P&Z okays commercial rezone in Paradise Canyon

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

An attempt to rezone a large area of property along Paradise Canyon Drive resulted in nearly two hours of debate during the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission (P&Z) meeting Monday afternoon.

A group of property owners in the Kennedy and Palmer Gateway subdivisions presented the request to rezone the property from R-1 (single-family dwelling) and R-3 (trailers and mobile homes) to C-1 (light commercial and office.)

After extensive discussion from audience and commission members, the P&Z voted approval of Martin Rose's motion for the C-1 zoning. His motion carried the stipulation that the property owners in the area form a planning committee; that they compile and present a development plan for the area; and that the plan be approved by P&Z and the village council.

At the suggestion of P&Z chairman Greg Masters, those opposing the rezone were allowed to speak first.

Taking the podium first was Helga Haake. She opined that traffic on Paradise Canyon Drive is too heavy for commercial development of the area.

"Traffic is tremendous," she said. "It is too dangerous."

Representing Floyd Haake was Paul Light of Daniel Engineering in Alamogordo.

Light also pointed to a dangerous road situation, saying the road twists back and forth through the right of way area and contains areas of blind curves. He also said the right of way varies in width through the area, narrowing at one section to just 60 to 70 feet.

Light also noted the steepness and potential of flooding in the area as reasons against a commercial zoning.

Area property owner Bill Moore indicated that his chief concern was one of safety. He said it is almost impossible to safely negotiate the road as a pedestrian, due to the absence of a "serviceable shoulder."

"It's a hazard for a person to walk from one place to another," he reported. Moore said that although he was not against the continued growth of Ruidoso, he could not see the direct need for any commercial services on that area of Paradise Canyon Road.

"Let's don't create any more problems than we got," he said.

Also speaking against the commercial zoning was Corinne Swearingin. The speaker said she also represented Hazel Kennedy in her protest against the zoning on an overall basis, and especially concerning lots 7 and 8, block 14, of Palmer Gateway subdivision, since those lots had long been residential.

Speaking for commercial zoning of the area was property owner Lavenia Gardner. She discounted the claim that the road is unsafe.

"If you have vision to have a driver's license, you should be able to see down that road," she remarked.

Gardner also rebutted the argument that flooding was a problem of the area, saying that flooding can occur anywhere.

Also attacking the flooding argument was Orlando Montes. He said predicting a flooding problem in the area was like predicting that a fire or other disaster would occur.

"I don't think those are good enough causes," he said of the points against zoning the area commercial.

Area businessman Romeo Klein attacked the claim of traffic safety, thumping the podium several times with his hand to emphasize his point.

Businessman Romeo Klein delivers a spirited argument to the Ruidoso Planning and Zoning Commission at Monday's meeting. Klein spoke in favor of a commercial rezoning of property in Paradise Canyon. The commission granted the request.

"Let's face it," he said, "anyone living in Ruidoso is going to have to put up with traffic."

Charles Locke, another property owner, said he believed that traffic will actually slow down if more businesses are located in the canyon. His belief was challenged by Light, who called the idea "short-sighted."

Commission members had mixed feelings on the issue. Karon Petty said she felt that the area is conducive to a commercial use, but that the roads in the area are not yet ready to handle such growth.

Bill Carrigan said he would like to see the area zoned commercial since it would give the village more control over its growth. Don Shaw, however, argued against commercial zoning of the land. He called it "spot zoning in reverse," since the request would result in several isolated areas of residential-zoned land.

P&Z member Milt Alcorn said he would like to see the area remain as it is, then made a motion to deny the request. His motion failed for lack of a second. Rose then moved for passage of the measure, and the commission members approved the request with the stipulations.

Also during the meeting, the commission heard Kenneth May report that he had obtained a survey of the right of way along the east side of Vine Road, as requested during an earlier commission meeting. May reported that several encroachments into the right of way exist along the road.

He and other Vine Road property owners were advised by the commission to present a request for vacation of right of way at a future P&Z meeting.

In other business, the commission:

—Heard P&Z Enforcement Officer Paul Davis report that an agenda item had been removed by the requesting party. Removed was a request for a rezone from R-1 to R-2 of a tract of land in Tract A, First Addition to Green Meadows Addition, as described by metes and bounds.

—Voted to vacate 10 feet of the right of way adjacent to lot 1, block 1, of Lookout subdivision, at the price of $5 a square foot. The members voted on the measure after learning that new construction on the site had occurred without benefit of a building permit.

"I think that's outlandish," said owner Reba Stone of the set price.

The commission also voted to approve an 18-foot, five-inch variance for the rear lot line, and a one-foot, three-inch variance for the north side lot line for existing structures on the property.

—Denied the request for a variance of the sign ordinance by Hal Cliff for Susan & Associates.

—Approved the request for front and side lot line variances of lot 7, block 8, of Country Club Estates, as requested by Herbert May.

—Approved the replat of lots 34-39, 42-46, Unit 6; lots 47-51, 53, 54, Unit 7; lots 55-63, Unit 5; of Deer Park Woods Townhomes as requested by Lakeside Corporation and Alto Village Townhomes.

—Denied the request for a front lot line variance of lot 2, block 3, of Camelot subdivision, as requested by Dan Woolfolk.

—Denied the request for a variance of the sign ordinance as requested by Mike Larkey for David Ortega, doing business as Casa Tesoro.

—Approved the 15-foot, four-inch rear lot line variance of lot 11, block 2, of the Third Addition to Cree Meadows Heights subdivision, as requested by Fred Casteel.

P&Z also voted to reaffirm their previous action and send a copy of the minutes concerning the following agenda items to the village council:

—Rezone of Tract A-A, being a part of the SE ¼, Section 2, T11S, R13E.

—Rezone of lot 6, block 1, of Young Heights subdivision.

—Rezone of the north 100 feet of lot 6, block 3, of the First Addition to Cree Meadows Heights subdivision.

—Abandonment of Center Street between lot 4, Block O, and lot 1, block F, of Ruidoso Springs subdivision.

P&Z also:

—Approved Petty's motion to formally request that the village council direct the building inspector to begin requiring improvement surveys after the foundation and stem walls of new construction projects have been placed.

—Heard Davis announce the upcoming meeting between the commission and representatives of BRW, the firm preparing the Ruidoso master plan.

Parade to be a biggie

Almost all of the expected entries have been filed for this weekend's Aspen Festival Parade. A total of 58 floats, bands or individuals were recorded by Wednesday afternoon.

The parade, sporting the theme, "Anything Goes," will depart the corner of Sudderth and Mechem at 11 a.m. Saturday, following Sudderth to Bishop Street near Mescalero Drive.

Among the entries this year are 12 floats, 30 cars and trucks, six bands and marching units, five fire department trucks from Ruidoso, Ruidoso Downs and the Bonito Fire Department, plus mini-bikes, go-karts, bicycles, candidates such as Ralph Dunlap, mounted units, a color guard and cowboy artist Gordon Snidow, the parade grand marshal.

Beginning about the same time as the parade will be the cooking preparations for the 3rd Annual New Mexico Open Championship Chili Cook-off, to be held in the parking lot of Nottingham's Pub.

Cook-off organizer Gail Adams reported that 30 entrants had preregistered, with more anticipated on the day of the competition.

"From the response we're getting on the entries," Adams said, "this is going to be pretty good."

He said many of the entrants are first-time cooks, and many of them are local.

Lieutenant Governor Mike Runnels will be one of the judges for the event, which begins at 10 a.m. with a cooks' meeting and final entries.

Larry Tomlinson serves chili to Mrs. John Connally, wife of the former Texas governor. Tomlinson and dozens of other people will cook chili in the third New Mexico cook-off on Saturday, October 6.

Depending on cooking conditions, tasting could begin around noon, followed by judging between 1 p.m. and 2 p.m. The judges' results should be available after 5 p.m.

In addition to the cooking and tasting, the event will feature several games, including a tortilla toss, a chili punt, pass and kick competition and a lemon roll.

No land takers

After considerable public interest, the Overlook Drive Park and Taos Trail Park properties were offered for sale by the Village of Ruidoso. But at the auction of the lands to the highest bidder Friday, no one showed up to bid.

The properties were offered to any who would bid at least the appraised value of the lands, earlier determined to be $40,000 for the Taos Trail property and $26,000 for the Overlook property. According to village manager Jim Hine, no offers were made Friday to purchase the lands.

Hine said village attorney Lee Huckstep would bring the matter before the Ruidoso village council at their next meeting. Hine said the council has two alternatives: decide to offer the lands for sale at less than the appraised values, or decide not to offer the property for sale.

If the property is eventually sold, Hine said, the council has indicated the proceeds will go to the Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department capital improvement fund.

Death investigated

The Ruidoso Downs Police Department reports that it is investigating the death last month of an Oklahoma man living in the area.

Police Chief Skip Hazel said the body of Louis Hall of Durant, Oklahoma, was found September 27 at a trailer used as his temporary residence in the village. The cause of death has not yet been determined.

Hazel said the department is handling the case as a possible suicide.

'Spirit of Ruidoso' declines affiliation with chamber

by MATT BOSISIO
News Staff Writer

Turning aside an offer to affiliate with the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, a new organization dedicated to tourism and commerce steamed ahead Monday with several plans designed to attract winter visitors to Ruidoso.

Calling itself the Spirit of Ruidoso, the group comprised of some 40 local business people made it clear that while it wants to support the chamber and its activities, it does not want to become an arm of it.

"If we could just work on our projects and contribute to the Chamber of Commerce," said group president Pat Breedlove, "I think we'd be better off than if we worked within the Chamber of Commerce."

Member Tom Kent voiced a similar feeling, as did others, saying he initially got involved with the Spirit of Ruidoso because he was not pleased with the chamber.

The affiliation proposal came at the urging of Budgie Green, a member of the chamber's inactive Retail Merchants Committee.

Green asked the group to "give fairly deep consideration ... to coming into the chamber as the Retail Merchants Committee and functioning as the Retail Merchants Committee."

The benefits of working within the chamber, he said, were funding, a detailed mailing list, special events and, by the middle of December, a new executive director with fresh ideas and directions.

He also pointed out that the board of directors was taking a new attitude toward its membership and the future of the chamber.

"They are a much more active chamber for Ruidoso, for the merchants, for the lodgers, for the restaurant people," Green said. "They're going to clean it up."

But the mood of the group was one of independence from the chamber while maintaining a close alliance with it. Green's proposal was voted down.

Following the vote, the group discussed several proposed ideas for attracting tourist dollars during and after the so-called slow "shoulder season."

One of the first projects will be participation in this weekend's New Mexico Chili Cook-off. Led by Green, who will act as cook, the group will occupy a booth and acquaint the public with the goals and operation of the Spirit of Ruidoso.

A similar effort will take place during Octoberfest at The Carrizo Lodge later this month, headed up by Bill Smith.

At the end of the month, Teri Sodd will organize a Halloween gala in cooperation with the Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department. The event, October 31, will include a carnival, monster march, a spook house and a children's costume contest.

Thanksgiving weekend will see a Christmas Bazaar hit the streets with a parade, carolers and the annual Christmas tree lighting. Committee heads for the bazaar are Gail McIntosh and Pat Carpenter.

A Winter Carnival is planned for February 1 to 3, to coincide with the Pro Ski Race. Breedlove will head a committee that will arrange for ice carving contests, snow building contests, a parade, food booths and a masquerade ball.

In addition to events, the group will publish a calendar of monthly happenings, coordinated through the chamber, service organizations and local churches.

Also on tap is the development of a "school of tourism." The school, led by Kent, will attempt to train employees to convince tourists to stay in Ruidoso one day longer, by directing them to activities and local or regional areas of interest.

The training will be free to group members, $10 for non-members.

Membership in the Spirit of Ruidoso is open to business owners and managers. The annual dues, approved Monday, will be $100 for a full membership, $50 for a non-voting associate membership.

Breedlove said the group will likely at some point, seek lodgers' tax money to help fund many of the events proposed.

The group meets next at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, October 9, at the Cochera Restaurant.

Two teachers, two secretaries new to high school staff

by GARY BROWN
News Staff Writer

Jackie Bizzell enjoys her job as a Ruidoso High School secretary.

Bizzell is from Coahoma, Texas. She went to Howard College and Odessa College, majoring in business and child development.

Her husband, Barry, is a block layer and they have one daughter, Tai Amber, five.

She has lived in the Ruidoso area for four years. She used to come to this area for vacation and really liked it.

Bizzell likes working at the high school and finds it interesting and fun. She thinks the faculty and students are great.

Donna Reed has a lot of plans as a first-year teacher at Ruidoso High School.

She teaches special education at the high school, and she plans to ask community people to come to her classes and discuss special topics with her students.

Reed also wants to go into the community to help organize jobs for a work-study program for students who meet qualifications.

Her program focuses on success in independent living after high school. She believes the community plays an important role in achieving that goal.

Reed has been here for about seven years. The beautiful mountains and cool weather attracted her to Ruidoso.

She is impressed with the dedication and commitment of both the faculty and students in Ruidoso.

Before coming to the high school, she did her student teaching at Nob Hill Elementary School with Donnie Weems, principal. She also taught special education for the Tularosa School District at Mescalero Elementary the past four years.

Reed earned applied associate of science degrees in mental health and early childhood education from McLennan Community College in Waco, Texas, in 1977. She got a bachelor of science degree in elementary education from Eastern New Mexico University in 1980, and completed her master's in special education with emphasis in learning disabilities in 1984.

Her husband is Tom Reed. He is involved in construction and masonry work.

Rosemary Swanson is a new secretary at Ruidoso High School.

She enjoys working with the faculty and students.

Swanson is from Mescalero and has been here one year.

She and her husband, Ronald, have two daughters, Sara, 13 years old, and Regis, seven years old. Ronald works in aircraft maintenance.

Cooper Henderson has some other duties at Ruidoso High School besides being athletic director and head coach of the unbeaten varsity football team.

Henderson, in his first year at the high school, teaches American history to 11th graders.

A native of Artesia, he graduated from Artesia High School in 1973, got a bachelor of science degree in history from Eastern New Mexico University in 1977, and received a master's degree in education from the same school in 1979.

He and his wife, Judy, have a two-year-old son, Bryan. Judy is a former teacher.

Henderson previously taught at Portales High School, Perryton (Texas) High School and Amarillo High School.

He likes his job a lot and has lived in Ruidoso since last April.

Henderson plans to have history projects next spring in areas of student interest.

Gavilan Canyon agreement awaits signatures

by DARRELL J. PEHR
News Staff Writer

The future of Gavilan Canyon Road looks bright if a joint powers agreement between the Village of Ruidoso and Lincoln County goes as planned.

According to Ruidoso village manager Jim Hine, the agreement is expected to be signed by Mayor George White within the week, and is expected to be signed by Lincoln County Commissioner John A. Hightower at the next commissioners' meeting.

County Commissioner Kenneth Nosker spoke highly of the agreement over the road that has proved to be such a trouble spot for the county.

"I think its going to be helpful to both entities," he said of the agreement. "I feel real good about it myself."

Hine said the agreement states that the county will purchase basecourse for a 4.3-mile section of the road that county crews already have been working on. That work included grinding up of the old road surface and redepositing of the pulverized material on the road.

After the county obtains the basecourse necessary, village crews will spread, roll and compact the material, and will also complete drainage structures necessary for the road. Hine said if the weather does not become too severe, actual paving of the road with asphalt may occur when the basecourse and drainage work is completed.

In any case, all work on the road must be completed within the fiscal year—by June 30, 1985—due to involvement of state Highway Department cooperative funds. Hine said the village and the county each have cooperative agreements with the state, with the state funding being 60 percent and the local entity funding being 40 percent of each agreement.

Most or all of the village's share of its cooperative agreement will be satisfied by the use of village crews to perform the roadwork, and the acquisition of materials and culverts.

Plans call for the completed paved road to be 24 feet wide with three-foot shoulders on each side.

Nosker said achievement of the agreement was a joint effort of the Ruidoso village council, village administration, county commissioners and state Highway Department personnel, including district engineer Lou Medrano and technical services engineer Tony Lara.

"The cooperation was excellent," Nosker commented. "We're making our money count by pooling it and working together."

Nosker said the agreement will speed up completion of the road by about two years, and will ensure that the finished road will have a paved surface, something that was unsure before the three groups got together.

Boosters to paint windows

The Ruidoso High School Warrior Booster Club, with the help of the high school art department, will be painting windows for homecoming today and tomorrow.

The cost to have a small window painted is $10, and the cost of a large window is $15. The money raised will be used by the Booster Club to help high school athletics.

Swalander heads Hospital Foundation committee

Don Swalander is the first public relations committee chairman for the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital Foundation, said Mary Spencer, foundation president.

Spencer said, "The public relations committee was created to tell the community of the philosophy, purpose and program of the newly organized foundation."

In accepting the chairmanship, Swalander reiterated, "It is the job of our committee to effectively keep the community informed about our foundation's activities and its projects."

The committee is one of five standing committees of the new non-profit foundation. Members are Jim Atwood, Sally Avery, Mike Gladden, Chuck Hawthorne, Mickey McGuire, Tom Sullivan and Nell Trout.

The foundation is a non-profit, non-governmental corporation organized under the non-profit laws of California

NMSU group in Washington states willingness to trade

Some progress on an agreement that would enable use of Fort Stanton Mesa for the Sierra Blanca Airport occurred Friday when New Mexico State University officials met with Secretary of the Interior William Clark.

Although no specific agreements were reached at the meeting, the university officials did reiterate their position of cooperation and willingness to move rangeland experiments from the mesa if the university is compensated for any losses it will incur.

Reports say, however, that the Environmental Impact Statement of the mesa currently under way must first be completed before any action can be taken concerning the site.

According to sources, U. S. senators Pete Domenici and Jeff Bingaman were especially concerned that the study be completed as soon as possible to avoid unnecessary delays. The meetings with the Interior officials took place in Domenici's Washington, D. C., office.

Retail Merchants Committee goes on hold

The Retail Merchants Committee of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce has adjourned indefinitely, following another meeting with poor attendance.

Jerry Shaw, Budgie Green, Buddy Bundick and Tommy Morel decided to cancel any further meetings of the committee until interested merchants step forward to help it survive.

Bundick said at least 10 merchants would have to regularly attend meetings to make it work.

While future meetings of the group have been postponed, the committee will remain in place as an operative arm of the chamber.

Unbeaten Warriors host Colts in homecoming

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

The undefeated Ruidoso High School varsity football team hopes to celebrate the school's homecoming Friday night by defeating visiting New Mexico Military Institute (NMMI).

Ruidoso, which is 3-0-1 on the season and ranked fourth in the Associated Press state AAA division poll, will be meeting a Colt team that is 1-3 on the season. The contest will begin at 7:30 after the homecoming ceremonies.

NMMI opened the season by losing to AA-division powerhouse Jal 39-0. The Colts then lost to Deming 21-6 before beating Dexter 8-6. Last week the Colts fell by a 14-6 score to Tularosa, a team Ruidoso rolled over 28-6.

But you cannot always judge teams by comparing scores against common opponents. Also, NMMI has beaten the Warriors the past two seasons, 41-21 in 1982 and 13-7 last year.

"You can't go by comparing the scores," admitted Warrior head coach Cooper Henderson.

However, the Warriors would appear to have the edge going into the contest.

Ruidoso's offense has gained 1,093 yards in four games, an average of over 273 yards per contest.

That figure is even more impressive when you drop the 161 yards the Warriors gained in the first game against Lovington. Ruidoso has gained over 300 yards in each of the three games since the opener.

Quarterback Russell Easter has done a good job running and passing the ball for Ruidoso. The junior has scored five touchdowns and passed for three more.

Junior tailback Michael Williamson has gained over 300 yards running while scoring five touchdowns. Senior fullback Manuel Montano has gained over 200 yards rushing.

Wingback Justin Smith, tight end Chuck Jarrell and split end Mike Smith are Easter's main receivers.

The Warrior offensive line has been getting better with each game. Junior center James Herrera, senior tackle Chris Woodul and senior guard Kevin Jameson—both returning starters from last season—have been leading the way.

"The offense is about where we wanted it to be right now," Henderson said.

Defensively, Ruidoso has given up 951 yards (237 yard average), with 329 coming in the Portales game last week.

But the Warriors have been tough when they have had to be.

Sophomore strong safety Jeff Willingham has intercepted five passes in four games to lead a strong Warrior defensive backfield.

Junior Bobby Dickinson anchors the young Warrior defense at middle linebacker. Senior Kevin Jameson has also been impressive at defensive end.

What kind of attack will NMMI throw at the Warriors?

"We're not sure," answered Henderson. "One week they pass 70 percent of the time and another week they run a lot.

"We're aiming to get four good quarters this time and move the ball consistently."

The Colts have a lot of seniors and some fair size in the line.

Tackle tackle John Rose (226 pounds) is the biggest NMMI starter. He goes both ways. No other Colt starter weighs more than 180 pounds.

Following are the probable Warrior starters for both offense and defense.

NOTES: Artesia remains at the top of the Asssociated Press poll, followed by Silver City, St. Pius, Ruidoso and Portales. Portales was ranked fourth last week ... Ruidoso High School and Ruidoso Middle School choir members plan to sell blankets at the game. Choir members will use proceeds from their sale to help pay for a trip to Durango in April. The blankets cost $12 apiece.

Brave gridders to host Moriarty Saturday

Ruidoso Middle School's A football team hopes to even its record when the Braves host Moriarty at 1 Saturday afternoon.

The Braves are 0-1-1 on the season after tying the Hagerman Bobcats 6-6 last week. Ruidoso opened the season two weeks ago with a 20-6 loss at Dexter.

In last week's contest, Dusty Beavers scored the Brave touchdown on a 90-yard run. Ruidoso's running game was effective and the defense played well the entire game.

Hagerman's only touchdown came on a 98-yard fumble return late in the final quarter.

Matt Beatty did a good job at quarterback for Ruidoso. He will start at that position again this week.

Michael Swanner and Bubba Lane will go at halfback, while Beavers will be at fullback. Beavers is also a standout middle linebacker on defense.

Last season Moriarty edged the Braves 8-6 on a last-minute touchdown. However, Ruidoso head coach Terry Wharton is confident his team can do well this time.

"We had quite a bit of improvement in last week's game over the first one," he said. "We've looked good in practice and are pretty healthy going into the game.

"Last year Moriarty had a big, strong team that ran out of the T. Their high school team runs out of the single wing, so we could see some of that, too."

The Ruidoso B team will host Carrizozo at 10 a.m. Saturday, October 13. The Brave B team is 1-0 on the season, having beaten Carrizozo 30-0 two weeks ago.

Middle school spikers beat Capitan Tigers in three sets

The Ruidoso Middle School A volleyball team rallied to take a three-set victory over visiting Capitan Tuesday.

Capitan took the first set 15-13, but the Braves came back to win the second set 15-8 and the third set 15-11.

It was the second match between the two teams during the season. Capitan easily topped the Braves in the first meeting.

"The kids have improved a lot," said Brave coach Jim Hofstad. "They're setting better and are also serving a lot better."

In the final set, Ruidoso jumped off to a 9-3 lead and kept the advantage from there.

Jennifer Jimenez served six points for the Braves in the final set. Mikki Roller paced Ruidoso in the second set, serving 11 straight points, while Jimenez served eight points in the first set.

Hofstad also praised Linder Rad for her hustle and keeping the ball in play.

In the B match, Capitan took a 17-15, 15-12 victory.

Danielle Riska scored nine points for the Tigers in the two sets. Eva Montalvo served five points for Ruidoso in the first set, and Norma Murillo served four points in the second set.

Grizzlies to open district

Carrizozo High School's undefeated varsity football team will travel to Mountainair Friday night for the District 1-A open.

The contest will begin at 7:30. Carrizozo is 4-0 on the season, including a 64-38 victory over Anthony, Texas, last Friday.

The Grizzlies have a well-balanced offensive unit and a defensive unit that features 160-pound senior Charles Zamora. Zamora had 22 tackles in one game this season.

Halfback Steve Stearns is the state's second leading rusher with 627 yards in 55 carries.

Carrizozo and Reserve are the only undefeated teams in District 1-A.

Reserve is ranked first in the state's A division by an Albuquerque newspaper's coaches' poll. Carrizozo is tied for second with Tatum.

Bowling loops will begin

League play at the new Jerry Dale's Bowling Center will begin Monday, October 8, not Wednesday, October 10, as previously reported in The News.

Several new leagues will be competing there. There will be league action every week.

Several leagues are also playing at Drumm's Holiday Bowl.

Ruidoso harriers to run Saturday

Hoping to at least duplicate their second-place finish of two weeks ago, the Ruidoso High School boys cross-country team will compete in the Carlsbad Invitational Saturday.

The competition will begin at 1 p.m. at Carlsbad High School. Many of the top teams and individuals in Southern New Mexico will probably compete in the race.

"The kids have been working real hard, probably harder than they ever have before," said coach Ronny Maskew.

The Warriors took second at the season-opening Pecos Invitational.

Perhaps the biggest reason for the Ruidoso High School varsity football team's success so far this season is the turnover ratio.

The Warriors have made far fewer mistakes this season than they did in the past two seasons, forcing 14 turnovers by their opponents and only making five of their own.

Ruidoso has intercepted eight passes this season, five of them by sophomore strong safety, Jeff Willingham. Only one Warrior pass has been picked off so far.

"Jeff's done a good job," said Warrior head coach Cooper Henderson. "He's had more passes thrown in his area, but he's also been in the right place at the right time a lot."

The Warriors have also been tough in forcing their opponents to fumble. In the 20-20 tie with Portales last week, Ruidoso got four fumbles.

Getting more turnovers than your opponents is a big factor in winning games.

If a team scores on or after another team's turnover, there is a possible two-touchdown difference there. Besides the touchdown the team getting the turnover has, the other team might have scored a touchdown if it had not turned the ball over.

"Turnovers are definitely a big factor in our winning record," Henderson admitted.

If the Warriors can keep their excellent turnover ratio up, the rest of the season looks very good for Ruidoso.

Turning to the National Football League (NFL), the Miami Dolphins have taken over the top spot in my weekly ratings poll, as a result of the Los Angeles Raiders' loss to Denver.

Miami is 3-0 on the season, with San Francisco the only other undefeated team in the league.

The Dolphins have won their games by big margins, and quarterback Dan Marino has been getting better every week.

San Francisco is ranked second. The 49ers have been winning despite quarterback Joe Montana missing a game and a half because of an injury.

The 49ers' defense has also proven to be tough in the clutch. In a 14-5 victory over Atlanta last weekend, San Francisco's defense gave up over 400 yards, but stopped the Falcons four times inside the 49er 10 yard line.

Third place is a toughie since there are four teams with 4-1 records.

I am going with Seattle. The Seahawks have already defeated San Diego and Chicago, two 3-2 teams, and have a balanced offense and tough defense.

Seattle does not seem to miss injured running back Curt Warner much, and that is the mark of a good team.

The Raiders, Dallas and Denver are tied for fifth.

Los Angeles has not been awesome in any game this season, but has still won four of five contests.

The Denver defense is looking as good or better than ever, while the Cowboys' defense is also very tough.

Dallas fans have been waiting a while for Dallas to make the Super Bowl again, but the Cowboy offense will have to improve for them to see that goal become a reality.

New England, Pittsburgh, San Diego, Kansas City, Washington, Chicago, New Orleans and the Los Angeles Rams are rated honorable mention status.

Race qualifiers

These are the local qualifiers for the Southcentral Division Drag Racing competition at Green Valley Race City in Dallas, Texas, this weekend. From left, they are Roy Seay, pro stock division; Sheila Seay, street division; Bob Smith, pro stock division; Efren and Linda Noriega, pro stock division; Ken Hazel and Evelyn Hazel, pro dragster division; Don Jones, pro dragster division; Roy Capps, pro dragster division; and Steve and Linda Mallet, pro dragster division. Not pictured are Rick and Darlene Armstrong, pro stock division.

Warrior varsity volleyball team to host Deming, loses non-district match to Dexter Demons

by GARY BROWN
News Sports Writer

The Ruidoso High School varsity volleyball team is hoping a home match will improve the team's luck.

Ruidoso will host Deming in a District 3-AAA match Saturday afternoon. The varsity match will follow a 1 p.m. junior varsity contest. It will be the Warriors' first home match in almost a month.

Ruidoso opened the season with a home match against Cloudcroft, but has played on the road since then.

The Warriors traveled to Dexter Tuesday night for a non-district match and fell in three sets, 15-7, 15-3, 15-13.

Ruidoso is now 1-6 on the overall season and 0-1 in district action, that loss coming to tough Hot Springs last week.

"We're about equal in ability," Warrior head coach Pixie Arthur said about the Warriors and Deming. "I think the team that has the most concentration and perseverance will probably win the match."

The Warriors will probably have to improve their passing if they hope to defeat the Wildcats. They had 31 good passes and 31 bad ones against Dexter.

One bright spot for Ruidoso in the Dexter match was the serving.

Ruidoso scored on 49 of 58 serves. Kerry Gladden made nine of 10 serves, and Diane McClure scored on all 10 of her serve attempts.

"Our sophomores did the best in the match," Arthur said.

McIntosh also played in the varsity contest and had five spikes.

But Arthur was disappointed with the team's defense.

"Our defense was sorry," she said bluntly.

However, the Warriors seem capable of beating Deming.

Deming lost by a wide margin to Hot Springs recently. The Warriors did better against Hot Springs than the Wildcats did, although both teams lost to the Tigers in three sets.

"Our attitude is real good," Arthur said. "The girls are looking forward to the match."

Junior varsity frosh to play

The Ruidoso High School junior varsity and freshman football teams will play tonight.

Ruidoso's freshmen will host Tularosa at 6, and the Warrior junior varsity will travel to Artesia for a 6 o'clock contest.

The Warrior junior varsity is 1-0-2 on the season, having edged Artesia 22-19 two weeks ago in Ruidoso. Ruidoso has also tied Portales and Tularosa, both by 6-6 scores.

In last week's game against Portales, Rod Wright threw a second-half touchdown pass to Bubba Miller for the Warriors' only touchdown.

Racquetball tourney begins

The Ruidoso Athletic Club will host the Pizza Inn Classic racquetball tournament Friday through Sunday.

Competition will begin at 6 p.m. Friday. There will be competition in divisions A, B, C and novice.

Junior varsity, freshman spikers defeated by Dexter

The Ruidoso High School junior varsity and freshman volleyball teams lost decisions to host Dexter Tuesday in non-district matches.

Ruidoso's junior varsity fell by close 15-13, 15-13 scores, while the Warrior freshmen lost 16-14, 15-3.

In the junior varsity match, Ruidoso trailed 13-8 in the second set but rallied for a 13-13 tie.

Both teams had several serves before Dexter finally pulled the set and match out.

Karen Gann, Ashley McIntosh and Kathy Alston all did well for the junior varsity Warriors.

Edie Rose did a good job serving for the freshman Warriors, scoring on six of nine tries. She also did a good job setting the ball. Kari Chubb was also a standout.

The junior varsity Warriors are 1-3 on the season and will host Deming at 1 Saturday afternoon in a District 3-AAA match. The freshmen are 0-3 on the season.

New teachers, and counselor at Capitan schools introduced

by SHARON MAKOKIAN
News Capitan Bureau

Seated at her desk amidst motivational posters and literature books is Sue Carter, new English teacher at Capitan High School.

Carter teaches grades nine through 12 and is a co-sponsor of the senior class. Her philosophy of teaching is "to prepare students for a competitive world and (help them) succeed in college because of a deeper understanding of language."

Carter's weekly vocabulary lessons, geared toward preparation of college entrance exams, are based on Latin and Greek roots and prefixes.

"We try to stress the classics in everything that we do," she said.

Carter recently moved from Ropesville, Texas, where she taught for three years at Ropes High School. Prior to that, she taught at Texas Technological University and Palo Duro High School.

Carter prefers teaching high school to college.

"In a way it's more satisfying to teach the younger kids, because you know more what's in store than they do. It's challenging to help them understand where they're going and to make it easier for college," she said.

Carter is impressed with the students at Capitan.

"The kids are exceptionally motivated," she said. She noted that most were looking ahead to the future and many are college bound.

A native of Lubbock, Texas, Carter received her bachelor's and master's degrees from Texas Tech. She now lives in Ruidoso with her husband and sons Keith and George. Her favorite hobbies are canning, gardening and skiing.

"I feel that my job is to help the students reach their highest potential," said Dick Efthimou, the new counselor at Capitan schools. "Whether it be college, the service, technical school or a vocation, I help the students achieve their goals."

Although he does work with the elementary school, most of Efthimou's job focuses on students in grades seven through 12. His duties include counseling, helping the students do well on their SAT and ACT tests, and finding scholarships for college-bound students.

Efthimou hopes to procure more scholarships for his students this year. "We've got a bunch of sharp students," he said.

Another of Efthimou's major goals is raising the SAT and ACT scores. To do this, he and some of the teachers are setting up test preparation classes.

The special classes will be held after school for the students planning to take the tests. Volunteering their time are teachers Diane Efthimou, Sue Carter, Bill Stowe, Bill McVeigh and David Collins.

Efthimou explained that the type of counseling he does is usually crisis intervention and not long-term therapy. If a student desires or needs long-term counseling, he recommends them to the proper places.

"There's no away I can do all this together," he said. He noted that in a small school, the counselor must combine many jobs, including administrative duties and paperwork.

In the past, Efthimou has worked in situations where he has done intensive therapy. Having been in the mental health field for over 10 years, he has worked with many types of people, including handicapped patients. His experience ranges from drug counseling to play therapy.

For many years, Efthimou worked with Area Human Resources, a mental health center in Silver City. He enjoys working with high school students.

"At the mental health centers, I saw the end of the continuum. Working at the high school level, you can prevent (problems) from reaching that point," he said.

Efthimou's previous position was with the Mescalero community children last year. "I spent three-fourths of the time in play therapy with 25 to 30 Mescalero kids," he said.

Efthimou has also been a college counselor at South Dakota State University.

A native of South Dakota, Efthimou received his bachelor's degree in psychology and his master's in guidance counseling at the university there. After graduating from college, he spent two years in the service in Okinawa.

Efthimou is married to English teacher Diane Efthimou. They have one daughter, Moriah, who is nine.

Jane Callahan is new to Capitan's physical education staff this year. She teaches elementary physical education and eighth-grade health. She is also the assistant coach for girls basketball.

"With P.E., what I like to do is get the kids to release a lot of energy," said Callahan. "Kids get edgy sitting in the classroom; in gym, you see the release come out."

Callahan starts all of her classes with exercise to music. "If I don't have the music, the kids miss it, now," she said. The students also do some break dancing, which Callahan said they enjoy a great deal.

When doing exercises, she encourages the students to stretch out and enjoy themselves.

"I'm not into regimented P.E.," she said. She enjoys helping the students get into shape and improving their skill. She said she had already seen positive results from the few weeks since school started.

Since gym classes and teachers are often stereotyped as male-oriented activities, Callahan would like to change the image of P.E. and its teachers to a more feminine one. In working toward that goal, she is going to incorporate gymnastics into her classes this year.

A native of Amarillo, Texas, Callahan did her undergraduate work at the University of Texas. She did her graduate studies at New Mexico State.

Before teaching in Capitan, Callahan taught for two years in El Paso and two years at Fort Stanton. She lives in Ruidoso and enjoys skiing.

Volleyballers honored, gridders to Dexter

Although the Capitan volleyball team lost their Tigerette Invitational to Elida in the championship match, they did not leave the tournament empty-handed.

The Tigers team was selected as having the best sportsmanship by a vote of the referees and line judges. Three players--Bobbie Rodgers, Becky Huey and Audrey Joiner--were chosen as part of the all-tournament team. The players were chosen by the coaches, but coaches could not vote for girls on their own teams.

This Saturday, Capitan plays Lake Arthur at Capitan. Coach Bill McVeigh said that many of his players had been bitten with the stomach flu bug this week, but that they will be ready for the game.

"It'll be a good match," he said.

The varsity, junior varsity and junior high teams will all play Lake Arthur. The action starts at 4 p.m.

On Friday night, the varsity football team plays Dexter at Dexter. Capitan Coach Gary Thompson said that Dexter is a "real sound ball club ... good offense and defense ... well coached." He noted that their noseguard, Joe Luiz, is one of the best he'd seen in the state.

Thompson noted that Dexter is a "real physical team," and that Capitan's young team would be outmanned in size and weight.

Capitan's team will have some changes in position this week due to illness. Thompson would not say which players were down.

Assistant coach John Blea said, "This was one of our poorest weeks as a team" in practices, due to illness and "poor attitudes."

Despite all the negative factors, Thompson felt that his team could beat Dexter, "if we play our best game and get a few breaks." This week's team captains are Dewey Keller and Brendan Wolff.

Task force at Fort Stanton

The new task force that was formed by the state Legislature to explore the uses and options for Fort Stanton Hospital visited the training school last Friday.

In an informational meeting, the task force exchanged ideas and input and heard from different community members, according to hospital administrator Mark Delgado. Local newspapers were not informed of the meeting due to a foul-up in Santa Fe, said Delgado. He explained that the person in charge of press releases was supposedly on leave.

The task force is currently working to decide the fate of Fort Stanton, presently a training school for the developmentally disabled. A nationwide movement to de-institutionalize patients and move them to "the least restrictive environment possible" is one of the main issues involved in the future of the hospital.

Patient advocates claim that the patients should be placed in community settings such as group homes. However, according to Delgado, there are simply not enough community programs or group homes in the area to accommodate all of the residents currently at the fort.

The task force will meet next at Los Lunas, a similar facility in the northern part of the state, on October 16. The future of Fort Stanton is still undecided.

Carrizozo sets Fun Days October 13 and 14

The second annual Carrizozo Fun Days has been set for Saturday and Sunday, October 13 and 14, in Spencer Park in Carrizozo. An entire weekend of family fun has been scheduled for these two days.

Weekend festivities will begin on Saturday at 8 a.m. with a hot-air balloon lift-off. There will also be a parade, a horseshoe pitching tournament, a golf tournament and a women's softball match on Saturday. Also on Saturday will be a free barbecue at noon in Spencer Park.

On Sunday, there will be a 10-kilometer run and a two-mile fun run. Registration blanks are available from the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce.

Flea market items and arts and crafts will be sold on both days. Exhibitors are welcome, but space reservations are limited. If interested in a reservation, please write to the Carrizozo Chamber of Commerce, Carrizozo, NM 88301. Spaces are $10 each.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT NUMBER 1
(SENATE JOINT RESOLUTION 7, AS AMENDED, FROM SECOND REGULAR SESSION, 36th LEGISLATURE)

PROPOSING TO AMEND ARTICLE 10 OF THE CONSTITUTION OF NEW MEXICO BY ADDING A NEW SECTION TO REQUIRE FUNDING BEFORE ANY NEW OR INCREASED COUNTY OR MUNICIPAL SERVICE MANDATED BY THE STATE HAS THE FORCE OF LAW.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1. It is proposed to amend Article 10 of the constitution of New Mexico by adding a new section to read:

"A state rule or regulation mandating any county or city to engage in any new activity, to provide any new service or to increase any current level of activity or to provide any service beyond that required by existing law, shall not have the force of law, unless, or until, the state provides sufficient new funding or a means of new funding to the county or city to pay the cost of performing the mandated activity or service for the period of time during which the activity or service is required to be performed."

Section 2. The amendment proposed by this resolution shall be submitted to the people for their approval or rejection at the next general election or at any special election prior to that date which may be called for that purpose.

NEW MEXICO LAWS 1984, CHAPTER 6 (SENATE FINANCE COMMITTEE SUBSTITUTE FOR SENATE BILL 12, AS AMENDED, FROM SPECIAL SESSION OF 36th LEGISLATURE).

AUTHORIZING THE ISSUANCE AND SALE OF EDUCATIONAL BONDS TO PROVIDE FUNDS FOR CAPITAL EXPENDITURES AT CERTAIN STATE EDUCATIONAL INSTITUTIONS AND CERTAIN POST-SECONDARY AND PUBLIC SCHOOLS; PROVIDING A TAX LEVY FOR PAYMENT OF INTEREST AND PRINCIPAL OF THE BONDS; PROVIDING FOR SUBMISSION OF THIS ACT TO QUALIFIED ELECTORS OF THE STATE AT THE NEXT GENERAL ELECTION.

BE IT ENACTED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO:

Section 1. This act may be cited as the "Educational Bond Act".

Section 2. For the purpose of providing funds for capital expenditures at certain state educational institutions and certain post-secondary and public schools, indebtedness of the state is hereby authorized for the year 1985 in the amount of sixty-four million dollars ($64,000,000) or any lesser amount as may be legally issued under constitutional limitations existing at the time of issuance of bonds evidencing the indebtedness, or any lesser amount as may be approved by the state board of finance.

Section 3. The state board of finance, except as otherwise specifically provided in the Educational Bond Act, shall determine at its discretion the terms, covenants and conditions of bonds issued pursuant to the Educational Bond Act, including but not limited to: date of issue, denominations, maturities, rate or rates of interest, call features, call premiums, registration, refundability and other covenants covering the general and technical aspects of the issuance of bonds. The bonds shall be in such form as the state board of finance may determine, and successive issues shall be identified by alphabetical, numerical or other proper series designation. The state board of finance shall cause to be prepared successively negotiable serial bonds of the state of New Mexico, to be known as "Educational Bonds—Series 1985", in denominations as the state board of finance shall determine, to be numbered consecutively and to be dated January 1 or July 1 of the year in which they are issued. The bonds shall bear interest payable semiannually on July 1 and January 1 of each year. Payment on the principal of the bonds shall begin not more than two years after the date of their issuance, and the bonds shall mature not later than ten years after the date of their issuance. Both principal and interest shall be payable in lawful money of the United States at the office of the state treasurer in the city of Santa Fe, New Mexico, or at such alternate paying agent at a bank or banks within or without the state of New Mexico as the state board of finance may authorize. The bonds shall be signed and attested by the state treasurer and shall be executed with the facsimile signature of the governor and the facsimile seal of the state, except for bonds issued in book entry or similar form without the delivery of physical securities. Any interest coupons attached to the bonds shall bear the facsimile signature of the state treasurer, which officer by the execution of the bonds shall adopt as his own signature in the facsimile thereof appearing on the coupons. The bonds shall be issued in accordance with the provisions of the Supplemental Public Securities Act and the Uniform Facsimile Signature of Public Officials Act. The full faith and credit of the state of New Mexico is hereby pledged for the prompt payment at maturity of the principal and interest of all bonds which may be issued and sold as provided in the Educational Bond Act.

Section 4. The proceeds from the sale of the bonds shall be expended solely for providing funds to those state educational institutions and post-secondary and public schools in the amounts and for the purposes set forth in Sections 6 and 10 of the Educational Bond Act. Any proceeds from the sale of the bonds which are not required for the purposes set forth in Sections 6 and 10 of the Educational Bond Act shall be used solely for the purpose of retiring the interest and principal payable on the bonds.

Section 5. The bonds authorized under the Educational Bond Act shall be sold by the state board of finance, at such time and in such manner and amounts as the board may elect, to the bidder or bidders offering the best price therefor at not less than par and accured interest to the date of delivery. The state board of finance shall publish a notice of the time and place of sale in a newspaper of general circulation in the state and also in a recognized financial journal outside the state. The publications shall be made once each week for two consecutive weeks prior to the date fixed for the sale, the last publication thereof to be at least ten days prior to the date of the sale. The notice shall specify the amount, denomination, maturity and description of the bonds to be offered for sale and the place, day and hour at which the sealed bids therefor shall be received. At the time and place specified in the notice, the state board of finance shall open the bids in public and shall award the bonds to the bidder or bidders offering the best price therefor. The state board of finance may reject any or all bids and readvertise. The state board of finance may, at any time, sell the bonds or any part thereof to the state treasurer or state investment officer at private sale. The state treasurer or state investment officer is authorized to purchase any of the bonds with the funds in his hands for investment at any time. The bonds are legal investments for any person or board charged with the investment of any public funds and may be accepted as security for any deposit of public money.

Section 6. The expenses incurred by the state board of finance in the preparation and sale of the bonds shall be paid out of the proceeds from the sale of the bonds before any proceeds are distributed by the state board of finance under the provisions of Section 10 of the Educational Bond Act.

Section 7. To provide for the payment of the interest and principal of the bonds issued and sold pursuant to the provisions of the Educational Bond Act, there shall be and there is hereby imposed and levied during each year in which any of the bonds shall be outstanding an ad valorem tax on all property in the state of New Mexico subject to taxation for state purposes sufficient to produce an amount equal to one year's interest on all bonds then outstanding, together with an amount sufficient to pay the principal of all bonds as they mature. The taxes hereby authorized, imposed and levied shall be levied, assessed and collected at the times and in the manner that other taxes for state purposes are levied, assessed and collected, and it shall be the duty of all tax officials and authorities to cause these taxes to be levied, assessed and collected.

Section 8. The state treasurer shall keep separate accounts of all money collected under the taxes imposed and levied pursuant to the provisions of the Educational Bond Act and shall use this money only for the purposes of paying the interest and principal of the bonds as they become due.

Section 9. Any holder of any of the bonds issued pursuant to the provisions of the Educational Bond Act or any person or officer being a party in interest may, either at law or in equity, by suit, action or by mandamus, enforce and compel the performance of the duties required by the Educational Bond Act of any officer or person mentioned in that act. The provisions of the Educational Bond Act constitute an irrepealable contract with the holders of any of the bonds issued pursuant to the Educational Bond Act for the faithful performance of which the full faith and credit of the State of New Mexico is hereby pledged. Without reference to any other act of the legislature of the state, the Educational Bond Act is full authority for the issuance and sale of the bonds authorized in that act, and such bonds shall have all the qualities of negotiable paper under the Uniform Commercial Code, shall not be invalid for any irregularity or defect in the proceedings for the issue and sale thereof and shall be incontestable in the hands of bona fide purchasers or holders thereof for value. All bonds issued under the provisions of the Educational Bond Act are exempt from taxation.

Section 10. The proceeds from the sale of the educational institutions bonds issued under the provisions of the Educational Bond Act shall be distributed by the state board of finance as follows for the purposes and in the amounts specified:

SEA DECRETADO POR LA LEGISLATURA DEL ESTADO DE NUEVO MEXICO:

Sección 1. Esta acta puede ser citada como el "Acta de Bono Educacional".

Sección 2. Con el propósito de proveer fondos para gastos capitales en ciertas instituciones educacionales del estado y ciertas escuelas públicas y post-secundarias, deuda del estado es aquí autorizado por el año de 1985 en la cantidad de sesenta y cuatro millones de dólares ($64,000,000) o cualquier cantidad menor que pueda ser emitida legalmente bajo limitaciones constitucionales existentes el tiempo de la emisión de los bonos evidenciando deudas, o cualquier cantidad menor que pueda hacer aprobada por la junta de finanza del estado.

Sección 3. La junta de finanza del estado, excepto como de otra manera especificado proveído en el Acta de Bono Educacional, determinará a su discreción los términos, convenios y condiciones de los bonos emitidos de acuerdo con el Acta de Bono Educacional, incluyendo pero no limitado a: fecha de la emisión, denominaciones, caducaciones, tarifa o tarifas de interés, facción, primas, registro, reembolso y otros convenios cubriendo los aspectos generales y técnicós de la emisión de los bonos. Los bonos serán en forma como la junta de finanza del estado pueda determinar, y emisiones sucesivas serán identificados alfabeticamente; numeralmente u otra propia designación de series. La junta de finanza del estado hará la preparación de series de bonos sucesivos negociables del estado de Nuevo México, a ser conocidos como "Bonos Educacionales-Series 1985", en nominaciones como pueda determinar la junta de finanza del estado, serán numerados consecutivamente y serán fechados 1 de enero o 1 de julio del año que seran emitidos. Los bonos tendrán interés pagadero semiantualmente el 1 de julio y el 1 de enero de cada año. Pagos en el principal de los bonos comenzarán no más tarde de dos años después de la fecha de la emisión, y los bonos caducarán no más tarde de diez años después de la fecha de la emisión. Ambos principal e interés seran pagados en dinero legal de los Estados Unidos en la oficina del tesorero del estado en la ciudad de Santa Fe, Nuevo México, o a dicho alternado agente pagadero en un banco o bancos dentro o fuera del estado de Nuevo México como pueda autorizar la junta de finanza del estado. Los bonos serán firmados y atestiguados por el tesorero del estado y serán ejecutados con un facsimile de la firma del gobernador y el facsimile del sello del estado, excepto por bonos emitidos en entrada de libros o forma similar sin la entrega física de las seguridades. Cualquier cupón de interés pegados a los bonos tendrán el facsimile de la firma del tesorero del estado, cual oficial en la ejecución de los bonos adopta como su propia firma en el facsimile apareciendo en los cupones. Los bonos serán emitidos de acuerdo con las provisiones del Acta de Seguridades Públicas Suplemental y el Acta Uniforme de Firmas Facsimile de Oficiales Públicos. La completa fe y crédito del estado de Nuevo México es aquí prometidos por el pronto pago a la caducación del principal e interés de todos los bonos que puedar ser emitidos y vendidos como es proveído en el Acta de Bono Educacional.

Sección 4. Los productos de la venta de los bonos serán gastados solamente proveyendo fondos a aquellas instituciones educacionales del estado y escuelas públicas y post-secundarias en las cantidades y para los propositos señalados en las secciones 6 y 10 del Acta de Bono Educacional. Cualquier producto de la venta de los bonos que no sean requeridos por los propósitos señalados en las secciones 6 y 10 del Acta de Bono Educacional será usado solamente con el propósito de retirar el interés y principal que son pagaderos en los bonos.

Sección 5. Los bonos autorizados bajo el Acta de Bono Educacional serán vendidos por la junta de finanza del estado, a dicho tiempo y en dicha manera y cantidades como la junta pueda elegir, al postor o postores ofreciendo el mejor precio y no menos de par e interés acumulado al día del la entrega. La junta de finanza del estado publicará un aviso del tiempo y lugar de la venta en un periódico de circulación general en el estado y en una publicación financiera reconocida fuera del estado. Las publicaciones serán hechas una vez a la semana por dos semanas consecutivas antes de la fecha fijada para la venta, la última publicación será no menos de diez días antes de la fecha de la venta. El aviso especificará la cantidad, denominación, caducación y descripción de los bonos a ser ofrecidos para la venta y el lugar, día y hora en la cual las ofertas selladas serán recibidas. Al tiempo y lugar especificado en el aviso, la junta de finanza del estado abrirá las ofertas en público y dará los bonos al postor o postores que ofrecieron el mejor precio por ellos. La junta de finanza del estado podrá rechazar cualquiera o todas las ofertas y republicar el aviso. La junta de finanza del estado podrá, en cualquier tiempo, vender los bonos o cualquier parte de ellos al tesorero del estado o un oficial de inversión del estado en una venta privada. El tesorero del estado u oficial de inversión del estado están autorizados a comprar cualquiera de los bonos con los fondos en sus manos para inversión en cualquier tiempo. Los bonos son inversiones legales para cualquiera persona o junta encargada con inversión de cualquier fondo público y puede ser aceptado como seguridad por cualquier deposito de dinero público.

Sección 6. Los gastos incurridos por la junta de finanza del estado en la preparación y venta de los bonos serán pagados del producto de la venta de los bonos antes que cualquier producto sea distribuido por la junta de finanza del estado bajo las provisiones de la Sección 10 del Acta de Bono Educacional.

Sección 7. Para proveer para el pago del interés y principal de los bonos emitidos y vendidos de acuerdo con las provisiones del Acta de Bono Educacional, habrá y es aquí impuesto y recaudado durante cada año en el cual cualquiera de los bonos está vigente un impuesto ad valorem en todas las propiedades en el estado de Nuevo México sujeta a tasación del estado suficiente para producir una cantidad igual a un año de interés en todos los bonos entonces vigentes, junto con una cantidad suficiente para pagar el principal de todos los bonos como caduquen. Los impuestos aquí autorizados, impuestos y recaudados serán recaudados, asesados y cobrados al tiempo y en la manera que otros impuestos con el propósito del estado son recaudados, asesados y cobrados, y será la obligación de todos los oficiales de impuestos y autoridades hacer que estos impuestos sean recaudados, asesados y cobrados.

Sección 8. El tesorero del estado mantendrá cuentas separadas de todos los dineros cobrados bajo los impuestos impuestos y recaudados de acuerdo con las provisiones del Acta de Bono Educacional y usará este dinero solamente con el propósito de pagar interés principal de los bonos cuando se necesiten.

Sección 9. Cualquier poseedor de cualquiera de los bonos emitidos de acuerdo con las provisiones del Acta de Bono Educacional o cualquier persona u oficial siendo parte en interés puede, por ley o en equidad, por pleito, acción o por mandamus, enforzar e imponer la actuación de las obligaciones requeridas por el Acta de Bono Educacional de cualquier oficial o persona mencionada en el Acta. Las provisiones del Acta de Bono Educacional constituye un contrato no apelable con los poseedores de cualquiera de los bonos emitidos de acuerdo con el Acta de Bono Educacional con la actuación fiel en la cual la fe y el crédito del estado de Nuevo México es aquí prometido. Sin referencia de cualquiera otra acta de la legislatura del estado, el Acta de Bono Educacional es la completa autoridad por la emisión y venta de los bonos autorizados en esta acta y dichos bonos tendrán todas las cualidades de papel negociable bajo el Código Uniforme Comercial, no será invalidado por cualquier irregularidad o defecto por la emisión y venta de estos y serán no contestables en las manos de compradores bona fide o poseedores de estos por el valor. Balloons and black leather went together for riders in the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival parade Saturday. Participants came from New Mexico, Texas, and foreign countries.

Almost everything you could ever see that has to do with motorcycles was on display at the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival, including this cutaway view of a Harley Davidson motorcycle.

Last weekend, motorcyclists cruised underneath a banner announcing the health fair, scheduled this Friday, October 5. For a story and photo, please see the Aspen Festival section and page 2B.

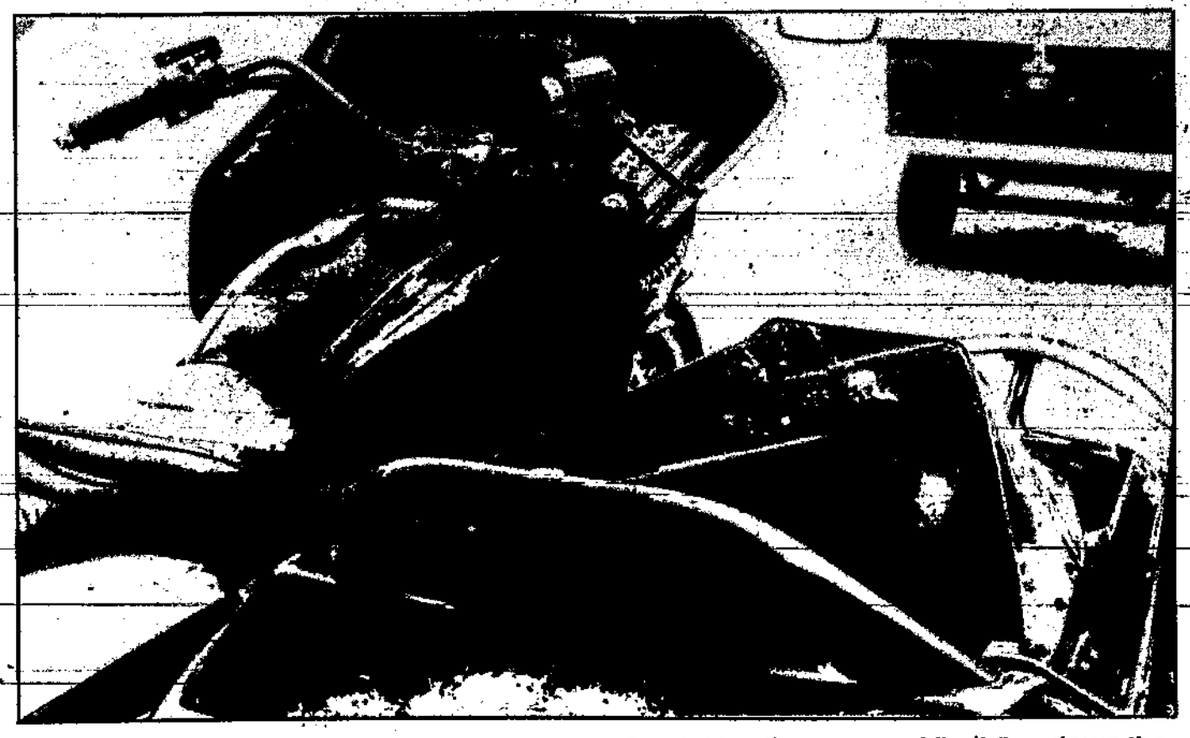
A major event of the Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival was judging of the classes of motorcycles. Judging one of the big Suzukis is Mike Stanisci of Hurst, Texas.



Want to watch the next episode of "Dallas" in a more exciting setting? The owners of this motorcycle and sidecar have the luxury of watching the soaps while riding down the road, due to the presence of a small television.

LIVING TRUSTS
by Sandra A. Grisham

Occasionally, people will put their property in their own name and that of a child or grandchild as joint tenants with the intent to avoid probate. Since joint tenancy property passes directly to the surviving tenant, this at first seems to make sense. In practice, however, it frequently backfires, causing legal problems far more complex than a simple probate.

Deeding real property into joint tenancy creates a co-owner immediately, and the original owner no longer controls the property. As long as the new co-owner is an adult and both owners co-operate, there is no problem. But any time there is a disagreement or the co-owner is a minor who is legally incapable of managing his or her interest in the property, problems abound. What was really needed from the beginning was what is known as an "intervivos" or "living" trust.

An intervivos trust is one of the least used but potentially most useful tools for managing various avenues of a person's affairs. Used with a durable power of attorney (see last week's article on Powers of Attorney), this type of trust can be used for numerous purposes: as a will substitute to avoid probate; as a way to appoint a standby conservator to take care of your affairs in the event that for some reason you are unable to manage them yourself; as an instrument to take care of your children's financial needs in the event of your death; and for many other things. It is truly the Swiss Army knife of legal documents.

A trust is a document whereby legal title to property is placed in the name of a trustee. You can even be the trustee of your own intervivos trust and name a successor trustee in the event anything happens to you. The reason why property that is in a trust is not subject to probate is because the trustee has legal title to the property and you don't. When you die, the trustee still owns the property. Only property to which you have legal title is included in your estate.

You can also reserve the power to amend or revoke the trust at any time until your death so that you maintain complete control over your assets. You state what the trustee is to do with your assets if you become disabled or upon your death. Where a power of attorney terminates upon your death, a trust continues. Therefore, in your trust you can say that the trustee will pay your debts, you can say to whom to give specific trust property, and you can specify when and for what reasons to release money or property to your children.

If you wish you can leave the trust basically unfunded, and then if you become disabled, you can have another person with a durable power of attorney (which we talked about last week) transfer property to the trust so that you trustee can manage it and use it for your benefit while you are disabled.

Through the use of an intervivos trust you can accomplish almost any type of asset plan that you would want in one document. In the event you should die without having transferred all of your property to your trust, you can have what is known as a pour-over will which will put the remainder of your estate to be managed in your trust. For those who have estate tax problems (another article), the intervivos trust can be drafted to take care of those estate planning needs.

Most people can use an intervivos trust to their advantage. Along with a durable power of attorney and a pour-over will, it is an extremely flexible tool. You should consult your own attorney to see if this type of trust would be appropriate for you.

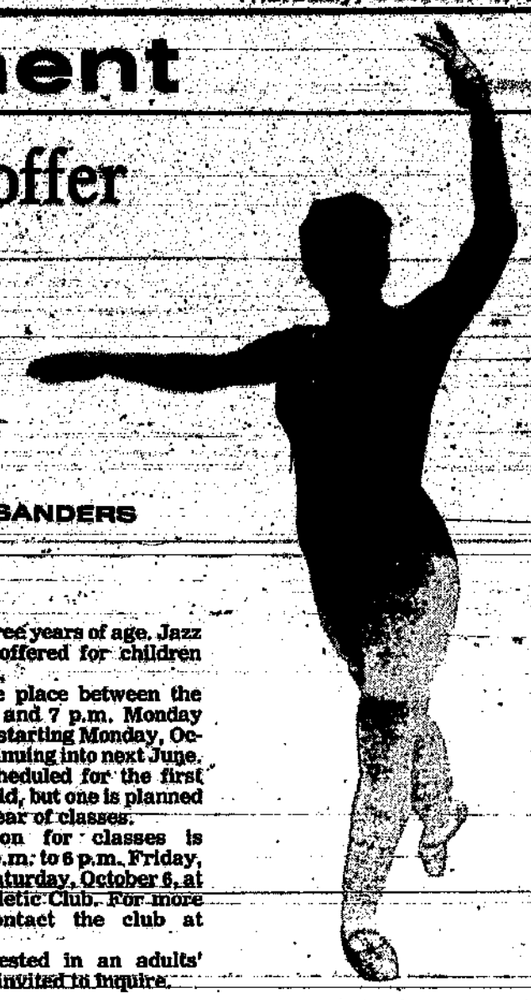
Lynne Sanders to offer classes in ballet



LYNNE SANDERS

Lynne Sanders brings 15 years of experience in ballet to the classes she will begin teaching next week.

Le Lynne Dance Academy will have classes at the Ruidoso Athletic Club, at 415 Wingfield next to the police station.

Sanders' dance experience also includes 10 years in jazz; five years of training in flamenco (Spanish dance); and five years in precision drill team dance. She taught ballet as an assistant to her own teacher for two years.

Sanders studied with Lula B. Lacey and Alta Gracia Azios Garcia of Texas.

"Dance taught me at a very young age to enjoy and appreciate all types of music—classical, jazz, Spanish, Mexican, popular and, of course, rock," she said.

"Ballet presents a unique challenge to youngsters," Sanders stated. "It provides them with a means for obtaining grace and elegance of everyday movement, and year after year feeds their hunger for preciseness of technique. They learn to love their body and be amazed at what it will do for them upon command."

Ballet classes will be offered to children from three years of age. Jazz classes will be offered for children age eight and up.

They will take place between the hours of 4 p.m. and 7 p.m. Monday through Friday, starting Monday, October 8, and continuing into next June. No recital is scheduled for the first year, Sanders said, but one is planned for the second year of classes.

Pre-registration for classes is scheduled for 1 p.m. to 6 p.m. Friday, October 5, and Saturday, October 6, at the Ruidoso Athletic Club. For more information, contact the club at 257-4900.

Persons interested in an adults' dance class are invited to inquire.

Budworm spray project successful

"The Western Spruce Budworm spray project was an outstanding success," Jim Abbott, supervisor of the Lincoln National Forest, announced after learning the results of a recent survey. The survey was made to determine the effectiveness of a suppression effort conducted last June in the Sacramento Mountains.

The purpose of the spray project was to reduce damage caused when the insect feeds on the young foliage of Douglas-firs, white firs, and spruce. Aproximately 240,000 acres of the Mescalero Apache Indian Reservation, the Lincoln National Forest, and adjoining private lands were treated with one of two insecticides applied from crop-dusting aircraft.

Abbott emphasized that while the spray project was a success, much more remains to be done. "We will continue to watch the budworm up on the mountain, in case another epidemic occurs. At the same time, we plan to initiate silvicultural efforts to prevent serious damage in the future." The proposed methods include favoring tree species such as pines, which are not attacked by the budworm, and adjusting the balance of age classes to minimize damage to susceptible trees.

Buechler Bubbly over Sunland Park season

Bubbly Bobbie, the black quarter horse who pocketed close to $150,000 in her freshman campaign at Sunland Park last fall, returns to the Upper Valley oval this season to establish her reputation as a three-year-old.

The upcoming meeting at Sunland Park opens on Saturday, October 13, and continues through May 5. After the first weekend of racing, the track will follow a basic pattern of Friday through Sunday racing. The season covers 87 race days.

First post is 12:30 p.m. October 13 through February 20. Racing will begin at 1 p.m. for the remainder of the meet.

Under the guidance of trainer Simon Buechler, Bubbly Bobbie made a name for herself as a five-time winner in the first three months of last year's meet.

The daughter of Raise Your Glass opened her '83 campaign with a half-length victory over allowance foes at 400 yards on October 23. Regular jockey Mike Lidberg steered Bubbly Bobbie across the wire in that one as a 36-1 shot. It was the last time Sunland Park patrons let the filly loose at such high odds.

Her next score came in trials for the $174,685 Sunland Park All-American Sale Futurity, where Bubbly Bobbie took a decisive 1 1/4-length win as the odds-on favorite. Heading postward at nearly 4-1 in the finale, Bubbly Bobbie again blasted competition in a 1 3/4-length win. The filly stepped the 400 yards in 19:71 seconds to earn $88,234.

Two weeks later, Bubbly Bobbie put two lengths of daylight between herself and the field in a trial division of the $120,055 Sunland Park Fall Quarter Horse Futurity. She lined up as the odds-on favorite to win that 400-yard stakes race on December 18, and did not disappoint. Buechler's charge triumphed by three-quarters of a length and deposited another $60,028 in her hefty bank account.

In less than two months, the youngster had earned more money than any two-year-old in the 25-year history of fall racing at Sunland Park.

Buechler has pointed Bubbly Bobbie to the first leg of this season's Savannah Swinger Series—a 350-yard showdown slated for opening weekend at Sunland Park. The first stakes race of the season for quarter horses carries an $8,000-added purse and is open to three-year-olds and up.

The second and third legs of the Savannah Swinger Series (400 and 440 yards) will run on November 11 and December 15. They carry added purses of $10,000 and $12,500, respectively.

Crow's Request, another Buechler trainee, also will be returning to Sunland Park this fall. The nine-year-old gelding won the Sunland Express Handicap in both 1979 and 1983. Last season he was tied for the seasonal five-furlong track record at 58 1/5 seconds.

Bubbly Bobbie and Crow's Request are owned by Gordon B. Howell, owner of Howell Breeding and Training Farm of Sunland Park. The longtime horseman plans to sell all of his racing stock at a dispersal sale in early November, Buechler said.

"Both of these horses will be up for sale when Mr. Howell has his dispersal sale this fall," the trainer commented. "He's going to try and get out of the business, because he's ready to retire."

Buechler, who has been training for Howell since 1979, will be offering his talents on the open market after the sale.

"I guess I'll go public and train for different people," Buechler said. The young 33-year-old conditioner was eighth-leading trainer at Sunland Park last season with a record of 23-13-18 from 113 mounts. Nearly half of Buechler's charges ran in the money, and he finished the meet with a .204 win percentage.

With 24 horses under his care at Sunland Park this fall, Buechler is anxious for the season to get under way.

"I'm looking forward to another season starting," he said. "I would rather run them than just sit and train them.

"My biggest thrill is winning a race. Whether it's a $2,500 claiming horse or a stakes winner."

Blackwood Brothers to perform

The Blackwood Brothers, one of the biggest acts in gospel music, will give two concerts at Trinity Mountain Fellowship Church in Ruidoso Tuesday, October 16. Admission is free for the 7 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. shows, but tickets must be picked up in advance. They are available at C & L Lumber, The Tree House, the Firestone dealer on Mechem, and Sears. Child care will be provided. For more information on the concerts, call Jan Baker at 336-4892 or Larry Sherwood at 258-4088. The Blackwood Brothers started 50 years ago, and the group has sung all over the U.S. and in 43 foreign countries.

The Silver Lining

by Daniel Agnew Storm

Sure Sign of a Hard Winter

You have heard the old jingle about the white man who asked the Indian what kind of winter we are going to have.

The Indian answered, "Hard winter. Heap snow. Much cold."

"How do you know that?" asked the white man.

"White man has big woodpile," the Indian replied.

According to this, we are going to have one whale of a winter, with five foot snows and Jack Frost putting us into the bottom of the deep freeze.

Because I know one white man who has the tallest woodpile I ever saw. I was passing the time of day with Bob Lambert down at his Canyon Trading Post and, when I stepped into his backyard, for a moment I felt as if I had been put into a time machine and transported back to the time of the Egyptian pyramids.

Here was a cone-shaped stack of cedar and juniper fireplace wood at least twenty feet high. I do not know what kind of skyhook he used to throw on the topmost pieces of wood.

Bob, widely known to fame as "The Arizona Kid," is a typical American in that he makes work out of his play and play out of his work.

He is a man of many gifts. He is perhaps the greatest chuckwagon cook in the history of Arizona, and is one of the last of the blacksmiths. In a two-by-four kitchen garden he can raise more summer squash, tomatoes, roasting ears, and cucumbers than most people could raise on a couple of acres.

One of The Kid's favorite pastimes is getting fireplace wood. Any time he gets caught up with his busy round of work and chores he harnesses up one of his pickups, Old Yaller or Whitey, and heads for the high ground in search of stumps, his favorite firewood. (Stumps are fine firewood.)

After toiling and lifting and straining like a Samson for half a day or so, here he comes with his pickup loaded to the guards, his blue eyes flashing with delight, happy as a boy with a new red wagon.

I will tell you one thing, if it turns out to be a hard winter, you can be sure there is one "jolly cowboy" who will be "setting pretty."

A Word More on the Apples

Last time I got my wires crossed and told you LaRoy Leighton had said the yellow apple was a Northwestern Greening. He really said the apple was an old-time favorite, a Wolf River.

A few days later I went down to LaRoy's apple barn again and here were some handsome yellow apples with red cheeks in a box, and I asked if these also were Wolf River.

"No," said LaRoy, "those are Winter Banana."

In a few days later, here comes a pickup, and LaRoy's apple sorter, Mrs. Sandra Salas, brings five bushels of Golden Delicious. I asked Mrs. Salas the reason for this generous gift, and she said, "Because you are a good neighbor."

Later, when I asked LaRoy why he sent the five bushels, he replied, "I thought you might like them."

Like them? They are about my favorite apple.

This is the same man who, years ago during a cold winter when my pickup was broken down and I was snowbound, came down with Lee Lawing to show him the way and brought me grub, medicine and hay.

Along this same line a couple of weeks ago, my longtime friend Franklin Wagner, stopping on his way with a load of apples for El Paso from his San Patricio orchard, lifted me off a box of Double Red Delicious, the prime eating apple.

Old-Time Apples

The Wolf River and Winter Banana apples bring back memories of the days when there were maybe a hundred or so popular varieties throughout the United States, each one distinctly different and all good. This number has simmered down nowadays to twelve or fifteen leading varieties, and locally to five or six.

Some of the favorites of fifty to seventy-five years ago are: Black Twigg, Arkansas Black, Winter Pearmain, Grimes Golden (the ancestor of the Golden Delicious), several kinds of Winesap (Turley Winesap, Virginia Winesap, Staymen Winesap, Early Red Winesap), Ben Davis, Baldwin, Jonathan, Snow White, Early Harvest, Shenango, Shenandoah, Newton, Gravenstein, King David, ...

Here on the slopes of the White Mountain the main varieties are Golden Delicious, Double Red Delicious, Double Red Staymen, Winesap, Double Red Jonathan and Double Red Rome Beauty. In pioneer days in Lincoln County there was an apple here in the Ruidoso Valley called "La Manzana de San Juan" (Saint John's Apple) because it ripened very early, around St. John's Day, June nineteen.

New Mexico's history is tied up with apples. The town of Manzano (Apple Tree) is named after some ancient apple trees said to be descendants of the oldest on the North American continent, planted by Spanish missionaries in the fifteen hundreds.

The local apples are as fine as can be found anywhere, and now is the time to stock up before the snow flies.

Snow! Is this its advance guard, the steady rain that moved in at two o'clock and is still steadily falling at four in the afternoon, here on the third of October?

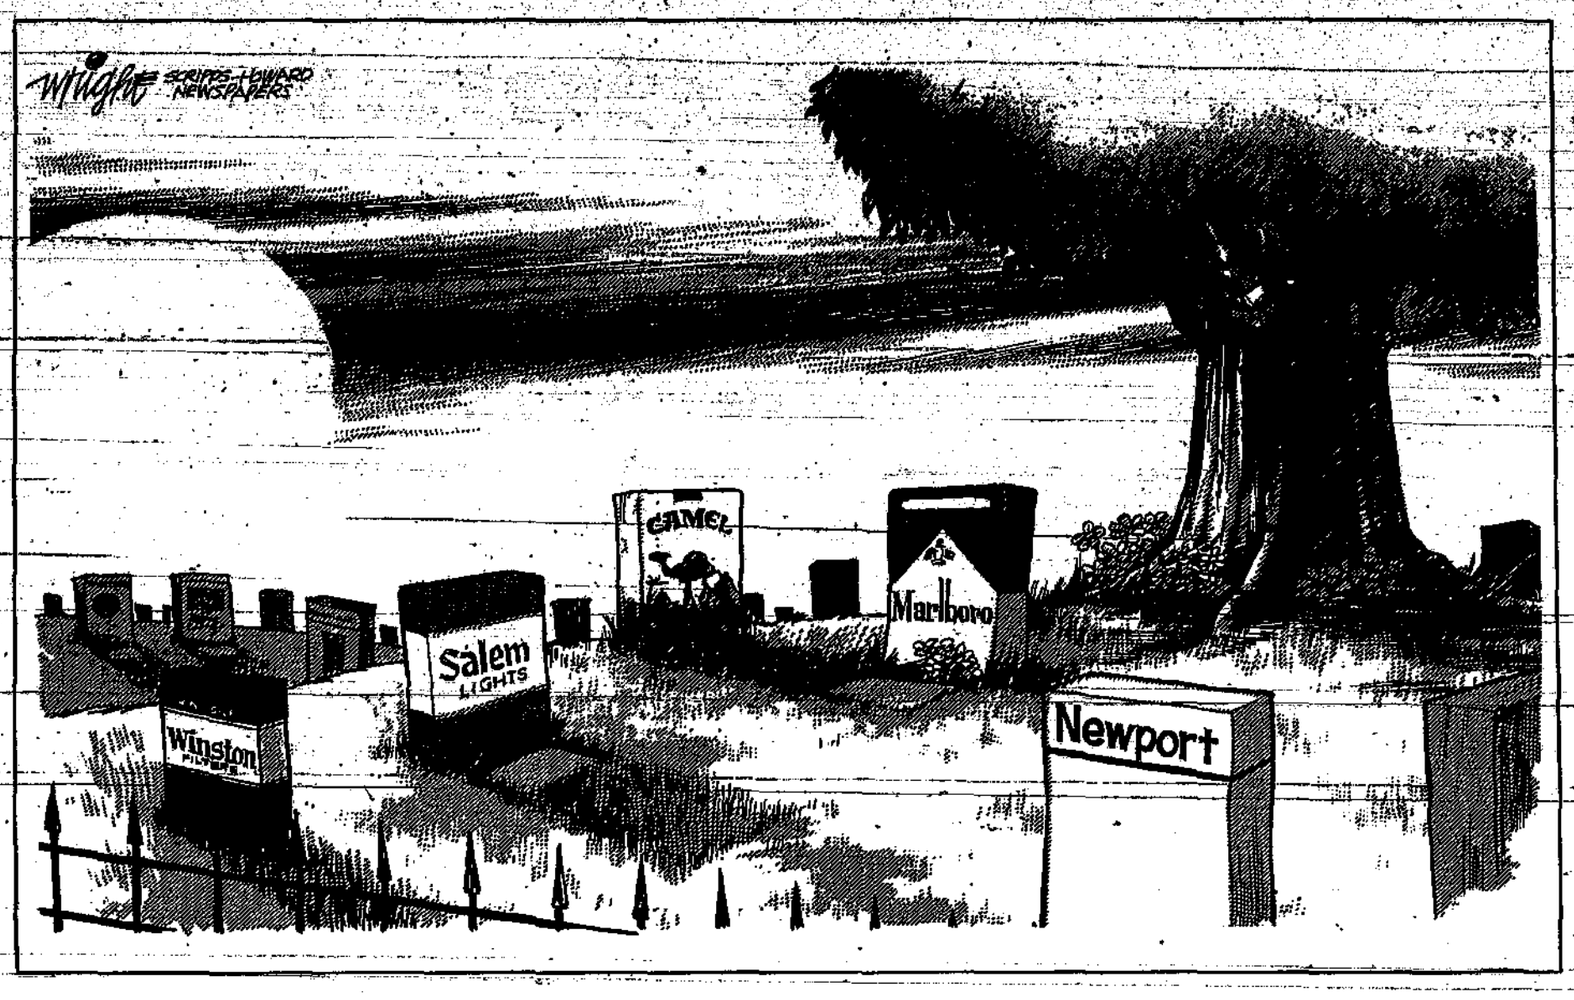
Opinion



Editorial

The following is a letter to the editor from the Alamogordo Daily News. We believe it will be of interest to our readers. According to editor Al Stubbs, the case was re-opened by the district judge after the letter appeared in print.

Dear Editor:

To say that I am angry is to say the least. More to the point would be to say that I am MADD.

On Sept. 14, 1984, The Daily News reported that Judge Zimmerman approved a plea and disposition agreement for Jovita Ryan, accepting a plea of no contest. The article goes on to say that because of Ms. Ryan's injuries resulting from the accident, the state will not oppose probation and agrees that the defendant may transfer probation to the state of Oregon to continue her education and that all charges pending in magistrate court will be dismissed.

Am I to believe that justice has been accomplished? Ms. Ryan was legally intoxicated at the time of the "accident." She was drunk when she hit Janet Cunningham and severely injured her and injured her passenger. Driving while under the influence of intoxicating liquor or drugs, and great bodily harm are crimes in this state.

This agreement was made so this person could continue her education. In what, may I ask? She should be made to work with the physically and mentally disabled, the way she left Janet Cunningham, and be educated as to what problems drinking and driving cause. What about Janet Cunningham? She, too, was attending school. She can't even hold a book, much less think about being transferred anywhere, except to a facility that can handle her disabilities.

WAKE UP ALAMOGORDO! Are you going to sit back and watch, or must a tragedy like this one happen to you or your loved ones before you will speak out? Jovita Ryan's irresponsibility not only affected Janet Cunningham but the lives of all who know her.

Many people complained about our former district attorney plea bargaining everything. Well it hasn't changed one bit! Mario Torres does it too! It seems that there were no thoughts of Janet Cunningham or her family, by either Judge Zimmerman or Mr. Torres.

Citizens of Alamogordo—don't let this happen in our community—SPEAK OUT! Don't just talk about how angry it makes you, do something about it! These people represent you. Is this what you want them to do—let criminals go free?

Jovita Ryan is allowed to leave this community and start a new life ... what about Janet Cunningham?

In short, a crime has been committed and the only one serving time is the victim—Janet Cunningham.

SANTA FE—Every time you turn around some elected official wants his position made into a lifetime job.

Recently we have had the sheriffs up here trying to convince us that they should be exempted from the present law which allows for only two succesive terms. Their argument was, of course, that they are professional law-enforcement officers and so should be allowed to go on serving as long as the citizens were satisfied with the job they are doing.

Legislators didn't buy that. They said the sheriffs should continue being like the rest of elected county officials.

They are likely to give the same answer to those who are now beginning to rustle around about how county assessors ought to be exempted from that two-term provision as well. They claim this would bring more expertise to the job because an assessor would have time to become a full professional if it weren't necessary to keep running for re-election.

It would also bring to the job the opportunity for lots of under-the-table deals and "practical" arrangements which could enrich the holder of that office.

Lawmakers aren't likely to fall for that idea either.

One value of frequent elections is that they help to keep officeholders honest, if only because they know they face succession by somebody else who can then root around in the files and find out what they have really been up to.

Another push some county officials evidently plan to make is to do away entirely with the central assessment operation we now have. That state-run operation takes care of those taxpayers who own property like pipelines or telephone lines which run through county after county.

What the locals are pushing for is more power for the courthouse, so they would like to perform that task for themselves, without Santa Fe coming into the process.

That's another idea which has more disadvantages than advantages. Most counties, if the truth be told, do a barely adequate job of valuing and assessing the property which is presently under their control. They don't so much need an extension of their power as they do an extension of their professionalism.

If they want more power, they ought first to demonstrate that they have earned it.

One reason these items matter now is that we can look for considerable change in property tax law as a result of the work of the interim tax study committee which is now taking a close look at present arrangements.

They can be expected to recommend considerable tightening of the way things are now done.

Here are some examples of things they will be studying:

—How to increase revenues by an adequate application of present law to such transient personal property as railroad cars and company-owned aircraft.

—A change which allows extremely expensive oilfield equipment mounted on truck chassis to be valued at its true worth rather than merely that of the motor vehicle which transports it.

—Improvements in the manner of valuing mobile homes for tax purposes.

—And how to connect the value of water rights which have been separated from the land on which they are generated to be sure their value is included for tax purposes.

In short, this group is likely to fine-tooth-comb the tax code, in a search for all the small adjustments which can be made in an effort to avoid larger, across-the-board increases which press hard on all citizens.

That job needs to be done. In any application of law, things gradually get changed from the way lawmakers originally intended them to be—especially when there are powerful interests affected.

Legislators should survey the current situation before they simply decide, as the Governor seems to do, that some fantastically large increase in general taxation is to be called for.

As they do this, however, you will hear the squeals from those who are going to be hit.

Yaard-vark

Backyard tinkerer Jim Benson may have invented the ultimate lethal weapon in the war against fire ants.

It's an electrical zapper, a slim, 3-foot-long device that rests on top an ant mound. Emitting a tiny electrical current, the device snaps, crackles and pops as the first ant victims meet their maker.

Then, a few minutes later, all heck really breaks loose in the ant colony. Out of the ground surge forth thousands of angry ants. Inexplicably, the electrical disturbance causes the pests to kill each other. As their frenzied fratricide proceeds, a thick, doughnut-like ring of dead ants forms around the electrode.

"I really enjoy killing them," said 60-year-old Benson, who lives on a farm in Seguin.

"Whenever they form a doughnut and begin to die, I am filled with enjoyment, because I've been fighting those sons of guns for years."

Benson made his discovery after noticing that fire ants were attracted to, then killed by, the sparks emitted by his water-well electrical pump. Following his intuition, he devised his first zapper from plastic plumbing pipe and odds and ends.

Hero's Flight Across Atlantic

Ballooning holds a special allure for New Mexicans, who have sent a steady stream of congratulations to Joe W. Kittinger, the first man ever to cross the Atlantic alone in a balloon.

Kittinger and his balloon, the Rosie O'Grady, ended the record-setting flight in Italy. Several New Mexicans helped in the historic achievement. Some of them also had helped Albuquerqueans Ben Abruzzo, Larry Newman and the late Maxie Anderson in 1978 for the first manned balloon crossing of the Atlantic.

A 56-year-old former Air Force pilot and Vietnam prisoner-of-war from Orlando, Florida, Kittinger is no stranger to solo achievements. In 1960, he jumped out of a balloon over New Mexico and fell 16 miles before opening his parachute, breaking the free-fall record. He is no stranger to New Mexicans either. He frequently competes in Albuquerque's International Balloon Fiesta.

Before taking off, Kittinger reveled in the "great adventure" he was about to experience. The thousands who followed the flight of their fellow New Mexicans in 1978 know the feeling.

Space Hall

Various expansion plans are in the mill for the International Space Hall of Fame as exhibits multiply. This facility is one of the major tourist attractions in our state, and whatever needs to be done to make it more attractive to Americans, let's do just that. It's a unique facility and is properly located—at the birthplace of the space age. It's a fascinating age, to say the least. The induction ceremony Saturday was impressive. Each year it gives recognition where recognition is due.

Soldiers

A person usually becomes a soldier because he or she wants to serve the country, but four Fort Bliss soldiers took their promise a little more seriously recently, when they took the time to help a neighbor in distress.

Staff Sgts. Eugene Perry and Donald Moore and Pvts. Michael Hendrickson and Thomas Dawson were checking into a hotel in Barstow, Calif., while assigned to the Gallant Eagle war games. When they found out a family in the hotel was having serious car problems the four, all members of the 62nd Transportation Co., offered their help.

The crew not only replaced the car's defective alternator, they bought a toy for the owner's grandson — who has a heart problem and a monitor that needed to be plugged into the car's cigarette lighter. In short, they made one family very happy — and gave it a good impression of soldiers in today's Army.

Indeed, these four men have provided a good example for their peers and a look at the kind of people the Army produces — people who care not only about their jobs, but also about their fellow men.

Reporter's Round

by MATT BOSISIO

We crawled under a fallen oak and lumbered over another. To our left was a sharp drop of 30 feet, terminating in the loud rush of a clear river. To our right was a wooded incline of 60 degrees.

In between the two, a narrow dirt path twisted and climbed, threatening to spill us to the left. Although the sun was above us, our surroundings were dark and shadowy, as if a canopy had been draped over the pines.

We were in the White Mountain Wilderness—my wife, Claudia, and I—following the turns into areas unknown. Our sole companions were snakes, deer and curious red ground squirrels. And a sense of euphoria like no other.

We were virtually at the edge of Ruidoso, but with the absence of traffic noise, construction and haste. The lung-cleansing scent of broken pine needles and damp earth, and the stark silence, voluntarily filled the gap.

What to say about the White Mountain Wilderness—a backyard playground as deep and provoking as a starlit night.

For starters, the wilderness is 48,143 acres of rugged to semi-rugged country. It was created, along with some 60 other sites nationwide, by the Wilderness Act of 1964.

Lying within the Smokey Bear Ranger District, the wilderness rises in elevation to over 11,000 feet, and drops in parts down to 6,000 feet. Trails cut through stands of pinon pine and juniper, oak and aspen, spruce and maple.

Some trails follow streams coursing their way to lower ground. Others pass through lush meadows of hip-high grass and placid wildlife, while still others climb steep canyon inclines so dense in timber that a new line of sight is established every few yards.

The principal trail in the system is known as the Crest Trail, or Trail 25. It is 21 miles in length, and follows the high, main ridge of the wilderness. Most of the other trails tie into it at various points along the ridge.

One of particular interest is the South Fork Trail (Trail 19). Throughout its six miles it follows the south fork of the Rio Bonito, crossing the river at more than seven points over narrow log bridges, some spanning 20 feet of water. Old beaver workings appear from time to time as half-wrecked dams no longer of use.

Prior to its meeting up with the Crest Trail, the South Fork connects with the Blue Front Trail (Trail 33), a rugged, steep path strewn with fallen trees and uncertain footing. It passes an old gold mine on its way to the top.

Possibly the steepest route into the wilderness is the Mills Trail (Trail 22). Though only three-and-a-half miles long, the path shoots almost straight up, starting at a camp site on the Bonito Road and flushing out at Monjeau.

In all, there are 11 trails, each with its own attractions and varied level of difficulty.

Steve Sams, district forester, suggested that people interested in tackling the wilderness be in fairly decent physical condition. Good lungs, good legs and a good back to carry supplies should do you.

And also, he said, "people shouldn't bite off more than they can chew. The terrain up there is fairly rugged. And it is still a wilderness."

Water in the area is sufficient and cold, and the streams retain a natural filter that helps purify the water. But Sams said despite its clear appearance, it's always best to treat the water before drinking—a good precaution with any stream or river.

September and October are particularly good months for wilderness trekking, if you've a mind. The colors, the air, the wildlife at lower ground make it an exhilarating experience.

If you're lucky, Sams noted, you'll hear the elk bugling as the mating season gets into full swing. "That sound alone," he confided, "raises the hair on the back of my neck."

Happily, the White Mountain Wilderness is at our back door. If you've never been there, consider giving it a try. You might find it addictive and refreshing.

The Smokey Bear Ranger Station on Mechem stands ready to assist the adventurous with maps of the trail system, information and solid advice.

LEGAL NOTICE

—ELECTION NOTICE—
UPPER HONDO SOIL & WATER
CONSERVATION DISTRICT

To all owners of land lying within the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District, in the county of Lincoln, in the state of New Mexico:

Notice is hereby given that on the 1st day of November, 1984, between the hours of 7:00 p.m. and 8:00 p.m., an election will be held to elect two supervisors of the Upper Hondo Soil and Water Conservation District in accordance with the Resource Conservation Act of the State. The positions up for re-election are currently held by Ernest McDaniel and John A. Cooper.

Nominating petitions for the position of supervisor may be secured at the Soil Conservation Service Office in Capitan, N.M. Nominations must be made for individuals who own land within the District. Nominating petitions must be signed by not less than ten (10) persons and returned to the Soil Conservation Service office, Alto Rt., Capitan, N.M. no later than midnight, October 31, 1984.

All persons, firms and corporations who shall hold title to, or shall be in possession of, any lands lying within the Upper Hondo SWCD as owners are eligible to vote. Only such persons, firms and corporations are eligible to vote.

Ballots will be mailed to landowners in the District; however, in the event one is not received, contact 354-2220 and one will be mailed. They may also be obtained by stopping by the SCS office in Capitan.

County Extension Clubs have Achievement Day

Of 16 appetizers judged by Melinda Hall, those of (from left) Shirley Gray, Capitan; Mary Stromer, Ruidoso-Hondo Valley; and Vicki Hall, Capitan, were tops.

Displaying their work are (from left) Vicki Hall of Capitan, winner of Best Home Economics Exhibit plaque and 29 county fair ribbons; Mona McEuen of Capitan, needlepoint and canning; and Shirley Gray of Capitan, table cloth.

Alice Blakestead of the La Junta Extension Club did some secretarial work, identifying members in the photos.

Among those displaying their work on Extension Achievement Day are (from left) Dorothy Talley of La Junta and Ruidoso-Hondo Valley, canned goods and vegetables; Jan La Rue, Capitan, crewel embroidery picture and quilted picture; and Louise Joiner, La Junta and Ruidoso-Hondo Valley, candlewick goose.

Coming up

Today, October 4

The Republican Party of Lincoln County plans a MEET-THE-CANDIDATES FORUM from 7 to 8:30 p.m. today, October 4, in the Ruidoso Public Library.

Another forum is planned at 10 a.m. Wednesday, October 10, in the Ruidoso Woman's Club building off Sudderth Drive.

Lincoln County Health Office IMMUNIZATION CLINICS this month include one in Hondo School from 10 a.m. to noon and from 1 to 2 p.m. today, October 4.

A parent or guardian must accompany every child getting shots.

Friday, October 5

Area medical workers and volunteers will conduct a HEALTH FAIR from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Friday, October 5, at the Elks Lodge.

They will measure height, weight and blood pressure; take blood samples, and offer information about health and diseases.

Volunteers and medical professionals from two counties will participate.

October 5-7

The Southern New Mexico WOMEN'S AGLOW plans a fall retreat Friday, October 5, through Sunday, October 7, in Sacramento.

The theme is "Growing Up Into Christ." Kay Roberts and Mary McLeod will speak. The registration deadline is Friday, September 28.

For more information, call Sandy Keller at 258-3345 or Kathy Craig at 257-5667.

Saturday, October 6

The OLD-TIMERS COVERED-DISH DINNER is scheduled this year at 6:30 p.m. Saturday, October 6, in the all-purpose room at the Ruidoso Public Library.

Anyone who has lived in the Ruidoso area for 15 years or longer is an old-timer. Longtime residents are invited to hash over old times while they savor the meal. Drinks and table service will be provided.

For more information, call Ruth Moore at 257-2073.

The RUIDOSO PUBLIC LIBRARY will be closed on Saturday, October 6. Staff members hope people enjoy the Aspen Festival.

The library also will be closed Monday, October 8, in observance of Columbus Day. It will open again during usual hours on Tuesday, October 9.

RUIDOSO EASTERN STAR 65 plans to install officers at 4 p.m. Saturday, October 6, in the Eastern Star Building.

Members invite visitors to the installation. Refreshments will be served.

The first midtown Ruidoso STREET FESTIVAL is set for 2 p.m. to 6 p.m. Saturday, October 6. The village Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring the event, which will feature entertainment by square dancers, break dancers, jugglers and a clown.

Music will be provided by various performers, and food concessions will operate. The area of the festival is from Nottingham's Pub to The Gazebo Shopping Center. Those attending are encouraged to park their cars off-street and take in the fun on foot.

October 6-7

Ruidoso members of the JEHOVAH'S WITNESSES plan to attend a circuit assembly Saturday and Sunday, October 6 and 7, at the El Paso Civic Center.

The programs will run from 9:45 a.m. to 4:15 p.m. each day. The theme is "Repudiate Ungodliness and Worldly Desires," according to Kenneth Stone, spokesman for the local group.

The sessions are public and free. No collection plates are passed.

Monday, October 8

THE RUIDOSO LODGERS ASSOCIATION plans a special monthly meeting at a noon Dutch luncheon Monday, October 8, at Cree Meadows Country Club.

Frances Durkin, president of the New Mexico Hotel and Motel Association, plans to speak. The topic will be the state lodgers' tax act.

Experts

Leia Newsom from Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital and Tommy Morel, acting Chamber of Commerce exec, are preparing for the health fair. It is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday, October 5, at the Ruidoso Elks Lodge. Volunteers and medical professionals plan to determine blood types, measure height and weight, provide cancer information and set up other tests and displays. Most tests will be free, although small charges will be made for materials for some of them. The hospital, Home Health Services of Lincoln County, Health Matters and the chamber are sponsors of the program. In addition, Ruidoso Athletic Club, Back to Nature Health Food Store, Health Matters and Pat Walker's Figure Salon will donate gift certificates for a drawing at the end of the health fair.

Ruidoso 4-H wins award

Members of the Ruidoso Rangers 4-H Club of Ruidoso have won a national award for their community service program during the 1984 Help Young America campaign.

The Ranger club was among 330 winning entries from youth units across the nation in the 12th annual contest.

The Rangers called their community development project "We Care to Make the Best Better." They worked on the environment, for youth and elderly people.

Colgate-Palmolive Company started the contests, and awards cash to winning Scout groups, Boys and Girls clubs, Camp Fire and 4-H units.

The company plans to announce the 13th Help Young America campaign this fall.

In the service

Private Paul F. Hicks, son of Albert F. Hicks of Ruidoso, has graduated as an armor crewman at the United States Army Armor School at Fort Knox, Kentucky.

Training was conducted under the one station unit program, which combines basic combat training and advanced individual training in 13 weeks.

During the course, students were trained in the duties of tank crewmen, including firing tank armaments and small weapons. They also were instructed in field radio operation, map reading, and tank maintenance and repair.

Cadet Timothy L. Pendergrass, son of Kenneth L. and Barbara L. Pendergrass of Tinnie, has received the parachutist badge upon completion of the three-week airborne course at the United States Army Infantry School at Fort Benning, Georgia.

Students underwent rigorous physical training and learned the theory of parachuting. They jumped from 34-foot and 250-foot towers before making five static-line parachute jumps and a night jump.

D.A.R. observes Constitution Week

The Sierra Blanca Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution (D.A.R.) joined the Roswell and Artesia chapters recently to celebrate Constitution Week. They met for a brunch at the Roswell Country Club.

The D.A.R. state regent, Mrs. Fredrick Comstock of Albuquerque, spoke to the group.

Members of the Sierra Blanca Chapter met for business at Mrs. Dale Dodd's home after the brunch.

Those attending were Roberta Burkstaller, Mary Dean, Regent Cleo Dodds, Lucy English, Laura Gregory, Jenny Jordon, Aileen Lindamood, Leota Pfingsten, Secretary Alice Traylor and Treasurer Marti Yoder.

Methodists set fair

Community United Methodist Church in Ruidoso plans a fall festival arts and crafts sale from 9:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. Saturday, November 3.

Church members ask craftspeople who want to reserve tables to call 671-4669 for more information.

Quaid to attend seminar

Dotti Quaid of Ruidoso plans to attend a family-community-leadership program conference in Glorietta this month.

New Mexicans will gather Wednesday, October 10, through Friday, October 12, to learn skills they can take back to their communities.

Quaid plans to attend sessions on how to deal with stress and how to deal with the news media. She wants to share what she learns with other women in the community.

The New Mexico State University extension office is running the Glorietta program, with funding from the W. K. Kellogg Foundation. Mary Ellen Payne, the former Lincoln County extension home economist, is in charge of the family-community-leadership program.

Extension offers living tips

The extension service of New Mexico State University offers these tips for sensible living:

•Unless otherwise directed, movers can reimburse people for damage to an antique based on its weight, not its value.

For example, a mover can repay someone having a dispute with a company about damage to an antique sofa at $1.25 per pound.

IMPROVED ENERGY EFFICIENCY

That's Why . . .

You Should Request A Home Energy Audit

TNP Employee Charles Henkelman checking for Energy loss around his windows.

It takes a lot of different features in a house to make a home that is comfortable and energy efficient. Insulation, attic ventilation, heating and cooling equipment, as well as many other features have to be sufficient to insure your home's year-round comfort and energy efficiency. That's why TNP Employee Charles Henkelman of Clifton, Texas requested a Home Energy Audit.

A Home Energy Audit is an inspection of the features of your home that keep the comfort you want indoors while working toward your home's energy efficiency. Find out how well your home can utilize energy with a Home Energy Audit. Call our office for details.

Energy Professionals, like Charles Henkelman, at Texas-New Mexico Power Company can help you get the most benefit from the electricity you use. This is just one more way we are . . .

Warrior play of the week

When Mike Williamson ran 63 yards for a Ruidoso High School touchdown late in the first quarter of last week's game against Portales, it gave the Warriors a 12-6 lead and established momentum for them.

Thus, Williamson's long touchdown run is the Play of the Week.

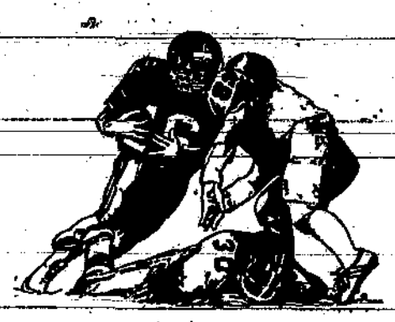
The Warriors eventually lost that lead, but came back to tie the game 20-20.

Williamson's run was Ruidoso's longest of the season from scrimmage. The speedy Warrior junior gained 110 yards and scored two touchdowns in the contest.

On the long run, Williamson seemed to be hemmed in a couple of times by Portales players, but he broke away and sped to the score.

The Warriors are now 3-0-1 on the season and ranked fourth in the latest Associated Press state AAA division poll.

Ruidoso will have the its homecoming game this Friday night against New Mexico Military Institute. The game will begin at 7:30.



Michael Williamson (20) of the Ruidoso High School varsity football team goes for big yardage in the season opener against Lovington. Williamson ran for 110 yards against Portales last week, scoring two touchdowns in the process.

Belgian Rotary exchange student Fabienne Thirion has love of languages

by TIM PALMER
News Editor

Fabienne Thirion wants to be an interpreter ome day, and she is getting practice by interreting for herself during an interview. She atiently spells French place names in nglish.

Her home town is Amay ("A-m-a-y"), Belgium, but she was born in Verviers ("V-e-v-i-e-r-s"). Before coming to Ruidoso as a Rotary exchange student, she finished high chool at Liege, a city of 180,000, 25 kilometers rom Amay.

Fabienne (pronounced Fah-bee-on, accent n the third syllable) explains that Amay has 0,000 residents. The Thirion family consists f father Andre, a contractor; mother Nelly, a hysics teacher; brother Arnold, 20; and ister Carine, 19. Fabienne turned 18 August

"Where I live there are a lot of farmers," he remarks. The countryside is very green; t is a corn, wheat and dairy farming area. A amous liqueur, Pequet, is produced there.

"There is no mountain in Belgium," says abienne, contrasting her homeland with lew Mexico. She estimates that the highest oint in Belgium is 1,000 feet.

That did not keep Fabienne from learning o ski. She loves the sport, which she learned n holidays to neighboring Alpine countries. he looks forward to skiing in America.

Fabienne requested a warm climate for her ear as an exchange student, however. She elt she had gotten her wish after landing in exas.

"When I left the plane it was warm in El aso," was her first impression of the United tates after the 25-hour trip.

"I have the coldest place in the winter, so I vanted a full year of sunshine," Fabienne explains.

Glances with a hint of trepidation pass between Fabienne and her host mother, Debby tandall. They indicate the Belgian girl may be aware of Ruidoso's less than balmy winters.

She seems happy with her home for the year, however.

"I think it's a real beautiful town," she says of Ruidoso. She likes the trees, and the fact that the village is spread out, "so everybody is not on each other."

Belgium has 10 million citizens in an area less than one-tenth the size of New Mexico. The capital city, Brussels, has a million people.

According to Fabienne, her country also has the world's fourth busiest port, Antwerp, on the North Sea.

Fabienne dates her interest in languages from the time she began to study English, at age 12.

"I love it," she says. Besides French and English, she speaks Italian and some Dutch and Spanish.

Belgium is divided into the French-speaking South and the Dutch-speaking North, with a smaller segment adjoining Germany speaking German. So why did she learn Italian?

"Because my boyfriend is Italian." They met while she was in Italy on holiday. She plans to study in Milan next year.

Language is a source of division in Belgium, and violence sometimes breaks out between the Flemish- (Dutch) and French-speaking factions where they overlap.

"It's very complicated," says Fabienne. "I think no one in Belgium can really understand what is happening."

The closest thing to a Belgian language is Wallon, explains Fabienne. She says only the old people and some of the farmers speak it. Do people lament the fact that Wallon is dying?

"Yes, because they think that it is a very rich language," she replies. She points out that the people who speak Wallon love it.

Her own love of languages stands her in good stead when she travels.

"You can make so many friends, you know. When you go on holiday you always find a language to be understand."

She is making friends at Ruidoso High School, though she says it's a little difficult because the students have known each other so many years.

Her studies—U.S. history, anthropology, Spanish, humanities, Southwest history and English—are of "average" difficulty. Taking notes in English while listening to lectures in English is proving the hardest.

Other impressions of life in America for Fabienne Thirion include: she likes rodeo (having seen one at the State Fair); she likes Mexican food; she is surprised at the American presidential campaign.

"They (Reagan and Mondale) are really striking at each other."

Belgium is a democracy. It has a king, but Fabienne indicates Beaudoin I is mainly a figurehead. "He has nothing to say."

One American all Rotary exchange students come to know well is John Howden, who oversees the program.

"I love him," says Fabienne of "Big John."

"I call him 'Mon Petit Chou' (My Little Cabbage)," she notes with her language-transcending smile.

"There is no mountain in Belgium."

"... I wanted a full year of sunshine."

"I have a good family (the Randalls)."

Fabienne Thirion, Rotary exchange student from Amay, Belgium, talks about her life at home and her impressions of the United States. Fabienne is staying with the Earl and Debby Randall family.

Breaking ground

Putting the shovel to the long-awaited start of the Grindstone Dam project are Ruidoso Mayor George White (with shovel) and Brait, Incorporated, construction company owner Betty Beagle (on White's right.) Brait will build the Rio Ruidoso intake structure for the reservoir. Completion of the structure is expected by late December. Also at the ceremony are (back row from left) John Shaw of Shaw Engineering; village councilors Jerry Shaw, Sherman Atwood, Bill Karn and Rick Evans; assistant village manager Frank Potter; Brait superintendent Jim Lund; village manager Jim Hine; and councilors Ray Dean Carpenter and John Underwood.

Court reports

The following court reports were obtained from the 12th Judicial Court of Lincoln County, New Mexico. The courthouse is in Carrizozo. Presiding judges are George Zimmerman and Robert M. Doughty II.

• Credit Bureau of Lincoln County filed a complaint August 20 against William Thompson, alleging nonpayment of open account.

The plaintiff seeks judgment against the defendant in the amount of $10,518.96, together with interest at the current legal rate until paid; reasonable attorney fees; court costs; and for such other and further relief as the court may deem just and proper.

• Jesse Valdez filed a petition August 21 against Armando Ortiz, alleging contract damages and general damages under bailment.

The petitioner seeks the following judgments against the respondent: the contract amount of $2,500 and costs involved with this action, and the sum of $15,000, representing the value of the horse, My Dilly Bug.

The petitioner alleges his horse's death occurred from negligence of the respondent, who he alleges had agreed to maintain the horse.

• Richard Gill Company filed a complaint August 28 against M. E. James, asking payment of alleged debt and foreclosure of mortgage.

The plaintiff seeks judgment in the sum of $58,598.97; together with interest from March 1, 1984, amounting to $27.47 daily; and for its costs and disbursements herein; including attorney fees, expenses of preserving and maintaining the property and other costs; and for a decree ordering the property described to be sold, with the proceeds to be applied to pay the debt allegedly due the plaintiff.

• Richard Douglas Copeland and Charles Robert Copeland filed a complaint August 27 against Dwayne Owen Copeland and Margie Copeland, his wife, and United States Fidelity and Guaranty Company, alleging misappropriation of funds and damages.

The plaintiff seeks judgment against the defendants, U.S.F. and G., for damages in the amount of $25,000, for their costs incurred therein, for reasonable attorney fees, and for other and further relief as the court may deem just and proper.

• Donald McIntire, dba City Auto Machine Shop, filed a complaint August 21 against Charlie Crabtree, also known as C. R. Crabtree, alleging money due and asking enforcement of Texas judgment.

The plaintiff seeks judgment against the defendant as follows: principal amount of $822.36; prejudgment interest in the amount of $25.21; post-judgment interest in the amount of 10 percent per annum from the date until judgment is paid; his costs incurred herein; attorney fees in the amount of $850; and for such other and further relief as the court may deem just and proper.

Motorcycle Festival here!

The "granddaddy of the touring rallies" rolled into town September 26, and with it came an estimated 10,000 bikers looking for prizes, camaraderie and a good time.

The Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival, sponsored by the Ruidoso Business Association (RBA), got under way with photo sessions, seminars, early motorcycle judging and a fashion style show presented by Women on Wheels.

Second-day planned activities included field events, more seminars, a trade show, a cocktail party and the Harley-Davidson/Muscular Dystrophy Poker Run.

Now in its 15th year, the festival continues through Saturday,

September 29, at the Super Select Sale Barn 15 miles east of Ruidoso.

The four days have been officially proclaimed as "Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival Week" by Mayor George White.

"We're going to fill the motels, we're going to fill the restaurants, we're going to fill the shops," RBA president Glen Ferguson predicted before the festival.

He said a scavenger hunt/poker run involving 45 local businesses will bring hundreds of bikers into town on a fairly regular basis.

"We're trying to help Ruidoso make money from this," Ferguson said.

In addition to festival participants spending money, he said all the supplies needed to stage the festival were purchased by RBA from local merchants.

Everything from $8,000 worth of printing to the prize trophies being awarded came from local sources, he said.

"It's the first year we've done everything local," he said. "We didn't go out of town for anything."

There will be a variety of prizes for bikers this year, including the grand prize sweepstake award, plus two additional grand prizes.

The sweepstake prize will be a custom-dressed touring motorcycle with a Poly Tron Cargo Trailer, valued at approximately $15,000.

An Eagle III Cargo Trailer, worth $825, will be the second grand prize, with the third prize an exclusive high alpine European tour sponsored by Edelweiss Bike Travel/Anchor Travel. That package tour is valued at $2,500.

All three prizes will be drawn Saturday at 6 p.m., following the award ceremony for special events, the McDonald's Gigantic Poker Run, and contingency and other prizes.

A total of 18,000 square feet of space inside the Super Select Sale Barn has been sold for the show.

Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival

The Motorcycle Festival Queen and Mr. Motorcycle contests will be judged Friday afternoon, with the award presentation Friday at 6 p.m.

Also Friday evening will be the night light display judging at the bike judging area. Motorcycles are judged by the overall display of lights attached to their units. Most entrants have between 100 and 300 lights on their motorcycles shaped into a design.

Other Friday highlights include a seminar on "Food Technology of the Future" at 1 p.m.; a seminar on "Logical Motorcycle Lubricant" at 2 p.m.; and motorcycle judging at 3 p.m.

On Saturday, the "Motorcycle Caravan of the Boulevard" departs the new Safeway Supermarket parking lot on Highway 37 at 10 a.m., and follows a course down Mechem and Sudderth drives to the Sale Barn.

The motorcyclists will pause in the midtown area and, on cue, release hundreds of colorful helium balloons once attached to their motorcycle handlebars.

The riders will then proceed through town in parade fashion.

A barbecue will await parade participants and the public at the Sale Barn, put on by the Flying J Ranch. Tickets are $5.50 and can be purchased in advance at the Flying J Ranch booth.

Some of the special awards given at the festival this year will be for the best-dressed couple, best-dressed sidecar rig, the youngest rider and the oldest motorcycle ridden.

There will also be awards for the largest festival family, the largest uniformed club, the best-dressed three-wheeled motorcycle and the best-dressed female and male riders.

The trade show and festival offically close at 8 p.m. Saturday.

Last year, the festival was headquartered at the All-American Sales Arena at Ruidoso Downs Race Track. But because of track renovations, the festival was offered the Super Select Sale Barn by owners Richard and Joan Thompson.

Also new this year is the sponsorship of the Gigantic Poker Run by McDonald's Restaurants. The poker run carries with it a top prize of $1,000.

From the hem of his coat to the top of his hat, Larry Tomlinson is a chili cook.

Chili Cook-off heats it up

After 11 a.m. on Saturday, October 6, nobody will have to ask what's happening at Nottingham's Pub. The nose will know a chili cook-off is taking place.

Mouths will water, too, and stomachs will growl in anticipation as the 3rd Annual New Mexico State Open Championship heats up in the parking lot.

Gail Adams, of Sonny's Bar-b-q, is one of three individuals sponsoring the event this year. He said chili cooks can enter the event as individuals, as mom and pop operations, or as teams of four or five buddies.

The cooks will go to work in the morning. By about 11 a.m., samplers can enter the sealed-off parking lot. They must buy a tasting bowl for a dollar to get into the area, Adams said.

With bowls firmly in hand and tastebuds barely in check, samplers of New Mexico's fine cuisine can wander among the competitors. Organizers expect at least 30 entries.

One will be Larry Tomlinson, an organizer of the chili extravaganza. Gary Hall of Nottingham's Pub is another organizer. The three sponsors are paying for the event with their own money. No public or Chamber of Commerce funds are being spent on the competition. They hope it doesn't rain.

In addition to Tomlinson, expected competitors include John Underwood and Don Dutton. The partners in law plan to become partners over the pot.

School board members Lamar Osbourn, a Ruidoso State Bank officer, and Don Swalander, of Don's Pharmacy, also expect to stir something up during the competition.

In addition, painter Gary Myers will try his hand at creating artistry in the ground round.

Entries are expected from across the Southwest, and may prove whether Texans really do serve the best chili.

Ed Jungbluth, former Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce head, plans to return from Santa Fe to act as master of ceremonies for the event.

Roy Nakayama of New Mexico State University, whom Adams calls the father of chili, will head the panel of judges.

"He is probably the world's authority on growing red and green chile," Adams said.

The chili at the cook-off will be the milder red version. "Any fool can make super-hot chili by throwing in jalapenos," Adams said.

The batches of chili in the Ruidoso contest will be judged on taste, aftertaste and color. "The winner is supposed to have taste and enough heat to make you want to eat more," Adams said.

None of the chili can have fillers. "Anybody who puts beans in chili should be horse-whipped," Adams opined.

The contest will follow other CASI rules, written by the Chili Appreciation Society International. "This is basically an adult team sport," Adams said.

The chili cooks will sweat over their pots until late afternoon or evening. Then they will douse the heat, pack their equipment, and leave.

Welcome To Aspen Festival '84!

Golden Years Jubilee offers screening

The second annual Golden Years Jubilee has a lot going for it this year, and promoters hope that staging the event during the October Aspen Festival will help make it a success.

Tommy Morel, acting executive director of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce, said the event has been better promoted this time around, primarily through print media.

He said a budget of $3,000 has been used to advertise in newspapers in Albuquerque, El Paso, Alamogordo, Roswell, Lubbock and the Midland-Odessa area, as well as to make up brochures for the event.

Last year, the jubilee drew limited interest when it was scheduled in May. It received competition from events in El Paso and Las Cruces, along with high school and college graduations and Mother's Day.

This year it is expected to be different, particularly because the jubilee will coincide with the annual Aspen Festival.

Things get under way at 10 a.m. Thursday, October 4, with registration at the Senior Citizen Center at the Ruidoso Public Library, Sudderth and Junction.

Registration will be followed by a social at 6 p.m., also at the library.

On Friday, October 5, there will be an all-day Health Fair at the Elks Lodge on Highway 70. The fair, open to anyone over 18, will run from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m., and will offer free screening for glaucoma, cancer and diabetes.

At 6 p.m., a bridge tournament

Please see page 9

Street Festival on Saturday, October 6

Midtown Ruidoso will be a cornucopia of sights and sounds during the Street Festival, scheduled for 2 to 6 p.m. Saturday, October 6.

The Ruidoso Village Parks and Recreation Department is sponsoring the event which will feature a wide variety of activities, from square dancers to break dancers, jugglers, and even a clown. Presentations by dramatic groups will add a theatrical air to the afternoon, and musical productions by church and youth groups will fill Sudderth Drive with music.

Planned to stretch from the Gazebo Shopping Center to Nottingham's Pub, the festival will be situated in several "entertainment centers," according to Robyn Johnson of the department.

The Gazebo, Serenity Plaza, Four Seasons Mall, Ski West Center and the House of Kelham will serve as entertainment centers where activities will be concentrated, and merchants throughout the area are encouraged to participate in the festivities by decorating their stores and staying open until 6 p.m.

Other events scheduled during the festival include a gymnastics exhibition, a Ruidoso Fire Department rapelling demonstration, and a Ruidoso Emergency Medical Services vehicle display. Johnson said the rapelling demonstration will be at the Sierra Vista Shopping Center and will utilize the department's 30-foot ladder truck.

Events are scheduled to occur throughout the afternoon.

"There will be something going on somewhere all the time," Johnson said.

She encouraged those wanting to attend the festival to park off-street and walk through the midtown area.

will be held at the Ruidoso Woman's Club, on Evergreen Street near Sudderth.

On Saturday, October 6, the day begins with the Aspen Festival Parade moving down Sudderth Drive at 11 a.m.

Featured will be floats, bands, mounted groups, antique cars, wagons and buggies, decorated pickup trucks, go-carts and grand marshal Gordon Snidow, the cowboy artist of Ruidoso.

The third annual New Mexico Chili Cook-off will be going on at the same time in the parking lot at Nottingham's Pub in midtown Ruidoso. Chili cooks will be plying their talents for the state title from 11 a.m. until 4 p.m.

A street festival, sponsored by the Ruidoso Parks and Recreation Department, will begin in the same area at 2 p.m. That will be followed by a 6 p.m. barbecue at the Flying J Ranch on Highway 37. The barbecue will feature a variety show with the Ruidoso Little Theatre group.

Following church services of choice on Sunday, October 7, the jubilee ends with gospel group singing outdoors at the First Christian Church on Hull Road. The singing begins at 2 p.m.

Kristi Shaver pauses for a moment to show off her cute and casual walking shorts, plaid shirt and sweater vest from Palm Island.

Health Fair October 5

For a second year, health care workers and volunteers in the region are staging a health fair.

This year, adults of all ages can participate from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. on Friday, October 5, in the Elks Club building near the highway "Y" in Ruidoso.

Four organizations are sponsoring the event: the Health Matters Therapy and Education Center, Home Health Services of Lincoln County, the Ruidoso Hondo Valley Hospital and the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce.

Most tests and checks are free. For some, a small fee will be charged to cover costs of materials. Volunteers will give some of the tests and answer questions at displays.

Organizations and individuals planning to participate include:

- Home Health Services of Lincoln County.
- The American Diabetes Association. The group plans to give free blood tests for diabetes.
- Dr. Gwen Palshook of Alamogordo. The podiatrist will be paying special attention to feet.
- Drs. Joseph Tam Jr., Howard Tate and Vincent Straley. The Ruidoso dentists will conduct oral or mouth screening for mouth cancers.
- Dr. T.T. Marquardt. He will conduct general eye testing and testing for glaucoma.
- The Lioness Club. Members will measure heights and weights.
- Rosine Stout. She will check fat and offer nutritional counseling.
- The American Cancer Society and Radio Shack. The organization and the business will combine to offer cancer screening and cancer information.
- Howard Allman and George Morrison. They will offer hearing screening.
- Blood Services of El Paso. The Texas group, which conducts blood drives in Ruidoso, will determine blood types.
- Ruidoso-Hondo Valley Hospital. The only hospital in the county will offer blood testing.

Additional organizations plan exhibits at the health fair. They include:

- The American Lung Association.
- The American Kidney Foundation.
- The Ostomy Foundation.
- COPE, the Center for Battered Women, in Alamogordo.
- The Lincoln County Council on Alcoholism.
- The American Red Cross.

Aspen views? Here's where to find them

The turning of the aspen leaves from green to brilliant yellow should occur in the high country in late September or early October if frost conditions are right, according to Steve Sams, Forest Service district ranger.

Sams said some of the best aspen viewing can be experienced in the nearby Sacramento Mountains. Ski Run Road, leading to Sierra Blanca Ski Resort, is an excellent place for viewing the trees. Sams said good aspen viewing along the paved road begins at about the Buck Mountain turnoff.

Just down the road from the best areas for viewing aspens along the highway is the Oak Grove Campground, an ideal site for a picnic while experiencing the fall foliage. The area is equipped with picnic tables, cooking grills and toilets, but no water is available at the site. There is no charge for use of the facility.

Sams said colorful oak, ash, locust and maple trees are predominant in the Oak Grove area.

Other viewing is possible by taking the turnoff from Ski Run Road to the Monjeau Lookout. Although the Monjeau road is gravel-surfaced and bumpy in spots, viewers who make it to the top will be doubly treated by the experience of seeing the aspens from the heights of the lookout. There is also a picnic site surrounded by dense groves of aspens, just down the road from the lookout.

Sams recommended that those who want to photograph the trees use a wide-angle lens if possible for best results.

Wherever viewed, the aspens on the mountain are a spectacular sight and not to be missed.

Love a parade? 'Anything Goes' in Aspen Parade

GET INTO THE RUIDOSO NEWS

This year's Aspen Festival Parade, with the theme of "Anything Goes," will feature as grand marshal cowboy artist and Western art pioneer Gordon Snidow.

Snidow will ride along the parade route beginning at 11 a.m. Saturday, October 6. The parade departs from the intersection of Sudderth and Mechem drives.

He will be the main attraction of what promises to be a strong parade celebrating Aspen Festival weekend.

Born in Paris, Missouri, Snidow grew up in Oklahoma and north-central Texas, and began painting as a youngster.

During his career, he has won gold and silver awards in several art categories, including oil, sculpture, drawing, mixed media and water color. In addition, Snidow has won 21 Cowboy Artist of America awards.

He is the creator of the Coors Cowboy series of collector's prints, the first of which, "Colorado Coolaid," has been described as the American Gothic of Western art.

Northland Press has published two books about Snidow, and his work has been reproduced in a number of books on Western art. Among them are "Masters of

Octoberfest at lodge

Octoberfest is scheduled for Friday through Sunday, October 19-21, at The Carrizo Lodge, and a variety of activities are planned.

Arts and crafts and music will be featured at the festival, according to Pat Baker, Carrizo Lodge director of sales and marketing. Food and drinks also will be available.

There will be booths for the arts and crafts, with many local artists expected to have their work for sale. There were about 20 booths last year.

Octoberfest is an Old World festival. It began as a festival celebrating the beginning of autumn.

It is believed to have originated in Germany, but some other countries took up the festival, and its popularity has now spread to the United States.

Western Art," "Contemporary Western Artists" and "Bronzes of the American West."

In one of several magazine articles about him, Snidow has been referred to as the "Rembrandt of the Range"—for his style and contribution to cowboy art.

He is president-elect and a longstanding member of the Cowboy Artists of America. He was elected to the National Academy of Italy with a gold medal, and was honored with a retrospective show at the Gilcrease Museum in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

His work has been displayed around the world, from France to China, including at the Grand Palais in the 91st Salon of the Societe des Artists Independents, in Paris.

Some of his work was recently included in an exhibit called "The American Cowboy," which showed at the Library of Congress in Washington, D.C.

In 1976, Snidow was listed in "Who's Who in American Art." He is considered to be the first artist of his generation to paint the contemporary cowboy.

In 1983, he and his work were the subject of an hour-long British television program that aired in May over the British Broadcasting Company system.

And in April of this year, Snidow was awarded the Paul Harris Award by the Rotary Club of Belen, New Mexico.

Ruidoso Chamber of Commerce acting executive director Tommy Morel said it was a privilege to have Snidow as grand marshal. He said the artist will add a special touch to the Aspen Festival.

Aside from Snidow, floats, bands and kids on bikes will provide a good sprinkling of diversity and challenge.

Already on line are the Ruidoso High School Band; antique and classical cars; the Rocket Riders with their go-carts; a rifle team; decorated pickup trucks; politicians Ben Hall, Pat Ward and Wilton Howell; and the winner of the New Mexico Cinderella Pageant.

Motorcycles from the annual Ruidoso Motorcycle Festival will not be present for the parade this year. But in their place, Morel said, will be more mounted groups and individuals, much as it was when the parade first started.

Parade participants are asked to gather at 9:45 a.m. The route will start at Sudderth and Mechem and will terminate on Bishop Street, near Century 21 Aspen Realty.

Parade categories are as follows:

—Bands; floats; kids on bikes; three-wheelers and motorcycles; wagons and buggies; antique and classical cars; marching units (non-musical) and miscellaneous; decorated pickup trucks and cars; political figures; and mounted groups and individuals.

Businesses around town have been asked to make a special effort to produce floats and help make the parade an all-out "Anything Goes" success.

Old-timers to gather

People can come and people can go in this mobile community, but old-timers just stay and celebrate.

The old-timers plan their covered-dish dinner this year beginning at 6:30 p.m on Saturday, October 6. They will gather in the all-purpose room at the Ruidoso Public Library, just off Sudderth Drive.

Of course, anyone who has lived here 15 years or longer probably knows the location of the library.

Such longtime residents and their families are invited to the dinner to hash over the old times while enjoying the meal. Beverages and table service will be provided in the library.

Anyone with questions about the dinner is invited to call Ruth Moore at 257-2073.

Pat Walker's

HELLO RUIDOSO!

It's not too early to get in shape for the holidays!

Pat Walker Figure Perfection Salons International, with 147 salons nationwide, is now in its 30th year of successful weight reduction and figure perfection for thousands of women of all ages and lifestyles.

Pat Walker's is neither a gym or a spa. It is not a diet clinic. At Pat Walker's there are no injections, creams, wraps, ear clips or special pre-packaged meals. There is no disrobing or group sessions.

Pat Walker's is an elegantly decorated salon in which you can shape your figure without stringent dieting or strenuous exercise and do it in complete privacy. The Symmetricon unit, exclusively at Pat Walker's, provides safe, passive, and yet very effective exercise that firms, tones and shapes your figure, all the while improving your circulation and correcting your posture. The Symmetricon unit is so designed that its function can be brought to focus on specific areas of the body according to individual needs.

Women who come to Pat Walker's thinking only of weight loss are always pleasantly surprised to find that we deal in total figure correction. Not only do we trim pounds, we concentrate on taking off inches in your problem areas for we know that mere weight loss alone will not produce a flattering figure. We have found that the Pat Walker program will give any woman the results that she wants, no matter her age, size or how many other programs, diets or gimmicks she has tried.

The most exciting thing about Pat Walker's is that it is based on permanency. By the time we have attained your desired weight loss by working together, you will have learned how to maintain your figure on your own for the rest of your life. That is something that no one will ever be able to take away from you!

When you come in for a free complimentary treatment and figure analysis you will first be given a 30 minute session on the Symmetricon. Afterwards, we will explain the Pat Walker program to you. We will show you where and how much you need to lose, and tell you how long it will take and exactly how much it will cost based on a per session fee of just $5.00. We do not have contracts or membership fees.

The success of Pat Walker's for all these nearly 30 years is based on just two things: Consistently achieveing the results desired by both us and the patron; and, through the introduction of Pat Walker's to women, making them aware that there is a safe, effective alternative to starvation and fad diets, pills and strenuous exercise.

Whether you feel the need to lose a substantial number of pounds and inches or if you just need a little firming and toning, we think pat Walker's is for you. Interested?

Thank you for taking the time to read all this, I sincerely hope you have a little better understanding of Pat Walker's and that you'll allow me to explain more on a personal and confidential basis.

Skiing not too far off

As sure as the aspen leaves are turning, ski season cannot be far behind.

Everyone has a favorite season in the Ruidoso area. For devotees of the international pastime of alpine skiing, that season is winter.

And there is good reason for that. Sierra Blanca Ski Resort, a short drive from Ruidoso, offers skiers of all levels a variety of lifts and trails.

The southernmost major ski area in the United States draws skiers from New Mexico, Texas, Oklahoma, Louisiana, Mexico and elsewhere. Two other ski areas—Eagle Creek and Ski Cloudcroft—are within an hour's drive of Ruidoso.

No, it won't be long until the snow flies and the skiers flock to the slopes.

Pro ski race set for end of January

"The World's Richest Ski Race" returns to Ruidoso in a few months, promising an $80,000 purse and the top racers from the international pro ski circuit.

The ski race is one of 10 on the Peugeot Grand Prix Tour, the world's largest and richest professional ski racing tour.

The race is scheduled to take place from January 31 to February 3 at Sierra Blanca Ski Resort. Between 50 and 60 professional skiers are expected to compete.

A celebrity pro-am, similar to last year's event, again will be conducted in conjunction with the race.

State and local funding have combined to make the event workable, along with local sponsors, volunteer help and cash contributions on the part of Peugeot.

The race will be televised by ESPN to more than 30 million subscribing households, in segments of 90 minutes to two hours. Each segment will be televised a minimum of three times and a maximum of six times.

In addition to the main ski racing event and the celebrity pro-am, the four days of the race will feature an awards banquet, fund-raising events and live entertainment.

The Peugeot Grand Prix, now in its eighth year, is sanctioned by the World Association of Pro-Skiing.
