Fred Fulton, heavyweight prize fighter, who "took the count" after thirty-five seconds in the ring at Culver City, near Los Angeles, with Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight, was arrested and rushed to the district attorney's office at Los Angeles for examination.

How to restore without bloodshed the flow of water through Los Angeles' 150-mile aqueduct, diverted into Owens river by a party of raiders who sweered upon the waste gates near Lone Pine, 200 miles north of here, and opened them wide, despite protests by city employees and Inyo county officials, was the problem that faced Los Angeles authorities recently.

Miss Nora Sterry, principal of a school in what was the quarantined pneumonic plague district of Los Angeles, is wearing a gold medal, symbolic of gratitude of residents of the district. Miss Sterry, who had taught in the district for twelve years, went through the quarantine lines when they were established to aid the residents, Mexicans, who had confidence in her.

Labor unrest, charged to I. W. W. agitation, which has tied up operation on the Southern Pacific Natron cut-off in southern Oregon, and other large construction at various Pacific coast points, has resulted in a walkout on the Klamath river hydro-electric power construction in northern California. More than 100 men, employed by the Oregon Power Company on the river work walked out.

The Oakland club of the Pacific coast baseball league has changed hands, passing into the ownership of Walter Johnson, pitching ace of the Washington Americans, and George Weiss, owner of the New Haven club in the Eastern league, it was announced in Oakland by J. Cal Ewing, retiring Oakland owner. The consideration was not announced, but it was indicated by Ewing that it was in the neighborhood of $225,000.

A veritable milk war between producers and distributors over the question of prices raged recently throughout the East Bay cities of Oakland, Alameda and Berkeley in Alameda county, and spread to adjacent counties to the north and east. Trucks carrying milk into Oakland were fired upon, thousands of gallons of the fluid were destroyed and several gun battles and physical encounters were reported, according to police authorities of Oakland, Calif.

WASHINGTON

Announcement of the selection of John Van A. MacMurray, chief of the Far Eastern division of the State Department to be an assistant secretary of the department, marked another step in the process of reorganization of the American foreign service which has been in progress for some years and has been given particular impetus during the administration of Secretary Hughes.

The commission appointed by President Coolidge to solve the problems of American agriculture is shaping its program of work so as to take advantage of the coming short session of Congress for any remedial legislation which it may by that time have concluded to be necessary.

The application of William B. Shearer of New York for an injunction restraining Secretary Wilbur from using the uncompleted battleship Washington as a target was dismissed in District of Columbia Supreme Court. "In my opinion this plaintiff has no equity and this court no jurisdiction," the justice said, after listening to two hours of argument.

The commission recently appointed by President Coolidge to make a comprehensive analysis and report on farm problems with a view to arriving at a program for the permanent stabilization of agriculture decided at its initial meeting to proceed along three lines, namely, the study of pending farm legislation, inquiry into the administration of present laws and plans for inculcating in the farmer an appreciation of the value of co-operation.

Immediate repeal of the law permitting publication of income tax returns and establishment of a tax commission to simplify tax regulations was urged by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States in a statement outlining its position on national economic questions presented to President Coolidge.

A reduction from 19,172 to 17,734 in the personnel of the interior department during the past year was announced a few days ago by Secretary Work. The greatest reduction was in the Alaska railroads, which discontinued 610 workers.

FOREIGN

The cabinet crisis in Egypt has been settled. Zaglout Pasha, after a long audience with the king in Cairo, returned to parliament house and informed his party that he withdrew his resignation and that cabinet would retain office.

Frank B. Kellogg, ambassador to Great Britain, is greatly annoyed by the report printed in the London Daily Graphic discussing his "probable retirement," and the return of Post Wheeler to London. Kellogg refused to discuss the report.

The nations cannot expect with one stroke of the pen to deprive multitudes of the Persian people of a livelihood by suppressing opium cultivation in Persia, declared Prince Arfa Dowleh of Persia before the international opium conference at Geneva.

General Wu Pei-Fu former military commander of the Peking government has arrived at Hankow, and with the inchuns of the Yangtse and Yellow River provinces, has constituted a "military government," proclaiming its independence of Peking.

Demonstrations of sympathy by the populace of Cairo were held after the surprising news became known that Zaghloul Pasha, the Egyptian premier, had presented the resignation of his cabinet in the Chamber of Deputies.

The labor premier of Victoria, Australia, G. M. Prendergast, resigned as a result of the defeat of his government in the parliament on a no confidence vote and the refusal of the governor, the Earl of Stradbroke, to accede to his request for parliamentary dissolution.

The world this year faces an estimated bread grain shortage of 574,000,000 bushels—491,000,000 of wheat and 170,000,000 of rye—it was estimated by T. E. Doherty, commissioner of the International Institute of Agriculture at Rome. The estimate is based upon official returns to the institute from all important countries of the world.

The finance department of Japan has approved estimates aggregating 10,000,000 yen ($5,000,000) for new aviation and military equipment for the next fiscal year. The department, however, cut down heavily demands of the army and navy for additional appropriations and reduced the total of 270,000,000 yen demanded by all departments of the government to 60,000,000 yen.

Joseph Caillaux, former premier of France, who, in October, 1919, was found guilty of having "impeded prosecution of the war," was voted amnesty by the senate, 170 to 104. The amnesty bill was adopted by the chamber of deputies last July. Louis Malvy, former minister of the interior, convicted of communication with the enemy during the war and banished from France for three years, was voted amnesty by 103 to 61.

GENERAL

Lieut. Com. Rowland M. Comfort, U. S. N., formerly naval aid to the late President Wilson, admitted in a matter of fact way in New York City during trial of his suit to annul his marriage, that he one time had expressed a desire to "bump off" Josephus Daniels, formerly secretary of the navy. The desire was expressed in a letter which Comfort admitted having written. He is suing Mrs. Helen B. Comfort of Brooklyn.

Resolutions empowering the executive council of the International Typographical Union to settle disputes with employers and to exercise a free hand in adjusting differences growing out of the strike for the forty-four hour week in commercial printing shops have been passed by the local typographical unions of many cities, according to information given out at headquarters of the international union in Indianapolis.

Fire, attended by numerous explosions, raged for six hours in the industrial section of Jersey City, N. J., before it could be brought under control, destroying more than thirty buildings sending two score persons to hospitals for treatment for minor injuries and making several hundred families homeless.

Differences between the United States Mine Workers of America and the Coal River collieries, owned by members of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, were thrust into the annual convention of the American Federation of Labor at El Paso, Texas, by the introduction of a resolution of censure naming the engineers' organization.

The Indiana Supreme Court at Indianapolis upheld a law compelling a man to support his parents if they are dependent and the man is financially able. The court affirmed the conviction of Bernard Lundy, a Lawrence county stonecutter, on the charge of failing to support his parents, who are alleged to have been sent to the poor house while he was making monthly payments of $1450 on a used automobile.

The Associated Master Barbers of America, in convention in Chicago, resolved to condemn Rudolph Valentino, motion picture actor, for permitting his beard to grow. They expressed fear lest the hirsute vogue return. They also resolved that members of the association "be pledged not to attend a showing of his photoplays as long as he remains beshistered."

Plans for the annual poultry show for Bernalillo county are now going ahead by the executives of the association and the dates have been set for December 10, 11, 12, and 13. The show is to be one of the best ever held in the county and one of the features will be an address on "Artificial Light for Layers," by J. C. Largent.

George R. Becker, of Thoma, N. M., an old resident of New Mexico, was found frozen to death in an automobile on the mountain road between that place and Antonito, Colo., according to word received in Albuquerque. Mr. Becker's body was found by a searching party from Chama, which had been looking for him for four days. Thoma is a small town between Chama and Antonito.

The Roswell chamber of commerce closed a deal last week for the erection of a large oil refinery in Roswell and the work on the plant is to be started in the next sixty days. While the new plant will not be the largest in the country it will be ample to take care of the present needs and will be so constructed that additions can be made at any time in the future. The company back of the venture is well financed and there will be no stock for sale in the new firm.

Cattle shipments from New Mexico during October were the heaviest in the history of the state, according to the secretary of the Cattle Sanitary Board. Among some of the tests which Stanley had to take before becoming an Eagle scout are: Life saving, first aid work, personal health, public health, cooking, camping, civics, bird study, pathfinding, pioneering, and athletics. The Eagle scout badge will be awarded at the next session of the Court of Honor.

COAST WATER WAR IS ENDED

FARMERS QUIT HOLD ON AQUEDUCT ON PLEDGE OF FAIR INQUIRIES

AGREE TO ARBITRATE

LOS ANGELES GROUP PROMISES HELP IN SETTLEMENT OF WATER RIGHTS

Los Angeles, Calif.—The waters of the Los Angeles aqueduct, diverted into Owens lake by a raiding party of Owens valley ranchers, who seized and opened the Alabama waste gates north of Lone Pine, Inyo county, were turned back into their course by the raiding party five days later.

The ranchers' decision to abandon their announced determination "to hold the gates open until state troops are sent or Los Angeles comes to our terms," was reached at a conference of leaders held at Keeler, on the shores of Owens lake. It was reached, says a Los Angeles Times dispatch, as a direct result of the resolution adopted by the Los Angeles Clearing House Association, promising its co-operation in promoting a settlement of the water feud, providing the gates were closed.

This resolution, accompanied by a telegram from W. W. Waterson, an Owens valley banker, who laid the case of the ranchers before the Clearing House Association, was forwarded to Carl Keough, president of the Owens River Canal Company, and Harry Glasscock, publisher of the Owens Valley Herald.

The resolution was as follows:

"Resolved, That the Los Angeles Clearing House Association is in favor of law and order, and against mob rule; that with regard to the controversy between the people of Owens valley and the city of Los Angeles, the Los Angeles Clearing House Association will not take any action in the matter so long as a mob holds control of city property and diverts water which should come to the city of Los Angeles from the city aqueduct.

"Resolved further, That if the mob will retire, close the gates which they opened and allow the water which was flowing through the same to flow into the reservoir, the Los Angeles Clearing House Association will use its best efforts with the business interests of this city to bring about some kind of an equitable settlement between the people of Owens valley and the city of Los Angeles."

Waterson's proposal to close the control gates did not meet the unanimous consent of the ranchers on guard, and it was not until Keough, leader of an influential group in the valley, had exerted every effort on behalf of the recommendation that it was finally adopted.

Glasscock, recognized spokesman of the ranchers, backed Keough and the conservatives during the discussion.

Indicted for Publishing Income Tax

Washington.—The publicity clause of the income tax law promises to be the basis for a lively fight at the next session of Congress. Coincident with the indictment of the Baltimore Daily Post in a test case by the Department of Justice on the publication of income tax lists, Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, issued a statement declaring that, although he voted for the publicity section, he was now opposed to it. He asserted it was harmful to business and to the general welfare, and he would co-operate with Republicans to change the law.

German General Sentenced by French

Lille, France.—Found guilty by a French court-martial of confiscating and shipping to Germany valuable properties from the chateau he was occupying as headquarters in northern France during the war, General von Nathusius, a German commanding officer, was sentenced to a year's imprisonment and payment of the trial costs. General von Nathusius, who a year ago was tried by default and sentenced to six years in prison on the same charges, was caught in French territory recently and brought to trial in person.

Tearney Resigns Three-Eye Presidency

Chicago.—After serving as president of the Three-Eye League for twelve years, A. R. Tearney of Chicago resigned at the annual meeting here, his resignation becoming effective at the spring meeting to be held here Feb. 6. Tearney, who also is president of the Western League, was unable to serve in the capacity of president of two leagues, due to his expanding business interests in Chicago.

Sirdar of Egypt Slain

Cairo.—Alex. Sich. Sir Lee Oliver Stack, governor general of Sudan and sirdar of the Egyptian army since 1919, has succumbed to the bullets of assassins. He died in a Cairo hospital. The sirdar was attacked by a group of men who, failing to achieve their purpose with a knife, opened fire on him with revolvers. The whole country is profoundly shocked at the outrage and the gravity of the situation is everywhere realized. The press denounces the crime in the strongest terms.

China's Fights May Open Terrible War

Sleeping Giant Is Believed to Be Awakening.

Washington, D. C.—After more than a decade of petty political bickering over the control of China the whole country now bids fair to break out in war to determine if unification can be effected by conquest. From Peking, the ancient capital in the north, to Canton, the vast river city in the south, troops are afoot. Hard marchings and counter-marchings and the sound of firing is heard in many places, chiefly along a 25-mile front in the vicinity of Shanghai.

Gen. Chi Hsieh-yuan, anfu-tuchun or military governor of the province of Kiangsu, has flatly declared that the time has come when, if China is to be unified again into one great nation, it must be done by the sword. Whether the war which now is in progress will, in fact, be fought out to so bitter an issue or whether it will in a few months break up into minor conflicts between rival provincial governors remains to be seen. The immediate fact is that a million men are under arms.

The trouble started over the rivalry of two provincial governors. The city of Shanghai, with well over a million population, is the New York of China. It is the great port of foreign trade. Geographically it lies in the province of Kiangsu. It is commanded by Gen. Ho Fang-lin, the defense commissioner. To the southward of the province of Kiangsu and the city of Shanghai lies the important province of Chekiang. Its military governor is Gen. Lu Yung-hsiang. Although the city is outside his province he claims control over Shanghai. The defense commissioner is friendly to him and admits his claim.

Likened to New York's Seizure.

The situation may be put into American terms as follows: New York city lies in New York state. Connecticut is just over the border. The governor of Connecticut claims the right to rule and tax New York city. The mayor of New York city is willing to side with the governor of Connecticut. The governor of New York decides he will, by force, take charge of the city and oust the mayor.

That is the immediate situation, but what makes the situation one of world importance is that larger factors are entering.

Marshal Tsao Kun is president of China with his capital at the ancient imperial city of Peking. His greatest general is Marshal Wu Pei Fu who, in reality, is the stronger man of the two and dominates the president. These two are taking the side of the governor of Kiangsu who is attempting to take Shanghai. This might be compared to the president of the United States taking the side of the governor of New York in the imaginary American case being used as a parallel.

But China occupies a position now somewhat similar to that in this country at the time of the Civil war. South China has seceded from the rest of the country and has set up the South China republic, with Dr. Sun Yat Sen at its head. He makes his capital at the great city of Canton. He has taken sides with the defense commissioner of Shanghai and the governor of Chekiang. This may be compared to the President of the southern Confederacy at the time of the Civil war taking sides with the governor of Connecticut in the imaginary American comparison.

Now, in addition, there is far to the north the great Marshal Chang, the dictator of Manchuria and eastern Mongolia. He has taken the side of the governor of Chiang. This might be compared to the governor of Michigan, in our imaginary case, joining with the governor of Connecticut.

So there exists the alignment: President Tsao Kun, Marshal Wu Pei Fu and Governor Chi of Kiangsu on one side with President Sun Yat Sen, Marshal Chang, Governor Lu and the defense commissioner of Shanghai, Ho, on the other.

General Believed a Traitor.

There is another highly interesting military factor. General Feng is commander of the garrison of Peking. While nominally under President Tsao and Marshal Wu he is strongly suspected of having sympathies with the other side. At any moment he may throw his strength to it.

From 600,000 to 1,000,000 men are likely to participate in this war. The North China side apparently has the superiority in numbers. Marshal Wu Pei Fu, it is estimated, commands 350,000 men. General Feng, supposedly his ally, has 80,000, and General Chi somewhere near 100,000; Marshal Chang has about 150,000; Doctor Sun, 150,000; Governor Lu about 50,000, and the Shanghai commissioner a garrison of some thousands.

HEADS BRITAIN'S NAVY

Admiral Sir Charles E. Madden, flag officer of the British Royal navy, who was commander of the Atlantic fleet from 1919 to 1922, has been appointed admiral of the fleet, chief position in the British navy. He served in the battle of Jutland in 1916, and was mentioned in dispatches; was chief of staff to the admiral commanding in chief, 1916-1916, and second in command of the Grand fleet in 1917.

Make New Record in Loading Cars

Railroads Handle 1,102,336 Cars in Week.

Washington.—A new high record for loading freight cars, with its accompanying indication of business conditions, was made by American railroads during the week ended October 18.

During that week 1,102,336 cars were loaded with revenue freight, exceeding by more than 8,000 cars the previous high record of 1923. On one day alone, October 18, the railroads moved 1,600,211 cars, both loaded and empty, which if made up into one solid train would have reached from New York to San Francisco and return and then back to Omaha.

In a report issued recently, the American Railway association declares that while the weekly records of American railroading were being surpassed, the movement of freight was carried on without congestion or car shortage, and that there are 100,000 serviceable freight cars and 5,400 locomotives in surplus reserve.

Spend Much for Equipment.

The railroads, the report says, were enabled to make the new record because of their large expenditures for equipment and improvements; because of improved car distribution and because of the growing efficiency of the regional shippers' advisory boards having memberships representing all phases of agricultural and industrial production.

"Record-breaking grain crops have been moved without a single reported car shortage from the western states," says the report. "The California perishable producers heretofore have been confronted with periodical car shortages, but this year there was no shortage of refrigerator equipment."

Other Records Established.

In addition to the new high record for movement of revenue freight during the week ended October 18, the railroads made other new records.

More cars were loaded with miscellaneous freight; more cars were loaded with live stock and the new record was made for cars in movement on a single day. Loading of grain and grain products for the same comparative period were second only to the high record made two weeks earlier.

Coal showed a small decrease; merchandise and small lots, and forest products showed an increase over a year ago, but ore and coke showed a decrease.

All classes showed increases over the corresponding week two years ago, except in the eastern district.

Once Famous Violinist Playing in Streets

Pittsburgh.—Back in 1906 Peter van der Meer played a violin recital in Carnegie Music hall, New York, and critics acclaimed the artistry in his performance of Paganini's Concerto in D Major. He had studied under Ysaye at Antwerp and Brussels, and had been a member of the Boston Symphony orchestra.

Recently a group of men idling about the entrance to the Fort Pitt hotel saw a blind street musician preparing to play. To them he was just a gyrating fiddler.

But apathy vanished and a crowd gathered as the strains of Schumann's "Traumerei" came sweetly from the instrument in the hands of the sightless player. "Evening Star" from "Tannhauser," "Souvenir" by Drdla, a Drego Serenade, the prison scene from "Il Trovatore," and the intermezzo from "Cavaleria Rusticana" followed for a two-hour program.

Hat folds were opened and the battered hat held more than $20 when the collection was over.

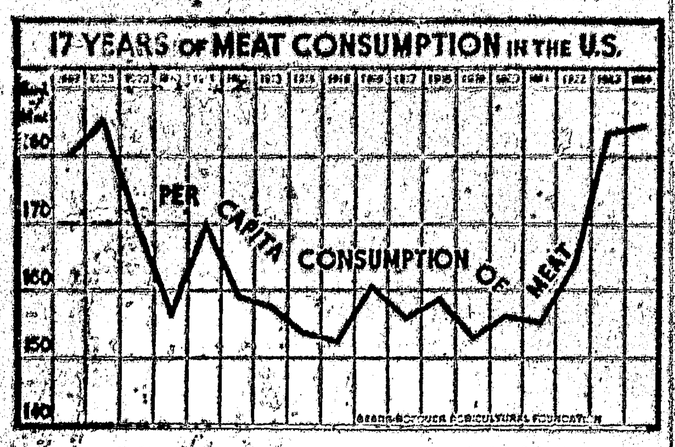
The blind player was Peter van der Meer, sightless since 1915 when cataracts followed measles in a prolonged illness. For six years he was in Bellevue hospital, New York, where physicians told him he would never see again.

He has played his way to Pittsburgh. He will continue in a few days his journey southward with his violin, and what Ysaye and his own passion for the instrument have given him will pay the way.

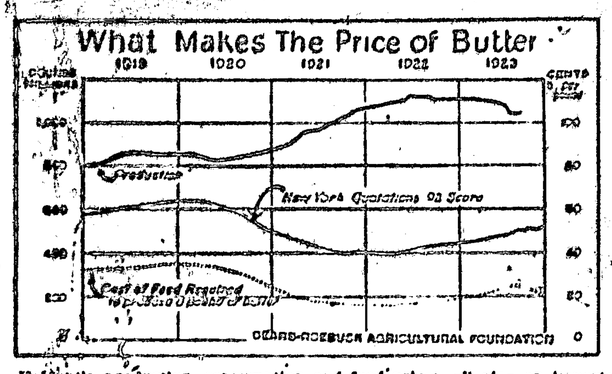
Methuselah Only 80 Astronomer Declares

Berkeley, Cal.—Methuselah was not nine hundred and sixty-nine years of age when he died, as set forth in Genesis, but was only eighty, according to a statement by Prof. Russell T. Crawford, astronomer at the University of California.

"The ancients computed their time by cycles, which we have taken to mean years," Professor Crawford said. "This is wrong, for the ancients did not mean a yearly cycle but a cycle of the moon, of which there may have been 900 in Methuselah's life. There are that number of moon cycles in 80 years.



More meat and lard was consumed per capita in 1923 than in any other year since 1908. This increase in consumption was primarily in pork and lard. According to the Sears-Roebuck Agricultural Foundation, in addition to providing the amount needed for domestic consumption, enough meat and lard was produced to export over two billion pounds, which is equivalent to about [illegible] per capita. As pork production is now being curtailed, the 1924 [illegible] consumption is not likely to be equaled in 1925.



Evidently production, consumption and feed prices, all play an important part in regulating butter prices in a tariff-protected market like the United States. The cost of feed may regulate in the long run, but over periods of a few years it has little to do with the ceiling price of butter.

FOREST FIRE IN CAPITANS NOW UNDER CONTROL.

Fire Starting on North Side of East Mountain Sweeps Territory More Than a Thousand Acres. Fire of Incendiary Origin Burns for Several days.

Starting Tuesday night, a fire in the Lincoln National Forest continued to spread until brought under control Friday night by Forest Rangers, assisted by over a hundred volunteers and conscripts from this and surrounding towns. Rangers and other competent investigators find ample evidence on which to base a theory that the fire was of incendiary origin.

Every available man in and around Capitan volunteered his services or was impressed into service on the firing line.

WARNING!!

Sportsmen: Due to the extremely dry weather during the past three months throughout the Lincoln National Forest and surrounding country there is great fire danger, especially in those extensive areas of blown down timber in the Sacremento Mountains. For this reason and for the protection of yourself while in the woods you are asked to be careful; more than ever, with your camp fires, cigarettes, cigars, ashes from your pipes and matches See that they are all out and no fire left in or on them when thrown down.

Your cooperation in keeping fires out of this Forest this season will be greatly appreciated.

POTATO CROP GREATER THAN LAST YEAR

Denver. According to the United States division of crop and livestock estimates the prospects for the late potato crop for the entire country improved 7 per cent during October, amounting to about 30,500,000 bushels. Of this gain more than 15,000,000 bushels occurred in the four Eastern states, Maine, New York, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, 4,000,000 bushels each in Michigan, 600,000 in Ohio, and the remainder from Wisconsin west.

The forecast for the entire country on Nov. 1 is 454,157,000 on an area of 3,753,000 acres, compared with 412,972,000 bushels on 3,816,000 acres a year ago. Although the area this year is about 2 per cent less than a year ago, the reduction in about 10 per cent more.

In general, the quality of the crop for the seventeen leading states is reported as nearly comparable with a year ago, except in Minnesota, North Dakota and Nebraska, where the quality rating in each case is about ten points higher. The quality rating for all potatoes for the entire United States is 80.2, being slightly higher than last year, when quality rated 80.0. The early crop for the country as a whole was generally good and shipments have been considerably heavier than a year ago. Shipments of the late crop are increasing, but are considerably below last year.

Growth in important Southern producing states greatly reduced the sweet potato crop which is estimated at 90,000,000 bushels, or about 23,000,000 bushels below the average of the last five years, and the smallest crop since 1910.

The indicated production of Colorado potatoes is slightly larger than was estimated a month ago, showing an increase of about 200,000 bushels.

Coast Ball Magnates Adjourn

Seattle, Wash. — Pacific Coast League baseball directors failed to draw two-day meeting here to change the Coast League map. Discussion of the player draft, the question of regulation of gambling and the purchase of the Oakland franchise by Walter Johnson was postponed until the January meeting. Find Old Roman Mint

The site of a Roman mint was discovered near Portishead, on the Somerset sea coast, when R. E. Godwin dug up 4,000 coins, which are believed to have been made by the Romans during the period they occupied England. They are in excellent preservation, and date from 22 A. D., 21 years before the Roman conquest of Britain, to 400 A. D., just before the final evacuation. The field where they were found was used by the ancient Britons as a camp, and this camp afterward was taken over by the Romans.

Few Man-Eating Sharks

There are numerous species of sharks, only a few of which can be truly regarded as "man-eaters." Native of the West Indies, the South Sea Islands and other lands frequented by sharks are known to attack and kill sharks with their knives, but it is doubtful if these were the dreaded white sharks or blue sharks, both man-eating species.

Better it is to write of laughter than of tears, for laughter is the natural function of man.

Permanent roads are a good investment —not an expense

Road Building Far Behind the Automobile

Millions now recognize the automobile as a necessity. It is no longer a luxury for the few. Sixty per cent of its use is for business.

Because of this the modern paved highway has become an economic necessity.

Yet although the mileage of Concrete Roads and Streets has been steadily increasing, our highway system today lags far behind the automobile. The great majority of our highways are as out of date as the stagecoach, narrow gauge railway of fifty years ago.

Such a condition not only materially handicaps the progress of the automobile as a comfortable, profitable means of transportation, but also holds back commercial, industrial and agricultural advancement in practically every section of the country. It is costing taxpayers millions of dollars annually.

Highway building should be continued and enlarged upon.

Your highway authorities are ready to carry on their share of this great public work. But they must have your support. Tell them you are ready to boost for more and wider Concrete Highways now.

ABORTION IN SWINE MAY BE CONTROLLED

The following suggestions for the management of a herd of swine in which infectious abortion has broken out are based upon practical experience. By putting them into practice it is believed the disease may be brought under control in the shortest possible time, according to the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

1. Remove aborting sows at once from contact with other sows and gilts.

2. Collect and burn aborted pigs, afterbirths and all contaminated feed and litter.

3. Find out whether the abortions were caused by abortion germs by having blood samples tested to detect evidence of the disease.

4. Consider the herd infected if any of the blood samples are found to react to the test for abortion.

5. Divide the non-reacting sows into as small groups as possible.

6. Disinfect the hog houses by thoroughly saturating the floor, walls and troughs with a coal-tar disinfectant prepared and applied according to directions of the manufacturer of the product.

7. Sell for slaughter grade sows which abort as soon as their condition will permit, as such animals will scarcely pay for the trouble of treatment.

8. Postpone breeding sows that have aborted until they have passed at least two heat periods.

9. Keep a special boar for the aborting and infected sows. This, of course, is impractical except in large herds.

10. Provide a clean boar for all sows that show no evidence of infection.

11. Ask your veterinarian to secure vaccine from the college of agriculture to vaccinate all open sows and gilts that have not aborted, in order to prevent them from contracting the disease.

More Careful Study of Feeding Problem Needed

A litter of twelve pigs, six and six, on one sow is a heavy drain, so B. W. Fairbanks, live stock extension specialist, told a western slope farmer who showed him the pigs, which had been sired by a pure bred Duroc of excellent breeding. They should have been weaned late in June, but were still on the sow July 10. Starting them on grain before weaning was advised; a little corn, some shorts and plenty of buttermilk and pasture for exercise. Then after weaning feed a mixture of corn, 40 pounds, oats 30 pounds and middlings 30 pounds. This should be hand-fed until the pigs get up to 150 pounds. After that a self-feeder may be used.

Another litter of eight, from a pure bred sire, was looked over. Here the problem was of another sort. These pigs had evidently been weaned too early, at seven weeks. They should have been left with the cow at least another week. They were being fed middlings and skim milk and they weighed only half a ton, when they should have been well beyond that point in order to stand any show for a ten-litter contest prize. Here the trouble was underfeeding.

"The ten-litter contest emphasizes the need for more careful study of the feeding problem," says Mr. Fairbanks, Extension Service, Colorado Agricultural College.

Ventilation for Hogs

The average hog house has doors along the side and a cupola at the top which is supposed to take care of any necessary ventilation. Cold air coming in at the doors strikes the hogs direct and continues to pass over them in a current from door to ventilator. When the doors are shut there is no intake of fresh air, ammonia collects, and when the hogs go out on the feed floor they very easily take cold.

Hogs Avoid Flu

It is a striking fact that hogs following steers and that sheep in open sheds are seldom if ever affected by swine "flu." Inquiries come in asking why the disease does not spread to other herds which are just across the fence. In nine cases out of ten the herd not affected is being housed in open sheds with steers or else they are in properly ventilated houses which have plenty of bedding.

Housing Live Stock

Three classes of live stock which need to be housed with special care in the Northwest states are the young pigs, young calves and the milk cow. A good stock barn should be dry, reasonably warm with a uniform temperature, well lighted, well ventilated, and sanitary.

Importance of Boar

It is important to keep in mind the fact that the boar is just as important as the sow, for the brood sow can only farrow a certain number of pigs during a year, or life, while the boar will probably sire hundreds. Especially is this true in a large herd, and the condition in which the boar is kept, especially during the breeding season, will have a very important bearing on any breeder's success in the production of pork or breeding sales.

Mineral for Hogs

The Iowa station, as a result of several years of experimenting with mineral mixtures for hogs, suggests the following as good: Two parts common salt, four parts rock phosphate and four parts ground limestone. In addition to this, it may be advisable to add one part of sulphur, and to every one hundred pounds of the mixture one ounce of potassium iodide. Acid-phosphate or bone meal may be substituted for the rock phosphate.

WEAK, RUN DOWN AFTER SICKNESS

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Made Mrs. Dube Well and Strong

E. Hartford, Conn.—"After a severe sickness I was so weak that I could not do my housework, so my mother told me to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me so much that I took six more bottles and feel fine. I have just given birth to a nice baby girl and am feeling strong and well. So different from the way I felt before. I am taking the Vegetable Compound right along while nursing. The baby seems to be in good health, and my friends say they see a big change for the better in me."—Mrs. EUGENE DUBE, 69 Woodbridge Street, East Hartford, Connecticut.

The Vegetable Compound is a splendid medicine to bring back health and strength. Many mothers have found this true, as did Mrs. Dube. Ask some of your neighbors and friends, for there are women everywhere who know by experience the value of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women."

Valuable Cactus

What is said to be a desirable immigrant from southern Europe has arrived at the United States bureau of foreign seed and plant introduction from Nice, on the Mediterranean shore of France. It is a member of the cactus family, Cereus validus by name, and produces edible fruits of an excellent quality. The fruits are the size of a goose egg, in color magenta red, and entirely without spines or prickles. This plant is really a returning American emigrant, for all cacti were originally American, and were not known in Europe until after the voyage of Columbus.

A Nurse's Advice to Women!

Rogers, (West Walnut) Ark.—"I suffered for many years with trouble peculiar to women, and used Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription with wonderful results. And I can say that I have never found anything better for a expectant mother—I am a practical nurse. Anytime I can say anything in behalf of Dr. Pierce's remedies I will gladly do so."—Mrs. Willie Hartley, Route 5, Box 5.

Ring Oddly Restored

At Sullivan, Mo., C. C. Rose found a gold ring on the small end of a potato growing in his garden. The ring's story became known through its mailings. More than fifty years ago Mrs. J. A. Butler was visiting where Rose now lives. The ring was too large for her, and while helping to wash the dishes the ring came off. The dishwater was thrown out into the yard, and although a diligent search was made, the ring could not be found.

'Tis an old maxim in the schools
That flattery's the food of fools;
Yet now and then your men of wit
Will condescend to take a bit.

FOODS YOU WILL LIKE

Planked dishes sound complicated to one who has never prepared them.

However, given the plank, a two-inch-thick oak, hickory or maple plank, with a groove far enough from the edge to hold the juices of the meat, and the rest is simple. A plank that has been used, browned and baked well is much better as it ages. It is best to put a new one, after giving it a good scrubbing and rinsing, into the oven and give it a good, hard baking.

Hot Cross Buns.—Dissolve one cake of compressed yeast in one-half cupful of lukewarm water; add two cupfuls of scalded, cooled milk, three cupfuls of flour; set in a warm place, after beating well. When light, add one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt, two egg yolks, one-quarter of a cupful of melted butter, one cupful of currants or seedless raisins and enough flour to knead the mixture to a soft, light dough. When doubled in bulk turn upside down on a board lightly dredged with flour, roll in a sheet and cut into rounds. Set the rounds an inch apart in the baking tin. When doubled in bulk, bake a half-hour in a hot oven. When baked, brush over the surface of each with white of egg and return to the oven to dry and glaze. Remove to a wire cooler and decorate with confectioner's frosting, by piping a cross on each.

Terrapin of Lamb.—Cut into dice enough cold cooked lamb or veal to make two cupfuls. Rub together two tablespoonfuls each of butter and flour with one-half teaspoonful of salt, one teaspoonful of dry mustard and one-quarter teaspoonful of paprika. Add to one and one-half cupfuls of stock or milk and stir until boiling. Add one tablespoonful of catsup, two tablespoonfuls of currant jelly and two raw eggs; beat with a Dover egg beater until quite thick. Add the diced meat, two tablespoonfuls of lemon juice or flavored vinegar and turn into a hot dish. Serve on Boston brown bread, toasted and well-buttered.

A fine gravy is an important to serve with a turkey as the stuffing or any of the other accessories.

There is nothing holier in this life of ours than the first consciousness of love—the first fluttering of its million wings—the first rising sound and breath of that wind which is so soon to sweep through the soul, to purify or destroy.—Longfellow.

WHAT SHALL WE EAT?

This is the season of the year when no cool days stir the blood and quicken the appetite.

Potato Salad.—To six cupfuls of hot sliced potatoes, add two teaspoonfuls of salt, one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one small grated onion, one-half cupful of vinegar, two tablespoonfuls of chopped parsley and one cupful of heavy cream. Mix thoroughly, using two silver forks. Serve cold on a platter surrounded with slices of smoked ham.

Stuffed Celery Salad.—For a delicious dish this is a joy to the palate. Cream one tablespoonful of butter, add one cream cheese, a dash of paprika, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt and three stuffed olives chopped. Fill the hollow stalks of tender crisp celery. With a sharp knife cut across the stalks, making pieces about one-third inch wide. Add a little French dressing and on each individual portion place mayonnaise dressing dotted with walnut meats equally cut.

Canned Peach Pudding.—Put six halves of canned peaches through a colander, add one beaten egg, one-half teaspoonful of milk, the same of sugar, one and one-half cupfuls of flour sifted with three teaspoonfuls of baking powder and one-fourth of a teaspoonful of salt. Lightly stir in two tablespoonfuls of melted butter. The batter should be quite stiff. Pour one-half of the mixture into a greased pudding dish, place over it six halves of peaches hollow side up, fill the cavity with red jelly or jam, pour over the remainder of the batter and bake in a moderate oven for half an hour, or until done. Sift granulated sugar over the top and set under the gas flame to melt the sugar and brown.

Cider Jelly.—Soften one-half package of gelatin in one-half cupful of cold water, and dissolve by setting the dish in hot water; add three-fourths of a cupful of sugar, and when dissolved and cooled add three cupfuls of sweet cider; let stand twenty-four hours. Arrange in tablespoonfuls around a platter of cold boiled ham.

Roast Beef.—Select a piece cut from the back of the rump, wipe with a damp cloth and set skin side down in a roaster, rub with salt and flour and place in a hot oven to sear over the surface; reduce the heat after twenty minutes, and let cook one hour and a half. Serve with:

A score or more of tiny American citizens of Japanese ancestry were gathered in a street in the oriental section of Honolulu. Two of them were beating on tin cans, and the others were singing at the top of their voices.

"Pretty sight," remarked a tourist to a friend.

"Isn't it?" the friend replied. "So characteristically oriental. I wonder what song they are singing."

"Probably the Japanese anthem," said the first.

The children were singing "Bamoy Google."—Honolulu Star-Bulletin.

Swamp-Root a Fine Medicine

Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney or bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

You may suffer pain in the back, headache and loss of ambition.

Poor health makes you nervous, irritable and may be despondent; it makes any one so.

Put hundreds of women claim that Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, by restoring health to the kidneys, proved to be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

Many send for a sample bottle to see what Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by parcel post. You can purchase medium and large size bottles at all drug stores.—Advertisement.

Ostriches Carry Jockeys

Ostrich jockeys are the newest thrill for Europe. The large birds respond to racetrack training and race crowds are enjoying the ostrich race courses. Berlin inaugurated the novelty, introducing jockeys and trainers from Italy especially for this season's events.

Get After This One

The apple mouse, better known as the mouse, lives in most of the eastern states west to Kansas and Nebraska, and some years eats a heavy toll among apple and other fruit trees.

If our grandfathers had some strange prejudices, these are usually the first thing we inherit.

Jimmy Got the Idea

The younger children of the Sunday school heard a talk on "Conscience," among them seven-year-old Jimmy Phelps. Afterward his mother quizzed him to learn how well he had comprehended the talk. His answer showed an intelligent grasp of the subject for one so young. "Now, mother, it is just like this. When I do anything real bad my conscience tells me I had better keep out of your way for a while."

Refused "Cartwheel"

A woman had a small check cashed in a Rutland (Vt.) bank. In the money passed under the window to her was a "cartwheel." She balanced it in her hand a moment, looked somewhat in doubt, and then remarked: "I don't want that. I didn't even see one in a long time and I don't believe they are good any more."—Boston Globe.

Get rid of constipation by internal cleanliness

HEADACHES, biliousness, sleepless nights, heaviness, are Nature's warning that intestinal poisons are flooding your system. If this is allowed to continue, you may become a victim of serious organic disease.

Laxatives and cathartics do not overcome constipation, says a noted authority, but by their continued use tend only to aggravate the condition and often lead to permanent injury.

Why Physicians Favour Lubrication

Medical science has found at last in lubrication a means of overcoming constipation. The gentle lubricant, Nujol, penetrates and softens the hard food waste and thus hastens its passage through and out of the body. Thus, Nujol brings internal cleanliness.

Nujol is used in leading hospitals and is prescribed by physicians throughout the world. Nujol is not a medicine or laxative and cannot gripe. Like pure water, it is harmless.

Take Nujol regularly and adopt this habit of internal cleanliness. For sale by all druggists.
