FOURTH YEAR NUMBER 14. CAPITAN, NEW MEXICO, JULY 27TH 1918. SUBSCRIPTION PRICE $1.50 A YEAR.

Twenty Five Thousand Nurses Wanted.

The Government is calling for 25,0000 young women to join the United States Student Nurse Reserve and hold themselves in readiness to train for service as nurses.

The war is creating an unprecedented demand for trained nurses. Only those who have taken the full training course are eligible for service with our forces overseas. These nurses are being drawn largely from our hospitals at home. Their places must be filled by student nurses enrolled for the full training course of from two to three years. Every young woman who enrolls in the United States Student Reserve is releasing a nurse for service at the front and swelling the home army which we must rely on to act as our second line of hospital defense. Upon the health of the American people depend the spirit of their fighting forces.

Age.—The call is for women between the ages of nineteen and thirty five.

Qualifications.—Intelligent responsible women of good education and sound health are wanted the pick of the country. A college education is a valuble asset, and many hospitals will give credit for it. Credit will also be given for a special scientific equipment or for preliminary training in nursing, such as that given in special courses now being conducted by various colleges and schools. Some school on the other hand, do not even require a full high school education.

Enrollment. Women will be given an opportunity to enroll in the United States Students Nurse Reserve in any one of three ways:

(1) As engaging to hold themselves in readiness until April 1, 1919, to accept assignments to nurses' training schools. These will be sent to the schools as fast as vacancies occur. Those of superior qualifications will be given preference, and it is, of course, possible that not every one who enroll will be accepted

(2) As desiring to become candidates for the Army Nursing School recently established by authority of the War Department, with branch schools in selected military hospitals

(3) As engaging to hold themselves in readiness until April 1, 1919, to accept assignments to either a civilan training school or the Army nursing school. Those who so enroll will be called where the first need arises. The Government hopes that a majority of those who enroll will thus put down their names for both.

The Nurses' Training Schools. There are 1,579 nurses' training schools in this country. Their need is as great and imperative as that of the Army School of Nursing. Those who enroll for these schools will be assigned as vacancies occur.

The enrollment card will indicate two classes of registrants—Preferred and Deferred. The Preferred class will be those who are ready to accept assignment to whatever hospital the Government directs them, although they may state what training school they prefer to be sent to. Those who register in the Preferred class will be assigned first, and all possible consideration will be given to their preference as stated. The Deferred class is composed of those who limit their pledge of service—that is, who will not engage to go except to certain hospitals. This class is intended largely for those who, for family reasons, can not accept training at a distance from their homes. Those who register in the Deferred class will be assigned only after the Preferred class is exhausted.

The Government relies on the patriotism of those who enroll to fill out Preferred cards if they possibly can, thus volunteering to go where they are most needed.

Nobody will be assigned to any schools whose conditions of training are not approved by the State Board of Nurse Examiners.

Terms of training.—The term of training varies from two to three years, according to the requirements of the particular school to which the student nurse may be sent. No course takes less than two years nor more than three.

What the training course prepares for. At present every woman who completes satisfactorily her training in any accredited school is eligible for service as an Army nurse at the front and stands a chance of being assigned to duty abroad. At the same time she will be qualified to earn her living in one of the noblest professions open to women. It should be remembered, furthermore, that her usefulness will begin not when she graduates from the training school but as soon as she enters it. Practical nursing work is a part of the work of every training school, and the student nurse is not only learning to serve but serving her country from the outset.

Finances. The student nurse gets her board, lodging, and tuition free at practically every training school and in most cases receives a small renumeration to cover the cost of books and uniforms. After graduation she has an earning capacity of from $100 to $300 a month. Private duty nurses now receive an average of from $100 to $120 a month together with board while on duty, institution nurses from $80 to $250 a month together with board, lodging, and laundry; and public health nurses from $150 to $250 a month without maintenence. There is no danger of the earning capacity of nurses being lowered after the war ends on account of the great number who will then be qualified for the profession; the country will need all the nurses that can be trained, not only during the war but after it, especially for reconstruction work. Even if the war ends within three years, every student nurse will be able to complete her training and will be needed.

An honorable service. Ever since the days of Florence Nightingale the nursing profession has been one of especial honor. It was never so honorable as it is to day. The Army needs every nurse it can get to "keep up with the draft." The United States Student Nurse Reserve is the equivalent for women of the great National Army training camps for soldiers. The Government will rely upon the student to fight disease at home, to care for those injured and disabled in our hazardous war industries, and to make themselves ready to serve when the time comes as fully trained nurses, either abroad or at home. Let us show that we know how to answer the Government's call to the women of the country.

The Great Drive.

According to the latest reports more than 180,000 Germans were put out of commission during the past week, including killed, wounded and captured. This is the last terrific drive of the Kaiser. Paris is 45 miles away. General Foch has 6,000,000 soldiers. He is credited with being the greatest military strategist of the war. There are 1,100,000 American soldiers in France.

Paris is safe and the channel ports are safe.

This is not all. The backbone, the military backbone of Germany has been broken. Major Cushman A. Rice believes that Germany must be dynamited into submission, torched into submission, starved into submission.

All the executioners are on on the way.

Kaiserism has cost the world 20,000,000 lives. Kaiserism has world $200,000,000,000. Kaiserism is a more destructive plague than Asiastic cholera.

Kaiserism must be destroyed. It is the mission of America to officiate in the role of destroyers.

Listen, Boys and Girls

Years ago, when our Nation was young, many American boys and girls of 10 and 12 helped fight and defeat the enemy—boys marched bravely into cannon fire, and died—while girls scraped lint, made bandages, and aged with sorrow and fear. This waste of youth made our Nation a growth slow for many years.

Today the fighting opportunities for Young America are great and far reaching. A girl of 12 can strike our enemy a decisive blow, while a boy of 10 with a little effort and in perfect safety can check an advance of our fearish foe. Their deeds make Victory surer and add strength to our America after peace.

The Thrift Stamps bought by each boy and girl tell morally on our enemy and builds stronger the foundation of America's future.

Work, earn and buy Thrift Stamps. It helps our enemies when you do not.

LINCOLN

It has been raining so much of late that several of our citizens are thinking of hunting a dryer climate

A farewell dance was given Monday night to our departing soldier boys. Your correspondent did not attend but from the noise that was made and from all reports that are in they had a grand and glorious time. Some of our Citizens got a little too much of the fresh rain water or fire water or something and had to be taken home - better lookout boys, and conserve some of that moisture, the dry time is sure to come Oct 1st.

Mrs J. R. Neal left Thursday morning for Toyah Texas, to visit friends and relatives.

E. W. Hebbert, our Deputy Assessor, is spending a few days at his ranch below town.

Road Supervisor Burleson has a force of men at work clearing the road above town preparatory to grading He expects to grade from Lincoln to Capitan.

Hold Your Liberty Bonds

To successfully finance the War it is necessary that owners of Liberty bonds hold their bonds if possible. Where for any good reason it is necessary for them to turn their bonds into cash they should seek the advice of their bankers.

Liberty loan bonds are very desirable investments, and crafty individuals are using various means to secure them from owners not familiar with stock values and like matters. One method is to offer to exchange for Liberty bonds stocks or bonds of doubtful organizations represented as returning a much higher income than the bonds.

There are various other methods used and likely to be used, some of the gold-brick variety and other less crude and probably within the limits of the law. All offers for Liberty bonds except for money and at market value should be scrutinized carefully. The bonds are the safest of investments and have non-taxable and other valuable features.

To hold your Liberty loan bonds, if possible, is patriotic. To consult your bankers before selling them is wise.

From Navajo Bend.

The widow Stokes informs us that her eldest son has been drafted in the last penitentiary call issued by the Courts.

Business is good in the Bend. The old Needle Doctor says this is the first time that his hospital has been full (of flies) since last season.

Our efficient Constable placed a slacker under arrest, on the complaint of our local Hotel man, because he failed to register at that famous hostlery. The culprit is a stranger and is not known outside of Navajo Bend, the nearby surrounding country so they say.

Peter Dixon, the Drummer, says that one of his Nephews had gently joined the Aviation corpse and was buried with honors.

Rockey Ribers seems to be the most optomistic critter in the Bend. He says that the war and hard times does not effect him very much; that he has finished digging a well sixty-five feet high; that he has plenty of money and eight dollars over, and that he has a dry claim in Minnesota and his wife is on it, and will stay there until she gets the patent.

Our efficient Postmaster complains that he is having the best time he ever had in his life selling Thrift Stamps and that he has one customer that buys so regular that he is worth his waite in the lobby.

Krazy Kris's half nephew who has just returned from an extended visit to the Penitentiary, and says that he had awful time resigning and that the officers of that institution just could not stand for him to leave sooner.

Haro, the eldest son of Nigger Lasses, accepted a position with a second hand coffin factory, and will leave before the factory opens.

Dish Face Dan, the Pinto Rancher, says it tickles him half to death to hear about the women doing the work since the war started, and while he has considered it a secret for the last forty odd years he is glad it is out at last.

Bevo

—the home drink

Besides its popularity at drug stores, fountains and restaurants, Bevo has found a welcome place in the home. A family beverage—a guest offering—a table drink that goes perfectly with all food.

As a suggestion for Sunday supper—Sweet red or green peppers stuffed with cream cheese and chopped nuts or olives, served on lettuce leaves. French dressing. Cold meat. Toasted crackers. Bevo for everyone. A beverage that tastes like no other soft drink. Pure, wholesome and nutritious.

Bevo—the all-year-'round soft drink.

THAT SAFE FEELIN

THE feeling that you have amply supplied for any possible needs of those dependent upon you comes with the habit of saving. Life's greatest pleasures are bestowed by destiny on those who have practiced frugality and foresight.

Don't spend all you earn on the passing pleasures. How proud you would be to be able to present to the children when they grow up a nice sum to start life with.
