Carrizozo News

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO.

Some of the great Atlantic liners employ 150 firemen.

Japan is steadily increasing her exportations of Jimikishas.

Everybody will rejoice to hear that the hens are laying only strictly fresh eggs this year.

Bulls created a scare lately in a street in Mexico. They do that regularly in a street in New York.

When a man says that he never objects to fair criticism he means usually that he doesn't protest against compliments.

We are glad to announce that in spite of the recent stringency the regular spring demand for fishhooks is as brisk as ever.

The famous automobile racers around the world seem to do pretty well when they are loaded into a railroad car or a steamship.

German leads the world in the production of beet sugar, British India in cane sugar and the United States in millionaire sugar refiners.

Judging by the thickness of the dust on the farmhouses so early in the season there appears to be no diminution this year in the popularity of the automobile.

At Mayville, Ky., high school students are striking because they do not like the new teacher. That unfortunate instructor should beware of juvenile night riders.

A large and very fine wildcat has been captured alive in eastern Ontario. This seems to put the quietus on the theory that all these animals are located around Cobalt.

Why not put the anarchists in a nice large field and give them plenty of bombs to play with? The field would be well plowed when they were through, not to mention such a thing as fertilized.

How is this for a verbatim copy of a personal in the Boston Transcript: "Italian duke, agreeable manners, desires continuous wireless correspondence with American lady of means. Object Maccaroni."

Announcement is made that the drought has so affected the Cuban sugar crop that the yield will show a marked falling off. As a result American refiners will be compelled to import large quantities of supplies from Europe, where the beet sugar industry flourishes. Is this not a hint to Americans? asks the Troy (N. Y.) Times. If the old world makes a conspicuous success of beet sugar production, why cannot our people do the same thing?

Plans are maturing for the erection of a statue of Alexander Hamilton in Washington. It is rather curious that the intellectual prodigy whom Mr. Bryce characterizes as "the greatest constructive statesman of the nation" should be represented at the capital by no monument, when so many lesser men appear in marble or enduring bronze. Perhaps, however, it will be hard to make a monument which would overtop his own great work, the "Federalist."

Are slovenliness and general lack of neatness in one's dress and person signs of irrationality and incompetence? If so, it behooves all testators to beware of their raiment and of their personal cleanliness. Future contestants of their last wills and testaments may be watching them and taking notes of their appearance and manner of comporting themselves. Besides, personal neatness in man or woman is an attraction, and it costs nothing but a little care.

ROUND THE CAPITAL

Information and Gossip Picked Up Here and There in Washington.

Attorney General Is a Stay-at-Home

WASHINGTON. — Attorney-General Charles J. Bonaparte is an American who never has passed out of the dominion of Uncle Sam and who has registered a vow never to do so. When Mr. Bonaparte accepted a position in President Roosevelt's cabinet he made known this limitation on his usefulness and took the place only on condition that his official duties should never oblige him to leave the United States. Just why the attorney general has determined never to visit an alien land no one can say positively, though it is easily surmised that he makes this protest against the way in which his maternal grandmother was treated by the great Corsican. During the lifetime of the elder brother, Col. Jerome Bonaparte, Charles Bonaparte frequently was invited to Paris by the head of the family, then in his prime, Napoleon III., but he always disdained to notice the invitation to join a family circle which frowned on American affiliations.

Mrs. Bonaparte has been a sufferer from a peculiar digestive trouble for many years, and she frequently has been ordered to the German spas for treatment. Mr. Bonaparte has urged her to go, but has refused to be persuaded into accompanying her. As she is a devoted wife of the old-fashioned type who would not appreciate a sojourn in Europe without her husband, Mrs. Bonaparte has been compelled to get what aid she could at American springs.

All the world knows how keenly disappointed the indomitable Elizabeth Patterson was when her only son decided to marry an American, Miss Williams of Baltimore, when she had chosen his princely cousin Charlotte Bonaparte for his consort. Rumor has it that Miss Williams, afterward mother of the present attorney-general of the United States, had reason to know of her august mother-in-law's sentiments regarding her. Charles Bonaparte emphasizes the fact that he at least of the American branch of the great Corsican's family is proud of being the only American, and he is so deep-dyed in his love of his native country that he will not leave her soil even for a brief visit.

Senator's Neck Broken 35 Years Ago

SENATOR MONEY of Mississippi has lived 35 years with a broken neck and did not know it until the other day. Not until he went to a physician for treatment for neuralgia, from which he suffered for years, did he learn of his real condition.

At the first battle of Franklin, in April, 1863, Mr. Money was a cavalryman in the confederate service. While riding through the streets he was struck by a bullet that circled around his ribs, doing no other injury. The shock was such that Mr. Money was thrown from his horse and struck on his head. Being helpless he was captured and taken within the federal lines. He did not ask for hospital treatment, was exchanged later, rejoined his troop and fought until the war closed.

Years passed and Mr. Money entered the senate. Neuralgia had taken a firm hold of him and his eyesight had grown so bad as to approximate blindness. He was advised to try osteopathy. He went to New York, accompanied by his son. Almost the doctor's first remark was:

"Why, senator, you have had your neck broken. I would say you were thrown from a horse and sustained the broken neck."

"That is just exactly what did happen," replied Senator Money, recalling the injury at Franklin.

"I can cure your neck," said the physician; "it will require but a moment's time."

The osteopath laid the senator on a table, took hold of the misplaced vertebra with both hands and put it into proper position.

The physician told Senator Money that he must take precautions until the weakened muscles regained their normal strength. He was cautioned not to turn his head in looking at anything, but to move his entire body. These instructions were observed and the neck apparently became as strong as it was 35 years before the operation.

LaFollette's Wife a Real Help to Him

It is quite the ordinary thing to say that the wife of a politician is his adviser. The politician likes to have it said, for there is a sort of sentiment which attaches to it which appeals to the people. The statement is not always true, but in the case of Senator and Mrs. LaFollette of Wisconsin it is, for Mrs. LaFollette is a keen judge of conditions.

The wife the senior senator from the Badger state met the man who became her husband at the University of Wisconsin. She was Miss Belle Case, and her intellectual attainments first attracted Mr. LaFollette. A story told of their student days is as follows:

"Mr. LaFollette's great gift was that of oratory. He tried for all the prizes in sight, and had the air of a man who thought he could win. Miss Case had some oratorical talents of her own, and began to cultivate them early and late. She won in the end, for the special prize for oratory at graduation came to her and not to the man who later became her husband."

It was not long, however, before the would-be winner of the prize won the winner, and they were married shortly after their graduation from the university in 1879.

Mrs. LaFollette is very domestic, and the social life at Washington has little or no attraction for her.

The General Demand

of the Well-Informed of the World has always been for a simple, pleasant and efficient liquid laxative remedy of known value; a laxative which physicians could sanction for family use because its component parts are known to them to be wholesome and truly beneficial in effect, acceptable to the system and gentle, yet prompt, in action.

In supplying that demand with its excellent combination of Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, the California Fig Syrup Co. proceeds along ethical lines and relies on the merits of the laxative for its remarkable success.

That is one of many reasons why Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is given the preference by the Well-Informed. To get its beneficial effects always buy the genuine—manufactured by the California Fig Syrup Co., only, and for sale by all leading druggists. Price fifty cents per bottle.

FASHIONS FOR THE FAIR

IN THE NEW GOWNS

ELABORATE TRIMMING A DISTINCTIVE FEATURE.

Soutache and Heavy Cotton Braid Much Used—Tassels and Laces Also Are Combinations Popular with the Fashionable.

"If the new summer gowns have a conspicuous note at all this year, it is in their trimmings, which seem to stand out in bold relief," says Grace Margaret Gould, in Woman's Home Companion. "Much soutache in all widths and heavy cotton braid are used, in white and dyed to match the fabric. In the skirt-and-coat suits the outline of the coat is shown by the line of braiding, and other braid or buttons not infrequently trim the back.

"Tassels are very much used wherever a place for them can be found. The heavy and the fine laces are fashionable in combination for trimming both gowns and separate blouses.

"Very narrow satin platings are much used as a trimming for silk voile and net gowns. They are often introduced in some brilliant shade, such as empire green, on a gown of neutral tint. Platings of this style frequently simulate a bib effect on the bodice and outline a tunic effect in the skirt.

"Buttons are used not only where they are needed, but where they are not needed on the new gowns. For the tailored suits there are the fabric-covered buttons and the braid buttons.

"The white and colored cotton crochet button is extremely high style, and for lingerie waists there are the new pearl buttons."

BLOUSE FOR YOUNG GIRL.

Here is quite a simple little blouse of nuns veiling, smartened up by braces of chine ribbon; these are edged each side with narrow lace, and have revers turning over from bust to waist, which are also edged with lace. The sleeve bands are finished with three lace frills.

Materials required: 1½ yard veiling 40 inches wide, 2¼ yards ribbon, about 1 dozen yards lace.

Our Daily Due.

No day can come or go without enriching us to the full extent to which we have developed our capacity to receive.—Charles E. Newcomb.

PINAFORE MODEL FROM PARIS.

Ideal Costume Adapted to the Needs of School-Girl.

It is small wonder that we cleave with unusual pertinacity to the two most convenient modes that we were ever favored to enjoy—viz: the kimono and pinafore styles of bodice.

For school-girls especially the latter is so perfectly practical from every aspect, that it will be a sorry day when it departs from us.

A very fascinating evolution of the pinafore idea is set forth in our sketch, which had its inspiration in a Paris model, and even in its simplified form as here shown, retains a chic that should charm.

TO BE WORN ON STREET.

Pongees and Rajahs Are to Be Favorites of Season.

Forenoon costumes permit far greater varieties of style, as well as scope, in making. Short skirts remain a settled fact in both transparent voiles or wool fabrics, as well as in washable materials, which more often are sent to the cleaners instead of the tub. Except for July and August days of scorching heat, cottons and linens will have to give way to pongees and rajahs, which are more to the fore than ever, both in robe styles and in the plain unfigured variety. The former are made up with short border skirts and furnished with all-over waists, either of lace or lingerie, with coat to match in the unfigured pongees or rajah. The coats have a narrow V-opening in front, and below three covered buttons follow for fastening, while from the third button the coat fronts are slanted off abruptly. A narrow turned-over collar of the robe patterned silk finishes the neck. It is seen also as inset for the narrow flat cuffs to the long sleeves, and a touch of the same defines the flaps of the side pockets, on the fronts, half way down the jacket skirt. The figure lines of this short coat depend upon the seams, which start from the shoulders, back and front. This same model answers for linens and twills.—Vogue.

MARK TWAIN ON MONEY.

Humorist Points Out What He Considers Some Wrong Conceptions.

Mark Twain said that the financial panic has caused a wrong idea of the use and value of money.

"The spendthrift says that money, being round, was made to roll. The miser says that, being flat, it was made to stack up. Both are wrong.

"Strangely wrong, too, in their ideas about money are the veteran Australian gold diggers. These simple old fellows, though worth perhaps a half million or more, live in the simple dug-outs and shanties of their lean early days.

"Once, lecturing, I landed at an Australian port. There was no porter in sight to carry my luggage. Seeing a rough-looking old fellow leaning against a post with his hands in his pockets, I beckoned to him and said: "See here, if you carry these bags up to the hotel I'll give you half a crown."

"The man scowled at me. He took three or four gold sovereigns from his pocket, threw them into the sea, scowled at me again, and walked away without a word."

HER PROTECTOR.

"Here, nurse! Who's that young chap that's always following you around? I he a beau of yours?"

"Oh, no, sir. Dat's Jimmie Hawkshaw, de detective. I hires him to protect me from kidnapers an' things!"

And the Moon Man Laughed.

They were jogging along the old road and cupid was so busy that the young man dropped the lines either side of the runaway. It was then that the wise old nag turned lastly around.

"What are you looking at?" queried the owl by the roadside.

"I am reading between the lines," laughed the old nag as she gave a horse laugh and showed her long, yellow teeth.

FIT THE GROCER

Wife Made the Suggestion.

A grocer has excellent opportunity to know the effects of special foods on his customers. A Cleveland grocer has a long list of customers that have been helped in health by leaving off coffee and using Postum Food Coffee.

He says, regarding his own experience: "Two years ago I had been drinking coffee, and must say that I was almost wrecked in my nerves.

"Particularly in the morning I was so irritable and upset that I could hardly wait until the coffee was served, and then I had no appetite for breakfast, and did not feel like attending to my store duties.

"One day my wife suggested that inasmuch as I was selling so much Postum there must be some merit in it and suggested that we try it. I took home a package and she prepared it according to directions. The result was a very happy one. My nervousness gradually disappeared, and today I am all right. I would advise everyone afflicted in any way with nervousness or stomach troubles, to leave off coffee and use Postum Food Coffee." "There's a Reason." Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

No man ever reaped any more happiness than he was willing to sow.

"Our Barbarous Fourth."

Mrs. Isaac L. Rice, founder and president of the New York Society for the Suppression of Unnecessary Noise, declares—basing her claim on reliable, if grim, figures—that our Fourth's statistics "probably furnish a sadder commentary on human folly than that afforded by any other celebration in the world." The June Century will publish her condemnation of "Our Barbarous Fourth," with her suggestions for a saner and safer observance of the national holiday. Dr. R. O. Beard, of the University of Minnesota, will have an article in the same number on the pathological aspects of "Noise" and an editorial article will treat of "Offenses to Ear and Eye."

A Feat of Memory.

Mrs. De Brecoz (of Chicago)—"Now, that I am divorced again, I don't know whether to resume the name of my last husband, or the one before the last, or the one before him, or the one—"

Friend—"Why not resume your maiden name?"

Mrs. De Brecoz—"That's a good idea. I believe I will, if I can remember it."

For Delegate to Congress.

O. A. LARRAZOLO.

LARRAZOLO TO-NIGHT.

Hon. O. A. Larrazolo arrived on the delayed No. 2 last night, and was met at the depot by a committee of the local democratic organization and escorted to the hotel, where an informal reception was held. Mr. Larrazolo, notwithstanding his strenuous day's work in Otero county, where he delivered no less than four speeches during the day, was as bright as a dollar and announced his readiness to abide the committee's decision as to his itinerary for Lincoln county. So a trip was arranged for White Oaks today, to which point he was accompanied by a number of prominent democrats, and where he was given a royal welcome. He and his associates will return this afternoon. At 8:30 tonight he will address the people of this town and community at Wetmore's Hall; and he is assured a good audience; because the people are attuned to hear something entertaining; and those who have heard Mr. Larrazolo speak know that the crowd will not be disappointed in his delivery, even though some do not agree with his politics. Mr. Larrazolo will go to Capitan tomorrow, via Nogal. The next day he will go to Lincoln and later proceed down the valley to Roswell, by leisurely stages, talking democracy as he goes, and convincing the people of the justness of his cause.

Delegate to Congress Andrews arrived in Carrizozo yesterday on the 1:30 train, and was met and taken in tow by the committee selected for that purpose. A mass meeting was held in the evening. A large audience, anxious to see and hear the man with the reputation of "doing things," greeted the delegate. Mr. Andrews was introduced by chairman Rudisille. He spoke for about five minutes, and was followed by several local speakers. Those who went to hear Delegate Andrews came away disappointed. They expected to hear him discuss the great political questions of the day; tell what the republican party had done during the past eight years for the territory of New Mexico; what his party intended doing for our people, etc., but he failed to touch these subjects. His remarks might be summed up thus: "Send me to Washington again. I can do more there than anyone else." Mr. Andrews did not impress those who heard him as one who could either "say things or do things," add if it were not for the assistance he received from local speakers, the meeting would have been a cold affair. The delegate we believe injured his chance of re-nomination by his visit.

Now, therefore, the said commissioners or road viewers having posted notices of the time and place of their meeting at ten o'clock a. m. of May 4, 1903, and having then and there met at said time and the place designated by the county commissioners, and having examined each and every one of said proposed roads, do now make this their report, as follows:

We recommend that a road from the southwest end of El Paso avenue in the original townsite of Carrizozo to Main street in McDonald addition to said town be opened and damages be assessed at nothing.

WRECK AT TECOLOTE.

The Limited going east and a local freight coming west collided last Sunday night, about 500 yards beyond Tecolote switch, at about 7:34, and derailed six coal and water cars. The freight was running on the Limited's time, and was coming around a curve and could not see the Limited. The engineer on the Limited, however, saw the danger, reversed his engine and was beginning to retreat when the crash came.

E. C. Patterson, E. W. Bell and B. M. Russell were respectively conductor, engineer and fireman on the freight, while Colonel Lewis, J. E. Handibo and G. E. Rice occupied similar positions on the Limited. An investigation by Superintendent Morris and Master Mechanic Gordon placed the blame for the wreck on Conductor Patterson and Engineer Bell of the freight, and they were let out of the service.

No one was hurt in the wreck, fortunately, save a few scratches, and Engineer Handibo had an ankle slightly sprained in jumping from his engine. Both firemen also leaped from their cabs, but Engineer Bell maintained his hold on the throttle.

Carrizozo and Tucumcari were wired for help, and Foreman Kimbell got his crew there and had the track almost clear before the arrival of the wrecking crew from Tucumcari. By 8 o'clock next morning a new engine was attached to the Limited to take the place of the battered one, and the train pulled on east, No. 2, which had been halted at the wreck, closely following till Duran was reached, at which point the two passengers were united and from there went into Tucumcari as No. 2.

Engine No. 136 came up from El Paso to take the place of 143, which got smashed at Tecolote.

Engine 212 was brought down from Tucumcari to relieve 224, the latter being the ill-fated companion of 143 in Sunday night's wreck.

The shops have just turned out engine 226, after a ten-days overhauling. Some heavy work was done on this monster before it was ready for commission.

THE ENTERTAINMENT.

Want of space, owing to a rush of advertising matter, prevents us referring at length, as intended, to the high-class entertainment given at the Bank building on Wednesday evening by the young people of the Methodist church. Suffice to say that the programme, which was varied enough to suit the tastes of all, was nicely arranged and well carried out. The vocalists were in fine voice and rendered their parts faultlessly. About ten numbers were discussed, some of course more pleasingly than others, but all good. The audience was select and of the appreciative kind as evidenced by the repeated encores, although not as large as usual or as the character of the entertainment warranted. This, however, may be accounted for by the fact that there were other attractions in town that evening. We hope to see many more similar entertainments by the young people.

Judge H. C. McDougal and daughter, Florence, arrived Sunday from Kansas City, and will spend two weeks with friends at White Oaks. The Judge is interested in mining property in this county, often spends a part of the summer in our mountains and has a wide circle of friends who welcome his coming.

Fred, Ed and Albert Pfingsten and Mrs. Emma Peters and Miss Agnes Pfingsten, from the Mesa and Capitan, were in Carrizozo Saturday and Sunday, attending the bedside of their sister, Mrs. Mack McKinney, who was very low at that time. Mrs. McKinney, however, is much improved, and is on the high road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Jones Taliaferro were down from White Oaks Wednesday to meet Edna and Merle Koch, who came in on No. 3 that day. The Koch family formerly lived in White Oaks but have resided the past three years in Tucumcari. The children will wander back occasionally to see their friends and get a breath of pure mountain air.

Richard J. Murphy died at his home in the Jicarillas on the 21st day of this month, from heart failure. He was born in the county Mayo, Ireland, came to this country when a boy, served in the United States navy from 1862 to the close of the war: was with Admiral Farragut's squadron. After leaving the navy, he came west, and finally settled in Jicarilla 16 years ago. He was regarded as an honest, upright man. He was in his 62nd year.

Attorney A. H. Hudspeth came down from White Oaks Sunday evening and took passage on No. 2 for Santa Fe. He went to file a protest with the territorial engineer against the issuance of a permit to J. L. Lawson and others, of Alamogordo, who have made application to divert a portion of the waters of the Ruidoso and Carrizo and Cedar creeks for power purposes. Mr. Hudspeth's client is Jas. E. Cree, who owns much valuable land along that stream. Other land owners and water users below the proposed dam site have also filed a protest with the engineer.

SOME GOOD DISHES

METHODS OF COOKING AND SERVING MEATS.

Colorado Roast Venison Something New to the Average Housewife
—Veal Birds an Appetizing Addition to Menu.

Lamb Scallops.—One cup cold lamb, one cup stewed tomatoes, one cup bread crumbs. Arrange in layers in a buttered dish, having crumbs on top with bits of butter; put salt, pepper, and bits of butter between the layers; bake.

Beef Loaf.—Chop or grind together two pounds of the round of beef and one-half pound bacon, crumb one-half loaf of bread, and beat two eggs. Mix the meat, bread and eggs together and season with one teaspoon salt, one-half teaspoon pepper, teaspoon poultry dressing. Pack firmly in a baking dish and bake 1½ hours.

Colorado Roast Venison.—Cover the venison roast on all sides with white paper; secure firmly with cord. Then make a thick batter of flour and water; spreading same all over the paper; dredge with flour; bake 25 minutes to a pound; take from the oven and crack off the batter, which has formed a crust.

Remove the cord and paper, salt and pepper to taste, lay strips of fat pork cut thin on top, and dredge meat with flour.

Place in oven until well browned; make brown gravy and serve with currant jelly. Many who dislike game enjoy it if prepared thus, the cooking of the game in this way extracting the strong taste sometimes objectionable.

Veal Birds.—Use slices of veal from the loin cut thin. Remove the bone, skin and fat and pound till one-quarter of an inch thick. Trim with pieces 2½ by four inches. Chop the trimming fine, with one square inch of fat salt pork for each bird.

Add half as much fine cracker crumbs as you have meat. Season highly with salt, pepper, lemon, cayenne and onion. Moisten with one egg and a little hot water as for veal loaf.

Spread the mixture on each slice nearly to the edge, roll up tightly, and tie or fasten with skewers. Dredge with salt, pepper and flour.

Fry them slowly in hot butter till a golden brown, but not dark or burned. Then half cover with cream and simmer 15 or 20 minutes. Remove the strings and serve on toast. Pour the cream over them. Garnish with points of toast and lemon.

Florantine Loaf.

The Housekeeper considers a Florantine loaf a dessert worth trying. Take one pint of orange juice, the juice of one lemon and add to this one pint of sugar; stir until the sugar dissolves, then boil for ten minutes and turn into a quart brick mold and cool. Season one pint double cream with one teaspoonful of grated orange and lemon peel mixed, add half a cupful of pulverized sugar. Whip until thick and then pour into the brick mold; cover with buttered paper, butter side up, and large enough to come over the edge when the cover is placed on. Tie down securely and bury in crushed ice and salt for three hours; when ready to cut into slices, wipe off the mold, remove paper, run a warm cloth over the sides and bottom, invert the mold onto the dish.

Beef Mirouton.

One can of tomatoes, piece of butter the size of an egg in stew pan, one sliced onion, about six cloves, and the same amount of whole peppers, three laurel leaves, a little thyme, pepper and salt to suit; boil slowly from three to four hours. Take a piece of cold beef, sliced in thin slices, add them to the tomatoes, then have some browned flour, and let all simmer for about 20 minutes. Serve in hot dish with chopped parsley on top.

FOUND THE CAUSE,

After Six Years of Misery and Wrong Treatment.

John A. Enders, of Robertson Avenue, Pen Argyl, Pa., suffered for six years with stinging pain in the back, violent headaches and dizzy spells, and was assured by a specialist that his kidneys were all right, though the secretions showed a reddish, brick-dust sediment. Not satisfied, Mr. Enders started using Doan's Kidney Pills. "The kidneys began to act more regularly," he says, "and in a short time I passed a few gravel stones. I felt better right away and since then have had no kidney trouble."

Mrs. Newrich's Visiting Card Left Friend in the Shade.

Mr. Newrich, the dust contractor, having made a fortune, part of which he had invested in house property in the east of London, wished to rise, like a Phoenix, from his ashes into some sort of society. His golden key, applied to the coffers of an impecunious aristocrat, opened the way.

His new friend, among other things, advised him that visiting cards were a necessity, and, as a guide to drawing one up ready for the printer, handed him one of his own, which read, "Harold De Vere, Iona House, Portsmouth Square, W."

Two days later, as De Vere was sitting in his dressing room at breakfast, a servant brought in on a salver a visiting card bearing the following: "Ephraim Newrich, I Own 23 Houses, London, E."

SEVERE HEMORRHOIDS

Sores, and Itching Eczema—Doctor Thought an Operation Necessary —Cuticura's Efficacy Proven.

"I am now 80 years old, and three years ago I was taken with an attack of piles (hemorrhoids), bleeding and protruding. The doctor said the only help for me was to go to a hospital and be operated on. I tried several remedies for months but did not get much help. During this time sores appeared which changed to a terrible itching eczema. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Pills, injecting a quantity of Cuticura Ointment with a Cuticura Suppository Syringe. It took a month of this treatment to get me in a fairly healthy state and then I treated myself once a day for three months and, after that, once or twice a week. The treatments I tried took a lot of money, and it is fortunate that I used Cuticura. J. H. Henderson, Hopkinton, N. Y., Apr. 26, 1907."

The Way It's Said.

"These are the bridal rooms," announced the bellboy to the blushing young couple.

"O, what a sweet suite!" exclaimed the bride.

"I don't know anything about that," said the bellboy, "but the head clerk says he hopes the suit suits."

With a smooth iron and Defiance Starch, you can launder your shirt-waist just as well at home as the steam laundry can; it will have the proper stiffness and finish, there will be less wear and tear of the goods, and it will be a positive pleasure to use a Starch that does not stick to the iron.

If an Advertisement Convinces You, Stay Convinced

When you read in this newspaper the advertisement of a manufacturer who has paid for the space used to convince you that it is to your interest to buy his goods, and you go to a dealer where such articles are usually handled for sale, do not let the dealer or any one of his clerks sell you something else which he claims is "just as good." If an advertisement convinced you, it was because of the element of truth which it contained.

HOUSE WORK

Thousands of American women in our homes are daily sacrificing their lives to duty.

In order to keep the home neat and pretty, the children well dressed and tidy, women overdo. A female weakness or displacement is often brought on and they suffer in silence, drifting along from bad to worse, knowing well that they ought to have help to overcome the pains and aches which daily make life a burden.

It is to these faithful women that comes as a boon and a blessing, as it did to Mrs. F. Ellsworth, of Mayville, N. Y., and to Mrs. W. P. Boyd, of Beaver Falls, Pa., who say:

"I was not able to do my own work, owing to the female trouble from which I suffered. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound helped me wonderfully, and I am so well that I can do as big a day's work as I ever did. I wish every sick woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

ELEPHANT HUNTING WITH

A SPADE

REMARKABLE WORK OF AMERICAN PROFESSORS IN AFRICA.

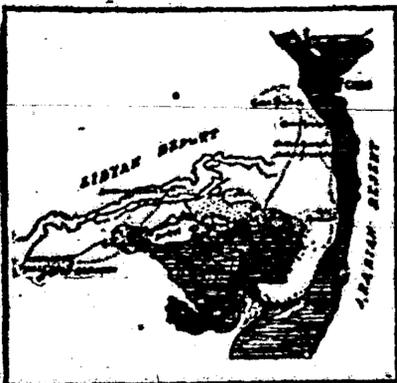

EXCAVATORS BENDING OVER THE JAW OF ONE OF THE ANCESTRAL ELEPHANTS

PROFESSOR OSBORN AND MR. FERRAR IN THE ZEUGLONDON VALLEY.

Ever since the discovery of remains of prehistoric animals in the Fayum desert in 1901 made North Africa the storm center of paleontology, men of science have been seeking to exhaust the secrets of that region, and to solve the problems of origin which the Fayum fossils suggested. By 1905 Mr. Beadnell, accompanied by Dr. Andrews of the British museum, had proved that Africa, far from being a continent parasitic upon Europe, was a partly dependent, but chiefly independent, center of a highly varied life, "a great breeding place, not only of animals which subsequently wandered into Europe, but of animals belonging to types hitherto unknown." Before the work of Dr. Andrews had been even begun, Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn of the American Museum of Natural History had prophesied that the original home of the elephants and of several other great groups would be found to be in Africa. These animals, he believed, in spite of the contrary opinion of science, had invaded Europe, Asia and North America from Africa.

The American museum authorities, so rich in the remains of the great monsters of their own country, could not fail to be interested in the Fayum discoveries, and Prof. Osborn longed to fit out an expedition to discover, if possible, and bring back to the New York treasure-house the African ancestors of the vast creatures which once inhabited the American continent. In due time the plan became an accomplished fact; the Egyptian government, in the person of Lord Cromer, gave the American explorers every help in its power, and Prof. Osborn and his assistants went to work. As their caravan crossed the desert, it amused Mr. Osborn to think that he was going with camels, the gift of the western American plains, to bring back the remains of elephants, which were the gift of Africa to all the other continents.

At first, the results of the American Museum's search were disappointing, but after ten days the explorers were rewarded with the jaws and teeth of the ancestral elephant which the expedition chiefly desired, and a fortnight later they found a complete skull of the Palaeomastodon, belonging to the second stage of the evolution of the elephant. A week later, the skull of a Moeritherium (the beast of Lake Moeris) came to light, and Mr. Osborn knew that he had found the representative of the first distinctive stage in the evolution of the elephant.

Twenty-seven species of land animals were discovered by the Egyptian survey, and now several new animals were discovered by the American expedition. These include the giant Arsinotheres, the smaller and larger ancestral elephants, the large and small rock-cones, and certain pig-like animals. With two exceptions, all these animals were short-footed and slow-moving, and they had a pair of front teeth as large as tusks, probably for defense against the actively running carnivora of the period. The Arsinotheres were one exception, and defended themselves by sharply pointed horns. Two million years ago the Mediterranean bordered on Eocene Libya, and was inhabited by whales known as the Zeuglodon, remains of which have been found in every part of the Fayum region. These creatures were extraordinarily long and snake-like, and were far more slender in body than any existing whale. Among other discoveries made in Eocene Libya are remains which go to prove that the Sirenia, or sea-cows, represent an aquatic off-shoot from the very stock which gave rise to the elephant. This kinship was surmised by de Blainville long before Darwin, and it has now been confirmed by the extraordinary resemblance between the most ancient sea-cow, the Eotherium, and the most ancient of the elephants, the Moeritherium.

The scene of the researches, El Fayum, a name derived from the ancient Egyptian word "Phiom," meaning "the lake," lies 50 miles southwest of Cairo, and is the fertile alluvial bottom of a great natural depression, or basin, enriched by the Nile sediments, which have poured for ages into a large natural lake of late geological times, and subsequently into the more contracted Lake Moeris of the Ptolemies.

The brackish lake named Birketel-Qurun which bounds the Fayum to the north-west is the vestigial remnant of these two great sheets of fresh water. It lies 130 feet below sea-level, and receives such a meager overflow from the vast irrigation system of the Fayum plains that it is constantly diminishing in extent and increasing in salinity.

The rich historical associations of the northerly shores of these ancient and modern reservoirs begin with the Palaeolithic flint-makers. They include the irrigation works of Amenemhat I., 2200 B. C.; they cover the rise and fall of populous Greek and Roman cities, now represented by the ruins known as Dime and Mushim. But far, far back of this period of man, the discoveries of the survey on the northerly shores of these same lakes reveal the presence of a world of life so ancient that the pyramids seem as of yesterday.

INCREASED TRAVEL BY WATER.

Lake Vessels Carry Millions During the Summer Months.

It is often said that the palmy days of travel by river are over; but this remark applies only temporarily to certain streams that do not at this time afford the necessary conditions. Taking the world as a whole, there is more journeying by water than ever before. The figures for last year's passenger traffic on the lakes show that 7,500,000 passengers were carried out of Detroit by boat, 1,900,000 from Chicago, 530,000 from Milwaukee, over 400,000 each from Port Huron, Grand Haven and Marquette, with smaller ports getting a proportionate share. One feature to be noted is the exceptional safety of lake travel. Not a life was lost among the 7,500,000 persons who left Detroit by boat, and passenger casualties were few anywhere on the lakes. The vessels have increased in size until they are almost in the class of ocean liners. They offer roomy berths, cabins and promenade decks, with good fare on various plans, and the public comfort and enjoyment are carefully studied. Between some of the chief lake cities excursion steamers of the largest size run daily during the heated period as a means of refreshment to the crowded population, keeping in motion on the water as long a time as possible.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

A Color Scheme.

"I would like to know."
"What?"
"If a paper devoted to the chrome works industry could properly be classed as yellow journalism."—Baltimore American.

Too Strong.

"The traveler in Ireland will do well," recently remarked an attaché to our embassy at London, "when he engages a jaunting car to make sure of the step to which, in mounting, he must trust his weight. The carman does not help him to mount.

"I am afraid that step is loose," an American once said to the driver he had engaged.

"The man took hold of the step and shook it. 'Ah! sure,' said he, 'it's too strong, it is. What are ye afraid of?'"

"As he was talking, the thing came off in his hand.

"This mishap did not, however, embarrass the Irishman, for, with the sunniest of smiles, he turned to his fare saying:

"'Shure, now, I've saved yer honor from a broken leg!'"—Harper's Weekly.

Starch, like everything else, is being constantly improved—the patent Starches put on the market 25 years ago are very different and inferior to those of the present day. In the latest discovery—Defiance Starch—all injurious chemicals are omitted, while the addition of another ingredient, invented by us, gives to the Starch a strength and smoothness never approached by other brands.

In the Free Vaccination Ward.

A Lithuanian woman was getting her fifth baby vaccinated the other day.

"I am glad," said the young surgeon, "that you recognize the importance of vaccination."

"Oh, yes," she said, "I often wonder," she added positively, "what it's done for, though. It's to show you're a free citizen, the same as naturalization papers, ain't it?"

The extraordinary popularity of fine white goods this summer makes the choice of Starch a matter of great importance. Defiance Starch, being free from all injurious chemicals, is the only one which is safe to use on fine fabrics. Its great strength as a stiffener makes half the usual quantity of Starch necessary, with the result of perfect finish, equal to that when the goods were new.

Forgiveness.

"The state!" sneered the convicted anarchist. "What do I care for the state?"

"The state," replied the court, "is not inclined to repay your harshness in kind. It will care for you for a year."—Philadelphia Ledger.
