THE RESERVOIR ALEAK.

A large force of men and teams are engaged this week stopping a leak in the large reservoir known as Watson's lake, near Nogal. It is the opinion of the engineer in charge of the work that the leak is in the forty-foot cut leading from the reservoir, and was caused by the heavy blasting while excavating. The cut is now being filled in and tamped down. The loss of water through leakage has been between three and four inches a day, which represents a large volume of water, as the lake covers about sixty acres. At last report the leakage was reduced to one inch a day, and it is believed it will be stopped altogether.

A rancher who lives within a few miles of the lake was agreeably surprised one morning recently while walking over his land by discovering a spring of pure water. It is believed the spring leads from reservoir, and when the leak is stopped the spring is liable to disappear, as suddenly as it came.

The reservoir close to town sprung a leak recently also. The water was drawn off, it was found that there was a large break in the cement bottom. The necessary repairs are being done this week, and the water will be turned on in a day or two.

A SERIOUS ACCIDENT.

Free, the little eight-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Riggle, of Capitan, met with an accident last week that deprived him of his right arm. He was thrown from his pet pony, and the bones in his right arm and in the elbow were crushed and broken. The bones were set, but in less than 12 hours inflammation set in and it became necessary to amputate the arm. The arm was so badly bruised, and inflammation spread so rapidly that the entire arm had to be taken off, only a stub two inches long remaining. The little fellow bore the operation well and rallied from the shock, apparently in good condition, but it is feared that the poison had extended further than the surgeon's knife. If it had not he will recover quickly.

The boy has suffered for several years with disease of the bone, which partly deprived him of the use of his lower limbs, yet with the aid of crutches he romped and frolicked with as much agility as the best of his playmates. Notwithstanding his infirmity, he is an exceptionally intelligent and manly little fellow, full of spirit, and led his play fellows in their games. After the accident he is reported to have said: "Well, papa, the doctor may be able to fix my arm, but if it had been my neck then what would you do?" Deep sympathy is felt for the poor little fellow, and also for his parents, by whom he is idolized.

BECOMES A BENEDICT.

"It is not well for man to live alone," some-one said in the dim and misty past, and as an evidence that an editor believes that what applied in the by-gone centuries is just as applicable in the twentieth century, we have the pleasure of chronicling the marriage this week of our competitor of the Outlook. F. D. Fred, the lessee and editor of the Outlook, stole away to El Paso, giving no intimation to his numerous friends of his fell purpose, and there on Tuesday was married to Mrs. Maud Ruff, of Los Angeles, Cal., Rev. Mr. Wright of El Paso performing the ceremony. Mrs. A. H. Harvey was present at the nuptials and accompanied the newly-wedded couple home on Wednesday night's train. The editor and his wife will live with Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Harvey until a residence is erected on Mr. Fred's homestead, about two miles east of town. The News takes pleasure in joining the many friends in wishing long life and happiness.

MOTHER AND BABE DIE.

Mrs. Mack McKinney (nee Pfingsten), whose illness had heretofore been chronicled, and whose recovery was thought possible until Sunday, died Tuesday at 2 o'clock p. m. at her home here. A one month old baby preceded the mother by a few hours. Mrs. McKinney had typhoid fever but the immediate cause of death was pneumonia. There were present at the bedside when the spirit passed away, the husband, the mother, Mrs. Pfingsten; three brothers, Fred, Ed. C. and Albert, and a sister, Mrs. Robert Bourne. Two other sisters, Mrs. Emma Peters and Miss Agnes Pfingsten, arrived from Capitan, but not until Mrs. McKinney had closed her eyes in death. The remains were conveyed to the old homestead on the Bonito, at the mouth of South Fork, Wednesday, and interred in the family burial ground, close to the spot where, 24 years ago, she was born. Sorrow overwhelms the entire family in the passing away of this young mother and her first-born, and the heartfelt sympathy of all is sincerely tendered the relatives in their sorrow.

Mrs. W. W. Arnold left yesterday for Ohio, where she will spend the next two months.

Music and Health.

Music has a decided influence upon the blood pressure in the arteries, and upon the respiration. We all know how it soothes, refreshes and rests us when jaded and worried. When its sweet harmonies fill the soul, all cares, worries and anxieties fly away. Many nervous diseases have been cured by music, while others have been greatly retarded in their development by it. Anything which keeps the mind off our troubles tends to restore harmony throughout the body. All the uplifting, encouraging, cheer-producing emotions which create hope and buoyancy of spirits, expectancy of better things—all optimistic emotions—have a decidedly beneficial influence upon the health. A feeling of uplift, of happiness, and well-being, quickens the heart's action, increases the circulation of the blood, and tends to open up all the avenues of health. Worry, fear, anxiety, jealousy—all the destructive emotions—tend to give a sense of restriction and repression. They inhibit the heart's action rather than accelerate it. Where these emotion predominate, writes Orion Swett Marden, in Success Magazine, there is a sense of constriction through the whole arterial system; even the nerve centers feel the suppression and constriction. Whatever makes us happy, whether it is a good or useful story, a good joke, or the tonic which comes from success or any unusual achievement, tends to produce health and mental well-being.

The confidence with which farmers are turning to the department of agriculture and the readiness with which scientific methods are accepted shows what education along this line is accomplishing. Many a farmer in the west and elsewhere is now raising better and more profitable crops because of the instruction he has received and heeded, and the results thus obtained and also from the teaching of the various agricultural colleges are highly gratifying. In other ways much is being accomplished. Obeying the wishes of constituents, says the Troy (N. Y.) Times, members of congress from Kansas have applied to the department of agriculture for experts to go to their state and teach the people how to make passable roads. In certain sections of Kansas the soil is light and sandy, and the difficulty is to create durable highways. The experts will give the matter careful attention, and no doubt much practical good will come of the inquiry. The circumstances are significant as showing how the farmers are coming to a realization of the fact that good roads are most valuable adjuncts to profitable farming.

The sale of the famous Hope diamond, announced from Paris, arouses much speculation as to the purchaser, since the price is said to have been $400,000. If it prove true that the sultan of Turkey is the new possessor of the gem the wonder will be intensified. In view of the supposed precarious condition of the Turkish exchequer buying costly diamonds would seem to be about the last thing in which the sultan might be expected to engage.

The superiority of the American dentist is due to the fact that in America dentistry is a science. In other countries it is a trade.

MADE CHIEF BY WIFE

STORY OF RISE OF FRENCH REPUBLIC'S PRESIDENT.

Fallieres Was an Indolent Young Lawyer Till Wife, Stung by Sneers of Relatives, Planned Future for Gifted Husband.

London.—The recent visit to England of President Armand Fallieres of France at a time when the public hadn't ceased wagging about the rise of H. H. Asquith to the prime ministry and the amount of credit due his tactful and friends-winning wife, Margot Tennant that was, have given the active friends of the other sex renewed room for boasting.

President Fallieres isn't a self-made man. He lacks the initiative, the energy and the ambition for that sometimes sorely miscarried process. President Fallieres is the product, so you are told, of his ambitious and energetic wife, Mme. le Presidente.

Madame is all that the president of the French republic is not, and it is entirely through her desire to be revenged upon certain sneering relatives that her distinguished husband is not to-day the mayor of the sleepy old world town of Nerac, in Gascony. Had it not been for Mme. Falliere's force and diplomacy her gifted other half would now be leading the sheltered and stunted life of an ordinary legal practitioner in his modest country home instead of the luminous career of head of his nation, entertained by royalty across the channel, paid $250,000 a year, forced to live in the great white Elysee palace and be shot at by anarchistic muddle brains (in common with most of the blessed of modern greatness).

The true facts about Clement Armand Fallieres (sometimes also called Eugene by those who know the fullness of his sundry cognomens), have been greatly exaggerated. You may be told, if you care to read, that Fallieres was born in a smith's shop, but in the most straitened of circumstances; that he rose from the depths of poverty through his own efforts, and more of the usual exaggerated nonsense attributed to those who may rise from comparative obscurity to notability.

As a matter of fact, Fallieres was the grandson of the blacksmith in the myth, while his father was a thrifty (not to say wealthy) wine grower. The son had a reasonably complete education and was a law student in the little city of Nerac. He was by no means dull, but nature had instilled into his bones a certain lethargic essence not a bit rare in a Gascon. Henry of Navarre knew the Gascons as poor swordsmen; a later generation may find them poor workers.

Aside from this indisposition for special efforts the young lawyer was distinguished as a dreamer. "Cracked brained revolutionist" and "feather brains" were some of the really fine epithets to which relatives of Mme. Fallieres treated the future president of a great people when they learned of the prospective alliance. Fallieres didn't mind much. In common with dreamers he understood his superiority and would have let it be. Not so madame.

Once married to her brilliant but indolent barrister, Mme. Fallieres brought about a peace with her father and secured for her socially inferior husband the rich legal practice of the elder lawyer. She established a sort of provincial political salon at Nerac, had the happy faculty of making friends and the rare presence of distinguishing those whose devotion might prove disastrous. With herself always in the background she labored with the vim peculiar to a hurt, ambitious woman and she worked better than may be told in mere words.

To-day the spiteful relatives bow to the husband who has no social superiors in France—and possibly to the skill of his wife.

HOUSE IS BUILT ROUND.

Residence of Peculiar Architecture to Please Neighbors.

Guthrie, Okla.—Visitors in this city are always interested in a residence of peculiar architecture, located in West Guthrie, and few people come here who do not take a look at this house before leaving. Local photographers state they finish more kodak pictures of the residence than of any other one point of interest in this locality. It is commonly referred to as "the round house."

It is a pagoda looking affair, of several stories, built as round as a butter ball. Within, the rooms corner in the center of the house, but the outer walls are round and persons who have inhabited it always find trouble in securing carpets that can be placed in the rooms and with finding suitable places to locate their various articles of furniture. It has porches and verandas that run around the entire house.

When Charles Babcock came to Guthrie at the opening of "Old" Oklahoma in 1889, there were but few residences in that portion of the city where he purchased a lot.

Naturally, when the town was still young, there was much speculation among the other residents regarding the manner of architecture Mr. Babcock would adopt in building his new home, and each of his immediate neighbors made the demand that, whatever the architecture, the house should face in his particular direction.

"They were all mighty nice people," said Babcock recently in explaining why he had built the round house, "and not desiring to disappoint any of my neighbors, I just concluded to build it round, so that it would face in all directions. They were all so determined about what direction it should face that afterward I had the laugh on them all by making it face in all directions. I found it very comfortable to live in, for it made no difference during the summer time from what direction the wind was blowing I always got the benefit, while oftentimes my neighbors were suffering with heat."

Mr. Babcock denied the report, current here for some time, that in his earlier years he had been in the navy and that he had designed his residence after the conning tower of some ship he had served on. He is a native of Wisconsin and learned the blacksmith trade in Milwaukee a good many years ago. Later he resided in both St. Louis and Kansas City prior to coming to Guthrie.

While a resident here Mr. Babcock served several terms in the city council and resigned in 1901 to take a claim in the Kiowa and Comanche Indian country, then opening for settlement. He still owns his "round house" in Guthrie.

YOU'RE TOO THIN.

Even Slight Catarrhal Derangements of the Stomach Produce Acid Fermentation of the Food.

It's Stomach Catarrh

Some people are thin and always remain thin, from temperamental reasons. Probably in such cases nothing can be done to change this personal peculiarity.

But there are a large number of people who get thin, or remain thin, who naturally would be plump and fleshy but for some digestive derangement.

Thin people lack in adipose tissue. Adipose tissue is chiefly composed of fat.

Fat is derived from the oily constituents of food.

The fat-making foods are called by the physiologist, hydrocarbons. This class of foods are not digested in the stomach at all. They are digested in the duodenum, the division of the alimentary canal just below the stomach.

The digestion of fat is mainly, if not wholly, the work of the pancreatic juice. This juice is of alkaline reaction, and is rendered inert by the addition of acid. A hyperacidity of the digestive fluids of the stomach passing down into the duodenum, destroys the pancreatic fluid for digestive purposes. Therefore, the fats are not digested or emulsified, and the system is deprived of its due proportion of oily constituents. Hence, the patient grows thin.

The beginning of the trouble is a catarrhal condition of the stomach which causes hyperacidity of the gastric juices. This hyperacidity is caused by fermentation of food in the stomach. When the food is taken into the stomach, if the process of digestion does not begin immediately, acid fermentation will take place. This creates a hyperacidity of the stomach juices which in their turn prevent the pancreatic digestion of the oils, and the emaciation results.

A dose of Peruna before each meal hastens the stomach digestion. By hurrying digestion, Peruna prevents fermentation of the contents of the stomach, and the pancreatic juices thus preserved in its normal state. It then only remains for the patient to eat a sufficient amount of fat-forming foods, and the thinness disappears and plumpness takes its place.

What the Fox Really Said.

The fox that Aesop made looked up at the grapes.

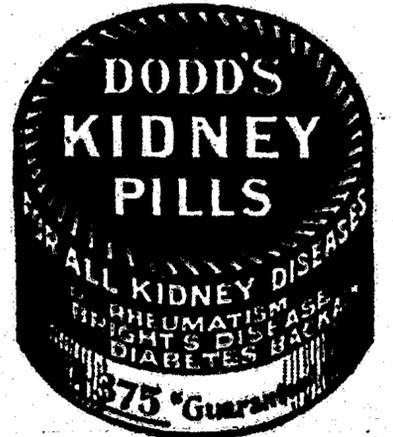

"Grapes sour!" hooted the old owl far up in the vines.

"They may be," yawned the fox, indifferently, "or they may be preserved sweet by some chemical process. You know the pure food laws are not as strict as they might be. Anyway, I don't care for them because I am afraid of appendicitis."

And sly Reynard darted away to enjoy the sport of a fox hunt.

CROQUETTES OF ALL SORTS.

Recipes for Easily Made and Appetizing Luncheon Dishes.

Bean Croquettes.—Use one pint of white soup beans, one tablespoonful of vinegar, one tablespoonful of molasses, one tablespoonful of butter, salt and cayenne to taste. Boil the beans and when done press them through a colander, then add the other ingredients, mixed well, and stand away to cool. When cold form into small balls. Dip first in egg and then in bread crumbs and fry in boiling fat.

Cheese Croquettes.—Use one-fourth cup butter, one-fourth cup flour, two-thirds cup milk, yolks of two eggs, one cup mild cheese cut in small pieces, one-half cup of milk cheese, grated, salt and pepper. Make a thick sauce of the first three ingredients and add yolks of eggs and stir well, then add cheese.

As soon as grated cheese melts remove from the fire and season with salt and pepper. Spread in a shallow pan and cool.

Turn on a board, cut in small squares or strips, dip in crumbs, egg and crumbs again, fry in deep fat, and drain on brown paper.

Lobster Croquettes.—Use two cups of chopped lobster meat, one-half teaspoonful of mustard, three grains of cayenne, one teaspoonful of lemon, one cup of thick white sauce. Add seasoning to lobster. Then add thick white sauce. Cool, shape, dip in crumbs, egg, and crumbs again, fry in deep fat, and drain.

Chicken Croquettes.—The breast of a roast fowl, two parts, of boiled tongue one part, and of truffles one part. Mince all these fine and mix them together.

Melt a piece of butter in a saucepan, stir a little flour into it, then put in the above mixture and moisten with a small quantity of stock. Add some finely minced parsley, pepper, salt and nutmeg to taste.

Stir it on the fire for a few minutes, then stir in it, off the fire, the yolks of one or two eggs beaten up with the juice of a lemon and strained. Spread out this mince—which should be pretty stiff—on a marble slab, and when it is nearly cold fashion it into small portions in the shape of balls or cones.

Dip each in beaten up egg and then roll it in fine baked bread crumbs. Repeat this operation after the lapse of an hour, and after a similar interval fry the croquettes in hot lard to a golden color. Serve on a napkin with plenty of fried parsley.

MAKING SAUSAGE AT HOME.

Carefully Prepared Ingredients Necessary for Success.

Homemade Sausage.—There are many variations in making sausage, but only in the proportions of the ingredients used. Most of them require the use of young pork, a good combination being five pounds lean, including part tenderloin, with two pounds of fat pork. Mince thoroughly, putting through a meat grinder two or three times, then season, using to each pound of the chopped meat a heaping teaspoonful of powdered sage, a teaspoonful of salt and a third of a teaspoonful of pepper. Pack in jars or small cotton bags, and cover fully an inch thick with melted lard. Keep in cold storeroom.

Oxford Sausage.—Use for these a pound each of finely chopped veal, pork and beef suet. Mix through this a quart of bread crumbs, the grated peel of a half lemon, a grated nutmeg, a sprig each of savory, thyme and sweet marjoram and a tablespoonful powdered sage leaves. Make in cakes and fry in a little hot butter.

Scrambled Eggs in Biscuit Cases. Take baking powder biscuits and cut a circle through the top crust down through the middle; remove the crumb, butter the inside and fill when reheated with scrambled eggs. Scatter chopped parsley over the top. Harper's Bazar.

VETERAN OF THREE WARS.

A Pioneer of Colorado and Nebraska.

Matthias Campbell, veteran of the Civil War and two Indian wars, and a pioneer of Colorado, now living at 218 East Nebraska street, Blair, Neb., says: "I had such pains in my back for a long time that I could not turn in bed, and at times there was an almost total stoppage of the urine. My wife and I have both used Doan's Kidney Pills for what doctors diagnosed as advanced kidney troubles, and both of us have been completely cured."

ECZEMA ALL OVER HIM.

No Night's Rest for a Year and Limit of His Endurance Seemed Near—Owes Recovery to Cuticura.

"My son Clyde was almost completely covered with eczema. Physicians treated him for nearly a year without helping him any. His head, face, and neck were covered with large scabs which he would rub until they fell off. Then blood and matter would run out and that would be worse. Friends coming to see him said that if he got well he would be disfigured for life. When it seemed as if he could possibly stand it no longer, I used some Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment, and Cuticura Resolvent. That was the first night for nearly a year that he slept. In the morning there was a great change for the better. In about six weeks he was perfectly well. Our leading physician recommends Cuticura for eczema. Mrs. Algy Cockburn, Shiloh, O., June 11, 1907."

Days of Bohemia Ended.

Bohemia has ceased to exist in the Paris Latin quarter, according to Alfred Capus, the playwright, who may be regarded as an authority on the point. In a lecture delivered on behalf of the "Maison d'Etudiants," which is to be the headquarters of the General Association of Paris Students, he remarked: "We must not be afraid to acknowledge that our students are no longer Bohemians."

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

A MATTER OF COMPULSION.

No Soup, No Dinner, the Rule Laid Down by Barney.

Six years ago, when the king visited Dublin, some amusing incidents were recorded due to the grotesqueness of some hotel waiters apparently just fresh from rural life.

One hotelkeeper told such a newly imported "server" that he must always serve every one with soup at dinner and be quite certain that he had it.

Thereupon ensued the following scene between a visitor and the new waiter:

"Soup, sir?" said Barney.

"No soup for me," said the visitor.

"But you must have it," said Barney: "It's the rules of the house."

"Hang the house!" exclaimed the visitor, highly exasperated. "When I don't want soup I won't eat it. Get along with you!"

"Well," said Barney, with solemnity, "all I can say is just this—it's the rules of the house and sorra a drop else ye'll get till ye finish the soup!" —London Telegraph.

Women and the Suffrage.

The severest criticism of the stupidity and inefficiency of the parliaments of the world is, in M. Marcel Prevost's opinion, the most universal indifference of women on the subject of voting. "Neither the representative nor the voter," says this expert in feminine psychology, "excites their envy. They do not even think about the vote, and if men offer it as a gift they pay no attention, burst out laughing or refuse point blank."

People Talk About Good Things.

Twelve years ago few people knew of such a preparation as a Powder for the Feet. To-day after the genuine merits of Allen's Foot-Ease have been told year after year by grateful persons, it is indispensable to millions. It is clean, wholesome, healing and antiseptic and gives rest and comfort to tired aching feet. It cures while you walk. Over 30,000 testimonials. Imitations pay the dealer a larger profit otherwise you would never be offered a substitute for Allen's Foot-Ease, the original foot powder. Ask for Allen's Foot-Ease, and see that you get it.

LARRAZOLO'S CAMPAIGN.

As noted in last week's issue, Mr. Larrazolo, candidate for delegate to congress on the democratic ticket, reached our county Friday morning, visited White Oaks during the day and returned that afternoon to address the people of this place at night. The hall had been tastefully decorated, thanks to the untiring efforts of Mrs. W. C. McDonald, assisted by the willing hands of many ladies of the town; and the band discoursed sweet music as the crowd assembled and the hall was filled to overflowing.

At the appointed hour, Miss Lorena Sager presiding at the organ, Mr. Larrazolo entered the hall, preceded by a committee of sixteen, made his way to the platform as the "Star Spangled Banner" was played, amid a deafening roar of applause. The members of the committee who escorted Mr. Larrazolo to the platform were: F. J. Sager, S. J. Woodland, T. B. Meek, R. H. Taylor, B. F. Goff, H. S. Campbell, John H. Skinner, A. T. Roberts, S. W. Perry, John R. Patton, Martin L. Goodin, John Kahler, J. B. Baird, W. J. Doering, Jno. A. Haley and Ed R. Kelley. As the speaker reached the platform the entire assembly rose, the organ pealed forth the beautiful strains of "America" and the mass of humanity in the hall joined in singing that popular song. This concluded, the audience took seats, and a quartette, composed of Messrs Holland, Davis, Ray and Hall, sang "Massa in the Cold, Cold Ground" with a banjo accompaniment by the human voice. This was so well rendered and heartily received that in response to an encore the quartette sang a "Basket of Chestnuts," which was no less applauded by the throng.

That portion of the program ended, the meeting was formally called to order by Jno. A. Haley, who announced the selection, by the committee, of Mr. Ed R. Kelley for chairman of the meeting, and presented Mr. Kelley to the audience. Mr. Kelley presented Mr. Larrazolo as "Our next Delegate," and again a shout went up that all but rent the ceiling. The speaker began his remarks by a touching reference to the patriotic air, "America," which had thrilled and delighted him and congratulated the people for the fervor and patriotism manifested. He then launched into a discussion of the policies advocated by the two opposing parties, going back to the foundation of our government; discussed the issues of the present, contrasting the policies of the republicans with that of the democrats, and the manner in which his remarks were received indicated that his audience was with him. He also dwelt at length upon territorial affairs, describing particularly the conditions surrounding the election in this territory in 1906. His enthusiasm kindled as he advanced, his audience followed, cheered his well rounded phrases; and closed with a peroration that was eloquent and charming, awakening the better feeling of all who appreciate a magnificent tribute to sterling manhood. "Columbia" was sung, and at its conclusion the vast throng pushed forward, regardless of political affiliations, and shook the speaker's hand. Thus ended one of the best attended and most enthusiastic political gatherings ever held in this county.

POSSIBLY AN EXAGGERATION.

"The Carrizozo News claims that Andrews spoke for five minutes at a recent political meeting there. We don't believe it."—Roswell Record.

It is possible we were mistaken in the time, but it certainly seemed to us a long five minutes.

A staunch republican from the Santa Fe side of the territory was in Carrizozo one day this week. Asked his opinion on the political situation he stated his opinion was that Bryan would be the next president and that he would be supported by a democratic house. Regarding the republican nominee for delegate he was of the opinion it would be either Spies or Andrews, the chances favoring the latter; and yet there was a chance for a dark horse from his side of the territory bobbing up. But it doesn't matter who is nominated, as those on the inside concede the election to Larrazolo; for he holds an unassailable position, and is much stronger than two years ago, when the returns had to be doctored to defeat him. I believe this is an off year with republicans. This, coming from a republican and a shrewd politician at that, is significant at this stage of the game.

Revenues from National Forests.

In addition to the benefits secured by fire protection and by regulations which control the use of timber land and range so as to insure permanent supplies for local wants, the states having national forests now receive, under the new agricultural bill, 25 per cent of the gross proceeds derived from the sale of national forest resources. This amount, according to law, goes to offset any losses to the states through withdrawal of forest areas from taxation, and is devoted to public roads and schools.

Special Master.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

Miss Abbie Meek is recovering from a serious indisposition, and hopes to be able soon to mingle with her friends.

L. C. Bonham, representing a barber supply house of El Paso, is in town today, talking trade to the craft.

W. E. Palmer, wife and son came over from Capitan yesterday, and went to Tucumcari last night. Mr. Palmer has a sixty-day leave of absence.

The rain storm of last night prevented a full attendance at the republican primary, called to send delegates to the republican county convention, and those present decided to postpone the meeting until next Monday night. At that time the leaders hope to encounter the smiles instead of the frowns of Jupiter Pluvius.

A game of ball was played here Friday afternoon between the Carrizozo team and a nine picked up from various teams in the county. While the mixed team comprised some good players and did some good playing, the lack of team work, as well as practice was evident throughout the game and Carrizozo won by a heavy score.

Mrs. E. G. Timoney died at San Diego, Cal., recently. The Timoneys will be remembered by old citizens of this county as residents of White Oaks years ago. They went to the Philippines about seven years ago, returning to America some years later and settling in San Diego. Mrs. Timoney was an accomplished, pleasant lady, and the announcement of her death causes genuine sorrow and regret.

Chas. Adams resigned as manager of the Carrizozo base ball team, and the boys were at a loss for a substitute. Finally they settled on the News man, drafted him, and he now heads the aggregation. We realize the imprudence of changing horses while crossing a stream; the season half over, and, to some extent, a subsidence of interest; but with the help of the business men of the town and a united effort on the part of the team itself we may be able to pull off some good games before the season closes.

Geo. S. Ramsey, traveling representative of the Albuquerque Morning Journal, was in Carrizozo Tuesday, looking after the interests of that paper. Mr. Ramsey has traveled through a large portion of New Mexico during the past month, came in contact with a large number of politicians of both parties, and naturally has felt the political pulse. He is of opinion that W. H. Andrews will beat the field in the convention, as, being a practical politician, he knows how to secure the delegations, but that he will be beaten to a fare-you-well at the polls.

We buy in car load lots in the market, at bed rock prices, for spot cash, and can sell as cheap for cash as any one that wants to make a small profit.

Yours for business,
John H. Skinner.

MEMORIAL TO THE LATE JUDGE DANIEL H. McMILLAN.

Sixth Judicial District Court of the Territory of New Mexico, within and for the county of Lincoln.

To the Hon. Edward A. Mann, associate justice of the Supreme Court of the territory of New Mexico, and presiding judge of the 6th Judicial District Court thereof.

The undersigned committee appointed by your honor at the July 1908 special term of the district court for Lincoln county, to prepare resolutions upon the death of the late Hon. Daniel H. McMillan, formerly associate justice of the supreme court of the territory of New Mexico and presiding judge for the judicial district then embracing the county of Lincoln, beg leave to make the following report:

Judge McMillan was appointed to the bench of this territory by President McKinley and came to New Mexico from his old home in the city of Buffalo, N. Y. He served the people on the bench with great credit and ability for a number of years, and was beloved by all the people.

His death which occurred in Denver, Colo., during the spring time of the present year was a sad and heartfelt blow to all the people of this territory who were acquainted with him and who delighted in honoring him while he lived amongst us. Your committee had a close and intimate acquaintance with Judge McMillan during the time he presided over this court and subsequent thereto. We appreciated his great ability as a jurist, his fairness and justice as a judge, his kind and courteous treatment towards the most humble citizens who came before him.

In the death of Judge McMillan whose last home upon earth was in Las Cruces, New Mexico, the people of this territory have lost a conscientious upright citizen, a kind father, an able lawyer and an honest man.

Your committee requests your honor for an order in effect that this memorial be spread upon the minutes of this court.

Geo. B. BARBER }
H. B. HOLT } Com'tte.
H. B. HAMILTON }

The above and foregoing memorial was presented in open court and the court ordered the same spread upon the minutes of the court and that the clerk mail a certified copy of the memorial to the widow of the deceased.

EDWARD A. MANN,
District Judge.

CAPITAN.

Ira Wetmore went to El Paso Monday on a business trip.

John H. Canning made a trip to Capitan and return on yesterday's train.

J. B. Baird left for Fort Stanton Saturday, to enter the employ of the government sanatorium at that place.

Ralph McNutt was up from Oscura this week, looking over the land possibilities of this section.

Judge Bellomy came up from Lincoln Monday, and spent two or three days among friends at this place.

Mrs. Lesnet of Roswell, who has been visiting her daughter, Miss Georgia of this place, went to Capitan Monday.

Rains continue to fall in different parts of the county; crops are growing well, grass is fine and stock are fat.

Mrs. J. K. Martin, who has been laid up with typhoid fever for some time, is reported recovering slowly.

Attorney George B. Barber returned to Lincoln Monday after having spent several days in Carrizozo on legal business.

Miss Forda Eckman, deputy district clerk, arrived Sunday night from Alamogordo, and went to Lincoln Monday to visit her mother.

M. M. L. McReynolds was over from Parsons yesterday with a four-horse team for a load of freight for the Eagle mining company.

The town of Duran suffered a $7,000 fire last week. A hotel, a rooming house, a real estate office, and two small buildings were destroyed.

W. C. McDonald left Saturday night for Las Vegas to attend a meeting of the Territorial Cattle Sanitary Board, of which he is a member. He returned yesterday.

John Cole came up from Lincoln Tuesday and spent a few days in town. Mr. Cole is a candidate for the shrievalty nomination on the democratic ticket in this county.

Sheriff Owen returned Sunday from Santa Fe and Las Vegas, where he had gone to deliver two prisoners to the penitentiary and two patients to the insane asylum at Las Vegas.

George Spence, Sr., accompanied by George, Jr., went to the Oscura mountains, about 40 miles northwest of Carrizozo, Friday last. They went to examine a ranch in that section.

Our old friend, H. S. Comrey, was down from Ancho several days this week, attending to some business matters and greeting friends. He left yesterday for White Oaks.

Mrs. L. Stone, who has been sick for some time on her ranch five mile northwest of town, is reported much better. P. E. Lacey and other relatives and friends drove out to visit her last Sunday.

R. H. Adams arrived Tuesday from Cloudcroft, where has spent a portion of the summer. Mr. Adams' home is in San Antonio, Texas. He is a brother-in-law of John Adams and W. D. Gray of this place, whose families he is visiting.

Certain properties on the Bonito belonging to the Pittsburg Ore Reduction company and John L. Wiggins were sold at public auction last Saturday on a writ of attachment. The property was purchased by W. R. White of the Mesa.

The people of Jicarilla will give a picnic on August 14. A dancing pavilion will be erected, and good music engaged for the dancers. A number of horse races will be pulled off on the occasion, and a general invitation is extended to outsiders.

B. H. Moeller and Jesse Raymond came up from Lincoln yesterday and went to El Paso this morning. Mr. Moeller will remain a few days with his family in El Paso before returning, and Mr. Raymond will proceed to Fort Worth.

T. W. Henley, who met with a very painful accident about two weeks ago while returning to Nogal from Carrizozo, is improving, though still unable to get around except with the aid of crutches. His hip was badly bruised by the upsetting of the vehicle in which he was riding.

Sid Willcoxon was in from Tortilita canon Tuesday. He left for Oscura the following morning where he intends to remain several weeks. He has filed a contest with the territorial engineer, in regard to the appropriation of the waters of Tortilita creek, application for which has been made.

John H. Boyd and family returned Wednesday evening from a ten-days' outing in the mountains. They returned by way of the Indian Agency and Tularosa. Contrary to expectations, Mr. Boyd has no fish stories to tell; he left that strenuous work to his wife, while he looked after camp.

Delegate Andrews visited the home of W. C. McDonald, the Bar W ranch headquarters, before leaving on No. 3 Friday afternoon. The delegate spent an hour at this beautiful suburban retreat, hobnobbing with one of Lincoln county's prominent democrats.

James Woodland is looking for a pitcher, but he wants one with a record something like the one who twirled a 23-inning game at Corry, Penn., the other day. This pitcher broke the world's record, striking out 42 men. Jim says he hasn't given up, and may ask this record-breaking pitcher to come to Carrizozo.

T. B. Meek, the south side merchant, who has been ill so long, has recovered sufficiently to be around and attend to business. His many friends are glad to see him on the streets again after his long confinement.

THORNLESS CACTUS

PROF. BURBANK TO COMMERCIALIZE HIS GREATEST TRIUMPH.

California Plant Wonder-Worker Transforms Thorny Growth Into Nutritious Food for Man and Beast.

San Francisco.—Luther Burbank, who has illumined the world with floral sunshine and made men glad because of the fruits and vegetables he has coaxed from the earth with scientific genius that spread his name and fame throughout the nations, is about to commercialize his "greatest triumph."

What the California plant wonder-worker proposes to do seems to many impossible, but, viewed in the light of his past achievements, almost anything may be expected from this creative king of the farm and gardens of Santa Rosa. He proposes to feed man and beast on cactus plants.

Mr. Burbank is about prepared to flood the markets of the world with a spineless, thornless, fruit-bearing, nutritious cactus that will prove a dietary boon to mankind and will tickle the palates of pigs, cattle, sheep and horses.

What Mr. Burbank has done is to produce from the cactus a plant destined to be of inestimable value as forage and also as food. At a model nursery established for the propagation of his discovery in the Salton Sea district of California there are now 1,200 of these growing, flourishing plants. As a result of his long and patient labors he has produced several varieties, which, reproducing from the leaves broken off and thrust into the ground, will yield through succeeding generations a limitless supply of food and fodder.

For human beings the product of the cactus is said to have more food value than any other vegetable, containing more of the minerals and salts—iron, potassium, manganese, calcium, magnesium and soda—that are upbuilders of the nerve cells.

The thornless cactus will be ready for the market in the spring of 1909, when there will be half a million of the plants flourishing. Some idea of their present value may be gained from the knowledge that Mr. Burbank sold five leaves for seed to an Australian company for $5,000, with the proceeds from which he built a new bungalow at Santa Rosa.

The wonderful plant has been developed with great secrecy, but now Mr. Burbank is ready for the world to know all about it and to await expectantly for the proof of the cactus pudding in the eating thereof.

For many years Mr. Burbank has been considered by horticulturists the first of the world's many experiment-ers for the improvement of fruits and vegetables.

Born in a little Massachusetts town in 1849, he spent his boyhood on a farm and early began his attempts to change plant life. The first result of his studies and labors was the well-known Burbank potato, a great improvement over potatoes in cultivation at the time it was originated.

With little special education, in the academic sense, for his work, he was forced into outdoor life by his delicate health and devoted his whole time to experimenting. In 1876, when he was 26 years old, he realized the advantage of the California climate for his work and removed there. The most famous of his productions is perhaps the stoneless prune.

Mr. Burbank's work was carried on for years at his own expense, but of late, he has received $10,000 a year from the Carnegie fund. He is unmarried, lives quietly on his little place in Santa Rosa, and seldom leaves it except for the delivery of lectures at Leland Stanford university, where he is a special lecturer on evolution, or for some business connected with his work.

HOLLAND SOCIETY TABLET.

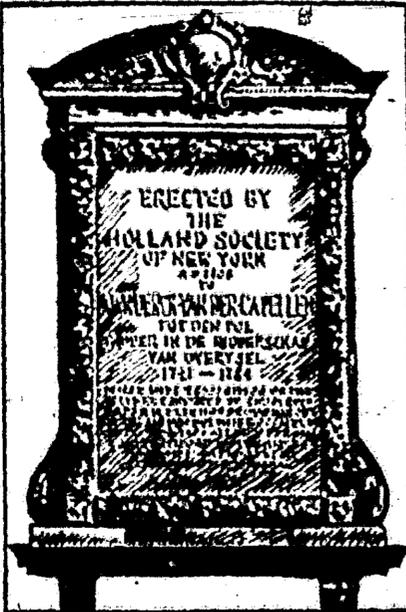

Commemorates Aid Given in Revolutionary War.

New York.—A tablet erected by the Holland society of New York on a public building in Zwolle, state of Overysel, Holland, was unveiled with appropriate ceremonies on June 6. It is to commemorate the services of Baron Joan Derek van der Capellen in behalf of the united colonies of America in their struggle for independence from the yoke of England.

The Society for the Study of Jurisprudence and History in Overysel gave all assistance in its power in the erection of the tablet, and, because of the international importance of the project, took part in the unveiling ceremonies, which were attended by many prominent officers and citizens of both countries.

The tablet is of bronze, 68 inches long and 37½ inches wide, and was designed and cast by the Gorham manufacturing company at its Providence plant. The inscription on the tablet is as follows:

"Erected by the Holland society of New York, A. D. 1908, to Joan Derek van der Capellen tot den pol Ridder in der Ridderschap Van Overysel, 1741-1784, in grateful recognition of the services rendered by him during the war of the revolution in behalf of the United Colonies of North America, 1775-1783, which materially contributed toward the establishment of their independence as a nation."

Tablet Set Up as Token of Gratitude.

The Final Test.

The angel was making up the list. "Put me down," said the man, "as one who will admit that my dog bites and my baby cries."

And lo! Ben Adhem's name led all the rest!

"How about baseball? Do you take two or three afternoons a week to see the game?"

"Don't like baseball, sir."

The old broker bit the end off his cigar.

"My boy," he said, quietly, "this is the twenty-ninth story, isn't it?"

"I think so, sir."

"Well, it is not high enough for you."

"Not high enough for me, sir?"

"No, you belong up in paradise."—Chicago News.

IMPRESSED THE LITTLE ONE.

Department of Colored Gentleman a Matter of Admiration.

Little Elsie, who had recently returned from a visit to Washington, was describing to her companion some of the wonderful things she had observed in the Capital City.

"One evening," said she, breathlessly, "papa took me to have supper at a grand hotel where the dining room was awfully big, and at the tables around us sat great senators and representatives with their wives, all drinking champagne!"

"I suppose the manners of these great persons were perfect?" ventured her companion, with widened eyes.

"Yes," returned Elsie. "But," she added, with a sudden burst of enthusiasm, "the department of the colored gentlemen who served the wine was perfectly beautiful!"

"Many a man who knows himself hasn't any cause to boast of the acquaintance."

The largest thoughts are an outcome from the heart.—Nerval.

FULLY NOURISHED

Grape-Nuts a Perfectly Balanced Food.

No chemist's analysis of Grape-Nuts can begin to show the real value of the food—the practical value as shown by personal experience.

It is a food that is perfectly balanced, supplies the needed elements of brain and nerves in all stages of life from the infant, through the strenuous times of active middle life, and is a comfort and support in old age.

"For two years I have used Grape-Nuts with milk and a little cream, for breakfast. I am comfortably hungry for my dinner at noon."

"I use little meat, plenty of vegetables and fruit in season, for the noon meal, and if tired at tea time, take Grape-Nuts alone and feel perfectly nourished."

"Nerve and brain power, and memory are much improved since using Grape-Nuts. I am over sixty and weigh 155 lbs. My son and husband seeing how I have improved, are now using Grape-Nuts."

"My son, who is a traveling man, eats nothing for breakfast but Grape-Nuts and a glass of milk. An aunt, over 70, seems fully nourished on Grape-Nuts and cream." "There's a Reason."

THE GAME OF WAR

UNCLE SAM'S SOLDIERS AT THEIR SUMMER MILITARY PRACTICE

BLACK RIVER, SOUTHERN BOUNDARY OF THE NEW CAMP.

Fair Peace is winning her way into the hearts of the world powers slowly but surely, so that the probability of Grim War breaking forth in one of his wild tantrums is growing less and less likely, and yet there is always the possibility that the giant will awake and it is the part of wisdom, so the nations feel, to learn the war game during the reign of the aforesaid fair Peace. This is particularly true of the European powers, but while the military establishment of the United States is insignificant as compared with those of her neighbors across the Atlantic, there is the same purpose and ambition to practice the arts of war and to work out the problems which would be met with in the case of actual conflict.

This strife for military and naval efficiency has developed an elaborate scheme of summer campaigning so that the army of the east, and the army of the west, together with the coast defenses and the navy, are kept busy in field operations and naval maneuvers as they are at no other time of the year.

Interest in this war game centers in the east, because there not only the soldiers, but the navy and the coast defenses enter into the spectacular display, which will continue through June and well into July. Hostile fleets will sail through the lower bay at New York. Troops will go tramping through the streets or across the fields to defend the fortifications. Real shells ranging from 5 to 12 inches, driven by full charges of powder, just as if war were in full progress and New York were being assailed by a great fleet of battleships, will screech through the air and plow the waters of the harbor.

There are doubtless persons who will wonder why shells of such gigantic proportions should be distributed over the waters of the lower bay, the gateway of half of the foreign commerce of a nation of 80,000,000 people. "Can't this practice at shooting be done where there is less danger of doing damage?" perhaps the thoughtless will ask. An army officer, if he thought himself privileged to talk, would reply that New York would be one of the choice pickings of war and that it is essential to have practice in the manipulation of the engines for protecting the city if it is to be protected properly.

The noise accompanying this display of military energy may lead some persons to think that Staten Island is the center of a war, but in reality it will be only a local evidence of what is likely to be the most important, because most practical, military practice ever held in this country. One million dollars having been appropriated for the purpose, coast defense drills by the regular army and the coast defense regiments of the state militia are to be conducted on all the coasts of the United States, and in all the military departments there are to be camps of instruction, at which the state militia and national infantry and cavalry will work out together practical military problems.

In the coast defense work in the fortifications there will be not only firing at targets and practice in detecting at night the approach of an enemy's fleet as personated by a few government tugs, but the solving of such problems as this:

"The enemy has landed a force of 50,000 men at Long Branch with the intention of approaching the fortifications of New York in the rear and cutting them off."

This will set the officers in command to studying methods of protecting the fortifications. They will issue orders, and the troops will take the positions they would occupy in real war. The practicing officers and troops will be expected actually to defend the fort and fire the guns if the enemy is met. The solutions of the various problems in all their details will be placed on file at the various fortifications for the use of the defenders in case of actual war. It is expected that in course of time every possible way in which the fortifications can be attacked and defended by different sized forces will be actually worked out in this way, ready for use in case of an emergency.

It is a busy time with the department of the east, for the burning of powder at Forts Wadsworth and Hamilton will be a modest part of the warlike operations which will be carried on under the direction of Maj. Gen. Grant, commander of the department. There will be similar operations at the fortifications about Baltimore, at both ends of Long Island sound, along the shores of Narragansett bay and about Boston harbor. There will also be a camp of instruction at Pine Plains, a level stretch of land bordering on the curving reaches of the Black river at Felt's Mills, about nine miles from Watertown, N. Y., including the solution of problems which the popular mind, untrammelled with technicalities of a military or any other nature, delights to style sham battles.

Altogether there will be about 20,000 men engaged. Of these about 11,600 will discover the taste of the dust of Pine Plains, while the remainder will be learning how to protect their eardrums in the fortifications. A large proportion of these troops will be militia from the states of Maryland, New Jersey, Pennsylvania, New York, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont, there being less than 3,000 regulars at Pine Plains.

Gen. Grant, who is to command the troops at the camp of instruction in person, when asked what he hoped to learn from the work, said:

"I am the teacher, so you could hardly expect that I would learn anything from the problems themselves. I hope to get better acquainted with both the regulars and the state troops, the personnel and the personal equation. I expect to learn what the different officers can do best. The value of this is that in case of need I would know how to assign the officers and troops."

"The state militia as a whole is more effective now than four years ago. The improvement has been greater in some states than in others. This is due to the greater interest manifested in some states. There is an increasing interest in all the states and a very great interest in many of them. There is more hard work being done from a military point of view."

Then He Knew.

Only for Heaven.

Mother—Just run up stairs, Tommy, and fetch baby's night gown.

Tommy—Don't want to.

Mother—Oh, well, if you're going to be unkind to your new little sister she'll put on her wings and fly back again to heaven.

Tommy—Then let her put on her wings and fetch her nightgown!—Punch.

Sufficient Excuse.

A tiny four-year-old was spending a night away from home. At bedtime she knelt at the knee of her hostess to say her prayers, expecting the usual prompting. Finding Mrs. B unable to help her out, she concluded thus:

"Please, God, excuse me. I can't remember my prayers, and I'm staying with a lady who don't know any."—Home Herald.

We Cannot.

"If we give women votes, will they want to run for all the offices?"

"I don't think so. Can you imagine a woman setting up the ice cream co-das for people not oven in her set?"

A POLITICAL COMMUNICATION.

We are in receipt of a communication this week from some of our republican friends at Lincoln, which makes a strong plea for the nomination of Judge Mann for delegate to congress. There are two reasons, however, why we refrain from publishing the letter, notwithstanding a desire on our part to accommodate our Lincoln friends, and they are: First, to do so would place the News in a position of taking a partisan stand in republican affairs, a position it does not like to assume; for other candidates for this honor have loyal supporters in this county, and the News does not wish to incur their displeasure by taking part in an affair which is, and properly, to be settled by republicans alone. Second: The communication was unsigned, save by the mere word "Committee," and communication for publication must have an individual signature attached; though, if the writer requests it, the article may appear and the writer's name withheld.

Millinery Store Changes.

Miss Minnie Bourne has purchased the millinery store on Main street, which has been conducted for several months by Miss Minnie Tapp. She will remove the stock to C. H. Brown's store on El Paso avenue, where she will open a millinery parlor. Miss Bourne will be pleased to greet all old customers at her new place of business, and also all who desire anything in up-to-date millinery.

AN AUTOMOBILE PARTY.

A party of automobilists made the trip to Gran Quivera and return Sunday, a distance of 45 miles. They left here about 6:30 in the morning, arrived at the ruins before noon, took lunch there, and, after exploring this ancient and silent city for two hours, started on their return, reaching Carrizozo at seven in the evening. Walker Hyde drove the car. The passengers were R. G. Parvin, wife and baby, Geo. and Arthur Johnson.

A New Depot.

Plans for a new depot for Carrizozo have been drawn, submitted and approved, so we have been reliably informed. The work of construction is to begin in a few days. The structure is to be a two-story frame, the first story to be used for baggage and express, office and waiting room. The second story is to be utilized by the trainmaster, the despatcher, and assistants in these departments. The new building will adjoin the old depot on the west.

The many friends of Clay Van Schoyck are preparing a benefit play, to be given at Wetmore's hall on the 19th of August. The entertainment will be a vaudeville and promises to be a good one. It will be remembered that Van Schoyck was the ball player who had his leg broken on the July 4th, and, while he is getting along nicely, it will be many days before he will be able to be around and at his accustomed work.
