WHERE IS THE "FULL DINNER PAIL" NOW?

The following correspondence is self-explanatory:

New York, July 22, 1908.

"Gentlemen:—we have tacked this notice upon the walls of our factories in Brooklyn and N. Y.:

"Believing that the election of Taft and Sherman means a safe and progressive business administration, the day following their election we shall start this plant on

"FULL TIME AND KEEP GOING."

"If you believe with us that by relieving any uncertainty as to what the wage earner can expect in the event of electing men who will secure the business prosperity of this country, we should be glad to have you follow our example.

(Here follow the names of numerous manufacturing associations to which cards have been sent.)

This extraordinary epistle, for the purpose of debasing the franchise, closes as follows:

"Regardless of politics, once the manufacturers of this country join universally in this movement depression will cease.

"Lend us your help and post the card 'Full time and keep going.'

"Yours very truly,

"NEW YORK LEATHER BELTING COMPANY."

The following reply was sent:

AUSTIN ROTARY ENGINE CO.,

2d Ave. and 8th St., Brooklyn,

Brooklyn, N. Y., July 25, 1908.

"New York Leather Belting Co., No. 51 Beekman Street, N. Y.

"Gentlemen:—We have yours of July 22, offering us copies of cards posted in your factories, which you say read as follows:

(Repeats wording of card.)

"Permit us to say we do not understand. Why have you stopped your factories? Why is the 'Full Time and Keep Going' plan not now in operation? Why has there been any shutting down by you and the other members of the National Association of Manufacturers, the American Hardware Manufacturers' Association, and the numerous other similar associations to which you say you belong? Did you not assure us that McKinley would insure a 'full dinner pail' to all who desired to work? Was not this assurance renewed when your several bodies indorsed Roosevelt and Fairbanks? Then what has emptied the dinner pail of millions of men who are willing to work? What greater reliance can be placed on this assurance than on the others? If you were false prophets before, how do we know you will, not be again?

"But why the closed factories? why the idle mills? why the unused freight cars? Why the maintenance of high prices in the face of falling demand? Where is the 'abounding,' 'marvelous,' 'wonderful,' unparalleled, widespread prosperity? Haven't we got a Republican administration? Haven't we got a Republican Senate and House of Representatives? Haven't we had them uninterruptedly for twelve years? Haven't the Republicans made the laws, state as well national, and haven't and they been charged with their enforcement? Then what is the matter? If the laws are defective, why haven't they been altered? If defective now, were they not equally defective eight and four years ago, when you assured us, 'all is well,' and 'leave well enough alone?'

"Why the depression, we ask? Haven't we had seven years of Roosevelt, who, according to Republican orators and assistant Republicans, as well as Republican newspapers, is the greatest, wisest and best President the country ever had? Haven't we had twelve years of 'standpatism,' with Hanna, Aldrich and Cannon sitting on the brakes to prevent the enactment of legislation not desired by the gentlemen who are so conspicuous in their support of Taft and Sherman—Morgan, Rockefeller, Carnegie, Harriman, Schiff? Do these men ever make a mistake when they select candidates? Which is most likely to be misled, these men who say that Taft is all right, that he is a conservative, or the Western farmer who is told that Taft is a radical?

"Where is the 'abounding' prosperity? Wealth has certainly increased enormously, or, at least, prices have been boosted to a point that ought to have satisfied the most avaricious. The fortunes of the few have become gigantic—bounded out of sight. Morgan, we are told, has three hundred or so millions, Carnegie as much; while Rockefeller is credited with a billion; a few thousand others having from one to a hundred millions each. These seem to have had their 'full time and keep going' cards in operation, while they are generally credited with having in October-November last gathered in nearly everything in a large way in the shape of banks, trust companies, industrial and railroad combinations, which had so far escaped them. In fact, the bulk of the people have been set a lively pace to pay the increasing prices for the necessities of life these and a few others control.

"But what has happened to the masses, whom you and other boosters of McKinley and Roosevelt assured were to share in the prosperity? With a total estimated wealth of some one hundred and ten billions the per capita tables work out all right, there should be enough to go round, for that's equal to about $7,000 per family. But who has it? How many of the millions of toilers have a tenth of that sum free and clear? How comes it that the bulk of the people are shy their proportion of this enormous wealth? Have they been lazy, thriftless, or improvident during these twelve years? If lazy, then who created the wealth? Has the average farmer, mechanic, salesman, clerk, teacher, or laborer squandered their portion in riotous living? Did they spend it for automobiles, steam-yachts, or even for diamonds? If not, what has become of it? Why haven't they got it; how did they lose it? What has been the unseen, subtle, but apparently all-powerful force that has taken it from them? Why have matters become so appalling in America that the so-called effete countries of Europe have felt impelled to take official cognizance of the deplorable conditions in which so many of our toilers are compelled to live. The Italian government (as the result of the shocking reports that reached it) having sent a commission to investigate. Most revolting conditions were shown to exist. Whole families were found crowded into one and two-room apartments, while not only the women, but little children not much more than babies, were found working in filthy, unhygienic quarters, helping to eke out a scanty living for the family. Overcrowding was shown to be the rule not the exception. In one case seven adults and seven children were 'living' in a dark, middle room, and a large, bare rear room.

"The daily press also tells us that since October thousands of entire families have been out of work, as a result they have used up all their savings, not their proportion—$7,000, as above—but a paltry $50, all they had been able to save during the years of boasted prosperity. The president of the Association for Improving the Condition of the Poor, R. F. Cutting, says: 'I cannot remember such a condition existing before. Nor even in 1893 and 1894 did the depression exist so long! While, according to Senator Foraker, on July 1, 22,000 skilled workers are out of employment here in Cincinnati.' Presumably the number of unskilled was greater yet. These illustrations of 'unparalleled' prosperity have been duplicated all over the country; no section has escaped the blight. There has been a tremendous exodus of those who could not find employment, three-quarters of a million more having immigrated to Europe than have immigrated here.

"Why the depression, why the blight? This 'marvelous' prosperity seems to have been wonderfully efficacious in keeping the toilers poor. This unprecedented prosperity seems to have been monopolized by a few. They have gone on piling up millions, but the larders of the workers it seems have accumulated nothing, so that they now face starvation as their reward for the part they took in producing 'widespread' prosperity. The bottom has dropped out of their 'full dinner pail.'

"Again we ask why? You say, regardless of politics, once the manufacturers of this country join universally in this movement, depression will cease. Who are they to sell to? How can the masses buy when their savings are gone? With wages reduced how are they to pay monopoly prices and yet live? How are you going to bring prosperity to the toiler without destroying monopoly and special privileges? Using the force-pump won't alter conditions. The people want something more than wind. Why not prick the monopoly bubble, let out some of the wind and water, bring the necessities of life within the purchasing power of the people. The crop of millionaires may not grow, but an equitable distribution of the wealth produced according to the part that each has contributed to its production will bring happiness to millions and insure a natural—therefore lasting—instead of the 'force-pump' prosperity you propose.

"Let us clip the talons of monopoly, uproot special privilege, and economic conditions will improve so mightily that all will be able to enjoy the comforts of life and none will have to toil such long hours that life becomes a burden.

"Finally, firmly believing in the fundamental democracy of American institutions, we have no more right to dictate how our employes should vote than they have to coerce us.

"Yours truly,

"AUSTIN ROTARY ENGINE CO.,
By ROBERT BAKER, President."

OSCURA WAS THERE.

A number of the democrats of Oscura, twenty miles distant from Carrizozo, yet in the same precinct, were up Wednesday evening to participate in the democratic primary of this precinct. Among the number we noted: W. D. Martin, Dr. G. Raniger, Frank Calfee, J. V. Edwards, Martin and Frank Goodwin and A. R. Gschwind. These gentlemen are democrats of the right persuasion, and no further evidence is needed to corroborate this statement than the fact that they came twenty miles to take part in a democratic primary. They drove the entire distance, too, because the train schedule did not meet their requirements.

Women as Economists.

The idea generally prevails among men that women are densely and incurably ignorant about the value of money. "He knows no more of money than a woman," is almost a proverb. The most absurd stories are perpetually told of woman's total incapacity to learn anything about money, and some of them are doubtless believed. She is, notwithstanding contrary belief, an intelligent economist when she comes to learn what economy means. It is frequently said by the other sex that she can make a dollar go as far as they can make two. Nor is this by any means the language of compliment. Many a husband has discovered that his wife can buy more with a small amount of cash than he can, and he is in the habit of giving it to her for that special purpose. The extravagance of woman has been a stock theme everlastingly. We shall hear of her wild extravagance, of the waste of fortunes by her excess, of her uncontrolled and uncontrollable prodigality. This must be accepted with considerable allowance for exaggeration. Man, not woman, is the great spendthrift; he always has been; always will be. Few men forced into economy by circumstances roll it, unless avaricious; and when their circumstances grow easy they cease generally to be economical. A woman who has once become economical will continue to be so, though there be no need of the habit, even if it be glaringly out of keeping with her condition. Woman's love of small details inclines her to economy. She may not be a financier in any large sense—that may not be within her scope—but careful use of little amounts of money certainly is, and she constantly demonstrates her proficiency therein. There is much more reason for calling woman penurious than prodigal, declares the New York Weekly, and she is really called both though the adjectives are absolutely incongruous. The plain truth is, if a woman has any common sense and is the least enlightened, she usually restrains her husband's tendency to lavishness and employs all her influence in the direction of economy.

This is an example given us by France as to the proper method in which to celebrate a national holiday. There the undertaker and the surgeon are not worked overtime, nor is a national fetich made of the god of gunpowder. Instead, explains the Brockton (Mass.) Times, the day is made a holiday for all. The national colors are everywhere. The three great government theaters in Paris, with the greatest actors in the country, give three performances free to all the people, and there are countless other attractions provided by the government during the day, winding up with displays of fireworks throughout the country paid for by the government and of such magnificence that no private exhibitions could vie with them. That is the way the various municipalities of America should face the problem of the Fourth of July.

An expedition is being equipped under the auspices of the Russian ministry of marine, with the object of discovering a northeast passage between the Atlantic and Pacific oceans.

According to Prof. Berthold of Vienna a man's intelligence, honesty and good nature are in proportion to his portliness.

A WATER GATEWAY.

Keeps Stock In, But Does Not Obstruct Stream.

When farmers have trouble with a fence passing over a ditch or small stream they may be able to get an idea to fix their fences so as to turn stock in, from the accompanying illustration.

Posts are set at a point near the edge of the stream and if there are supporting wires they should be connected with a rod shown at A. Below this rod is a stationary cross piece to which BBB are hinged.

Water Gateway Through Fence.

Boards are nailed across these supports at C. The whole gate is hung that it swings out with the current of the stream. When the water is high the current carries the gate out and allows the passage of debris, but when the water is down the gate naturally swings in a normal position.

STILE FOR STONE FENCE.

It Will Prove Especially Convenient for the Women Folks.

In some parts of the country where stone is plentiful stone walls are very prominent. It requires a very breechy man to get over a stone wall gracefully. It is well worth while to build a pair of steps like the ones shown in the cut where it is necessary to get over one of these fences frequently in going from one part of the farm to another.

Give Weeds No Quarter.

The corn is laid by, the hay is up, and the rush of the season's work is past. The weeds, however, are still busy, and in a few weeks more many of them will have matured their seed. The cornfields and the pastures may be clear from weeds but look out for the odd corners and barn yards, which oftentimes contain enough weeds to seed down the whole place. Get down the scythe on some off day in the next two weeks and get busy.

Dodder Curse.

Dodder, dodder, curse of dodder—spoils the clover for seed or fodder. Surely the seedman who leaves it in should be held up for his fraud and sin.

HOW TO USE CONCRETE.

W. F. Fitzpatrick Gives Practical Points for Amateur.

The form or mold has to be exact and strong. If you wish to build a wall, the boarding has to be true and plumb, set close together and properly braced, both sides if an independent wall, one side if a retaining wall. This planking or the forms retaining the concrete in place should be kept there until the concrete is absolutely well set.

It is better to err on the safe side and keep the forms up for a couple of weeks than it is to have the whole thing crumble by removing them too soon. Fatal concrete collapses are occurring with all too great frequency, and hurry to occupy those buildings is generally to blame if they fall.

For ordinary walls, piers and such work, dry measures of concrete should be one of cement, three of coarse, clean sand and six measures of clean gravel, broken stone or broken brick, broken large or small as the nature of the work demands, but never crumbled into dust. Where greater strength is required, increase the cement proportionally.

The mixture should be fairly wet and thoroughly mixed, as wet as bricklayers usually have their mortar will accomplish the best results. This mixture should be poured into the mold or form and tamped with a heavy weight and not more than six or eight inches thick at a time before tamping.

It is difficult to join it, so one unit of the work had best be completed at the one operation. If a day has to elapse between times then leave the edge of the finished work very ragged and broken so that the new may impinge upon it in good shape.

HAWK SCARER.

Merely a Glass Bottle, But It Is Effective.

I have tried this plan of keeping away chicken hawks and it succeeds, says a writer in Farmers' Mail and Breeds. Take pint or quart size clear glass bottles, fill two-thirds full of water and cork tight. Tie end of strong cord around the neck of each and tie the other end around the small ends of 16-foot poles so neck of bottle is about one foot from pole. Sharpen large end of pole and set in the ground. Set the poles every ten or 20 rods clear around the chicken range. The wind blowing against the bottle causes it to swing and turn around and at the same time the sun shining on the bottle of water makes it throw beams of light in several directions. When the hawk sees this he darts away as though he had been shot at.

Alsike Clover on Low Land.

Alsike clover is especially adapted to low land. This gives it a great advantage over the common red clover for low localities. Many a meadow on which it has been impossible to get a catch of red clover could be made clover producing if the alsike clover is sown. It will pay to make a trial of this, for many a low piece of land is deficient in nitrogen and needs to have grown upon it a few crops of legumes.

Raising Turkeys.

Turkeys should have as much room as possible and should always be allowed to roost where there is plenty of fresh air. They pick up food as they go, covering large areas. When old enough to be turned out on range they should not be fed on mash. Over-feeding of turkeys brings on disease.

Every farmer's family should have all the good fruit it can use the year around.

SHE WAS NO HASBEEN.

Smoking Car Just the One Old Woman Was Looking For.

"Madam," said the brakeman as the train stopped at a village station, and a little old woman started to enter the smoking car. "the car back is the one you want."

"How do you know?" she tartly asked.

"Because this is the smoking car." She pushed past him and climbed up the steps, and after taking a seat she pulled out and filled a pipe, struck a match on the sole of her shoe, and after drawing a few puffs she said to a man smoking a cigar across the aisle:

"That young feller out there don't know half as much as he thinks he does."

"How so?" was asked.

"He took me for an old woman that had never rode on the cars before, and told me this was the smoking car."

"And you wanted this car?"

"Why, I never ride in any other—not unless my pipe is broke, my tobacco all out and none o' you men-folks will lend me a cigar."

FRIENDLY TIP Restored Hope and Confidence.

After several years of indigestion and its attendant evil influence on the mind, it is not very surprising that one finally loses faith in things generally.

A N. Y. woman writes an interesting letter. She says:

"Three years ago I suffered from an attack of peritonitis which left me in a most miserable condition. For over two years I suffered from nervousness, weak heart, shortness of breath, could not sleep, etc.

"My appetite was ravenous, but I felt starved all the time. I had plenty of food but it did not nourish me because of intestinal indigestion. Medical treatment did not seem to help, I got discouraged, stopped medicine and did not care much whether I lived or died.

"One day a friend asked me why I didn't try Grape-Nuts, stop drinking coffee, and use Postum. I had lost faith in everything, but to please my friends I began to use both and soon became very fond of them.

"It wasn't long before I got some strength, felt a decided change in my system, hops sprang up in my heart and slowly but surely I got better. I could sleep very well, the constant craving for food ceased and I have better health now than before the attack of peritonitis.

"My husband and I are still using Grape-Nuts and Postum." "There's a Reason."

ECZEMA FOR 55 YEARS.

Suffered Torments from Birth—In Frightful Condition—Got No Help Until Cuticura Cured Him.

"I had an itching, tormenting eczema ever since I came into the world, and I am now a man 55 years old I tried all kinds of medicines I heard of, but found no relief. I was truly in a frightful condition. At last I broke out all over with red and white boils, which kept growing until they were as big as walnuts, causing great pain and misery, but I kept from scratching as well as I could. I was so run down that I could hardly do my work. I used Cuticura Soap, Ointment, Resolvent, and Pills for about eight months, and I can truthfully say I am cured. India's Savings Banks.

The postal savings bank of India was established in 1882, in which year the depositors numbered 39,121 and the deposits amounted to $932,243. In 1907 the depositors numbered 1,190,220 and the deposits amounted to $49,223,283, which, perhaps, should not be considered large in a country having a population of some 300,000,000, but the average Indian farmer, mechanic, servant or laborer never deposits money in a bank, but hides it away in a pot or box in the ground.—New York World.

His Faulty Memory.

"Have you got any—any typewriter exterminators?" asked the small boy.

"What!" exclaimed the salesgirl, aghast.

"Typewriter exterminators. I think that's what they told me to get. Anyhow, it was something that—"

"Do you mean typewriter erasers?"

"Well, maybe that was it, but what's the difference? Ain't they the same? I want a dime's worth of 'em."

Washington Whisperings

Interesting Bits of News Gathered at the National Capital.

Capital Besieged by Relic Sellers

WASHINGTON.—The 60 and 75 horse-power millionaires that magnificently swell the population of the capital of the country innocently and indirectly make life a burden to their neighbors of a less estate. Money is an awful nuisance, don't you see, when it belongs to somebody else and not to you.

The trouble of it is that one's friends in the provinces ascribe even to the lowliest in Washington some occult power over the pursestrings of the resident plutocrats.

There isn't a senator or congressman in the entire catalogue who isn't persecuted by importunate constituents now and then to convert himself, in their interests, into a private rummage sale. There is a halcyon dream prevalent that Washington flows with milk and honey and crisp new paper dollars, and that the beneficiaries are eager to divide, for value received.

Hawkers of old objects, valuable either intrinsically or in only their owners' eyes, are among the afflictions prominent women have to bear. There's scarce a day that some decayed gentlewoman or her emissary isn't out peddling, in a deprecating way, some valued heirloom that it wrings her heart to part with. Family jewels are always on the market, old laces, books and objects d'art.

Uncle Sam Tells How to Make Pure Pies

PROGRESS made in food and drug inspection and legislation during 1907 is explained in detail in the year book of the department of agriculture, just issued. The book shows that methods of manufacture were studied by government experts and whenever possible assistance was given manufacturers in improving their methods. By means of sterilization it was found that various fruit and vegetable products can be preserved without the use of chemical preservatives. The experiments along this line resulted in new methods for the preservation of pie-filling articles and canned goods.

Extensive investigations as to the use of sulphur for drying fruit were made, resulting in the discovery of better methods for drying fruit and in disclosing the fact that molasses and syrup do not contain so much sulphur as has generally been supposed.

The study of the influence of cold storage on the value of food gained much headway. Among the more important studies of the methods of manufacture and preservation of foods and drugs were the bleached flour investigation, the lemon oil investigation, the whisky investigation and the investigation of nonfermented beverages alleged to contain cocaine or other objectionable drugs.

The experimental work of the bureau of chemistry, the enforcement of the federal food and drugs act, numerous investigations and the part played by various states in the enactment of laws regulating the manufacture and sale of foods are some of the subjects treated in the book.

The bureau of chemistry established ten additional branch laboratories throughout the country, where samples of food and drugs collected by inspectors under the direction of a chief inspector are sent. During last year 7,041 samples of foods and drugs were sent to these laboratories, resulting in 323 hearings and the transmittal of 12 criminal cases to the department of justice for prosecution. One of the greatest difficulties encountered was to secure a sufficient number of inspectors or chemists possessing the requisite training and experience in foods and drugs.

Japanese Diplomat Stops a Runaway

MR. MASANO HANIHARA, second secretary of the Japanese embassy and a social favorite of the diplomatic corps, was so severely injured from the result of his daring rescue of an American woman from a runaway horse that he may suffer the consequences for the remainder of his life. The Japanese diplomat was battered and bruised and had his foot so badly crushed by the horse's hoof that it will be months before it is healed. The rescue occurred some days ago.

Mr. Hanihara was walking along Rhode Island avenue on his way to the embassy and had started to cross the street when his attention was attracted by cries of "Look out!" by several persons in the vicinity. Turning he saw a horse drawing a light runabout with a young woman and a companion dashing toward him. The horse was plunging wildly from side to side, driving every one pell mell for shelter as it neared the spot where Mr. Hanihara stood. The young Japanese, who stands about five feet and is small in proportion, dodged out of the way, but no sooner had the horse come abreast of him than he made a leap for the bridle. The terrific speed of the enraged animal made him miss his hold and swung him under the horse's hoofs, but before he completely lost his hold he caught a grip on the bridle and swinging clear managed to climb on the horse's back and bring him to his knees. The animal regained his feet however, and by rearing, attempted to throw Mr. Hanihara from his back, but the diplomat tightened his grip gradually until the animal, snorting with pain, confessed itself vanquished.

When Mr. Hanihara reached the embassy he summoned his physician who found that the horse had trampled on his foot and crushed it badly. Treatment afforded little relief, as the bones were so badly bruised that an abscess formed and added considerable trouble. It is now feared that an operation may be necessary.

NATURE AND A WOMAN'S WORK

LYDIA E. PINKHAM

Nature and a woman's work combined have produced the grandest remedy for woman's ills that the world has ever known.

In the good old-fashioned days of our grandmothers they relied upon the roots and herbs of the field to cure disease and mitigate suffering.

The Indians on our Western Plains to-day can produce roots and herbs for every ailment, and cure diseases that baffle the most skilled physicians who have spent years in the study of drugs.

From the roots and herbs of the field Lydia E. Pinkham more than thirty years ago gave to the women of the world a remedy for their peculiar ills, more potent and efficacious than any combination of drugs.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is now recognized as the standard remedy for woman's ills.

Mrs. Bertha Muff, of 515 N.C. St., LAUREL, Mo., writes:

"Complete restoration to health means so much to me that for the sake of other suffering women I am willing to make my troubles public.

"For twelve years I had been suffering with the worst forms of female ills. During that time I had eleven different physicians without help. No tongue can tell what I suffered, and at times I could hardly walk. About two years ago I wrote Mrs. Pinkham for advice. I followed it, and can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Mrs. Pinkham's advice restored health and strength. It is worth mountains of gold to suffering women."

What Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for Mrs. Muff, it will do for other suffering women.

Taft's preceptor says Joseph

What Joseph Benson thinks

soon we may expect another chapter on Taft.

"Rodey and statehood," "An-

Mr. Munday's part that caused him to overlook subscribing for

PROBABLY FATAL ACCIDENT.

Harry Amsden, formerly a miner in White Oaks, met with a probably fatal accident in the White Mountains about two miles east of the Ellis ranch, Tuesday noon. He was driving a tunnel, and a shot having failed to go, he went back to examine it and the explosion occurred. A brother who was working at some distance heard his cries and went to his assistance.

The injured man was conveyed to the Ellis ranch, where he now lies, and Dr. Raniger of Oscura was hastily summoned. The doctor labored with his patient from 7 o'clock on the evening of the accident until three o'clock next morning. The unfortunate man's injuries are reported to be of a shocking nature—two inches of the lower jaw were torn away; thirteen lacerations on face; right side of neck torn open, and both interior chambers of the eyes blown out.

Little hope is entertained for the man's recovery, but if he should survive, he will be totally blind. Mr. Amsden until lately resided at Oscura, but recently moved to La Luz, and had gone to the White Mountains to develop some mining claims there, with the result as stated above.

Would you know how Bryan stands on the great issues of the campaign—predatory wealth, class legislation, guaranteeing of bank deposits, gambling on the Stock Exchange, trusts, tariff, asset currency, ship subsidy, imperialism, labor and capital, etc.? There is only one way to know Bryan's position accurately, and that is to get it direct from his own pen. He voices the sentiment of the rank and file of all parties without fear or favor. 320 pages, silk cloth, gold back. $1.25 postpaid.

The price of this great book is $1.25, but in order to place it in the hands of everybody, democrats and republicans alike, I will mail it, at the actual cost to me, on receipt of $1.00. Write for it today.

A ROUSING PRIMARY.

The democrats of precinct No. 14 met at Wetmore Hall, Wednesday evening, pursuant to call. B. F. Goff, precinct committeeman, called the primary to order and asked for the nomination of a chairman.

W. C. McDonald and John T. Boyd were placed in nomination, but Mr. McDonald withdrew and Mr. Boyd was elected by acclamation. W. J. Doering was chosen secretary in the same way.

A motion prevailed to empower the chair to name a committee of three, the committee to present a list of four names for delegates to represent this precinct in the democratic county convention, which meets at Lincoln Saturday. This committee was composed of M. G. Raden, Geo. L. Ulrick and Frank J. Sager.

While the committee retired to prepare a list for presentation to the primary, Dr. G. Raniger and A. R. Gschwind, of Oscura, were called for, and each made a short but interesting talk, which was well received.

The committee returned and reported the following names for delegates, and recommended their election: W. C. McDonald, Carl Lassitor, G. Ranigar and C. W. Hyde.

A motion to receive the report of the committee and adopt the same prevailed, and the above named gentlemen were declared elected delegates.

The hall was packed, every seat occupied and standing room at a premium.

Following the adjournment of the primary, J. R. Humphrey came forward with a Victor phonograph, and entertained the crowd with selections from Bryan and Taft, to which all parties, democrat and republican, gave an attentive ear.

AID TO NAVIGATORS

CAPT. GADSEN PERFECTS DEVICE TO CORRECT FALSE HORIZON.

Relatively as Valuable as Sextant—
All Reward Inventor Seeks Is to Know He Has Made Ocean
Travel Safer.

Washington.—There has been presented to the bureau of navigation of the United States navy an ingenious device to aid in taking observations to determine a ship's position, and which, if adopted, will not yield, and is not expected to yield a dollar of profit to the inventor, Capt. H. A. Gadsen, a retired mariner, now enjoying the comforts of life ashore at No. 6 Blinden road, London.

Capt. Gadsen's invention is as important relatively as the sextant itself.

Capt. Gadsen and His Instrument.

The Japanese navy used it in the war with Russia, and to its employment the commanders of eight ships ascribed in a large measure their ability to surprise the enemy.

Divested of its technical nomenclature, the invention, which is called the "spanner horizon," is intended to correct a false horizon, which the navigator dreads almost as much as he does the uncharted sunken rock, for he may be carried many miles out of his course, and not infrequently to a dangerous ambush, in the pathless lane he is following.

Ever since the time when the hardy Norsemen ventured out of sight of land, guided only by a rude compass, dependence has been placed upon the sea horizon for those observations of the celestial bodies which enabled the navigator to fix his position upon and shape his course across the vast expanse of the oceans. When the horizon is obscured the observations cannot be taken, and reliance—uncomfortable and uncertain—has to be placed on dead reckoning, the heaving of the lead line and the cries of the lookout. This is the case even when the sun or stars are shining brightly and only the horizon is obscured.

The great danger, and which has lured many a good ship to her destruction, is the counterfeit horizon, which appears so clear and well defined that it will deceive experienced navigators—men who have been deceived before by the same false assurance that they were looking upon the real horizon. Secure in the belief that his "sights are good," which is the nautical way of saying that the safety signals are set, the mariner stands boldly on his course only to find that he is several miles out of his reckoning, and has made a bad landfall.

The spanner horizon is so called because it exactly spans the periphery of the sun's image reflected on the horizon glass of a sextant when day observations are taken. It carries a central wire for night work, on which a star, a light ashore or afloat or other small object may be brought in line.

On the darkest nights the altitudes of the stars may be taken with the spanner. In the daytime, when the horizon is obscured and the limbs of the sun are brought between the legs of the instrument, the altitude of the sun's center is obtained and the true horizon is established.

Capt. Gadsen invented the instrument after his retirement from an active seafaring life. Its value as an aid to navigation was recognized by English mariners and it was suggested that a company be formed for the manufacture of the auxiliary to the sextant, but Capt. Gadsen, who is middle-aged and "set" in his ideas, would not consider the proposition. The satisfaction that he will derive, and all he asks for, is the approval of the navigators who find his invention to be practical and helpful. He would rather know that a hundred ships had laid a true course and avoided danger with the aid of his spanner horizon than to receive a hundred thousand guineas.

BRAVE MEN HONORED.

Japan Raises Monument to Russians Killed at Port Arthur.

London.—The peaceful epilogue of a great military drama was given at Port Arthur recently when a curious picturesque and touching ceremony was performed. Through the initiative of Gen. Oshima, governor of Kwang-Tung, Japan has put up a collective monument to the remains of the Russian defenders slain in the siege of Port Arthur. "This measure serves two purposes," says "L'illustration." "Many of the soldiers, in the first place, had a merely provisional burial. They were buried where they fell, and the place was marked by a cross of wood or uncarved stone. This made of Port Arthur a graveyard that was eloquent but not dignified. In the second place, the proverbial rapacity of the low class Chinese does not spare the poor remains of the dead. To steal a button from a tunic, the scabbard of a sword, if not rings, watches and other valuable objects, the thieves will dig up the corpses and profane them without the slightest compunction. Therefore, for convenience in guarding the graves, as well as for the honor due to the brave, the collective tomb was made and dedicated in the presence of mingled emissaries of the czar and the Japanese authorities."

Gen. Logi was delegated by the emperor of Japan to preside at the function. On his side the czar sent Gen. Gerugrao and Admiral Mashevitch, as well as Gen. Tchitchakov, commandant of the troops of Harbin, and many officers and privates, all ex-soldiers of Port Arthur. The wounds and scars of conflict were still to be seen on them.

GOOD MOTOR SCARF

USEFUL WRAP TO BE WORKED IN FINE WOOL.

May Be Made Any Width and Length Preferred—Directions for Both the Garment and the Accompanying Fringe.

This useful wrap, which should be worked in Shetland or any fine wool, may be made any width and length preferred.

Both threads to be taken up throughout.

Work a chain the width required, turn 2 trebles in the sixth from hook, pass two, a double crochet in next, 2 trebles in next, and repeat from for length of chain, ending with a double crochet, 5 chain, turn and work 2 trebles on the last-made double crochet, taking both threads, pass the 2 trebles, and into the next double crochet work one double crochet in the chain-stitch past the last 2 trebles, 5 chain, turn, and continue working this last row to and for length of scarf, ending with a row of 5 chain into every third stitch, also into the foundation chain work 5 chain into every third, stitch.

For the border at sides work a double crochet in the first chain loop, 5 trebles with a chain between each in the next loop, and repeat for length of work, turn, and work 5 chain into every other stitch back to the starting point. Repeat on second side.

For the Fringe.—Cut the wool into 26-inch lengths, pass the hook through the first loop at end of scarf, fold four strands of the wool exactly in half and draw them a short distance through, forming a small loop, draw the eight strands right through this loop and pull gently, drawing the knot close up to the work. Repeat this into every loop, taking care that all the knots are turned the same way.

To knot the fringes, take four threads of the first tassel and four threads of the next one and tie them together about an inch below the other knots, tie the remaining strands of the second tassel to four of the third one and repeat to end of row, being careful to keep the knots quite level.

The another row of knots an inch below these, but this time taking the eight strands of each tassel and tying them together. Tie two more rows of knots at equal distances below these, and cut the ends level with a pair of sharp scissors. Fringe the other end of the scarf in the same manner.

TRIMMING FOR TULLE FROCK.

Heavy Soutache Over Pink Makes Effective Combination.

A white tulle frock heavily soutached is made over pink, and has a pink liberty sash coming from out-eyelids in the gown about the bust, to entwine the figure and hang in a heavy knot between the knots. This is worn with a white linen hat embroidered in white linen, and trimmed with a black velvet ribbon thrown loosely about, knotted and forming long bridges. Lavender gowns with violet coats are very smart—Vicomtessa de Janzo wore this combination at the dinner dance at the Ile de Puteaux club the other night, the gown in tulle embroidered in floss, the coat in soutache on mousseline. Many simple white evening gowns or plain sheaths in glittering paillettes were worn with rich green or scarlet cloaks and big picture hats loaded with feathers. Baron de Char-mel was in a tight black pailletted princess gown with green chiffon and stockings, long straight green chiffon coat like a priestly stole, bordered with green swansdown and a black feather hat.—From a Paris Letter to Vogue.

Curls in Style.

Soft, natural-looking curls about the face are coming into style and a mighty good thing it is after the long reign of the befrizzled pompadour.

Women have grown too utilitarian and are too certain of the rapid passing of fashions to cut their hair even to sport tiny curls at the temples and down toward the ears. But most have had a sufficiently long course of hot irons to own plenty of broken hair to turn into love-locks without recourse to scissors. And, then, they are for sale.

SIMPLE MORNING HAT.

For morning wear with shirt-waist dresses there is a hat of corn-color straw trimmed with a band of black velvet around crown and loops of black and white striped ribbon and bunches of luscious red cherries and leaves. This also makes an ideal hat for traveling.

OPEN DEALING IN PAINT.

Buying paint used to be like the proverbial buying of a "pig in a poke." Mixtures in which chalk, ground rock, etc., predominated were marked and sold as "Pure White Lead," the deception not being apparent until the paint and the painting were paid for. This deception is still practiced, but we have learned to expose it easily.

National Lead Company, the largest makers of genuine Pure White Lead, realizing the injustice that was being done to both property owners and honest paint manufacturers, set about to make paint buying safe. They first adopted a trade mark, the now famous "Dutch-Boy Painter," and put this trademark, as a guaranty of purity, on every package of their White Lead. They then set about familiarizing the public with the blow-pipe test by which the purity and genuineness of White Lead may be determined, and furnished a blow-pipe free to every one who would write them for it. This action was in itself a guaranty of the purity of National Lead Company's White Lead.

As the result of this open dealing the paint buyer to-day has only himself to blame if he is defrauded. For test outfit and valuable booklet on painting, address National Lead Company, Woodbridge Bldg., New York.

QUITE SAFE WITH HER.

One Secret "Tootsie" Surely Never Would Pass Along.

"John, love," said the young wife, "you oughtn't to have any secrets from me."

"Well, Tootsie?"

"You go to lodge meetings, and you never tell me anything about them."

"They wouldn't interest you, dear. I don't mind giving you the password, though, if you'll promise never to disclose it to a living soul."

"I'll promise never to tell it to anybody."

"Remember it's to be repeated only once and very rapidly."

"I'll remember. What is it?"

"Aldaborontphoccephornosticos."

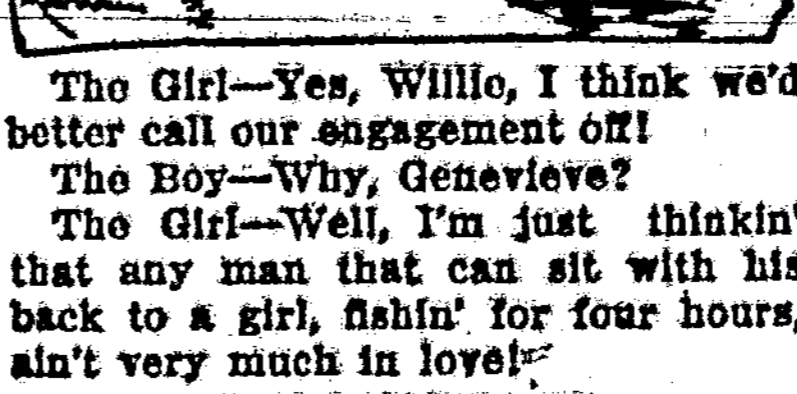

"What? Please say it again, a little slower."

"Have you forgotten the conditions already? I said 'only once and very rapidly.'"

(Tearful pause.)

"O, dear! I wish you hadn't told me!"

The Wisdom of the Serpent.

"Down in Bermuda," said a Cincinnati, "I heard Mark Twain make a speech about snakes to a group of little girls. The speech was great. The only trouble was that the little girls could not appreciate it. It flew over their heads."

"I remember the humorist's conclusion."

"Never warm a serpent in your bosom," he wound up. "It is far easier to warm it by placing it under the pillow of an intimate friend."

In the September Century.

A full account of the Wright Brothers' airplane, the first popular statement of their experiments and the results thereof prepared by the inventors, will appear in the September Century. Accounts heretofore have been only brief statements of bare accomplishments, without explanation of the manner in which results were obtained. The article will have timely interest, from the fact that the brothers have contracted to deliver to the United States government a complete machine, the trials of which are scheduled for the latter part of this month.

A NOBLE LADY GONE.

Mrs. L. W. Bourne died at Capitan Monday morning at one o'clock, and was buried in the Carrizozo cemetery the following afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Bourne's death was caused by a cancerous affection of the stomach, superinduced by old age. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Paul Bentley at the home of John H. Skinner, of this place.

The funeral procession was one of the largest that ever attended at this town, the remains being followed to their last resting place by a large concourse of relatives and friends from Capitan, Nogal and the Mesa country, augmented by numbers from this town, all attesting the worth and affection in which the estimable lady was held. She died full of years and left an abundance of kind deeds behind her. Everybody was her friend.

Julia A. Fulton was born in Grayson county, Virginia, June 26, 1837; became a member of the Methodist church at the age of 12, and lived throughout her long and useful life a consistent member of that church and a devout Christian; was married to Louis W. Bourne on March 12, 1856, and her husband still survives; moved from Virginia to Texas in 1869, and came to this county in 1881, and settled on the Bonito.

Seven children blessed the union, two dying in childhood; the other five, three boys and two girls, all live in this county. They are: Mrs. John H. Skinner and Cleve C. Bourne of Carrizozo; Robert Bourne and Mrs. W. R. White of Nogal, and Wm. S. Bourne of Capitan. Deceased left seventeen grand children and seventeen great grand children.

A noble life has gone out, a useful and beneficent christian career has ended, but the calmness and resignation with which this grand old woman faced death, her faith in the future, and her sublime veneration for all things divine robbed death of its victory and the grave of its sting. Of course, the aged husband, the children and relatives will miss the kindly smile and the encouraging word with which the deceased was wont to greet them, but there is consolation in knowing that her troubles are over and that her life has been an example worthy of emulation.

Nick Miller, who has been in the machine shops here since July left Tuesday night for Atchison, Kan., where he will enter the employ of the Santa Fe. Nick has been a strong member of the local baseball team, and the boys regret his departure.

TEN DOLLARS REWARD will be paid for the recovery of a dark-brown mare, 8 years old, star on forehead, white hind feet, T on right thigh, known as the Burrell mare.—E. J. LITTLE, Carrizozo.
