Ruidoso celebrates golden fall season with Aspenfest

The Ruidoso News

MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 28, 1992 — RUIDOSO, NM 88345 — NO. 44, IN OUR 47TH YEAR — 50 CENTS

Aspens go for gold

When the trees in the Hondo Valley start turning orange, yellow and brown, it's just a matter of time before Mother Nature splashes her magical golden paintbrush throughout the rest of Lincoln County.

Aspenfest, named for the stately mountain trees that grace the higher reaches, are the stars of Ruidoso's annual fall festival.

Visitors and locals always find plenty to do during Aspenfest — from a street dance on Friday to a parade Saturday, arts and crafts exhibitions in three locations and much more — but the weekend of events owes its existence to the brilliant golden aspens.

Read all about it in the Aspenfest special section inserted in today's edition.

Included in the special section is a schedule for the weekend's events, details of various events, information on the parade and an entry form for the pet parade.

It's not too late to enter the parade or the pet parade, so contact the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at 257-7395 to join in the fun.

Soup's on!

The Episcopal Church of the Holy Mount in Ruidoso is providing a nutritious meal free of charge to all comers froom 5 to 6:30 p.m. every Monday, at the church located at 121 Mescalero Trail. The meal consists of soup, a sandwich, a dessert and a beverage — coffee, tea or milk. Gayle Nuessle (left), Marge Garner and Father John Penn (in the picture at right) were on hand to serve and clean up after last Monday's meal. No "screening" or religious activities are required for anyone. Especially invited are those who don't eat regularly or well, particularly children. For more information, call Father John Penn, 257-2356.

Highway 48 project is still on track

A divergent agenda, with no apparent burning issues, will provide the Ruidoso Village Council with a beginning and an end for Tuesday's council meeting.

Somewhere in between, emotions will be stirred for the best part of an hour. It's a council trademark and always ensures the meetings will be interesting.

Regular agenda items include:

—A report on the reconstruction of Highway 48. State highway representative Alan Whitesel willl present an outline of the work scope on the reconstruction of Highway 48.

This version, several options, will not be the five-lane proposal that angered residents several years ago. However, a recent public relations meeting with local officials indicates several problem areas regarding turn off lanes, biking lanes and the civic events center area.

—Discussions of the New Mexico Self Insurers. Ed Zendel, executive director of the fund, has requested time to make a presentation to the council.

Zendel is expected to present a fluff piece to balance out criticism

Weatherman predicts "long-handled winter" for Ruidoso

by BILL HOSTETTER
Meteorologist

As the warm Pacific waters of El Nino rapidly return to normal and the high atmospheric pollution by the Philippine Volcano Pinatubo continues to filter world-wide sunlight, it is again time to speculate on the up-coming winter weather for our unique mountain village.

Since Pinatubo's initial eruption in June of 1991, the resulting layer of sulphuric acid droplets 12 to 14 miles above the earth's surface has lowered the world-wide average temperature by one degree Fahrenheit. Over the northern hemisphere a decrease of 1.5 degrees has been recorded. Measurements of direct solar radiation have shown a 20 to 30 percent decrease while the total radiation (direct & reflected) has fallen three to four percent. This cooling is expected to bottom out in about two years and disappear in four to five.

Although January of 1992 with a monthly average temperature of 4.6 degrees below normal was last winter's only threat to the records, the heavy wet snows followed by a record wet May, a relatively cool June, and below average rainfall from to the middle of September have made 1992 a weather-year to remember. Assuming that the jet stream and storm paths of our upcoming winter follow those of the years immediately following an El Nino, and the character of the cold air masses continues to be influenced by the decreased sunlight, a logical conclusion would be an early cold winter for us.

A major influence on our winter weather is expected to be rather frequent invasions of cold Canadian and occasional Arctic air containing well below average temperatures. These air masses have already resulted in many record cool temperatures over the Northern Portions of the U.S. during the summer, and have spread to the Northern Rockies even before fall officially began.

These intrusions of cold air usually move into Southern New Mexico from the east with a shallow layer of low clouds and fog accompanied by freezing light precipitation in the form of drizzle, sleet and snow. Since these clouds are normally only two to three thousand feet thick in our mountain area, higher elevations frequently miss much of the precipitation. A few winter storms moving eastward over the Southern Rockies should occasionally spread this unusually cold air over all of New Mexico producing significant snowfall, but overfall winter totals are expected to be near average (46.6 inches in Ruidoso, 180 inches on Ski Apache) or below.

In contrast to the limb-breaking wet snows of last winter, the upcoming snows are expected to contain considerably less water.

In summation, an early cold winter with only average or below average snowfall is expected.

NOTE: The 1993 Old Farmer's Almanac, which just reached the magazine shelves following its successful 1992 prediction of the South Florida hurricane in late August along with the warm dry September for New Mexico, presents a contrasting temperature outlook for the 1992-93 winter over the Southwest U.S. by calling for slightly above normal tempertures, but agrees that winter precipitation could be below average.

Planners get set for first Women's Conference

Women of all ages and walks of life will find something of interest at the first Ruidoso Women's Conference on Saturday, October 10, at the Ruidoso Civic Events Center.

Ann Phillips, chairperson for the event, reported to her steering committee Thursday that registrations are coming in and the facilities are being prepared for a great conference.

The Ruidoso conference will begin at 6 p.m. Friday, October 9, with a reception and tour of the Museum of the Horse in Ruidoso Downs, with a Chautauquq performance on Susan B. Anthony by Dr. Glenda Gray.

Women's issues, opportunities and options, will be the theme for workshops and speeches on Saturday.

The conference, sponsored by Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso, opens with registration at 7:45 a.m. Saturday followed by keynote speaker Janet Rush, a member of the Zig Ziglar Corporate Speakers Bureau, at 8:45 a.m.

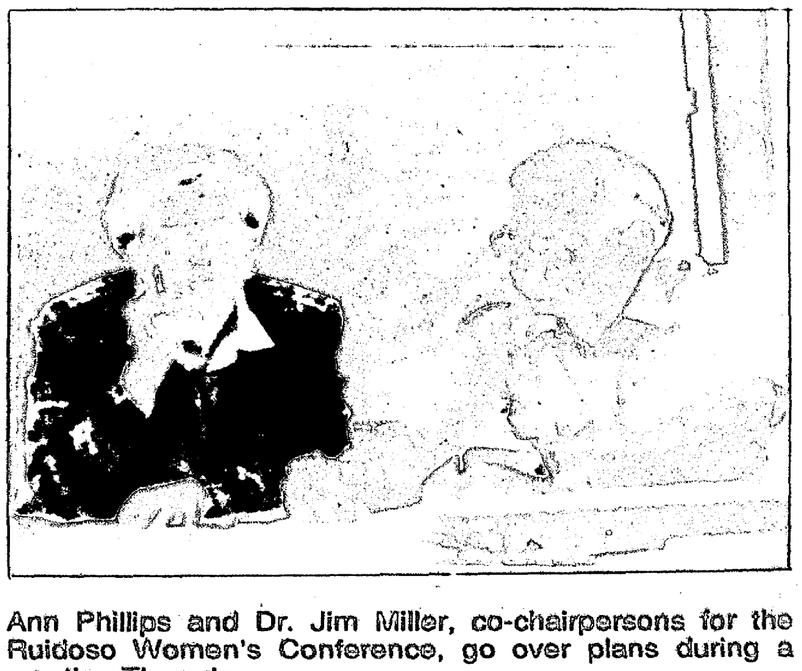
"You Know You're Great — Does Anyone Else?" will be Rush's topic.

Futurist and NMSU professor Dr. Lowell Catlett will be the featured speaker for the luncheon buffet from 11:30 a.m. to 1 p.m. His topic will be "The Future ... What It Is ... What It Shall Be..."

Morning workshops will include "Managing Conflict" by Mary Feldbum; "The Daughter Tract—the Sandwich Generation," by Verna Adams; "The Age of AIDS," by Sharon Matzek; "Publication" by Steve Havill and "Your Voice Is Your Power" by Sandra McKnight.

Cost to register including the is $40 after September 25. Half-day registrations are available at $25, and the lunch only is $10.

To register or to learn more about Ruidoso Women's Conference, call 257-2120 or stop by ENMU-Ruidoso's office at 1400 Sudderth Drive.



Ann Phillips and Dr. Jim Miller, co-chairpersons for the Ruidoso Women's Conference, go over plans during a meeting Thursday.

Rally helpers

Students in vocational agriculture and industrial technology receive $500 from Golden Aspen Rally owner Ron Andrews for their assistance during the recent rally in keeping the trade show area clean and running errands for booth owners. The students are (from left) Joe Zinn, Steve Minner, John Crawford, Shane Melton, agriculture instructor Mike Gaines, Saar Courts and industrial technology teacher Bob Elder receiving the check.

Zoning protects land from becoming a dumping place

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

In 1985, Torrance County officials were shocked to learn their area had been picked as the home for an asbestos landfill.

Too late, they realized they had little to say about what type of waste was dumped in their county or where.

Torrance was not protected by a zoning ordinance, a solid waste ordinance or anything else to give county officials a stand in keeping noxious substances out of their countryside.

County attorney J. Robert Beauvais doesn't want to see Lincoln County's future compromised by similar lack of preparation. Commission Chairman Stirling Spencer said Monday the board is ready to move ahead to put protections in place, although individual members may favor different approaches.

A former Lincoln County commission passed a zoning ordinance several years ago, but the required maps delineating land use were never completed. As it stands, the ordinance is unenforceable and there is no zoning in the county.

As written, the ordinance would have placed landfills under one of 13 activities requiring special use permits.

The county has adopted a solid waste ordinance that prohibits illegal dumping and that regulates the burying of rubble and debris.

"But there is nothing to cover hazardous waste," Beauvais said. "We do have a statement in the land use policy (passed this year by the commission) that addresses bringing in and storing hazardous waste, which is not just nuclear waste. It includes things such as petroleum distillates.

"But as far as having any police powers requiring oversight, the county does not have any authority established. My concern is that at least two sites being considered for an MRS (monitored retrievable storage facility for spent nuclear fuel rods) are in Lincoln County. If the commission wants to be a player in setting requirements, it needs to have something on the books.

"I recommend that (an ordinance) cover any noxious material."

Two reasons mentioned for not adopting an ordinance have been that the state already regulates the activity and the county doesn't have the technical expertise to monitor.

"It's not correct to say if it's regulated by the state, it can't be by the county," Beauvais said. "The excavation ordinance (on county rights of way) is an example. There's a general statement deferring to state regulations and inspection, but we hold out the right of police powers for the health, safety and welfare of county residents.

"The only thing we have to avoid is spot zoning, regulating a particular activity at a particular site."

One of the situations the commission may face in the near future is becoming partners in a landfill with Otero County and Holloman Air Force Base.

"And Holloman will need a landfill for asbestos," Beauvais said. "If we have no requirements set up, the county will not be in a position to (regulate)."

In its past objections against the MRS, the county has cited economic grounds not health and safety, he said.

"People don't realize how quickly this can occur and if you don't have something on the books.... This thing won't go away. We need laws on the books either by fully enacting the comprehensive zoning ordinance or by adding specific ordinances," Beauvais said.

"If we want to be a player, we need something."

The something Commissioner Bill Elliott would like to see is a comprehensive zoning ordinance.

"Several months ago, the commission talked about the zoning ordinance," Elliott recalled. "At that particular time, I was one of the commissioners who felt the timing not correct. But since then, I've had second thoughts and new forces have been at work in our community.

"I think now we need to back up and readdress this county zoning ordinance, and to specifically cover situations with noxious substances."

Spencer said while he believes the county's land use policy does give it some standing about whether material can be brought into the county, something needs to be drafted that gives the commission specific powers.

"This is past being timely," he said. "We need to have things in place. That's what almost got us into trouble with the (proposed) Rio Bonito (land swap by the Bureau of Land Management). We only had 20 days breathing room."

Spencer said that eight months ago when the unenforceable county zoning ordinance was reviewed, he favored creating the necessary maps. But he preferred a zoning ordinance that painted the county with broad strokes initially to be filled in with more specifics as the need arose.

"As it is, we have nothing in place to allow us to monitor, charge a fee or regulate," he said. "We'd be relying on the state,"

Torrance County manager D'Rese Sutherland said Beauvais is right on target.

"When the application came in (about 1986), Torrance County had no zoning. There was no ordinance to control the operation or even to allow us to inspect it," Sutherland told The Ruidoso News.

"After the fact, the county adopted a solid waste ordinance in 1989."

While county officials could do nothing to stop the landfill from operating, they could charge the company for hauling in any waste from outside county boundaries.

"And all the asbestos come from outside the county," Sutherland said. The county relies on state regulations to ensure the landfill is properly operated, she said.

The county charges $80 per load, which is about 40 cubic yards of material. However, it's up to the company to police itself and to supply an accounting on the number of loads, she said.

"We inspect the load permits from the drivers," Sutherland said. "They give us a daily list and sometimes we do our own checks."

The transportation charge generates about $40,000 a year, she said. The money goes into Torrance County's solid waste fund for current operation. It is not set aside in anticipation of any long term negative impact or county liability from the landfill.

Torrance County's ordinance contains no provisions for cleanup or reclamation by the landfill company, but the firm will be required to maintain a finance assurance bond for 25 years after closure.

"It's worked great for us," Sutherland said. "Because of the interstate commerce federal laws, the state can't prevent material from coming in, but the county has said if anyone brings (potentially dangerous) material in, we're going to charge at a rate four times higher than county residents pay."

To date, the company has kept the landfill in good shape, she said. "It's not the burying aspect in a landfill that poses the hazard," Sutherland said. "It's the transportation and the possibility that while in uncovered bags, asbestos particles may become airborne."

MRS board to meet Thursday

The Mescalero Apache Tibal Council has scheduled the first MRS Citizens Advisory Committee meeting for 6 p.m. Thursday evening, October 8, in the multipurpose room of the Bert Reeves Learning Center in Alamogordo.

Tribal Secretary and Mescalero MRS Project Manager Fred Peso said, "We are very pleased with the positive response we have received to our invitation for participation iun the Citizens Advisory Committee."

Peso said establishing a constructive community wide dialogue concerning the MRS is a requirement of the voluntary siting process created by Congress.

"We deeply appreciate the willingness of so many distinguished citizens to attend this initial meeting," he said.

The purpose of the Citizens Advisory Committee is to undertake an assessment of the potential impacts of an MRS if such a facility were located in the region.

The October 8 kickoff meeting will include presentations by the Office of Nuclear Waste Negotiator explaining the voluntary MRS siting process, followed by a report on the finds and activities undertaken as a part of the Mescalero Tribal Council's ongoing MRS feasibility studies.

The remainder of the meeting is expected to be taken up with organizing discussions by the committee itself, including the selection of officers and the development of a workplan.

Members of the committee include: Commissioner Dorothy Mills, Otero County; Commissioner Jerry Poole, Alamogordo; Mayor Mike Nivison, Cloudcroft; Councilwoman Jeni Alexander, Tularosa; Commissioner Stirling Spencer, Lincoln County; Councilor Bill Karn, Ruidoso; Frank Potter, development director for the Museum of the Horse; Provost Charles Reidlinger, NMSU-Alamogordo; Dr. Garry Brown, Gerald Champion Memorial Hospital and Robert Sanchez HAZMAT officer for Otero County.

For futher information, call Fred Peso at 505-671-4637 or 671-4351.

leveled at the insurer's high cost ($6-10,000 per year) for Grindstone boaters, and perceived unrealistic expectations as outlined at a previous council meeting by village insurer Dave Parks and several council members.

—Bonnie Richardson request to discuss the land lease agreement between the village and the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association.

For years, the largest percentage of Parks and Recreation dollars was budgeted for gymnastics programs for the very young.

The village now wishes to be relieved of the responsibilities of providing this program.

Although village officials have promised a more rounded parks department, the village council's largest budget cuts were from parks and recreation, currently without a director.

—Citizens comments concerning "Politics and the News." Ex-councilor Al Junge said he will talk on the mayor and village councilors and related news stories by The Ruidoso News.

—Jimmy Goodwin, owner of Schlotsky's Sandwich Shop, is purchasing a lot for a new Schlotskys. Replat of the property was approved by the village council on November 12, 1991 with a $10,000 C.D. pledge to guarantee completion of roadway improvements.

The planning commission recently acted to recommend approval of a requested release and substitution of the C.D. The C.D. will be replaced by like security.

Village council approval is required to allow the release and substitution of financial guarantee and extension thereof.

—A Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority (LCSWA) request for designation of Governmental Gross Receipt Taxes.

County solid waste director Gene Green will present a request for the gross receipts for the LCSWA for acquirfing a landfill.

Green requests Resolution 92-26, an agreement between Lincoln County, Ruidoso and Otero County, be adopted.

—An agreement with White Mountain Search and Rescue (WMSAR) with the village. The village will provide insurance coverage on listed vehicles for WMSAR for services rendered that are specified in the agreement.

—Discussions concerning the Grindstone Subdivision, the land, not the lake.

Among other items to be discussed by the council or village officials are: flushing water lines, completion of the civic events center, Crimestopper awards, MRS report, public hearing regaring Nelson/Andrews tract, employee of the month.

RHS welders win at contest

Vocational agriculture students in Ruidoso schools were judged to be the best welders in a contest sponsored by the Roswell District of the Bureau of Land Management on August 31.

During the past year, 40 barbecue grills were constructed by students in vocational agriculture from Goddard, Roswell, Ruidoso, Capitan and Carrizozo schools.

Ruidoso instructor Mike Gaines said about 20 students in seventh to 10th grade worked on the eight grills during the spring to learn welding skills. He and the students were pleased with the honor.

As the winner Ruidoso will receive more materials to complete other projects for the BLM. The students fabricated the grills from raw steel plate and other materials.

Welders employed by Transwestern Pipeline Company and the Oilfield Training Center judged the grills on workmanship as well as welding techniques.

The best-made grills will be placed at BLM administered recreation areas at Mescalero Sands, Rio Bonito Campground at Fort Stanton and at the Valley of Fires Recreation Area near Carrizozo.

Ruidoso schools won a Bureau of Land Management competition in welding grills. Two students who participated (left) Kevin Davis and (right) Scott Davis pose with a grill they are working on this fall under instructor Mike Gaines.

Hunter safety course begins tonight

A complete course in hunter education has been scheduled at the Ruidoso Police Department in the training room.

The first session just ended on Friday, but hunters can still sign up for the second or third round of hunter education classes to be taught from 6 to 9 p.m. September 28 through October 2, and October 19 through October 23.

According to Sgt. B.J. Barnes, volunteer hunter education instructor for New Mexico Department of Game and Fish, this course is a comprehensive overview, including instruction in rifle, shotgun and bow hunting handling and safety, hunter responsibilities, wildlife management, field survival, wildlife identification and much more.

State law requires all persons under 18 years old who go afield with firearms in New Mexico to have completed a course such as this one. Students who successfully complete the class will be issued a hunter education card that they carry while hunting or shooting.

A donation of $3 is required. Students must attend all classes, stressed Barnes.

For more information or to register, contact Sgt. B.J. Barnes, Corp. Pete Esquibel or State Police Officer Mike Howard at 257-7365, or pre-register at the Ruidoso Police Department receptionist desk or the Radio Dispatch Office.

Ruidoso Police Officer B.J. Barnes instructs hunters on bow hunting rules and regulations during a recent safety course. Another session begins tonight.

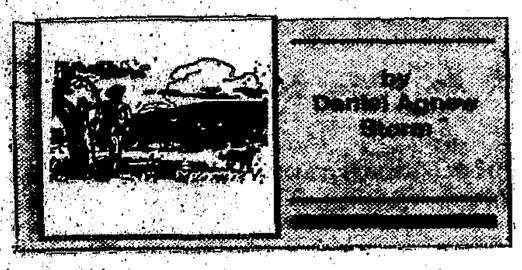
Family pays tribute to Mary Gertrude Hale



by Daniel Agnew Shores

Gertrude Hale

Services were held September 17 for pioneer lady Gertrude Hale. I wanted to bring you something special in addition to what I wrote last time.

A special tribute was written by two of her grandchildren; Karline Bank and Karen Urps:

Mary Gertrude Hale

"Whether you called her Mama, Aunt Babe, or Mamma Hale, you were speaking of a very special person.

Gertrude arrived in the Ruidoso Valley as a young wife and mother in 1917. They lived in a dugout with a dirt floor and dirt roof until they built a log house. Gertrude put in the floor, ceiling and chinked the logs herself.

She was widowed when her children were very young and she managed to farm and ranch and raise her five children alone. She supported her family raising cattle, selling calves, milk, eggs and produce.

She cared for her mother until she passed away in 1949.

Every Sunday the family was loaded in the wagon and went to church. It didn't matter how hot or cold — they went to church. She attended the First Church of Christ in Ruidoso. After church her brother and sister and their families would join her for Sunday dinner. She was always a favorite of her nieces and nephews, probably because she treated them like her own.

She was the one person in the area whom people could call to sit with the sick. She also took the little ones if they needed someone to care for them. Babies always had a special place in her heart. Especially some whose parents could not or would not care for them theirselves.

Gertrude would take in anyone who needed help. It wasn't unusual for her to have an entire family stay with her after a car accident or some other unfortunate circumstance.

She loved to be outdoors. She enjoyed her garden and especially her flowers. She always had hollyhocks, four o'clocks, sweet peas and cosmos. The flowers attracted birds. She could sit for hours enjoying the outdoors.

She loved to have company. The more the merrier. She looked forward each summer to the family reunion where she could visit and talk of old times.

We will all remember her as one of the most loving and forgiving ladies. We will miss her, but her memory will live forever in our hearts."

This tribute was read by Elder Cleston Pritchett. Elders Tommy White and Joe Buchanan said prayers for Gertrude and the family.

Pallbearers were: Buddy Allison, Grant Grant, Jimmy Allison, Wayne Pieper, Rodney Allison and Woody Allison.

Honorary pallbearers were: Cleston Prichett, Joe Buchanan, Leroy Vickers, Edward Payton, Jim Hale, Bob Harris, Tommy White, Junior Winfield, Clarence Hicks, Lehman Metcalf, Buddy Payton and Fred Payton.

The youngest one at the services was two-weeks-old Elizabeth Dee Walker a great-great-granddaughter.

Fall Arrives In True Colors

On the morning of September 22, the first day of fall, the north wind came in with a breath of cool air; and all in a day the leaves began to show just a touch of the colors of early fall. All day the cool wave stayed in the sunny air, and it was not until late evening that the sun warmed the Vale to summer time warmth.

Now today on the 24th, the east wind is moving the colors of the American flag, under a blue sky full of floating pure blue floating clouds, with the oak brush patches among the evergreens on the hill beyond, turning from green to golden green.

The golden autumn daisies on tall stems are in heavy bloom sending their honey fragrance on the gentle breeze.

All in all this is a warm and mild beginning to the days of fall, with the late summer flowers still in bloom, led by the wild sweet pea, the salmon colored mallow and golden primrose.

The apples are turning red and gold in the mid valleys, growing into full ripeness to celebrate October, the Apple month.

This message will reach you on September 28. Let us rejoice and thank God for the arrival of early fall, and for our other many blessings.

Downs trustees hear from garbage group

Ruidoso Downs trustees have a short agenda to cover at their meeting at 7 p.m. tonight at the Downs fire station.

In the first item of business, Lincoln County Solid Waste director Gene Green will ask the board to pass a resolution to release the collateral pledge of the environmental gross receipts taxes to allow the authority to negotiate on a regional landfill. The tax was set up for payment of obligations to the municipalities in the authority but the group has sufficient funds from other sources to do this.

Also on the agenda will be the reappointment of members to the Lodgers Tax Advisory Board and the approval of the members' terms of office. The advisory board will also bring a recommendation to the trustees for funds for the 1993 Community Guide, which is being produced by a private company out of Las Cruces with the endorsement of the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce and the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County.

Trustees will also approve a sealed bid on gravel and hauling.

Obituary

Earl T. Pior

Services for Earl T. Pior, 79, of Ruidoso Downs were scheduled at 10:30 a.m. today (Monday) at the First Baptist Church of Ruidoso Downs. Officiating was the Reverend Mike Bush, pastor of the church. Burial was to follow at Forest Lawn Cemetery.

Pior died Thursday at Lincoln County Medical Center in Ruidoso. He was born June 1, 1913, at Wellington, Texas, to Mabel and Clovis Pior who both precede him in death.

He moved to Lincoln County in April 1954 from Phoenix, Arizona. He was a member of the Woodmen of the World and the First Baptist Church of Ruidoso Downs. He was a retired real estate developer.

He married Martha Meyers on November 9, 1933, at Artesia, and she preceded him in death on February 7, 1991.

Survivors include Jack T. Pior of Melbourne, Florida, and Robert E. Pior of Ruidoso Downs; two daughters, Jeanne Dean of Mesa, Arizona, and Margaret Keith of Alamogordo; sister, Vera Maas of Florida; 10 grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Russ Pior, Rod Pior, Neal Perry, Hugh Lackey, Fred Bernard and Jack Watkins.

Arrangements are under the direction of LaGrone Funeral Chapel of Ruidoso.

ENMU presents programs that range from Business Center to People's Law School

Workshops and roundtable discussions are the core of Eastern New Mexico University-Ruidoso's new Business Center starting this fall.

ENMU-Ruidoso campus director Dr. Jim Miller and the directors of three area organizations worked together to provide the new learning opportunities for local business owners and potential owners. The directors chose topics for timeliness and impact on the business community here.

Although not all of the details have been set for the center sessions, people may begin registering through the university immediately or register the day of the course.

One of the sessions scheduled for November will be "What Small Business Owners Need to Know about the Americans with Disabilities Act." The National MainStreet Center is providing this workshop to assist business owners in learning the details to comply with the new federal act.

Also in coordination with the MainStreet organization a session called "Improving Your Bottom Line" will be presented from 8:30 a.m. to 4 p.m. during a day the first week of November.

"Writing a Business Plan" will be presented on seven evenings from 7-9 p.m. this fall. The hands-on workshop involves the actual development of a workable business plan. Each week, students will work in class on a different element of the individual's plan, assisted by an expert in business plan design. At the end of the seven evenings, students will have created a working plan that will give the business the direction it needs for maximum profitability.

The Business Owner's Roundtable will include three separate topics for business owners to benefit from. The first session, "Doing the Loan Application Right: Financing Alternatives with Private Lending Institutions," will be on October 15. The consultant for this topic will be Roy Seay of First National Bank of Ruidoso.

The second topic will also be led by local business people who understand the village's economy and will use it to help business owners in "Designing and Using a Small Business Budget." Herb Brunell, owner of Brunell's clothing store, and John McCullough, CPA, comptroller for the Inn of the Mountain Gods and instructor for ENMU, will be discussing the small business budget on October 22.

On November 5 a day-long session is planned to discuss "State and Federal Tax Benefits for Small Business."

The cost for most of the sessions will be $10 per individual or $7 per person for a team sending four or more people.

Knowing more about New Mexico's legal system could be a big advantage for business owners, landlords, tenants or anyone locked in a dispute of any kind.

A course that will give a solid overview of the system is being offered this fall at the Ruidoso instructional center of Eastern New Mexico University.

Under the heading of The People's Law School, eight different classes are scheduled starting Thursday, October 1 and meeting each Thursday from 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. at Ruidoso High School for the next seven weeks through November 19.

Local attorneys and judges, as part of the local bar association, are donating their time to teach the classes. A $25 registration fee will cover the cost of course materials, center director Jim Miller said.

The court system and how it works is the focus of the first class, to be taught by Magistrate Judge Jim Wheeler, District Judge Richard A. Parsons and Municipal Judge Charles Hawthorne.

The second class will concentrate on the family and domestic relations. Parsons and lawyer Don Dutton, who set up the lecturers, will handle that topic.

Mediation and alternate dispute resolution will be discussed by State Representative John Underwood (D-Ruidoso), and Dan Bryant, two local lawyers.

At the fourth Thursday class, lawyers Ron Lewis and Richard Hawthorne will speak about forming a small business.

Calvin Wesch and Gary Mitchell, both lawyers, will team up to review personal injury and consumer law.

Mitchell will return on the sixth Thursday to lecture about his forté, criminal law, along with his associate Noel Arquiz and assistant district attorney Viola Rhodes.

Mitchell's legal assistant Freda McSwane, Dutton and lawyer Alan Morel will pool their information on elderly law and social security.

The last class will cover real estate law and landlord/tenant relations. Morel and lawyer David Stevens will be the speakers.

To register by telephone locally call, 257-2120 or from out of the area by dialing 1-800-934-ENMU. Registration also will be taken at the center office on Sudderth or on the first class night of the course.

Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County president Ronnie Paulger presents Dorothy Smith a special plaque during a recent Capitan village council meeting for her hard work in helping get the EDCLC started and serving as a board member from 1988-1992.

EDC postpones meeting

Directors for the Economic Development Corporation of Lincoln County postponed their monthly meeting from 7 p.m last Thursday to this Thursday, October 1.

The group will still host its small business administration workshop to help area businesses learn about free programs offered by the state. The workshop will be from 7-9 p.m. Wednesday at the Ruidoso Public Library. People interested in participating should call the EDCLC office to let them know how many to expect.

Accidental discovery may end obesity

WASHINGTON --Researchers may have discovered a way to end obesity---- by accident!

In a study with a potential cholesterol lowering agent, scientists noted an unusual side effect. Instead of lower cholesterol levels, patients receiving a natural plant colloid lost weight while body weight in a control group remained constant.

The scientists say the mechanism behind the weight loss is not clear, but suggest it is partially due to a decrease in the intestinal absorption of calories. Scientists in another study published in the British Journal of Nutrition, found that patients consuming the same colloid lost weight in spite of being instructed not to alter normal eating patterns. Despite this evidence, other scientists may not agree on the weight loss benefits of colloids. Someday, pending further study, there could be universal agreement that colloids are helpful in confronting the problem of obesity.

National Dietary Research, whose research topics have been the subject of articles published in recent medical and nutritional journals, has successfully incorporated a series of colloids into a chewable food tablet called FS-1. When used as directed, FS-1 replaces high calorie fats with lower calorie nutrients, thus providing optimum nutrition with a minimum number of fat calories. According to an article published in the American Journal of Clinical Nutrition, consciously limiting the amount of food one consumes is not necessary to lose weight, provided you limit the fat.

A Florida company has obtained exclusive distribution rights to FS-1, which is available through pharmacies and other health care professionals.

Lady Warriors regain their power

With a few adjustments here and a couple of changes there, the Lady Warrior volleyball seems to be back on track with a win over the Oñate Knights Saturday.

"I think we have finally found the right combination. We played consistently, which was one of our goals, and we hope from here on our progress is forward," said Coach Jody Blanton.

The girls won the first game 15-4 and the second 15-7 before a letdown in the third when they lost 11-15. The team then had to battle back in the fourth for a final score of 15-11 and the win in the match. Mandy Parker was the best server with one ace and just two misses in 21 serves, while Jeri Ann Keeton was the best hitter with two misses in 16 hits.

The team was coming off a three-game losing slump including a loss Friday night to Portales by scores of 9-15, 16-14, 13-15 and 8-15. The best server in the match was Kim Floyd, who had one ace and one miss in 18 serves. Parker was the best hitter with one kill and seven misses in 18 attempts. The C-team also lost Friday, 10-15 and 6-15 and the JV lost 10-15 and 12-15.

The C-team registered its first win of the season against Socorro on Tuesday with scores of 13-15, 15-3 and 15-13. Coach Yelena Temple said the front row players did really well in the game, but the serves weren't as consistent as they have been. The c-team continued its streak against Oñate in two games, 15-10 and 15-9.

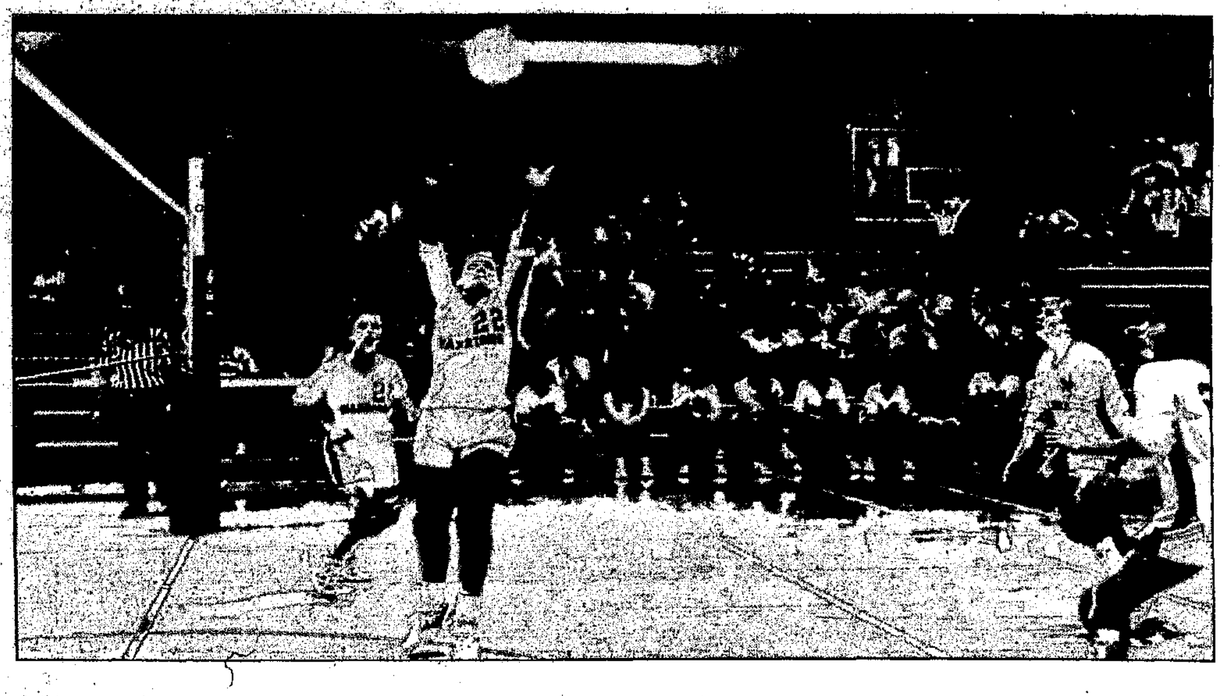
The JV team lost its match to Socorro 7-15 and 12-15, but came back Saturday to win 5-15, 17-15 and 15-10.

"We were so proud of all the teams because they had some tough matches and they played well. They seem to pulling together at the right time," Blanton said.

The Lady Warriors are now 1-1 against district opponents, with the win against Oñate and the loss to Socorro. Blanton said she thinks competition in this district will come down to the wire because all of the district teams are so tough. That will be good, though, because the district winner will likely have a shot at the state AAA title.

"This was a good win for us and we will stay with what we are working on. We feel a little more comfortable with our positions now," Blanton said.

All three Lady Warrior teams will travel to Deming on Saturday before returning to Ruidoso October 6 to play Cobre.



Jeri Ann Keeton concentrates on making a perfect set while Mandy Parker (behind), Kim Floyd and Cicelee Makowski move into position for Makowski to make the kill. The Lady Warriors succeeded in downing the Oñate Knights with consistent play in all four games of the match of the varsity. The JV and c-team also won against the Knights.

Students from Danette McNulty's learning impaired class at Ruidoso Middle School take golf lessons at the Links at Sierra Blanca on Thursday afternoons for four weeks. The lessons give the kids a chance to participate in a sport and learn a few things about golf, too.

Portales packs a big punch for Warriors

After two quarters of a defensive battle for both teams Friday night, the Portales Rams broke the game wide-open in the third quarter to defeat the Ruidoso Warriors 0-28.

Both football teams went scoreless in the first half of the Rams' homecoming at Greyhound Stadium, but early in the third quarter Portales' Leroy Valdez broke through the line and dashed 53 yards for the first six points, and the point after kick was good. The Rams made two more scores in the third, but the Warriors held them to just one in the fourth.

The Warrior offense made four first downs during the game with 55 yards rushing and 42 yards passing. Quarterback John Echols completed three out of nine pass attempts with one pass to Anthony Torres for 20 yards, one to Scott Stricklin for 16 yards and one to Mario Sanchez for six yards. Ruidoso also recovered two fumbles.

Torres also led in rushing with 14 carries for 51 yards, while Sanchez had seven carries for 17 yards. Portales had seven ball carriers contribute to the 341 total yards rushing.

The Warriors punted seven times for an average of 39.4 yards, but Portales did not have to punt once. Penalties also plagued the Warriors with the team getting flagged nine times for 93 yards, while Portales had seven penalties for 45 yards.

With the Warriors a game away from the middle of the season and from the beginning of district competition, the team will be looking to improve on its offensive statistics, including scoring.

The Warriors have been outscored 34 to 135 by their opponents and have made 36 first downs compared to 68 by their competitors. The total offensive yardage for the Warriors for the five games is 541 yards to 1,344 for the opponent. Warrior punters have also had to punt 33 times compared to 11 times for the other teams.

The Warriors have bested their opponents in fumble recoveries, nine to five, and interceptions, five to four. The players will need to continue taking the ball away from the opponents to give its offense a chance to catch up.

The team will host St. Pius X at 7:30 p.m. Friday night in the last non-district game of the season with players and coaches confident they can mark up a second victory for the season. St. Pius was defeated two weeks ago by Portales and then lost to West Mesa Saturday.

The junior varsity team also struggled this weekend against the Socorro Warriors and lost 3-33. Soccoro racked up 21 points in the first half while Ruidoso's Byron Soules kicked his first field goal for the Warriors' only points in the game. Ruidoso kick-off return team mishandles several kicks in the first half but improved on that in the second half.

The JV team will play Artesia at 2 p.m. Saturday for its next game and will then have just three games remaining in its season.

The freshmen football team improved its record to 3-1 Thursday with a win over Santa Terresa, 13-8.

The Warriors first score came right before the half when Byron Soules caught a long pass from Kyle Humphreys and evaded tacklers to make it to the endzone. Soules also made good on the point after kick for the lead. Santa Terresa scored midway through the third quarter and made its two-point conversion, but the Warriors answered quickly.

On the first drive after the Santa Terresa score, Rex Commanche burst through defenders for the final touchdown of the day. The Warriors' two-point conversion attempt failed. A crucial interception by Randy Randolph late in the fourth quarter stopped the opponent's drive for a score. The take-away was the second on the day for Randolph, and it was also his second two-interception game.

Determined dog bounces back from troubles

by DIANNE STALLINGS
Ruidoso News Staff Writer

She travels low to the ground, but Bouncy's good-natured acceptance of life's rough twists and turns makes this 14-month-old dog walk tall in the estimation of shelter workers.

The Clumber spaniel mix was brought into the Lincoln County Humane Society animal shelter several months ago as a stray.

Though undernourished, she immediately took another similar-looking dog under her wing. He also had come to the shelter as a castaway and was shyer.

"Who knows, they might even have been related," said shelter manager Randy Basch.

But Bouncy soon lost her good friend. He was adopted. She was left behind. This time, workers hope it's her turn to find new owners to love her.

"She's good with other dogs, probably with cats," Basch said. "She's good with kids and older people. She's a dog for all seasons."

Bouncy, named for her ability to bounce back from disappointments, is about the size of a small Basset hound, Basch said. Her body is low-slung and solid, a rich reddish brown in color with tail and ears tipped in black.

"She's playful, but not overly demanding and she's intelligent," Basch said.

Bouncy will need to be spayed, but she is sponsored for the procedure by the patrons of the annual Ruidoso News garage sale.

Sponsoring a dog or cat is one of the best ways to enhance their chances for adoption, since the procedure is the main cost. A sponsorship can be earmarked for a particular animal or to be used for any dog or cat whose prospective owner may need the financial help to bring it home.

The society is dedicated to spaying and neutering all dogs and cats to reduced the growing population of abandoned and abused animals. Those disposable creatures are left behind when owners move away, pushed out of cars as they drive through the county or just left to wander loose through town. Many, far too many, end up at the shelter only to be destroyed when it becomes too crowded or they fall ill.

Nationally, 14-million unwanted pets are killed in shelters and pounds each year. Society members believe stopping reproduction is a more humane solution than killing puppies, kittens and other healthy animals.

Spaying and neutering helps pets avoid many health problems later in life and does not negatively affect their personalities. The supply of puppies and kittens will never run out. For every human born, 15 dogs and 45 cats are brought into the world.

For those unable to financially help the shelter's residents, spending a few hours a week walking the dogs or playing with the cats is great way to cheer up the pets and encourage them to trust humans again. On rainy days, the dogs love to receive treats and some kind words instead of a stroll.

For more information about Bouncy or any of the other dogs and cats, call Basch at 257-9841 or stop at the shelter on Gavilan Canyon Road.

WE HAVE THE RIGHT ANSWER

Advertisers who want to place their print ads in a quality publication ask the question: "Is your circulation audited?"
We're very proud to answer "Yes."
We are a member of the Audit Bureau of Circulations because we share ABC's belief that circulation audits are an essential assurance of value.
ABC is the premier circulation auditing organization in the world, and has been since 1914. Each year, ABC auditors test and verify that our circulation figures are facts, not claims. An ABC audit is the sign of a sound investment for advertisers.
Not all publications are audited, but they should be. Because when advertisers ask "Is your circulation audited?" there's only one answer.
"Yes."

Roger Sowder wins national honor

Nob Hill principal Roger Sowder has been selected to receive the 1992 National Distinguished Principal Award from the National Association of Elementary School Principals and the U.S. Department of Educations.

Sowder was nominated and selected by his fellow principals through a statewide search process conducted by the association, according to a press release from association director Dr. Ernest S. Stapleton.

A graduate of Eastern New Mexico University, Sowder previously taught at Larragoite and Chaparral Elementary schools in Santa Fe. He was appointed Nob Hill principal in 1983.

The nine-year-old National Distinguished Principals program is sponsored jointly by the association and the federal education department and the Variable Annuity Insurance Company.

In early October, Sowder will travel to Washington D.C. for two days of activities to honor and recognize 61 educators chosen by each state, the District of Columbia, private and overseas schools.

"School principals are the unsung heroes of our education process," Stapleton said. "Along with teacher and parents, principals play the most critical role in shaping the character and quality of children's education."

The insurance, with headquarters in Houston, Texas, is one of the nation's largest diversified financial services companies providing retirement programs and financial services for the leading non-profit associations and 7,000 public and private schools across the nation.

Criteria for selection of distinguished principals requires honorees be selected by their colleagues for achievements above and beyond those expected in the usual school program, Stapleton said. Each must have been a principal for five years, maintain high expectations of students and staff, show evidence of outstanding contributions to school and profession and be an established, respected member of the community.

Sowder currently serves as state representative on the association executive board. He recently received a prestigious appointment to a National Review Panel on School Age Child Care. Nob Hill has received recognition by the American Council of Rural Special Education and the New Mexico Department of Education.

Briefs

Chili supper planned Friday

Ruidoso High School cheerleaders and the junior class will warm up football fans with a chili supper from 4-7 p.m. Friday, October 2, in the Mid-school cafeteria.

For just $4, diners will be served chili and topping, tortillas, fruit cobbler and a drink.

The Warrior football game against Deming will follow at 7:30 p.m. in W.D. Horton stadium.

Development directors meet

The quarterly meeting of the board of directors of the Southeastern New Mexico Economic Development District is scheduled for 10 a.m. October 16 at the Park Inn in Carlsbad.

Topics will include the Pecos River general obligation bond and a report on a recycling study. Lincoln County is a member of the district.

A buffet luncheon will follow the meeting.

Dist. governor to speak to Rotary Club

William L. DeGroot, Rotary International district governor, will speak to the Ruidoso Rotary Club during Tuesday's meeting. He'll speak on his progress toward reaching the goals he has set for this district.

DeGroot, an Illinois native, has lived in the Southwest for 30 years. He is director of sport administration and teaches at the University of New Mexico in Albuquerque.

As a member of the Moriarty Rotary Club, DeGroot has served as director, president and director of the Moriarty Rotary Foundation (also known as the White Lakes Yacht Club).

He has been honorded by his club with a Paul Harris Fellow.

Editorial

It's not if you win or lose, it's how you play the game

School sports programs should be a part of the overall process of educating young people to take their places as productive members of society. Other youth sports programs should share that same goal.

That places wins and losses pretty low in a list of priorities that should include learning how to work as part of a group, following directions, learning to be dependable by doing your part and a whole range of life skills that will translate into good citizenship. High on the list of goals should be good sportsmanship.

Within sporting programs throughout Lincoln County schools, that sportsmanlike behavior is a hallmark and a matter of pride. Seldom, if ever, do members of school teams and their coaches fail to treat their opponents with courtesy and respect. Lincoln County's record of sportsmanlike behavior extends to most of the non-school sporting teams and their coaches as well.

Some parents and other fans are another story. At some recent school sports events some "fans" have loudly and coarsely commented about all that's wrong with the teams, the officials and the coaches. Apparently they don't understand that officials are paid from nothing to very little, and most of them are their friends and neighbors. Apparently those disgruntled "fans" don't care that most coaches basically volunteer many hours on top of their contracted responsibilities. And those loud-mouthed folks surely don't realize that they're working against the very thing they seem to want most — and that's having a winning team.

Telling kids how badly they're playing, how stupid their coaches are or how unfair the officials are treating them only works against the goal of building a good, strong team, whose members work together — win or lose.

It's too bad that sports fans don't adopt the same high code of conduct that prevails on the sports fields and courts. Sports fans, especially parents of young athletes, should listen to themselves and set high standards of good sportsmanship. Those standards will be adopted by the teams, and everyone wins.

Reader says trash authority must succeed

TO THE EDITOR:

Recent criticisms on the operation of the Lincoln County Solid Waste Authority may have some merits. However, they forget both rationale and reason for the existence of the authority: our expenses for disposing of trash.

There are a number of elements dictating that. Like it or not, on top of them stands an ever increasing population. The population needs the basic commodities of life. One of them is water. The more people there are, the more water is needed. Everyone living in the arid regions of the southwest understands that water is an important factor. Eventually it will become the limiting factor.

Another factor is waste, solid and liquid. If we don't take care of these wastes, we will within a predictable time run into health problems of unmanageable proportions. We have to do something about the amount and nature of our wastes and we have to dispose of them in a way which does not contaminate our water.

This has made it necessary to devise rules for the disposal of our wastes. They turn out to be expensive. The fewer we are in our towns and villages the more expensive the costs will be. The more we join to a larger number of people the lower will be the costs. A small village can, complying with the rules as they are, be charged $60 per ton and more for the disposal; a joint venture combining many people such as our authority may have to pay only $6 per ton or less.

And for an even larger entity than the Lincoln County Authority the costs may be even less than that. That is the reason why the authority was formed. For all those involved in that it was a political miracle to bring all the towns, villages and the county under one heat.

But now it must succeed. It will have problems; but instead of killing it, let's preserve it, let's give it the support which is necessary for its success.

Ruidoso's voc-ag program is good addition

TO THE EDITOR:

The Ruidoso School District deserves to be commended.

It is gratifying to see that vocational agriculture was adopted as a part of the curriculum last year. To me, this is an exciting development, and after a successful year, it appears that the program is here to stay. Parents should take note. This is a program worthy of their support.

Ruidoso is joining excellent and successful programs that are in place at Capitan, Carrizozo, Corona and Hondo. All schools in Lincoln County are now offering one of the finest programs available for our young people.

Ruidoso's agriculture teachers, Mike Gaines and Shawn Dennis, are outstanding, hardworking young men and among the best anywhere.

Vocational agriculture certainly has my support. When we moved back to Lincoln County in 1981, the availability of a good vo-ag program was a big factor in our choice of schools.

Having been born and raised here in our county, I attended all 12 years and graduated from Ruidoso schools. Later, my college classmates that were from schools with vo-ag programs convinced me of their many advantages.

Students that participate will discover the curriculum involves much more than agriculture. They will learn numerous skills, from parliamentary procedure and public speaking to welding and woodworking. Such balance in education is useful for a lifetime.

The many fine Ruidoso educators I had, most of whom have retired or gone, all had a positive impact on my life. The list is too long and there is a risk of leaving somebody out, but those that are still around would know who I mean.

The Ruidoso community always seemed to place a high priority on education, and the current administration and school board's addition of vocational agriculture is a good example.

Thank you, Ruidoso School District.

Writer rains on headliner's parade

TO THE EDITOR:

With the 1992 Golden Aspen Motorcycle Rally here and gone with (relatively) few incidents, perhaps we can smile at a tongue-in-cheek reflection of the headline in your September 21 issue, "Law and order reins over motorcycle rally."

Could be the racing season has not been over long enough, or perhaps this (spelling) is still fresh in mind from the Museum of the Horse recent events.

Perhaps it even would have been more apropos to have said, "Law and order rains..."

Looks like these poor cyclists got it from all directions!

Eleanor Shockey
Ruidoso

EDITOR'S NOTE: Would you believe "Law and order reins in motorcycle rally?" Of course, law and order couldn't have "reigned" over the rally because a fine king and queen were crowned to do just that, and God took care of the "rain" over the rally. Oh well, someday perfection will reign over, rain down on or (Heaven forbid) rein in the headline writer at The News.

Ski Apache purchase is explained

TO THE EDITOR:

I would like to correct an erroneous statement made by James Tully in the letters to the editor column September 14.

Ski Apache (Sierra Blanca, at that time) was not turned over to the Mescalero Apache Tribe by Robert O. Anderson.

Ski Apache was purchased from Mr. Wendell Chino for the Mescalero Apache Tribe for more than fair market value with a loan carrying the current interest rate of that year.

This loan, with interest, has been paid on time annually with earnings from Ski Apache.

Aspenfest just keeps getting better!

The turning of leaves from green to gold signals the new season that has arrived in Lincoln County.

Just as nature plans to put on a spectacular display of colors, the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce is preparing a celebration to light up the lives of residents and visitors to the area. Aspenfest 1992 on October 2, 3 and 4 offers residents a chance to support and to show pride in the community during the most exciting time of the year.

Aspenfest co-chairpersons Sharon Wicker and Vicky Daulton, as well as their committee and the chamber staff, have organized an event that will be seasoned just right for everyone.

"Ruidoso-Seasoned Just Right" is the theme of this year's event, and everyone can get a taste of it from the chili cook-off testers to the parade participants and spectators.

Start the weekend off right at a dance on Friday night to the beat of the Graham Brothers Band, but be sure you get an early start on Saturday morning to get a good shady spot to watch the parade from. The cool early morning might also be a good time to browse through the street festival and the arts and crafts fair or save it for an afternoon full of fun.

Adults and children will all find something special to do or buy at this event.

Whether you choose to participate or just enjoy the taste of chili, Tall Pines RV Park is the place to be for hungry chili eaters this weekend. If fancy cars are more your speed you'll love all the stylish automobiles cruising the streets or on display at the Schoolhouse Park.

Sometime during the weekend take a couple hours to drive down the highways and back roads of the area to see nature's display too. The colors and designs of the celebrated season will be more than you ever imagined so take a camera with you to catch the beauty until next year.

Aspenfest is Ruidoso's chance to celebrate itself and its beautiful surrounds. It's a chance for residents to visit with each other after an exciting but busy summer season and to relax before the snow starts to fall and brings about a new season in Ruidoso.

Aspens star in nature's spectacular show

When the trees in the Hondo Valley start turning orange, yellow and brown, it's just a matter of time before Mother Nature splashes her magical golden paintbrush throughout the rest of Lincoln County.

Aspenfest, named for the stately mountain trees that grace the higher reaches, are the stars of Ruidoso's annual fall festival.

Visitors and locals always find plenty to do during Aspenfest — from a street dance on Friday to a parade Saturday, arts and crafts exhibitions in three locations and much more — but the weekend of events owes its existence to the brilliant golden aspens.

Be sure and take a leisurely drive up the mountain and watch the aspens light up the forest.

Those beautiful golden aspens are the real stars of nature's annual show.

From late September through early October the leaves of these tall trees turn a bright gold and as they fall they litter the ground with brightness, like a floor made of gold doubloons.

Aspens stand regally throughout the Lincoln National Forest — many within a few minutes drive of Ruidoso.

Depending on your sense of advénture, these viewing areas can be reached via paved routes or by taking some of the forest roads in the vicinity.

All along Ski Run Road, also known as State Road 532, are many spectacular vistas of aspen trees, as well as smaller pockets of the tree right along the road at the edge of Eagle Creek.

This paved road leads up to Ski Apache Resort and has several turnouts along the way providing panoramic views of the White Mountain Wilderness and the Ruidoso and Bonito valleys.

About halfway up is Oak Grove Campground, a forest service campground with picnic tables, cooking grills and toilets, but no running water. The use of the facility is free.

If you're willing to take a gravel forest road that is at times quite steep and rock-strewn, Forest Road 117 to Monjeau Lookout is worth the trip. A broad view of the northern slope of the White Mountains, with a view of the Capitans and Jicarillas, is available at the lookout.

Also, access to the Crest Trail is possible just below the lookout. By taking a short hike to the west, you will pass through large meadows, and by heading uphill off the trail you can reach the top of the ridge for a full view of the Eagle Creek basin.

Further up the trail the way becomes a little steeper, but another large meadow can be reached providing you with a view westward toward the Tularosa Basin and eastward back into the Eagle Creek basin.

The trail is at between 9,000 and 10,000 feet in elevation, so be sure to take your time and take along plenty of water.

Below the Crest Trail access is a small picnic/campground that also is a good spot for aspen viewing and beautiful views. Trails also lead from this spot, but should be reserved for more experienced hikers.

As the aspens change, so do the scrub and oak throughout the area. These hardwoods turn a bright red during their autumn change.

A drive through Nogal Canyon or from Bonito Lake can bring you to the Crest Trail access where you can hike to the top of Nogal Peak.

After a brief hike on the Crest Trail, a barbed wire fence with an "Oklahoma" gate will be off to your left. On the other side of the fence is the route leading to the summit of Nogal Peak.

This trail is often very steep and rocky so allow yourself plenty of time. The view from the top is spectacular.

The autumn change in leaves happens suddenly and lasts for just a brief time. Contrary to popular belief, the color change is not brought on by temperature changes or freezes, but by the lessening of the amount of sunlight during the autumn days.

If you need more information on trails or where to go in the forest lands, drop by the Smokey Bear Ranger District office on Mechem Drive in Ruidoso.

They are happy to help you.

Bring the whole family for a funfilled day

Festive floats, fancy cars and funny faces will all be featured in the annual Aspenfest parade on October 3.

"Ruidoso-Seasoned Just Right" is the theme of this year's celebration, and the parade promises to be a colorful event.

The parade wi'l start at 10 a.m. and wind its way down Sudderth Drive from Mechem Drive to Gateway Church of Christ at 415 Sudderth Drive.

The kids' bike parade will be lined up at the Mountain Top Experience building on Sudderth, and they will wheel their way to the old King's building on Sudderth.

The grand marshals for this year's parade will be McGruff, the Crime Dog, and Charlotte Jarratt, who selected the theme for this year's event. Organizers are still working on arrangements for another marshal for a surprise for the parade.

Entrants will be twisting streamers and making banners in hopes of winning the first Aspenfest Traveling Trophy for the best overall entry. The winner's name will be placed on the trophy to be displayed by the winner until next year's parade. The winner will also earn a ribbon to keep. The traveling trophy will promote good, clean competition among organizations, businesses and individuals with the Ruidoso spirit.

The first prize winner will receive $100 and the second place entrant will receive $50. The third place winner will earn $25. Prizes will also be awarded for the best decorated bicycles for children, as well as for kids and their companions in the pet parade.

Service organizations, businesses or individuals still have time to enter the parade for a shot at the trophy or to just support this community event. The deadline is Wednesday, September 30, and entries may be dropped off at the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce office.

Kids can get involved, too, by entering a decorated bike or a pretty pet. Entries for the pet parade can be dropped off at the Humane Society Animal Shelter on Gavilan Canyon Drive, Video USA or the chamber office.

Organizers are pleased to have Colonel Ira Hester, commander of the 49th Support Group from Holloman Air Force Base, participating in this year's event in a restored Mercedes convertible. Officials from local village councils, the school board and other leaders in the community have also been asked to be a part of the excitement.

Horsemen and wagons representing the Western heritage are always a favorite of parade-goers, and this celebration will be full of them.

Keeping the beat for the parade will be seven bands from Animas, Dexter, Zia, Ruidoso and Anthony, Texas. The bands will first be judged in the parade and then go to the high school field for continued competition.

People are welcome to come watch the performances to support their favorite music makers.

The judges for the marching contest this year are Win Christian of the Albuquerque school system, Frank Rivera of Las Cruces High School and Phil Pressler of Lordsburg High School.

Food concession booths will be available up and down Sudderth for a bite to eat during the parade or a meal after it is over.

From the Ruidoso State Bank Free Parking lot to the Plaza Center across from the main office of Ruidoso State Bank a variety of booths will be set up during the weekend for people to browse through, including arts and crafts, foods and a Moon Walk booth for the kids.

Activities planned for downtown during the day Saturday include a comedy performance by the Jose Brothers at noon and 3 p.m. at the Gazebo in midtown. The Jose Brothers are a duo group comprised of Clay Lindley, cowboy comic, and Gil Prather, accomplished musician, singer and songwriter. For several years, the Jose Brothers have brought their special blend of humor, cowboy poetry and music to the southwest and have been a favorite of the West Texas crowd.

An up and coming young singer from Lubbock, Texas, will also perform Saturday at the Gazebo in Midtown.

Abbi Hutcherson, who is just seven years old, will sing at 9 a.m., 1 p.m. and from 4-4:30 p.m.

This year's co-chairpersons for the Aspenfest celebration Sharon Wicker and Vicky Daulton said their committee members have worked hard to make this year's celebration the best ever.

Mark Heineman and Christina Fruth have organized the decorated bikes department, while Randy Basch is lining up the pet parade. Dick Valenzuela has orchestrated the band competition.

"This event is unique because it is the village's time to celebrate. You can see the pride for this event in the merchants," Wicker said.

The annual Aspenfest parade includes marchers of the two-footed and four-footed variety, as well as rolling gear that includes floats, cars and bicycles. Don't miss it.

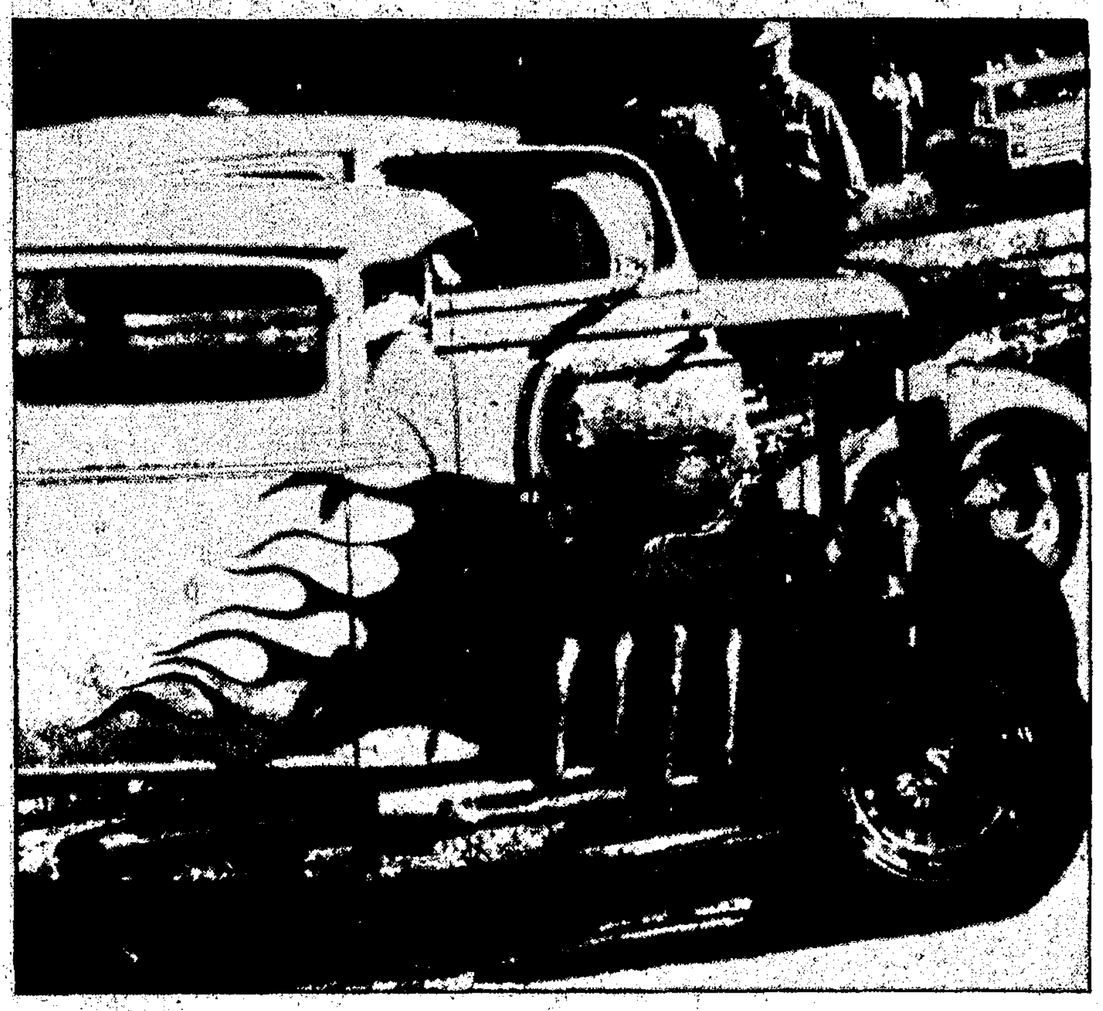
Hot rods rev up for their run to Ruidoso



Everybody loves a painted up hot car, and the Tri-City Rod Run returns to Ruidoso again this year with a spectacular show of horsepower in Schoolhouse Park.

Hot rods, hot colors, hot chrome will decorate Ruidoso this weekend as vintage cars from around the country converge on the small mountain town.

One of the most popular events of the annual Aspenfest celebration, the Run to Ruidoso is sponsored by Early Times Street Rod Association of El Paso and Southern New Mexico Street Rod Association in Las Cruces.

Lynne Duscha, who helps husband and Early Times president Ron Duscha organize the extravaganza of pampered motor vehicles, said nearly 200 owners have pre-registered.

Last year's participation ran about 280 cars. Based on the advance interest, she is optimistic that the spectacular display may draw more than 300 participants.

"We're real excited. We keep getting entries every day," Mrs. Duscha said.

Most exhibitors will arrive Friday, October 2, to register at the Inn at Pine Springs Hotel between 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. Registration also will be accepted from 8 a.m. to noon, Saturday, October 3, at the School House Park staging area on Sudderth Drive.

But late arrivals may miss much of the fun.

Duscha said many of the games will begin at 9 a.m. One of the favorite activities, the poker run, will send a parade of immaculately groomed cars and trucks through town to add a splash of color contrast to the golden trees.

Awards will be presented, but not the traditional trophies, Duscha said.

"Each member makes a trophy for a specific accomplishment and picks the car to receive it," he said. Typical recognition goes to the best motor, best paint stripe, the sexy sixties and the coolest chop (chopped top), among others.

Participants come from as far away as Long Beach, California, and the Texas panhandle, a few even further east. A heavy concentration of enthusiasts comes from Colorado and Arizona, Duscha said.

Visitors should plan on walking through the display of cars and trucks on Saturday.

By Sunday, the owners will be humming through the mountains in their dream cars sightseeing like everybody else.

"We like to give our exhibitors time to enjoy Ruidoso and the surrounding area," Duscha said. "Others need that extra day to get back home."

The cars and trucks on exhibit range in age from 1922 to 1969. Cars younger than 1969 will not be registered, Duscha said. Many owners' flights of fancy translate to elaborate painted designs including exaggerated flames and psychedelic colors. Others lower their tops by chopping off a portion of the mid-section.

But no matter what alterations have occurred, the polishing cloth keeps a sheen high enough to reflect the smiles of spectators while they pass.

A few salespersons will be on hand at the park Saturday to show off their accessories. Barbecue sandwiches and soft drinks will be served by the women's auxiliary of the Ruidoso Elks.

Duscha and his wife will be coming to town in a standard, more modern vehicle even though he owns a 1947 Chevrolet pickup.

"Unfortunately, the pickup is not going to make it this year," Mrs. Duscha said. "It's in pieces."

That seems to be the norm. Put it together, tear it apart, improve this, paint that. The rod is never perfect, there's always one more spot to correct, another dollar to spend.

But it's a labor of absolute devotion and no one seems to be complaining.

Chili cookoff heats up Aspenfest

Hot! Hot! Hot! And if it's not, it won't be at the 11th Annual New Mexico State Open Chili Cookoff Saturday, October 3, at Tall Pines Trailer Park in Ruidoso.

The cooks meeting begins at 9 a.m. Saturday. New this year, is a pod cook off, Sunday.

This annual crowd pleaser draws droves of New Mexicans and Texans to the mountains to sample dozens of cooks as they vie for best of the southwest.

Black kettles of bubbling red, simmer all day long under the tall pines in an area called Tall Pines Trailer Park in the heart of Ruidoso.

Chili experts throughout the nation have long praised Ruidoso's dry climate and exact elevation of 7,200 feet as the perfect mixture to create and consume world class chili.

This is one of the reasons the New Mexico State Open Chili Cookoff has nearly doubled its attendance each year.

Emcee Tex Scofield, the mouth of the chili world, will help whet the appetite for the expected chili chomping.

Music by "The Lone Star Express," designed to aid the digestive tract, will play country western throughout the day.

Outside the fenced area of secret herbs and spices, the Aspenfest will be running full swing, churning people's appetites, readying them for evening and more meaty morsels settling in a bowl of hot sauce. That's what several cooks say tastes good in chili: steak, elk or deer.

The Ruidoso Rotary Club headed by Paul Crown, will run this year's event.

It costs $2 for a person off the street to enter the gates and 25 cents a ticket to sample contest chili. Spoon and small cup comes with the tickets.

The cook that collects the most tickets is the people's choice.

Trophies this year will go to the 10 best chili, 1-3 best state chili, 1-3 showmanship and people's choice chili.

Proceeds to benefit the Ruidoso Rotary club Scholarship Fund.

Entry fee is $20 and includes goodie bags, booze, games, food and music.

The event is co-sponsored by Budweiser, McCormick/Schilling and Ruidoso State Bank.

You don't have to be good to enter the cookoff, but you better be good to win.

One chef said, "I can't wait to burn the hell out of people's mouths."

"I'll start with red chili from Las Cruces," she said. "Add a half a ton of chopped steak. The rest you'll just have to eat and guess."

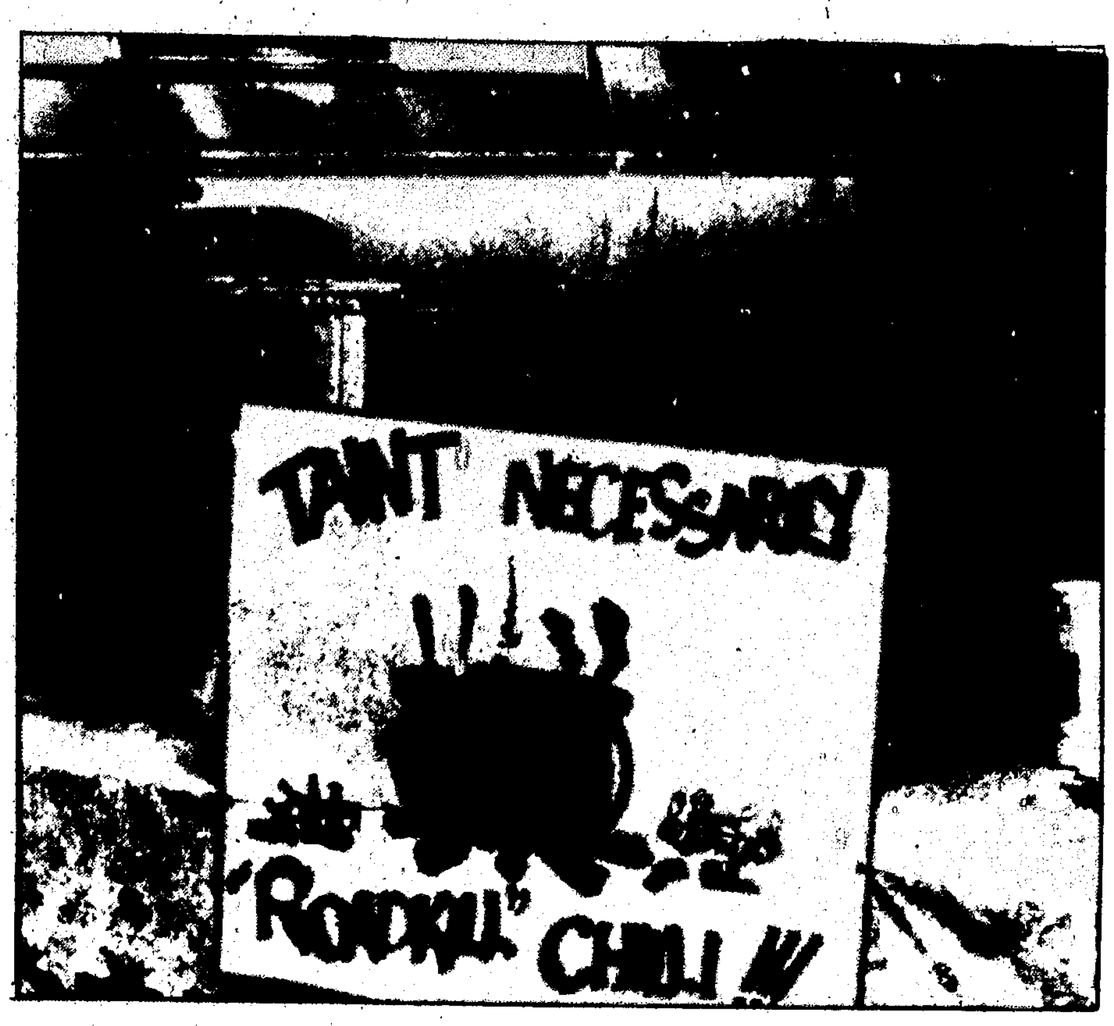
This chef said she cooks for at least three hours, "till the consistency is just right. And just right is hot and spicy as you can stand it."

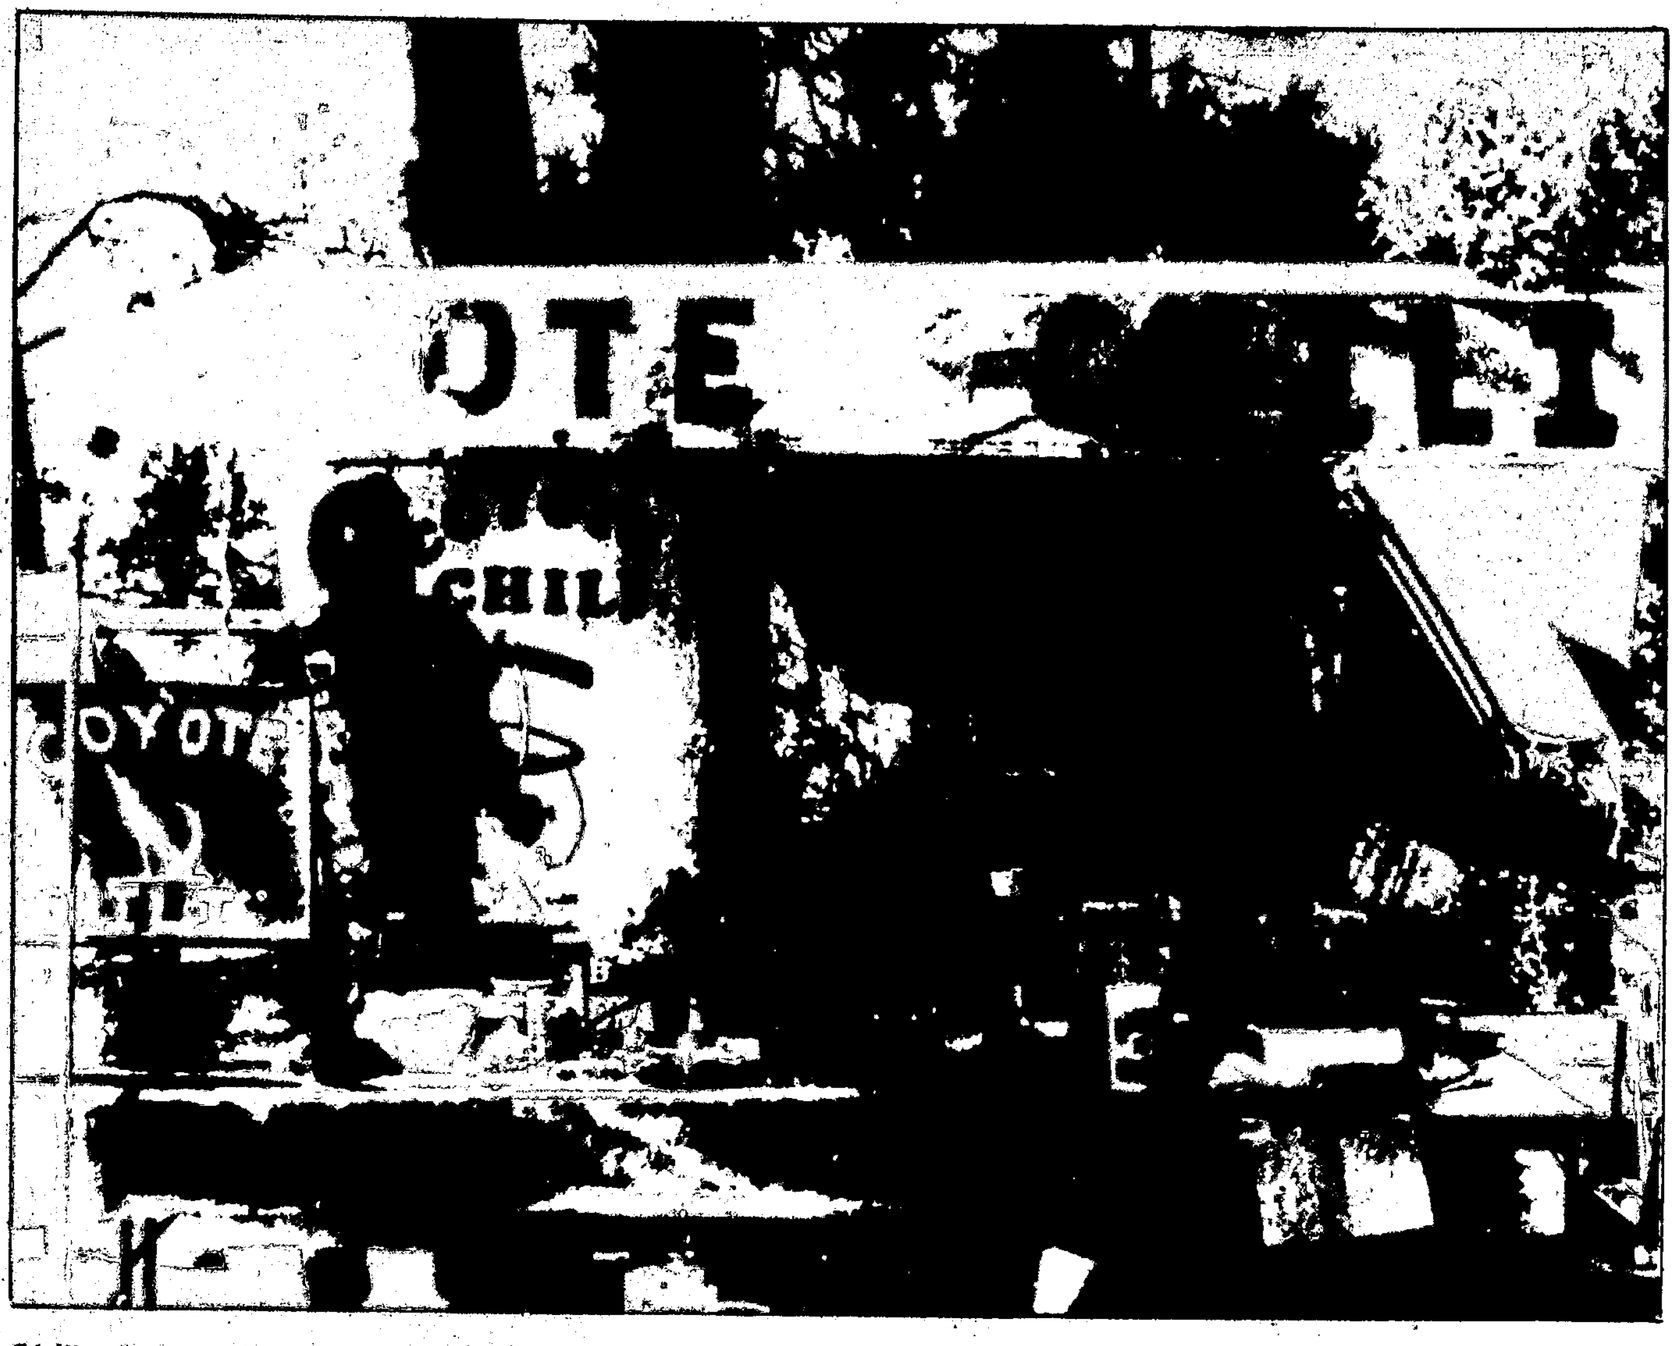
"They say it's good for the heart you know, once you live through it," she said. She wouldn't tell The News where her booth would be located.

Teams and cooks can camp out free at the cook-off site so they can get an early start on their chili.

If you'd like to enter the chili cookoff, be prepared to give the name of the chili, the head cook's name, the chili team name, showmanship team name, and address.

Send your reply to the Ruidoso Chili Society, P.O. Box 280, Ruidoso, New Mexico 88345. Or call (505) 257-5123.





Chili aficionados from all over look forward to the New Mexico Open Chili Cookoff each year during Aspenfest. If a full array of the state's top hot chili doesn't tempt you, how about checking out one of the best shows around, as cooks dress up and show off as they serve their spicy stew that ranges in taste and style from road kill to Texas gourmet(?).

Ruidoso is seasoned just right for fall

After Aspenfest, make plans to head back to the Ruidoso area for the Lincoln County Cowboy Symposium October 8-11, in Glencoe.

Cowboy poets and musicians will perform all day in a cowboy setting surrounding by a western trade show in the Super Select Sale Barn just down U.S. Highway 70 from Ruidoso.

Besides the western show, a chuckwagon cookoff, dances nightly and a big square dance Thursday are planned for the weekend.

Trail rides and a roping event will round out the third annual Cowboy Symposium.

Oktoberfest is set for October 16 and 17, and the Ruidoso Valley Greeters is scheduled for November 13 and 15.

For information on upcoming events, write to the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce at PO Box 698 in Ruidoso or call 1-800-253-2255 or 257-7395.

Street dance kicks off Aspenfest

Boot scoot boogie to the sounds of the Graham Brothers Band on Friday night in the kick-off event for Ruidoso's annual Aspenfest celebration.

The family-oriented dance will be fun for everyone whether they come out to kick up their heels or just to listen to the music.

The Graham Brothers will be ready to play at 7 p.m., and the tunes will continue until 11 p.m. at the Schoolhouse Park by the village swimming pool.

The group will play a great selection of popular country songs and good old rock-n-roll. The Graham Brothers are a local favorite and have performed at the Miner's Castle Mountain Music.

No admission will be charged for the event and food and refreshments will be available. The D.O.E.S. will be cooking up good things to eat, while the Ruidoso Valley Chamber of Commerce will keep your thirst quenched with soft drinks. No alcohol will be sold or allowed on the premises for this family event.

Organizer Mary Maxwell encourages everyone, young and old, to come to the dance, and she is looking forward to it being a nice community event to get a great Aspenfest weekend started.

Artists exhibit their work under the tall pine trees

Aspenfest Arts and Crafts Fair, sponsored by the Ruidoso Gymnastics Association, will gather 90 artists to exhibit their works in Midtown across from the Gazebo.

For the seventh year, RGA will present the fair under the tall pines during Aspenfest events, Saturday and Sunday, October 3 and 4.

The Arts and Crafts Fair will be open from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Saturday and from 9:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Sunday. Admission is $1 per adult, with proceeds going to Ruidoso Gymnastics Building Fund.

Besides the 90 artists and craftsmen from all over the southwest, the fair features food and entertainment.

The Gymnastics Booster Club will be selling hamburgers, hot dogs and baked goods; the Ski Team will sell fajitas and nachos; and the Knights of Columbus will sell burritos.

Puppet shows and tumbling exhibitions will be scheduled throughout the weekend.

Some of the more than 90 artists set to exhibit in the Aspenfest Arts and Crafts Fair pose with some of their work. Billie Long (above, left) and Helen Hunter are shown with decorated clothing, dried flower arrangements, painted wood and metal items. Also pictured is a decorative heart made by Margaret Dixson, who isn't pictured. She'll be at the arts and crafts fair, though. Denise Hawthorne (seated, below) and Jackie Johnston are shown with their craft items that can be seen at the fair.

The Yellow Daisy Booth was a favorite with visitors to last year's Aspenfest Arts and Crafts Fair. Artists and crafters gather under the tall pines to exhibit crafts that range from art to wear to pottery, watercolors and oil paintings. Ruidoso Gymnastics Association sponsors the fair each year with proceeds going into the group's building fund.

What is a Revocable Living Trust?

The Revocable Living Trust is an alternative to a will. A living trust keeps your estate out of probate but you can still buy, sell, trade, invest and reinvest your property as you always have during your lifetime but your family doesn't have to worry about losing your land to pay legal fees upon your death.

Living Trusts of America is a New Mexico organization dedicated to helping its clients save time and money and avoid the aggravation of dealing with probate. All documents are prepared by local attorneys and tax planners.
