Lovington Leader: Elmer Smith, son of Ben Smith of Lovington, while riding in their pasture Friddey, found a wolf den and upon examination finding it inhabited, hastened to the house and secured a crowbar and hoe and proceeded to break up the happy home by digging them out. His efforts were rewarded by success, for he succeeded in killing the mother and her eight baby coyotes. He was not only successful in killing them, but the bounty on wolf scalps being $2 each, he is the proud winner of $18 as well.

Many thousands of trees of the spruce and fir species have been set out on the fire-bared slopes of Santa Fe "Baldy" in the past few years by the forest service, using this point as a most practical area for reforestation and at the same time conducting on a large scale the experiments necessary to solve the problems of forest planting in the forest type at high altitudes in the southwest. The present season's planting on Baldy contemplates the setting out of 60,000 seedlings.—Albuquerque Journal.

Mrs. Jenny Irmenger Passes Away.

Mrs. Jenny Irmenger died here last Sunday morning, at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Lula A. Boone, after being confined to her bed a few weeks. Funeral services were conducted by Rev. T. V. Cox at the residence, after which burial took place in the Capitan cemetery, attended by a large number of friends and acquaintances.

Mrs. Irmenger's death was not due to disease but from the effects of old, a giving away of vital forces.

Mrs. Irmenger was born at Liberty, Missouri, 1835; in 1855, she was married to Rendolph Irmenger, and they moved to New Mexico in 1861. They lived in Fort Union a number of years, and came to Lincoln county in 1888, and engaged in ranching. Mr. Irmenger died several years ago, and Mrs. Irmenger continued the business until two or three years ago, in connection with her daughter, Mrs. Boone. She had two daughters, Mrs. Lula A. Boone and Allie Irmenger, who died at the age of seven years. Besides her daughter, Mrs. Boone, Mrs. Irmenger leaves three grand children; Reuben, Robert and Miss Jenny Boone.

Important Real Estate Deal.

A real estate transaction of more than usual importance was completed a few days ago, when B. J. Bonnell bought the Old Jap Coe place on the Rujdoso from Mr. J. L. Poole. This is one of the oldest places on the river and was famous over a quarter of a century ago for the quality of apples produced as Mr. Coe was one of the pioneers in the fruit industry in this region. Mr. Bonnell is to be congratulated on securing such a valuable property.

Mrs. John W. Norton is Dead

News was received here yesterday morning from El Paso that Mrs. John W. Norton had just died in a hospital there where she has been for some time under treatment. It is supposed that she will be buried in El Paso, as her mother, Mrs. P. G. Peters, is buried there. When the family return home and sufficient data can be obtained an extended notice of the deceased will be published in this paper.

Change of Mail Schedule.

[From the Roswell News.]

Carl McNally of the Roswell-Buick Company went to Carrizozo today to confer with the postal authorities there and at intermediate points regarding a proposed chang of schedule for the mail car running between Roswell to Carrizozo. It is proposed to change the hour of departure from Roswell from 8 o'clock in the morning to 7:30 a. m., which would make the hour of arrival in Carrizozo about 6 in the afternoon. The postmasters along the route seem to favor the change, as the hours of arrival along the route are rather early under the present schedule. This change, which will probably be made, not affect the passenger service, as the passenger car will leave Roswell as it now does, at 5 o'clock in the morning. It is thought, too, that the few passengers who go on the mail car are mostly bound for intermediate points, and the change in schedule would not inconvenience them in the least, as the passenger car makes connection in Carrizozo for El Paso and points west.

Roswell Stores Will Close.

In accordance with their usual custom, Roswell retail stores will be closed each Thursday afternoon during June, July and August. This will enable the clerks to give you better service during the other five and a half days of the week. Roswell appreciates your business. 5t2

The sisters, Mary and Linnie Sheley, who have been living with their uncle a Mr. Sheley, in Corpus Christi, Texas, since their mother died more than four years ago, arrived Thursday. They will make their home hereafter with their uncle Mr. John L. Bryan and family.
