District can be financed through a CONTINUATION of the tax levy authorized by the Capital Improvements Act. This Tax Levy is currently in place and provides the District with approximately $39,300 per year.

This financing method was chosen because;

1) The State of New Mexico provides the District with 34% or $13,500 of the $39,300 received.
2) The taxpayers in the Carrizozo Municipal School District provide 66% or $25,800 of the $39,300 received.
3) There is no money borrowed as with a Bond Issue, therefore no interest or financing costs are paid by the taxpayer.
4) Revenue generated may be invested at the highest possible rate without restriction.
5) The duration of the levy is three years and must be re-authorized by the voters.
6) This is not a new tax since the levy is currently in place.

COST TO THE TAXPAYER

THERE WILL BE NO ADDITIONAL COST TO THE TAXPAYER SINCE THE TAX IS CURRENTLY IN PLACE

The following table shows the current cost of this tax to the Carrizozo School District taxpayer and the continuing annual and monthly cost if the election is successful.

For example, if a taxpayer's property has a property value of $30,000 (market value is usually higher) and a net taxable value of $10,000 (one-third of property value), the tax will be $20.00 per year or $1.67 per month.

Property Value	Assessed Value	Property Tax Annually	Property Tax Monthly
$ 3,000	$ 1,000	$ 2.00	$0.17
9,000	3,000	6.00	0.50
21,000	7,000	14.00	1.17
30,000	10,000	20.00	1.67
36,000	12,000	24.00	2.00

Grizzlies Undefeated In District 3A Play

The Carrizozo Grizzlies, ranked seventh in state, captured two District 3A home games by beating Vaughn 91-56 Saturday and Mountainair 76-71 Friday.

Against the Mountainair Mustangs the Grizzlies (10-2, 3-0 in 3A) trailed at halftime 40-36. But in third quarter the Grizzlies outscored the Mustangs 25-12 and hung on in the fourth quarter for the win.

"We played a poor first half. Our intensity level on defense was not there and that led to a lot of easy baskets by Mountainair," said head coach Kenneth Butts.

The main reason for the better play in the second half was the play of senior center, Bryan Turnbow, who scored 30 points and grabbed 21 rebounds.

"Bryan had a monster night, specially in the second half where he scored 21 points and had 14 rebounds," commended Butts.

Seniors Heath Rickman (13 points, 3 steals), Cory Collins (10 points, 6 rebounds), Anthony Archuleta (4 points, 3 assists) and Mike Barela (4 points, 5 assists) also played well to help Carrizozo to the win.

Again the bench of the Grizzlies came through for Carrizozo against the Mustangs. (Juniors) Blas Herrera (8 points, 6 rebounds, 4 assists), George Vega (7 rebounds, 2 blocked shots, 2 points); Jon Vallejos (3 points, 3 rebounds, 3 steals) and (senior) Scot Brown (2 points) really played well again tonight. They may not be starters by name but they are as valuable or more valuable than the starters," said Butts.

"For us to play as bad as we did and still come out of the game with a win says a lot for the character of this team. They just will not accept losing. The team seems to work harder when they fall behind," Butts commented.

The Vaughn game was a blowout in the first quarter. Carrizozo used their pressure defense to cause numerous Vaughn Eagles turnovers which led to a lot of layups as they jumped to a 26-9 first quarter lead. The Grizzlies continued to pull away throughout the game as they seemed to score at will on the much smaller Eagle team.

"We really needed a game like this, after having so many close games lately," said Coach Butts.

The Grizzlies, who had balanced scoring as all 12 players scored, were led by Vallejos with 17 points, 10 rebounds and 7 steals.

"Jon is really coming on this year after missing all of last year with a foot injury. He is the best athlete I have, he was 3 steals away from the first triple double I have ever seen in high school basketball," Butts said.

According to Coach Butts Vega had his best game of the year as he scored 6 points, grabbed 11 rebounds, handed out 5 assists and blocked 6 shots.

Scoring in double figures for the Grizzlies were Turnbow (16 points, 13 rebounds), Collins (11 points) and Rickman (10 points, 5 assists).

Also scoring for Carrizozo were Herrera (8 points, 3 assists), Brown and Archuleta (6 points each), sophomore Billy Sheehan (5 points), Barela (2 points, 5 assists), junior Davin Epperson (2 points, 4 assists) and senior James Smith (2 points).

The Capitan Tiger boys varsity basketball team had its ups and downs last week. They lost their first district game to Hondo in a heart breaker, 40-39.

Tiger Coach Ron Becker said the Hondo team played real hard with lots of emotion. The Tigers, on the other hand, acted like they only had to show up, then stood around and let the Hondo boys do what they wanted. He said the Tigers had a chance to even the score in the last minutes of the game, but they made only one out of five free throw attempts. The Tigers also missed a close shot at the buzzer which would have given the game to the Tigers.

"Our opponent (Hondo) taught us respect and did it on the floor where it should be done," Becker said. "Hondo should be proud of how it approached the ball game."

The Loving Falcons provided the Tigers tough competition Friday, Jan. 22, and the Tigers lost 47-67.

The Tigers were down only six points at the half, and it was

Friends of Smokey View New Painting

The newest of Rudy Wendelin's Smokey Bear paintings was shown to members of the Friends of Smokey at their recent meeting in Capitan.

The painting, commissioned by Friends of Smokey, was financed with funds donated by Don Brewer. The work depicts the juvenile Smokey, with bandaged feet and hands, painted by the artist who created the original Smokey Bear posters.

Friends plan to have reproduction posters made of the painting. The posters will be given to Friends of Smokey charter members and will be for sale. A committee was appointed to research and begin the bid process for the poster.

The original painting will be formally unveiled for the public at a later date.

There are 35 charter members of Friends of Smokey. Deadline to become a charter member was Dec. 31, 1992. Members at the meeting agreed to make Mary Dean, Angie Provine and Francis Shaw, former members of the Capitan Woman's Club, honorary Friends of Smokey members. The women donated $1,400, proceeds from the sale of the Woman's Club building, to Friends. The Friends also agreed the Lincoln County Board of Commissioners should also be honorary members. Posters will be sent to the three women and one to the county commissioners' office in Carrizozo.

Merle Glenn, public affairs officer with the Lincoln National Forest, updated members on the recent meeting with the U.S. Forest Service concerning a grant to be used for Smokey Bear's 50th anniversary. The funds can only be used for the fire prevention campgain, and do not provide for any construction at Smokey Bear Park. The grant will pay for signs, an additional person at Smokey Bear Park, banners, pull off areas at both sides of Capitan, purchase of non-monetary awards and other Smokey Bear materials, participation in the Albuquerque Balloon Fiesta and a mobile unit with Smokey Bear interpretive display.

A job description for the additional person at Smokey Bear Park will be written and the position advertised. Glenn hoped someone from the area will be hired.

In discussion about floats with the Smokey Bear theme, Glenn said the guidelines for the use of the Smokey Bear image are strict and do not allow the mix of school mascots with Smokey. Also, only one Smokey Bear in costume is allowed per event.

Member Carol Peterson reported that she is pursuing grants and/or sponsorships from private businesses such as Ace Hardware and Wrangler to help Friends of Smokey celebrate Smokey Bear's 50th anniversary in 1994. She requested that a form letter and packet describing the anniversary celebration and Friends of Smokey's plans be compiled to send to the prospective sponsors. Glenn cautioned members that Smokey cannot be used to endorse any product, especially tobacco or alcoholic products. All sponsors must be approved by the national Smokey Bear Fire Prevention office.

Members agreed that any packet for prospective sponsors include a list of events and make a clear distinction the sponsorship is for Friends of Smokey. Members listed several events including a fun run, parade, concerts, rodeo, Albuquerque Balloon Fiesta, State Fair and Rodeo, trail rides, chili cook-off, caravan and so on. An advantage of private sponsorship is that the money can be used for capital project such as fairgrounds improvements, a fire tower and/or a bronze statue at Smokey Bear Park in Capitan and memorial park.

Committee reports showed that 100,000 new Smokey Bear Park brochures are to be delivered within a week. The brochures describe the park, the fire prevention campgain and Friends of Smokey. A separate page will be inserted into the brochures asking for memberships and donations to Friends of Smokey.

Friends of Smokey bumper sticker, license plate and t-shirt will be sent, as requested, to the Georgia Southern University Museum, which has an exhibit of Smokey Bear items. A catalog of Friends of Smokey items also will be sent to the museum.

A new guide book will be available at the Smokey Bear Park in Capitan. It will identify the native species and why they were planted there with numbered markers at each plant. Another display, featuring antlers, skins and fur and other touchable items, is being planned for the park.

Members agreed, with 1993 here, that it is time to get into second gear for the 50th anniversary celebration. The anniversary will kick off in October of this year and continue through July 1994.

Anyone can still join Friends of Smokey, although charter memberships are no longer available. Anyone interested in helping with Smokey's 50th anniversary can contact the New Mexico State Forestry Division office in Capitan at 354-2231.

Friends of Smokey meet at 1 p.m. the first Monday of each month at Smokey Bear Restaurant in Capitan.

Lady Tigers . . . (Continued from P. 8)

a 10-point game by the end of the third quarter, Becker said. Then Kyle Traylor fouled out with five minutes left in the fourth quarter with Capitan down only nine points. The Tigers made some real mistakes by not blocking out on the boards, giving Loving the ball too many times.

"Our kids gave an effort for 32 minutes (the entire length of a game)—that's what it's all about," Becker said.

Saturday, the Tigers traveled to Lake Arthur and won 52-34.

Kyle Traylor scored 20 points, Damian Roybal scored 11. J.P. Whipple replaced Trevor Cox, who was out sick, in the number five position and did an excellent job and scored nine points.

The Tigers played without two of their starters, Trevor Cox and Michael Fish in both the Loving and Lake Arthur games. In their places Becker started two freshmen—Niel Montes and Ernie Trujillo.

Becker said the boys are young, but the more they play, the more experience they will gain in order to provide leadership in the future. The boys handled the pressure real well in both the Loving and Lake Arthur games.

In recent play, the Tigers defeated the Reserve JV 66-54 in the first round of the Reserve Mountainair Tournament Jan. 14-16. Cox scored 23 points, Fish scored 16 points, Traylor 14. They did a good job defensively and offensively, said Becker.

The Tigers lost to Colonial Juarez in the semi-final, 50-47. The team played a hard second half, but the slow first half hurt the boys. Cox scored 14, Fish and Traylor 10 each and Roybal eight.

Roybal played excellent in the second half, Becker said.

In the final game of the tournament, the Tigers lost to the Silver City JV 50-46. Traylor was outstanding and scored 21 points and had 12 rebounds. Becker said the four and five positions did not shoot well from the floor. The power forward and post players did a good job however.

The Tigers are now 6-8 in the season and 0-1 in district

The Capitan girls and boys team will host the Carrizozo boys and girls team tonight, (Thursday), Jan. 28. Action begins with boys junior varsity at 4:30 p.m.

The Tigers, Lady Tigers and their JV teams will travel to Loving Friday, Jan. 29.

Grizzlies . . .

(Con't. from P. 8)

"This week is the biggest week of the year so far, We play at rival Capitan, then host Hondo; before we host the most important game of the year against Ft. Sumner. Ft. Sumner is undefeated in district play and I'm sure they will be fired up to play us for first place in the district. I really feel we are going to find out how good we are this week," Butts said.

FORT STANTON: FACTS and FICTION

By BETTY JOINER

Warm days and cold nights are causing many at the Fort to have a bad virus that is hanging around for two or three weeks.

Dan Holt, Dub's son, recently visited the York college in York, Nebraska. Dan plans to attend the college in the fall and hopes to play on the basketball team. Good luck Dan.

Dorothy and Jim Reid of Clovis, and Mr. and Mrs. Don Reid of Encino, visited Bessie Jones during the Smokey Bear Tournament. Don's kids were participating in the tournament.

Willie Hobbs was sorry to hear of the death of her brother William D. Wright. He had lived in White Oaks as a boy and worked at the beanery in Edgewood years ago. He was 76 years old and was living in Springfield, West Virginia, at the time of his death. He is survived by two boys, John and Billy. Burial was in Nebraska at the side of his deceased wife, Gertrude.

Willie worked in the Capitan Post Office Thursday morning and then worked at the Fort on Thursday evening. At least 20 fellow postmasters and retirees attended the swearing in of Mike Currin as Capitan's new postmaster on Jan. 21. Mary Gourley of Alto did the honor of swearing Mike in. Cake, 7-Up, tea, and coffee was served to the many guests who came to give Mike a welcome. His wife Linda and two children, Steven and Melissa were also present. A few of the customers who enjoyed cake, and visiting were Ferrell Canning, Alton and Pauline Whittaker, Shilo Smith, David Cummins and daughter, Hollis and Gloria Cummins, Irene Watkins and Rogene Clees. Robin Armenta, Capitan PTF clerk also welcomed her new boss and did a superb job of decorating, waiting on customers and putting up mail in the midst of all the confusion. The postal employees attending were Della Bonnell, Louise Babers, Esther Rodriguez, Shirlene and Julius Fitzner, Cherie Hobbs, Aileen Lindamood and friend Anna Belle Burrows, Francis Shaw, Neal Chapman, Rosalee Patterson, Faye Womack, Mary Gourley, Judy Fletcher, Betty Joiner, Maxine Wright, Gordon Rowell, and many others. Mike, welcome to our special little town, hope you enjoy many years as postmaster here.

A.J. Bonnell has been keeping her grandma and grandpa on their toes this past week. They have enjoyed her for a whole week. Paul and Marie, the parents of A.J., are busy working in Albuquerque. Paul is doing his student teaching there and hopes to be teaching soon.

Kathy and Stan Wheeler are the proud grandparents of a baby boy. The baby weighed 7 lbs. and 11 ozs. Stephanie and Tug Bowden are the proud parents. Congratulations one and all.

Corriente CowBelles met last Thursday at 11 a.m.

Ruidoso Debates . . .

the council sets policy otherwise.

Councillor Barbara Duff said some department heads are very unhappy about the situation.

But Shaw said she talked with eight employees who had no problem with people bothering them, since they felt that since it was public information that should provide it.

"I don't like this policy," Shaw echoed.

Duff agreed that all records in village hall were open to the public. But she thought members of the public should come to village hall and look for information themselves, not take the employee's time to look for the public.

Mayor Victor Alonso said there needs to be a balance between the concern of the press to have information provided and to have access and how that access is done. He contended the actions of the "overzealous reporter" was why the policy was put in place. He said it was difficult for village employees with a reporter hanging around expressing opinions about the village's management.

"There is a very disruptive atmosphere created by this situation," Alonso said.

He agreed it bothered him not to have a wide open city.

"Unfortunately politics are now involved in the daily operations of the city," Alonso said. He preferred the press focus the heat on the council and "get out of meddling with the day to day operation."

Shaw explained the news investigation began over some auctions and trading the village manager was involved with. Personally she was very glad to have known about the dealings.

Shaw was also concerned about the locked doors to the manager and mayor's offices. "What are you hiding?" she asked.

"In 1990," she said to Alonso, "you ran for open government, but I see it closing around me."

She contended it is the press' job to look after the public.

As for the auction situation, Shaw said she was told during a closed session that the auction practice had always been there. She did not remember any type of auction policy. She also was concerned that there was no documentation about the items recently purchased at auctions.

Wicker said an open purchase order for $102,000 was okayed in 1988/89 for various departments to go to Santa Fe. Some $48,000 was spent at a surplus sale and the items distributed to various village departments.

Alonso said the council needed to establish policy to give the manager direction about auctions and surplus sales. He admitted it was true that prior to his election such purchases were documented. But it angered him that prior to 1990 (the year of his election) the village was "squeaky clean."

"That's bullshit!" Alonso said and pounded the conference desk.

Shaw said that records show Wicker attended 15 auctions in 1991-92. Wicker rebutted that, saying he had personally attended three auctions. They accused Shaw of getting her information from the newspaper.

"I don't get my information from the news media, I get it from the records," Shaw said. She wanted to retract any policy concerning the access to public information made by the manager and have it brought before the council.

Alonso called a point of order and instructed Wicker to document any auction he attended. Alonso said the council gave Wicker indications there was nothing wrong with him attending auctions.

James wanted all items purchased in auction to be listed on department inventories.

The council ended the heated discussion by approving a motion to instruct staff to provide documentation on auction items to Councillor Shaw and other councillors.

Under the village policy, according to village attorney Patricia Ortiz, anyone requesting village information must fill out an application stating what is requested and so on. A copy fee of 50 cents a page will be imposed and a fee of $5 for copy audio tapes of village meetings. Copies of video tapes of village meetings are not available.

The policy, Ortiz said, has been in village files for a number of years. She and Wicker only reinstated the policy.

Sheriff's report

Lincoln County Sheriff James McSwane reviewed proposed plans to remodel/expand the sheriff's department within the Lincoln County Courthouse in Carrizozo.

Rather than expand current facilities, McSwane proposes to bring in a modular building and place it in the graveled parking lot to the northeast side of the building. That would open space for an expansion of the Lincoln County Detention Facility, and provide a separate space for communications and sheriff's offices, McSwane said.

The plans for the proposed sheriff's office remodeling, and for other proposed remodeling and expansions of the Lincoln County Courthouse are available for viewing at the county's manager's office, also located in the courthouse in Carrizozo.

In 1992, the Lincoln County Sheriff's Dispatch handled a total of 192,083 calls. Of those calls, 10 involved fatal auto accidents (not all were located in Lincoln County), 73 involved accidents with injuries, 164 were accidents without injuries; 421 ambulance requests, 163 wrecker requests and 123 fire calls. Dispatch received 45,122 telephone calls and 72,158 radio calls. Some 1,766 persons walked into the sheriff's office to make reports.

Dispatchers received 106 hours of training in 1992 and attended three schools. A total of 2,389 dispatch reports were made.

The following information was taken from dispatch records in the Lincoln County Sheriff's Office:

When the responding deputy arrived he advised all was okay, the grandmother decided what she wanted to do and everybody was happy with that.

The responding deputy checked the residence and found no one home and the furniture covered with sheets.

5:01 p.m.—a drunken pedestrian was reported at Carrizozo School gym. The responding Carrizozo policeman and deputy advised they were told the drunken pedestrian turned into a drunken driver since the drunken person was in an older model flat bed truck. Home Economist Tips

Save Money By Sewing Clothes

By BETTY McCREIGHT
Lincoln County
Home Economist

Everyone is looking for ways to save money. When it comes to clothing, that can mean sewing. Studies show that sewing garments at home can save up to 50 percent or more.

To get the most for your sewing dollar, you must plan carefully. After you determine what you want to sew, shop for fabric and patterns carefully as you would shop for ready-to-wear.

Take time to look at ready-to-wear that is being sold. Determine the colors, styles and fabrics that are popular. Try on garments similar to those you plan to make to see how they will look when completed.

Consider your sewing skills when selecting a fabric and pattern to make at home. Check the construction details involved to be certain you can create a garment that you, or the person you are making it for, will be comfortable wearing. If the construction details are new to you or more involved than usual, select a fabric that is easy to sew. Save stripes, plaids, diagonal and large designs, and loosely woven, knit fabrics or fabrics with nap for garment designs that are easy to make.

Purchase notions and all items needed to complete a garment at the time the fabric and pattern are selected so the colors will match and extra trips to the store are eliminated. This trick will also help you avoid selecting a fabric difficult to match with a zipper, thread, buttons and other notions.

Shop fabric sales whenever possible, but try to avoid overpurchasing. A stockpile of fabrics that you do not use ties up money that could be used to meet other needs. However, it may be wise to buy staple items, such as thread in basic colors and interfacing used often in large quantities, especially when they are on sale.

Always examine fabric carefully before purchasing and check to see if sale merchandise can be returned. Avoid flawed fabrics even when the price is adjusted unless you are willing to take the risk of not being able to use the fabric as you originally planned.
