There is an old story regarding Mark Twain's response to several individuals who insisted he voice his views about heaven and hell. Twain reportedly replied to the group, "I have no comment as I have friends in both places." Some of those to whom Twain answered were political figures and I rather feel that he might just have expressed the feelings of many people today regarding their views about current politics — most of us have friends in both places . . .political party places that is . . .

Speaking of politics and religion, that someone has said "don't mix". I couldn't help but notice that many of the candidates, in both major parties have Biblical first names, which is not necessarily indicative of anything religious or political. Although I did notice that at least eight of the male candidates have first names of the Apostles. Surely names like John, James, and Joseph as well as Thomas and Peter matched with Old Testament names of Daniel, David and Jesse will have some sort of good effect upon future policies after the final election count. Could not help but take particular notice that no one has the name of Judas.

Not only are Biblical first names in prominence among the candidates but also several last names have religious connotations for example we have at least two Kings in the running, one Bishop, and a Cross.

Well I suppose that we have to admit that religion and politics do mix, at least in a measure and hopefully that the outcome of the forthcoming election will give the people of our great area the very best in government for all the people, white, red, or black. After all isn't this also the heart of religion, something good for all the people. Maybe next Tuesday's election will bring forth great statesmen rather than popular politicians. One thing for sure, every qualified voter should exercise his or her constitutional privilege to express their views. Be sure to vote.

Ruidoso real estate salesmen and land developers, I am sure, will like the story I heard recently about a young boy and his "big deal." Seems as though his father was a high powered real estate broker and was known for his big deals that often times never materialized and sometimes only resulted in a trade and usually at a loss. This broker came home for lunch one day to hear his son exclaim that he had a "big deal" going and felt sure that he would sell his pet dog for $10,000 before nightfall. His dad was naturally astonished at the boy's zeal and salesmanship. When the father came home for supper he questioned his son about his $10,000 sale to which the boy replied, "The big deal went through but I had to take two $5,000 cats as a trade."

Ken Geaslin, Chaparral Motor Hotel, reported to the Ruidoso News that he and his staff were overwhelmed at the cooperation and assistance of the Ruidoso area residents during this week's Third Annual EDA-OEO Seminar hosted officially by the Mescalero-Apache Tribe. Geaslin stated that high government officials and Mescalero-Apache tribal officials expressed how very much they appreciated the effort of the total community to assure them of feeling at home during their three day stay in the Ruidoso area. Geaslin also stated that the Ruidoso Valley Ambassadors did a tremendous job being a "Good Neighbor" and hosting at least one gathering of the seminar group.

I was privileged to meet Barbara A. Estabrook, Director of Public Relations and Promotion for the Office of Public Affairs of the Economic Development Administration, before the annual Award Banquet of the EDA-OEO seminar and must say without hesitation that she was one of the most cooperative public relation's personalities I have met in quite some time. She left no stone unturned in order to assist the news media. She is certainly an asset to the agency which she serves. Maybe we should make her our Ruidoso Ambassador-At-Large in Washington, D. C. so that the EDA and the OEO would be aware of the local chapter of the R-EDA-OEO-S (Ruidoso's Exclusive Domain And Overwhelming Equipment for Opportunity Society).

CHINO AND MESCALEROS COMMENDED — Wendell Chino, right, Tribal president of the Mescalero Apache tribe, heard Robert A. Podesta, assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development, Washington, D. C. expresses the department's sincere gratitude for the accommodations and hospitality provided them by the Mescaleros during the recent Third Annual EDA-OEO Planning Seminar. For EDA-Designated Reservations—

100% Public Work Grants Announced

Effective immediately, all Economic Development Administration designated Indian reservations will be eligible for 100 percent public work grants according to Robert R. Podesta, Assistant Secretary of Commerce for Economic Development. Podesta made the statement of national significance in an address to the final session of the Third Annual EDA-OEO Planning Seminar for Indian Reservation Development Specialists Wednesday night in Ruidoso Downs.

The Assistant Secretary was the principal speaker at the EDA-OEO's Annual Awards Banquet held at the Chaparral Motor Hotel before a crowd in excess of 250. The banquet, climaxing a three-day seminar which included representation from forty-three tribes and pueblos, was hosted by the Mescalero Apache Indians with Tribal President Wendell Chino as the official host.

Podesta, speaking from a prepared text, told the gathering of special invited guests, "It is my pleasure to announce tonight a revision in the EDA Indian policy involving our public works grant . . . a revision we are confident will prove to be a wise investment on our part because it will enable you to implement your development programs more rapidly."

The secretary continued, "From this point, on, all EDA-designated reservations will be eligible for 100 percent public works grants instead of what has been the maximum grant rate of 80% "The only exception," he further stated, "will involve the construction of commercial buildings for tourism and recreation projects which have the capability of producing revenues." In such cases, the maximum grant rate would be established at 50 percent. "However," he continued, "non-revenue producing tourism and recreation projects will be eligible for 100 percent grants."

In Podesta's major policy speech he reminded those in attendance which included dignitaries from official government capacities, mayors, state legislators, EDA and OEO representatives, of President Nixon's message to Congress on Indian affairs last July. He quoted Mr Nixon as stating, "It is a long time past that the Indian policies of the Federal government began to recognize and build upon the capacities and insights of the Indian people. Both as a matter of justice and as a matter of enlightened social policy, we must begin to act on the basis of what the Indians themselves have long been telling us."

Podesta also quoted the president as stating, "The time has come to break decisively with the past and to create the conditions for a new era in which the Indian future is determined by Indian acts and Indian decisions."

Podesta also told the assemblage that past policies had failed and that a complete rejection of old Federal policies was ensuing because "they never worked." He further stated, "They failed because they ignored the simple fact that those who live with the consequence of a decision should have a voice in the making of that decision."

Failure of past Federal Indian-government relationships were also accredited to "federal assistance in the past emphasizing the dependency of the reservation rather than stimulating efforts for self-improvement . . . because these policies smothered rather than encouraged Indian initiative and morale."

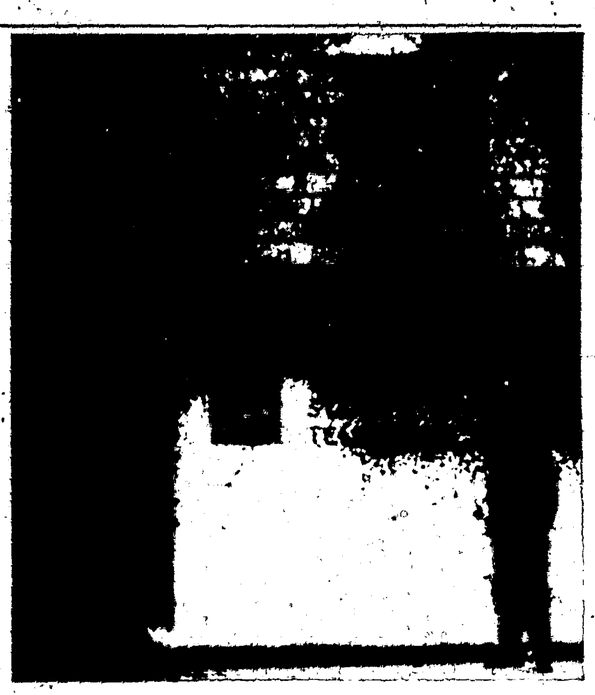
Podesta told the group what they could expect from EDA in the future. He called their attention to the fact that the EDA has increased their emphasis upon planning. He said "during fiscal 1970 we approved more than one-half million dollars in planning funds for Indian economic development." He informed the listeners that the Select Indian Reservation program, which is jointly sponsored by the EDA and the Office of Economic Opportunity is a result of EDA's emphasis on planning.

"The Selected Reservation program gives progressive Indian communities the opportunity to accelerate their growth program and it gives other reservations the incentive to upgrade their planning abilities." The results in part are, the government has provided support to help establish a national intern program for training Indians in the field of industrial development, EDA has approved the highest total of funds for Indian projects and programs in the five-year history of the EDA, and Indian program officers in three regional offices which serve states with large Indian populations.

The assistant Secretary of Commerce commended the Mescalero Reservation for successively implementing a four-pronged program of economic development dealing with commerce, industry, agriculture and tourism. He had special praise for the leadership of tribal president Wendell Chino.

In his closing remarks Podesta stated, "We in EDA pledge to you a continuing commitment to work with each of you in whatever way we can to realize a common objective . . . economic strength and a better way of life for the Indian people."

Seated at the Secretary's head table with the Assistant Secretary of Commerce, were, Roy Trujillo, Special Assistant for Indian Affairs, EDA, and Program Chairman; Charles A. Fagan III, Deputy Assistant Secretary for Economic Development, EDA; Milford Neptune, Master of Ceremonies and Director of the Southwestern Regional Office, and Mr. and Mrs. Wendell Chino.



THIS WEEK MARKS the opening of the Alto Exchange by Western States Telephone Company. The new building is large enough to provide for several years of growth and has been designed to fit in with the surroundings in Alto Village (Ruidoso News Photo)

Continental Executives Expected Here This Weekend For Ceremonies

Executives of the Continental System, of which Western States Telephone Company is a subsidiary, will arrive in Ruidoso this weekend to inaugurate new facilities in the Ruidoso area and Alto, New Mexico.

"Inaugural ceremonies," announced Robert C. Ethridge, District Manager of the Western States Telephone Company, "will take place with the official opening of the new central office in Alto, New Mexico."

Executives in attendance will be Edward J. Jennings, General Manager; James F. Miles, Administrative Engineer; L. K. Bigler, Arizona State Manager; and G. C. Shipley, New Mexico State Manager. Mr. Miles, when interviewed, said that the rapid growth of Ruidoso and the contingent areas made necessary studies of both present and future needs several years ago.

"Surveys based on the rate of growth necessitated a substantial additional investment which for 1970 alone exceeded $800,000.00. While we have constantly increased the facilities of Ruidoso service, we also were motivated to move in the direction of providing a free-standing Alto central office which would supply two independent service units so as not to tax the hub area of Ruidoso."

Mr. Ethridge, District Manager for Western States, pointed with particular pride to Ruidoso being the first city in the United States to have a microwave system which uses radio and a balloon cable. The initial system, which receives its signals from Roswell, New Mexico, was turned on for service October 26, 1970, and is capable of handling 96 simultaneous telephone calls. Facilities have been included for expansion to a maximum of 600 voice circuits to handle an equal number of individual phone calls at one time.

The new central office in Alto will be turned on for service on November 1st and is designed specifically to serve customers in the Alto, New Mexico area.

The Alto subscribers will have the first Direct Distance Dialing, a service to be offered eventually to all customers in the Ruidoso area. No operators are required to ask for numbers, and the new mechanization will bill all long distance calls automatically.

Ruidoso News Receives Award

The Ruidoso News won a second place award in the annual E. H. Shaffer competition of the New Mexico Press Association, with awards presented Saturday night, Oct. 17, climaxing the association's annual convention. Al Lane, editor of the News, was notified by Ward Ballmer, executive secretary of the state press association, that the local weekly had received second place in the general excellence category of the contest for non-daily papers.

First place in the non-daily division went to the Deming Headlight.

In notifying Lane of the award, Ballmer said, " . . . the competition in this particular category was quite heavy, and you are to be congratulated on your achievement."

Paul Payton of the Lincoln County News in Carrizozo succeeds editor Bob Brown of the Albuquerque Journal as president of the New Mexico Press Association for the coming year.

The convention was held in Albuquerque, Oct. 16-17, at the Hilton Hotel.

Jeep Club Sponsors Cookout For Scouts

The White Mountain Jeep Club again sponsored their annual cookout for local Boy Scouts Sunday morning at 7:30 a.m. at the South Fork Campgrounds.

Seventeen Boy Scouts attended the cookout with Neal Smith of Ruidoso Downs assisting the Scoutmaster.

Adults who attended and assisted in the cookout were L. Z. Tate, Mary Lou and Morry Bedoe, Eunice, Jim and Allen Cooper, Helen, Walter and George Harrelson, Ruth and John Harrelson, Pansy, Shirley and Scoutmaster Marvin Craig and Don and Sarah Stark.

The volunteers who have staffed the Democratic Headquarters since Oct. 15 are Mesdames Austin Pritchett, W. R. Hickman, William Patterson, F. P. Eubanks, Bill Boone, W. B. Alexander, Ova Mae Edwards, W. M. Willingham, Ike Kennedy, Ada McClendon, Jesse G. Reynolds, Carl Meriwether, R. O. White, Jim Strong, Nolan Hart, George White, Jesse Nobles, Emil Klemm, Lloyd Davis and D. Prell.

The local Republican organization will also provide rides to the polls Tuesday for those who are without transportation, it was reported. Anyone needing a ride is asked to call Dr. Dale Dynn at 257-2022.

Junior Class Talent Show Set

Thursday night, Oct. 29, is the night of the annual Ruidoso High School Junior Class Talent Show featuring the talent of local students and other residents. The show begins at 7:30 in the Ruidoso High School Gymnasium.

Advance tickets are available for $1 for adults and 50 cents for children from members of the junior class. Tickets at the door are $1.25 for adults and 75 cents for children.

State Fair Commission Meeting In Lincoln

The New Mexico State Fair Commission was scheduled to meet this afternoon (Thursday) in the Courtroom of the historic Old Lincoln Courthouse in Lincoln. Ten commissioners, including commission member Fern Sawyer of Nogal, were expected to attend the meeting which began at 1 p. m. and was open to the public.

Band Booster Club Elects Officers

The Ruidoso Band Booster Club held their first meeting of the year Oct. 19, at the high school library, with 13 members in attendance. Officers were elected for 1970-71. They are: Mrs. Wayne White, president; Mrs. Betty Smith, vice-president; Mrs. Ken Newton, secretary; and Mrs. Charles McClellan, treasurer.

The budget and several projects for the coming year were discussed. Mrs. Lonnie Wood will serve as chairman of a committee to plan a Mexican dinner. The dinner has been tentatively set for Feb. 2, when Ruidoso and Tularosa play basketball here. Plans are to serve from 5:00 to 7:30 p. m. Prices will be $1.25 for adults and 75c for children under 12.

The Band Boosters also plan to have a coffee and sandwich shop at all home basketball games. Proceeds from the dinner and coffee shop will be used to buy music stands for the band.

The Band Boosters will meet the third Monday of every month at 7:30 p. m. at the high school library. The next meeting will be November 16. All interested persons are invited to attend and help support the band.

Money Being Raised For Sierra Blanca Boys' Christmas

A movement has been started in this area to raise money for Christmas presents for boys at Camp Sierra Blanca in Fort Stanton. Citizens are asked to contribute $10 each for 30 boys to meet a goal of $300. The money raised in this drive, which is being sponsored in conjunction with a "Big Brother" program currently in progress, will be the only Christmas these boys have, it was reported. The Big-Brother program is one in which Sierra Blanca boys are taken into local homes over the week ends.

Anyone interested in contributing to the cause is asked to contact John Harrelson in Ruidoso.

Dr. Pitt To Give Dog Vaccinations Nov. 2 and 4

Dr. William Pitt, D. V. M., has announced that he will conduct a dog vaccination clinic next week in the Scout Hut at City Hall on Monday, Nov. 2, and on Wednesday, Nov. 4, both days from 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. Charge for the rabies vaccinations will be $3 per animal. Dr. Pitt will also have vaccine for dogs needing distemper and other shots and will take care of medical treatments of attention animals may need, it was announced.

3 Youths Sentenced

Three Ruidoso youths arrested last summer on various charges of marijuana abuse were sentenced Monday, Oct. 26, in 3rd Judicial District Court in Carrizozo.

Albert Park "Spider" Shaw, 23, and William Nicholas A. Patterson, 20, both pleaded guilty to unlawful assistance in the importation of marijuana and were sentenced to one to three years each in the state penitentiary.

Margaret Mellon, 19, pleaded guilty to unlawful use of marijuana and was sentenced to 360 days in the Lincoln County jail, all of which was suspended except six consecutive weekends to be spent in the county jail.

Ski Club To Meet

The Sierra Blanca Ski Club in Ruidoso will meet Monday, Nov. 2 at 7:30 p.m. in the Broken Ski Tap Room at the Sierra Blanca Ski Area

All members are urged to attend this very important meeting and guests are expressly invited.

Humane Society Sets Open House For New Facility

The Humane Society of Lincoln County in Ruidoso is inviting everyone interested to attend an Open House on Saturday, Nov. 14, from 8 a.m. until 5 p. m. in the new Humane Society facility on U. S. Highway 70, near the Ruidoso Natural Gas Co. office.

A mass rabies vaccination will also be conducted on that day, Saturday, Nov. 14. All dogs in the area must be vaccinated and must also have 1970 Village of Ruidoso license tags. Dr. G. L. Wiley who is associated with Dr. Leslie's Animal Clinic in Alamogordo, will be here that day and will be in charge of the vaccinations. Animals needing other medical attention can also be brought in that day. Dr. Wiley will be at the Animal Shelter all day from 9 a.m. until 5 p. m. Charge for the rabies vaccination is $3, and the City license tags are $1 for males and spayed females and $2 for females not spayed.

The veterinarian is planning to be at the Shelter once a week, every Thursday afternoon, and will come to Ruidoso on short notice any time he is needed.

Everyone is invited to come and see the new facilities which include a pet shop, the boarding kennels and the Animal Shelter for homeless dogs and cats.

Halloween Carnival Set For November 7

The Ruidoso School Halloween Carnival, previously scheduled for Oct. 30, has been postponed until November 7 due to a conflict in schedules. The annual carnival will be held at the Convention Center at the Chaparral Motor Hotel in Ruidoso Downs.

Teachers in the Ruidoso Schools will be calling on local businesses this week soliciting prizes for the carnival.

MRS. STEPHEN TEAGUE

Thompson - Teague Rites Solemnized In Houston

Marriage rites of Miss Kreig Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Thompson of Houston, Texas and Stephen Teague, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Teague of Ruidoso were solemnized in the Southwest Church of Christ in Houston, Texas on Oct. 10, at 10 a.m. with Allen Isbell officiating at the double ring ceremony. An a capella choir provided music during the ceremony.

The church was decorated with two small candle trees covered with ivy and placed on each side of the altar. The pews were marked with white candle holders.

The bride was given in marriage by her father and wore a candlelight Belgian lace dress with cathedral length train trimmed with Belgian lace. She carried a bouquet of white and pink rosebuds, stephanotis and miniature orchids.

Maid of honor was Miss Candace Kasparek of Austin, Texas, and bridesmaids were Beth Greenway, Carol Kerr, Debbie Thompson, Pat Thompson, Grace Thompson and Mrs. Gary Morton. All attendants wore ensembles of magenta crepe jumpsuits with candlelight "Tom Jones" organza long blouses.

Frank Gunn served the bridegroom as best man and serving as ushers were Ted Poe, Don Lawrence, David Hines, Mike Paddock and John Forsythe.

The bride's mother wore a pale pink dress with pink accessories and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother was attired in a two-tone blue dress with blue accessories and wore a white orchid corsage.

After the ceremony a reception was held in the church fellowship hall with approximately 300 friends and relatives attending. The hall was decorated as a garden with white archways covered with ivy. Decorations were carried out in white and green and wedding cake and punch were served.

Following a wedding trip to New Orleans, La., the couple is now at home in Houston.

Both are 1970 graduates of Abilene Christian College at Abilene, Texas. Teague is continuing to work on his second degree in the field of Biblical History.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Local Couple

Miss Charlann Wood became the bride of Larry Michael Payne in a double-ring ceremony held Saturday evening, Oct. 17, in Community United Methodist Church in Ruidoso with Rev. Charles Crutchfield officiating. Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Wood of Ruidoso and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Payne of Ruidoso.

The couple exchanged vows before an altar decorated with candelabra entwined with ivy and carnations. Music for the ceremony was provided by Mrs. Jessie Lee Hawkins at the organ.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a white silk illusion and lace gown with Empire lines. The lace bodice featured a high neckline and the long full sleeves of silk illusion were gathered at the wrist by two bands of lace. Her chapel length train, edged in lace, fell from the waist. She wore a fingertip veil of silk illusion which fell from a pillbox hat of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouquet of white and green carnations centered by two white orchids and a small white Bible.

Miss Pam Mullins of Alamogordo was maid of honor. She wore a floor length mint green chiffon gown styled with an empire waist, long full sleeves and a large mint green bow in her hair. She carried a nosegay of green and white carnations.

Miss Janice Wood was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a mint green floor length gown with an empire waist and accented with a white collar and white cuffs on the long full sleeves. She wore a large mint green bow in her hair and carried a nosegay of green and white carnations.

Jerry Payne of Greenville, Texas served his brother as best man and Alan Payne, brother of the bridegroom, was groomsman. Serving as ushers were Hank Wood, brother of the bride, and Rick Stevenson of Ruidoso.

The bride's mother was attired in an avocado green dress accented with small ruffles around the neckline and long sleeves. Her accessories were brown and she wore a corsage of pink rosebuds around a green cymbidium orchid. The bridegroom's mother was dressed in a navy blue ensemble with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds around a pink cymbidium orchid.

A reception was held at the Chaparral Motel after the ceremony with approximately one hundred guests attending.

Following a wedding trip to Colorado Springs, Colo., the couple is now at home in Ruidoso where the bridegroom is employed by New Mexico Glass Co., and the bride is employed by Security Bank of Ruidoso.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. Arthur Chalk, Tularosa, grandmother of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Wood, Socorro, grandparents of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bonnell, Alamogordo; Mr. and Mrs. Grant Brumlow and son John, Albuquerque; Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Perez, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cassidy and Mrs. M. E. Smith, all of Vaughn; Mr. and Mrs. Larry Turney, Denton, Tex., sister of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Payne, Greenville, Tex., brother of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McKnight, Picacho; Mr. and Mrs. R. L. McMillen, Roswell; Mr. and Mrs. Moon Mullins and sons, Corona, and Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie Livingston, Tularosa.

The bridal party was entertained following the wedding rehearsal with a dinner at the Holiday House hosted by the parents of the bridegroom, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Payne.

Woman's Club Has Guest Speaker

Bill Payne, attorney of Carrizozo, was the guest speaker for the Oct. 14 meeting of the Ruidoso Woman's Club. Payne spoke on "You and Your Will".

During the business meeting, delegates to the District Four convention in Carrizozo, Oct., 20-21-22 were appointed and the group discussed a tea which the Ruidoso Woman's Club was to host on Oct. 22. Delegates to the meeting appointed were Mrs. Isla McLeod, Mrs. R. O. White and Mrs. Ed Sanders. The club president, Mrs. W. D. Patterson, is automatically a delegate and other members planning to attend included Mrs. R. K. Knox and Mrs. Robert Lytle.

The hostesses, Mrs. T. J. Frank, Mrs. Harley Bagley, Mrs. Walter Smith, Mrs. Ray Pearman and Mrs. E. M. Mason served the tea following the business meeting and program from a table decorated in the fall motif, serving small candwiches, cookies, nuts, mints, tea and coffee.

Cadette Girl Scouts Have Camping Trip

The Cadette Girl Scouts of Ruidoso enjoyed a two night camping trip to Bonito Lake last week. In evaluating the experience at the meeting of the troop last Tuesday, the members agreed that there was only one thing they would have changed if they could, the weather. The nights were very cold, but during the day the troop took hikes, worked on badges and tended camp.

Members of the troop said they would like to thank all who helped make this a happy outing, especially Johnnie Durham who provided his Carry-All for transportation and Ray Nunley who contributed a nice First-Aid kit to the troop.

The Cadettes meet each Tuesday evening from 6:30 to 9 p. m. in the Durham home. Mrs. J. J. DiPaolo is the troop leader.

MR. AND MRS. LARRY MICHAEL PAYNE

VISIT IN GALLUP

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Jackson were in Gallup last Saturday on a business trip. Lloyd also spent Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in Denver on business.

VISITS IN OKLAHOMA

Zeke Scott, his wife and daughter, Joyce, have just returned from a two week vacation trip to eastern Oklahoma where they met and visited with another daughter.

Mr. and Mrs. Pete Runnels and daughter, Shari, of Freeport, Texas are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Wayne White and family this week. The Runnels had been elk hunting in Colorado.

The Ladies' Auxiliary will hold its regular monthly meeting Tuesday night, October 27, at 7:00 p. m. The meeting will be held at the Ladies' Auxiliary Hall in Ruidoso Downs and all women are invited to attend.

Mr. and Mrs. Claude Peterson visited in Vernon, Texas last week. I understand that they did some catfishing while they were there.

The Ruidoso Downs firemen and their wives held a going-away supper and dance for Marvin (PeeWee) Ratliff, Jr. last Saturday night. PeeWee leaves soon to join the Marines.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Lawing spent the week end at Weed visiting with Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Harris.

The Ladies Auxiliary of Ruidoso Downs held a covered dish supper last Tuesday night. Forty-four people attended, several of whom were new-comers to this get-together. Arrangements were made so that Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Johnson could attend. Live entertainment was provided by Wright Stockley, Velma Stockley, Vaden McCray and Al Beach. A good time was had by all.

Visiting in Ruidoso Downs recently was Mrs. Oliver Russell. She visited her son, Jerry, the G. T. Perrys and Mr. Russell's mother, Mrs. Emma Burdine.

Two Ruidoso Downs couples attended conventions—weekend before last. Mr. and Mrs. Bill Taylor attended the Elks Convention in Carlsbad. Mr. and Mrs. Jack DiPaolo attended the State Contractors convention at the Shrine Western Skies Motor Hotel in Albuquerque.

Cecil Peterson of Ruidoso Downs has returned home having completed his treatment at the Roswell Rehabilitation Center.

Miss Nadine Peterson of El Paso visited her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Peterson, over the weekend.

Mrs. David Scott and Mrs. Dude Browning visited in Arkansas.

Leadership Retreat Slated This Weekend

Student leaders from New Mexico State University's five campuses will gather in Ruidoso Oct. 30, 31 and Nov. 1 for a University Community Conference.

The annual leadership retreat is being held with student leaders from University of Texas at El Paso. The NMSU Board of Regents and faculty members representing each of NMSU's undergraduate colleges will also attend.

Presenting the keynote address at a banquet Saturday evening, Oct. 31, will be Richard Barkley, International Affairs Officer, Bureau of European Affairs, U. S. Department of State, Washington, D. C.

Barkley will discuss "How America Communicates with Other Nations." He joined the state department in 1962 and was assigned as Third Secretary to the American Embassy in Helsinki, Finland. He has also served as U. S. Consul in the Dominican Republic and as Political-Military Officer for NATO and Atlantic Political-Military Affairs Board. Barkley holds a bachelor's degree from Michigan State College and a master's degree from Wayne State University (Ohio).

At the University Community Conference the students will discuss problem solving techniques, group dynamics, and communications between administration and students, student groups, and students individually.

New Youth Group Is Formed Here

Mrs. Betty Cathey of Ruidoso Downs took a group of 9 young people to Glorietta last week. The purpose was to start a Youth Group in this area.

Ten high school students met last Monday morning to organize this group which is named the "Good News Gang." It is open to all high school students.

Good News Gang meets each Monday morning at 7 a.m. at the Tastee Freez. The following officers were elected: President, Debbie Carpenter; Outreach Leader, Rene Carpenter; Secretary, Mary Shaffer; Program Chairman, Sally Stiles; Music Leader, Eileen Posey; Entertainment Leader, Sally Mize.

Home Rule Amendment Information

DISTRICTING

(Editor's Note: This is the sixth in a series of articles on the proposed home rule amendment which will be voted on at the November general election. Today's article deals with districting for the election of members of local governing bodies).

Any municipality in the state could establish districts for the election of some or all of the members of the governing body under a provision in Constitutional Amendment Number 1.

A constitutional amendment is required to allow districting because the present constitution sets up qualifications for holding a municipal office, and residency in a district is not one of the qualifications.

The New Mexico Supreme Court has held that the legislature may not impose an additional qualification for holding office — such as residence in a district — unless the qualification is allowed in the constitution.

The proposed amendment would allow but would not require districting, and a municipality would not have to adopt a home rule charter to provide for districting.

If a municipality decided to district, any member of a local governing body representing a district would have to be a resident of and elected by the voters of the district.

"Some or all" of the members of a local governing body could be elected from districts. For example, districts could be established for the election of councilmen, and the mayor could be elected by the voters of the entire municipality.

The proposed amendment sets up three methods to accomplish districting. The legislature could pass a law authorizing districting.

If districts were not established as authorized by law, the governing body of a municipality could authorize districting. However, the districting would not be effective until approved by a majority vote in the city.

The petition method could be used in the absence of action by the legislature or the local governing body. The governing body would be required to present the question of districting to the voters if it received a petition signed by not less than 5 per cent of the registered qualified electors of the municipality.

The petition would have to specify the number of members of the governing body to be elected from districts, and the signatures would have to be collected within a six-month period.

If it received proper petition, the governing body would be required to place the question of districting before the voters at the next regular municipal election held not less than 60 days after the petition was filed. Districting would not be effective unless approved by a majority vote in the municipality.

A municipality would not have to adopt a home rule charter in order to have districting. The districting provisions of the proposed amendment are separate from the home rule authority.

Sports Car Racing Comes To Area Sunday With "Ruidoso Downs" Run

PLAN SPORTS CAR RACE—Richard Thompson, (left), general manager of the Ruidoso Downs Race Track, is shown with officials of the Otero Sports Car Association as they plan for the "Ruidoso Downs Run", a slalom to be run at Ruidoso Downs Sunday at noon. The officials are Daniel King, center, vice-president of the OSCA, and J.m Cannon who is chairman of the Sunday event. (Ruidoso News Photo)

Sunday, Nov. 1, marks the beginning of sports car racing in Ruidoso Downs with the first "Ruidoso Downs Run" slalom to be run at 12 noon at the Ruidoso Downs Race Track here. The course will be marked on the entrance road and reserved parking lot west of the main grandstand at Ruidoso Downs, and spectators are promised a view of the entire course. There will be no spectator charge for the event.

Sunday's run is sponsored by the Otero Sports Car Association, the membership of which is comprised of men and women primarily from Lincoln County, all of whom are members of the Sports Car Club of America, a nation-wide club. The OSCA is in SCCA's Pan-Am Region which includes other local clubs from El Paso, Las Cruces, Deming and several other west Texas and southwestern New Mexico cities.

The Ruidoso Downs Run is the 3rd event in the Pan-Am Region's Schlitz series and the 5th event in Pam-Am championship.

A slalom is classified by the SCAA as a non-speed (Category II Solo) event, not intended as a top speed or drag-race type contest. A course lay-out is designed to test a driver's ability to handle his car. Removeable rubber pylons and powdered lime markings are used to mark the course lines.

Many of the automobiles that will be used at the event are built strictly for slaloms and racing and are valued at $6,000 to $12,000. Others may be foreign or American sedans and sports cars that are used for slaloms only on weekends.

Xi Alpha Rho Group Enjoys Interesting Program On Scotland

Members of Xi Alpha Rho chapter of Beta Sigma Phi enjoyed an interesting program presented by Rev. Charles Crutchfield for the meeting Oct. 26, held in the home of Mrs. Carmon Phillips. Rev. Crutchfield showed colored slides and spoke on Scotland where he and his wife spent several months studying some time ago.

A memorial candlelight service for Cathy Graf, a member of the chapter who died recently, was conducted by the chapter president, Mrs. Stormy Edwards.

The hostess served pumpkin pie with whipped cream and coffee during the social hour at the close of the meeting.

The difference between "she's good looking" and "she's looking good" is about 20 years and 40 pounds. —Robert D. Burgess, The Opp (Ala.) News.

MONTGOMERY WARD'S OWNERS — Shown above are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Marshall, owners of the new Montgomery Ward's Catalogue Sales Agency which opened here today (Thursday) in the Gateway Shopping Center. Ward advertises over 130 000 items and the Marshalls, in addition to their catalogue sales service, will stock many items in the store. Marshall attended the University of Buffalo in New York and has been associated with Frontier Airlines, K-Mart, and Oshman's Sporting Goods having worked in Colorado, Texas and New Mexico. He and his wife have one son, Eric, 8, who is in the third grade at White Mountain, and one married daughter. They say they are very happy to be in Ruidoso and had nothing but praise for the warmth and hospitality of the people here. (Ruidoso News Photo)

STRONG NAMES MANAGER—Jim Strong (left), Democratic candidate for Lincoln County Commissioner, District III, is shown above with his newly appointed campaign manager Wayne Estes, Ruidoso businessman and village trustee. Estes said on accepting the appointment, "I am extremely glad to serve as campaign manager for Jim Strong. I accepted the serious responsibility early this week because I am convinced that we need his abilities to represent us as a county commissioner. (Ruidoso News Photo)

Xi Psi Chapter Meets In T. J. Short Home

The Oct. 26 meeting of Xi Psi Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held in the home of Mrs. T. J. Short. Mrs. Short presented the program and displayed oil paintings and various handicrafts she had made including an afghan which won her a prize in the recent Lincoln County Fair. This chapter's program theme for the year is "Do Your Own Thing".

Following a short business session and the program, the hostess served refreshments of pumpkin pie, coffee and tea.

December Wedding Being Planned By Local Couple

Mrs. Bella Chavez of Ruidoso Downs is announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Margie, to Richard Urban, son of Mrs. Cecilia Akins of Ruidoso. The couple plans an early December wedding.

The bride-elect is a 1969 graduate of Ruidoso High School and is presently employed by the Village of Ruidoso Downs.

The prospective bridegroom attended Ruidoso High School and is now employed by Gambles of Ruidoso.

MISS MARGIE CHAVEZ

Reynolds-Knapp Wedding Held In Denver, Colo.

Nuptial vows of Miss Diana Gayle Reynolds, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Lee Reynolds of Castle Rock, Colo. and Kenneth Johnston Knapp III, son of Lt.-Col., (Ret.) and Mrs. Kenneth Johnston Knapp of Ruidoso, were solemnized in the Bonnie Brae Baptist Church in Denver, Colo. on Aug. 27 with the Rev. Harlan W. Stenger officiating at the single-ring rites.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a full length gown of white silk organza over bridal satin with venice lace accenting the small round collar and bodice as well as the sheer long gathered sleeves and the hemline. Her shoulder length veil fell from a Juliet cap of venice lace over silk organza. She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and lavender petite carnations interwined with ivy on her white Bible.

Mrs. Charles DeWayne Thalinger, Littleton, Colo., was matron of honor. She wore a full length gown of lavender organdy over satin fashioned with ruffles on the short puffed sleeves, the neckline and the empire waistline. Her bouquet was of pink carnations, purple asters and ivy.

Jay Rust of Whitestone, N. Y., served as best man and ushers included Mike Knapp, Aurora, Colo., and Lee Thompkins, Denver. Dale Reynolds, brother of the bride, was ring bearer.

The bride's mother chose a turquoise blue linen dress for her daughter's wedding. The bridegroom's mother chose a dress of dove gray and cream crepe with matching accessories. Both wore corsages of pink and lavender petite carnations.

A reception was held at the church immediately following the ceremony. Hostesses were the bridegroom's sisters, Miss Carol Knapp and Miss Judy Knapp of Ruidoso.

After a wedding trip to Crested Butte, Colo., the couple is now at home in Aurora. The bride graduated from South High School in Denver and from Western State College, Gunnison in December, 1969 with a major in physical education. She completed her student teaching in the Junior High School of Douglas County, Colo. She is presently employed at Great Western Sugar Co. in Denver.

The bridegroom graduated from Ruidoso High School in 1966 and will complete his studies at Western State College this fall and he will do his student teaching at Sable Elementary School in Aurora.

MR. AND MRS. KENNETH J. KNAPP III

Monday Afternoon Lunch and Games

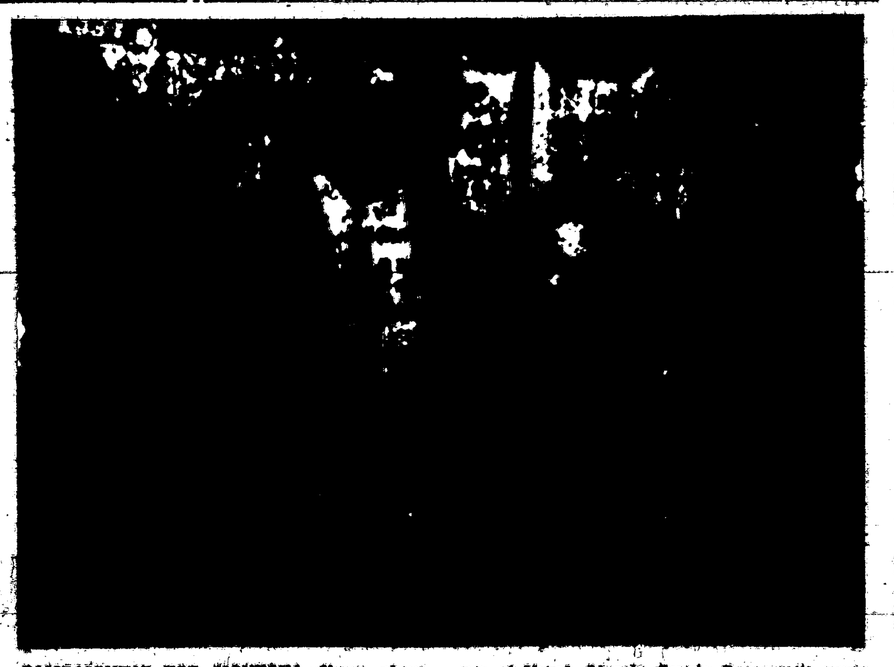
The regular luncheon on Monday, Nov. 2, will be held at the Wild Spoil Restaurant in Ruidoso instead of at the Woman's Club, and following the luncheon, the group will go to the Ruidoso Woman's Club building to play cards. Mrs. Virginia Smith will be hosting the luncheon. The Woman's Club building is located just one block south of Sudderth Drive on the Carrizozo Canyon Road.

AAA Opens Two New Offices Within N. Mex.

In keeping with the New Mexico Division of AAA's rather significant growth rate, the Club has relocated two of its offices to better serve its enlarged membership. In the last issue of the Motorist it was announced that a new office had been added in Albuquerque at 2939 Fourth Street NW and a new office at 2810 North Main Street in Clovis. Now we are announcing the moving of two offices to new and larger quarters.

In Santa Fe the AAA office has moved from 1040 Don Diego Dr. to much nicer and more spacious quarters at 811 Cerrillos Road. Evelyn Parsons continues to man-its ago the Santa Fe office which continues to offer complete services to AAA members. This new office should prove to be more comfortable and convenient to Santa Fe area members. Mrs. Parsons can be reached by calling 982-4883.

The relocation of the branch office in Las Cruces was also announced in the last issue of the Motorist. This office is a considerable improvement over the former location. Here, too, complete AAA services are available from membership to insurance sales, to Domestic and World Wide Travel. Mrs. Stephanie Powell is the office manager as well as World Wide Travel Consultant. Gene Mehl continues as District Manager in the Las Cruces area. Call Gene at 523-5001 for any information on AAA services and benefits.



CAMPAIGNING FOR MONTOYA—Shown above at a party honoring Senator Joseph Montoya (D-N. M.)) held at the Whispering Pine Coffee Shop here Monday are Lynda Montoya, Senator Montoya's daughter; Austin Pritchett of Ruidoso; Marisel Montoya, wife of Joseph M. Montoya, Jr. and daughter-in-law of the senator, and Fern Sawyer of Nogal, Lincoln County Democratic party chairman. The party, at which the five Montoya girls were guests of honor, was well attended. Miss Sawyer escorted the girls throughout Lincoln County Monday with stops in Lincoln, Capitan and Carrizozo. (Ruidoso News Photo)

Hallowen Party Set

The First Baptist Church of Ruidoso is holding a church-wide Halloween party this Saturday night, Oct. 31, at 7 p. m. The party will be held in the recreation hall of the church, located on Mechem Drive, and every member is invited to attend in costume and bring a guest.

Refreshments will be served and the Youth in Action group of the church will provide entertainment.

Gambles Awarded 1st In Display Contest

Gambles of Ruidoso recently received word that their store had been awarded a 1st place in the AccuColor Window Display contest sponsored by the Black Electric Corporation. Prizes were awarded in two divisions to Lubbock dealers and El Paso dealers. In the El Paso division BOB B.V. of El Paso took a second place to Gambles' first.

The display was prepared by Roger Hickman, an employee of the store. Bob Poty, Jr. is owner and manager of Gambles of Ruidoso.

Visiting Mr. and Mrs. Dick Morgan last week were their daughter-in-law, the former Sandy Ryder and son Dennis Morgan of Norfolk, Va. Dennis is in the U. S. Navy on a cruise in the Mediterranean at present. Also visiting the Morgans were Mr. and Mrs. Jim Taylor of Fort Worth, Texas and Mr. and Mrs. [illegible]

Kappa Kappa Iota Has Meeting Oct. 19 In Crown Home

Members of Kappa Kappa Iota, national teachers sorority, met Monday, Oct. 19, in the home of Mrs. Frank Crown. Mrs. Charles Crutchfield, the chapter president, presided over the meeting and distributed hand-made year books which she and Mrs. Don Swalander had made.

In keeping with the program theme for the year which is "Happiness Is", the group played various games. The hostess served refreshments of three kinds of [illegible], small decorated buns, [illegible], coffee and tea in the [illegible] of the country.

DON STARK

Don Stark, Republican candidate for Lincoln County Commissioner, District III, has submitted the following resume of his background and experience so that voters will have a chance to know him better.

I was born fifty years ago in Missouri and moved to Texas in 1928. I was educated in Perryton, Texas and Norman, Okla., and served in the U. S. Navy from 1943 until 1946.

Basically I have been in the construction business most of my adult life and am still involved in that and other business interests in Amarillo, Texas. I am presently working in the advertising field.

I have been married 32 years, have 2 children and 4 grandchildren.

I moved to Ruidoso in 1962 and have served as president of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce. I was also chamber manager for three years, am a past District Governor of the Lions Club and am a past president of the White Mountain Jeep Club. I am a past commander of the American Legion and am currently president of the Lincoln County Development Association, as well as belonging to several other civic and fraternal organizations.

Warriors Blow 28 Point Lead; Bow To Mavericks

Danny Bell, Ruidoso Warrior halfback, ran the opening kick-off back 92 yards to set up Ruidoso's first TD last Friday night at Lordsburg in a 3AA tussle, and Gary Stagner plowed over from 1-yard out on the next play to put the Ruidoso eleven on the scoreboard first.

Ruidoso built up a 28-0 halftime lead and seemingly was on their way to a second district win of the season. Midway through the third quarter storm clouds began brewing as Martinez ran a kick-off back 93-yards for the Mavericks first TD of the evening. Lordsburg also tallied a 2-point conversion. In less than four minutes Lordsburg scored again to trail 28-16 with 9:03 left to go in the ball game.

The roof really fell in for the Warriors in the way of pass interceptions and fumbles that cost them an important District 3AA game. Trailing 28-24, Lordsburg pounced on another Ruidoso fumble and turned it into the winning TD of the night.

Senior fullback Gary Stagner scored one TD, Danny Bell closed the double stripe twice, and Quarterback Blane Miller scored one TD for the Warriors, Miller split the uprights after all four Ruidoso touchdowns.

The loss all but eliminated Ruidoso from the rosy picture of capturing the district crown. With one loss, the Warriors have one more district game, that with Truth or Consequences here November 6.

Lordsburg has two more district contests to wind up their season. They have Truth or Consequences and Hatch yet to play.

STATE COUNTY AGENTS' OFFICERS—New officers for the New Mexico Association of County Agents, from left, are John W. Hinrichs, president, Grant County; Herman C. Baca, first vice-president, Guadalupe County; Palemon Martinez, Taos, and Ralph Dunlap, Lincoln County. The officers were chosen during an annual meeting held in conjunction with an Extension conference Oct. 19-23 at New Mexico State University.

Girl Scouts To Baby Sit Election Day

Girl Scout Troop No. 3 in Ruidoso has elected to provide a baby sitting service on election day, Nov. 3, from 3 until 8 p.m. at the City Hall and White Mountain School. The purpose is to serve the community and to give the girls a chance to obtain their Active Citizen Badges.

Women are encouraged to bring their children with them when they go to vote to be cared for by the Girl Scouts.

Girls participating in this project are Pam Blackwelder, Susan Blank, Donna Burke, Liza Cabot, Robin Cathey, Tammy DiPaolo, Arlene Gonzales, Linda Grimmer, Lea Ann Jones, Patty McCarty, Susanne Miller, Donna Sanchez, Sandra Sanchez, Cindy Durham and Tina Findley.

Mrs. Jack Crow had as guests for the past two weeks Mrs. Seth Cox, Mrs. Don Waddington, Mrs. D. C. Bigger and Mrs. Paul Powers from Abilene, Texas.

"Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby" For Three-Year-Olds Set

Richard Thompson, General Manager of Ruidoso Downs announced today the renewal of the "Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby" for 3-year-olds at 400 yards with an estimated purse of $50,000.

Now the 3-year-old quarter horses will have three stake races they can run in, All at Ruidoso Downs, they are: Ruidoso Quarter Horse Derby, May 30, 1971, $50,000 est.; Ruidoso Rainbow Derby, July 4, 1971, $175,000 est., and the World's Championship QH Classic, Aug. 29, 1971, $75,000 est.

Yes, Ruidoso Downs, "The Home of the world's greatest quarter horse racing" has taken another important step to continually improve quarter horse racing, Thompson stated.

Antelope Hunt 56% Successful

Antelope hunters in southwestern New Mexico enjoyed a 56 percent hunter success during the season in that part of the state over the past weekend. A total of 171 hunters participated in the hunt, taking 96 antelope.

The largest hunt was in the Magdalena area where 116 hunters took 66 pronghorns for a 56.6 hunter success. In the Hurley area, 28 hunters bagged 16 antelope for a 57.8 percent and in the Cliff area, 27 hunters took nine antelope for a 33.3 ratio.

Antelope populations in the southwest have been low the past few years after a severe winter seriously depleted herds in that area a few years ago. Naturally, the number of permits issued has been lessened correspondingly.

Wilbur Coe Book To Appear In Braille

It was recently announced that "Ranch on the Ruidoso" by the late Wilbur Coe of Glencoe, the story of a pioneer family in New Mexico, will be published in braille.

Mrs. Nina Anoone of the Braille Service of Albuquerque says she has received permission from the Library of Congress through the State Library of Santa Fe to begin work on the book.

The book will be transcribed into braille, taped on recorder and typed in large letters to be read by the visually handicapped.

Gran Quivira National Monument To Celebrate 61st Anniversary

A national monument since that Man-village named "Pueblo de las Humanas" by the Spaniards, and the ruins of the 17th century Franciscan mission became a national monument.

The prehistoric occupation at Gran Quivira began about A. D. 800 with small clusters of pithouses. By the 1300's the culture at Gran Quivira was similar to that of the pueblos in the Rio Grande Valley. When the first known European, Don Juan de Onate, visited the pueblo in October, 1598, Gran Quivira had become the largest village in the region. During the period 1620 to 1660 the Franciscan priests were active here and constructed San Isidro mission in 1629 and San Buenaventura mission in 1659. Then, exactly 300 years ago the last priest departed and several years later, in the early 1670's, drought, famine, pestilence, and Apache raids caused final abandonment of Gran Quivira.

When Congress created the National Park Service on August 25, 1916, Gran Quivira was one of 22 national monuments and 16 national parks to comprise the new National Park System. Three years later, on Nov. 25, 1919 the boundaries of Gran Quivira were enlarged by Proclamation No. 1545 of President Woodrow Wilson.

It was not until 1923 that active management and development actually got started. In that year the first Custodian, "Doc" W. H. Smith, was appointed for Gran Quivira. "Doc" built the first park building, a two-room stone house, in 1926 and this structure is still being used as the area's Visitor Center.

Early visitors saw only the ruins of one large Franciscan mission church. However, excavations in the village including those by Gordon Willey in 1951 and Al Hayes in 1965-66 have uncovered two of the 21 adobe-like pueblo ruins, which provide today's visitor with a better understanding of prehistoric life and Indian-European contact.

Today, after 61 years as a national monument, the ancient ruins wait patiently for the next chapter to unfold. As one stands in the roofless rooms, and the wind blows gently through the empty halls, you can almost feel those of centuries past who have provided the rich heritage that is Gran Quivira.

Little Spooks All Set For Halloween

Halloween marks the time for little spooks and goblins. It is also the time when many youngsters may be involved in accidents, says Leo Yates, family life specialist with the New Mexico State University Extension Service.

Painted faces are better than masks that might slip and block the child's vision. Retro-reflective tape attached to the costume or "loot bag" help little ones to be seen in the dark. Such tape may be purchased at most paint and hardware stores. White costumes are also easier to see at night. Costumes that are too long create a tripping hazard. Nonflammable costumes are also a safety measure. Lighted torches or candles and sharp instruments as knives should not be allowed.

After you have made sure your little spook is ready for Halloween, check yourself. Do you have a light outside the door, is your pet dog inside so he won't frighten the spooks, have you checked your yard for possible hazards such as the garden hose?

Then you are ready to sit back and await the arrival of Halloween ghosts and goblins.

By golly we had us a snow in October for a change didn't we. It fell so purty and all I got to thinkin boy it won't be long till we can go skiing an sleddin an all them winter things, then I got to really thinkin and I aint got enough wood to last all winter if winter starts here in the fall. My little fat wife is not all the jobs she can handle and I aint got the time to get out cutin wood, least that is what I tell her.

Some of our family whizzed in from Montana to visit and we have really been havin a time visitin. My granddaughter would sit in my lap and we would shell pinions and really have a time sittin by the fire scatterin pinion hulls all over the place. You know what I sort of feel sorry for a feller that aint got any kids or grandkids. Whoever invented the name of Grand Kids knew what he was talkin about. We have six uv em and Im lookin foreward to more.

Lawanda Strong Installed As Altrusa Club President

Lawanda Strong of Ruidoso was installed as president of the newly organized Altrusa Club of Ruidoso at an organizational dinner October 17 at High Country Lodge, which was attended by 71 women. Other officers installed were vice president, Marie McNeil; recording secretary, Linda McGuire; corresponding secretary, Barbara DiPaolo; treasurer, Joyce Prewitt; and directors, Mabie Wimberly, Barbara Duff, Linda Swalander and Janice Findley.

The organization of the Ruidoso club has been under the direction of the Artesia and Roswell clubs, headed by the Extension Chairmen, Betty Morgan of Artesia and Betty Karnes of Roswell.

International was represented by Mary Griffith of Denver, who is Past Governor of District Ten, and also Second Vice-President of Altrusa International, Inc. Other outstanding officers present to take part in this special event were: Ruth Streeter of Albuquerque, who is Governor of District Ten; Jen Hanson, Governor-Elect, from Carlsbad; Carrie Herring, of Denver, the Extension Chairman of District Ten, who is also a Past Governor. Representatives were also present from Altrusa Clubs of Artesia, Albuquerque, Carlsbad, Clovis, Denver, Hobbs and Roswell.

Mrs. LaVern Smith of Roswell presided as Mistress of Ceremonies, Bettye Morgan of Artesia and Betty Karnes of Roswell made the presentation of the Altrusa Club of Ruidoso with Ruth Streeter, Governor of District 10 from Albuquerque giving the response.

Decorations reflected fall flowers, tall candles, and the Altrusa colors, and the arrangements and decorations were done by Betty Karnes, who had corsages for the honored guests.

Initiation and installation ceremonies were carried out by Ruth Streeter and Carrie Herring. The Altrusa colors, blue and white, using candles, depicted the motto by lighting candles while Patriotism was given by Jen Hanson, Efficiency by Evelyn Carden and Service by Opal Lankford. Every member of the new club was presented a membership pin, and a white candle to light, which carried out the theme of letting the light shine in helping others — "being of service."

Mrs. Strong, newly elected president, gave a response.

Bill Dash, president of the Ambassadors of Ruidoso, represented Ruidoso Mayor George P. White, in the address of welcome, and Dwayne Bryson, Community Public Service manager, was also present at the meeting as a representative of the Ruidoso Ambassadors.

The newly organized club held a workshop and school of instruction at 9:00 a.m. Sunday morning, which was attended by 27 persons.

The first Altrusa Club was established in Nashville, Tenn., April 11, 1917 and incorporated August 21, the same year, to become the first national organization of business and professional women. There are now 13 districts with clubs all over the world.

At the installation dinner, Mary Griffith, who is second vice-president of Altrusa International, gave a resume of greetings to the new Ruidoso club from the following cities:

Lynchburg, Va.; Las Vegas, Nev.; Pasco Kennewick, Washington; Brunswick, Ma.; Wausau, Wisc.; Garland, Lubbock, Dallas, Marshall, Nacagdoches, Wichita Falls, Houston, Sherman, Corsicana and Brownwood, Texas; Fond Du Lac, Wisc.; Gainesville, Fla.; Denver, Grand Junction and Pueblo, Colorado; Huntington, W. Va.; Sheboygan, Wisc.; Utica, N. Y.; Shenandoah, Iowa; St. Simons Island, Ga.; Centralia Chehalis, Washington; Bangor, Maine; Laconia, New Hampshire; Ponce, Puerto Rico; Columbia, So. Carolina; Long Beach, Calif.; St. Joseph, Mo.; Columbus, Ga.; Pasadena, Calif.; Bessemer, Ala.; St. Louis, Mo.; Columbus, Ohio; Grand Rapids, Mich.; Bellingham, Wash.; Pittsburgh, Pa.; Oklahoma City, Okla.; Chicago, Ill.; Parkersburg, W. Va.; Endicott, N. Y.; Newcastle, Australia; Rock Island, Ill.; Buffalo, N. Y.; Oskaloosa, Iowa; Battle Creek, Mich.; Memphis, Tennessee; Victoria, British Columbia; San Diego, Calif.; Ogden, Utah; Seattle Washington; Santa Fe, Albuquerque, Las Cruces, Hobbs, Portales, Roswell and Artesia, N. M.

The new club will be meeting twice every month, the first meeting on the second Tuesday at noon, and the second meeting date to be the fourth Tuesday evening. The place of meeting will be announced later by the president, Lawanda Strong.

There were a number of contribution made to help the new club off to a good start.

Report Given On Senior Citizens

A final report on The Senior Citizens Forums held statewide in September shows that over 4400 Senior Citizens attended the Forums which were held in twenty five of New Mexico's 32 counties. A total of 85 Forums were conducted by Mayor's Committees on Aging for 51 municipalities together with various sub-committees.

Preliminary findings by the New Mexico Commission on Aging indicate that the greatest needs for the State's Senior Citizens are Income, Health and Transportation.

The final results will be tabulated from the questionaires by computers and will be used to determine the needs of Seniors not only in New Mexico but throughout the Nation.

For the first time in the State a network of local Committees on Aging has been formed which can be used to work closely with municipalities in dealing with Senior problems on a local level. Mrs. K. Rose Wood, Director of the Commission on Aging said that the response of Mayors, City Managers and County Commissioners to a request for a Committee on Aging for their own municipalities was beyond the number expected to respond and that New Mexico's governing bodies were aware and responsive to the needs of their older citizens.

Mrs. Wood also indicated that Community White House Conferences will be held on a district-wide basis sometime in January of 1971. The exact location of the conference has not yet been determined, however at present Albuquerque, Clovis, Farmington, Las Cruces, Roswell and Santa Fe have been considered as being centrally located in each of six district. New Mexico's Senior Citizens number 69,000 and 6.4% turned out for the Forums, topping the National average of 5%.

Naval Academy Program Told

High school students now have a better opportunity to be nominated to attend the U. S. Naval Academy at Annapolis, Maryland. Various programs are set up to help prepare them in becoming officers in the United States Navy.

John E. Conway is the U. S. Naval Academy representative for the Otero and Lincoln county area. Mr. Conway is one of a group of seven reserve officers and Naval Academy alumni who donate their services to act as official representatives for the Naval Academy in the State of New Mexico. Mr. Conway is a Class of 1966 graduate of the U. S. Naval Academy. He spent four years as a pilot in the U. S. Air Force, and is a graduate of the Washburn University School of Law and is now a practicing attorney in Alamogordo.

Throughout the U. S., 400 representatives of the academy are visiting high schools, colleges and civic organizations making presentations about the programs offered. Any individual can apply for nomination. Once the student is nominated, Mr. Conway works closely with the cadidate and attempts to assist him in meeting all qualifications.

The academy also has a program to help minority groups qualify for admission to the institution. One of the programs is the Naval Academy Foundation, which is supported by contributions primarily from alumni and private organizations.

Such programs provide assistance for deserving candidates who need additional preparatory schooling to make it academically possible to pass entrance examinations.

Few people realize the academy has a four-year curriculum like any other university in the U. S. Some of the requirements include being a U. S. citizen between the ages of 17 and 21, a high moral character, being nominated, academically and medically qualified, have a high school transcript plus pass entrance examinations.

On entering the institution, the student is classified as a midshipman and must participate in training duty during the summer months until completion of his schooling, which will entitle him to a bachelor's degree.

Mr. Conway said, "About 85 percent of the candidates enter after high school without any additional schooling. Anyone interested should not delay applying for admission since a great deal of paper work is involved."

Information on admission to the U. S. Naval Academy can be had by phoning Mr. Conway at 437-1840, 437-8630, or 437-7590 in Alamogordo.

Pension Plan Announced By Internal Revenue

The form for retired people and others to request withholding of Federal income tax on pension and annuity payments is now available at Internal Revenue Service offices, Maurice E. Johnson, IRS District Director for New Mexico, announced recently.

New IRS regulations permit retirees to request withholding on annuities and pension payments made on or after Jan. 1, 1971.

The withholding provisions do not apply to annuities that are wholly exempt from Federal taxation, such as social security benefits and Veterans Administration pensions, Mr. Johnson said.

Form W-4P, Annuitant's Request for Federal Income Tax Withholding, should be filled out by the retiree and sent to the bank, insurance company or other payer from which he receives his annuity or pension payment.

Since payers do not have to begin withholding until three months after the Form W-4P is filed, retirees who want withholding to begin next January should file Form W-4P with the payer of annuities and pensions by October 1, 1970. Payers may begin withholding anytime after they receive the Form W-4P but not before Jan. 1, 1971.

Mr. Johnson said withholding must be in a whole-dollar amount and must be at least $5 a month. Withholding, however, cannot reduce below $10 the amount of pension or annuity payment which the retired person receives.

The firm making the payment is required to withhold income tax if the retiree requests that it be done. However, withholding is optional on the part of the retiree.

A firm that withholds tax on an annuity will give the IRS and the retiree a special withholding form showing the amount of the annuity and tax withheld. This form will be available after January 1, 1971, Mr. Johnson said.

Through voluntary withholding, retired persons will be able to avoid having to make quarterly payments of estimated tax to keep their tax payments current.

Mrs. Troy Farus gave a slumber party at her home Oct. 23 for the Intermediate girls of the Ruidoso Baptist Church. Girls attending were: Judy Kaye Armstrong, Norma Jean Schlemmer, Darlene Marie Joyce, Brenda Armstrong, Barbara Schlemmer, Jackie Armstrong, Tracy Lee Farus and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Troy Farus.

RE-ELECT
ALEX J. ARMIJO
COMMISSIONER OF PUBLIC LANDS
— DEMOCRAT —

EXPERIENCE
Present Land Commissioner
President of Western States Land Commissioners Association.
Former:
State Auditor
Legislative Auditor
Chief, State Budget Division
Business Manager, Santa Fe City Schools
Manager, State Tax Commission
Combined total of 20 years in government service prior to election as Land Commissioner

ACCOMPLISHMENTS AS LAND COMMISSIONER
- Established computer information system
- Established centralized leasing
- Established moratorium on sale of lands
- Established Title Research and Mapping and Engineering Sections to determine whether New Mexico has received all the lands to which it is entitled under the various grant acts
- Reactivated Land Advisory Board
- Combined Minerals and Grazing into one division for more efficient operation
- Changed role of Land Office from record-keeping to active land management

Background On Office
The Commissioner of Public Lands is the administrator of the state grant lands, collecting approximately $85 million per year in revenues for the benefit of public schools and institutions. Each dollar given to the schools from the Land Office is a dollar New Mexico taxpayers do not have to pay.

ALEX J. ARMIJO

Goals
— To continue modernization of Land Office functions
— To establish a Management Information System so that lands are properly utilized — To always hold uppermost in mind the ultimate welfare of the young people of our state through wise management of their trust lands

— STATEMENT —
"In the 20 years preceding my election as Land Commissioner, I personally audited most of the state departments, schools, counties and municipalities. This experience in itself familiarized me with the laws governing management of State government.
"The changes I instituted in my first term as Land Commissioner are of vital importance if our public schools are to realize the maximum benefit from use of their trust lands. These are basic changes in many cases, and will take more than one term in office to complete. I hope that the good people of New Mexico will again bestow their trust and confidence in me by electing me to a second term so that I can complete this vital work."
Thank you

MAYOR'S WELCOME — Capitan Mayor Vaden Hall, left, extends a hand of welcome to Ruidoso State Bank president Ed Wimberly, center, during the Capitan Branch Bank's Open House Friday, October 23. Branch manager Mike Capps, right, also received a warm welcome from the official head of the village. Hall expressed his appreciation for the new bank and was extremely optimistic about it's future. Over 150 area residents attended the Formal Open House.

NEW DUO AT VILLA — A refreshing new duo of Hugh & Me composed of El Paseans Hugh Prestwood and Karen Berks, entertain nightly at the Villa in the motel's new policy of providing year-around entertainment. In solo and in duet Hugh & Me accompany themselves on guitars singing in Spanish and French as well as English. Their tunes consist of folk, pop, country and western, blues and original songs. High spot of the act is Hugh's fast-fingering of a 12-string electric guitar playing classical Spanish selections. Hugh is a graduate of the University of Texas at El Paso. Karen attended the University of Texas at Austin. She traveled and entertained in Europe last year.

Ungraded Reading Permits Child To Learn At Own Rate

We recently attended a meeting at the White Mountain Elementary School in Ruidoso in which several new programs which are being utilized in the school this year were explained to parents and other interested persons in the community. We were, frankly, very impressed with the changes at White Mountain and felt that each of the several programs are worthy of a separate feature in the paper.

This week the News looks at the un-graded language arts program at the elementary school and at the multi-media learning concept being employed in that program.

Sidney F. Miller, Ruidoso Elementary School Principal, explained the basic philosophy of the ungraded reading program in which students are placed at a reading level according to their performance and needs, irregardless of whether they are 1st, 2nd or third graders.

"Each child should be able to begin at his own level and progress as fast as he is able, independent of other children. If a child is a slow learner, he will be able to work at his own speed in books he can read, and will not have to feel the frustration of always 'being behind' the others in class. If a child is a fast learner, he will be able to go as fast and as far as he can, and will not have have to feel the frustration of being 'held back' by those slower members of the class. If the child is an average learner, he will again be able to progress at his own rate, frustrated by no one and constantly rewarded with enriching experiences."

The multi-media method of learning and teaching incorporates all possible media to reinforce the skills and concepts that are taught. This includes all kinds of equipment from film strip and slide projectors and educational filmstrip, tape recorders and educational tapes, controlled reading machines to Educational TV. It also includes all kinds of materials: text books and supplementary texts, different kinds of language and reading laboratories, films, tapes, records, workbooks, slides, science objects and many others.

Miller and his staff of teachers and teacher aides at the school did a great deal of the planning for the program during a summer workshop conducted here under the direction of Dr. I. V. Payne of Eastern New Mexico University in Portales.

The stated aim of the new language arts program which came out of that workshop is this: "To group children of like needs and somewhat like performances toward the ultimate goal of individualized instruction . . . with an emphasis on diagnosis, prescription, commitment, treatment and evaluation."

Students are placed in the various levels on the basis of the results of written and oral tests administered to all the children, and on the basis of teacher evaluation. Individual diagnosis of each child's progress is constant throughout the year to insure that he is in the level which best suits his needs.

Visitors are always welcome at the school, and we were free to roam at will from classroom to classroom observing the new program in action. It was evident to us that the children were having the time of their lives, and we had never seen a group of teachers more enthused, all of whom were anxious to talk about the program.

"If I had to go back to the old ways of teaching now, I'd just quit," one was heard to remark.

In one spacious classroom we visited, which was team-taught by Mrs. Susan Miller and Miss Linda McCloskey, there were so many activities going on at one time it was hard to find a spot on which to focus. And yet, instead of the bedlam one might expect in that situation, the atmosphere was rather a relaxed one with all the children engrossed in their various activities.

In the back of the room a group was seated around a table wearing headsets and concentrating on some reading drill tapes. The tapes are leveled according to difficulty, comprehension, study skills, etc., and each tape has corresponding work sheets for the students to complete. The children correct their own work when the sheets are completed. Mrs. Miller explained that one advantage to the tapes is that they teach children to listen to instructions the first time because they don't have a teacher to repeat instructions for them.

In one corner several children were working with a machine called a controlled reader, which adults who have ever taken a speed reading course would recognize. The machine flashed sentences on the wall with a light moving from left to right at a rate of 80 words per minute, teaching them to read from left to right and aiding them in the area of fluency as well.

Another group was seated at a table where they were working on their SRA (Science Research Association) workbooks. The workbooks are leveled with different colors designating each level, and the students work entirely at their own speed. When a child finishes a workbook he checks his own work and if he is ready, moves on to the next color.

Still another group was seated at a table assisted by a volunteer aide, one of many local mothers who donate several hours per week to work with the children. They were working on workbook pages which accompany a story that the entire class had read that week.

A high school aide was back in another corner with a group of children reading to them, and Miss McCloskey was at her desk working with one little girl. Each child reads individually for the teacher at least once a week so that she can evaluate their work and keep check sheets with notations concerning each student's individual strengths and weaknesses.

Scattered throughout the room were various children reading books from the school library or playing word games. Out in the hall three little girls were watching a film strip taking turns reading the captions out loud, and operating the projector by themselves. These children were involved in "free time activities", which they are allowed to do when they have completed their activity for the morning.

The only limitations on the free time activities are that they must have tried their best on their work that morning, that the free time activity must be related to reading (no coloring or drawing) and, of course, that they be quiet so as not to disturb the other children.

While the ungraded reading program would appear to be ideal, without the complete backing of the entire teaching staff it probably couldn't get off the ground. Miller, who has visited a school system in which the teachers didn't want ungraded reading but had to teach it anyway, says he's sure his staff of teachers here in Ruidoso constitutes the best teaching team in the state. Their enthusiasm and devotion is remarkable.

Parents and other interested persons are urged to visit the school any time, unannounced, to sit in on classes, talk to the teachers and see the program in action.

WORD GAMES—Three boys at White Mountain Elementary School learn while playing with one of many "word games" at the school. They are, from left, John Whinery, Bobby Ward and Ricky Johnson. The games are part of the multi-media learning concept in the ungraded reading program, in which every learning material imaginable is utilized rather than limiting students and teachers to textbooks alone. (Ruidoso News Photo)

LEARNING IS FUN—These two children's enjoyment of their reading class is apparent from the expressions on their faces. Sandy Allison and Kyle Kannady have completed their activity for the morning and are engaged in one of several "free time activities", which in this case happens to be a word game. There are a number of carpet sample squares in each classroom at White Mountain so that the children may be comfortable on the floor and are not required to sit in straight-backed chairs all day. (Ruidoso News Photo)

BUSY LUNCH HOUR—Mrs. Susan Miller is shown during her lunch hour preparing evaluation sheets to be sent home with the children instead of the traditional report cards carrying letter grades. Separate sheets are prepared for each subject and take "at least 10 times more time than report cards," she said, but she feels they will be more informative and therefore more beneficial to the parents. (Ruidoso News Photo)

INDIVIDUAL DIAGNOSIS—Little Miss Cindy Duvall is shown reading for her teacher, Miss Linda McCloskey. In the new language arts program at White Mountain, the teachers spend time at least once a week with each child evaluating their progress and noting their various strengths and weaknesses. Home Rule Amendment Information

The Citizen and the Home Rule—

The residents of New Mexico municipalities have the final voice in a decision about whether or not their community will have home rule.

If Constitutional Amendment No. 1, the home rule amendment, is approved at the November general election, the residents must adopt a charter before home rule will become effective in their municipality.

In addition to accepting or rejecting a charter at an election, the residents also would have a role in shaping the contents of the document written to govern their municipality.

The proposed constitutional amendment calls for a charter commission to consist of at least seven members appointed by the local governing body. These charter commission members would be residents of the city, and they would be able to seek advice and suggestions from other residents in the course of their deliberations.

Once the charter had been drafted, the residents would have to approve the charter before the municipality could exercise home rule authority. Any change in the charter also would have to be voted on by the residents.

By a majority vote, the citizens could repeal a charter and return to the type of local government provided by the legislature.

The amendment gives the legislature the authority to determine by the law the manner in which the qualified electors of municipalities would go about adopting, amending or repealing a charter.

The role of the citizen in home rule municipalities extends to the imposition of taxes. The amendment requires voter approval before the local governing body may impose any tax not authorized by the legislature.

The charter itself could further extend the participation of the citizens in the operation of home rule government. For example, the charter could require voter approval for certain activities or it could set up citizens' boards.

The voters of a municipality will decide whether or not they want home rule and the type of home rule they will have. They will make these decisions when they go to the polls to vote on a proposed charter for their community.

The next article in this series deals with the effect of home rule on city government.

Your Social Security

Social security payments to a 23-year-old youth who has never worked? There are many such cases, says Bill Riggs, social security Field Representative for this area.

More than a quarter of a million people receive monthly social security benefits because they suffer from a severe disability which began in childhood, according to Riggs.

To qualify for such benefits, the individual must have become disabled before age 16. In addition he must be the child of a retired or disabled worker entitled to benefits, or the survivor of a deceased worker who worked a substantial period of time in employment covered by social security.

Proof of the child's age and disability must be submitted. However, the social security office will assist in securing this evidence if it is not readily available to the child or parent.

"Want to meet a typical social security beneficiary? Before you visit your local senior citizens club, you might try checking with the cub scouts or campfire girls. Or the local high school football team. Or even the students at a nearby college.

In Lincoln County 191 children under 18 are receiving monthly social security payments. Another 25 students 18 through 21 are also getting benefits.

Additional information about social security for the young is contained in a recently revised booklet, "Social Security Information For Young Families." This pamphlet may be secured from any social security office.

Ruidoso Downs Council Holds Regular Meet

Among those present for the Ruidoso Downs Village council meeting last Monday night were trustees Perry, Pope, Hale and Carpenter; Mayor Zeke Scott, and village attorney Richard Parsons.

Mrs. Veden McCray reported that volunteers had been found to paint the community building if the council would furnish the paint. The council agreed to furnish paint for the inside and the outside.

Ronnie Battles was present to renew his request for an easement and some sort of contract with the village for the new underground television cable. The council instructed the village attorney to study the contract with the village of Ruidoso and make his recommendations at the next meeting of the board.

Hired on a permanent basis were John Henley, street department; Jerry Russell, police department; Andy Miller, water department, and Jack Keller, sanitation department.

Discussion was held on the topic of the increased dues to the Municipal League and the council voted to pay the dues.

A report was given by the clerk on the deficit in the garbage and water department and it was suggested that the garbage fee be raised by fifty cents per month. No action was taken at this time.

Trustee Perry suggested that the mayor send a letter of appreciation to Jerry McCormack for his cooperation with the village.

Homecoming Set For E. N. M. U.

Come to Portales on Nov. 7 and enjoy a "Mardi Gras" is the Homecoming invitation being issued to Eastern alumni and friends this year by Larry Fuqua, director of alumni.

With "Mardi Gras" as the theme for Homecoming 1970, the 38th annual event takes on an unusually festive mood. Adding to the merry-making will be such new twists as the burning of a giant Lumberjack, Mardi gras decorations all across campus, and possibly a street snake dance to Dixieland music.

Homecoming also will include the traditional queen coronation, parade, barbeque, and football game. All events will be staged in tribute to the alumni of 1940, '50, '60 and '70.

Dr. Charles Meister, president, will officially open Homecoming 1970 at the annual assembly Friday, Nov. 6, in the P. E. Complex. The highlight of the assembly, the crowning of a lovely young coed as Homecoming Queen, will be preceded by a review of the 1970 Greyhound football team by new head coach Jack Scott.

Coach Scott and team will be on hand again Friday evening for the traditional pep rally and fireworks display south of the Technology Building. But this year the rally will include a new wrinkle—the burning of a huge replica of the opposing team's mascot. The Hounds meet the Northern Arizona University Lumberjacks this year—hence the burning of a Lumberjack.

Tentative plans call for a snake dance from the pep rally to the record hop at the Campus Union patio with a Dixieland band providing the "music-to-street-dance to." Open houses at the residence halls and a tour of campus decorations round out the evening activities.

More than 5,000 alumni and guests are expected to sign in from 8 to 10 a.m. Saturday, Nov. 7. Alumni of the honored classes as well as all others will have a chance to renew old friendships during this time. Special meeting areas for the four classes will be set up in the ballroom.

Floats, bands, more floats, antique cars, and still more floats will highlight the Homecoming Parade beginning at 10:30 a.m. Saturday. The parade will begin at Third and Abilene streets, move past the south and west sides of the Court House square and end on campus.

Following the parade will be the barbeque on the north terrace of the Union. This usually popular event will be followed by pre-game activities at Greyhound Stadium north of Portales.

Bonnell and Peters New Supervisors For Upper Hondo SWCD

The Upper Hondo SWCD held their annual election of supervisors Thursday, Oct. 22. Harvey Bonnell and LaMoyne Peters were elected to fill the expired terms of Harvey and Charlie Jones.

Supervisors of the District are elected by landowners in the District to serve a three year term. These men are elected to administer the Soil and Water Conservation District and its affairs. The District, founded in 1941, is important not only to farmers and ranchers but to urban people as well. They are responsible for the direction of conservation operations within the district on problems of pollution, erosion, and flood control. They also place priorities on the conservation work done by the Soil Conservation Service, must be informed on total resource problems, oversee land-use and planning, maintain an information and education program, and as state officials be legally responsible to the state.

The District was formed for total resource conservation and development and give local people the opportunity to plan, direct, and carry out programs that will lead to the conservation and development of our natural resources.

Chamber Board Holds Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Ruidoso Valley chamber board was held on Monday night of last week at the Village Hall in Ruidoso with eight members of the board, the secretary and the manager present.

Action taken by the board included:

—Agreed to furnish the directors of the Aspencade Art Show $200 for prize money.

—Voted to allow associate memberships to individuals only, without the privilege of voting.

—Decided to hold quarterly meetings with special invitation to the public. Members of the chamber are welcome at any board meet. First public meet to be held Nov. 16.

—Named Dick Mound and Sonny Woods to serve on a committee to study the dues situation and determine if the chamber should raise the dues or switch to another method for equalizing the dues.

—Agreed to sponsor and distribute a film on the Ruidoso area that will be paid for by local business advertising. The film would be for distribution to TV stations as a filler and also be made available to service clubs.

—Discussed the Ruidoso Day with the Dallas Cowboys and decided to send Bill Andrus to Dallas to make arrangements.

—Heard Mr. George Jones in a request that the chamber investigate the possibility to establishing trails for sno-mobiles in the Ruidoso area.

—Discussed a new brochure for the area and named Til Thompson and Pat Baldinell as a committee to study the proposition.

—Voted to send Bill Andrus to the Governor's Conference on Tourism at Santa Fe November 8, 9 and 10.

—Paid the bills.

President Jack DiPaolo commended Dick Mound on the job done by his committee on the Aspencade this year.

County Agent's Column

By RALPH DUNLAP

Calves from cattle selected for producing more beef were 97 lbs. heavier than another group of calves from the Fort Stanton Experiment Station. The hereford calves weighed 489 and 372 lbs. respectively and were in adjoining pastures. This comparison does not include any adjustments for age of dam; sex of calves and other treatments. Even then I wonder if the average rancher will be just as well off with trying to improve within a breed rather than crossbreeding. This again emphasizes that any breeding program must start with cows and bulls with above average production or there will be no benefit from the breeding program.

Late September to mid-October is the time to treat peach, cherry, apricot, plum, and nectarine trees for peach tree borers. If the trunks or lower limbs were not sprayed this summer, their fumigants must be used now. PDB is available as moth crystals, and only those that contain small granules should be used in killing peach tree borers. Do not use crystals containing naptha.

Ethylene dichloride is available in borer control solutions under a variety of trade names. Solutions that contain dieldrin and other insecticides are effective when painted or sprayed on the bark in the summer, but they are of no use in the fall. Using fumigants around peach trees is a delicate operation and should be done with care and precision. Over-treatment can damage the tree.

Before applying PDB crystals or ethylene dichloride, the area around the tree must be cleaned and the soil smoothed. Apply the fumigant in a continuous ring around the tree about one inch from the trunk. The crystals should not contact the bark.

The amount of fumigant to use is determined by the age of the trees. Two-to-three year-olds require one-half ounce, four-to-five year-olds, three-fourths of an ounce. Trees with a trunk diameter of ten inches or more should be treated with two ounces. Weigh the crystals accurately and do not use more than is recommended. Too much PDB can injure the tree.

After applying the fumigant, cover the treated area with about six inches of soil and pack it tight to seal in the fumigant. Remove the soil in two or three weeks. If the soil is left around the tree too long, a collar rot infection can develop. For more information of fruit insect control, get the bulletin "Control Pests of Home-Grown Fruit" 400-J-11 from the county agent's office in Carrizozo.

As the fall season approaches, we are faced with the problem of what to do with various forms of organic matter we have on hand such as grass clippings, leaves, canning wastes and plant residues that are not diseased. I suggest that you use this material in a compost pile.

A compost pile is prepared by placing alternate layers of organic mattr and soil in a pile 4 to 5 feet wide and no more than 5 feet high. Add to the soil, one-half pound of a complete fertilizer and one-fourth pound of superphosphate per square yard of soil used. The organic layer should be 6 inches thick and the soil layer 2 inches thick. Moisten each layer as it is placed in the pile.

After 1½ months turn the pile by cutting down from one end in thin slices and pile it in a new place. Repeat the process one month later and by the following spring the compost can be worked into the garden soil to improve soil structure.

Chamber Board Holds Meeting

We can have a better America in the 70's.

Andy Carter is a leader for the 70's. As our United States Senator, he will do the job for New Mexico.

VIETNAM is a problem that must be solved. Andy Carter will not play politics with peace. He supports President Nixon's program in Southeast Asia. Instead of criticizing the President, Andy will work with him to bring our boys home from Vietnam.

WASTEFUL SPENDING by the Government must not continue. For every tax dollar spent, Andy Carter will demand a dollar's worth of service, efficiency and results. As our United States Senator, Anderson Carter will be a sensible spender.

DISRESPECT for law, disrespect on campuses, and disrespect between people must be overcome. Andy Carter believes all of us have the right to be safe and secure on our streets, on our campuses, and in our homes. Andy Carter will work to protect our rights.

JOBS AND INDUSTRY that should be coming to New Mexico are going to neighboring states. During the 70's we must have 147,000 new jobs. Anderson Carter will work with President Nixon and Congressmen Lujan and Foreman to strengthen New Mexico's vital role in American research and development. He will use the office of United States Senator to secure jobs and clean industry for New Mexico.

What we need most is a dedicated man with new ideas. Anderson Carter is an experienced legislator who works tirelessly for a better New Mexico. As our United States Senator, he will get things done. The spirit of the 70's demands new leadership. THE PEOPLE OF NEW MEXICO NEED ANDERSON CARTER.

THE RUIDOSO (N. M.) NEWS — FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1970

SCMRA Meets At Fort Stanton

Twenty members of the South Central Mountain Resource Area met at Fort Stanton School October 20 to discuss old and new project proposals, and to tour the facility for the mentally retarded.

Roscoe Manning, administrator, briefed the group on the programs at the school and the potential for community services for the mentally retarded.

Fort Stanton has 186 retardates ranging from eight years of age to 62, both male and female. Most of the students, Manning explained, are trainable.

Manning told the meeting he felt the state was making good progress in training the retarded to return to the community, but as yet the communities in New Mexico have not developed sufficient resources to take care of their work and living needs.

Fort Stanton currently has four sheltered workshops in operation, with training available to the students in ceramics, enameled jewelry making, weaving and bead stringing. Approximately 75 Fort Stanton students are working in these workshops at the present time.

"We hope to move into vocational training for specific jobs for the retarded outside the institutions," Manning said. "We see this as our biggest potential."

A brief presentation also was given by Miss Carole Gorney, public affairs director for the N. M. Department of Hospitals and Institutions (DHI). Miss Gorney, a member of the South Central Mountain Resource Area steering committee, explained that DHI operates Fort Stanton and seven other state medical facilities and schools for the retarded. These include New Mexico State Hospital at Las Vegas and Los Lunas Hospital and Training School.

Another danger of one-arm driving is that a man may skid down the center aisle of a church.

Traffic Tips

By DARRELL AUSTIN
New Mexico State Police

64-18-24 — Turning Movements and Required Signals

A. No person shall turn a vehicle at an intersection unless the vehicle is in proper position upon the roadway as required in section 76, or turn a vehicle to enter a private roadway or otherwise turn a vehicle from a direct course or move right or left upon a roadway unless and until such movement can be made with reasonable safety. No person shall so turn any vehicle without giving an appropriate signal in the manner hereinafter provided in the event any other traffic may be affected by such movement.

B. A signal of intention to turn right or left when required shall be given continuously during not less than the 100 feet traveled by the vehicle before turning.

C. No person shall stop or suddenly decrease the speed of a vehicle without first giving an appropriate signal in the manner provided herein to the driver of any vehicle immediately to the rear when there is opportunity to give such a signal.

Court Case On Record—

It is negligence to make a turn at an intersection without keeping a proper lookout to see that the turn can be made safely.

People, this is a law that is mainly violated through carelessness. We either are not paying attention or are thinking of something else. This type of accident usually winds up with it being a multiple fatal. All vehicles since 1954 have been required to have turn signals. They are put there for use—SO PEOPLE PLEASE USE YOUR TURN SIGNALS! — IF YOU DO NOT HAVE TURN SIGNALS USE YOUR ARM SIGNALS!

The smoke you have been seeing on the horizon during the past couple of weeks is not a forest fire. Each year at this time the Ruidoso Ranger District burns slash accumulated after summer logging. The burning is carefully controlled to achieve maximum cleanup of slash and to prevent escape into the surrounding forest.

Slash burning is a continuing project on almost all National Forests. Burning is accomplished by piling of the slash. Sometimes ground fires are started to reduce fuels.

Slash burning accomplishes several National Forest Management objectives. By burning, fuels are removed which could result in disastrous fires during the hot, dry spring. Burning also eliminates insect epidemics by destroying their food supply, and of course, burning also cleans an area of unsightly debris left after logging. Burning, too, can aid in the creation of fuel breaks.

During the past week the Ruidoso District has been burning piled slash around the Ranger Station. This slash was cut from the Section 16 fuel breaks by organized Southwestern Fire Fighting Crews. When completed the fuel break will become a barrier to running fires.

THORP, WISC., COURIER: "We humans have been so preoccupied with watching the price of everything else go up that we have failed to notice that the price of us has gone up too. Just 30 years ago chemicals in the human body had a commercial value of about 98 cents . . . Today, experts say, those chemicals are worth about $800. Now no matter how modest he may be, anyone who owns a body has to be at least proud of something like this. Any body that contains chemicals which have increased in value by 800 percent can't be all bad."

HOLLYWOOD NOTES

A covered dish supper was held at the First Presbyterian Church last Wednesday evening in the Fellowship Hall and enjoyed by: Rev. and Mrs. Frank Crown and David, Dr. and Mrs. James Beall, Dr. and Mrs. John Sears, Karin, Karla and Cliff, Mr. and Mrs. T. "Ruidoso News"

I can't keep from writing you these few lines — my love and respect for Ruidoso is just the same as when I lived there several years ago.

Mr. Carter and I gave the lots that your great bank was built on, which has helped Ruidoso grow in progress. Ruidoso paper has had a part too. (Keep it up). Keep Ruidoso's paper too.

Love,

Dear Sir,

I would like to acknowledge one of your columns, by Officer Darrell Austin, Traffic Tips. It is a great contribution to your newspaper and he is doing an excellent job in putting across the facts about traffic regulations. His choice in subjects are very good and I feel if everyone in this area would read his column, each week, and accumulate this information and remember it, many people would be more knowledgeable about what they're doing when in their car.

Officer Austin's column is a great asset to your newspaper and I sincerely hope he will be able to carry on with it.

Sincerely,
A Conscientious Reader

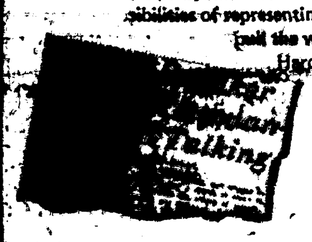
HERE IS WHY NEW MEXICO IS LOSING JOBS, INDUSTRY AND INCOME...

Not only has Ed Foreman failed to face up to the responsibilities of representing our district, NOW he tries to pull the wool over our eyes by calling Harold Runnels a "liar" and denying what you see reprinted here in black and white from leading newspapers around our district . . .



Ed Foreman conveniently fails to report these votes in his newsletter.

Ed Foreman voted:

AGAINST fish and wildlife conservation.
AGAINST a 5% increase in social security.
AGAINST mental retardation facilities.
AGAINST veterans pensions.
AGAINST a program for accident prevention in mines.
AGAINST a bill designed to encourage doctors to practice in rural areas.
AGAINST strengthening the position of cotton farmers.
AGAINST a bill to help veterans who lost their ability to speak, due to service-connected injury.

We do not bring up these facts to "brow beat" Mr. Foreman . . . we do it merely to point up a fact.

If you don't think like he does Ed Foreman brands you a communist . . . and if you're forced to accept welfare Ed says you're a "loafer."

Is this the kind of representation New Mexico deserves? No!

AND HERE IS WHAT WE CAN DO ABOUT IT

RETURN POSITIVE, EFFECTIVE AND MATURE REPRESENTATION TO CONGRESS

DAN STORM

November Fifth Set For Program By Dan Storm

Everything is all set for two days of song programs by Dan Storm of Glencoe, the Silver Lining Troubador.

On Thursday, Nov 5, there will be a program for students at the Ruidoso High School gym at 1 30 in the afternoon. Admission is 25c at the door.

On the same evening, Nov. 5, there will be a night program for the general public at 8 00 o'clock Admission for adults is one dollar paid at the door or by a ticket bought in advance

Also, on Friday, Nov 6, there will be a night program for students and the general public at the Hondo High School at 8 00 o'clock Admission High School Students, fifty cents at the door; Adults, one dollar at the door or by purchase of a ticket in advance Tickets for the programs will be for sale at The Ruidoso News, Watties', Ruidoso State Bank and other places throughout the community, Dan said

Dan, a native of Valdez, Alaska, came to the Ruidoso Valley in 1925. He has lived in Old Mexico, and has studied Spanish at the University of Texas, from which school he graduated with a degree in journalism. In World War II, he was overseas in the army for thirty-three months in Australia, New Guinea, and the Phillipine Islands.

For his program, Storm will be drawing upon a lifetime of singing and listening to the songs of other singers.

Dan says that his dog, Shady Logan, a great music lover, plans to be on hand And the Glencoe Troubador says he might throw in a yarn or two about Old Lincoln County, or some other part of the West or Southwest.

Among the songs Dan plans to bring to his listeners are: Adios Mi Chaparrita, Danny Boy, Mother Machree, When Irish Eyes Are Smiling, Waltzing Matilda, (the Australian Ballad) Solamente Una Vez, Rounded Up In Glory, Zenaida, Cielito Lindo, and All Around the Water Tank, Waiting For a Train.

The Silver Lining troubador promised The News he might bring his audiences a small surprise or two.

Hondo School News

Students completed the first nine-week period at Hondo High this past Friday. Report cards will be issued Wednesday, Oct. 28. The method for issuing them has been changed. Parents need to know that students will not be required to return cards as in previous years.

Burl Ives Named 1970 Christmas Seal Chairman In N. Mex.

One of the world's most famous —and most popular — New Mexicans has been named as honorary chairman for the 1970 Christmas Seal campaign in New Mexico.

E. R. (Russ) Porter, executive director of the New Mexico Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Ass'n. (NMTRDA) said Mr. Ives had indicated concerned interest in helping the association raise funds this year for the eradication of Tuberculosis, control of of respiratory diseases and combatting air pollution.

With a goal of $100,000 the association by a large cadre of volunteer workers, is mailing out its annual Christmas Seal letter and the colorful seals throughout the state.

Contributions received will be channeled into research, public education and community service, Mr. Porter said.

NMTDRA boasts a venerable 53-year history, beginning with incorporation May, 1917, in Santa Fe where its first office was located under the supervision of Clinton P. Anderson, now United States Senator. At that time, the organization was known as the New Mexico Public Health Association which lent actual impetus to formation of the New Mexico Department of Health.

Mr. Ives, singer, actor, entertainer and television star on "The Bold Ones", recently built a home in Gallisteo, N. M.

Mayor's Committee On Aging Meets Sat.

Twenty-three persons attended a meeting of the Mayor's Committee on aging at Nob Hill School in Ruidoo on Oct. 24 at 3 p. m. The group decided that a Senior Citizens' organization for the community was a definite need and that an organization needs to be established here.

Barney Waldrop was elected president of a nominating committee to establish an organization. Members are Nolan Hart and Mrs. Minnie Lee.

The next meeting was set for November 5, also to be held at the Nob Hill School.

Runnels Schedules Ruidoso Visit Saturday

State Senator Harold Runnels, campaigning hard for the state's second congressional district seat, has announced his final campaign schedule which he has labeled a "Victory Blitz."

The eight-day tour, which started Monday in Artesia, will take him into 12 of the 18 counties in the sprawling district.

Sen. Runnels will be in Alamogordo, Ruidoso and Albuquerque on Saturday, October 21.

The Congressional candidate will return to his home in Lovington Sunday and will close out his campaign Monday, November 2 by joining a caravan which will visit every Lea County community.

Over 104,700,000 motor vehicles were traveling U. S. streets and highways by the end of 1969. Of this total, some 86,560,000 were passenger cars, according to the New Mexico Department of Highways.

Constitutional Amendments Are Explained Before Nov. 3 Election

(Editor's Note: We feel that the public should be informed concerning the proposed constitutional amendments on the ballot in the November 3 election and we will attempt to explain them in terms as simple as possible.)

Amendment No. 1—

This amendment would provide home rule for the villages and cities in the state as long as the local governments abide by their respective charters and state law. (The News has been running a series on this amendment sponsored by the Municipal League that explains the provisions in greater detail.) Under the present constitution, the state must approve almost every action taken by village and city governing bodies. Any increase in taxes would require a majority vote of the people of the village.

Amendment No. 2—

Provisions for voting rights are the primary aims of this amendment. It spells out the residence and age requirements for voting in local, county, state and national elections. It also forbids the holding of any other election in conjunction with a state-wide election.

Amendment No. 3—

The terms of the governor and lieutenant governor are set at 4 years under this amendment. In voting for the two offices, only one vote is cast for both, in effect eliminating the possibility of splitting the two offices beween different political parties.

No more than one consecutive term will be allowed except in the case of the lieutenant governor, who will be allowed to run following his term for the office of governor.

Amendment No. 4—

Elimination of the state school levy is the purpose of this amendment. We have been told that the administration of the law makes it uneconomical and unnecessary for the amount of revenue that the schools derive from it.

Amendment No. 5—

This amendment provides for the repeal of Section 5 of Article 19. This article deals with the amendment of the constitution and requires a constitutional convention for the revision of the constitution. Under the amended constitution, no convention would be required.

Amendment No. 6—

This amendment defines the terms for the appointment and removal of members of the board of regents of state educational institutions.

Amendment No. 7—

Student loans for higher education would be allowed under this amendment. Only state controlled school students would be eligible for the loans.

Amendment No. 8—

Definition of words used in the constitution is one of the aims of this amendment. This amendment is a "catch-all" with a number of changes in it. It primarily deals with valuation of property, sets a maximum on taxation for property and deals with the investing and depositing of state monies.

The $2000 exemption for veterans of the armed forces would not be changed by this amendment.

This is, by no means, a complete or precise explanation of the amendments proposed. Each citizen should study the amendments carefully before the election. Amending the constitution is very serious business and the public should be well informed before voting.

The Different Man by Daniel Storm

A True Story of Old Lincoln County
(Copyrighted by Daniel A. Storm)

Why is New Mexico drying up? You ask a question very easy to answer, little friend. When I was a boy here in Lincoln County, you could go in any direction and not run into any fences. You could ride from here to El Paso and not have to open one gate. Think of that for just one moment. There was no drought in those days.

At night, all you had to do was stake your horse out; and if there were not enough grass within reach of the rope you could take your pocket knife and in five minutes cut enough feed for three horses. Beautiful springs were everywhere. Where are they now?

Where is all the grass that used to make an approaching rider look as if his horse did not have any legs? The grass is gone. The grass is gone because people nowadays are selfish. They do not want to help each other out. They do not care about friends.

Oh, thank you for the four bits. This will buy tobacco. You are not like the rest of your people, little Senor. I think you are a Gringo with a Mexican's heart. Because you can feel sorry, you can feel pity, you can let your tears fall for the people. Only one other Gringo have I seen like this.

Just because I have been a pastor and followed after the sheep all my life, maybe you think I do not understand much more than wildcats, pinon birds, pack rats and other companions of a man living outdoors day and night.

But what I can tell you is this: Many things that people used to know how to do, they no longer understand. Finding gold, for example. There used to be a good gold mine over here at White Oaks. Is that not true? The Americanos and the Texanos came in here and looked everywhere with their methods so scientific. They said there was no more gold to be found in Lincoln county. But no. The gift for finding gold has been taken away from people because they are too crazy over money.

Let me tell you about the most beautiful gold I ever saw and about two friends of mine. They lived over on the Blocks ranch. This used to be the largest in the world. Nobody could tell you where it began over here or where it ended over there.

One of these men was called Pedro Romero. It was his custom to come into the Block ranch store four or five times a year to buy coffee, salt, sugar, flour and tobacco to take back out to the sheep camp where he was herding sheep with his companion, Antonio Herrera.

Is it possibly to buy things without money? You think not? Then pay close attention to this: Pedro bought all these coffees, sugars, and salts, and tobaccos and other things—all they wanted. But he did not pay with money. He always came to the Blocks ranch store with his pockets full of very white rocks in which the gold could be seen, shining, sparkling. After he had all the things his pack horse could carry piled on the counter of the store, he would reach into his pocket and put a handful of two of these gold rocks on the counter and say: "Is that enough?"

The storekeeper would put his hand over to one side and say, "Well . . . maybe a little more. A little more maybe."

And again would go Pedro's hand into his pocket again, and even again, to the wrist or to the elbow, until he had brought up all the gold the storekeeper asked.

Little did it matter to Pedro what valued this or that in the store or how expensive was this or this other. There was plenty more where this came from.

For I don't know how long, Pedro kept coming to the Blocks ranch store and buying his things, and always paying for them the same way. And what a thing to see the rocks there piled on the counter, pieces large and small with just enough of the white rock to make the gold more lovable, more enchanting to the eyes.

Days, weeks, and months passed, I know not how many. Then one day in the summer I came into the Blocks ranch store, and there was Pedro, looking at the shelves, buying.

The rocks of gold he had piled on the counter this time! I could hardly look away from them. I was already tired of looking at ordinary gold. But this!

It seemed this shined more brilliantly than any other I have ever seen. It was all the little colors that gold can be—some more golden than the other, and some of more delicate light. There were some pieces of this metal shaped into figures like dolls, and birds. On the rocks so white, you could see where the gold had traced itself into little stars, little trees, little mountains, and little flowers.

While I was looking at this, the door of the store opened and there entered a man who was very rich and owned many sheep, Don Santiago Otero. Instantly, in his face so broad and red, his large eyes turned, as if they had been on the alert quickly to see things by themselves without any help from Don Santiago. These eyes grew yet more large and round, and you could see reflected in both of them the little head of gold shining so brightly on this dark counter.

From where he stood by the door, Don Santiago made three or two steps running. But quickly he stopped himself and began walking slowly over to the counter, looking at the shelves, the floor and the ceiling.

"Is that enough?" said Pedro to the storekeeper.

"Well," said the storekeeper, "maybe a little more. A little more maybe."

Pedro reached his hand into his pocket and pulled out a handful of the white and gold rocks, and one or two of them fell on the floor, and neither Pedro nor the storekeeper paid them any attention.

The little balls of sweat appeared shining on the forehead of Don Santiago Otero. He pulled the black tie at his white collar. With his silk handkerchief he touched his face, now more red than ever.

"Where did you get those rocks?" asked Don Santiago, seeming to talk as if he were merely curious and nothing more.

"My companion, mi compañero, out at the sheep camp gives them to me to buy things," answered Pedro. "I do not know where he gets them."

"Will you take me to this man?" asked Don Santiago.

"Si senor," said Pedro, "but I must tell you it is a little far out there, and this companion of mine is very different, muy diferente."

"It makes no difference that he is different," said Don Santiago. "Show me the way to this man."

When Pedro Romero said that Antonio Herrera was different, what he meant to say was this: Antonio was a man purely of the outdoors. He could sit for hours under a pinon tree, thinking, it seemed, of nothing; and listening to things I was never able to hear, and watching closely things I could never see. For the towns, the great riches, and the fine houses he cared not, this man. Of little cared he also for the strong drinks, the gay music, the happy fiestas, and the dances of the plazas.

In truth then, what was it that this man did care about? Only to drink his cafe; eat his tortillas of corn or white flour, his chiles and his beans—and to sit smoking by the hour his cigarros of tobacco rolled up in cigarette papers made out of corn husks. Only this, and to be where there was no sound louder than the faint tinkling of sheep bells; and to wander hour after hour, and day after day throughout the mountains and across the foothills, and over the prairies; and sleep wrapped in one blanket on the ground with no roof but the little stars.

As Pedro and Don Santiago came in sight of the sheep camp, here was the man of the gold rocks under a large wild cherry tree that grew at the edge of a spring, neither lying down nor sitting up, more asleep than awake, with his straw hat half on his head and half off.

As Don Santiago approached him, he changed his position under the tree but little and said "Buenos dias."

He did not say, "Buenos dias, senor." Because senor this and senor that; and with your permission this; and pardon me this other were all part of things that for him held no importance.

"My man," said Don Santiago," "if you will take me to this place where you find these rocks with a little bit of gold in them, I will bring in machines, and miners, and materials for building. I will develop this mine and give you half of all the money that is made out of it."

Don Santiago paused in his speaking, and then said,

"More than this, I will give you five hundred sheep."

While Don Santiago was saying this about the machinery, and this about the miners, and this other about half of the money, you would have thought Antonio did not so much as even hear these words. But when this other was said about 500 sheep, that was another thing. Antonio opened his eyes and shut them many times rapidly like a man awakening from a dream, and then was standing on his feet.

Before Don Santiago knew what was happening, Antonio, with a motion of his arm for the rich man to follow him, was walking down the little arroyo where we had our sheep camp. Don Santiago followed, riding his Spanish horse, so beautiful so heavy to carry large men, and so light to run over rough country.

Down out of the pinon and cedar and juniper trees they passed, and trailed among the Algerita brush and the malpais they passed, that lava bed so black and terrible to see—where in live wild men with long hair and beards, according to what is said.

In the direction of the White Sands traveled now Antonio and Don Santiago. In those days there was nothing but meadow larks, rabbits and kangaroo mice living in the tall grass where the town of Carrizozo now is. So this rich man and this man that cared not for riches passed over where this county seat of Lincoln county now lies.

Away from the direction toward the White Sands now turned Antonio, sharply to his right. Over in this direction is a round mountain standing alone, called El Pato: Straight toward this walked Antonio with Don Santiago on his horse following. Coming to the approaches of this hill, Antonio started walking straight up toward the top, passing Spanish dagger, cactus, catclaw and poor sad little trees that could hardly grow for lack of water.

Inside of his breast, the heart of Don Santiago began to pound against his ribs violently so that the mountain, sky, clouds and surrounding plains before his eyes flashed dark and light, dark and light, so powerfully did the blood rush back and forth to his brain.

And now these brains began to work fast, fast inside the head of Don Santiago. To himself the rich man was thinking something like this:

Here is a man who is leading me to a rich mine. This man is little more than a brute. The mine is certain to be here on this small round hill. Where else can it be? There are no other hills or mountains for miles in any direction. Yes, the mine is here and I can find it easily. Now. This man does not care for money. He does not care to live in fine houses, to ride valuable horses, to wear elegant clothes, to eat delicate food. What good is gold to a person who is insane? Surely a crazy man is likely to get into trouble and do great harm if he has much money at his disposal.

"One moment. Wait. Stop!" The stillness of the wild country was broken by the loud voice of Don Santiago. On the slope of the hill El Pato, Antonio Herrera stopped with one foot held in the air. Then he slowly turned around. There before him was Don Santiago with one hand haiked high in the air, sitting on his palomino horse so magnificent. The face of this large man was very serious of expression. The corners of his jaw were hard.

"Antonio," said Don Santiago, "there is something I must tell you."

The other made hardly a move except to throw his head back ever so little, and said nothing.

"I did not want to tell you until I was sure," continued Don Santiago. He breathed loudly of the desert air. "The truth is that I have a mine of my own on this same hill. I wanted to find out if you were taking this gold from my mine. Now if this mine you are taking me to is the same one I have, then of course I cannot give you one-half of the money that is made from it. I cannot give you sheep, or any other things."

For just a moment and no more, the eyes of Antonio Herrera looked into those of Don Santiago.

"If you have a mine around here," said Antonio, "then you do not need me to find it for you." He made a swinging motion with his arm above his head.

"Go and find it yourself," said Antonio Herrera.

And with that he walked down past Don Santiago and his great horse, and on down the hill. In his saddle, proud of himself, Don Santiago turned and watched Antonio walking amongst the mesquite, catclaw and wait-a-bit brush of the desert back the way he had come.

Now Don Santiago had the mine all to himself. He brought men to search with shovels, with picks, with long bars of iron. He brought dynamite and blew great blasts of earth and rocks flying from the hill of El Pato.

How could he help find the mine? He combed the hill. He had men swarming like ants. Did he find the mine? Young friend, if something is not meant to be for a person, there is no remedy.

Don Santiago did get to see the gold again, however. Not long after this he came into the Blocks ranch store, it happened, just when Pedro was finishing his trading at the store.

"Is that enough?" said Pedro.

"Yeah," said the storekeeper, "yeah, Pete, that's plenty for this time. You and Tony are pretty good customers."

Watching Don Santiago from the side of one of his eyes, Pedro reached in his pocket, took out a big handful of gold rocks and threw them carelessly on top of the pile that was already on the counter.

"Here!" he said more loudly than was necessary for the storekeeper to hear. "There is plenty more where that came from!"

This was a rude thing for Pedro to do to Don Santiago of course. And he should not have done it. A Mexican is the slowest man to anger in the world. There is hardly anything you can do to him to make him mad. The only way to make him lose his temper is to cause trouble to one of his friends. Then be careful.

Only one more thing a Mexican does not like. That is one who is stingy, a person who is not generous, a man who . . . ah, gracias, young senor, for another four bits. Tobaccos and coffees are so expensive now days. It is a far walk to the store. Winter is coming on. But what matters the cold weather if one has a friend?

INFLATION UNCHECKED
Prices UP 10%
in past 28 months!

In Cardinal Ed Foreman said, "Inflation is just a figment of your imagination . . . "with every item on the grocery, drug and medicine shelf up 10 to 30% how can he say that? It's time we stopped burying our heads in the sand. It's time to change to someone who knows what's going on. It's time we stopped talking about high prices and started acting to cut costs. Tips on Golf Technique

DAN SIKES, PLAYER "SWING"

THE HIPS IN THE GOLF SWING

At Tobago, we asked Dan Sikes to demonstrate the role the hips play in the golf swing.

"The movement of the hips is a very powerful one and must be fully and correctly accomplished by anyone aspiring to hit the ball for long distances.

"I position my hips in a semi-sitting position at address. This pushes my weight down towards my heels. As you can see I allow my hips to move away from the target as I go into the backswing. At the top of the backswing you can see that I have made a big, deliberate turn, a full swing. On the downswing, I rotate the hips towards the target and the weight begins shifting to the left side. As I reach impact, I tuck my right elbow into my right side. My head and shoulders are as they should be, behind the ball. The left side has turned away, allowing the hands to pass through the hitting area.

"And as I reach the conclusion of the swing, my hips, as you can see, are facing the target."

Gran Quivira Sets Record For Visitors

The number of people to visit Gran Quivira National Monument has now reached an all time high. More visitors have been through the museum and ruins so far this year than the total count for any previous total year. At the end of September this was 22,014 people for the 1970 year-to-date while the total for 1969 was only 21,824 visitors.

During the month of September alone Gran Quivira had 2,518 visitors which is a 37% increase (636 more people) over September of 1969.

Since the beginning of this year visitors to Gran Quivira have represented all of the 50 states, the District of Columbia, and 28 different other countries. These other countries include: Netherlands Antilles, Iran, Taipei (Republic of China), Brazil, Switzerland, West Germany, England, Canada, France, Panama Canal Zone, Australia, South Africa, Scotland, Holland, U. S. Virgin Islands, Guam (Marianas Islands), Japan, Puerto Rico, Italy, Kwajalein (Marshall Islands), Colombia, India, Pakistan, Chile, New Zealand, Guatemala, Norway and Jordan.

The first counting of visits to Gran Quivira was begun in 1925 and since then more than 270,000 people have visited this National Monument. Gran Quivira National Monument is administered by the National Park Service, an agency of the United States Department of the Interior.

Oct. 20 Rotary Program Is On Goddard Museum

At the Tuesday, Oct. 20 meeting of the Ruidoso Rotary Club, Rotarian Jim Wimberly introduced Rex N. Brown, manager of the Southwest Public Service. Brown presented a program regarding the Goddard Rocket and Space Museum in Roswell.

The museum was a project sponsored by the Roswell Rotary Club of which Dr. Goddard was a member.

Brown entrusted to Ruidoso Rotarian A. E. Hunt a brochure entitled "The Congressional Recognition of Goddard Rocket and Space Museum," to be presented to the Ruidoso School Library with the compliments of the Roswell Rotary Club. Brown is a past president of that club.

Guests at the meeting were Wayne Phelps and Tom Hamilton of Alamogordo, Jud Roberts and Rex Brown of Roswell, and Bruce Pember of Staton, Texas.

ELLSWORTH, IOWA, SOUTH HAMILTON NEWS: "Things have come to a sad state in this country when a federal official will come to Congress and ask for more money so that the inmates of federal prisons can be fed more meat per day than the average law-abiding citizen consumes. Yet that's exactly what happened. The officials of the Bureau of Prisons also wanted money from the taxpayers for prison facilities that would cost $64,000 per inmate. At this point, this member of Congress was ready to admit he had heard just about everything in the way of sheer gall, when I was informed that prison officials also wanted more money to provide law breakers with fresh range juice instead of the canned variety they have been getting and didn't like."

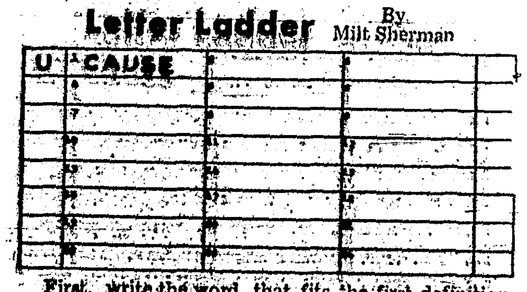
Letter Ladder

By Milt Sherman



First, write the word that fits the first definition into the first space. Drop one letter and rearrange the remaining letters to fit definition 2. Place the dropped letter in the box to the left of 1. Drop a second letter and rearrange the remaining letters to fit definition 3 and place the dropped letter in the box to the right of 3. When you have completed this puzzle, the dropped letters in the boxes to the left and right, when read down, will spell out a phrase.

1. Make happen
2. "Brief —"; box
3. Ocean
4. Rock
5. Quick letter
6. Lowest 2-digit number
7. Rust; wear away
8. Went by car
9. "See —"; get very angry
10. "Snow —"; frozen rain
11. Illegal copies
12. Secure; free from danger
13. Investigate minutely
14. Drill
15. Mining product
16. Grind by hand
17. One result of crying; rip
18. Skill; craft
19. Sew temporarily
20. Common superlative
21. Wager
22. Flour glue; false gem
23. "Adhesive —"; paper strip
24. Legume; tiny vegetable

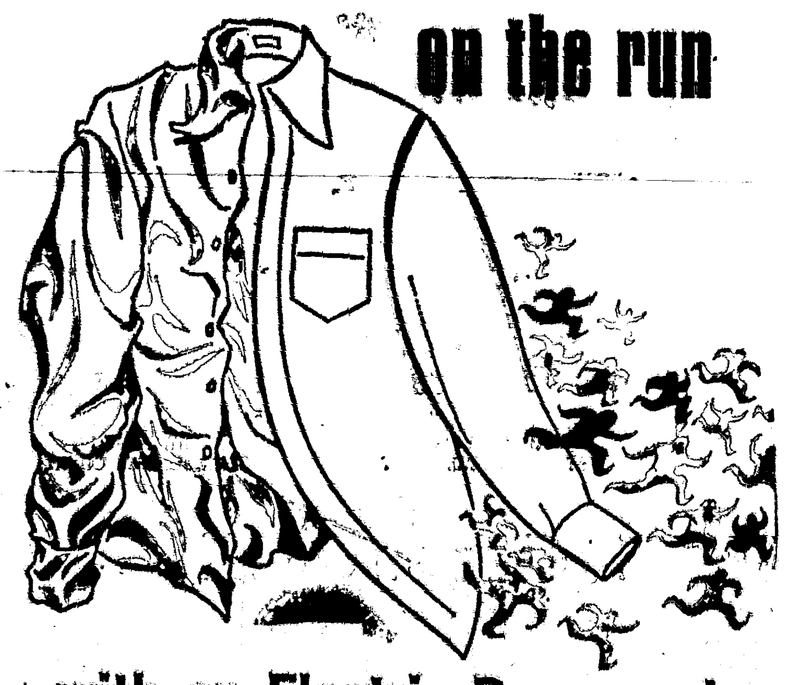
Put washday wrinkles on the run



with an Electric Dryer and permanent press garments

No ironing needed . . . wrinkles vanish from permanent press garments thanks to the gentle tumbling action and controlled electric heat of an automatic electric clothes dryer. Most manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend drying them in an automatic clothes dryer for best results. When it comes to clothes dryers, you can't do better than an electric dryer. Electric dryers are clean, flameless and economical to operate. See your appliance dealer soon for a work-saving electric dryer that dries permanent press garments so beautifully they're ready to wear without ironing.

Capitan News

By BARTLEY McDONOUGH

Eighteen girls from Capitan attended their district FHA meeting in Corona last Saturday. Other schools represented included Tularosa, Alamogordo, Cloudcroft, Carrizozo and the host school.

Attending from the Capitan chapter were Debra Cartwright, Linda Trujillo, Pam Kern, Patty Otero, Abby Allen, Janice Silva, Sarah Jobe, Janet Sisneros, Rita Baca, Terri Cartwright, Patsy Walker, Susan Ingalls, Elva Sherrill, Carolyn Lucas, Judy Provine, Kathy Robinson, Kaye Cornelius, and Patty Dobbins. Mrs. Angelina Provine is the sponsor of our local chapter.

In addition to attending various meetings, each club presented a skit. Capitan's skit concerned "Accepting Responsibilities." This group left Capitan at 7:30 a.m. on a school bus driven by Arthur Coleman and arrived back at 4:30 p.m.

State FHA pesident, Diane Hathorne, also attended the meeting.

The Capitan Tigers met and defeated the Corona Cardinals on a sloppy snow covered Tiger Field, October 16, 27-0. The Tigers scored 12 points in the 1st quarter on runs of 2 yards by Preciado and 6 yards by Ted Sisneros. Junior Guevara scampered 15 yards in the second quarter and Buddy Hall kicked the PAT. Later in the quarter Guevara came back with a run of 20 yards to make the score 26-0. The Tigers then ran the ball over for the two point conversion. Final score — Tigers 27, Cardinals 0.

The Capitan Tigers grossed 489 yards while Corona grossed 65 yards. The big news was that ALL members of the Tiger squad got to play. Statistician, Francisco Trujillo, credited the following Tigers in the rushing department: Mark Wade — 8 yards, Sisneros— 38 yards, Eddie Jones — 12, Kenny Jones — 18, Buddy Hall — 59, Junior Guevara — 66, Preciado — 40, Bronson Cummins — 26, David Williams — 8.

Tackles defensively: Buddy Hall — 13, Tony Sanches — 10, Junior Guevara — 9, Sisneros — 7, Williams and Loomis — 6 each, Johnny Preciado — 5, Jimmy Lacy — 4.

The Tigers travel to Mountainair, Wednesday, October 21, for a 7 p. m. encounter.

The Tigers play their only conference game, HERE, Friday, October 30, 7:30 p. m. when they meet the Cloudcroft Bears. Coach Dickey — "Cloudcroft has an explosive offense. Their defense is weaker than their offense. Next to Carrizozo they are the toughest team on our schedule. We are not looking for any picnic."

We have learned that Stephen Pumphrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Pumphrey of Ft. Stanton, New Mexico, has been named 2nd outstanding new cadet for the 1st six weeks of school at NMMI. Stephen, a 1970 graduate of Capitan High School, was chosen from ALL new cadets entering New Mexico Military Institute for the first time.

Report cards were sent home, October 14. Here is the honor roll — 4th grade — Nathan Stone and Elizabeth Miller, 5th grade — Loyd Harper, Robbie Richardson, Jeanne Batey, Darci Cockerell and Darlene Herrera, 6th grade— Joe David Cummins, Bobby Kautz, Bert Shrecengost, and Ronnie Smith. 7th grade — Kay Huey and Kirk Phillips.

8th Grade — Richard Phillips, 9th grade — Bronson Cummins, Patty Otero, and Kenneth Taylor, 10th grade — Teresa Pumphrey, 11th grade — Janice Silva and Patsy Walker. Seniors on the honor roll include Kaye Cornelius, Cody McBride, Judy Provine, and Francisco Trujillo.

Whit's Studio was here October 28, 8:30 A. M. to make the senior portraits.

The 1971 issue of the school yearbook is now being offered for sale. Prices will be $5 until Thanksgiving. Any books purchased after that date will be $6. You may make your purchase from members of the senior class.

The fourth grade is studying scribble art. Mrs. Pryor is stressing good manners and good citizenship. Subtraction, borrowing and fractions are being studied by the class. Very apparent in the 4th grade room are two attractive displays concerning the month of October and Autumn signs. Mrs. Pryor is a new subscriber to the Ruidoso News. Forty percent of her subscription will go to the Capitan Band.

The 7th grade has a very attractive bulletin board. It contains some pretty pictures concerning the month of October. Mrs. Linda Gossett substituted 4 days last week while Mrs. Salas was attending a drug abuse class in Roswell. Mrs. Gossett plans to go back to West Texas State University this spring and complete work for a degree in elementary education. Linda is a native of Muleshoe, Texas.

We would like to thank the Ruidoso Printing Company and Charles McClellan for the nice box of scrap paper which Capitan students are finding they can use.

The third grade is studying initial and final consonant blends and syllabication. The class is also studying the home. Topics include — People who make our homes — A Good Place to Live — Planning a House — Materials for Homes — Homes Around the World. Mrs. Peters commented: "This is a fast moving little class." The 3rd grade finished its unit on health the first six weeks and have nice reports all over the blackboard.

Mr. Gene Whitlock was in Capitan, Tuesday, October 27, 1970 to evaluate our progress since the February 1970 state evaluation.

Members of the Capitan Lions Club met Monday night. Ken Reamy had as his guest Roy Helms, who showed some excellent slides of Viet Nam.

The young 9 and 10 year old Capitan-Hondo Football Team along with the 11 and 12-year-olds will play in Roswell, Saturday morning, October 24. Game time is 9 A. M. on the Roswell High Practice Field.

The Capitan Volunteer Fire Department completed a 12-hour course last Monday night, which was presented by Dave James of the State Fire Marshal's Office. Firemen completing the course include M. Sommerville, Billy Littlefield, D. Robertson, John Able, Darrell Austin, L. Stoneman, Sidney McDonald, Bob Jenkins, Sandy Loomis, Corky McEuen, Wayne Langford, Lee Smith, Gerald Dean Jr., C. Englicking, C. McBride, B. McDonough, and Fire Chief Jerry Foster.

Help send the junior class on their senior trip in 1972. Support all their projects which include the concession stand at athletic events.

For their help in the junior booth at recent athletic contests we appreciate and thank Mmes. Virgil Loomis and Claude Walker.

The Capitan Tigers downed Mountainair Wednesday evening, Oct. 24, by a score of 41-14. Capitan's quarterback made it Junior Guevara night by scoring five touchdowns. Eddie Jones got credit for the other TD.

Freshman Mike Romero kicked one extra point. Defensive standouts were middle linebacker Jimmy Padilla, linebacker Tony Sanchez, defensive end Moose Williams. Also doing an excellent job on defense were halfback Lloyd Cartwright and tackle Sandy Loomis.

Coach Dickey singled out center Sidney McDonald for praise on offense.

Sunday afternoon, Oct. 25, a very nice crowd attended a Republican rally and barbecue in Lincoln. Barbecue beef and rabbit were served with all the trimmings.

The crowd heard the following politicians looking for a job in Santa Fe: Governor, Pete Domenici; Lt. Governor, Joe Skeen; Senator, John Conway; State Corporation Commissioner, Russell D. Bradley.

Ed Foreman was also present as our state representative seeking another 2-year term in Washington. Various Republicans running for county offices were also recognized.

For the first time in about ten years, the "C" on C-Mountain was scheduled for repainting on the afternoon of Oct. 29.

Air Force Academy Names New Liaison Officer For Area

Major Robert W. Bell, 2000 Chilton Dr., Las Cruces, is the newly appointed liaison officer for the United States Air Force Academy for the Las Cruces-Alamogordo areas.

Major Bell will provide information concerning the Academy to students and counselors in area high and junior high schools. His local area includes White Sands, Mesilla Range, Las Cruces, Alamogordo, Cloudcroft, Ruidoso, Hondo, Capitan, Carrizozo and Tularosa.

The new liaison officer will visit the various schools and advise students on how to prepare for admission to the Academy and assist highly qualified students in applying, the year prior to their desired admission, for nomination to the Academy.

Students and parents interested in obtaining information about the Air Force Academy may contact Maj. Bell by letter or telephone at his home in Las Cruces.

NEWS 'N NOTES

Apples are a valuable food — and now is the best time of the year to enjoy them. Look for firm, crisp, well-colored apples. Apples must be mature when picked to have a good flavor, texture, and storing ability.

The larger the apple, the less the waste. Three medium apples or four small ones make a pound. One pound of apples provides one and one-half to two cups of applesauce. One bushel contains about 160 medium apples and makes 16 to 20 quarts of applesauce.

Every day that an apple is held at room tempeature, its storage life is decreased by more than a week, so store them in a cool place. In a covered container where the air is somewhat humid around them, apples will keep well for two to three weeks in the refrigerator, and even longer for some varieties.

Beside being a delicious low-calorie treat (about 75 for a medium size apple) an important fact is that the cellulose and pectin of apples are laxative, and the firm texture gives exercise to the teeth and gums.

House plants need care now if you want them to grow well this winter. Bring them back indoors before they're injured by early frost and then repot. Even plants that have been indoors all summer can benefit from new pots.

When you select pots for indoor planting, match the size of the plant with the size of the pot. Never use a large pot for a small plant; pots should be as small as possible to hold the roots and still support the plant. Each pot should also have a drainage hole in the bottom. Clay pots allow for better soil aeration than glazed or plastic pots. However, almost any pot will do if it has adequate drainage. Proper soil mixture is important too; soil must be porous enough to drain and aerate well. A good mixture may include one part each of garden soil, peat moss and coarse sand with one-half of decomposed manure or compost. You can replace sand with vermiculite or perlite.

The way to become truly useful is to seek the best that other brains can offer.
