Ruidoso Downs Village Council bans outside water use in village

The Village of Ruidoso Downs has issued a proclamation calling for no further outside watering in the village until further notice due to the extreme fire hazard and a shortage of water in the village. The order went into effect May 23 and will continue until the board issues a notice that the emergency is over. Mayor Jack DiPaolo noted that the crisis is slowly improving and that several minor leaks in village water mains have been repaired. The proclamation was issued following a special emergency meeting of the board held May 23.

At the regular meeting of the council last Monday evening at the village hall, discussion was held concerning the use of water from the well on Denton Field and it was noted that Charlie Denton had given permission for the village to use the water if needed. The well has been cleaned and supplies about 160 gallons per minute of water. It will be a relatively simple process to hook the well into the water mains of the village.

A preliminary grant request has been made by the village for assistance with up-grading the water system.

Linda Posey, chairwoman for the village beautification committee, reported that the group had employed Bruce Wallace, an experienced landscape planner, for the completion of planting of the project and requested that the village fire department water the plants for one month after the plantings.

A request was heard from the village police department for a jailer and the board will attempt to hire one for $200 per month. The jailer will be asked to serve as clean-up for the village offices also.

The next regular meeting of the board will be held June 10, 8:00 p.m. at the village hall.

MATCHES ARE PERFECTLY SAFE . . . until one is lit and then . . .

Matches plus tad equal fire

SMOKEY BEAR isn't turning over in his grave . . . mainly because he hasn't as yet passed on into that Great Forest where he will one day roam . . . that Great Forest where there will be no forest fires . . . where all the animals . . . and man . . . will live in harmony . . without one hurting the other.

A box of matches is not dangerous. A box of matches cannot strike themselves and set a fire.

Take one box of matches . . . add one small boy.

Now you have a dangerous box of matches.

Said small boy decided to see if the matches were any good. He took one from the box. He scratched the head on the striking side. He . . . like Vulcan . . . created fire.

The tad was fascinated. Fire, since the first man discovered it, has fascinated all ages of mankind.

Possibly this pre-schooler gazed at the burning match, wide-eyed, as the flames inched toward his fingers . . . which perhaps were firmly grasping the stick portion.

Suddenly, perhaps, he noticed the heat . . . his reflexes took over . . . he dropped the match . . . he ran. Mommies are great people at a time like this. They can kiss away the hurt.

When the tad dropped the match, perhaps, it didn't go out . . . the dying flame licked out at a dry spear of grass, perhaps. The flame was fed by the tinder-like grass or, perhaps, a pine needle.

Slowly . . . ever so slowly . . . the fire consumed more fuel . . . suddenly there was a little pocket of fire . . . it started spreading . . . almost as though the heat attracted the grass and pine needles.

Someone . . . somehow, noticed the small fire . . . the firemen, wearing their helmets and riding on their red truck were called. Because the firemen know how to fight fire, they quickly put it out . . . and no serious damage was done.

The tad saw all this.

He also saw a Forest Ranger.

"I know you," the tad said. He looked in bewilderment at the burned grass . . . and at the Forest Ranger. "You're the man who told me about Smokey Bear."

The tad was wearing a button. He was a member of a fire fighting group. He was proud of his button.

He was a little confused, though.

He didn't mean to start the fire. But he did "find" that box of matches . . . and he did strike one . . . and he did get scared . . . and, somehow, he understood that he had started it . . . and he didn't want to lose his button . . . or have Smokey Bear get mad at him.

But, gee whiz, when you're just a little boy . . . well . . . sometimes things happen.

And the Forest Ranger talked to the little boy . . . and held his hand down over the blackened grass . . . and the little fellow felt the heat . . . and he became scared . . . all over again.

But he . . . "won't do it again" . . . unless, perhaps, someone leaves a box of matches . . . where he can find them . . . and, in case his memory is shorter than his good intentions . . . he might accidentally strike one . . . and it might burn his fingers . . . and it might drop onto the ground . . . and . . .

C-C membership drive brings gain

The Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce membership drive, getting underway May 28, is "Going as we expected," chamber manager C. Richard Cothrun said Wednesday.

"At the beginning of the drive," Cothrun said, "our purpose was to double our chamber membership and indications are that we will meet that goal."

Thirty-two individuals and firms, in this current drive, have increased their contributions to the chamber from 33 to as much as 750 percent. "We are indeed grateful to them for their continued vote of confidence in us," Cothrun said, "and we extend a special thanks to these contributors from the Chamber of Commerce."

The 32 contributors include: Ruidoso State Bank, Security Bank, Western States Telephone, Brunell's Department Store, Bennett's Big 8, Perteet-Parks, Chaves County Savings and Loan, Roswell Savings and Loan, Western Office Equipment, White Mountain Development;

Gibson's, Alto Village, North Park, Inc., C & L Lumber, Gambles, Hollywood Lumber, High Country Lodge, Swiss Chalet, Innsbrook Lodge, Dalton Ross, Buckley Real Estate, Whitlock & Lyle;

Bill Pippin Real Estate, Mobley Real Estate, Ruidoso Natural Gas, Ruidoso Realty, Ruidoso Printing, Win, Place & Show, Camelot of Ruidoso, Ruidoso News, Dr. W. D. Horton and Dr. Pen Primer.

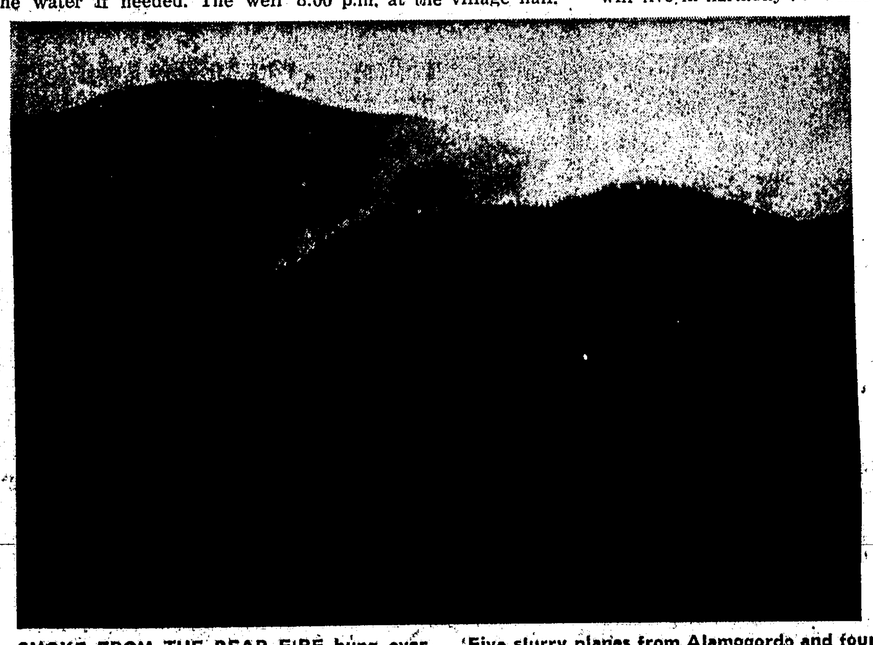
The following are "either new members in the chamber, or were formerly associate members who increased to full membership," Cothrun said.

As of noon Wednesday, this number included, Hollywood Food Mart, Kenmore Fina Station, Ruidoso Home & Auto, Flip Side Records, Fireplace Restaurant, Raven School of Judo, Sears-Roebuck, Rainbow Lake, D & D Beauty Shop, Patricia's;

Holiday Bowl, Radio Shack, Johnny Bean, Creative Consultant Programming, Gordon Schnaufer, Elite Beauty Salon, Service Contractors Mark Apartments, Cousins', Delma's Beauty Shop, Frontier Motors & Supply, George B. McGill Co., Inc.;

Hamilton Roofing Co., Kiva Gift Shop, Ruidoso Rotary Club, Arrowhead Motel, Miller Distributing, Mt. Vue Drive-In Theatre, John's Standard Station, Lamplighter Motel, Richard Parson, Party Time, Gateway Texaco Station and Puerta del Sol.

"This year's drive," Cothrun said, "was originally scheduled for May 28, only, but due to a number of factors, a number of the card contacts could not be made. We are, however, making every effort to wrap it up right away."



SMOKE FROM THE BEAR FIRE hung over the White Mountain Wilderness early Wednesday morning, where a crew of 98 men, using hand tools only, were expected to have the fire contained by Wednesday night. Meanwhile the George Fire, at 375 acres early Wednesday, was being fought by 130 men with five ground tankers and two dozers. Five slurry planes from Alamogordo and four helicopters from the Ruidoso base camp were assisting the fire fighters. Damage Wednesday morning was pegged at $1,055,000 including $449,000 to timber, $456,000 to watershed and $150,000 to recreation, aesthetics and wildlife. Damage to private property was limited to range fences. (Ruidoso News Photo)

IN THE WINNER'S CIRCLE at Ruidoso Downs, track president Al Rosa delivers a $3,000 check to Barbara DiPaolo, left, and Linda Posey, fulfilling Rosa's pledge to match up to $3,000 in donations to insure the success of the Ruidoso Downs Village Beautification Project to landscape and improve the Highway 70 median. It is anticipated the three-mile beautification project will be completed by June 2. (Ruidoso News Photo)

Water in Ruidoso in short supply

Water for the village of Ruidoso is in short supply—due to drouth conditions, coupled with the delay in installation of new pumping equipment to utilize the 7,500,000 gallons of additional storage under construction—and all residents are being urged by A. E. Nash, water superintendent, "to use water sparingly and exercise good judgment in its use until the new system is hooked in."

Paradoxically, Nash said Tuesday, "There is plenty of water," with the problem being, "it can't be delivered as fast as it is being used."

Another factor dictating voluntary restriction in the use of water is the imminent threat of fire. "We're all aware of the danger of fire," city manager James Hine said Tuesday, "and all of us must conserve water as a safeguard against this eventuality."

The necessary material, to complete installation of the new pumping and storage system, was due to arrive in Ruidoso, "Tuesday or Wednesday of this week," Jack Kannady, Sr., village engineer, said Tuesday.

Installation crews are here and can "start working immediately to finish the project," upon receipt of the needed equipment, Kannady said.

Once installation is complete, washing and sterilization of the lines will require a week, Kannady added, after

Local man linked to MJ case

An aircraft, registered to Bob Bryant and Alpine Aviation, with offices in Ruidoso and El Paso, was seized by officers Wednesday night at Sunland Park airport in connection with the seizure of approximately 1,400 pounds of marijuana.

The plane, an Aero Commander, was located and impounded by U. S. Customs agents. The pilot, unidentified as of Thursday morning, escaped.

Specialist in landscaping working on Downs project

The beautification of the three-mile stretch of Highway 70 median through Ruidoso Downs, rapidly nearing completion, is under the supervision of Bruce Wallace, a landscaper who has worked from Mexico to Canada prior to his arrival in the Ruidoso area about six months ago.

Wallace is project manager, directing the planting of cactus, trees and shrubs on the median. "Red, white and blue aggregate will be added to complete the landscaping," Wallace said Monday, "and we are planning to elevate planter beds."

His past projects include Six Flags Over Texas, landscaping of Holiday Inns north and south across the U. S., including other business and residential contracts and the recently completed 30 miles of highway beautification at Houston, Texas.

Wallace studied horticulture and botany at Louisiana State University, Baton Rouge, and landscape architecture at Tulane University, New Orleans. "I plan on developing a landscaping and nursery business here," he said, "because of the need for creative work to utilize the worlds of plants that can be adapted to this altitude and climate."

"The Ruidoso Downs Beautification Committee," Mrs. Linda Posey said Monday, "feels that we are indeed lucky to find this man to supervise our project for a very nominal fee, to help him get established here . . . and we welcome him to our area."

Trials, Mescalero-Apache Handicap highlight action

Trials for the $375,000 (est.) Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity June 23 and the Mescalero-Apache Handicap at 6½ furlongs Sunday headline the action at Ruidoso Downs through Sunday.

Twelve 350-yard heats were run Thursday and 12 more are on tap today (Friday), marking the inauguration of a "double elimination" trials for the Kansas Quarter Horse Futurity to avoid having to schedule as many as 24 trial heats in one day, as was the case last year. 230 juveniles are making the trial runs.

Under the new system the horses recording the top 25 times Thursday, and again Friday, will advance into final elimination trials June 8, with 50 hopefuls in five trial dashes, after which they'll qualify in the regular way. The top 10 June 8 will run in the grand finale June 23, the second 10 will make the first consolation and the last ten will run in the second consolation.

The turf weekend includes 12-race cards Saturday and Sunday, with the highlight being the Mescalero-Apache Handicap Sunday at 6½ furlongs, with the top sprinters in the southwest vying for the $4,500-added purse. Top names in this event include Mr. Tattoo, Cutarusty, Wit 'N Wisdom, Bottle A., Nevada Phil and Stubby's Kid.

Heza Charger, Sinn Fein and Showum Jet figure to be the heavyweights in Friday's (today) trial heats.

Heza Charger has bankrolled $50,000 this year by winning his trial heat in the Blue Ribbon Downs Futurity Jan. 1, and March 3 when he won the R. B. Vinavida Futurity. His last win was $36,106 in the Texas Futurity.

Sinn Fein's bank account stands at $23,782 with a third in the Sun Country Futurity and a fourth in the West Texas Futurity.

Showum Jet, with $50,000 earned, won the West Texas Futurity by half a length, after which he finished sixth in the Sun Country Futurity.

Other big names in Friday's action will be Lady Bug Five, I Can Go, Jetting Laura, Easy Tonto and Becky's Jet.

Also included in the handicap will be Let's Get Started, Best Performance, Nuspirit and Holy Stone.

Post time each day will be 1:30.

The Navajo Lodge is adding a lounge to their hotel accommodations to be known as "The Frontier Room." The whole atmosphere of the lounge will be one of the Gay Nineties of Old Lincoln County. The front bar is of heavy marble and mahogany and the back bar of mahogany and heavy leveled mirrors, typical of those seen in the old days.

In keeping with this theme, the whole interior will be decorated to create the illusion of stepping back over a half century into the days of the old West. Old fashioned lighting fixtures, heavy harvest oak tables, chairs and bar stools, carpeted floors, old doors, even to a swinging door between two of the rooms.

The piano in the lounge will be an old one unearthed in the Pecos Valley and this instrument dates back to the Chisholm Trail days.

May 23, the City Council of the Village of Ruidoso called a meeting of the Planning Board, representatives from the Coordinating Council, The Board of Trustees of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley General Hospital, and the Ruidoso Lions Club, to discuss ways and means of raising additional money needed to equip and furnish rooms at the new hospital.

For a big opening program Friday night, Fred Richardson and Jack DiPaolo have booked Johnny Mathis and the Hayride Band, at the old Ruidoso Gym, now remodeled and redecorated.

The new owners of the recreation place are offering a $25 prize for a name for the gym. Other big name bands are to be booked for the balance of the summer season.

Adding much to the beauty and civic facilities of growing Ruidoso is the new Chamber of Commerce building on Main Road at the entrance of Two Rivers Park. Inaugurated this year, the service is known as the Ruidoso Tourist Accommodation Association.

Indian Hills Subdivision, a restricted residential area being developed by Dan D. Swearingin, Inc., will be open for public inspection Monday, June 1

Water mains are in, fire hydrants installed, the main streets graveled and graded and almost every piece of the more than 40 homesites offer a fantastic view of the Playground area.

Game Dept. tells hunting seasons

The State Game Commission adopted two major deer season changes during its big game seasons meeting recently in Santa Fe, adopting shorter seasons in moves to reduce hunting pressure.

After some debate, the commission upheld the decision it made last year establishing a 16-day deer season for 1974, with a nine-day season in the southwest only, and eliminating the separate north-south opening dates.

Nine-day seasons will be in effect state-wide in 1975, according to the regulations adopted.

The 1974 season will open state-wide on Nov. 9 and run through Nov. 24 in the northern and southeast quadrants of the state and through Nov. 17 in the southwest quadrant, where nine-day seasons have been in effect for several years.

The 1975 nine-day season will open in all quadrants on the second Saturday of November and run through the third Sunday.

In other big game season action, the Commission voted to reopen the Manzanos to hunting, with a limit of 800 permits, and changed the Sandia bow-hunt regulations. Under the new Sandia bow-hunt regulations, both the east and west slopes will be hunting simultaneously during a split season, Oct. 19-Nov. 3 and Dec. 14-Jan. 26.

A limited season was set on Oryx and Ibex allowing the first public hunting of these species anywhere in the United States. Five Oryx licenses for residents only and four Ibex licenses with one designated for a nonresident will be issued by public drawing.

The seasons, as adopted are:

AND NOW A WORD FROM OUR CREATOR:

"Love Your Neighbor"

Water main essential for healthy lawn

Healthy turfgrass requires water in every stage of its life cycle. The processes of seed germination, tissue formation, and food manufacture require adequate amounts of moisture.

One very important purpose of water in the soil is its function as a solvent and carrier of some plant food. Nutrients dissolved in soil water are absorbed by the grass roots.

Water is important as a coolant for turf. It equalizes the temperature of the grass by the cooling effect of evaporation. Grass will wilt when the soil is not able to supply moisture as fast as it is evaporated from the leaves. Soils vary in their moisture supplying capacity. Heavy clay soils can store as much as 2-3 inches of moisture per foot of depth, while sandy soils can only store about 1 inch per foot of depth. For this reason, the frequency of irrigation, and the amount of water applied is a vital part of any turf management program. Poor management can result in wilting if moisture is not adequate.

Under New Mexico conditions, an average lawn will use one-fifth of an inch of moisture per day during the growing season. Lawns on sandy soils need to be watered about every five days, and lawns on heavy soils should be watered every ten to fifteen days. Proper watering is one of the easiest ways to guarantee an attractive, healthy lawn.

Adequate soil moisture also assures development and activity of the soil microorganisms that decompose dead roots and other organic residues. Some of these organisms also convert commercial and organic nitrogen fertilizer to a form that is available to the plant. Good decomposition also adds humus which in turn improves the moisture-holding capacity of the soil.

which the new facility will start producing treated water for immediate use. Kannady estimated, "if crews can start work immediately, the system will be operational within two weeks."

Kannady also noted that the new supply of water will be available for use as soon as the pumping operation is functional and that it will not be necessary to fill the storage tanks prior to releasing the water.

Hine noted an increase in the number of metered connections within the village as one of the factors necessitating the additional water pumping and storage project. In April of 1972 there were 2,625 metered users, in April of '73, 2,842 and in April of '74, 3,106, a two year increase of 481.

"The growth in use of water meters, plus the delay in completion of the increased water storage facility, has created our problems in supplying all of the water our residents want to use," Hine said.

At the completion of the present project the village will have a supply of 10,000,000 gallons of treated water available, as compared to 2,500,000 gallons at present.

Pending completion of the new production facility, all residents are being urged by Hine to voluntarily conserve water.

Dear Lincoln County Voters:

I am seeking the elective position of Lincoln County Treasurer, subject to the Lincoln County Republican Primary Election, June 4th.

May I take just a few minutes of your time to share with you some of my qualifications which I sincerely feel will be, if I am elected, beneficial to you as a Lincoln County Taxpayer.

I am sure you will agree that my having lived and paid county taxes in Lincoln County for the last twenty-five years gives me a true and valid basis for understanding Lincoln County's great assets as well as the County's past problems, present needs and future growth possibilities.

During my twenty-five years residency in Lincoln County, I owned and managed the Ruidoso Food Mart in Ruidoso for twenty years. I sold the store last year and can devote my full time to the county treasurer's responsibilities

I have served on Ruidoso area elective positions for a total of seventeen years. During my tenure of elective responsibilities on the Ruidoso Village Council, I served one term as Mayor and two terms as councilman.

I am also very proud of the fact that while I was a member of the Ruidoso Independent School Board, an elective school district position, two of the educational plants now in use by the school system were constructed. I was privileged to serve on the school board for nine years.

It is my honest belief that my many years in private business, which also includes serving as a member of the board of banking institution, and the public elective offices I have held, gives me an added edge regarding necessary qualifications to serve as your County Treasurer.

I assure you, if I am elected as your County Treasurer, I will at all times consider the position as a matter of your trust and will aim at being a good steward of your tax dollars. I will maintain the County Treasurer's Office on a definite business status with the very best possible efficiency, courtesy and friendliness.

I humbly solicit your vote and influence in the June 4th primary election.

Sincerely Yours,
/s/Warren Tucker

"This award," principal Franklin McKay said in making the presentation, "is especially significant because it recognizes our senior with the highest scholastic standing in science subjects."

The science award, a bronze medal, is presented annually to winners in upwards of 8,600 participating schools in the U. S. More than 30 percent of the winners, surveys indicate, pursue scientific careers.

Dear Cowboy and Family:

My wife and I will never forget this past weekend in Ruidoso. Cowboy, I think you and the Ruidoso Valley Ambassadors did a great job. It's amazing to me how a small city in the mountains of New Mexico could have provided such a program. I think Mr. Harvey is one of the greatest men I have ever met and it was you and your committee that provided us with the opportunity to meet him.

We will always be in your debt and will try in some way to repay you. The next time you're in Lubbock, call us or come by or spend the night. We'd be glad to have you.

Sincerely,
Kenn and Cletus Smith

Dear Don:

I can't remember when my wife and I have had a better time than we did this past weekend.

You should be extremely proud of your Ruidoso Valley Ambassadors, especially Cowboy Stokes and his family, for the warm hospitality and friendship which they extended to us.

I don't know of a way in the world we can repay you and your organization but if there is, you better let me know!

We have always wanted to meet Mr. Harvey personally but never got the chance. You provided us with the opportunity, and again we are indebted to you.

Honestly, if there is anything that I, personally, or my committee (President's Ambassadors) can do for you please let us know.

Sincerely,
Kenn Smith, Chairman

Dear Richard:

I want to thank you for a most memorable weekend. I know you are proud of the Ruidoso Valley Ambassadors' Committee, but I want you to know that we are proud of them also. They did as fine a job as I have seen, especially Cowboy Stokes and his family. My wife and I were treated royally.

If at any time I or my committee can be of any help please let us know.

P. O. Box 698

Dear Mike:

We would like to thank you, your Board, Chamber staff and Ambassadors for a most enjoyable weekend in Ruidoso with Paul Harvey. It is always a pleasure to visit Ruidoso but this weekend was outstanding. Your Chamber and your City are to be commended for your enthusiasm which has been generated and we trust that it will continue for many years to come. As a tourist oriented community, you certainly know how to treat your "temporary citizens".

We would like to take this means also through you to congratulate and thank your Gold Coats for the hospitality they extended as hosts to the visiting "VIP's". Most especially we thank Bill and Cathy Dean for serving so graciously. They are assets to your community and Chamber. You were most fortunate in having Paul Harvey as your speaker for the banquet. He is undoubtedly the best speaker we've ever heard, and he very definitely knows how to hold his audience. The association you have with the track was great and we are most grateful to them for their hospitality.

Thank you again for a most pleasant weekend in Ruidoso and may we wish you a very successful 1974-75 year in your chamber.

Dear Richard:

President Randy Burroughs and I congratulate you on a most successful weekend with Paul Harvey. Not only your staff, your Ambassadors and your Chamber members go all out, but it seems that the entire city was on an extra high plain for this outstanding event. Hospitality extended by your motel people, the track and in general the people who were involved was outstanding.

We especially want to commend Emma and Ginny for being so pleasant and helpful under most trying conditions. You have an outstanding staff. We have talked with many of the Alamogordo people who attended and they have nothing but praise for the banquet and Mr. Harvey's talk. It's amazing that any one man can hold his audience spellbound for an hour and ten minutes. He is truly the best speaker I have ever heard.

June and I were most grateful to Bill and Cathy Dean for hosting us. They are a great couple and we enjoyed their company very much.

Once again please accept our appreciation for allowing us to be a part of your annual meeting and a most pleasant weekend.

Dear Richard:

I had a wonderful time in Ruidoso last Saturday. I believe it was one of the best Chamber banquets I have ever attended. You are to be commended for the way it was put together. I thoroughly enjoyed Paul Harvey's speech — it was great. Thank you for the invitation and all of the good hospitality.

Please thank Palisades condominiums and Tom and Mozelle Kirk for us. I do not know either one's address, but they were gracious hosts and the accommodations were excellent.

Once again, thank you for everything. If I can help you in Odessa, please let us know.

Dear Richard:

You certainly run a very fine meeting! I thought the presentation and the overall program Saturday night was one of the best — most professional — I have ever attended. Milda and I were really proud of you.

May I thank you very sincerely for the recognition. It couldn't have been done, however, without the help of a number of people. But we do very much appreciate it.

We will be back around the 20th of June for the Kansas telecast and perhaps we will have a chance to visit some that weekend. I look forward to seeing you. If you get any ideas, please let me know. Incidentally, we are still looking for some clients on the Kansas and the Rainbow telecasts this summer.

Just a note to express our appreciation for the fantastic weekend which you had planned for the VIP's from the surrounding towns to visit Ruidoso. My wife and I were impressed and I know that you will have a very successful summer because of your fine facility as well as the attitude of your people toward visitors and vacationers coming to your fine city.

As soon as the pictures are developed that were taken at the breakfast, I will send them to you. I surely hope they are good.

As a member of the Lubbock Chamber of Commerce Ambassador Club, I again want to thank you for extending to us this fine invitation. I hope that someday we will be able to reciprocate.

Dear Don,

I would like to personally thank you for the delightful weekend my wife Nancy and I had. I have never seen such a full schedule and, needless to say, we enjoyed every minute of it. Our escorts, Bob and Ina Ethridge, were the perfect host and hostess and made us feel right at home. They are fun people. It was a thrill to go to the races, even if we didn't come out big winners. Paul Harvey could have gone on talking for another hour as far as we were concerned. All in all, it was a great weekend, and the Ruidoso Valley Ambassadors are the greatest.

I certainly hope that sometime in the future we here at Holloman AFB can reciprocate and make you feel as welcome as you made us. Again, thanks for a memorable weekend.

We want to thank you for inviting us to Ruidoso last weekend. Everyone was very cordial during our stay, and our host and hostess (Chuck and Linda Pankey) were especially gracious and helpful.

Thank you, also, for having Paul Harvey as the guest speaker. The banquet was the highlight of our visit, although we enjoyed the color and pageantry of the afternoon.

Thank you, again, for an enjoyable weekend.

As this was our first visit to Ruidoso and the races it was especially eventful to us.

Having lived in Oregon, Colorado, Missouri, Kansas and now New Mexico, your part of New Mexico is unexcelled in beauty. Mr. and Mrs. Beumer were the most gracious hosts and we certainly shall return.

Dear Mr. Cothrun,

My wife and I sincerely thank you, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, and the A-Frame Cabins for a wonderful weekend. Bill and Evonne Seelbach were great hosts. We very much enjoyed the banquet Saturday night and the opportunity to hear a great American like Paul Harvey.

I had never seen a horse race. Furthermore, frankly, I didn't care about seeing a horse race. But I can assure you, I'm "hooked" now, and will be back soon.

Your community and the Chamber have a great thing going, and I congratulate you. I hope I can be of service to you sometime in the future.

Thanks again.

Please extend my appreciation to Bill Seelbach who was a most gracious host. As a matter of fact we found everyone in Ruidoso most pleasant and cordial.

Dear Richard:

Congratulations to you and the 347 members of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce on the annual Chamber banquet. My wife and I were fortunate enough to represent the Institute for Rural Development at the banquet and were never so impressed by an annual banquet.

We both know that a majority of Chamber members and guests will attend an annual banquet because of the speaker; Paul Harvey was an exceptional choice as guest speaker.

Mr. Harvey inspires even his enemies in the news media because of his honest and enthusiastic approach to life and living. I believe many of your members will rekindle their support for Chamber work and activities due to their witness of the success of your banquet.

In my position, I attend numerous Chamber banquets, and I'm happy to say that I've found none to compare with the banquet the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce planned and hosted.

Please express my congratulations and thanks for a splendid banquet to Mike Larkey, the directors, and all of the members of your organization.

STUPH & JUNK . . . by

Agape . . .

Friend bride . . . Kay . . . is here. Been here going on two weeks. 'Twas five years ago . . . June 6. . . . we pledged our troth . . . and, due to my propensity for embracing opportunity, our pledges have been somewhat strained . . but our troth . . . every couple should have it so good.

'Twas May 10 when she put her dictation pad away . . . covered her electric typewriter . . . after translating her last shorthand notes . . . indoctrinated her replacement as private secretary to the veep-treasurer of Otter Tail Power Co., in Fergus Falls, MN . . . and, after a bit of conviviality with her Minneapolis pals . . . came to Ruidoso.

Since her arrival she's been gasping . . . for breath . . . in utter amazement at the mountains. The altitude at Fergus is about 1200 ft. Nuf said. And if you'd stack all of the hills within 50 miles of Fergus into one heap, atop the traffic circle, they'd not impede the view of Old Baldy.

She really hasn't had any problems . . . outside of me . . . the past two weeks . . . unless of course, you consider that she neglected to bring her electric can opener . . . and she's been having a tough time getting me to open food cans with a beer wrench. What with that being sacrilegious . . . and all.

So far, in our perambulations, the bi-lingual aspects of the community have become apparent . . . and she's enjoying eavesdropping on the Spanish . . . which is all Greek to her . . . and me. But she'll have her day . . . seeing as she reads, writes and speaks Finnish.

Which leaves me with a problem. Should I tell her I know Bob Kuitu? If I do . . . and Kay and Bob get together . . I'll tell you for sure . . . someone will be confused. Like me.

Polls time . . .

The day of reckoning is at hand . . . like, June 4 . . . when you voters will have to reckon with which candidate you should vote for . . . and why.

The important thing is . . . go vote. Don't let "George" do it. That's what happened in China . . . Russia . . Cuba. Everyone was apathetic . . . even George . . and before anyone knew it . . . no one could go to the polls and cast a ballot that counted. Not even George.

Drouth time . . .

'Cording to the word that's out, there's a shortage of water . . . even though a few homeowners were giving their lawns a bit of a drink Sunday . . . and to these stalwarts I give Stuph & Junk's bouquet of stink weed, intertwined with poison ivy.

'Twas Monday . . . just before the taverns opened . . . when I sat down to quaff a cuppa cawfee . . . right beside a chap with mighty peculiar looking eyes . . the whites were red . . . and he was fidgeting . . like, man, he was quick . . . and he wasn't enjoying his coffee . . I could tell . . . it didn't have a head.

"You all know," he sez to me he sez, "this water shortage is a buncha bunk . . . why, you can use beer just about anyplace you can use water . . . like in soup, stew, pancakes . . . makes great biscuits . . . all fluffy and crusty."

My voluble stool mate eyed me. Curiously. Glanced at the clock. Grinned. "And, you know . . in a pinch you can even drink the stuff . . . and I've been known to . . . if some ol' boy'll buy."

BRIEF BIT: One reason people like horse racing better than the dogs is that no horse ever answered a "post time call" in the middle of a dash . . . CD

BUT AVOID THE CLIFF

"The thread of energy runs through so many areas of human endeavor that it creates not only a conflict between various people, but leads to difficult problems of fairness and equity within each thinking person's spectrum of concerns. . . . What is at stake is a whole diversity of value systems which exist, at least in people's minds, as independent and unrelated areas of human concern." —Mrs. Marvin R. Gustavson.

"The drunken driver," reports a publication of the Farmers Elevator Mutual Insurance Co., "is the most deadly killer on the highway. At any given time, it is estimated that only four or five percent of the drivers on the roads are drunk. However, this group is responsible for at least half of the highway deaths that occur each year."

You'll find all your lawn and garden needs at Gambles of Ruidoso.

RALLY FOR CHAVEZ

A barbecue and rally will be held for Tibo Chavez at Belen June 2, 1 to 7 p.m., and an invitation has been issued to Lincoln County residents to attend.

Itemize House Tax Deductions

One of the financial benefits of home ownership versus rental is that you are immediately eligible to deduct a good-sized amount of money from your income tax. As a homeowner, you will generally find it to your advantage to itemize deductions rather than taking the standard deduction.

This is especially true during the earlier years of home ownership. The mortgage interest and real property taxes on your personal residence, when added to other deductible items will usually be well in excess of any standard deduction you could claim.

Your home payment may consist of several parts: an amount placed in escrow to pay real estate taxes and fire insurance, FHA mortgage insurance premiums, and an amount applied to reduce the principal of the mortgage. Of these parts, only the interest and taxes are deductible — but that will prove to be a very sizable figure.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Photogenic Puppy

Irene was so captivated by her new puppy that she took him to a neighborhood photographer for a sitting. The pictures were knockouts. In fact, the photographer decided to sell copies to an advertising agency.

Learning of his intentions, Irene hastened into court for a stop order. And the court granted her request. The judge said that when a customer hires a photographer to take pictures, the pictures become the exclusive property of the customer.

This is the usual rule. While the photographer may retain possesion of the negatives, he ordinarily has no right to sell copies without the customer's consent.

It is a different story, however, if the photographer, instead of being hired for the job, takes the picture on his own initiative. Consider this case:

A free lance photographer, putting together an exhibit of his work, took pictures of a prominent businessman. The pictures were his own idea, and he charged nothing for taking them.

Under these circumstances, a court held that the businessman —even though he bought several prints for himself—had no right to pass them along for use in a magazine.

And a free lance photograph of a street scene would not give ownership rights to people who happened to appear in the picture.

A borderline case arose when a photographer was asked to take pictures of a high school graduating class. Was he entitled to the copyright?

Admittedly, the initiative for the picture had come from the students. Still, they had not promised him any payment at all. He could cash in only if the students should decide, afterward, to order prints.

A court ruled that in all fairness, the copyright did belong to the photographer. Since he was taking that much risk, reasoned the court, he was entitled to that much reward.

Approval given for Lincoln contracts

Paul Pacheco, Chairman of the Lincoln County Commissioners, announced today that word has been received that the Lincoln Water Contracts have been approved. Authorization has been given to proceed with construction of the Water System for the community of Lincoln.

Commissioner Pacheco stated that he was very happy that the long struggle for water in Lincoln was at last coming to an end.

This project was begun several years ago, but was finally moved off of high center last fall. Mr. Pacheco stated that through the combined effort of the citizens of the Lincoln Mutual Domestic Water Consumer's Association, Edward Penfield and Bill Payne, Attorney, the dream is finally being realized.

DIARRHEA IN INFANTS

Diarrhea in a baby—whether it be a mild or serious case—can be a major cause of concern to any mother who is unsure of what to do.

Once a major cause of infant death, diarrhea is still a common illness for most babies at least once during their early childhood.

Causes of diarrhea vary with the seasons, and usually the exact germ responsible for the illness is never identified. Mothers, however, should know how to determine the difference between a mild case which they can treat, and a serious one which should be seen by a doctor.

If your baby has severe diarrhea which is accompanied by vomiting, a fever, or his refusal to take liquids, take him to the doctor immediately. This kind of diarrhea can quickly use all the fluids in a young baby's body and cause him to go into shock which is dangerous to his life.

The most important thing you can do for a mild diahhrea is to stop giving the baby milk. Although milk is very important for a baby nutritionally, it can make diarrhea worse. A temporary diet without milk lets your baby's bowels rest.

You can substitute clear liquids for milk when your baby has mild diarrhea. A clear liquid is basically anything you can see through, such as jello made with double the usual amounts of water, weak teas including herb tea, and defizzed soda pop. If you use weak tea, be sure to boil the water and add sugar (one teaspoon to each six ounces of tea). Don't feed the baby salt or salty fluids if he has diarrhea.

There are several things you can do to help prevent diarrhea. Always wash your hands before you feed the baby and use clean utensils to feed him. Breastfeeding, or the use of well-refrigerated or canned milk ensures a safe milk supply.

If your baby does have diarrhea and you have any additional questions on what to do about it, don't hesitate to call your doctor or clinic for help.

Cancer society sets Ruidoso meeting

Miss Vicki Henderson of the Ruidoso-Hondo Valley General Hospital staff has been informed that Ruidoso will be the site of a very important meeting. The American Cancer Society will be holding its annual district meeting for volunteers on Saturday, June 1, at the Holiday House from 8:30 a.m. to 1.30 p.m.

Miss Henderson stated that the program will be one of interest to many Lincoln County residents. There will be an orientation given on the American Cancer Society's programs of public education, patient service and rehabilitation and crusade. Miss Henderson stated that in her experience in the New Mexico Tumor Registry, she learned that Lincoln County direly needs to have an American Cancer Society unit. She said that by attending this orientation, local residents can learn how to organize to fight this dread disease.

Every interested person in the county is invited to attend this meeting and see how volunteers throughout Southern New Mexico are working to reach the American Cancer Society goal "We Want to Wipe Out Cancer in Your Lifetime". We here in Lincoln County can organize to fight cancer by learning how at this meeting.

Bright Idea!

Use The Right Light Bulb

By using only the recommended bulb wattage in lighting fixtures in your home . . . you'll save electricity and money. Using larger bulbs than necessary wastes electricity. Also . . . you'll get more light for your money if you use the smallest number of bulbs that will give the light you need. For instance, one 100-watt bulb gives more light than three 40-watt bulbs or two 60-watt bulbs. Wherever possible . . . use fluorescent lighting. A 40-watt fluorescent gives more light than a 100-watt incandescent. Use lamps and other spot lighting for reading, studying or other closeup work and choose the "standard" life bulb that provides the most lumens for its wattage.

Is COMPETITION a four letter word?

It depends.

There are times when competition does get low and dirty. Then, it can, and should, fall into the four-letter category. This kind of dog-eat-dog thing turns most of us off. And, leaves a bad taste in our mouths for the whole system.

But, please, don't let a few ugly trees spoil your view of the whole forest.

Remember, that there are businesses, national manufacturers and local retailers, who have competed with each other for years and years in an ethical, positive way. Each works for his share of the market by improving his products, merchandising and services. (Most businessmen realize that the throat you cut may, eventually, be your own.) And, look what they are competing for: the consumer's favor! Yours and mine! We are constantly being courted with more attractive products and services at competitive (there's that word again) prices. So, the end result is that we can get more, better and for less.

Now, with a benefit like that, competition can't be all bad.

Search is on for Maid of Cotton

Want to be New Mexico's Maid of Cotton for 1974?

If so, you must be between the ages of 19 and 23 and meet other basic requirements, says Joe Clark, Mesilla Park, chairman of the state Maid of Cotton committee. You must be at least 5 feet 5 inches tall and must have been born in a cotton-producing state or moved to one prior to the age of 7. Ability to meet people as a representative of the cotton industry is also important, Clark says.

The state winner receives an expense-paid trip to the National Maid of Cotton Contest in Memphis, Tenn., later in the year and $500 for the purchase of a wardrobe for the national contest. She will represent the state's Cotton Industry at various functions throughout the year, including an appearance at the State Fair in Albuquerque, where she will be a feature attraction. Miss Sandy Mayfield of Las Cruces is reigning Maid of Cotton.

For application forms and details about the contest, contact Joe Clark, chairman, P. O. Box 278, Mesilla Park, phone 526-8641, any other member of the Committee, or any cotton gin manager in your area.

The 1974 contest will be conducted at the Chaparral Hotel, Ruidoso Downs, July 12, as the grand finale and highlight of the annual meeting of the New Mexico Cotton Ginners' Association. There is no admission charge, and the public is cordially invited to enjoy the colorful pageant. Preliminary judging will begin at 2:30 p.m. and the finals at 8 p.m. Judges will select first and second runners up and the 1974 Maid of Cotton.

The contest is sponsored annually by the New Mexico Cotton Ginners' Association.

Members of the State Maid of Cotton Committee, each representing a segment of the cotton industry, are Joe Clark, (ginners), chairman, Mesilla Park; Ivy Clark, (pageant co-ordinator), co-chairman, Mesilla Park; Ellis Parks, (ginners-Chaves County co-ordinator), Roswell; Wesley McClendon, (ginners-Luna County co-ordinator), Deming; Tommy Simpson, (producers), Las Cruces; Paul Francis, (warehouseman), Artesia; R. H. (Bob) Squires, merchants-cooperatives), El Paso; Albert Carter, (crushers), Carlsbad; DeVaun Richins, (producers), Animas.

We have anything you might need for that fishing trip you're planning. Gambles of Ruidoso.

DIRECTOR HONORED — Charlotte Jarratt, director of the Lincoln County Senior Citizens Center, was honored by members of the group at the May Birthday party (which was also her birthday month) with a gift and scroll signed by the members. Letters To The Editor

May 28, 1974

Dear Mr. Lane:

This is a matter of great importance to me, otherwise I would not have taken the time to write. It concerns the law as it applies to the rights of bicyclists. Though many motorists don't realize it, we do definitely have rights. My story follows.

It was a beautiful spring evening, T-shirt weather and ideal for an afternoon cycle ride. I left my house and proceeded down Highway 37 past the drive-in towards town. As I crested the big hill just before Bennett's and the steep descent, I noticed the gravel strewn on the shoulder of the road.

I sped down the hill, enjoying the wind flying in my face, but at the same time, as always, I was on the lookout for hazards. In this area the hazards are mostly careless or antagonistic motorists. I slowed down and sure enough a truck pulled out right in front of me nearly hitting me and forcing me to the other side of the street, into the oncoming flow of traffic.

Luckily there wasn't much gravel and plenty of room for both me and cars in both lanes. I slowed down as I approached the bridge over the Rio Ruidoso noticing an oncoming car in the close lane. He had more than ample room to pass. But instead, surprisingly, he came right at me. I had no alternative but to abandon the bike. Unfortunately, this evasive action resulted in about 15 stitches in my forehead. As the car sped away, and I lay bleeding at the roadside, a passing pedestrian came to my aid and took me to the hospital.

There is no contest between a 25-pound bike and a 3,000 pound car and the point I'm trying to make here is that car drivers should be as cautious around bicyclists as we are around them. Also, motorists are held liable in any hit and run incident but this shouldn't be the incentive for stopping and helping. The reason should be compassion for your fellow man and just plain common sense.

All in all, it seems to me that a deeper sense of responsibility should be exercised on both sides to prevent incidents of this kind in the future. After all, cars aren't toys and neither is life.

Sincerely,
Rick Mafit

By FRED BUCKLES

LORDSBURG - DEMING — The primary campaign came down to the wire with Tibo Chavez, Terry Apodaca and Odis Echols the apparent Democratic leaders and Joe Skeen, the Republican frontrunner in the governor chase.

After covering the campaign in 21 counties we developed this assessment:

Guadalupe County — Chavez and Apodaca in the Democratic primary; Skeen in the GOP hassle. Chavez will carry Guadalupe next Tuesday.

Taos County — Chavez and Apodaca; Eastham and Skeen in the GOP primary. Lincoln County rancher Skeen's chief rival is Jack Eastham, Albuquerque attorney.

Colfax — Chavez and Apodaca; Skeen.

Hidalgo County — Chavez and Apodaca; Skeen by a wide margin.

Luna County — Apodaca and Chavez; Skeen easily.

Valencia County — Chavez with a big margin; also Apodaca with four other candidates battling for the balance. Sen. Odis Echols, Clovis, has support in the Grants area. Drew Cloud, Albuquerque, will likely run third in the Belen-Los Lunas area. Eastham may carry Valencia over Skeen.

Lea County — Bob Mayfield of Albuquerque and Chavez. Apodaca has a strong, young campaign corps in Lea. Skeen in the Republican primary by a wide margin.

Eddy — Eddy County is difficult to assess. Chavez and Apodaca enjoy labor support. Mayfield has substantial backing. Cloud, an Eddy County native, has a corps of support. Skeen will carry the light GOP vote.

Chaves — Chavez and Mayfield. Skeen by a big margin. Skeen was born in Roswell. Democrats are resurging in Chaves. They may topple Republicans this year in county and legislative races.

Otero County — Mayfield, Chavez and Apodaca. Skeen in the GOP primary.

Quay County — Echols, Mayfield in the Democratic primary. Skeen in the Republican governor scrap.

Curry — Echols easily in his home county. Mayfield and Chavez also have Curry County strength. Cloud appeals to farmers and ranchers. Skeen will carry Curry in a light Republican vote. Eastham has worked for support here.

San Miguel — Chavez and Apodaca enjoy organization support. Skeen and Eastham battling for the Republican vote. Long-established Republicans support Skeen but Eastham's wife, the former Jo Ann Tapia, is an ex-Las Vegas resident.

McKinley — Chavez and Apodaca; Skeen.

Grant — Apodaca and Chavez will divide the big labor vote. Echols will get a substantial vote. Skeen heavily in the Republican primary.

Dona Ana County — Jerry Apodaca will carry his home Dona Ana County by a big margin. Jerry predicts he will win 60 per cent of the Dona Ana County vote. His campaign is trying to get 70 per cent of the total vote to the polls in Dona Ana. Mayfield, a former Dona Ana County resident, will probably place second and Tibo Chavez will finish third here.

Santa Fe County — Chavez and Apodaca battling for the lead with Tibo accorded an edge because of Gov. Bruce King's support among state personnel. Santa Fe attorney Boston Witt will finish third. Witt is a former attorney general. In the GOP governor primary Santa Fe is a major battleground between Skeen and Eastham. Both have strong support.

Los Alamos County — Tibo Chavez, Echols and Witt. Latest soundings show Skeen and Eastham are waging a close battle in Los Alamos. Eastham will probably carry the county. Chavez is backed strongly here.

Sierra — The Democratic primary is tough to assess. Chavez has some support. Skeen will carry Sierra heavily in the GOP primary.

Lincoln County — Skeen will win his home county by a big margin in the GOP hassle. Chavez has some support in Lincoln which often votes Republican in general elections.

Sandoval County — Chavez and Apodaca. Skeen and Eastham are fighting for the growing Sandoval County Republican vote. Eastham will probably carry Sandoval.

Bernalillo County — Populous Bernalillo County will cast 26 per cent of the Democratic vote and nearly half of the Republican turnout. The six Democratic governor candidates will carve up Bernalillo. Apodaca's goal is 35 per cent of the vote here.

Eastham will carry his home Bernalillo County. He must pile up a big margin in Bernalillo County to withstand the expected Skeen majority in other counties.

The Bernalillo County winner in the Democratic primary may capture the governor nomination. Chavez and Apodaca have substantial Albuquerque Valley support. Mayfield and Echols look especially strong in the Heights.

San Juan County — Mayfield will probably carry conservative San Juan. Cloud has a core of strength in San Juan which seldom backs a Spanish surnamed candidate. Chavez and Apodaca have backers here but the county will support Mayfield. Skeen will win San Juan by a heavy majority.

Rio Arriba — Chavez and Apodaca. Tibo is backed by the Emilio Naranjo-Matt Chacon combination. Skeen and Eastham battling for GOP favor.

Mora — Chavez and Apodaca. Skeen and Eastham will split the GOP vote.

Socorro County — Chavez and Apodaca will divide Socorro County. Skeen appeals to farmers and ranchers here but banker Holm Bursum Jr. supports Eastham.

Roosevelt — Echols is strong in Roosevelt. Chavez's wife, the former Betty Caperton, is an ex-Portales resident. Skeen will carry Roosevelt.

In the Democratic lieutenant governor race Sen. Bob Ferguson, Artesia, and Les Houston, Albuquerque, seem to be strong. Rep. Virgil Rhodes is leading Juan Raigoza, a teacher, in the GOP lieutenant governor race.

In Passing . .

By AL LANE

You might remember an earlier comment that was made in this column about Ruidoso having only one commodity for sale — our natural beauty — and that we sincerely hoped that our candidates for political office would not nail posters to trees, telephone poles and other assorted roadside surfaces. It seems that these eyesores remain long after the elections are completed and, in many cases, are direct violations of the law. Unless the candidate has the permission of the property owner on which the placard is placed, he is in violation of the law. Utility poles are also a no-no and village property is defintely a no-no. It would appear that some of our candidates are totally ignoring the law and plastering them everywhere. Please keep this in mind as you go to the polls.

Ruidoso started the season with probably the largest crowd ever and the following Memorial week end crowd also a great one. Looks as though 1974 will be a red letter year for the area . . . Ladies of the Garden Club getting hanging planters back on the streets again. By midsummer it should be beautiful . . . You won't believe this but the state highway department has begun work on that horrible stretch of road between Elida and Portales. It appears that the road will be widened and some shoulders added . . . Texas getting some fairly good rains — if it can't be us, we're glad it's them . . .

MRS. B—

By CECELIA BARRON

Excerpts from Milk and Honey

Father went to most of the country sales for miles around and we always watched for him, to see what he was bringing home with him. These sales were where the people would become dissatisfied with the new land they had acquired, or would have to leave for some reason or other. They printed hand bills and tacked them on corner fence posts over the country, advertising what they had to sell. When the day came —an auctioneer would sell off everything they had—sometimes the house and land.

Once father bought a heater —one of the 'pot-belly' kind; and this was the time my sister came into this world.

My mother became ill while father was gone to the sale. Naturally, we did not know what was the matter with her; but she could do nothing but wait for him. He arrived just in the nick of time. He saddled his horse and rode as fast as Paul Revere 'the midnight rider' to the neighbor and on to Old Dr. Helth's. Yes, that was his real name. He had moved into the little village near us, and was loved by all the settlers.

Well, father and the doctor barely arrived in time. Mother told me later, father ran to get a bucket of water from the well, and when he came back the doctor said, "Bertha is onto her job, like an old cat having her kittens." The baby had arrived.

Through all the excitement no one thought about what father had brought from the sale. But the next morning when we discovered we had a new sister and asked where she came from, father told us he found her in the stove he brought home with him. I wondered how her blankets could have been so clean and white as the stove was real black inside and out.

My sister does not know to this day when her birthday is, as they forgot what day she was born. Father said it was one day and mother said another. Doctors did not keep a very good record in those days. My sister selected the 28th of November, as that date fell more on Thanksgiving.

It was some time after this, that I remember hog killing time. They always had to wait until the weather was apt to stay cold, so the meat would not spoil. (A refrigerator was not heard of in those days). Hog killing was always a fascination to me, from the time some one hit the hog in the head with an axe, and someone stuck it, to bleed, until it was all finished and the meat put away.

Several neighbors usually helped father, then he would help them when they butchered. We children would carry wood and help keep the fire going under the big vat, where they dipped the hogs in scalding hot water. After the hair was all scraped off, the hogs were hung up, so they could be cut open and washed down. When they were ready to be cut up, father would remove the sideboards from the wagon bed, scrub the floorboards clean and lay the hogs on them; then the wagon could be pushed around to any desired place. After the hogs were all cut up, each person began working on their particular job.

We children usually helped mother cut up the little cubes of fat, so it could be rendered in the large iron kettles. Mother would not trust any one else to cook it, as she was afraid they might get it on fire. She knew how to do it just right. Just how to fix the three legs on flat rocks so the big kettle could not tip over—just how full to fill them with the fat and just how much fire to have under the bubbling, sizzling fat, as it gradually oozed from the cracklings.

When it was time to grind the sausage, we would turn the sausage mill until we gave out, then help stuff the sausage in long tubular sacks, made of thin domestic or flour sacks. These sacks, when filled and packed tight, were dipped in melted tallow; then hung up in the smokehouse; for the tallow to harden. This served as a seal to keep the air and dust out. This sausage usually lasted all winter.

The heart, liver and brains are about the only parts of a hog that cannot be cured; so we always ate these first. Oh, yes, sweetbreads, too. Mother made head cheese and mince meat from the heads — even pickled the feet.

When she was through cooking the lard and had strained it into ten gallon cans, she emptied two or three cans of lye into the cracklings, added a little water, and made a large kettle of soap. My, but it made the clothes white and the pine floors shine.

As soon as I was old enough I learned to make crackling cornbread — mother always had me make it on hog killing day. She would save out a cup of cracklings when she was through rendering the lard and say, "Sissy, take this and make us some cornbread to eat with our beans and spare ribs." I mashed the cracklings as fine as I could get them and mixed them in the cornbread batter. When baked in a dummy stove drum, there was never a crumb left for Old Shepp.

The men usually handled the hams and shoulders to be salted down, as some of them were heavier than a little one like me. Well, we did not get hungry for a long time, for spare ribs, backbone or any part of a hog.

—Mrs. B.

ODESSA, TEXAS, AMERICAN: "Just how many gallons of gasoline did Congress and governmental bureaucrats produce last year? Zero gallons. That's how many. Politicians and bureaucrats do not produce. They consume. But the question asked and answered sheds some much needed light on the shortage problem and its solution, too. If politicians and bureaucrats did not produce a single gallon of gasoline last year and are, in fact, consumers, not producers, how can anyone capable of thinking in a straight line possibly believe that the government can solve the gasoline shortage with further decrees?"

DON'T FORGET Dad — and he will always remember a gift from Bennett's Indian Shop. Belos, cuff links, belt buckles, watch bands, tie tacks. West on Highway 70.

Your Social Security

"On June 1, many local residents will receive their monthly supplemental security income checks. This is the federal program which replaced the aid to the aged, blind, and disabled which was formerly operated by the states," Mrs. Christine Graves, social security field representative stated today.

"People getting these supplemental security payments should promptly notify the social security office of changes in their other income. Increases or decreases in other income may affect the amount of monthly supplemental security income payments," Mrs. Graves said. "People getting supplemental security income checks should report changes or expected changes in their wages, self-employment earnings, pension payments, and other income from any source except general increases in social security benefits."

Changes can be reported by contacting any social security office.

People getting supplemental security income checks should also promptly report change of address, marriage, separation, and any other circumstance that might affect their payments, according to Mrs. Graves.

The Federal supplemental security income program is run by the Social Security Administration, but the payments are made from general revenues, not from social security contributions.

Mrs. Graves may be contacted at the Ruidoso City Hall on June 11 from 10 to noon and 1 to 2.

Methodist women cancel regular meet

The regular meeting of the Community United Methodist Church women's organization has been cancelled, according to Mrs. Lois Ratcliff, president of the UMW. Members, and other ladies interested in becoming part of the service organization are asked to watch for a later announcement of the date and place of the next meeting.

First aid course draws area residents

According to Nona Brecheisen, instructor for the National Red Cross First Aid Course, a total of 24 persons participated in the training program here from April 29 to May 21. Fourteen received college credit for attending — Maurine Leonard, Billie Mulholland, Sandy Gladden, Marie McNeil, Ann Primer, Elizabeth Coe, Delton Estes, Kay Carter, Leigh Carter, Phillip Yost, Bruce Hancock, Darrell Stierwalt, Doyle Howell and LeRoy Gooch. Those receiving instruction but no college credit are Elvisa Sanchez, Jerry Kilmer, Donald Mears and Susan Keeton. For the first aid course, also with no college credit, Carol Hubbard, Robert Hubbard, Merri-Beth Ries, Kathy Phillips and Katherine Travis.

Those receiving college credit for the course are now instructors.

Larry Simon of the Ruidoso Police Department assisted Mrs. Brecheisen in giving the course.

TIBO CHAVEZ

This is a critical time for New Mexico — time for a governor whose record proves his first loyalty is to the state and its people.

Tibo Chavez has run his campaign without funds from well-financed special interests. He believes the governor of New Mexico should have only one interest: the well-being of the people of New Mexico.

Tibo Chavez believes in New Mexico and its potential:

"In many ways, New Mexico is still a pioneer state. We have as many challenges here as we did 50 or 100 years ago. We have the perfect conditions to develop solar energy as a practical source of power for new industry. We have an abundance of agricultural and mineral resources; what's needed now is leadership to develop programs that will insure New Mexicans a fair return on our own raw materials, and careful planning to insure that development does not mean the end of the attractive and healthy environment we enjoy."

Seniors have a variety of things planned for the end of school year

With 12 years of education behind them, the class of 1974 is turned loose upon the world and most are eager to begin their next step in the path of life. Of the 57 seniors interviewed, 40 planned to continue their education by going either to college or a trade school and 26 of the 40 planned to continue school somewhere in New Mexico.

Work seems to be the other choice of the seniors as almost all plan on working this summer and some plan to continue with good jobs in the Ruidoso area. Dorothy Rue plans to continue working at Ruidoso Carpet and Tile, while Theresa Apodaca is working towards a trip to California. Britt Beal would like to become a locksmith and Cincy Day is going to work at the race track this summer. Lynette Grummert is ready to settle down now and devote her time to her husband and their newly built house and Susan Morrison is preparing for her marriage and a move to her new home in Las Cruces.

Joe Bob McGuire would like to establish residency in Colorado or Arizona in hopes of further education there and he would like to travel to Canada if everything works out.

Kathy Wheelock plans to work so she can attend art school and Gene Wilson will continue working for Bill McCarty Construction. Rose West would like to work for the Civil Service while Stacie Piollet plans on joining the WAVES. Alan Hazel plans on working at the dam this summer while both Terri Mills and Junior Padilla plan on taking a hard earned rest.

Of those attending trade schools, Jerry Beard and Dale Fugate will go for a year to automotive school in Phoenix, Clyde Reynolds will go to an electrician school, Danny Daniel will attend a refrigeration school, Jo Click plans to go to a secretarial business school in Roswell and after working for a year, Bobby Arnett hopes to attend an automotive mechanics' school.

Fourteen of the seniors plan on attending New Mexico State in Las Cruces in a variety of fields: Mike Brown, forestry; Dale Butts, computer science; Casey Findley and Mark White, business management; Barbara Richardson, business; Joe Kenmore and Perry Gipson, police science and criminal law; Liz Garcia, nursing; Mike Grant, journalism and criminology; Figgy Griego, business administration; Ron Hall, astrophysics; Diorly Langford, secondary teaching (for social work); Darlene Joyce, secretarial administration; and Joni Ratliff, teaching.

Five seniors will attend Eastern New Mexico University in Portales. They are Belinda Ball in piano and math, Harlan Butts to play football, CharLee Puckett in commercial art and music, Dick Underwood pursuing general education, and Joe Everett in business and football.

UNM in Albuquerque will enroll six of this year's Ruidoso graduates. Mark Egbert will study psychology, Mark Garrity, sociology, Cheryl Hinkle, nursing, Debbie McDaniel, lab technology, Theresa Ratcliffe, dental hygiene and Weldon Scrivner, engineering.

Of the 66 graduates, 9 will attend out-of-state colleges Jeff Scribner is enrolled at Regis College in Denver, where he will pursue the liberal arts. Thane Williams is going to Brigham Young University in Provo, Utah. There he will study law and engineering. Jon Wrye will attend Harding College in Searcy, Arkansas and he will probably study mass communications. Joni Blank is going to study medicine at Texas Christian University in Ft. Worth. Leoma Botella plans to study nursing in Amarillo, Texas. Marina Cortez is enrolled at the University of Arizona at Tucson, where she will study psychology. Roger Buckley will attend Texas A. & I. in Kingsville next fall where he will pursue the field of electrical engineering. Jan Carter plans on going to school in her home state of North Dakota but she is undecided as to which school she will attend. After a trip to Europe Rod Flanagan will go to Chicago City College, where he will study photography.

Ten Speed Shift

by Galen Farrington

Every region of the country contains a unique climate which the self-propelled man (or woman) must face and adapt to. The Southwest offers the greatest challenge in the country with its dry, hot climate. There is no other climate that is more dangerous to the touring cyclist — there are others more uncomfortable but none more potentially dangerous. Let us consider some very important body chemistry before continuing.

First we have the obvious loss of body fluid and dissolved salts commonly known as perspiration. Perspiration is a necessary bodily function. It controls the temperature of the body by providing an "air cooling" effect due to evaporation and the body rids itself of various waste products thus lessening the job of the kidneys. This perspiration is considerable. The average person will lose a pint or more simply sitting in the sun for an hour.

The active cyclist will lose far more than a pint an hour (the variables concerning how much will be lost are too numerous to mention here) and this fluid must be replaced at regular intervals. Do not wait until you feel thirsty — it may be too late. Heat exhaustion is the most common affliction among two wheeled travelers.

The salt loss will be replenished with your normal diet so salt tablets are not normally necessary. I say normally because I have found that unless you are touring more than 75 miles a day you may actually upset your salt-water balance if you go to extremes.

So carry a water bottle with you and use it. I had suffered from near dehydration once because of a foolish mistake and that experience is etched in my mind never to be forgotten.

Secondly, as an active touring cyclist you will burn approximately 400 calories each hour on the bike. Now, if a conditioned person utilizes between 2400 and 2800 calories every 24 hours, six hours on the road will deplete his daily intake and put his body into overtime. And with 18 hours left in the day you may have a rough time seeing the next.

Consequently, eat before you are starving (incidently, "to starve" originally meant to die due to lack of food). Also, it is not a good idea to eat heavily, heavy exercise on a full stomach has its definite drawbacks. Instead, eat frequent light snacks and avoid oily foods whenever possible. On a tour it is nice to have a rich milkshake and know that all those fattening calories are gone an hour later.

Thirdly, your body needs periodic rest. Don't push on if you feel tired. Rest. Recuperation will be much more rapid if you rest periodically than if you try to "burn" for ten hours — only a highly developed professional cyclist can do that and live.

If you are on your first tour, stop at least every 45 minutes and rest for 15 no matter how good you feel. It will pay off at the end of the day. I can assure you that if you ride two hours straight because you feel good at the end of the second two hours, the men in white will lift you off the pavement. As you develop, you will get faster and stronger: your endurance will increase. Most of our country's top cyclists now do 100 miles in four hours or less (I saw a hundred miler in New York where the top 15 racers were under four hours) but remember, even they had to start at the bottom.

With these thoughts in mind your tour will prove very enjoyable as well as healthful.

One more thought — there have been far too many unreported accidents in town that have resulted in injury to bicyclists. In those cases that have been brought to my attention, the auto driver concerned has left the scene without so much as slowing down. So cyclists, ride with extreme caution because there are far too many auto drivers who don't care if you live or die.

The SILVER LINING

by DANIEL A. STORM

"As cold water to a thirsty soul, so is good news from a far country." From the Old Testament.

"Again, He maketh the wilderness a standing water, and water-springs of a dry ground." From Psalm of David 107.

Drouth is nothing new to our forefathers; and from away back in the story of our life, we have records of those who came before us praying to God for help in times of drouth, certain that He is their only help.

There is nothing quite like a drouth to fill you with appreciation for your blessings, and to bring home to you once again the divine power and the blessed goodness of Our Father In Heaven.

Today, Tuesday, May 28, it is all cloudy in the sky and there is a moist wave in the west wind. I see one of the most beautiful sights in the world just over the hill: those grey and purple streams coming down from above. And I know it is raining somewhere not too far away.

Last night I sat up and watched the lightning flashing over the mountain to the West, and knew that it was raining out on the desert.

So now you can take a deep breath, for you know the rain is not far away.

The Marvelous Vitality Of the Mountainside Plants

One of the marvels that comes to light in a drouth is the great staying-powers of the cedar, pinon, oak brush, and algerita of the mountainside. Especially the algerita.

There they stand happy in their hillside home, keeping the faith — un-worried, patient, secure in the knowledge that the rain will come when it is ready.

The Drouth Tells A Story of Springs

The oak brush on the hillsides has been a little slow this year about leafing out. Did it know there was to be a late cold snap? There is an old saying: "The mesquite knows." That is to say that the mesquite will never be caught with its delicate leaves and fragrant blossoms damaged by a hard frost. I notice now that the mesquite over on the dry side of the world has leafed out; and lo and behold, the oak brush on high is turning green. I guess maybe the oak was taking its signals from the mesquite. Quien Sabe?

But what I started to say was this: For a long time now, ever since early spring, here and there on the hillsides you could notice that the oak brush, and other plants, too, are out flourishing in full leaf. And it is at times of drouth that these green spots are especially noticeable; and it is then that I think of how the old timers used to say, that during the drouth was the time to watch for places where you might dig out a spring. There would be places where, during dry years, there would be signs of water not far underground. A grape vine, high on the hillside, maybe—or a walnut or wild cherry growing with its feet in a little bit of water.

Now, however, a little at a time, the hillsides are turning green so that these little wet spots under the ground will soon be hidden from view.

"I'm Going To Lay Down
My Sword and Shield
Down by the River-Side."

So goes the song. And what delight it is, during times of drouth, to be "Down by the riverside." How wonderful to see the mint, water cress, and the willows close by the clear running stream. What "Sweet Content" to listen to the song of the river. It is then we appreciate our river, oh so much.

In the evening the little frog sings beside his little pond in the river — but not a sad song like in some years gone by.

When the river is almost dry, the little frog sings (In Spanish)

"Tengo A-a-a-a-gua.
Pero muy P-o-o-o-c-o."
(I have water.
But very little).

I can not quite catch his little song right now, but it is something like saying there is plenty of water.

The little frog has learned to appreciate his river, just as you and I during the drouth, have learned to appreciate all our blessings. And one of the greatest is our friendship for one another. The drouth is about over now, so cheer up and keep smiling.

Calves Help One Another

There is one calf who is bigger and huskier than the rest who is sort of the athletic director. He gets the other calves lined up for foot races, and acts as referee in the butting contests. The littlest of the bunch, May Berry (born the first of May) is full of spunk, and is learning all he can about running and kicking so as to stay right up with the older calves in all the games.

One little bull has a voice loud enough for a grown animal almost. I call him "The Bugler." When the little calves get tired of waiting in the shade, and get hungry and begin calling for their mothers, The Bugler helps out. He will wait to see if the other calves have got an answer from their mothers. If not, he will send the far-carrying notes of his bugle echoing "from glen to glen and down the mountainside." And it is not long till the mother cows show up.

Mark Storm To Be At Art Show In Snyder, Texas

On June 22 and 23 of this year, my brother, Mark Storm (Marcus Kennedy Storm) will be at Snyder, Texas with some of his paintings at a two-day art exhibit. The show is sponsored by the Texas Cowboy Artists' Association.

Mark's work carries the realism of one who knows the life he portrays from actual experience. Mark grew up here in Lincoln County where his happy days as cowboy, rodeo rider, and horse breaker are the inspiration of his cowboy art to this day. The charm of New Mexico, and especially of Lincoln County and all the country in the shadow of the White Mountain, is fondly preserved in many of Mark's paintings.

Mark extends a cordial welcome to all lovers of western art to come and attend the show at Snyder, Texas.

GAMBLES OF RUIDOSO has a wide selection of carpet and vinyl floor covering to choose from.
