THE CAPITAN MOUNTAINEER

FOURTH YEAR NUMBER 31. CAPITAN, NEW MEXICO, NOVEMBER 23, 1918. SUBSCRIPTION PRICE $1.50 A YEAR.

A Proclamation.

By the Governor of the State of New Mexico;

During the period of the American Revolutionary War, eight special thanksgiving days were observed, in recognition of signal victories by the Colonial patriot army or in giving open expression of gratitude to Divine Providence for its wondrous deliverance from destructive defeat.

Our martyred and yet immortal President Lincoln first appointed the last Tuesday in November as THANKSGIVING DAY.

In this year, 1918, the people of the State of New Mexico rejoice in greater cause for thanksgiving to the God of our Fathers than ever yet has blessed His and their children.

A sudden victorious peace has been conquered out of the world war, began by tyrants, to extend their system over all peoples.

From such dire calamity, the Great God, our King, has delivered us by His righteous might, so that free goverment, under law, has been justified and now is triumphant in the world.

Because of this inestimable blessing we are filled with gratitude.

Now therefore, I, W. E Lindsey, Governor of the State of New Mexico, in accoordance with a gracious and honored custom, do proclaim in the State of New Mexico.

THURSDAY NOVEMBER 28th, 1918, THANCSGIVING DAY

Especially on this day, may we all joyously praise and thank Almighty God for the armistice of November eleventh instant; and this last and greatest witness that government, under law, deriving its just powers from the consent of the governed, is soon to become the rule of action for all mankind in all the earth.

May we on that day, especially exult, proclaiming our gratitude to the Supreme Judge of the world for this last signal triumph of the power of justice, mercy and humility over the power of oppression, force and arrogance.

In witness whereof, I have set my hand and caused the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico to be affixed Done at the City of Santa Fe this 12th day of November, A. D. 1918.

W. E. Lindsey.

Attest:

Antonio Lucero, Secretary of State.

Russian Thistle Used for Cow Feed.

The Russian thistle, considered one of of the most noxious weeds in N. M., is now declared by many stockmen in that section to be of value as a stock feed. Some farmers in Santa Fe County already have put up large stacks of from 5 to 50 tons to be used for wintering stock this season. Its value as a feed was discovered during the last two years of drought when it was the only thing which stood between the live stock of that region and starvation. The county agricultural agent of Santa Fe County is urging the building of silos to be filled with Russian thistles, which it is also reported, make excellent silage. Agricultural Bulletin.

Notes and Comments.

The Kaiser fled to Holland, but it is believed Holland will refuse to give him a permanent refuge; that she will consider it dangerous to her future wefare in several ways and will consent to his extradition. He will likely have to face a court of justice like any other criminal, and if justice is meted out to him in accordance with enormity of his offense the penalty will be sufficiently sevrere.

Kentucky is first to propose that 250,000 acres of her lands be made available for our home coming soldiers. These lands are swamp lands, but can be made very valuable by drainage, which the government would probably do if the lands are accepted.

Operations will soon be commenced to bring home a large part of our soldiers now in Europe. It is said ample ship conveyance will be arranged to bring back 300,000 a month, and they will come flushed with victory and will receive the plaudits of the people everywhere But a sad feature of the whole affair is that nearly 100,000 of those who went will never return.

It would be hard to name another newspaper in the United States that publishes more able editorals than the Christian Science Monitor. Its editorials are not only scholarly, but speak with historical authority and their lucid style always pleases and enlightens the reader. Its columns contain full reports of the world's news, and it is presented without sensational features, and its selections are ureteaken from the best available sources.

Governor elect Larrazola has given out the information that he will immediately call together the stockmen of the state who have suffered from droughts for the past three years to consider measures for the protection and upbuilding of this importatn industry. Representatives of farming interests will also be invited to assist in the deliberations The need of a state law which would operate to insure stockmen and agriculturists from period loss will be discussed, as will all the conditions affecting the industries The Governor elect asserts that it is his desire to assist in the betterment of every community in the state.

The first American troops homeward bound, will be 8,000 who will sail from England in the next ten days.

President Wilson has decided to attend the opening of the Peace Conference, which is to be held in Paris. He will start immediately after the meeting of the regular sessain of congress in December and will be absent a month or longer. He will be the first President of the United Statesto to leave North America during his term of office.

After peace conditions are permanently settled, there is to be an effoort made to have Field Marshal Foch visit the United States and tour the country.

Health Talks.

By P. G. Peters.

Now that the flu epidemic is subsiding, it would seem a good time to consider some of the causes that lead up to these and other epidemics, and it is well to remember that flu has not gone, but is simply waiting another victim together with pneumonia, typhoid, etc. Possibly it will not be hard to locate the difficulty. It does not seem to belong to any particular race or class but that poor people who are given to dissipation gross feeding are hit the hardest and wealthy people who are highly refined and delicate in their eating have the best of it. It is not at all likely that position or attainments have anything to do with it, but those people who control themselves and their appetites in a general way are the ones that escape. People, too, who are stronger have a better show been the weak and infirm. People who use coffee, tobacco chill meat, lard preserves in excess are also more likely to be subject to any of these troubles People who lose sleep and dissipate are more liable, Those people who know and care as well as observe the simple rules are seldom affected by these disturbances and any life that renders a person immune from one of these distempers will likely keep him from the others There is no doubt that some thing can be done by quarantines and sanitation and efforts along these lines should not be abated, but other matters in the following order of importance need attention. DIET.—Smaller amounts of simple and easily digesid food. Exercise and rest scientifically applied is a great factor. Bathing, when intelligently done with a view of strengthening and invigorating the skin is very important A little dirt more or less does not cut much ice. Mentality is important to work and play Keep on good terms with yourself. In using milk, butter and beef remember that they are most variable of our foods and often are entirely unfit and it is very easy to tell when cattle are happy and thriving. True refinement and gluttony are not to be found in the same person but there is a very close relaxation between gluttony and diseases of all kinds. When you get sick, prompt action counts.

A Good Taxidermist.

Jake Hulse, our blacksmith and wagon yard man, is an excellent taxidermist and will add that to his other lines of business, Taxidermy is one of the fine arts and the people of this part of the country where fine working material is plentiful should appreciate the fact that we have a man among who can do that kind of work. Mr. Hulsee can mount animals, birds, etc., and give them a life like appearance. If parties have deer heads he can mount them to be used as decorations for the walls of offices and business houses; can mount wolf, panther, and bear skins with heads showing in perfect natural conditions, which can be used as rugs for the parlor. If you want any work in this line done bring your material to Mr. Hulse and he will do it and give you satisfaction.

FOOD HOARDERS IN TROUBLE

Mr. B. Z. Ant and Mrs. Camel Called On for Explanations as to Pernicious Activity.

Mr. B. Z. Ant, a well known citizen of this community, was arrested at his home last night on orders of the food administrator and charged with hoarding food. A large quantity of bread crumbs and other high-priced foodstuffs were found in the basement of Mr. Ant's home. The discovery is somewhat of a surprise as Mr. Ant has always borne an excellent reputation for industry; in fact the proverb "Go to the Ant, thou Sluggard," so often used, was originally written about a direct ancestor of Mr. Ant.

Witnesses testified that they had seen Mr. Ant on many occasions carrying food to his home and it is thought he has gone so far as to enlist the aid of his friends and relatives in carrying food. Enough edibles to feed all winter were found at the Ant home.

Mr. Ant is unable to give any satisfactory explanation of his offense except that some unseen force compelled him to store the food away, as he did not know it later on. He denies emphatically that he intended to hold it for higher prices. His case is being considered by the food administrator.

This is the second arrest made by food officials in this neighborhood recently. Mrs. Camel having been found guilty of violating the food regulation regarding the hoarding of fat. Other arrests are likely to follow.—"Bugtown Tattler" Correspondence of the Indianapolis Star.

DEATH AS ENTRY INTO JOY

Writer Thinks Mankind Exaggerates Importance of Incident of Earthly Dissolution.

Apart from the mystery of lives cut off in their early prime, and this is the horrid catastrophe of war, it is certain that in our natural clinging to life we exaggerate the importance of the incident of death. "Will you never find an abiding peace?" said a friend to a restless poet. He replied, "All life is a wandering to find home."

Michael Fairless writes in the Road Mender: "To the large majority death is Pluto, king of the dark unknown whence no traveler returns, rather than Azrael, brother and friend, lord of the mansion of life. Strange how men shun him as he waits in the shadow watching our straining after immortality, sending his comrade sleep to prepare us for himself. When the hour strikes he comes—very gently, very tenderly, if we will have it so—folds the tired hands together, takes the way worn feet in his broad, strong palms and lifting us in his wonderful arms he bears us swiftly down the valley and across the water of Remembrance. Very pleasant art thou, O Brother Death, thy love is wonderful; passing the love of women."

Locating Ore Beds.

Beds of ore are stated to have been located at a distance of two and a half miles by the electrical method patented in the United States by Professor R. A. Fessenden. In the locality where the existence of valuable ores is suspected, a number of holes several miles apart are bored, then filled with water, and a Fessenden sound oscillator is immersed in one as a transmitting apparatus, the receiver submerged in each of the other holes being an Einthoven recording oscillograph. The holes may be five miles or more apart over the area being investigated. In the study of the oscillograph records, special attention is given to the relation between sounds received direct and those from echoes, and it is found possible to get a fair idea of the character of intervening masses of rock and of the position and distance of neighboring deposits of ore.

World's Greatest Soldier.

Physically, Foch is a little man, his inches are about those of Napoleon, and he has Grant's fondness for the cigar. Like Joffre, a southerner, he has frankness of speech which his old commander has never displayed. Unlike Petain his words are rarely caustic and he has made friends among all his allies. An old man, close to seventy, yet younger than Clemenceau, he was still handsome when the war began, but the strain has marked his face and only his eyes reveal an unshaken spirit.—Frank H. Sing Sing Jail Short of Labor.

The labor shortage has hit even Sing Sing, which has a stationary supply of 1,500 men. The officials are puzzled because they are unwilling to employ women. MAY MEAN MUCH TO WORLD

Aviators Believe That Flying Is Bound to Have Great Influence on the Minds of Men.

Flying, in the opinion of British aviators, is going to change the character of the world's thought. It will have a broadening influence and it will bring a fresher, cleaner flow of ideas into the brains of men.

A man, the flyers argue, who has seen before him at the same time the cliffs of England, the long flat fields of Holland and the smiling countryside of Belgium and France is bound to think in a different way than a man whose horizon has always been bounded by bricks and mortar, or even by hill and dale.

Traveling may have made him think nationally, but flying will make him think far more largely. He will see England and France lying close to each other, separated only by a shining strip of water. He will see the green and brown mosaic of Belgium, which in its turn merges into the distant shadow of Holland, while, still farther on, across the wide Scheldt he will see the distant lowlands sweep on over the rim of the world.

How will he regard petty spites between individuals and cliques then? the birdman asks. He can cover with his thumb from the heights a feverish city swarming with a million people. What will he think of those who live next to each other and will not speak? How mean and petty their quarrels and jealousies and hates will seem.

The true meaning of human intercourse and friendship will come home to him. He will gain an almost divine outlook upon the world. Dishonesty, civil strife, all will seem to him contemptible. Perhaps, say the aviators, this is the new view which will bring the millennium.

Enterprising Alaskan Village.

Noorvick, a native village near Nome, Alaska, is said to be the only Eskimo village in northern Alaska possessing electric lights and a wireless plant. The light plant and wireless station were installed by Delbert Replogle, teacher at the Noorvick government school. Mr. Replogle, who was in Nome recently on his way to the States, said he left natives in charge of the improvements.

Meekly made up his mind that he wasn't going to be boxed any longer by his wife, so when he went home at noon he called out, imperiously: "Laura! Laura!"

Mrs. Meekly came out of the kitchen with perspiration on her face, her hands covered with war flour, and a rolling-pin in her hand.

"What do you want with Laura?" she asked.

Meekly staggered, but braced himself up. "I want you to understand, madam"—and he tapped his breast dramatically—"that I am the engineer of this establishment, that I am—"

"Oh, you are, are you? Well, Joseph, I want you to understand that I"—here she looked dangerous—"I am the boiler that might blow up and sling the engineer over into the next street. Do you hear the steam escaping, Joseph?"

Joseph heard, and prayed that he might be passed Grade 1 when he went before the medical board.—London Tit-Bits.

Negotiations for aerial postal service have been completed between the British and Dutch governments, and Holland is very busy making final arrangements. STEADIER HOG MARKETS PLANNED

Hog Producers and Packers Confer With Representatives of the Food Administration and Agricultural Department and Adopt New Plan of Regulation.

In accordance with the policy of the Food Administration since its foundation to consult representative men in the agricultural industry on occasions of importance to special branches of the industry, on October 24 there was convened [illegible] Washington a meeting of the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board and the special members representing the swine industry to consider the situation in the hog market.

The conference lasted for three days, and during this time met with the executive committee of the fifty packing firms participating in foreign orders for pork products and with the members of the Food Administration directing foreign pork purchases.

The conclusions of the conference were as follows:

The entire marketing situation has so changed since the September joint conference as to necessitate an entire alteration to the plans of price stabilization. The current peace talk has alarmed the holders of corn, and there has been a price decline of from 25 cents to 40 cents per bushel. The fact that the accumulations of low priced corn in the Argentine and South Africa would, upon the advent of peace and liberated shipping, become available to the European market has created a great deal of apprehension on the part of corn holders. This decline has spread fear among swine growers that a similar reduction in the prices of hogs would naturally follow. Moreover, the lower range of corn prices would, if incorporated in a 13-to-1 ratio, obviously result in a continuously falling price for live hogs. In view of these changed conditions many swine producers anticipated lower prices and as a result rushed their hogs to market in large numbers, and this overshipment has added to and aggravated the decline.

The information of the Department of Agriculture indicates that the supply of hogs has increased about 8 per cent., while the highest unofficial estimate does not exceed 15 per cent. increased production over last year. On the other hand, the arrival of hogs during the last three weeks in the seven great markets has been 27 per cent. more than last year, during the corresponding period, demonstrating the unusually heavy marketing of the available supply. In the face of the excessive receipts some packers have not maintained the price agreed last month. On the other hand, many of the packers have paid over the price offered to them in an endeavor to maintain the agreed price. The result in any event has been a failure to maintain the October price basis determined upon at the September conference and undertaken by the packers. Another factor contributing to the break in prices during the month has been the influenza epidemic; it has sharply curtailed consumption of pork products and temporarily decreased the labor staff of the packers about 25 per cent.

The exports of 130,000,000 pounds of pork products for October compared with about 52,000,000 pounds in October a year ago, and the export orders placeable by the Food Administration for November, amount to 170,000,000 pounds as contrasted with the lesser exports of 98,000,000 for November, 1917. The increased demands of the allies are continuing, and are in themselves proof of the necessity for the large production for which the Food Administration asked. The increase in export demands appears to be amply sufficient to take up the increase in [illegible] market conditions [illegible] in October [illegible] supply and demand.

It must be evident that the enormous shortage in fats in the Central Empires and neutral countries would immediately upon peace result in additional demands for pork products which, on top of the [illegible] to the Allies, would tend materially to increase the American exports, inasmuch as no considerable reservoir of supplies exists outside of the United States. It seems probable that the present prospective supplies would be inadequate to meet this world demand with the return to peace. So far as it is possible to interpret this fact, it appears that there should be even a stronger demand for pork products after the war, and therefore any alarm of hog producers as to the effect of peace is unwarranted by the outlook.

In the light of these circumstances it is the conclusion of the conference that attempts to hold the price of hogs to the price of corn may work out to the disadvantage of pork producers. It is the conclusion that any interpretation of the formula should be a broad gauged policy applied over a long period. It is the opinion of the conference that in substitution of the previous plans of stabilization the Live Stock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board together with [illegible] invited as to representation [illegible] accept the [illegible] of Agriculture [illegible]

[illegible] packers [illegible] orders together with the [illegible] of the Food Administration, the following undertaking has been given by the packers:

"In view of the undertakings on the part of the Food Administration with regard to the co-ordinated purchases of pork products, covered in the attached, it is agreed that the packers participating in these orders will undertake not to purchase hogs for less than the following agreed minimums for the month of November, that is a daily minimum of $17.50 per hundred pounds on average of packers' droves, excluding throw-outs. "Throw-outs" to be defined as pigs under 130 pounds, stags, boars, thin sows and skips. Further, that no hogs of any kind shall be bought, except throw-outs, at less than $16.50 per hundred pounds. The average of packers' droves to be construed as the average of the total sales in the market of all hogs for a given day. All the above to be based on Chicago.

We agree that a committee shall be appointed by the Food Administration to check the daily operations in the various markets with a view to supervision and demonstration of the carrying out of the above.

The ability of the packers to carry out this arrangement will depend on there being a normal marketing of hogs based upon the proportionate increase over the receipts of last year. The increase in production appears to be a maximum of about 15 per cent. and we can handle such an increase.

If the producers of hogs should, as they have in the past few weeks, prematurely market hogs in such increasing numbers over the above it is entirely beyond the ability of the packers to maintain these minimums, and therefore we must have the co-operation of the producer himself to maintain these results. It is a physical impossibility for the capacity of the packing houses to handle a similar over-flood of hogs and to find a market for the output. The packers are anxious to co-operate with the producers in maintaining a stabilization of price and to see that producers receive a fair price for their products.

(Signed) THOS. E. WILSON,
Chairman Packers' Committee.

The plan embodied above was adopted by the conference.

The Food Administrator has appointed a committee, comprising Mr. Thomas E. Wilson, chairman of the Packers' Committee; Mr. Everett Brown, president of the Chicago Livestock Exchange; Major Roy of the Food Administration, Mr. Louis D. Hall of the Bureau of Markets, to undertake the supervision of the execution of the plan in the various markets. Commission men are asked to co-operate in carrying out the plan embodied in the packers' agreement. It must be evident that offers by commission men to sell hogs below the minimum established above is not fair, either to the producer or the participating packers. Mr. Brown has undertaken on behalf of the commission men in the United States that they will loyally support the plan.

It is believed by the conference that this new plan, based as it is upon a positive minimum basis, will bring better results to the producer than average prices for the month. It does not limit top prices and should narrow the margins necessary to country buyers in more variable markets. It is believed that the plan should work out close to $18 average.

Swine producers of the country will contribute to their own interest by not flooding the market, for it must be evident that if an excessive over percentage of hogs is marketed in any one month price stabilization and control cannot succeed, and it is certain that producers themselves can contribute materially to the efforts of the conferences if they will do their marketing in as normal a way as possible.

The whole situation as existing at present demands a frank and explicit assurance from the conferees represented—namely, that every possible effort will be made to maintain a live hog price commensurate with swine production costs and reasonable selling values in execution of the declared policy of the Food Administration to use every agency in its control to secure justice to the farmer.

The stabilization methods adopted for November represent the best efforts of the conference, concurred in by the Food Administration and the Livestock Subcommittee of the Agricultural Advisory Board, together with special swine members and the representatives of the packers, to improve the present unsatisfactory situation, which has unfortunately resulted because of the injection of uncontrollable factors.

We ask the producer to co-operate with us in a most difficult task.

The members of the Conference were:

Producers—H. C. Stuart, Elk Garden, Va., Chairman Agricultural Advisory Board; W. M. McFadden Chicago, Ill.; A. Sykes, Ida Grove, Ia.; John M. Everard, Ames, Ia.; J. H. Mercer, Live Stock Commission for Kansas; J. G. Brown, Lemon Ind. E. C. Brown, President Chicago Livestock Exchange; S. H. Gentry, Sedalia, Mo.; John G.
