WESTERN

Chief Eagle Horse, titular head of the Thilget tribe of Indians of southeastern Alaska, arrived in San Francisco a few days ago, accompanied by his bride whom he went to Paris to wed.

A. H. Woods, New York theatrical producer, announced that he has signed a five-year stage contract with Mabel Normand, former motion picture actress. On the stage the erstwhile film comedienne will continue in comedy roles.

When arrested in San Francisco, Mears Hanson, confessed to the police that he had tied up hand and foot, between fifty and 100 girls and women in this city seeking employment from him in answer to advertisements for stenographers, typists and apartment house managers.

Exploration of the great Salt Lake desert in Utah, one of the largest areas of public land in the United States remaining unsurveyed, will be undertaken in the near future by two bureaus of the Interior Department, it was announced at Washington, D. C. last week. Two official surveys are planned, covering many square miles. The geological survey plans to make extensive explorations and to investigate the saline deposits of the entire desert.

Forest rangers and their assistants will be aided by radio in checking the destruction of timber in the six states composing this district, Allen S. Peck, district forester, in charge of the federal forests in Colorado, Wyoming, South Dakota, Nebraska, Michigan and Minnesota, announced Monday. Station KOA of the General Electric Company, Denver, has offered to give forest fire warnings precedence over all other messages for the six during the summer months.

WASHINGTON

Co-operation of state and local political authorities as well as National Guard units is vital to the success of national security plans, Acting Secretary Dwight F. Davis informed the governors of all states in letters supplementing his recent telegraphic request for their support in connection with the defense test muster on July 4.

Arson rings, headed by "unscrupulous politicians and business men," are operating in practically every city in the country and are causing an indirect loss to business generally of $160,000,000. T. Alfred Fleming, supervisor of conservation of the National Board of Fire Underwriters, told the convention of the National Association of Creditmen in Washington.

President Coolidge is willing to call a conference of nations in an effort to outlaw gas as a weapon of war if the Geneva arms traffic conference fails to agree on the subject, but overnight dispatches indicated that the Washington gathering would be unnecessary. After hearing eloquent addresses by Representative Theodore E. Burton, head of the American delegation, and Paul Boncour of France, the Geneva conference voted to frame a special protocol banning asphyxiating gas in war. The protocol would be submitted to all nations for signature.

Secretary Wilbur has no intention of sending either of the dirigibles Los Angeles or Shenandoah in search of the missing Amundsen polar expedition. In announcing refusal of a request by the Norwegian Aero Club that one of the airships be sent to the rescue, the secretary declared "we are not going to send any wild goose chase to the polar regions."

The decision of the Canadian government to send mounted police into the Arctic to establish patrols over islands north of the main land, was received with interest in Washington, although officials declined to comment upon press dispatches telling of the plan. Indications have come from Ottawa for some time that Canada might take active steps to support claims she has made to islands in the Arctic, and it is thought likely that the intention of the MacMillan expedition this summer to raise the American flag over any islands discovered in previously unexplored regions of the polar seas, may have been a factor in Ottawa government's decision to move by physical possession toward consolidating her claims in that region.

The imperial divan at Los Angeles voted to hold the 1926 conclave of the Ancient Arabic Order, Nobles of the Mystic Shrine, at Philadelphia. The dates are June 1, 2 and 3. James C. Burger of Denver, Colo., advanced to the seat of the imperial potentate, succeeding James E. Chandler of Kansas City, Mo.

The forty-eight states of the Union paid out $1,319,232,753 for general operating expenses in 1923, a per capita expenditure of $11.95 and received in revenues $1,247,304,821 or $11.33 per capita.

FOREIGN

Yunnanese troops, engaged in civil war with the Cantonese troops, fired on four Americans, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Frampton and Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery Ogden, while the party was endeavoring to cross by launch from Honan island to Canton. The launch flew the American flag.

As soon as the government troops landed on the island of Samos the insurgents evacuated the capital, Vathy, and withdrew to the neighboring heights, where they hoisted British, French and Italian flags. Later they scattered towards the interior. The population is calm and there have been no casualties.

Colonel Theodore and Kermit Roosevelt, heading the James Simpson-Field museum of Chicago expedition to central Asia, have arrived safely at Leh, in the valley of the Indus, dispatches received announced. They are proceeding to Kashgar, eastern Turkestan. All messages of the party are well, the message said.

Anti-foreign sentiment, threatening American lives, has been increased by the killing of native demonstrators by foreign police at Shanghai, according to official reports. The administration will be much relieved when Minister John Van A. MacMurray, who is leaving Washington for Peking, arrives at his post. It is believed press reports of Russian influence are much exaggerated.

In a statement in Dublin to American newspaper correspondents, the Irish Free State minister of commerce, Patrick MacGillican declared that outrageous accounts of alleged famine conditions in Ireland had reached America. He said a renewal of the story of famine in Ireland was affecting tourist traffic from the United States and that there was no truth in the famine reports.

The British government has given official acknowledgement to the Franco-British agreement on the reply to Germany's security pact proposal. The British government issued a statement emphasizing that the proposed pact is one of mutual assistance between Belgium, France, Britain and Germany. The statement said that Great Britain has guaranteed to protect both sides of the Rhine and therefore to assist either Germany or France against aggression of the other.

Controversies between four newspaper publishers have been settled. Santiago Claret of El Sol of Havana, and Florencio Velis of El Correspondencia, of Cienfuegos were both injured while examining sabres. Gustavo Gonzales Beauville of El Heraldo De Cuba, was slightly injured when he and Jose M. Musnareta of El Imparcial inspected sabres. Dueling is against the law in Cuba. After particularly bitter editorial fights or personal controversies the laconic announcement appears in newspapers that "the differences" between the principals have been settled. It is usually accompanied by a statement that one or both have been injured "examining" weapons.

GENERAL

Fruit and vegetable growers in southern Illinois have suffered nearly a 50 per cent loss in their vegetable crops from the heat wave, the Illinois Agricultural Association was informed.

Zev, famous race horse, two years ago winner of the Kentucky derby and international race against Papyrus, is to return to the turf according to an announcement by Sam Hildreth of the Rancocas stable.

Eighty per cent of all thieves are drug addicts, according to H. B. Westover, federal narcotic agent. "The ravages of drugs leave the addict in such a mental and physical condition as to render them totally unable to support themselves," Westover said. "In this condition, the addict is forced to steal for his living, that he may have enough money to buy dope. It takes from $10 to $20 a day to support the habit."

F. C. Edgecomb, blind editor of the Geneva, Neb., Signal, was elected president of the National Editorial Association at the closing session of the fortieth annual convention, held in Richmond, Va.

Figures given out at the eighteenth annual convention of the National Association of Building Owners and Managers, held in Cleveland, O., show more than one-tenth of America rides in elevators of office buildings each day. It was estimated that 14,000,000 elevator passengers are carried each day in the principal cities of America.

The Communist party of America, controlled by the soviet Russia, is working toward violent overthrow of the United States government, Melvin M. Johnson, Boston lawyer, declared in an address before the New Jersey Bar Association. Johnson said there is "indisputable documentary evidence" that the Communists were striving to establish in America an autocracy "more absolute, inflexible and cruel than any other government known to civilized man." He presented data supporting his charges which he said was gathered from the secret records of the Communists.

Seventeen perished in a gas explosion at the West Kentucky Coal Co. mine in Sturgis, Ky. Evidence found by rescue crews indicated the explosion resulted when miners, while drilling, tapped a pocket of gas, which ignited from one of the open flames of a miner's cap.

Seven white men and five negroes, employees of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad, were killed at Converse, Ind., when two coal cars were overturned on a party of utility maintenance of way workers. Five others were seriously hurt.

The flotation mill of the Anita Copper Company, at Lordsburg, is now in operation milling the 5,000 tons of ore on the dump. Most of this ore will run 4 per cent copper, four ounces of silver and a small amount of gold. Development work at the mine will be pushed during the summer with a large crew of men.

An injunction suit was filed in the district clerk's office at Santa Fe to restrain the State Corporation Commission and the state insurance superintendent from taking action to cancel the license of the Franklin Fire Insurance Company. The action was filed by Judge Edward R. Wright representing the company.

A class of forty-nine seniors received their diplomas at the commencement exercises at the University of New Mexico. Dr. William Allen Pusey of Chicago, retiring president of the American Medical Association, delivered the commencement address and also had the degree of doctor of laws conferred upon him by the university.

The first general rain in the Capitan country in several years occurred about a week ago, the total for the period being over one inch. There are indications that the country will soon return to normal as far as moisture is concerned. The ranges and farms had reached the point where moisture was absolutely necessary for stock cattle and crops and predictions are rife concerning the possibilities of bumper crops for this year.

Frank Carroon was re-elected president of the Normal University by the board of regents at its monthly meeting. This will be his third year as head of the institution. Miss Violet C. Hoffman was elected secretary to the president. Miss Hoffman has been secretary to the Democratic state chairman for the last three years, working for both George Hunker and Ed B. Swope, and is now employed in the state land office.

Thieves entered the machine shop of F. C. Peterson of Deming, blew open the safe and made their escape with nearly $200 in cash.

The State Tax Commission approved J. J. Kenney's contract with the county commissioners as delinquent tax collector for Santa Fe county. First refusing to o. k. the contract, the commission took its stand on the fact that the instrument in original form made no provision for the collector's sharing in the county's expenditure for abstracts and mailing out notices to delinquents, steps necessary to bring court action against them.

A. L. Zinn has resigned as special attorney for the state finance board, Gov. A. T. Hannett announced recently, giving has his reason the dissolution of the partnership between himself and Harold Perry at Gallup. Zinn and Perry were employed by the board to bring suits on the official bonds of public officials against whom the state comptroller's office has set up charges in audits totalling a large sum. Somebody else will be selected for the work, the governor said.

CHINESE FIRE UPON AMERICAN LAUNCH

U. S. BOAT USES BIG GUNS IN REPLY TO BOMBARDMENT

GUNS TURNED ON RIOTERS

ENGLISH MACHINE GUNS ARE TURNED ON RIOTERS IN CHINESE UPRISING

Hankow.—After a series of anti-foreign disturbances here, the rioters attacked the British volunteer armory. Fire hose was used against them, but proved unavailing, and a machine gun was turned on the rioters, eight of whom were killed and many wounded.

The rioters first proceeded to the Bund and destroyed the seats and Japanese shops, severely mauling one Japanese shopkeeper. Later they rushed the barricades and invaded the armory. The rioters completely outnumbered those within the armory, and the defenders finally, on orders from the naval authorities, opened machine gun fire.

Peace eventually was restored, and the Chinese authorities gave a guarantee that any further incidents of that kind would be prevented.

Rioting started on the Butterfield and Swire wharf. Volunteers were mobilized and after three hours they appeared to have the situation well in hand without firing upon the rioters or making arrests.

Sailors landed from foreign gunboats to assist the volunteers.

Later coolies made a mass attack on the concession, whereupon the volunteers fired.

San Francisco, Calif.—Nearly a score of apparently disconnected incidents featured news from China.

In the south, the fighting around Canton continues with increasing casualties, while the American gunboat Pampanga was fired upon and returned the fire.

At Shanghai students who took part in the rioting which brought anti-foreign feeling to a climax May 30 were ordered by the mixed court to furnish bonds for their future good behavior.

At Peking the Chinese foreign office replied to a note from the diplomatic corps, saying that it was impossible for the Chinese government to admit that Chinese demonstrators were responsible for the Shanghai disturbances.

United States marines have been landed on the island of Honam, headquarters of the Cantonese troops trying to recapture Canton from the Yunnanese. The marines were said to have been landed to protect American property. The Pampanga, when she drew the fire of the Chinese, was convoying a supply launch of the Canton Christian College. When she returned the fire, the Pampanga acted in accordance with a practice of long standing, providing such action. No international complications are expected to result from the firing. No one was injured.

Pleasure Boat Burns at Sea

Atlantic City, N. J.—The cabin cruiser Crystal, owned by Edward Conover, this city, was burned to the water's edge five miles off the coast. The boat carried thirty passengers. Sixteen persons were rescued from the water and brought ashore. Later others were picked up in the water and were brought ashore. The fire is believed to have been caused by a cigarette igniting gasoline and causing an explosion. The injured were taken to the "dry navy" base here, where they received first aid treatment for burns and submersion, and were rushed to a hospital.

Object to German Eagle

Berlin.—The federal eagle on the German coat of arms is too ugly to suit the German nationalist Reichstag floor leader, George Schultz. Herr Schultz said: "It is high time that the present federal eagle, which on account of its ugliness is extremely unpopular, be supplanted by an eagle with talons and a sharp beak." The post-revolution eagle has been roundly criticized over since its adoption. Some object to it because it looks both right and left; others describe it as a hybrid, while still others dub it 'a sour and embittered parrot.'"

Trapper Freed of Murder Charge

Baudette, Minn.—Tony Reamor, north woods trapper, held in connection with the death of Mrs. Dean Wheeler, a homesteader, last fall, was exonerated by the Lake of the Woods grand jury here. The grand jury was dismissed after announcing its decision. Found on the kitchen floor of her isolated cabin last fall with a knife plunged through her side, Mrs. Wheeler's death was pronounced a suicide by a coroner's jury.

U. S. Will Not Enter Pact

Washington.—The American government, through the medium of the State Department, took occasion a few days ago to reiterate informally that it would not be a party to the proposed European security pact nor responsible for it in any way. The announcement was made to throw cold water on published reports that the United States might be asked to act as custodian of the commitments contained in the pact. It was said no such proposal had been made here and none was expected.

By JOHN DICKINSON SHERMAN

IF THE American people keep on making a new record every year in summer play, the captains of industry will be founding an institute for the cure of "Spring Sickness." For what would become of business if we should all get aboard "Tin Lizzie," head her for the open country and step on the gas?

Spring sickness must have been a nation-wide epidemic early in 1925 and set everybody planning to break away just about this time or a little later. Anyway, the wanderlust season is now upon us and the advance guard is already swarming upon the highways. Some of them may not know just where they are going, but all are on their way. You couldn't possibly get first-class passage for Europe right now. But at that American tourists abroad, with all Europe holding out every sort of inducement, will not total more than 200,000, while the national parks and monuments of the Scenic West will probably have nearly 2,000,000 visitors. And the national parks will not get all the flivver gipsies, either. The display advertisements in the newspapers will catch tourist traffic worth hundreds of millions in cash this summer to Wisconsin, Minnesota, Michigan, Maine and other states which are making it their business to be attractive to the vacationists.

And all the vacationists will not travel by motor, either. But about three-fourths of the visitors to the national parks travel in their own cars and this proportion generally obtains over the country. So there will probably be more than 10,000,000 Americans awheel this summer. There were that many last year and the experts expect a 25 per cent increase.

Why? Well, for various reasons. There are more automobiles. There are more roads and better. There is better information available. The long-distance touring habit is increasing. And there are more hotels and more auto camps. As to the latter, there are more than 3,000 maintained by communities and by private enterprise. Even cities like Chicago, New York and Washington have seen the necessity of establishing camps. In the new A. A. A. book 2,500 of the 3,000 camps are named as standard. There are approximately 10,000 hotels along the highways that will pass muster.

In short, the 1925 Flivver Gipsies will be worth at least $2,500,000,000 to a thousand and one communities pretty well scattered over the country.

The pictures given herewith are of value principally as incentives to the imagination. Anyway, No. 1 shows the east (Estes park) entrance to Rocky Mountain National park in the Colorado Rockies. There's nothing like this national park anywhere. Its 400 square miles are thrown like a varicolored blanket over the Continental Divide. There's nothing below 7,500 feet in the park and the summit of Longs peak towers up 14,255 feet into the sky. There are actually 43 peaks above 10,000 feet. And among these granite peaks, whitened here and there with everlasting snow, are scores of wild, sequestered valleys, with lakes and streams, birds and wild animal life, forests and flowers.

Roads? There aren't any to speak of. The trail's the thing in Rocky Mountain. That's why—even with 225,000 visitors—you can get off by yourself. And that's why Rocky Mountain is still a virgin wilderness. There is no north and south road through the park; the Front range and the Continental Divide made it impossible. And there's only one road across the park from east to west—from Estes park to Grand lake, the west entrance. And that's the Fall River road—the highest automobile highway in the national park system. It climbs far above timber line and at 11,797 feet gives a panoramic view of 100 miles.

The visitors in the bus, in No. 3 at the right, are enjoying this view on a pleasant summer day. The mercury in Omaha, St. Louis and Chicago may be hovering around in the nineties, but these motorists have on winter wraps and are glad of it. Yet underfoot the granite of the divide is ablaze with Alpine flowers in rainbow hues. In short a drive over the Continental Divide is an adventure in weather as well as in scenery. It may be bright and warm. It may be fair and cool. A snow squall often lends variety. And when Longs peak, "King of the Rockies," sets about gathering a storm cloud it's awesome.

The little picture, No. 2, suggests the joys of "going light" and of individual achievement "far from the madding crowd." An able-bodied mountaineer with a packhorse can see things which will be forever hidden from even the most daring motorist. The man is no less a personage than Dr. Charles D. Walcott, world-famous and head for these many years of the Smithsonian institution at Washington. And he's away up north seeking new "silent places" in the Canadian national parks. The photograph was taken by Mrs. Walcott, his inseparable companion on these adventurous excursions into the wilds. Doctor Walcott is a geologist and a botanist and a naturalist and author and what not.

Moreover, he is a genuine nature-lover, with a vision of what national parks may be made to mean to the people of the North American continent. In scenic beauty, you know, there is no international boundary line; no barriers save those set by Nature. It was largely due to Doctor Walcott's influence as president that the American Association for the Advancement of Science—the largest scientific society in the world, with more than 12,000 members in the United States and Canada—passed a resolution calling for the "National Parks of North America" as an "unique continental exhibit" and requesting "the people and the congress of the United States and the people and the parliament of the Dominion of Canada to secure such amendments of existing law and the enactment of such new laws as will give to all units in the international parks system complete conservation alike." You see, the national parks of the United States and Canada are far more than playgrounds. They are priceless national assets as natural history museums and scientific and educational exhibits, to say nothing of their economic value.

No. 4 gives a glimpse of another kind of park, with the same mission and the same value—the Palisades Interstate park along the Hudson in New York and New Jersey. Here's where the millions of Greater New York get breathing space. Here's where welfare organizations maintain hundreds of camps for those who would otherwise know nothing of the joys of life "close to nature's heart." In the 1924 season no less than 7,000,000 visitors enjoyed its beauties and its recreations. This summer there will be more visitors, for New York state has just built a wonderful suspension bridge across the Hudson between Bear mountain and Anthony's Nose near Peekskill to facilitate park travel. The women's clubs brought about the interstate organization; E. H. Harriman, the railroad magnate, was its good friend and his widow has carried on his work. Public-spirited citizens, serving without pay, have made the park the wonderland with adequate funds appropriated by the two states.

Go as you please—stop at hotels; "rough it smoothly" with camp outfits; go light and rough it. And the Red Gods be with you!

But do be sportsmen—Gentlemen of Outdoors. Our outing manners are incredibly bad. Unless there is radical betterment there will be nation-wide trouble for vacationists—the innocent with the guilty. Don't mar the fair face of Nature. Don't set a forest fire through carelessness.

And drive carefully in the mountains.

He'll Take an Oath

An inquiring lobster, strolling along Kensington road, Grosse Pointe, startled a staid and sober business man as he rushed to catch a street car to his office downtown. "I know it was a real lobster because it crawled along with its legs interfering and it was a terrible shade of green," he said. The only difficulty with the story, the man said, is that nobody would take him seriously. "It was morning and there wasn't a chance for doubt," the man explained. The adventurous fish evidently escaped from a delivery wagon making the morning calls at the homes along the way.—Detroit News.

Korean Women Attractive

The women of Korea are said to be the most attractive of their sex in oriental lands. They are well built and vigorous, and most natural and graceful in their movements. They are absolutely unlike the doll-like Japanese or the masculine Chinese women. Their white garments are clean and dainty, and their white, wide-skirted coats, made of a gauze-like fabric, stand out like crinolines. The social position of women in Korea comes closer to servitude than in any other oriental country. They marry without having previously seen their future husbands. They are taught that the greatest female virtues are silence, humility and timidity.—Family Herald.

PETER DELIVERED FROM PRISON

LESSON TEXT—Acts 12:1-19.

GOLDEN TEXT—The angel of the Lord encampeth round about them that fear Him, and delivereth them.—Ps. 34:7.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Peter and the Angel.

JUNIOR TOPIC—Peter's Deliverance From Prison.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—How Peter Was Brought Out of Prison.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—The Possibilities of Prayer.

I. Peter's Imprisonment (vv. 1-4).

1. By Whom (v. 1).

Herod, the grandson of the wicked Herod who slew the innocent children of Bethlehem.

2. The Reason (v. 3).

It was to gain the favor of the Jews. Herod was not a Jew, but an Edomite, therefore knew that his success was dependent upon his having the good will of the Jews. He did not particularly hate the church, but loved popularity. Since the church had developed so as to be a successful rival of Judism, he saw an opportunity to curry favor with the Jews by putting forth his hands against it.

3. The Method (v. 4).

He was arrested, put into prison and guarded by four quaternions of soldiers. A quaternnion is a guard of four soldiers. Four quaternions means that a special group was on duty each watch of the night. It was the custom for two soldiers to be in the prison, one on each side of the prisoner bound to his arms with chains (v. 6), the third one to watch outside the door, and the fourth to be near the outside gate.

II. The Church of God in Prayer (v. 5).

The church was at a crisis. Her situation was most grave. James, one of the brethren of the church, was dead and Peter, the most prominent of all, was in prison. In this desperate crisis they did the wise thing: they betook themselves to prayer. It was a noteworthy prayer.

1. It Was Unto God, Not Unto Men, or to Be Heard of Men

2. It was United Prayer.

3. It Was an Intensely Earnest Prayer.

It was more than unceasing prayer. It was the earnest desire of the soul as it stretched itself out toward God.

4. It Was Definite Prayer

They specifically offered prayer to God for Peter. Their prayer was concentrated, definite and specific.

III. Peter Delivered by an Angel (vv. 6-11).

This occurred the night before Herod's plan to make a public display of him.

1. Peter Sleeping (v. 6).

The Lord keeps in perfect peace those whose minds are stayed on Him (Isa. 26:3).

2. Peter Leaving the Prison. (vv. 7-10).

A heavenly light shone in the prison. The angel smote Peter on the side: the chains fell off. Peter put on his clothes and passed by one guard after another through the iron gate out into the city. The whole transaction was orderly and leisurely, showing that God is not in a hurry.

3. The Effect Upon Peter (v. 11).

Although the matter was so wonderful to Peter, even outside his consciousness, when he came to himself he was assured beyond a peradventure that God had miraculously delivered him from Herod's wicked hands.

IV. Unconscious Unbelief (vv. 12-19).

1. The Behavior of Peter and the Church (vv. 12-17).

Peter went to the house of Mary and knocked. The knock was answered by Rhoda who was so overjoyed that she forgot to open the gate, and ran in and told them that Peter was at the gate. The disciples were not prepared for such good news, and even accused her of madness. She, undaunted, insisted. They offered as an explanation that perhaps it might be Peter's guardian angel in his likeness. Peter rehearsed unto them the Lord's dealing with him, and instructed them to make these things known unto James and the brethren.

2. The Behavior of the Soldiers (vv. 18-19).

There was great agitation among them as to what had become of Peter. This was a serious matter since they were responsible for him. Not being able to account for Peter's escape, Herod commanded that they be put to death. After this Herod went down to Caesarea. Here he was adored as god. Because he arrogated this honor to himself, the Lord smote him. Herod died, but the Word of the Lord grew and multiplied.

Value of a Deed

The value of a deed depends upon its meaning, and its meaning depends upon its motive and the spirit and purpose that prompts it. The widow's mite is really worth more than the spare cash of the rich, because it means more.—Nathaniel Micklem.

OIL NEWS.

The Lewis well, in Sec. 24-8-28, seventeen miles north of Roswell is holding the center of interest locally this week. An excellent showing was picked up at 907 feet with the drill going twenty feet into a good sand formation. This sand carried some oil and a strong odor of petroleum gas is one of the best indications of a commercial oil at a greater depth, oil men say. The drillers and owners of this well are highly encouraged and are expecting big production in this test.

The Roberts No. 1, Sec. 22-10-27 are making preparations for a good test with the erecting of a big standard rig. This well picked up a good showing of oil at 675 feet bringing in a small production estimated at about five barrels. The hole has now reached about 1000 feet and expect to pick up the pay at between 1700 and 1800.

In a review of the field in the Oil and Gas Journal, James McIntire of Tulsa gives the local fields a boost. In part he declares:

"The Artesia field in Eddy County is the most promising field in New Mexico. The center of the thus far productive area is located about forty miles south of Roswell. Up to this time the producing wells have varied in initial production from less than 25 barrels to 500 barrels. The oil is found in a sandy lime at a depth of about 2000 feet but there is a sand near 400 feet that has shown small production. Ideal drilling conditions prevail and only small water troubles are encountered while only two strings of casing are needed to complete a well.

"The field is expected to cover a large area and practically all the large companies operating in the Rocky Mountain district have representives in the field."

Lincoln, Neb., June 14.—One of the most bitter legal battles in the history of the state is being fought over the conviction of Walter B. Simmons, former deputy sheriff, for the murder of Frank Spencer. Simmons is under death sentence and a reprieve by the Governor has been granted twenty times.—Roswell News.

ARTESIA, N. M.—Convinced by the evidence of the Big Lake oil field in Regan county, the new oil fields on the horizon in Crockett county, and farther westward, in Eddy County, N. M., the Artesia field, know daily growing in importance, oil operators hold that hundreds of square miles of West Texas land, and particular in northern Reeves county, southward from the Artesia pool, underlaid with vast oil deposits, and will rapidly be brought into play, according to one of the most famous geologists in Texas, who already has the discovery of one very great oil pool to his credit.

This geologist, it is understood, has already interested the Rio Grande Oil and Refinery Co. in the territory southeast from the Artesia pool, which company is expected to drill several wells here.

The Rio Grande Oil and Refining company, which has a great refinery at El Paso and another at Phoenix, Ariz., is one of the most progressive oil refining organizations west of the Mississippi. This company at first refined all the oil from the Sheffield Terrace in Regan county, and thereafter has been taking a good deal of the oil of the Artesia field. It is now reported to be going out after its own oil, and believes that it will find it southeast from Artesia field.

Several other large companies are imitating the Rio Grande Oil and Refining company, according to reports here, and going south and southeastward from the Artesia field. Immense drilling is expected in northern Reeves county, where structures are reported to be exellent for production. That big drilling will follow westward from the Pecos river along the line set down by Hanger and other geologists is taken as foregone conclusion. Geologists who have passed through here predict that the next big field in southwestern Texas will be located in northern Reeves county.

Adjoining counties are also going to have a play, notably Culberson and Loving counties, but lying right between them according to some very good authorities, is the real heart of the coming production in the Orla district. This evidence is daily increasing that this area is not desired by the big companies for any other mineals but oil and gas, but that oil and gas prospects are so great that they demand every acre they can get.

During the past week geologists for the Sun Oil company, California company, Standard Oil of California, Humble Oil and Refining company, Sinclair Consolidated Oil corporation, Snowden, Bros. & McSweeny which are among the strongest and energetic producing companies in the Midcontinent field passed through Orla going westward where the best prospects are reported to be located.—N. M. Oil News (Albuquerque)

CANNING SEASON.

Go down the very comprehensive list of foodstuffs enumerated in the song, "Yes, We Have No Bananas," and you will find the proper method of canning the majority of them in the new circular on Canning Club Work by Miss Grace Long issued by the Extension Service of the New Mexico A. & M. College.

The circular describes the open kettle method and the cold pack method of canning, how to operate the pressure cooker, canning in glass, canning in tin, and all the equipment necessary for canning at home.

"Vegetables as well as milk are very important sources of mineral salts, most of them contain vitamines, and they are invaluable as a source of cellulose, which aids in bodily efficiency due to the laxative action," says the circular.

"Fruits as well as vegetables are very important in order to maintain good health and growth. They also contain valuable minerals, and some of them have the necessary vitamines. Their acid content helps to improve the general health.

"In order that we may have the best health and growth, we must have vegetables and fruits; and as it is not economical to buy fresh products thoroughout the year, we must make some provisions to conserve them when they are plentiful.",

While the circular is designed for the use of canning clubs, it is a very complete and useful publication, comprising 61 pages, which would be a boon to any housewife. Copies of this Extension Circular 83 may be had for the asking, from the agents or the Extension Service, State College, New Mexico.

BIG GAME ANIMALS ON 150 NATIONAL FORESTS ESTIMATED

Over 687,000 head of big game animals made their home on 150 national forests, announces the Forest Service, United States Department of Agriculture, which has just completed the compilation of a count made in 1924.

Compared with the previous year the 1924 figures represent an increase of about 41,000 head after due allowance is made for 41,226 head of bear which were not included in the estimates of former years but which are included in the 1924 estimates.

Number of Deer Increasing

Deer represent the vast bulk of the big game animals with a total for 1924 of 650,587 compared with 611,238 last year. An analysis of the figures shows that except in a few national forests located in California deer show a uniform increase. These few exceptions say forestry officials may be the result of closer estimates rather than any real decrease in number.

The five states credited with the largest number of deer are in the order of their rank California, Oregon, Montana, Idaho and Arizona. Alaska, also is credited with about the same number, 50,000 head, as the two last named states.

Bears Included in Estimates

In the 1924 estimates bears were included as game rather than as predatory animals, the figures showing 44,320 head on the 150 national forests. Of this total 38,702 were of the black and brown varieties, the balance of 5,624 being grizzlies. Nearly all grizzlies listed were found on the two national forests in Alaska alone. California, long famous as the habitat of the grizzly bear, failed to show a single animal of that species living on any of the seventeen national forests in that state. In fact Montana is the only state in which the forest rangers were able to find more than a scattering few of this time honored bear.

Elk have increased in all western forests, 52,605 head being listed for 1924 compared with 49,540 in 1923. On the Teton National Forest bordering the Yellowstone National Park the elk herd has shown a notable increase because of three excellent seasons with mild winters and satisfactory summers.

Antelope Herds are Scarce

Antelope, or pronghorns are still in a very unsatisfactory condition. The 1924 count shows only 5,071 of these animals, most of which are to be found in the national forests of Arizona and Idaho. In northwestern Nevada and southeastern Oregon there is a large antelope herd grazing on public lands outside the national forest areas.

Washington.—All women who wear or have worn furs are urged to forward $1 to the Washington headquarters of the newly organized Anti-Steel Trap League for a campaign against the use of traps which cause suffering to animals. Miami, Ariz.—The skeletons of twenty-nine prehistoric Indians have just been unearthed near Iron's ranch on the Miami-Superior highway by Eric H. Schmidt, archaeologists of the Museum of Natural History of New York, who is employed by Mrs. William Boyce Thompson of Superior to investigate some of the Arizona prehistoric ruins. The skeletons indicate some of the Indians were over six feet tall. About 2,000 pieces of Indian relics also have been found in fifty of the 150 rooms unearthed.

Public attention was first called to the usefulness of cottonseed oil by the London Society for Encouragement of Arts, Manufactures and Commerce, in 1783. The first recorded attempts to extract crude cottonseed oil were made at Natchez, Miss., in 1834, and at New Orleans 1847. Neither was successful. The first successful attempt at crushing the seed in a mill was made by Paul Aldige of New Orleans in 1855. In the North a mill was started at Providence, R. I., 1858-59.

PORK PRODUCTION PROBLEMS SOLVED

Hogs are found in every county in the United States. In some cases the number is limited to a very few, which are usually grown in the back yards where they are maintained and fattened from waste products such as scraps from the table, dish water, etc. In other instances we find hogs produced in large numbers, the sale of which affords the chief income, points out Prof. L. V. Starkey, chief of the animal husbandry division at Clemson college.

It is a significant fact that the larger or more mature a hog gets the more expensive are the gains. This is caused by the ability of the younger animal to consume a larger amount of food in proportion to his body, and partly, because the younger animal contains a higher per cent of water in the gains which it makes.

The economy with which pork can be produced, explains Professor Starkey, depends largely upon the forages which are available. If in dry lot, as much as five pounds of concentrates may be necessary to produce one pound of pork. If on good soy beans it is possible to produce a pound of pork from a pound of corn. These figures show beyond a doubt that forages must be used if pork production is profitable.

Hogs suffer more frequently from inadequate rations than do any other class of live stock. This is because they grow more rapidly. The stunted pig is more common than the stunted calf or colt. Hogs frequently suffer from a lack of minerals and also from a lack of protein. This is largely caused by the fact that they are frequently raised primarily on concentrates from the cereal grains. Whenever they have pasture such as rape or soy beans they usually balance their ration, for forage crops are usually rich in both protein and minerals.

If forage crops happen to be lacking at any time during the year a mineral mixture may be made by using equal parts of ground limestone, salt, and bone meal. This should be kept before the porkers at all times.

Habit of Breeding Ewe Lambs Is Not Favored

"Much has been said against the practice of breeding ewe lambs," according to R. B. Millin, sheep specialist of the University of Idaho extension division, "and but little has been said for it. The best flockmasters and shepherds severely condemn it.

"The attempt to breed ewe lambs usually results in partial failure. In most cases not more than 50 per cent of them get with lamb. Those that do get with lamb are stunted by the demand of the lamb before and after birth for nourishment which the ewe herself should have for her own full development. The first lamb is usually small and puny and fails to make the quick growth so desirable because of its weakness at birth and the inability of its dam to provide sufficient nourishment.

"Ewes bred as lambs seldom attain their full development. As a result they are undersized, do not produce a full clip of wool, fail to produce the strong, lusty lambs that are a good shepherd's pride and joy, as well as the basis of his financial returns, are not able to produce the large quantity of milk so essential for good lambs and often are lacking in the maternal qualities which prompt thrifty, well grown ewes to own and take good care of their lambs."

Burn All Carcasses

Burn all hogs that die and clean the premises as well as you can. Then be generous with the use of coal tar disinfectants in the sheds and places where the sunshine can not penetrate. Expose to sunshine all the places you can and plow the lots if possible. If any of the unvaccinated hogs should live through the attack they are as immune as those that were vaccinated. Feed very small amounts of easily digested feed for about two weeks after vaccination.

Live Stock Notes

The hog business needs sanity as well as sanitation.

Working a horse immediately after eating often causes colic.

• • •

Brood sows need exercise and should not be too fat.

• • •

Hogs are going up some more, if all the sharps know what they are talking about.

• • •

Mark your spring litters of pigs so that you can select your brood cows next fall from large litters.

• • •

The man who makes money on swine is he who raises large litters from well-bred and well-mated sows—and then gives his herd good management in housing, feeding, and marketing.

• • •

The fact that the cost of delivery can generally be passed on in the price of goods has contributed to a considerable displacement of light horses formerly used in cities.

• • •

There is no prospect for improvement in demand or prices on work horses under 1,500 pounds.

• • •

Consider the plight of the farmer who sold his good brood sows and is now trying to restock his hog lots.

It takes ten bushels of corn on the average to produce 100 pounds of live pork. The wise farmer does not make pork from corn alone. He can't make money that way. Hogs ordinarily will not make money for their owners without grass.

Uncover Portion of Old Palace

George A. Baker, a British merchant who has been established in Constantinople many years, where he has made a large fortune, has discovered an arched roof 60 feet long during excavating work for the foundation of his new business premises, says a Constantinople correspondent of the London Daily Express.

A corridor six feet long was also discovered beneath the arch and a number of rooms, a bath and cisterns. It is believed that the rooms once formed part of the palace of Nicephore III (1078-81). This palace was named Calomanoi.

Unfortunately, Turkish municipal authorities, owing to lack of money, are not able to preserve this architectural relic and they have permitted the construction of the modern building on top of it. The Calomanoi palace will therefore probably remain buried forever.

Isn't it fine when the day is done,
And the petty battles are lost or won,
When the gold is made and the ink is dried,
To quit the struggle and turn aside
To spend an hour with your boy in play
And let him race all of your cares away?

FOOD FOR TWO

Almost all housekeepers commence their housekeeping just for two. As most standard recipes are given for families of five or six, it is convenient to have a few reliable small recipes which will serve for two. The following are some:

Popovers.—This recipe makes half a dozen and there will never be any leftovers, if they are well-baked. Popover cups are necessary—deep granite cups are best. Beat one egg until light, add one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, then beat in one cupful of milk, then one cupful of flour; beat well. Pour into well-buttered popover cups and place in a hot oven for the first fifteen minutes; then after the popovers have popped well reduce and finish baking three-quarters of an hour.

Baking Powder Biscuit.—Take one cupful of flour, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, one-fourth teaspoonful of salt, one tablespoonful of fat, and one-third of a cupful of milk. Sift the dry ingredients, cut in the fat, and add the milk. Drop by rounding teaspoonfuls in a baking pan. Bake in a hot oven. This recipe makes eight biscuits.

Potato Sour.—Scald a cupful of milk with a slice of onion; remove the onion and add one-fourth of a cupful of mashed potato, salt, pepper and minced parsley. Let come to the boiling point, add a teaspoonful of butter and sprinkle the parsley over the soup as it is served. Chopped chives make a nice garnish and flavor, if desired.

Norwegian Pudding.—Soak one cupful of sago or use the minute tapioca. Boil two cupfuls of gooseberries in two cupfuls of water, add sugar to taste. When the fruit is soft, rub through a sieve and return to the saucepan with the sago. Cook until the sago is clear. Mold, and when cot, serve with plain or whipped cream.

Tapioca baked with apples, pineapples, pears or peaches and served when cold with cream and sugar makes a most dainty dessert.

Fruity Dessert Dishes.

Fruit combinations are always delightful and it is a good way to use a small quantity of fruit. A few slices of pineapple, a banana or two and an apple with a bit of chopped celery makes a most tasty salad, served with a good salad dressing, or with a sweet dressing, makes a nice dessert.

Apricot Whip.—Take two cupfuls of apricots, one-half cupful of sugar, one teaspoonful of lemon juice, the whites of two eggs. If the fruit is fresh, rub through a sieve; if dried, cook and put through a sieve, adding the sugar and letting them stand to season. Fold in the egg whites, beaten stiff. Bake in a buttered dish in a slow oven for 20 minutes. Serve with cream or a soft custard, garnished with cubes of bright jelly.

Delmonico Special.—Select six oranges of medium size. Cut a slice from the end of each and carefully remove the pulp. Mix the pulp with one-half cupful each of dates and walnut meats coarsely chopped and one-half cupful of coconut. Refill the shells. Beat an egg white until stiff, add one-fourth of a cupful of sugar and place a marshmallow on top of each. Brown in the oven until a golden brown; serve at once.

Apricot Ice.—Soak four cupfuls of dried apricots in four cupfuls of water until soft; cook until tender. Press through a potato ricer to remove the skins, add one-half cupful of sugar to the pulp and the water in which they were soaked, and cook ten minutes. Remove from the fire, cool, add the juice of three lemons and freeze. When partly frozen add the stiffly beaten whites of three eggs and finish freezing.

Fruit Ice Cream.—Take a quart of crushed, strained berries, adding a tablespoonful of lemon juice, sweeten to taste and add a quart of thin cream. Freeze as usual. Later in the season when peaches are ripe (or canned peaches may be used) this makes a delicious dessert. Bananas, with the juice of oranges and lemon, the bananas put through a sieve, is another well-liked combination.

Pimento Cream.—Measure and combine two cupfuls each of hot milk and veal or chicken stock. Place in a double boiler and heat. Cream four tablespoonfuls of butter and add three of flour, mix well with two tablespoonfuls of cold milk and add to the mixture in the double boiler. Take one-half a can of pimentoes, press through a sieve, or potato ricer, add one teaspoonful of grated onion, a speck of cayenne, one-half teaspoonful of salt, pepper and tobasco sauce to taste. Mix well and serve with a bit of whipped cream on top of each serving. Accompany with toast strips on which grated cheese has been melted.

Antiques Are Playthings

Antiques to the antique lover; but to a child they are valuable only for the fun they will give. One Detroiter heard a noise of something rolling along the front hall. Investigating, he found his four-year-old son and his chum rolling a carved circular bread board that had come from England with an early colonist, and occasionally bumping the varnish off a hallrack that dated before the Revolution.—Detroit News.

Too Easily Pleased

Chief Justice Taft said at a dinner in Washington:

"I want to see women more particular in their choice of husbands. Too many women are as easily satisfied as Aunt Hannah, the laundress.

"'Aunt Hannah,' said a young girl, 'waffo' you marry dat ugly ole pot-betty of a Wash White?'

"'Because, chile,' said Aunt Hannah, 'Ah prefers a husband wot will stop to hum and wring mah clothes, rather'n one wot will stop away and wring mah heart.'"

WOMEN NEED SWAMP-ROOT

Thousands of women have kidney and bladder trouble and never suspect it.

Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease.

If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they may cause the other organs to become diseased.

Pain in the back, headache, loss of ambition, nervousness, are often times symptoms of kidney trouble.

Don't delay starting treatment. Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, a physician's prescription, obtained at any drug store, may be just the remedy needed to overcome such conditions.

However, if you wish first to test this great preparation send ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle. When writing be sure and mention this paper.

Sad but True

Surgeon General Ireland of the War department was discussing the reformation of drug victims.

"To reform these people is a difficult thing," he said. "Whenever I look at a collection of drug victims, with their sensual mouths and weak chins, I can't help thinking of the Chinese proverb:

"'Rotten wood can't be carved.'"
