In Japan women are employed to sweep the streets at night. This is sufficient evidence that the streets of Japan are well swept.

A Philadelphia preacher says that the devil lurks in every piece of pie, and considering his position, he ought to be an expert on piety.

A scientist now announces that Scotch whisky is often treated with creosote. We always have been down on this "treating habit."

The market report that storage eggs are beginning to move suggests that they must be acquiring some of their old-time and well-known strength.

Rio Janeiro is having anti-vaccination riots. Goodness! If people have to be vaccinated down there why does anybody want to live in Rio Janeiro?

As though flattery could "soothe the dull, cold ear of death," the British will fire salutes over the remains of poor old Oom Paul at Cape Town and Pretoria.

A Boston judge decides that a hotel is not an inn. To the judge's mind, perhaps the word "inn" conveys an idea of comfort not realized in his experience with hotels.

A horse case has been before the courts now for more than two years up in Montreal. By this time, of course, the lawyers' bills far exceed the value of the horse.

"All society women should work," says Mrs. Chatfield-Taylor. Which is an instance, without regard to the slow laws of evolution, that all butterflies shall at once store honey.

Those Russian editors who are rejoicing in the liberties they now enjoy should try a few months of editing in America to get a grasp of what freedom of the press really means.

A London physician thinks that he has discovered that blonde women are more subject to heart disease than brunettes. Some blondes of the peroxide type lose their hearts too early for that.

A Baltimore street car conductor who found $2,000 in his car was given a reward of 25 cents when he returned the money to its owner. Hetty Green wasn't in Baltimore at the time, either.

From Budapest comes tidings of the invention of a new musical instrument, the tarogato, which, it is said, will prove a valuable addition to the Wagnerian orchestra. It has a Wagnerian sound.

The English newspaper man who has invented a process for making bread, without any additional plant or any extra ingredient, so that it takes only one hour for the dough to rise, instead of from four to twelve, must be a handy man to have around the house.

The man who never saw a modern football game explains that when he wants to see slugging he prefers to go to a regular prize fight, where he can see it all. In a football match, he says, a good deal of the hard hitting in the crush must be missed by the spectators.

The New York Herald in reporting the loss of a $10,000 pearl necklace, says that the streets of New York appear to be littered with gems. There is a strong probability, however, that the patriotic citizens of the metropolis will anticipate the street cleaning department in removing this litter.

THE ODD CORNER

Love's Fulfilling.

Oh, love is weak
Which counts the answers and the gains,
Weighs all the losses and the pains,
And eagerly each fond word drains
A joy to seek.

When love is strong
It never tarries to take heed,
Or know if its return exceed
Its gift; in its sweet haste no greed,
No strifes belong.

It hardly asks
If it be loved at all; to take
So barren seems, when it can make
Such bliss, for the beloved sake,
Of bitter tasks.

Its ecstasy
Could find hard death so beautiful
It sees through tears how Christ loved us,
And speaks, in saying, "I love thus,"
No blasphemy.

So much we miss
If love is weak, so much we gain
If love is strong, God thinks no pain
Too sharp or lasting to ordain
To teach us this.

—Helen Hunt Jackson.

Blind Grocer's Clerk.

The stuff heroes are made of is never more clearly illustrated than in the case of men who, without the excitement of battle, calmly prepare to meet inevitable misfortune. When John E. Borden of Jobstown, N. J., realized that blindness was to be his fate he was a young man clerking in a grocery store. A wealthy sister offered aid that his burden might be lightened, but he would have none of it. Deciding that in no other place could he find so much freedom and consequent enjoyment as amid surroundings with which he was already familiar, he began impressing them on his mind as his sight continued to fail. Developing the senses of touch and hearing to a remarkable degree, he continued to care for the horses and open and close the store. Likewise, he continued to drive about the country soliciting orders, and never forgot how to put up orders as accurately as a person possessing full sight. He quotes prices on all kinds of machines, explains their mechanism, and conducts patrons through the warehouse as though he were laboring under no disadvantages, and because of his determination not to give up to his affliction gets much more out of life than many of his more fortunate but less brave brethren.

Oldest Hotel in Europe.

The Goldenes Kreuz (Golden Cross) at Regensburg (Ratisbon), in Bavaria, is the oldest hotel in Europe. King Ferdinand I. halted at it on his way to his coronation in 1531, and no other hotel in Europe possesses records of such great antiquity as the Golden Cross at Ratisbon does or can boast of having had so many royal visitors as have enjoyed its hospitality.

The existing visitors' books, which date from 1819, contain the names of more than 500 imperial, royal and princely personages. The room is shown where, in 1865, the late Prince Bismarck, at that time Prussian minister, slept when he came with his sovereign to hold the conference which was the last attempt to prevent war between Austria and Prussia. The negotiations were held in the "small hall" of the hotel, under the presidency of King William of Prussia.

The host is equally proud of the autographs of Schiller and other men of letters which he possesses. The author of "William Tell" wrote the words, "Und eine Heimath ist es" ("It is indeed a home"), in memory of his stay there and no landlord could wish for a better advertisement.

Dog Saves Life of Child.

Dumb brute faithfulness was demonstrated when a bulldog owned by William Corwin saved the life of the man's two-year-old son, Willie.

The little fellow was playing in the street in the vicinity of his home in Berkeley, Colo. A car came bowling along just as the little fellow started to cross the thoroughfare.

He stumbled and fell, and to on-lookers it seemed that he could not possibly avoid being run over. Then the dog shot out from the sidewalk like a flash, grabbed the trousers of the little fellow in his teeth, and dragged him to safety, as the motorman was using all his efforts to check the speed of his car.

The little fellow's trousers were literally torn from his body by the teeth of the dog, but the faithful canine succeeded in dragging its infantile master to safety before the garment gave way.

The near approach to death of the baby was witnessed by Policeman Kersten and several others, but it all happened so quickly that no one but the dog was able to do a thing toward saving the life of the little fellow. Mr. Corwin is a miner and has lived in Berkeley several years.

Dog Nurses Polar Bear Cubs.

The two polar bear cubs which were born at the Buffalo "zoo" a short time ago are alive and thriving. Curator Crandall has obtained a foster-mother for them in a female Irish setter.

The dog nurses the cubs, and her milk appears to agree with them. The dog, however, does not yet mother the little ones. That is, while she permits them to nurse she does not cuddle them and protect them with her body from the cold. It is, therefore, necessary to keep them in a large box, cotton lined and filled with hot water bags. For this reason it is necessary to keep a constant watch upon them to see that they do not become ill or die from exposure.

"I am in hopes that the dog will soon mother them," said Mr. Crandall. "When she does, it will not be necessary to watch them constantly, as the warmth of the dog's body will be all the protection they need from the weather."

The mother bear gave birth to three cubs, but before they could be taken from her she ate one of her offspring. This is the trouble that curators of all zoos have in raising young bears.

California Salt Farm.

One of the strangest of farms in the country, if not in the whole world, is situated in southern California, 205 feet below the level of the sea. The place is known as Salton. It is a salt farm of about 1,000 acres. Here the salt lies, as deposited by nature from six inches to sixteen inches in depth. The salt farmers are busy harvesting this crop the year round; and, though the harvest has continued for twenty years, during which time more than 40,000 tons of salt has been harvested, only ten of the 1,000 acres of the farm have been touched.

The salt is first plowed up into furrows; it is then thrown into conical piles by men with barrows, after which it is taken to the reduction works near by, and put into marketable condition. The work is done by Mexicans and Chinamen, the intense heat being more than the white man can endure.

World's Greatest Hen Farm.

What is said to be the largest egg farm in the world is owned and managed by C. E. L. Hayward, at Hancock, N. H., says the Philadelphia North American. It has now over 8,040 hens, kept in 600 small houses, fourteen in each.

The hens are never allowed outside their eight-foot-square coops and are never fed green feed, contrary to the teachings of all other poultry keepers. Each hen gets about a quarter of a pound per day of beef scraps, gluten hominy feed, wheat, etc., with a little salt, ground shells, grit and charcoal and plenty of clear water. They average 100 eggs each during the year, for which the high average of twenty-six cents a dozen is received, or a total of $2.17. It costs about $1.17 each for feed, so that the profit on each hen is about $1. Only young hens are kept, the second year they are sold and pullets are bought for the next year's egg crop.

TEA

The English and Irish old woman lives in a garret on tea, and dies in a garret on tea; and how did she get to be old? On tea.

Intolerable Provocation.

"I admit that I hit the plaintiff," said Subbubs, "and I'd do it again if—"

"Come! Come!" interrupted the magistrate, "don't talk that way."

"Judge, I was down in my cellar last night, trying to coax the furnace to give out some heat. In the midst of my work the bell rang and I had to answer it. When I opened the door this man stepped in and tried to sell me a patent fire extinguisher!"

He'd Seen 'Em.

"What business is papa in, mama?" asked little Robbie.

"Why, he's in the hardware business, my boy."

"And does he sell cockroaches, mama?"

"Why, Robbie! What a question! Of course, he doesn't!"

"Well, he's got a sign on the store window which reads: 'We sell every thing to be found in the kitchen.'"

ABOUT THE LONDON "CABBY."

He Works Fourteen Hours a Day and Gets About Five Shillings Pay.

There are in London 2,711 cab proprietors, and of these 2,224 own fewer than five vehicles, says a writer in Outing. As you see, it is a poor man's industry.

The average price for hiring a cab is 12 shillings and 3 pence a day. In addition the cabman has to pay the yard fees. He gets two horses a day and is usually fourteen hours on the box. His license costs him five shillings a year. The tax of £2 on the cab and the 15-shilling wheel duty are paid by the owner. Taking it day in and day out, the cabby makes about 5 shillings a day. In the season he may take in more money, but as the hire is raised on him it comes to the same thing. If he is not content—and there is no reason why he should be—he does not grumble unduly.

Every day in London 120,000 people ride in cabs. Of course there is friction and there is a deal of noisy quarreling over fares, but so far as my experience goes the cabby is usually right in his estimate of the distances he has traveled and the money that is due him.

The cab horses are a good lot. They are worked six hours a day on an average. About three years in a harness, however, will do up the best of them. Then they drift down to the four-wheelers.

Up-to-Date Costume.

Mrs. Patrick Campbell, famous for her dramatic art and her pet dog Pinky Panky Poo, a Japanese spaniel of high culture, while in Washington recently went driving one day and incidentally dropped in to see a friend. The air was chilly, in fact cold, and Mrs. Campbell wore a long coat of Russian sable. Pinky or Panky or Poo was in a warm spot underneath the coat, his shaggy little head, his eyes, and white teeth peering out.

"Oh, what a lovely coat that is," exclaimed Mrs. Campbell's hostess as she stroked it; "and what an odd frog you've got there at the button," as she took hold of Pinky's head. Pinky repulsed the gentle squeeze with a snap.

"My heavens!" exclaimed the actress's friend. "What is that?"

"Oh!" exclaimed the actress laughingly. "It's just a little Jap that's got under a Russian's hide."—New York Times.

Poor Croesus.

If I were rich as Croesus—
But—out on riches, dear!
For I have you and love to-day,
And just to-day is here!
If I were rich as Croesus—
I pause again and laugh—
The half the joy of you and love—
Wealth could not buy the half!

If I were rich as Croesus—
I wonder if the flame
Of autumn leaves would be as red,
If skies would look the same.
If I were rich as Croesus—
Dear heart, I turn to you,
Would you hold me much dearer then,
Love me more than you do?

If I were rich as Croesus—
Dear heart, there's naught I lack,
And if I lost what now I have,
No wealth could bring it back!
If I were rich as Croesus,
And I were left alone,
Could golden dross bring back thy heart
To beat against my own?

Nay, I am rich as Croesus,
Far richer, too, I ween,
For there are hearts so close to mine
That naught may come between;
Aye, I am rich as Croesus—
I've held your hands in mine!
He never clasped you in his arms,
Nor saw your dear eyes shine.
—J. M. Lewis in Louison Post.

A Profitable Flower Bed.

Two hundred and twenty-one dollars and fifty cents' worth of violets were raised and sold by a young girl who employed her leisure time from household duties in flower growing. Her violet patch measured 20x25 feet the first season, and the violets were sold to a near-by florist at fifty cents a hundred blossoms, netting a profit of $92.50. The second season, having transplanted more violet plants in about ten feet more of ground, $129 was realized in the sales.—From How to Make Money.

Greatly Increased Exports.

Exports of manufactures in the calendar year 1904 will not only exceed the highest figures of any earlier year, but may probably pass the $500,000,000 line, as against $434,000,000 in the high-record year, the fiscal year 1900. $151,000,000 in 1890, $103,000,000 in 1880, $68,000,000 in 1870 and $40,000,000 in 1860. Not only will manufactures, as a whole make their highest record during the present year, but this is also true of iron and steel manufactures, which form the largest group of manufactures exported and which seem likely to show for the calendar year a total exportation of $130,000,000, as against $122,000,000 in the high-record fiscal year 1900, $26,000,000 in 1890, $15,000,000 in 1880, $13,000,000 in 1870 and $6,000,000 in 1860.

Men as Housemaids.

Men for general housework is the latest development of the domestic service problem. In answer to the old complaint of inability to obtain servant girls who do not pretend to be specialists, the Women's Domestic Guild is replying: "Try a man. They are willing, at least."

Six men actually have been placed in general housework positions by the guild within the last two weeks and in every case the housekeeper has reported herself satisfied with the result of the experiment. Colored men prove to be the most adept in this assumption of servant girl duties.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Reads Like a Miracle.

Moravia, N. Y., Dec. 12th.—(Special)—Bordering on the miraculous is the case of Mrs. Benj. Wilson of this place. Suffering from Sugar Diabetes, she wasted away till from weighing 200 lbs. she barely tipped the scales at 130 lbs. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured her. Speaking of her cure her husband says:—

"My wife suffered everything from Sugar Diabetes. She was sick four years and doctored with two doctors, but received no benefit. She had so much pain all over her that she could not rest day or night. The doctor said that she could not live.

"Then an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills and they helped her right from the first. Five boxes of them cured her. Dodd's Kidney Pills were a God-Sent remedy to us and we recommend them to all suffering from Kidney Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure all Kidney Diseases including Bright's Disease, and all kidney aches, including Rheumatism.

Phonograph Watches.

Swiss watchmakers have now added a phonograph to some of their wonderful watches. A small rubber disk is put in the watch and arranged in such a way that the record is repeated every hour. Anything can be put on the record that the owner wishes.

COMPLETELY RESTORED.

Mrs. P. Brunzel, wife of P. Brunzel, stock dealer, residence 3111 Grand avenue, Everett, Wash., says: "For fifteen years I suffered with terrible pain in my back. I did not know what it was to enjoy a night's rest and arose in the morning feeling tired and unrefreshed. My suffering sometimes was simply indescribable. When I finished the first box of Doan's Kidney Pills I felt like a different woman. I continued until I had taken five boxes. Doan's Kidney Pills act very effectively, very promptly, relieve the aching pains and all other annoying difficulties."

tea!

"Which side of the house does the baby resemble?" "The cyclone cellar."

Every housekeeper should know that if they will buy Defiance Cold Water Starch for laundry use they will save not only time, because it never sticks to the iron, but because each package contains 16 oz.—one full pound—while all other Cold Water Starches are put up in 3/4-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then again because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz. package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 ozs." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

Man proposes—but he doesn't do it often enough to satisfy the fair sex.

Ask Your Druggist for Allen's Foot-Ease.
"I tried ALLEN'S FOOT-EASE recently, and have just bought another supply. It has cured my corns, and the hot, burning and itching sensation in my feet which was almost unbearable, and I would not be without it now.—Mrs. W. J. Walker, Camden, N. J." Sold by all Druggists, 25c.

The man who breaks a promise can easily make another just as good.

Insist on Getting It.

Some grocers say they don't keep Defiance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz in a package, which they won't be able to sell first, because Defiance contains 16 oz. for the same money.

Do you want 16 oz. instead of 12 oz. for same money? Then buy Defiance Starch. Requires no cooking.

Man is fearfully and wonderfully made; but he takes a back seat when his sister sallies forth, fully made up.

THE LEGISLATURE.

The legislature adjourned Thursday, the 19th, until Monday 23rd; consequently there is little to report.

Both houses have passed a joint resolution to appropriate $12,000 for extra clerk hire, and a memorial to Congress against joint statehood. Both these measures were opposed by the solid democratic minority, supported by the Catron wing of the republican party.

A VIEW OF THE NEGRO.

Cal Blount, the real hero of Emerson Hough's new novel, "The Law of the Land," is a Southern planter with a quaint way of looking at things. Here are his views on the negro problem:

"If you'll let me say so, there ain't no law higher than the law of poker. Now we've let Mr. Nigger into the game with us; or anyhow, he's here, and somebody gives him a few chips. He don't buy 'em for himself, and he don't know the value of 'em. His chips ought to be good as far as they last. The trouble with Mr. Nigger is he's wanting to get into every jack-pot with less'n a pair of deuces, and wanting to play on the ground that his white chips are as good as the other fellow's blue ones. Now that ain't poker!"

The author of the novel, from which the above paragraph was extracted, is well known to the older inhabitants of this county, having resided at White Oaks in the early eighties.

COL. CHAVEZ'S MURDERER.

The New Mexican of the 24th says: "Late this afternoon, the New Mexican received information from absolutely reliable source, that Domingo Valles has made a full confession, in which he admits having assassinated Colonel J. Franco Chavez out of revenge for having prosecuted Valles and others for the theft of a horse. The details of the confession are withheld so that the ends of justice will not be defeated."

Wedding Bells.

From Bonito Correspondent.

Sunday evening, Jan. 22, 1905. At the home of the bride's parents, Judge G.B. Greer officiating, Mr. James L. Crawford and Miss Beulah Wear were united in the holy bonds of matrimony.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Wear, and is one of Bonito's most charming and popular young ladies, whose companionship will prove a blessing to her husband, and is the kind of girl who is truly a helpmeet in whatever the future may have in store.

Mr. James Crawford is a son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Crawford, of Bonito. Jim is a young man of sterling worth and ability, whose friends are numbered by his acquaintances.

We join their hosts of friends in wishing them a happy and prosperous journey through life.

A Stabbing Affray.

Word reached Capitan Sunday that, on Saturday, at the Oscar Hyde ranch, above the Hondo store, John B. Wharton and Marcial Sabrano became involved in a difficulty, which resulted in the serious cutting of Sabrano, from the effects of which he afterwards died.

Wharton immediately mounted a horse, rode away, and has not been seen since.

Two of a Kind.

Two negro patients left Fort Stanton Monday, and on word from the authorities at the Sanitarium were arrested at Alamogordo. Deputy Marshal Martin Moore returned with them yesterday, and they will be given a hearing before Judge Eidson today.

They are charged with having collected and decamped with $80 belonging to another negro.

J. E. Wharton, formerly a Lincoln county attorney but now residing at Alamogordo, came up yesterday and went down to Lincoln in the afternoon.

Robert V. Reynolds, the forest reserve inspector, made the rounds through the proposed addition to the Lincoln Forest Reserve, and left Wednesday morning for the City of Washington.

Wanted.—Hides, sheep pelts goat skins, etc. Highest market price paid by Welch & Titsworth.

Henry Walker, merchant and stockman of Alto, was over this week. Mr. W. says his country is covered with snow and ice, and that the ground is thoroughly soaked—a condition not altogether unpleasant to farmers along the creeks.

J. B. Burrell was in Tuesday from the Alto country, and made this office a pleasant call. Mr. Burrell is getting ready to shear flock of Angoras, and came over for supplies. His mohair last year brought him 34 cents per pound, and expects to do equally well this year, as to price, and perhaps better, as range conditions are far ahead of last year, which will increase the length of the fleece; consequently increasing its value.

The Mystery Solved.

It has been a matter of public remark that a certain disciple of Esculapius has recently visited our town but little, and those visits were of the shortest duration. We have been at a loss to account for this unnatural condition; for it is customarily supposed that a doctor rather likes to increase his patronage.

However, the secret leaked out Wednesday evening, when a gentleman came into the office and asked us to call up the doctor from Coalora, over the phone. In response to the call the doctor stated it would be next to impossible for him to make the wished for visit, and when pressed for a reason replied that his duties at home were such that, unless it was an extreme case, he would defer the call.

Still dissatisfied with the reply, inquiries were instituted, and at last, by accident, stumbled upon the reason for the Doctor's action. It seems that a young lady arrived at his home last week which he has obligated himself to provide for, and has to remain home nights to superintend the nightly choral, of which his neighbors are the beneficiaries. Anyone asking for Dr. Laws now will please take into consideration the young lady's wants and remember what a responsibility the Doctor carries. The mother and child are doing well, and the only regret the Doctor has been heard to express is that it wasn't a boy, so that he might have assisted in the practice of medicine.

A Quartette.

Sheriff Owen took Tuesday morning's train, and returned yesterday with four prisoners whom he had arrested at Corona.

The names of the prisoners and the crimes with which they are charged are as follows:

J. D. Rountree, unlawfully running a gaming table.

Pat Dougherty, assault with a deadly weapon.

P. G. Hill and Frank Reynolds, robbery.

They were taken to Lincoln yesterday, and will be given a hearing by Judge Blanchard, before whom the complaints were made.

Chapel Built by Nature

Ex-President Cleveland, during his sojourn in New Hampshire the last summer, attended divine service in a chapel unique on an island in picturesque Lake Asquam.

Eighteen or twenty years ago Ernest Balch, who was then a student at Harvard college, conceived the idea of a summer athletic school for boys, and chose the island mentioned as the location. "Camp Chocorua" was there established, and had a very successful existence for a decade, being the pioneer of the large number of such schools now in existence.

There was provided a chapel, original in conception with Mr. Balch. Its walls were the environing trees of the forest. Its ceiling was the ever-changing sky. Rustic seats were built for choir and congregation. The most prominent feature was a massive stone altar, surmounted by a heavy stone cross.

This chapel was at the eastern end of the island, and there the members of the camp, numbering half a hundred, would gather regularly every Sunday, whenever the weather permitted, for divine services.

Ten years of disuse now has wrought sad havoc with the once trim structures of the camp. The forest chapel alone remains intact, with very little change, and is still put to the use for which it was designed by its builders.

A custom has sprung up among the summer residents of the central portion of Lake Asquam region of gathering every pleasant Sunday morning at this open-air auditorium for divine worship. From cottage, camp and hotel about the shores boats put out with their freights of worshipers, all bound for one common goal—the natural sanctuary.

It was in one of these rustic seats that ex-President Cleveland sat as one of the band of worshipers on a certain charming Sabbath morning last August. Mr. Cleveland was at the time the guest over Sunday of Col. J. H. Coit of Concord, N. H., at the camp of the latter on an island in Lake Asquam, and accepted an invitation to rejoin the members of the camp in their novel church attendance.

Death's Terrors Not Felt

John Heim, who has been foreman at Mount Greenwood for twenty years, was recently questioned by a clergyman in regard to his fear of death. "How do you feel," said his reverence, "when you see coffins and hearses and mourning crowds?" "I have no unusual sensations at all," replied John. "Graveyard men look upon such things as a matter of course. They are of daily and almost hourly occurrence, and we have grown accustomed to them. The sight of funerals and coffins is no more to us than the sight of railroad trains and of drygoods boxes is to merchants in the city. Our business has its routine like all others, and the fact that dead bodies are handled comes to be a matter of no especial consequence."

"Are you not continually reminded of your own death?" queried the man of religion.

"Not at all," said John. "I never think of my own death. Such thoughts do not bother me at all."

"But are you ready to die? Are you prepared to meet your God?"

"I surely am ready. Whenever my time comes I am perfectly willing to go. Death has no terrors for me. Are you yourself prepared to die, may I ask?"

The minister confessed that he did not feel prepared to meet his death, and each went his way wondering at the other's mental attitude concerning the inevitable final summons.—New York Tribune.

All Recompense in Love

Beyond the murky rim of hills
Where fading city sunsets glow,
To-night a robin sings and trills
In one tall cottonwood I know;
The shadows flung from branch and stem
Along a yellow sand bar rest—
I shut my eyes to dream of them,
Here in my window, looking west.

The shadows lengthen on the sand,
The log built barn across the way
Throws wide its doors on either hand
Beneath the rafters piled with hay;
The palings of the gray corral
Glimmer and waver in that light
Above the sleepy brown canal,
Out yonder on the ranch to-night.

Far off that sunset glory sleeps
On lonely bench lands golden brown,
Where browsing slow along the steeps,
One after one the cows come down;

And on their homeward pilgrimage
Each trampling hoof and horny crest
Shakes perfume from the tufted sage—
O far, faint incense of the west!

To-night, I know, beyond the rim
Where all my prairie sunsets fade,
God's far white mountains look to him,
Clad in his glory, unafraid;
The solemn light on peak and scarp,
The clear, still depths of cloudless air,
The trembling silver of a star—
What would I give to see them there?

The mountains call me back to lay
My weakness on their boundless might;
The canyons call me home to pray
In silent, stainless shrines to-night;
Yet here in dusty mart and street
I shut mine ears against their call—
Content to find my exile sweet
With love that recompenses all.
—Mabel Earle in the Youth's Companion.

Cantor in Great Demand

Jews on the upper East Side have gone wild with enthusiasm over the voice of a Russian cantor who sang the services in the New York Star theater Saturday morning. The theater has been turned into a temporary temple. His name is A. L. Schlossberg, and those who have heard him declare he has the most remarkable voice a human being ever possessed.

The cantor could be a rabbi, it is said, if he wanted to; but, knowing the quality of his voice, he prefers to remain a singer. He has had dozens of offers to go into grand opera or to sing in concert. But the bent of his mind is religious, and he has no intention of changing his vocation.

The demand for him by the Jews of this country is so great that he finds it impossible to accept all calls. Saturday he was at the New Star theater; this week he goes up to Bronxville, and then comes down to a temple in Broome street. Before he leaves this country he will sing in many temples in New York and throughout the country.

He has won a considerable fortune through his voice. He gets at least $500 every time he sings the services. A moderate price of admission is charged, the seats at the New Star having ranged from 25 to 75 cents.

Mr. Schlossberg is 46 years old. He was born in a small town in Russia. It was not until several years after he became famous there that the Jews in America heard of him. Then he was induced to come to the United States, and arrived here in September, just in time for the great Jewish holidays.

In appearance the cantor is very striking. He has a big beard and piercing black eyes. His musical voice and easy manners make him an attractive person with whom to talk.—Book News.

THE OLD FOLKS AT HOME Are Never Without Pe-ru-na in the Home for Catarrhal Diseases.

Remarkable Cures
Effected
By Pe-ru-na.

Under date of January 10, 1897, Dr. Hartman received the following letter:

"My wife has been a sufferer from a complication of diseases for the past twenty-five years. Her case has baffled the skill of some of the most noted physicians. One of her worst troubles was chronic constipation of several years' standing. She was also passing through that most critical period in the life of a woman—change of life.

"In June, 1895, I wrote to you about her case. You advised a course of Peruna and Manalin, which we at once commenced, and have to say it completely cured her.

"About the same time I wrote you about my own case of catarrh, which had been of twenty-five years' standing. At times I was almost past going. I commenced to use Peruna according to your instructions and continued its use for about a year, and it has completely cured me. Your remedies do all that you claim for them, and even more."—John O. Atkinson.

In a letter dated January 1, 1900, Mr. Atkinson says, after five years' experience with Peruna:

"I will ever continue to speak a good word for Peruna. I am still cured of catarrh."—John O. Atkinson, Independence, Mo., Box 272.

Ask your Druggist for a free Peruna Almanac for 1905.

Mrs. Alla Schwandt, Sanborn, Minn., writes:

"I have been troubled with rheumatism and catarrh for twenty-five years. Could not sleep day or night. After having used Peruna I can sleep and nothing bothers me now. If I ever am affected with any kind of sickness Peruna will be the medicine I shall use. My son was cured of catarrh of the larynx by Peruna."—Mrs. Alla Schwandt.

Why Old People are Especially Liable to Systemic Catarrh.

When old age comes on, catarrhal diseases comes also. Systemic catarrh is almost universal in old people.

This explains why Peruna has become so indispensable to old people. Peruna is their safeguard. Peruna is the only remedy yet devised that entirely meets these cases. Nothing but an effective systemic remedy can cure them.

IN A DEEP-SEA AQUARIUM.

Strange and Beautiful Forms and Colors to Be Seen.

You look up through the green water as if you were a fish yourself and know for the first time how it feels to be at the bottom of the sea, says a writer in Everywhere. Great, solemn, aldermanic-looking cod swim up and stare into your very eyes; enormous conger eels writhe playfully around your head; idiotic-looking dog-fish lie piled on one another and blink placidly into your face like so many sheep; while the skates and the string rays are flattened out in pouting flaccidity upon the gravel at the bottom. Little silver herrings and golden-hued young salmon drift about like clouds lit by the moon and on all sides, against the rocks that vary the surface of the tanks, wave the exquisite fringes of the sea anemones. Here, above all, is the supreme beauty of the water world.

Every variety of fringe and flower-cup is mimicked here in hues that fairly rival the roses of the garden. Purest white, soft creamy yellow, rich salmon color, every shade of tender rose and glowing red and royal purple and vivid green spring from these rocks a living flower, with petals as delicate as they are deadly. For these beautiful fringes and ethereal-looking bubbles of color are so many murderous arms outstretched for food. As we watch them swaying gently in the current, a poor little transparent shrimp comes paddling swiftly by. He touches a rose-colored petal, it flashes around him, he is sucked into the gorgeous heart of the flower and it closes contentedly over his vanished form. They know their danger generally, these poor little creatures, and did they touch ever so lightly the top of a floating fringe, would spring away from it with an electrical recoil.

Master of Dreams.

"Behold, this dreamer cometh,"
They stripped me bare and left me by the way
To pine forsaken in a lonely land;
They gave me to night-frosts and burning day,
To griefs none understand.

They took my silver from me and my gold,
The changing splendors of my rich array;
Night's silver rain of dew escaped their hold,
And the fine gold of day.

On the world's highway in vain pomp they tread;
By paths unknown I stray and hidden streams;
They took all else and left me there for dead;
They could not take my dreams.

Still, morning comes with marvel as of old;
Still in soft rose descends the evening tide;
Still in the castle of my heart, grown bold,
The sweet swift thoughts abide.

Pass by, pass by, O clamorous folk and wild!
To this last fortress of the soul I cling;
Men gave me winter weather from a child,
But God has given me spring.
—Robin Flower in Spectator.

Edison and Pasteur.

Thomas A. Edison has settled down to the life of a country gentleman under the shadow of the New Jersey mountains. Americans are inclined to forget that his is one of the great names of the world.

Anent this fact, says a writer in the Brooklyn Eagle, I recall an interview with Pasteur, the immortal French bacteriologist, in which he said, with the simple and unaffected vanity of a Frenchman: "Your Edison is a great man. When the history of our generation comes to be written the two names that will stand out most prominently in science will be his and mine."

The letters of Miss Merkle, whose picture is printed above, and Miss Claussen, prove beyond question that thousands of cases of inflammation of the ovaries and womb are annually cured by the use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—Gradual loss of strength and nerve force told me something was radically wrong with me. I had severe shooting pains through the pelvic organs, cramps and extreme irritation compelled me to seek medical advice. The doctor said that I had ovarian trouble and ulceration, and advised an operation. I strongly objected to this and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I soon found that my judgment was correct, and that all the good things said about this medicine were true, and day by day I felt less pain and increased appetite. The ulceration soon healed, and the other complications disappeared and in eleven weeks I was once more strong and vigorous and perfectly well.

"My heartiest thanks are sent to you for the great good you have done me."—Sincerely yours, Miss MARGARET MERKLEY, 275 Third St., Milwaukee, Wis.

Miss Claussen Saved from a Surgical Operation.

"DEAR MRS. PINKHAM:—It seems to me that all the endorsements that I have read of the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound do not express one-half of the virtue the great medicine really possesses. I know that it saved my life and I want to give the credit where it belongs. I suffered with ovarian trouble for five years, had three operations and spent hundreds of dollars on doctors and medicines but this did not cure me after all.

"However, what doctors and medicines failed to do, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did. Twenty bottles restored me to perfect health and I feel sure that had I known of its value before, and let the doctors alone, I would have been spared all the pain and expense that fruitless operations cost me. If the women who are suffering, and the doctors do not help them, will try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, they will not be disappointed with the results."—MISS CLARA M. CLAUSSEN, 1307 Penn St., Kansas City, Mo.
