A GRAND COMMONWEALTH.

The Albuquerque Morning Journal has as an interesting article on the state-to-be, Arizona, and gives some valuable figures as to the wealth of the state. It says:

"According to the terms of the new statehood bill as now before congress the Greater Arizona will be one of the noblest commonwealths, not only in the union, but in the world. In area it will be second only to the state of Texas among the states of the American union, and will be an empire within itself, while in the matter of natural resources it will have no peer on earth. The possibilities of its development in the lines of agriculture, grazing and forestry, are practically boundless. While its wealth beneath the surface, of gold silver, copper, lead, coal, lime, marble and granite, is great even beyond the rosiest dreams of the most enthusiastic optimist. So great is the store of tangible values within the area of the new state that it is estimated by our best authorities that a levy of one-half of one per cent will be amply sufficient to meet all of our necessary state expenses, even on the most liberal scale, and hence it is generally proposed to put a constitutional limit upon the state levy of five mills on the dollar. Just think for a moment what that means to people who are paying now nearly fourteen times that means to people who are paying now nearly fourteen times that much, and frightening away capital and immigration by the necessity of doing so!"

HERE ARE THE FIGURES THAT COUNT:

7,000 000 acres of railroad land, with its coal, iron and timber at $5.....	$35,000,000
7,000,000 acres of private patented land grants, with timber and in some instances, its minerals, at $5....	35,000,000
2,000,000 agricultural land, at $10.....	20,000,000
3,000 miles of railroad and telegraph line with franchises equipment, machinery, shops etc., at $30,000.,....	90,000,000
Patented mines and plants.....	25,000,000
7,000,000 sheep and goats at $2.....	14,000,000
25,000,000 pounds of wool, at 8 cents.....	2,000,000
1,500,000 head of cattle at $20.....	30,000,000
1000,000 head of horses, at $10.....	1,000,000
1,000,000 Angora goats, at $3.....	3,000,000
City lots and buildings.....	25,000,000
Stocks of goods.....	15,000,000
Household furniture of all kinds.....	5,000,000
Jewelry.....	2,000,000
Cash, bonds, stocks, mortgages, etc.....	10,000,000
Product of mines—coal, iron, gold, silver, copper, etc....	7,000,000
Product of farms—alfalfa, wheat, and other crops.....	5,000,000
All other kinds of property.....	5,000,000
Total.....	$329,000,000

The foregoing figures are based upon the census of 1900. As every one knows there has been a great advance in values all over the country since the census was taken, and the items enumerated above, if carried out at present prices, would show a total of over $360,000,000.

And Arizona, with its superior mining and timber resources, is worth at least fifty millions more than New Mexico. Hence, with all the taxable property of the new state assessed, as it ought to be assessed, a levy of one-half of one per cent would be ample, and that would present to the public a condition of affairs that would attract capital and people at such a rate that this section of the country would experience such a period of growth and development as it never had before.

"And there are many sources of revenue that the new state could and would and could utilize, in addition to those enumerated above. For instance, the Wells-Fargo Express company has monopolized the business in this section for about thirty years, and has never paid in all that time five hundred dollars in taxes. It ought to have a place on the tax roll, and will have when we become a state. The Pullman company, too goes practically free at present, but will have to pay under statehood. A good many other enterprises of a public character might be named, which have always been dead heads, but which, under statehood will have to bear their share of the public burden."

Not Confined to Race.

Hon. E. V. Chavez, a prominent Albuquerque attorney and one of the most pleasant gentlemen of the territory, has written a letter to Senator Beveridge, announcing his allegiance to the joint statehood measure, and gives reasons why the bill should be favorably received by all classes of New Mexico citizens. We reproduce a part of the communication, as follows:

"Albuquerque, N. M., Dec. 4, 1905. Hon. Albert Beveridge, United States Senate, Washington, D. C.

"Dear Sir:—Believing that the question of joint statehood between New Mexico and Arizona, which is now so much agitating the minds of the people of these two territories will again be discussed in congress during its present session, and claiming the right which every American citizen has of expressing himself upon important questions like this, especially upon this particular one which is of so much consequence to us, the residents of this territory, you will, I have no doubt, pardon this liberty I take in expressing my views upon this question.

"As you will see from my names, I am a native born New Mexican, having no other blood in my veins than that brought to this country many centuries ago by the conquerors of old Spain who first planted the Cross of Christianity and civilization upon this continent. You may know that I am proud of that ancestry, but if I am, I am not more so than that of being a free American citizen.

JOINT STATEHOOD.

I have, in my humble way studied the matter of statehood either singly or jointly with Arizona, and I, as well as many of my compatriots have come to the conclusion that joint statehood with Arizona is more ben-

Human Brain at Mercy of Scientists

Ghosts and Hallucinations Easily Made to Order While You Wait—Mere Matter of Drugs and Hard Blows.

"Ghosts, hallucinations—pah!" said the psychologist. "I can make ghosts. You can make them. It is a mere matter of drugs and knocks on the head.

"What is it that does our feeling, rejoicing, mourning, hoping, fearing, thinking, for us? It is a mass of fat, of phosphorized fat, two pounds in weight, called the brain. We study the brain continually. We get to know it better and better every day. And the time is now come when we can play tricks on it—when we can deluge it with ghosts, poultergorsts, djinns, hobgoblins, doppelgangers, phantoms.

"With drugs administered in toxic or poisonous doses I can give the sanest man hallucinations. And I can pretty well regulate the hallucinations' character, for one drug is known to cause one sort of presentment, another another and so on.

"Suppose I want the bishop of Esk to see the phantom of a beautiful girl, I give him, then, belladonna. Belladonna in toxic doses creates fair pictures of comely persons. The bishop of Esk, I assure you, would have an agreeable half-hour under this drug's spell.

"Suppose I wanted you to see a lovely dream city, with young men and maidens in white robes pacing the courtyards of marble palaces. I would give you opium and, seated in your office chair, you would see and remember pretty much what I wanted you to. Afterward you would say, if I had given you the opium secretly, 'Well, there is something in ghost stories, after all.'

"If I had an enemy and wished to drive him to suicide I would give him hasheesh on the quiet. Hasheesh creates visions of horror. In hasheesh dreams great apes strangle fair blonde women. Ruffians murder helpless old clergymen. Wild beasts, leaping on caravans, carry off in their mouths babies and little children. Cannibals hold in the depths of primeval forests orgies indescribably obscene.

"By whacking you on a certain part of the head I could make you smell phantom odors. A whack in another place would make you hear phantom sounds. A whack in a third place would give you phantom sensations of cold.

"Therefore, don't have a superstitious belief in ghosts or hallucinations," ended the psychologist, "for any scientist can make them to your order while you wait."

Puzzle for Scientists to Worry Over

Articles Dropped in Calumet Mine Shaft Always Found Clinging to East Side—Investigation Going On.

It is an interesting scientific fact, and one not generally known, that nothing that falls from the mouth of the deepest mining shaft in the world ever reaches the bottom. This has been demonstrated at the famous Red Jacket shaft of the Big Calumet. The article, no matter what shape or size it may be, is invariably found clinging to the east side of the shaft.

One day a monkey wrench was dropped, but it did not get to the bottom. It was found lodged against the east side of the shaft several hundred feet down. This incident coming to the attention of the Michigan College of Mines, it was decided to make a careful test of the apparent phenomenon. It was decided best to use a small but heavy spherical body, and a marble, tied to a thread was suspended about twelve feet below the mouth of the shaft. When the marble was absolutely still, assuring that it would drop straight down, the thread was burned through by the flame of a candle. The marble fell, but at a point 50 feet from the surface brought up against the east wall of the shaft.

The same would be the case were a man to fall into the shaft. While it would mean sure death, the body, badly torn, would be found lodged in the timbering on the east side. Members of the faculty of the College of Mines are now engaged in experiments with a view of developing data as to the thickness of the earth's crust. It is not hoped to solve the perplexing problem of the distribution of the earth's matter, but it is hoped to add to the information collected concerning it.

To this end the Red Jacket shaft presents advantages possessed by no other place in the universe. The deep shafts in other parts of the country and in foreign lands generally began at an altitude and end above or very little below the sea level, whereas at the Calumet mine the Red Jacket shaft starts in a comparatively low altitude and pierces the earth's crust deeper and further below the ocean level than any other in existence. It is hoped within a year to be able to give some intelligent information regarding the investigations.—Lake Linden correspondence St. Paul Dispatch.

No Weakness Seen in Junior Rockefeller

Pleasing Personality of the Son of the World's Richest Man—No Sense of Self-Importance About Him.

One glance at the countenance of John D. Rockefeller Jr., tells plainly enough that his life has been pitched upon a serious, almost solemn plane. He is a young man of medium height and size, with a rather large head, not exactly Byronic in contour, but of full size behind, and with a strong, round chin. The corners of his mouth, unlike the pictures of his father, turn upward, and there is a kindly expression about the curve of his upper lip, which is bare of mustache and well shaped. His nose, which is just a little upturned, would, by the ordinary rule of reckoning, indicate no particular strength nor weakness of character.

The first sign of austerity is about the eyes, which crouch beneath his broad brow and behind a pair of quizzing-glasses or nose spectacles.

From a general view one comes to the incontestable conclusion that here is a man who thinks, and who thinks hard. There is more kindness in his expression than harshness, more altruism than selfishness, and when he begins to speak there is that earnestness of tone, high pitched and pleading, which dwells with a listener until it sounds more plaintive than argumentative.

Even when young Mr. Rockefeller smiles there is a seriousness of expression almost to the border-line of pathos. The whole effect of the man's personal appearance upon one is appealing. There is nothing repellent about him, nothing dictatorial, nothing combative. But this does not mean that there is the first trace of meekness or the excessive degree of self-effacement more reprehensible than self-importance. Mr. Rockefeller might be called good-looking, and must be called a young man of pleasing address.—Remsen Crawford in Leslie's Weekly.

ALCOHOL IN MOST MEDICINES.

Indispensable Requisite in Compounding of Some Prescriptions.

It is of course true that some proprietary medicines contain alcohol and nearly all liquid medicines prescribed by physicians contain it. No honest man will defend the sale of intoxicants under the guise of medicine; but every honest man should protest against a system of wholesale denunciation horn of malice, or ignorance of pharmaceutical principles, and fostered by selfish interests. It is assumed that alcohol is the cause of intemperance; but there is a great difference between alcohol and whisky. If a substitute for alcohol could be found for use in the manufacture of medicines, its discoverer would render a great service to the profession of pharmacy and the science of medicine, for alcohol is a very expensive ingredient and a cheaper substitute would be gladly accepted. Unfortunately the word alcohol, in the minds of many people is associated exclusively with bar-rooms, drunkenness and all forms of degradation and vice. This is due to a lack of knowledge by the general public of the fact that alcohol is an indispensable requisite in drugs, tinctures and fluid extracts. All fluid extracts and tinctures on the druggists' shelves contain from 20 to 90 per cent of alcohol; and of all liquid medicines prescribed by physicians more than 75 per cent contain it in large proportions.

Alcohol is required to preserve organic substances from deterioration and from freezing, and it is also required to dissolve substances not soluble in water, while it contributes to their preservation when dissolved. Diluted alcohol is largely employed in fluid extracts; and whenever a greater strength of alcohol is required as a solvent (for extracting medicinal principles) the medicine is of such a character as to preclude a large dosage; and for this reason preparations, even if containing 50 per cent or more of alcohol, are practically less intoxicating than beer. In such cases the character of the medicinal constituents is such as to absolutely forbid the taking of the medicine in any way except in very small doses and at stated intervals only. To assume that any great number of proprietary medicines are used as beverages is the veriest absurdity.—Exchange.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh that Contain Mercury, as mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. What the Vernacular Is Coming To in Colorado.

Judge Benjamin B. Lindsey, who has made a national reputation for himself by his work at the Denver juvenile court, tells in the American Magazine the story of Eel Martin, a typical bad boy, whom the judge has since succeeded in reforming. The following is one of the boy's exploits:

One of the boy's methods of beating his way about the country was to board a train and after it had started to creep into an empty berth in a sleeping car.

On one occasion Martin was awakened by the porter's startled exclamation: "Good Lawd, the's a kid in heah!" Then, as the boy phrased it, "I flew the coop while the coon guy went to tell the conductor. I was ditched at a town they call Reno, in Nevada. Course I was dead broke. I touched a guy for a half and bought me a cane and some chewing gum. I walked into a bank and right up to the guy in de monkey cage. I said I wanted work, and he said he hadn't none. I told him I'd clean up de back yard and while he went to ask de head guy about it rammed de gum on de end of my cane, shoved it t'rough de cage and swiped a twenty that stuck to de gum. Then I took a hike mighty sudden. I lay low and went out on the express that night."

The Sentimental Cook.

I must be fond of scenery or of poetry or som'pn,
'Cause I love to set upon the wharf and watch the fishes jumpin'.
The sky it really spreads so nice and the water looks so fine,
And the air it makes you feel as good as drinkin' sherry wine,
Yes, there must be pot'ery in me 'cause it sets my head to thumpin'
To set upon the wharf and watch the little fishes jumpin'.

There is nothin' more delightful than attendin' to your cookin',
But I sometimes wipe a tear away when no one ain't a lookin',
I wipes it off 'cause it comes from lookin' at the lake,
Which stretches off so lovely while I'm fryin' of the steak.
But at mornin' and at evenin' when the little skiffs are bumpin'
The thing that moves me deepest is to watch the fishes jumpin'.

O when I die and go before the throne to get my due,
I hopes as how they'll recognize the goodness of my stew;
I hopes they'll give me credit for the charity I done,
And also my creation of the sugar-coated bun.
And when I gets my robe on and my heart with joy is thumpin',
I'll just sit there with folded wings and watch the fishes jumpin'.
—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The Key to Power.

Success in life is a delicate and difficult thing to define. To many—rightly or wrongly—it is synonymous with the accumulation of wealth, the standard of achievement and the end of all ambition worthy of human endeavor. But whatever may be our delineation of this subtle and somewhat fickle goddess, the possession of a substantial bank account is, for most persons—for all, in fact, who are not degenerates—a most laudable object of ambition. It has a psychological value all apart from its conventional, commercial value. It is veritably the key to power—not alone through what it buys, but through what it does—unlocking those secret sources of strength that transform the delinquent into the alert, the vacillating into the confident, kindling the embers of hope, and giving the race to the slow, the battle to the weak.—Business Men's Magazine.

Pitiful Plight of Aged Man.

Because Oliver Powe, a builder of Ansonia, Conn., put all his property in his wife's name and she died childless he lost it all, according to the probate court's ruling, and is left penniless at the age of 72, too infirm to work. Believing that at his wife's death he would be her heir. Mr. Powe had his home and savings, $22,000 in all, transferred to her, so she would have no trouble in getting his estate should he die first. Mrs. Powe died a year ago, her estate was promptly claimed by her relatives and the probate court sustained their claim. Mr. Powe has brought a suit for equitable relief.

Greatest Dam on Earth.

Fifteen years ago the highest dam in existence was the Furens dam (in France), the total height of which was 170 feet. Since then three very much larger dams have been built in the United States. These are the Croton dam in New York, the Clinton water works dam at Boston and the water works dam near Denver, on the South Fork of the Platte river, says Crittenden Marriott in November Technical World Magazine. Each of these at present holds the record in one respect or another; the Denver dam is the highest in the world; the Clinton impounds the largest amount of water, and the Croton dam contains the largest mass of masonry. But the Salt River dam, when finished, will exceed each of these in its own specialty; it will be higher than Denver, will exceed the Croton dam in masonry, and will impound twice as much water as all three put together. It will be 270 feet high from foundation to parapet, will contain 300,000 cubic yards of masonry, and will impound more than a million acre-feet of water; that is, more than enough to cover a million acres (1,500 square miles) to a depth of one foot. It will form a lake five miles long and one to two miles wide, covering an area of 14,000 acres. Its cost, with maintenance for ten years, will be $3,000,000 or $4,000,000.

A new paper was sent out on schedule time from this office this week—El Farol. As its name indicates, it is a Spanish publication, and has a large field peculiarly its own, merits, and, no doubt, will receive substantial support.

The New Mexican of the 11th contains an article entitled "Governor Otero's Interior Report." This should be an interesting report, providing the governor tells all the inner workings of his official acts. The people are already fairly acquainted with exterior conditions.

The president's recommendations for joint statehood gives us a great deal of pleasure, and we feel quite assured it is in accord with the overwhelming sentiment of this section. It is with a no less degree of satisfaction that our new governor, Herbert J. Hagerman, has announced his determination to add his strength to the same proposition. For once, at least, we cannot be accused of being for the government, although classed with that family.

The dispatches from Washington indicate that, as usual, congress will do little until after the holidays; and particularly on the statehood matter. If all signs are not misleading, however, the Hamilton joint statehood bill will be up for consideration by both houses of congress in the early days of January, and the enabling act should be ready for the president's signature by the last of the first month of the year 1906. Identical bills have been presented in house and senate.

An exchange says that the census of 100 gives Arizona a population of 122,913. If the territory has grown in population during the last 1800 years at the same rate it did in the last decade, it must now be more densely populated than China. Arizona has kicked about jointure with New Mexico, claiming we were a lot of old fossils and far behind them in civilization and intelligence, and while we didn't believe all that was said, it gave us some trouble to controvert these statements. Yet a country that was in existence during the time of the Caesars, and quite ancient when Charlemagne was making history, should now stop making so much fuss and give the younger generation a chance for an expression of its views. However, age and all, Arizona, we want you; you won't lose your ancient name, even though moss-grown.

Teacher's Examination.

There will be an examination for third grade teacher's certificates held in the school house, in the town of Lincoln, on the 26, day of January, 1906, it being the last Friday in said month.

All those who wish to teach a spring or summer term of school and do not have proper certificates, will be requested to pass this examination.

You Look Yellow

The trouble is, your liver's sick. One of its products, "bile," is overflowing into your blood.

You can't digest your food, your appetite is poor, you suffer dreadfully from headache, stomach ache, dizziness, malaria, constipation, etc. What you need is not a dose of salts, cathartic water or pills—but a liver tonic

Theford's Black-Draught

This great medicine acts gently on the sick liver. It purifies the blood, renews the appetite, feeds the nerves, clears the brain and cures constipation.

It is a true medicine for sick liver and kidneys, and regulates all the digestive functions. Try it.

W. J. BLACK.

New Passenger Traffic Manager for the Santa Fe Road.

William J. Black, who has just been promoted by the Santa Fe railroad to be passenger traffic manager of the entire system, with headquarters in Chicago, was born Oct. 3, 1864, in St. Louis, and has been in the railway service since 1879, beginning as an office boy with the Vandalla at the age of 15 years. He retained his first position five years, when he became rate clerk in the passenger department of the Missouri Pacific. In March, 1886, he was given a similar position by the Santa Fe. He was promoted to chief clerk in the passenger department in April, 1887, and to assistant general passenger agent Jan. 1, 1892. He has been general passenger agent, with headquarters at Topeka, Kan., since Feb. 1, 1897.

Every housekeeper should know that if they will buy Defiance Cold Water Starch for laundry use they will save not only time, because it never sticks to the iron, but because each package contains 16 oz.—one full pound—while all other Cold Water Starches are put up in 3/4-pound packages, and the price is the same, 10 cents. Then again because Defiance Starch is free from all injurious chemicals. If your grocer tries to sell you a 12-oz. package it is because he has a stock on hand which he wishes to dispose of before he puts in Defiance. He knows that Defiance Starch has printed on every package in large letters and figures "16 ozs." Demand Defiance and save much time and money and the annoyance of the iron sticking. Defiance never sticks.

RATHER LONG PERIOD TO WAIT.

Joshua Wanted Boiled Wheat, but He Was No Cook.

"Lucinda," said Mr. Melstrum, who had just returned from a visit to a farmer friend in the country, "while I was at Longley's I ate some whole wheat, boiled. I like it better than anything I ever tasted. He gave me a small paper sack of the wheat, so we could cook some ourselves. How long will it be before supper is ready?"

"About half an hour," answered Mrs. Melstrum.

"Well, we'll have some boiled wheat, if you please. Here's the paper sack."

"But, Joshua, it will have to be cooked in a double boiler, and—"

"I don't care how you cook it. I'm hungry for some more boiled wheat."

"But see here, Joshua! It will take—"

"It will take a lot of cream and sugar; I know that. But we've got plenty of both. Put it on right away, will you?"

Without another word his wife took the wheat, washed it, emptied it into the "double boiler," and set it on the fire.

At the end of half an hour Mr. Melstrum became impatient.

"Lucinda," he called out from the sitting room, "isn't that wheat ready yet?"

"Not yet," responded Mrs. Melstrum.

"How much longer is it going to take to cook it?"

"About eleven hours and a half. That's what I was trying to tell you, but you wouldn't give me a chance. Do you want to wait for it?"—Youth's Companion.

Opposed to Self-Healing.

Little Paul's grandfather is a physician, and in Paul's eyes he is the greatest hero that walks the earth. Recently the doctor resolved to take a trip to Europe for the benefit of his health. Paul was almost frantic to think that he was to be separated from his idol, and tried by every means within his power to dissuade his grandfather from going.

"I don't see why you need to go away for your health, grandpa; you're a doctor!"

"Well, Paul," replied the old man, "it is because I am a doctor that I know what is best for my health. As a doctor I have examined myself and found that I need a rest and change. I have advised myself to take an ocean voyage, and when a physician tells you what is best for you, you ought to obey his instructions, or else what is the use of doctors?"

Paul sadly pondered over this weighty argument for a few minutes, and then his face lighted up and he said eagerly:

"Why don't you try another doctor, grandpa?"

No Occasion for Mincing Matters.

"Theodosia, I do not wish to say anything harsh or uncharitable of your uncle Geoffrey. I will not go so far as to charge him with penuriousness, but he certainly carries the idea of economy to an extreme. He hesitates to make the most trifling expenditure unless assured that it will redound ultimately to his own financial advantage. While not wishing to be unjust to him—I cannot refrain from expressing the opinion that he is almost too frugal, as it were, too—too cautious—"

"Mamma, what's the use of all that fine talk? You know as well as I do that he's a stingy, niggardly, mean, shabby, miserly, avaricious old tightwad!"

Nailing a Lie.

Some people say there is no difference in a man's weight before and after eating.

"That's a lie; I weighed myself before I went to dinner yesterday, then, after wrestling with a boarding house chicken, I weighed myself again."

"No; I had lost half a pound."—Houston Post.

STRENGTHEN THE STOMACH

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Really Cure Indigestion Instead of Merely Relieving Symptoms.

There are plenty of remedies by which you can relieve for the time heartburn, pain and gas on the stomach and can smother nervous sensations and induce artificial sleep. You can humor your stomach by giving it predigested food. But when you take your next meal all your trouble begins afresh.

There is only one sensible thing to do. Strengthen the stomach and do away with the necessity for drugs and artificial foods. The best remedy ever found for this purpose is the one that was used by E. E. Strong, of Capleville, Shelby county, Tenn.

"For years," he states, "I suffered greatly from indigestion. I tried many different remedies and some of them would relieve me for a time, but the trouble always came back. About six months ago I had an unusually severe attack, and while I tried everything I had ever heard of, I found that none of the ordinary remedies would reach the difficulty this time.

"One day I read in a Memphis paper how Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had cured a Michigan woman, a sufferer from chronic dyspepsia of a most stubborn type. I then tried the same remedy and it proved just as successful in my case. I took only three boxes, and was cured. I have not had the slightest symptoms of indigestion since."

The tonic treatment has a sound principle as its basis, and abundant success in actual use. Multitudes of cases that had defied all other remedies have been cured by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pills actually make new blood and strike at the root of all diseases caused by bad blood. They contain no harmful stimulants or opiates. Every dyspeptic should read, "What to Eat and How to Eat." Write the Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Schenectady, N. Y., for a free copy.

WEALTH OF ALASKA.

Territory Has Paid for Itself Many Times Over.

When the proposed purchase of Alaska from Russia for $7,200,000 was being debated by Congress, General Butler of Massachusetts made the sarcastic suggestion that the United States pay Russia the amount stated as a recognition of her friendship during the Civil War, and ask her to retain Alaska. He said that no sane man could favor the purchase of a vast region of ice and rocks on the terms proposed by Secretary of State Seward, who had negotiated the deal. There was a hot debate, in the course of which several other Congressmen expressed views similar to those of General Butler, but it ended by the United States paying Russia $7,200,000 in gold for the territory. One reason for the serious opposition to the purchase was the fact that the amount named represented about $10,000,000 in currency at the time, and many of the Republican leaders thought it dangerous, when the paper money of the government was at a heavy discount, to engage in such a speculation.

During the last fiscal year the shipments of Alaskan gold to this country, as shown by the records of the customs houses, were $9,026,585. Official estimates for the year 1905 place the territory's output of gold at $10,000,000. Thus the "barren waste of ice and rocks," as the wise statesman of 1867 termed it, is producing more than its purchase price in gold every year. In the thirty years following the purchase the value of the fish taken from Alaskan waters has exceeded $60,000,000, and in twenty years the sales of furs were $33,000,000. The duties paid into the federal treasury by fur-traders long since exceeded the cost of the territory.—Colorado Springs Gazette.

EASY TO MAKE THINGS RIGHT.

Little Girl Knew Simple Way Out of Difficulty.

The Hotel Belleclaire houses one of those rare anomalies—a woman who does things contrary to the advice of her husband. One of the things to which that unreasonable man objects is the occasional "touching up" of his wife's hair. Notwithstanding his forcibly expressed opinion on the subject, the rejuvenating process was undergone one day last week at the hands of a professional hairdresser. Bessie, the four-year-old daughter, was an interested observer of the operation.

"Now, Bessie," said her mother, when the hairdresser had gone, "I don't want you to say anything to your father about mamma having had her hair dressed. Do you understand? If you don't tell him perhaps he won't notice it."

Of course Bessie promised to maintain a discreet silence, which she did up to 6 o'clock, when, meeting her father at the corner, the secret was promptly sacrificed on the altar of filial affection. The man was mad and lost no time in saying so. After he got through talking Bessie was interviewed by her other parent.

"Bessie," said her mother, sternly, "what made you tell? I told you not to."

"Oh, that's all right," said Bessie. "Don't worry. I can easily lie it back again."—New York Times.

Saw Possible Victory.

"Miss May Sutton," said a tennis player, "never gets actually excited in a game, but bad playing by a partner will often arouse a sarcastic humor in her.

"I don't pretend to play well and when I found myself one day in Cincinnati paired with the young champion in mixed doubles I expected to do little and I didn't disappoint myself.

"To tell the truth, I played pretty badly. But Miss Sutton did unusually well and politeness obliged me to shower a continuous stream of compliments on her. At a critical point she saved a game with a remarkable back-hand stroke and I shouted: 'Bravo! Beautiful! Well played, indeed!'"

Miss Sutton smiled grimly. "That's right," she said; "you applaud and let me attend to the ball and we'll win yet."

Call on a Lynn Bank for Beer.

A business institution like a bank sees little of the humorous side of life, although now and then something happens to vary the routine. The employes of a certain national bank in Lynn, Mass., noted for the elegance of its furnishings, such as desks, marble floors, etc., were in the midst of their daily labors when an individual rather the worse for wear and liquids entered, leaned against and rolled along the shelf reaching the whole length of the bank to the teller's window, where he deposited a nickel and stood rather unsteadily. When asked what he wanted, he said: "Glass (sic) of beer." When informed it was a bank desk he was leaning against and not a saloon bar, he hastily murmured an apology and shuffled out.

Magnesite Hills.

In the neighborhood of Malélane and Kaapnuiden, 10 miles from Loureco Marquis, in South Africa, large deposits of magnesite, said to be equal to the best Grecian article, have been found. The veins are of varied width, in many places being more than 10 feet in thickness, but the central hill near what is known as Salt Creek appears to be one vast deposit about 2,000 feet long by 200 feet wide, and upwards of 300 feet high. According to the estimate made by the consulting engineer, the deposits of magnesite at this particular point exceed a million tons. The topographical position of the magnesite hills is such that the deposits can be quarried at a very low cost.

GREAT SONG WRITER.

Paul Dresser, the Popular Composer, Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills.

Paul Dresser of New York, author of "Banks of the Wabash" and many other great song hits, writes:

Gentlemen: I wish to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills, in the hope that my endorsement will be read by some of the many thousands of sufferers from kidney complaint. I was so wretched from this malady that I could not sleep, rest nor eat, and had a weak and aching back. Doan's Kidney Pills effectually cured me, and I wish that others may know.

Big Shipment of Horses.

The Southern Pacific, Union Pacific Illinois Central and New York Central roads are preparing to take across the continent the largest shipment of blooded horses ever made from San Francisco to New York. The horses are to be shipped on November 19th, next, from J. H. Haggins' famous Rancho Del Paso, which is to be sold in small tracts for farming purposes. The shipment will require four trains of twelve cars each, and they are to be run on passenger train time. The railroads will get for this shipment $42,500 in freight charges.

Great Slaughter of Ducks.

Every duck hunter who went out to the lakes Sunday came home with as many ducks as he could safely carry under the law. The slaughter was one of the greatest known in the history of the state, as the weather was ideal for hunting and the game was plentiful in all parts. One inquisitive hunter, who had his own bag well filled, counted over 800 ducks at the station at Barr, when the crowd was waiting for the train. This did not include the kill made by the members of the Hot Air Club, who came in by a later train, or of those secured by the men who shot Upper Barr lake. The latter usually go to their blinds in automobiles, returning the same way. A safe estimate of the number killed about the Barr lakes is therefore about 1,100. As this is only one of the many places to which the Denver hunters went, some idea may be secured of the number of duck dinners enjoyed in this city yesterday.—Denver Republican.

THE SECRET OF YOUTH.

De Soto looked for the secret of youth in a spring of gushing, life-giving waters, which he was sure he would find in the New World. Alchemists and sages (thousands of them), have spent their lives in quest for it, but it is only found by those happy people who can digest and assimilate the right food which keeps the physical body perfect that peace and comfort are the sure results.

A remarkable man of 94 says: "For many long years I suffered more or less with chronic costiveness and painful indigestion. This condition made life a great burden to me, as you may well imagine.

"Two years ago I began to use Grape-Nuts as food, and am thankful that I did. It has been a blessing to me in every way. I first noticed that it had restored my digestion. This was a great gain but was nothing to compare in importance with the fact that in a short time my bowels were restored to free and normal action.

"The cure seemed to be complete; for two years I have had none of the old trouble. I use the Grape-Nuts food every morning for breakfast and frequently eat nothing else. The use has made me comfortable and happy, and although I will be 94 years old next fall, I have become strong and supple again, erect in figure and can walk with anybody and enjoy it." Insist on Getting It.

Some grocers say they don't keep Deffance Starch. This is because they have a stock on hand of other brands containing only 12 oz in a package, which they won't be able to sell first, because Deffance contains 16 oz. for the same money.

Do you want 16 oz. instead of 12 oz. for same money? Then buy Deffance Starch. Requires no cooking.

THE CHANGE OF LIFE

INTELLIGENT WOMEN PREPARE

Dangers and Pain of This Critical Period Avoided by the Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

How many women realize that the most critical period in a woman's existence is the change of life, and that the anxiety felt by women as this time draws near is not without reason?

If her system is in a deranged condition, or she is predisposed to apoplexy or congestion of any organ, it is at this time likely to become active and, with a host of nervous irritations, make life a burden.

At this time, also, cancers and tumors are more liable to begin their destructive work. Such warning symptoms as a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, dizziness, headache, dread of impending evil, sounds in the ears, timidity, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude are promptly heeded by intelligent women who are approaching the period of life when woman's great change may be expected.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the world's greatest remedy for women at this trying period, and may be relied upon to overcome all distressing symptoms and carry them safely through to a healthy and happy old age.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound invigorates and strengthens the female organism, and builds up the weakened nervous system as no other medicine can.

Mrs. A. E. G. Hyland, of Chestertown, Md., in a letter to Mrs. Pinkham, says:

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—
"I had been suffering with falling of the womb for years and was passing through the change of life. My womb was badly swollen. I had a good deal of soreness, dizzy spells, headaches, and was very nervous. I wrote you for advice and commenced treatment with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as you directed, and I am happy to say that all those distressing symptoms left me, and I have passed safely through the change of life a well woman."

For special advice regarding this important period women are invited to write to Mrs. Pinkham for advice. It is free and always helpful.

Not Confined to Race,

cial to the mass of the people of both territories than single statehood would be. By having one state of both territories we will have the combined resources of both territories to support the machinery of one government, and, instead of increasing the taxes, say of New Mexico, to support the additional expenses which would necessarily be thrown on the state and which are now paid by the general government the taxes in both territories will be less because of the combined wealth of both territories to draw from. As between single statehood for New Mexico and joint statehood with Arizona, I am now and have for sometime past been unqualifiedly in favor of the latter. Of course, myself as well as many of my people, have a great love and reference for the name "New Mexico." and would very much regret to have it changed to any other, but the real benefit derived from joint statehood will be of so much advantage to us that I for one am willing to sacrifice the name of New Mexico which, after all, is purely a matter of sentiment. I also think that jointure will mean clean politics in both territories; and right here, permit me to say as a citizen who believes and loves clean, pure politics, that a little improvement in that line would be very beneficial and would be to the interests of the masses of the people.

Very much more could be said on this important subject but for fear this letter is too long already, I desist from saying more."

E. V. CHAVEZ.

Unwept and Unsung.

Washington, Dec. 9.—Vice-president Fairbanks announced today that it was his understanding that the friends of the late Senator Mitchell, of Oregon, would not request that a committee of senators be appointed to attend the funeral services and therefore he would not appoint one.

It has not been determined what course will be taken by the senate when it convenes on Monday, but it is assumed that an announcement of Senator Mitchell's death will be made by Senator Fulton and that he will not ask for the adoption of resolutions of respect.

This is the first instance in the history of the senate where the customary ceremony in honor of the deceased member has not been held.

Senator Mitchell stood convicted of fraud in connection with land matters in Oregon at the time of his death.
