Easter Splendid Festival in the Early Centuries

Easter Sunday! What a picture the words suggest! A beautiful, sunny day, church-going and the display of the new spring suit on the boulevard in the afternoon. A day much like any other Sunday, for in these prosaic times Easter is not the brilliant, joyous festival it once was.

Suppose we were to turn back the pages of history to the Middle ages. What a festival Easter was in those days! The old pagan Anglo-Saxon festival of Easter was not merely a remembrance and its strange mummery not forgotten. Everything was light-hearted and colorful and vibrant. Even those who had to wear the long faces during the rest of the year forgot their seriousness to play and dance and perform strange tricks upon one another in the streets.

The priests, along with the laymen, imbibed the spirit of Easter and laughed and played with the care-free spirit of schoolboys. Instead of preaching serious sermons or exhorting the people to consider the wickedness of their ways, they told humorous stories of how the devil tried to keep the Spirit of Christ from ascending out of hell into Heaven. Their stories were very droll and made the people laugh exceedingly. Imagine a minister these days getting up before his congregation and telling funny stories Easter morning!

The people were very happy and greeted one another cheerfully upon the streets. "Christ is risen," they would say. "Yes, Christ is truly risen," would come the answer. Then the mummery and the leaping and capering and trick playing upon the streets! The modern French festival of the Lenten season, with its joyous abandon, more accurately resembles the Easter festivals of the Middle ages.

The Pascal Candle.

The great sight of the day was the Pascal candle burned in the principal church or cathedral in the city. How the people rushed and thronged through the streets to see it! Oftentimes the candles were huge affairs, rising as high as 75 feet in the air and weighing as much as 75 pounds. What was left of the candle at Whitsunday was made into candles for the poor.

The interiors of the churches were truly marvelous. Thousands of candles burned in every niche, flooding the place with a particular brilliance. Dazzling colors were everywhere. "Christ is risen. Let us be joyous," was the thought that was in the minds of everyone. Then, after the impressive chanting of the Easter hymns, would come the giving of the Easter kiss. Even the beggar and the outcast was not forgotten in this.

Easter at the beginning was a pagan celebration for the coming of spring. When the Christians came they took over most of the old observances, changing the significance to correspond with the new religion. So the old Paschal lamb of the Hebrews became the lamb of Christ. The casting of an effigy of winter into a fire that represented spring was changed into a symbolism of Judas and the fires of hell.

The lighting of the Easter fires on the sacred mountains was said to correspond to the pillar of fire that led the Hebrews out of the wilderness into the Promised Land.

Played Ball in Streets.

Many of the customs or observances, one time, had had religious meaning, but by the Middle ages this symbolism had been partly forgotten. They merely represented the spirit and joviality of the day. So there was the custom of playing ball in the streets. The ball represented the sun, which was popularly supposed to give three hops when rising Easter morning. This sport was engaged in by everyone, even by the priests, bishops, monks and mayors and corporations of cities.

Another popular custom that grew out of the egg symbol for Easter was egg chipping and egg rolling. Both of these games were to test the thickness of the shells. We still have a survival of this custom in the egg-rolling contest held annually for children on the White House grounds.

The word Easter itself means April and is the name of the Anglo-Saxon Goddess of Spring. At first it was celebrated with all the licentious mummery imaginable to a heathen religion, but as the centuries passed and the Christians came, it became a purely religious festival. The meaning of the rites were lost, but the people observed them just the same. Surely none of us feel that we are performing a heathen rite when we give Easter eggs to our friends.

In the early days of the Christian religion no festivals were observed, not even Easter. "The whole of time is a festival unto Christians because of the excellency of the good things which have been given," explained St. Chrysostom.

Gradually, however, Easter became the biggest festival in the calendar of the church. Everyone who professed the religion of Christ was supposed to take communion on that day. If he refused his name was to be excommunicated and at death his body to be denied Christian burial.

How Date Was Fixed.

The dispute over the true time to hold Easter was one of the quarrels that shook the early Christian world. Those who had been Jewish wanted to celebrate it on the 14th of the old Jewish month of Nisan—the beginning of the Jewish festival of the passover. Those who had been Gentiles said that Easter should be observed on the following Sunday.

For years this dispute waxed warmly, until it was finally settled by the great church council held at Nicea in 325. It was decreed that Easter should come on a Sunday and that the date should be the first Sunday following the full moon after the vernal equinox (March 21). The city of Alexandria, then famed for its skill in astronomical affairs, was given the duty of fixing the date.

It was a pagan custom to regard the egg and the rabbit as symbols of procreativeness. This is about the only Easter observance that has survived to modern times. Our custom of filling our homes with lilies and early flowers seems to be a custom of recent origin.

Dozens of Easter observances, no less picturesque, have been forgotten or overwhelmed in the seriousness of these latter days. So on Easter Monday husbands struck their wives, but on Tuesday the wives struck back. In Germany the men and maid servants observed the same custom, but used switches in doing so. It was, also, the custom for parents and children to try and surprise each other in bed early Easter morning. The tardy one would receive a rough switching to remind him or her of remissness.

Much Liberty Permitted.

In every way Easter day was a day of special privilege. In Russia everyone who wished was allowed to go into the churches and ring the bells as long as he desired. Thousands of people availed themselves of this opportunity. In England the men ran joyfully about the streets lifting the women from the ground three times. The one so favored had to give the male either a silver sixpence or a good hearty kiss. This custom was observed in some parts of the country almost down to the present day. In Puy in France, from time immemorial, the canons tried to catch one of their number sleeping Easter morning. After matins were sung in the chapel they rushed in a body to the room of the sleeping one and sprinkled him with water. If the canon was found asleep he was obliged to furnish his fellows with breakfast.

Easter Day Varied.

In ancient times Easter day fell on different dates in different climates, so cycles of years with dates fixed had to be drawn up. There was a dispute over the correctness of the cycles, and there was great confusion. Finally, however, Easter date was based on the Gergorian correction of the calendar, but that threw the Eastern church out of line. Consequently Easter has only once been celebrated universally by all Christians. This was in 1583, which all the reckonings fell on the same day.

One of the pious observances of the Middle ages that marked the closing of Lent and the opening of Easter time was the blessing of the foods which had been denied so long. Many were the tales of the eager ones who were struck down for eating of them before they had been blessed.

The Easter season has always been accepted as the time for receiving the young into the church. What a picture it makes!

HOPE SUPREME

I think of the garden after the rain
And hope to my heart comes singing.
At morn the cherry blooms will be white,
And the Easter bells be ringing.

E. J. Bedell, manager of the Hotel Clunie of Sacramento, and one of the most prominent hotel men in the state, was arrested following the shooting of his brother, Milton Bedell, who is said to be in a critical condition. More than 2,000 postoffice employés from all parts of the state are expected to attend the convention.

To inconvenience the traveling public through neglecting to post in railway stations the exact time each passenger train is due to arrive is in violation of the Montana state law and is punishable by a fine of $50 to $200, according to a communication which has been sent all Montana counties by Wellington B. Rankin, state attorney general.

A fashionably attired woman rode up in a limousine to the entrance of the Palace hotel in San Francisco, handed a weighty package to an attendant, and then disappeared. When opened, the package was found to contain approximately sixty pieces of silverware, believed to have been taken from the hotel during the fire of 1906 which partially destroyed the city. The silverware is valued at $100.

WASHINGTON

The United States government is still paying pensions to forty-one widows of soldiers of the war of 1812 notwithstanding the fact that 108 years have elapsed since the closing of that conflict, according to statistics just compiled by the Department of the Interior.

The federal farm loan board, at the conclusion of a three-day conference with the federal land bank presidents, gave assurance that farmers of the country will have the benefit of the government's financial aid, authorized in the recently enacted rural credits legislation, by the time the spring planting begins.

The first operation under the Anglo-American debt funding agreement took place, when Great Britain made a payment of $4,028,000 to the United States treasury through the federal reserve bank of New York. This first payment was made to reduce the total British debt to $4,600,000,000, the amount upon which the funding agreement was predicated.

Robbers broke into the Olympia (Wash.) postoffice recently, drilled their way into the money order vault, blew open the stamp safe and escaped with stamps valued at between $15,000 and $20,000.

A decline of 20 per cent in the average value of plowed lands throughout the country is shown in a statistical survey made by the Department of Agriculture. The average value per acre on March 1 this year was $60.53, the department reported, as compared with $69.89 on the same date last year, $93.78 in 1921.

Four new stamps of the complete new series to be issued by the Postoffice Department have been placed on sale at the department philatelic agency. The department said the new stamps would be sent to postoffices only when the present supply in their denominations is exhausted. One of the new stamps is of 12-cent denomination and bears a portrait of President Cleveland. The others are a 30-cent stamp, bearing the picture of a buffalo; a 82 stamp with a picture of the United States capitol, and a $5 stamp, bearing the head of "America," taken from the statue on the capitol dome.

States cannot impose taxes on mortgages negotiated by the Federal Farm Loan banks, the Supreme Court held recently. It overruled a decision of the courts in Alabama which upheld a tax of 15 per cent per hundred in accordance with an Alabama law on a mortgage of the Federal Farm Loan Bank at New Orleans, signed by D. W. Crosland of Montgomery county. State laws in conflict in this respect were held unconstitutional.

The world non-stop dancing record now is claimed by a Marseilles "professor," who called it a day after he had held the floor for twenty-four hours, four minutes and five seconds. He was assisted by two young women pupils, the first of whom, Mlle. Marcelle Tref, danced sixteen hours, twenty-five minutes and fifteen seconds.

The good humor of Alexander P. Moore, of Pittsburgh, new American ambassador to Spain, averted a Franco-American diplomatic incident recently in Paris, when the chief French customs inspector refused to honor Moore's ambassadorial passport. Moore was able to obtain his trunks after interpreters were engaged for two hours in straightening out the tangle.

The Germans in Duisburg and elsewhere in the Belgian occupied area have gone on a thirst strike. This is due to the adoption by the Belgians of the rule "no tax, no wine" as a method of inducing payment of the recently imposed tax on wines, liquors and tobacco. The Germans are refusing to pay the tax and the Belgians are seizing, locking up and guarding the wine cellars.

A letter purported to have been written by Liam Lynch, republican army leader, to Joseph McGarrity of Philadelphia, urging the vital importance of "a consignment of arms arriving as soon as possible," was made public recently by the Free State government. "One piece of small artillery in a few weeks would be worth twenty pieces arriving in a couple of months," Lynch was said to have written. "Time is on the side of the enemy. We want to make the most of the coming few months. If it is at all possible to have such here at once nothing should prevent it. We could turn the scale here immediately and also end the war quickly if this arrived."

In the span of a little more than two generations the United States has assumed the leading position among all nations in the volume and variety of its manufactured production, the number of wage earners engaged in manufacturing, the power applied to processes and the value of products, the national conference board says in an analysis of a recent census of manufacturers. "From 1849 to 1919 the total value of products manufactured in the United States rose from $1,092,000,000 to nearly $62,500,000,000, and the number of wage earners employed in manufacturing from 957,059 to 9,000,972. In the first twenty years of this century the personnel of manufacturing industries more than doubled, while the total value of manufactured products in 1919 was approximately five and one-half times the total in 1899," the report says.

Seven Points of Supremacy

1. The sole leather used in "FOOT-FITTERS" is of the best quality obtainable. Even the insoles are cut from standard outsole leather.

2. "FOOT-FITTERS" are the only shoes in the world having full length vamps and sole leather box toes. This feature prevents ripping at the tip and makes a smooth outer and inner surface.

3. The insoles are shoulder channelled so that they fit tightly against the outsole. There is no need or room for a cork filler. A small piece of duck is used to prevent squeaking.

4. The Calfskin inside counter pocket is of great value, for it saves the wear on the socks. There is no rough surface to rub against.

5. "FOOT-FITTER" heels are ¼-inch longer than generally used. They give additional support to the arch and increase the comfort and wear of the shoe.

6. The vamp is reenforced with 8-oz. duck. This absorbs the moisture from the foot, this keeps the vamp from cracking and holds the shoe in shape.

7. Edmonds' "FOOT-FITTER" shoes are called "FOOT-FITTERS" because they fit the foot snugly. Built on combination lasts they support the foot like a doctor's bandage.—"FOOT-FITTERS" give Comfort, Service and Appearance.

New Jury Law Now Operative

Santa Fe, March 30.—The new law passed by the last legislature regulating the drawing of juries is already being put into operation here as elsewhere in the state. This law requires that all of the names of the male voters of the county be put into a box and the jury be drawn from them. In this way it was planned to let every man have an opportunity to serve on a jury.

In this county there will be 2,500 to 3,000 names, and they have already been typewritten on long sheets of paper by County Clerk Safford and his office force. They will then be cut into strips, rolled and boxed. It is thought Judge Holloman will draw the jury some time in April.

The new law has upset the plans of several courts, however, where juries have already been drawn. So far, it appears that six juries were drawn under the old law, and it is thought that it will be necessary to draw new juries.

Andrews-Stephens

Mr. Albert P. Andrews, of Capitan, and Miss Annie Bee Stephens, of this place were united in marriage at Cedarvale Tuesday, February 20th, Rev. Graham, of Cedarvale, performing the wedding ceremony. Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Ballard and Mr. Truett were the only guests in attendance.

The young couple, for reasons best known to themselves, kept their marriage a secret until today when they furnished the Mavarick representative the above information.

The bride is a sister of Mrs. Alfred Ballard and has been a guest of the Ballard family for the past year, during which time she has made many friends in this locality.

The groom is well liked by all who know him here. He is in the automobile business at Capitan at present. Mr. Andrews' native state is Massachusetts.

The newly weds plan to leave in a few to visit the bride's mother, Mrs. J. F. Stephens, at Brownfield, Texas.—Corona Mavarick.

Good Man Gone

Mr. W. H. Fisher, one of the leading business men of Capitan died last Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Fisher had been ill for several months from a complication of diseases. The remains were buried in the Angus cemetery on Friday, where he had requested to be buried.

Mr. Fisher was in his seventy-third year, and had for more than twenty years lived in Capitan. He first engaged in farming and stockraising and afterwards established the Fisher Lumber Company which proved to be a successful business. We will secure proper data and publish a more extended sketch of Mr. Fisher in next paper.

Richard Drapleff of the Alto community was here the first of the week making application to make final proof for title to his homestead.

There have been light rains this week, which have added materially to the season that was already in the ground. Farmers are preparing their land for this years crops, while grass and weeds are making their appearance on the black ranges.

Mr. J. A. Phillips, of the Tuesock neighborhood, returned this week from Mesa Arizona, where he has been since last fall.

We had a letter this week from John H. Hatch who is now in Arizona. He is working for a big ranch outfit and he says that country is prosperous and money plentiful.

Uncle Ben Robinson was down this week from his home near Parsons. Uncle Ben is looking well and as full of life as he was a quarter of a century ago. He is very hopeful that this will be a good crop year.

Pete Phillips, rancheman near Texas Park, had business in Capitan this week.

We will take in exchange for subscription to the Mountaineer any kind of table eatables, such as butter, eggs, potatoes, beans, cabbage, turnips, etc. This applies to past due subscriptions as well as new ones.

Every Man To His Trade

—IS NOT SUCH A BAD IDEA—

You don't go to the carpenter to have your shoes fixed, nor to the mason to get a bite to eat.

Even so, when you need medicine or anything of the sort the drug stores are pretty safe places to get them. You are safe guarded. Sometimes even you will misspeak, asking for the wrong thing, may happen a deadly thing. The trained druggist will catch your mistake, learn what you should have and see that you get it. Safety first.

New Jury Law Now Operative

Santa Fe, March 20.—The new law passed by the last legislature regulating the drawing of juries is already being put in to operation here as elsewhere in the state. This law requires that all of the names of the male voters of the county be put into a box and the jury be drawn from them. In this way it was planned to let every man have an opportunity to serve on a jury.

In this county there will be 2,500 to 3,000 names and they have already been typewritten on long sheets of paper by County Clerk Dalford and his office force. They will then be cut into strips, rolled and boxed. It is thought Judge Holloman will draw the jury some time in April.

The new law has upset the plans of several courts, however, where juries have already been drawn. So far, it appears that six juries were drawn under the old law, and it is thought that it will be necessary to draw new juries.

He says he has smoked more Edgeworth than any other living man

Let Mr. Baldwin's letter give you the facts, and you will see he has some justification for his claims.

Larus & Brother Company
Richmond, Va.

Gentlemen:

I think that I am entitled to be called a charter member of the Edgeworth Smokers Club, as I have used the Edgeworth Sliced Plug between twenty and twenty-five years.

When I commenced using it I was selling hardware on the road. One of my customers who kept a general store told me that he had just received a new tobacco and wished that I would try it. He gave me a box for which he charged me 10c. He made a mistake, as it was selling at that time for 25c. I liked it so well that I made it a point to ask for it in every store in the different towns that I made; but few had it. The next time that I called on this customer I bought six boxes, which would last until I got around again. I still continued to ask for it in the different towns and tried to induce the dealers to stock it.

In 1906 or 1907 I went to So. Carolina and stayed there three years. I was surprised not to be able to get it there. At that time I was in Beaufort, S. C., and made frequent trips to Savannah, Ga., and Charleston, S. C. and was unable to get it in either of these cities. Finally I ordered some direct from you and also induced a dealer in Beaufort to stock it.

I have used it always for over twenty years except occasionally when I could not get it. I figure that I have smoked over 1000 of the 10c boxes, which have cost for the last few years 15c. For at least five years I have not bought a cigar. Have had some given to me, but they do not take the place of the old pipe filled with Edgeworth.

I am sixty-one years of age and still think that it is the best tobacco on the market. I don't think there is a man living who has smoked any more Edgeworth than I. What do you think?

Yours truly,
(Signed) H. F. Baldwin

It is always pleasing to hear from old Edgeworth smokers, and we would like to know if this record is the best over made.

But we are interested, too, in new Edgeworth smokers. We like to know that young men, men who are breaking in their first pipes, find Edgeworth before they get very far in their pipe-smoking careers.

So we have a standing invitation to send free samples of Edgeworth to all who ask for them. If you haven't tried Edgeworth, we have a sample package here containing Plug Slice and Ready-Rubbed that is only waiting for your name and address.

When you write for it, address Larus & Brother Company, 75 South 21st Street, Richmond, Va.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If your jobber cannot supply you with Edgeworth, Larus & Brother Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post a one- or two-dozen carton of any size of Edgeworth Plug Slice or Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the jobber.

The Hagerman Alfalfa Growers' Association held a big meeting recently to go over the work of the past year and select officers for the coming season. The report of the association showed that during the past twelve months the shipments of hay from the valley totaled 7,047 tons or about 691 cars of eleven tons to the car. Owing to the moisture in the valley during the past month, it is believed that the outlook for the coming season is even better than in 1922.

Seven bills, five of them road bills, were scheduled for the waste paper basket when Governor Hinkle announced his intention of leaving without signing them. The unsigned bills, which now fail to become law, include the Senate bills defining legal newspapers and fixing rates for legal publications and appropriating $45,000 for the Institute for the Blind at Alamogordo. The others were all road bills. Previously, while the Legislature was still in session, the governor vetoed four road bills. These, that got the "pocket veto" recently brought the chief executive's total of road bills killed up to nine. All carried provisions of special levies and the issuance of debentures to anticipate these levies. The seven bills that failed to get the governor's signature are: Committee substitute for H. B. 219, amending chapter 157, laws of 1921, which declared a public highway in Santa Fé county, and extending the highway to San Antonito and La Tijeras, Bernalillo county. S. B. 23, defining a legal newspaper and fixing rates for legal publications. H. B. 257, creating a public highway from Lyden to top of Black Mesa. H. No favoritism will be shown and no speculation tolerated in grazing lands while he is in office, State Land Commissioner Jacinto Baca told the New Mexico Cattle and Horse Growers' Association a few days ago. In reply to rumors that he intended to raise rentals on grazing lands, which he charged to enemies, Mr. Baca said his purpose was to continue the present rentals for 1923 payments, except in cases where he found discrimination, and thereafter to revert to the former rentals—5 cents an acre in the eastern district and 3 cents in the western for the five-year period from 1923 to 1927, inclusive.

The force of workmen at Deming remodeling the Holy Cross sanatorium, are making rapid progress and the big institution will be opened in the next thirty days. WHY TAKE LAXATIVES?

Discovery by Science Has Replaced Them.

Pills and salts give temporary relief from constipation only at the expense of permanent injury, says an eminent authority.

Science has found a newer, better way—a means as simple as Nature itself.

In perfect health a natural lubricant keeps the food waste soft and moving. But when constipation exists this natural lubricant is not sufficient. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

As Nujol is not a medicine or laxative, it cannot gripe and, like pure water, it is harmless and pleasant.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals. Get a bottle from your druggist today.—Advertisement.

Mrs. Gross Praises Tanlac for Overcoming Stomach Trouble of Long Standing—Says Results Are Priceless.

"Before I took Tanlac I only weighed ninety-four pounds and scarcely had strength to sweep the floor or make the beds; but now I weigh one hundred and thirty-two and am as healthy and happy as can be." This remarkable statement was made recently by Mrs. Mabel Gross, 1137 Aldrich St., N., Minneapolis, Minn.

"For nearly two years I had been in a seriously weakened condition and suffered nearly all the time from headache and backache. My nerves were beyond my control and I was terribly dizzy. I couldn't half sleep and my stomach was so out of order that even the sight of food nauseated me.

"The benefits I have received from Tanlac are priceless. I am now a perfectly well woman and my friends often speak of how healthy I look. I certainly have a great deal to praise Tanlac for. Health is worth everything, and that is what Tanlac has meant to me."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Over 35 million bottles sold.—Advertisement.
