Bright Lights Rid Orchard of Moths

Peach Grower Tries an Interesting Experiment.

Swedesboro, N. J.—The candle flame that singes the moth's wings has furnished the idea upon which late Isaac Hunt Weatherby, owner of one of the largest farms and peach orchards in southern New Jersey, has elaborated in his fight against the Oriental moth, newest and most destructive of the pests that have attacked peaches in the East.

Instead of using candles, however, Mr. Weatherby has been more modern. He has had an electric lighting system constructed in his 60-acre peach orchard. At night the orchard is a blaze of light. Around the incandescent light bulbs flutter myriads of moths and other insects. Their wings are not singed but those attracted closest to the lights become dazzled and fall into large, shallow pans, one of which is set a few inches below each electric globe. These pans are filled with kerosene, which kills all moths and insects that touch it.

Electric lights are in common use among poultry breeders to make the hens get up earlier so that they will scratch more and lay better, but the Weatherby farm boasts of the first electrically lighted orchard in the country. The orchard is set upon a hill, and from a distance it looks like a pleasure park. Thousands of motorists have had their curiosity aroused by the unusual sight.

Peach Grower for Thirty Years.

"I realized last year that I would either have to do something to stop the moths or they would fatten me," said Mr. Weatherby, who has been growing peaches for more than thirty years and who declares that the Oriental moth has caused more havoc in his orchards than any other pest, with the possible exception of the borer. The fruit growers now have the borer under control, but they have found no effective means of combating the Oriental moth with the usual poisonous sprays.

"This electric light system was put in early in the summer," continued Mr. Weatherby. "It has cost me a lot of money, and I've learned a lot about moths. I have learned that there isn't much use of washing electric current on moonlight nights. There are few moths in the traps after a full moon.

"Even on the dark nights I have found that the moths and other insects are thicker at some hours than at others. When the lights were first put in I made regular inspection trips to the orchards at all hours of the night. Eleven o'clock seems to be the witching hour for the moths. Early in the evening they are not so thick. I have visited the traps at two o'clock in the morning and haven't seen a single insect fluttering around the lights. At eleven o'clock I have found swarms of them."

Mr. Weatherby pointed out the Oriental moth. It is a small, gray moth, scarcely more than twice as big as a fly. The moth lays its eggs at the tips of the young tree shoots. The worm that hatches out bores into the pith of the shoot for an inch or two. After it pitches the daughter back he crawls to another twig or borer into the green fruit.

Balks at Poison.

This pest seems to have an instinctive repulsion against poison sprays and powders, as horticultural experts have discovered that it spits out the first bite it takes of a twig or shift of a peach and calls only beneath the surface where the poisons that kill most of the other insects do not penetrate.

When Mr. Weatherby first discovered the extent of their damage last summer he tried out a system of all lanterns and pans in a section of his orchard. These he replaced with the electric lights as more practical this year. Furthermore, he says, that he has had "an army as big as Grant's" cutting off the grub-infested twigs wherever they are found, which is very readily done as the end of the twig or shoot begins to wilt as soon as the moth stings it and lays its eggs.

"Oriental moths are apparently everywhere now," explained Mr. Weatherby. "You can find them on the most isolated peach tree as well as in the big orchards. I don't know whether my lights are really exterminating all the moths that they should or whether they are attracting more moths from other parts of the country. Maybe when all of the rest of the fruit growers get to fighting the Oriental moth, or its natural parasite enemies catch up with it, we can at least get the pest under control. Until then nobody can buy my lighting outfit."

8,582 Killed in Year at Grade Crossings

New York.—That 8,582 persons were killed at railroad grade crossings during 1923, an increase of 29 per cent over 1922, is the official announcement of the United States bureau of public roads.

The bureau insists on elimination of grade crossings on federal aid projects wherever practicable.

Many dangerous crossings have already been eliminated with the co-operation of state highway departments through the construction of steel or concrete overhead crossings or underpasses and by relocating the highway to avoid crossing and recrossing railroad tracks, the report states.

Cooked 61 Years on Old Pet Stove

Still Gleams Despite 67,000 Meals Prepared on It.

Gallitzin, N. J.—Cooking a single meal for the family in a gas or electrically equipped kitchen seems like a big task to most housewives these hot days, but Mrs. Herbert Sheets, who has lived in this Cambria county village long enough to have cooked 67,000 meals all on the same stove still likes to cook.

Winter and summer, morning, noon and night, for 61 years, Mrs. Sheets has prepared the food for her family on the same stove that her husband bought for her as his bride when they were married on Washington's birthday, 1863.

"I have always liked to cook," said Mrs. Sheets, whose back is bent from so much stooping to stir a pot or see how bread or pies were browning in the oven.

Prefers Plain Cooking.

"I get a little upset and tired sometimes," she confessed, and then explained half apologetically that she now buys her bread, and occasionally cakes, from the village baker. Until recently she did all her own baking in addition to preparing the regular three meals a day. For 61 summers she and her stove have toasted with bright faces the job of almost endless canning and preserving.

"Just plain, ordinary cooking is what I do," she went on, when asked what she likes to cook the most. "I have never bothered much with fancy dishes—just those substantial things for my husband and our boys and girls.

"No, I never counted up to see how many meals I've cooked on this stove. It's the only stove we've ever had, and I don't have to tell you it's a good one when I say that we've used it every day since we were married. It has a good oven. I dry all of my wood in there, and it's still fine for baking. Once, some years ago, we had a new top put on the stove. That's about the only thing about the stove that has ever needed fixing since we got it."

The stove which has cooked the food and provided much of the heat in winter for Mr. and Mrs. Sheets during their long married life was cast in a Philadelphia foundry by a firm now extinct. It is of the old-fashioned design of the Sixties, with ample firebox, large oven and four lids. It burns either coal or wood. As wood has been most abundant in the communities where the family had lived, that has been the principal fuel. In, in addition to the cooking, the kindling of fires has been no small part of Mrs. Sheets' kitchen tasks.

Kept Brightly Polished.

So brightly polished does Mrs. Sheets keep her stove that it does not look old even now. Its surface reflected her face as she stooped to take from the oven, to show to visitors the other day, a bread pan which was also one of her wedding gifts. This pan, too, has lasted through all the years.

Upon this stove's polished surface dropped the tears of disappointment of the bride who scorched her first meal, upon its hot face rose those whisps of steam as a mother's tears welled in joy over the coming of children into the home, or flowed in sorrow over the last meal prepared for their departure from the old threshold into the big, wide world. Later splashed those tears of gratitude, which left spots that had to be rubbed off, after the same accustomed hands had prepared the feasts for the golden wedding and still more recently for the sixtieth and sixty-first wedding anniversaries.

This little woman does not regard it as remarkable that she and her stove have probably set a record for all America. She likes to cook, the stove just suits her, and her husband and family have enjoyed her cooking through all these years. What more could any housewife ask?

Furthermore, her family has thrived on her cooking. If the fact that she and her husband still survive after nearly sixty-one years and six months of married life is not sufficient proof of her culinary ability, then there are the five stalwart sons and daughters, all still living, and a progeny of eighty grandchildren and great grandchildren.

The civil war in China was brought forcibly home to this country with the announcement in San Francisco by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company that it was sending a shipment of 25,000,000 cigarettes to Shanghai on its liner, the President Taft. The cigarettes were destined for the fighting forces, the company said.

The California conference of Methodist churches at Santa Cruz ordained as preachers Miss Charlotte Jones and Miss Mary Charlotte Hickman. It was the first time in the history of the conference that a woman was ordained. The action was made possible through recent legislation adopted at the last general Methodist conference.

Monterey, one time capital of California and popular beach resort, was under virtual martial law as a great oil fire took a toll of two lives and $2,500,000 in property damage. Military authorities of the Presidio took charge of the situation, when, after a fourth great explosion, the oil fire, started by a bolt of lightning, spread into new Monterey and burned six homes.

A battle between two deputy sheriffs and two bandits in Plantation Inn, Sacramento, Calif., terminated in the death of both holdup men. Neither of the officers was wounded. The slain bandits were identified as Indian Hart, a half breed, and Herman Schlehoff, former carpenter. Their antagonists in the gun battle were Deputy Sheriffs Harry Murphy and Ed Brady.

Fred L. Peters, check-writing impersonator of Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., was sentenced in Federal Court at Los Angeles to ten years' imprisonment at Leavenworth for forging a government check. WASHINGTON

After the arrival of the airship ZR-3 in this country from Germany, President Coolidge is in favor of sending the dirigible Shenandoah on a trip to the North Pole, it was learned officially at the White House a few days ago. A previous scheduled trip of the Shenandoah into the Arctic regions was canceled by the President.

America's tax burden was $765,000,000 heavier in 1923 than in 1922 and in ten years taxation has grown more than $5,000,000,000, the National Industrial Conference board announced in a report made public in New York city. Total taxes rolled in 1923 were placed at $7,716,000,000 against $6,951,000,000 in 1922. The decline in the volume of taxation noted in 1923 was rather short lived, the report said, predicting an upward tendency in 1924.

Summons of Secretary Wilbur back to Washington by President Coolidge at a time when the naval secretary still had at least five definite dates outlined on his speaking program in the West, remained beyond the disclosure at the White House that President Coolidge desired to talk with him about several matters "in the navy."

The United States round-the-world army flyers led the national capital in the observance of Defense Day. The three big planes, piloted by Lieut. Lowell Smith, Lieut. Erik Nelson and Lieut. The government has filed a brief with the Supreme Court opposing the appeal sought by B. M. Clements and other former employees of the Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe railroad, convicted of obstructing the passage of the mails and interfering with interstate commerce during the shop crafts' strike in 1922. Clements and others were indicted and convicted on the charge of having abandoned trains in the deserts of southern California and Arizona.

The assassination of the Fascisti deputy, Armamando Casalini, avowedly as an act of revenge for the murder three months ago of the Socialist deputy, Giacomo Matteotti, is expected to have a beneficial effect on the general political situation in Italy in the sense that it will convince both the Fascisti and the opposition that the time has come to put an end to violence.

Scrapping American warships in accordance with the Washington disarmament pact will mean an immediate saving to the government of $225,000,000, Secretary of the Navy Curtis D. Wilbur told congregations of the Temple Baptist and Wilshire Boulevard Congregational churches in Los Angeles.

Six men were killed, two of them British naval officers, and two others World War heroes, when an automobile crashed into a crowd on the Topsail road near St. Johns, N. F., and Leonard Reid, son of the late Sir William Reid, was arrested on a charge of manslaughter as driver of the car.

It required nearly fifteen minutes for the corn bearing the world flyers to their lunch to get clear of the main entrance to the flying field at Chicago. The same escort which piloted them about the field finally broke through. "If there were only a few flowers, I'd swear we were on the path to heaven," Lieutenant Wade said.

Nineteen persons for whom federal warrants were issued in Little Rock, Ark., charging violation of the national prohibition law appeared before two United States commissioners and entered pleas of not guilty. All were released on bonds ranging from $100 to $1,000 to await preliminary hearings later. Those appearing voluntarily for arraignment included X. O. Pindall, former governor, and James Guy Tucker, state auditor.

Foreign invaders in sport finished a week of terrific headaches. The United States swept five international classes—boxing, tennis, golf, yachting and polo. Civic organizations are considering a yearly observance of this seven-day triumph. It will be known as "cleanup week." It is getting to a point where the only thing that Americans lose is sleep. It is probable that never before in sport history have invaders had such a walloping in so short a period as last week.

America's intrepid riders sweeping forward in another victorious march, galloped to their second successive victory at Westbury, N. Y., over Great Britain's horsemen and clinched possession of the International Challenge cup, emblem of polo supremacy between these rival nations. Another picturesque crowd of 50,000, with the Prince of Wales as the center of attraction, saw the flying Yankees dash to a victory by a margin of 14 to 6, but, though it was decisive, the score does not reveal the gallant stubbornness with which the British, led by the redoubtable Louis Lacey, made their last fight for the cup.

TOP OF MOUNT SHASTA FALLS

FIFTEEN ACRES ON SUMMIT OF EXTINCT CRATER DROPS, SHAKING COUNTRYSIDE

RAINS CAUSED CAVE-IN

MANY READY TO FLEE, FEARING ERUPTION OF MOUNT SHASTA

Dunsmuir, Calif. — Approximately fifteen acres of the southeastern section of the top of Mount Shasta caved in a few days ago, causing the collapse of Mud Creek canon, which recently had been overflowing with mud and rock. The walls of the canon for a distance of eight miles crumbled with a terrific roar, which immediately was followed by a great cloud of dust and volcanic ash that hung over the mountain for several hours.

As the dust cloud appeared to rise from the crater left by the cavein, persons living at McCloud, Weed and Mount Shasta and other places at the mountain have reached the alarming conclusion that the ancient peak had burst into eruption. Many frightened persons were on the point of exodus.

Grave fears are entertained at McCloud that the mud flow, which recently had been quiescent, will be renewed with dangerous effects. The fallen walls of Mud Creek canon are damming up a huge reservoir of water, which, when released, may cause an inundation of all land at the southeastern base of the mountain.

In the opinion of forest rangers and geologists and others who are studying the latest developments in the situation from points near at hand, the water from the melting snows will accumulate for several days before overflowing.

According to persons at McCloud, who witnessed the break-in off the mountain from different angles, the cloud of dust, smoke and ash that hung over Mount Shasta could be seen at a distance of twenty-five miles. It attracted the attention of thousands, the majority of whom had no idea of what was actually occurring.

Mount Shasta is located in northern California, in Siskiyou county, approximately half way between Dunsmuir and Yreka, Calif. It is about fifty miles from the Oregon state line in the Sierra Nevada range. The mountain, 14,380 feet high, is one of the highest mountains in the United States, being surpassed only by Mount Whitney, California; Mount Rainier, Washington, and Mount Elbert in Colorado. The mountain, formerly volcanic, has been quiet for many years. Lassen peak, also in northern California, is the only active volcano in the United States.

Shanghai.—Weakened by the repeated hammerings of the Kiangsu forces, which are supported by the central government of Peking, a revolt of the third or home army and dissaffection in other units, the Chekiang defense of Shanghai is on the verge of collapse. Gen. Lu Hung-Ching has offered to resign his authorship of the province and is reported to have left his capital, Hangchow, for Shanghai.

23 Widows Become Bolshevik Victims

Gallup, N. M.—The official list of the victims of Tuesday's disaster in mine No. 9 of the Gallup Coal Company has been issued by P. J. Carroll, president and principal owner of the ill-fated mine. The list was issued after a thorough check had been made of the two mergers in Hungarian. It shows that twenty-three of the thirty-nine victims were married. Twelve had listed as to whether they were married or not and the balance unmarried. Ten are survived by children in addition to their widows.

Despite many difficulties, the nursing work undertaken with government co-operation among the Pueblos by the New Mexico and eastern associations on Indian affairs and Massachusetts branch is making steady progress. Showing of extensive results will doubtless take a considerable time.

Within the walls of the New Mexico state penitentiary and operated almost entirely by prison labor, is a brick and tile industry doing a business of approximately $30,000 a year. This year it is expected to yield a profit for the first time in a decade, according to word from the office of John B. McManus, superintendent.

A movement has been started by residents of the Mimbres valley for the construction of a dam on the Mimbres river which, if built, will mean the placing of from eight to ten thousand acres of land under irrigation. Engineers who have made a survey of the project report that the dam would have to be about 100 feet high and over 500 feet long, and besides the water for irrigation would develop plenty of power for the entire valley. The movement will be pushed to the limit and without doubt would be one of the biggest boosts for Luna county for many years.

The Southern New Mexico Chamber of Commerce was organized with the following officers suggested for the approval of the several commercial organizations: President, D. H. Bright, Las Cruces; vice president, O. Fred Arthur, Alamogordo; secretary, Glenda Simpson, Roswell; treasurer, Charles Bonnell, Tularosa.

The First National Bank of Clovis failed to open its doors last week and announced its affairs were in the hands of the national bank examiners. No statement as to the bank's condition or the reason for closing has been given out. The bank first closed its doors last January but reopened under reorganization a couple of months ago.

New Mexico bankers listened to what was practically a debate on the federal reserve banking system when A. H. McMillan of Albuquerque addressed the state convention, charging the reserve system was the initial step toward creating a centralized and autocratic form of government, and W. J. Tulley of Kansas City, governor of the Tenth Federal Reserve district, also spoke, defending the reserve system.

L. H. Porter, one of the well known mining men of Silver City, has taken over the Beech mine on the west side of the Santa Rosalia and will start development work at once. The Beech mine has been noted for the past eight or ten years by Silver City and many shipments of low grade ore have been made. The mine carries a lenses with of lead silver and gold ore and it is believed that it will soon be one of the best paying propositions of the kind in the southern part of the state.

WARNING! Gypsies.

A horde of gypsies descended upon this fair community Tuesday. They caught us unawares and handed us an uppercut that did all but render us "hors de combat".

Ye modern Gypsy caravan is composed no longer of creaking vehicles drawn by "crow bait" mares, but wheezes into town atop several of those ten million cars that have been set adrift by a certain Detroit manufacturer.

Except for mode of travel there was but little change. They cursed our housewives, swiped everything not securely screwed down and kindled youthful fires in the eyes of some of our patriarchs. Yes, they also told fortunes while inflicting misfortune upon us.

They headed west from here. Neighboring cities in that direction will forever place us on the debit side of their ledgers if they will return to us the town hall bell, the Mayor's watch charm and the sucker-rod from the town pump.

SCHOOL NOTES

By F. S. COPELAND.

A reception was given Friday night by the people of the community and the faculty of the Capitan schools. A good old fashioned community sing, was much enjoyed by all, after which coffee and cake were served. From the interest evinced in the singing, perhaps such gatherings will be held occasionally this winter. We believe there is nothing better for a town or community than the coming together occasionally for a genuine sing-fest. It develops cooperation, causes folks to forget some of their worries, and tends toward the formation of a better neighborhood spirit.

An attempt will be made to have both boys' and girls' basket ball teams this fall. Mr. Cummins will have charge of the boys, and Miss Coffey, assisted by Miss Townsend will have charge of the girls. Practice begins this week.

The playground equipment has been repaired and placed in good condition, a circumstance much appreciated by the youngsters.

The outbuildings have been rebuilt and made sanitary, and the school grounds, cistern, etc. put in good shape for the school year.

D. W. Rockey, state high school inspector, paid us a visit recently.

An excellent stage has been constructed in the high school room which will be of much material benefit in putting on the various school entertainments.

Baron Auriemma, who is well-known to the people of the southwest as a worker for the Salvation Army, gave a most delightful and artistic concert at the high school Saturday evening. The one regret is that more people did not hear him. He is a professional singer of national renown, and has recently made some records for the Victor Company. Had the event been better advertised we are confident that a crowded house would have greeted the famous singer.

A trip down the Ruidoso impresses one with the bountiful crops there, and the evidence of prosperity, aside from the grandeur of the scenery.

Precinct "9".

Obeying a call by the Republican County Chairman, members of that party in the ninth (Capitan) precinct met at the school house Saturday afternoon and elected fifteen delegates to Republican County Convention, called to meet at Lincoln at 10 a.m., Saturday, September 27, for the purpose of nominating a full county ticket.

The posted call set 2:30 p. m. as the hour for the Primary to convene. In the absence of the Precinct Chairman and the Vice Chairman, the meeting was called to order at 2:45 p.m. by T. J. Simer.

It was moved, seconded and carried that T. J. Simer remain in the chair. The Precinct Secretary not being present, L. L. Beard was nominated for the place by E. O. Jones. Mr. Beard protested the nomination on the grounds of comparatively short residence in the precinct, and the further fact that he was not of exactly the same political color as the meeting. Mrs. O. M. Fisher asked Mr. Beard if he didn't claim to be politically independent, the question bringing an affirmative answer, from the nominee and causing him to tender his services should he be elected. Mr. Jones' nomination was duly seconded and carried.

The chair requested the secretary read the call for the primary as published by the County Chairman. While this was being done several parties, headed by S. J. Bigger, entered, but immediately withdrew to another part of the building, supposedly for the purpose of organizing a "rump" convention.

A motion was made, seconded and carried, instructing the chair to appoint a committee to wait on the other gathering and try, for the sake of harmony, to have them return. The chair appointed E. O. Jones to bear the olive branch. The mission was successful and the delegates returned.

Sam J. Bigger took the floor when the primary had again come to order. He declared that Precinct Chairman Rohde had given him authority to call the meeting to order and no one else had any right to do so, even if it was passed the advertised hour for meeting. Then he spoke on the importance of the Mexican vote to the Republican party. Mr. Bigger said: "I want it distinctly understood to all that these Spanish Americans have a right to the majority representation on the delegation to the County Convention, for I maintain that, without the Spanish-Americans, there would be no Republican party in this State, and I intend to see that they are not beat out of their rights."

The chair then remarked that there had been no intention to keep any one from being present but that it was past the meeting time and those present wished to get back to their work.

Motion to elect from floor was carried. In rapid-fire order the following nominations were taken down in the order in which they were made from the floor:

Sam Wells, Francisco Duran, Henry Silva, Frank Chavez, Juan Padilla, Pete Paralta, Monaco Paralta, Jesse Padilla, Mrs. T. J. Simer, Mrs. J. T. Gardenhire, Mrs. Frank Garrod, George A. Titsworth, E. O. Jones, Mrs. O. M. Fisher, Harry Comroy.

The secretary was ordered to read the list of nominations and distinctly read the above names in the order there set forth.

A motion was made, seconded and carried that the nominations as read by the secretary constitute the delegation of fifteen to which Precinct "9" is entitled in the County Convention.

On motion of S. J. Bigger, duly seconded, the delegation was elected by acclamation.

It was the will of the Primary that the delegation go to the Lincoln convention uninstructed.

No other business coming before the Primary, a motion to adjourn was seconded and carried.

We Have With Us—

Baron James V. Auriemma, tri state field representative for the Salvation Army, rendered one of his wonderful musical programs to a large and appreciative Capitan audience Saturday night.

The Baron canvasses a territory embracing New Mexico, Arizona and the Panhandle of Texas for funds to further the work of the Salvation Army. It brings him a most welcome guest of this city each year. The work is a most worthy one and should be heartily supported with our funds. We should all give, and give until it hurts, to help this great cause.

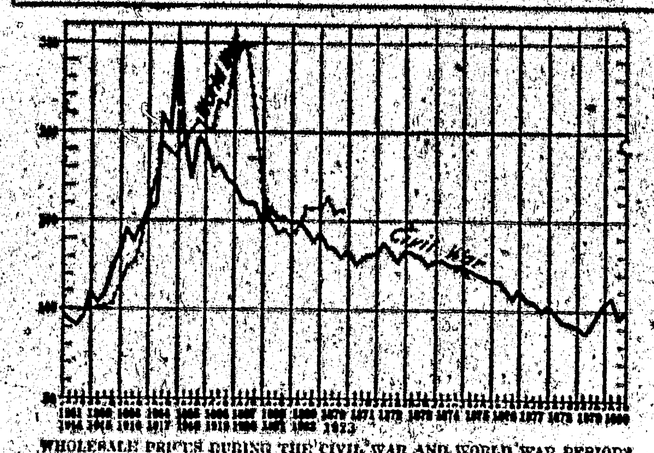
Outlook for Farm Prices



WHOLESALE PRICES DURING THE CIVIL WAR AND WORLD WAR PERIODS (FOR THE CIVIL WAR 1856 TO 1860=100, AND FOR THE WORLD WAR 1910 TO 1914=100)

Will prices go up or down, or remain stationary during the next decade? If you knew the answer to that question and knew how to take advantage of the situation, it would mean money in your pocket, according to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation.

Dr. O. P. Warren, agricultural economist of Cornell university, has collected evidence on the price trend to be expected. He finds prices are acting in almost exactly the same way they did following the Civil war. The price level following the Civil war continued to fall for 13 years. Dr. Warren believes price levels in the United States will again act in this way.

The present huge supply of gold has much to do with the situation. Great Britain alone has sent to the United States since the beginning of the war more than $1,500,000,000 worth of gold—nearly a quarter of all the gold money in the world. Before long, Dr. Warren thinks, Europe will take her gold back. Then prices will go down.

YOUR DAUGHTER'S HEALTH

Mothers of Ailing Daughters, Attention

How Two Mothers Helped Their Daughters by Giving them Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Every mother possesses information of vital importance to her young daughter, and the responsibility for the girl's future is largely in her hands.

When a school girl's thoughts become sluggish, when she suffers the consequences of wet feet, pain, headaches, fainting spells, loss of sleep and appetite and is irregular, her mother should have a care for her physical condition and give her Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which has proved a reliable aid to nature for just such conditions in so many cases.

First Bottle Helped Her

Richmond, Indiana.—"I am sending this letter to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did my daughter. She was troubled with nervousness so that she was restless at night, and then she could not sleep and she was afraid of everything. She could not work as she was not strong enough, and she had to quit school at 14 because she was ill so much. The doctor said she had a nervous breakdown and her system was all run down. She had pains in her right side and through her back, and the medicine she took did her no good at all. I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's advertisement in our paper, telling all that the Vegetable Compound had done for other women, so I said, 'We will try it out and see what it does.' She had not taken the first bottle before it began to help her, and we will always say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the best medicine she ever took."—Mrs. E. DARBY, 911 N. 16th Street, Richmond, Indiana.

An Ohio Mother Reports

Columbus, Ohio.—"When my daughter became 14 years of age she was ailing very much. The doctor gave her medicine, but she was very weak, and he always had to write excuses for her as she could not attend the 'gym' classes, and I often had to keep her home from school. I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for my nerves and run-down condition, so I gave her three doses daily, and also Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine. Our friends are surprised to see how fine and tall she is getting and how well she is. I will gladly answer letters and give you a fine recommendation for other mothers."—Mrs. MARIE MIELKE, 614 Ebner Street, Columbus, Ohio.

Over 100,000 women have so far replied to our question, "Have you received benefit from taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound?"

98 per cent. of these replies answer "Yes." That means that 98 out of every 100 women who have taken this medicine have been helped by it. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Good Time Assured

"I understand a party of Snake Ridgers are coming over to the Gulch to play poker."

"Yep," replied Cactus Joe. "We thought we might as well try to be a little neighborly."

"But these boys have the reputation of being marked cards."

"That's all right. If any of 'em wins, we have a bundle of counterfeit money ready to pay off with."

Born Salesman

A small boy was complaining to a sympathetic neighbor of his father's soulfully acquired penuriousness. He wasn't giving him allowing money for ice cream and cold water on hotters and the latter was greatly grieved over the change in his parent's nature.

"Papa's saving his money, but I tell him it's foolish," he observed.

"Saving, eh?" commented the neighbor.

"Yes. Papa said he's saving to buy a baby, but I think I'll be able to talk him out of it."—New York Sun and Globe.

Farm Children

The farm population of the nation although less than 30 per cent of the total, is carrying more than 50 per cent of the child population, says a United States bulletin. The farm is charged with the duty of educating this excess of youth and turning it over to the cities of the population too.

Back Given Out?

It's hard to do one's work when every day brings morning lameness, throbbing backache and a dull, tired feeling. If you suffer thus, why not find (all the cause? Likely it's your kidneys. Headaches, dizziness and bladder irregularities may go further proof that your kidneys need help. Then, don't rest! Use Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Thousands have been helped by Doan's. They should help you. Ask your neighbor!

Narrow Margin Indeed Saved Convicted Man

Sir Frank Lockwood, one of the most brilliant advocates of the English bar, was famed alike for his witticisms and his professional acuteness. Touching a remark as to the extraordinary dullness of certain men who have occupied the judicial bench in England, he used to relate in the following words an instance within his own experience:

A man had stolen a spade, and was tried before a stupid, but well meaning and thoroughly conscientious magistrate. He carefully looked up "Archbold's Criminal Law" to find a precedent on which he could convict and punish the man.

"I can't find anything under the word 'spade,'" said he, "although I see that a man was convicted and severely punished for stealing a shovel." Then, looking at the culprit severely over his spectacles, he added: "You have had a very narrow escape, but you may go now."

Quaint Bell Superstitions

For many years it was believed that the ringing of bells dispelled thunder. Records of English churchwardens occasionally have reference to this idea. In these of Sandwich, dated 1631, an item is set down for bread and drink supplied to "ringers in the great thunderyng." Many and various were the ancient offices of bells. According to some monkish couplets the mottoes of a chime, one bell says, "Men's death I tell, by doleful knell"; another, "The winds so fierce I do disperse"; and a third, "Lightning and thunder I break asunder." Rural bell ringers often have a great affection for their bells, and in the superstitious way of their fathers ascribe to each some special virtue.

Brought up on a Farm

As a young man Dr. Pierce practiced medicine in a rural district and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood, which is an extract of native roots. This "Discovery" of Dr. Pierce's clears away pimples and annoying conditions, tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. It corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and enriches the blood. Why is sure to follow its use. All dealers. Tablets or liquid.

"Why?" asked the hostess a bit taken aback.

"Well, I don't see any ice cream."

WEEKLY MENU SUGGESTIONS

We are advised to use as many of our vegetables uncooked, as cooking destroys the vitamines (substances) which keep the body in good health and promote growth.

SUNDAY—Breakfast: Bacon, toast, coffee cake. Dinner: Roast stuffed chicken, ice cream. Supper: Milk toast, chocolate cake.

MONDAY—Breakfast: Grapenuts, cream, buttered toast. Dinner: Pork chops, glazed onions. Supper: Prune cake.

TUESDAY—Breakfast: Griddle cakes, maple syrup. Dinner: Raisin pie. Supper: Parker house rolls.

WEDNESDAY—Breakfast: Oatmeal, top milk, coffee. Dinner: Cabbage with white sauce and cheese. Supper: Spice cake.

THURSDAY—Breakfast: Cornmeal gems, ham, coffee. Dinner: Broiled steak, green onions. Supper: Escalloped potatoes, lettuce salad.

FRIDAY—Breakfast: Eggs on toast, coffee. Dinner: Baked trout, cabbage salad. Supper: Hot potato salad, sponge cake.

SATURDAY—Breakfast: Cantaloupe, cracked wheat, top milk. Dinner: Baked beans, apple pie. Supper: Iced tea, cookies.

Glazed Onions.

Cook small white onions until soft, but firm enough to hold their shape. Make a syrup of one cupful of sugar and one-half cupful of water and cook to the soft ball stage; add the onions and continue cooking for two or three minutes. Lift out the onions when the syrup begins to discolor and arrange on a platter with the steak.

Prune Cake.

Cream one-third of a cupful of butter and one and one-eighth of a cupful of sugar. Add two egg yolks and one whole egg, all beaten together, five tablespoonfuls of sour cream, one and one-eighth cupfuls of stewed prunes, stoned, and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of lemon extract. Sift together one and one-half cupfuls of flour, three-quarters of a teaspoonful of baking powder, one teaspoonful of soda, one-quarter teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful each of nutmeg and cloves, and add gradually one-half cupful of chopped nut meats. Bake in layers.

Now is the time, oh friend,
No longer wait,
To scatter loving smiles and words of cheer
To those around whose lives are now so dear,
They may not meet you in the coming year—
Now is the time.

FOOD FOR THE FAMILY

Most people enjoy peanuts when freshly roasted and crisp. Some find them hard to digest because they like them so well that just one more is followed by another until too many are eaten. Peanuts are full of nutriment, long the piece of meat in many dishes, and are good combined with various foods. For stuffing peppers for baking, use the peanut butter or finely minced peanuts in place of meat, with the bread crumbs and other seasonings.

Peanut Butter Biscuit.—Sift two cupfuls of flour, add four teaspoonfuls of baking powder and rub in one-fourth cupful of peanut butter, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt and just enough cold water to moisten. Roll and cut into rounds and bake on warm. Very variety, and a biscuit which may be used for dessert with a sauce, add a few sliced prunes to the biscuit mixture.

Peanut-Prune Shortcake.—Prepare a crust as for the peanut biscuit, make in layers, one baked on top of the other, and for the filling cut one-half pound of prunes which have been soaked overnight in cold water after being well washed, then simmered in the same water until tender, add half a cupful of sugar and cook until thick, then add lemon juice and grated rind of orange juice and rind. Serve over the shortcake as one does any fruit.

The children all know the peanut butter sandwich and peanut butter fudge, using peanut butter in place of the milk and butter in ordinary fudge.

Peanut Butter Potatoes.—Cook potatoes in salted water until tender, drain and into a vegetable dish in which a tablespoonful of finely minced onion and four tablespoonfuls of peanut butter are added place potatoes, having the dish hot; season the potatoes with salt and chop them, mixing well with the butter and onion. Use a pint of tomatoes to this amount of seasoning.

Some who like tomato mincemeat will enjoy this recipe:

Green Tomato Mincemeat.—Take one peck of green tomatoes, chop, drain through a cheesecloth, add two cupfuls each of water and vinegar and cook slowly two hours. Drain again, add two tablespoonfuls of salt, spices to taste, two pounds of chopped raisins, one pound of citron, two quarts of apples, one cupful of suet, all chopped; add four pounds of brown sugar, one cupful of currants and two lemons, juice and rind. Boil all together. Pack in sterilized jars.

For a few mornings she came in early. Then one morning she did not appear until ten o'clock.

FARM STOCK

YOUNG PORKER WILL MAKE CHEAPER GAIN

When does a pig make its cheapest gain, and when does it sell for the highest price per pound? This is a question that often confronts the farmer who is raising pigs for the market, says Prof. L. V. Starkey, chief of the animal husbandry division at Clemson college, in discussing the marketing of hogs.

Experimental data prove beyond a doubt that the younger the pig the cheaper the gains. A review of the pig market reveals another very interesting fact, namely, that feeder pigs sell for a higher price per pound than those which are ready for the block. If we put these two ideas together it would seem that there is more money in producing feeder pigs than there is in producing fat hogs ready for market. Of course there are many factors, says Professor Starkey, to take into consideration in producing feeder pigs. For example, fairly large litters must be raised. If the herd does not average at least six pigs per litter there will be no money in it. Large litters and cheap pigs go together.

One reason why feeder pigs are so much in demand is that there are so many who do not keep a brood sow and yet they want one or two pigs to fatten for pork.

The man who produces feeder pigs on a large scale must have considerable equipment. Several small lots are necessary in order that not more than two brood sows may be in a lot. Usually good results cannot be obtained by keeping several brood sows and litters together.

With the small-lot proposition there also comes the problem of fresh water. Running streams are ideal for the hogs, but hard to keep fenced. If water is piped to the lots, care must be taken so that there will be no mud wallows.

Male pigs should be castrated at from six to ten weeks of age. The younger they are castrated, the less will be the shock. The best time to wean feeder pigs is when they are eight weeks of age.

The greatest demand for feeder pigs is in the fall when corn is ready to be used. At this time earlier shipments can be made.

Proper Ration for Mare Is of Much Importance

"The best time to grow foals, and the time when they will make their largest gains is when they are being carried by their dams," says N. E. Correa of the animal husbandry division at University farm, at St. Paul, Minn. "Many farmers do not realize this, and begin feeding the mare a proper ration only after the foal is here. The brood mare, when in foal, should be fed a high protein ration, a ration which is rich in muscle and bone building material. This material is supplied in the form of oats, bran and oil meal, as a concentrate, and clover or alfalfa hay as a roughage.

"The most common causes for losses among foals are constipation and navel ecchis. As soon as the young foal arrives, see that he gets a good drink of his mother's first milk. This fore-milk or colostrum has purgative properties and will usually clear the foal's intestines of the excrement accumulated prior to birth. If the digestive tract is not cleaned by the fore-milk, give the foal a teaspoonful of castor oil and a warm water and soap rectal injection.

"Another thing the farmer must watch out for is navel infection. If pus and disease germs get inside the body through the opening of the umbilical cord, a fatal infection or 'foal ill' may develop and the foal be lost. The best way to prevent this is to keep the stable in a sanitary condition and treat the cord immediately after the foal is born with boric acid powder or tincture of iodine."

Live Stock Hints

Avoid dampness and wallows.

* * *

Change pastures for sheep frequently.

* * *

A pig that doesn't make a hog of himself isn't profitable.

* * *

"Purebred Live Stock on Every Farm." Eventually, why not sooner?

* * *

Watch your sheep carefully to see that they do not become infested with worms.

* * *

Tip to dairymen: Poorly feeding means whisper milk and, therefore, more profit.

* * *

Cattle, horses and sheep as well as hogs are fond of hay, but they cannot be expected to eat the coarse stems.

* * *

Colts, calves, lambs and pigs, all should have special feed set apart for them as soon as they can be coaxed to eat. Oats are very good.

* * *

Hogs with cholera often have diarrhea after they have been sick a short time. Pus may form in the eyes. Red or purple blotches come on the skin of the belly inside the legs.

* * *

Sheep should be dipped for ticks as soon as the first warm days of spring come.

* * *

The hog is the big money-maker, but we ought to figure out some ways and means to increase profits by bettering our breeding, care and feeding.

* * *

Before weaning, the foals should be taught to eat both hay and grain so that the loss of the mother's milk will not be such a setback but that it can then be partially replaced by an increase in the grain and hay ration.

WHOLE FAMILY ENDORSE TANLAC AS BEST TONIC

"Tanlac has been our constant friend for years, and my wife and myself and eight children are all enjoying wonderful health, largely due to this medicine," is the remarkable statement of Harry H. Pistole, 310 Archer St., Waco, Texas.

"In my own case Tanlac has done what seemed to be impossible. When I began taking it my stomach was in such a bad fix that I had to live on a milk and egg diet and I was almost a skeleton. I had been flat on my back in bed and under treatment for 18 months and felt that my time was about up.

"After my case had been given up as hopeless and I thought I was beyond redemption a relative put me on to Tanlac, and the result is, I gained 20 pounds and enjoy as good health as anybody could wish.

"My wife was all broken down in health. But now she weighs 155 pounds, and is strong and well and I am giving Tanlac credit for it. We give Tanlac to the children to tone them up and make them grow, and nobody ever had a healthier set of children than we have.

"Tanlac is certainly the greatest medicine on earth for anyone whose life is wrecked by bad health. We sure do have a great deal to praise Tanlac for at my house."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 40 million bottles sold.

Feminine Wit

William Lyon Phelps was discussing a well-known woman novelist.

"She has no sense of humor," he said, "but she has something that makes up for it—like the man, you know, who had admitted that his left leg was shorter, but added that his right leg made up for it by being longer."

A critic said to this woman novelist one day:

"Most women have no sense of humor."

"Well, what of it?" said she. "Most men have no sense at all."

No Privacy These Days

A flapper and her beau boy were seated alone together on the sofa, listening in for the first time with the latter's new wireless set. Not did the fact that both of them were wearing their headphones prevent them from catching an occasional kiss. George," gasped the girl, as she drew back, blushing, "Oh, George, they can see us!"

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness are oftentimes symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Get a medium or large size bottle immediately from any drug store.

However, if you want first to test this great preparation, send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing, be sure and mention this paper.—Advertisement.

Gets Rid of Rats

A Detroit merchant has perfected a device which has cleared his store of rats in a very short time, he says. He has a box on the floor, with a door swinging from its upper edge. The door is smeared with cheese, and as the rat pushes on it, it opens and admits him to a small compartment with a hole into a huge tank of water, where he drowns. The trap is very effective, and has to be emptied every day.
