THE CAPITAN MOUNTAINEER

SIXTH YEAR NUMBER 37. CAPITAN, NEW MEXICO, DEC. 4 1920 SUBSCRIPTION PRICE $1.50 A YEAR.

Unwarranted Action.

Gov. Larrazolo's action pardoning the sixteen Mexican bandits in receiving the condemnation of the press and the people of the entire state. It was certainly the most unwarranted act of clemency ever exercised by any Governor of New Mexico, or of any state in the Union. There can be no justifiable reason for his action. It is the grossest imposition he could have offered the good people of the state; it is a direct insult to every soldier who helped protect our border against Villa and other bandit leaders that the lives and property of those exposed might be made safe, as well as to those who crossed the sea at the call of their country and fought in a foreign land. It has justified the murder of our people, if not in words, in action. This Governor has announced that when his term of office expires the first of January he will move to El Paso, Texas. It is a wise determination on his part. His doom is sealed in New Mexico; he has dug his own political grave. It is a poor offering that New Mexico sends to Texas, but our people will be rid of an undesirable citizen.

Why Spanish Should Be Studied.

Few people ever stop long enough to consider the fact that on the entire western hemisphere there are practically but two languages spoken with anything like generality—the English and the Spanish. True, Portuguese is spoken in some nations of South America, but as it is a cousin germane or even closer to Spanish, it is not considered in this connection. But with this fact to be considered, it would seem that Spanish should be made a part of the curriculum in every high school or college. Yet in how many is it taught, and how many pupils take such a course? How much better to devote time and effort to the acquisition of a "live" language than to the useless (from a practical standpoint) study of a dead one?—New York Review.

The above article sounds a keynote that is worthy of attention. The Spanish is a language that should be studied and understood by the English speaking people of all this part of the western country, for the reason that we are among and closely associated with people, the large majority of whom, speak very little if any English. It is very inconvenient and embarrassing to try to converse and transact business with a person who doesn't understand your language nor you his. With an understanding of the Spanish language such an embarrassing situation could be avoided. The Spanish language is taught in the high schools and colleges of this state, but it is absolutely necessary that before intelligently conversing and doing business with Spanish speaking people that you have some understanding at least of their language.

Dr. C. H. Culdice, of the East Grand Plains community, has been awarded the contract for the pruning and trimming of the Titsworth orchard on the Sunset ranch, and on other orchards near Capitan. He expects to put a crew of ten men on the job, and it is thought the work can comp'ed in 60 days.—Roswell Daily News.

Twitchell is said to be booked for a job in the diplomatic service which will take him either to Spain or to Mexico, where he can incidently follow his bent for historic research in government archives and make further contributions to New Mexico history.

A Priest Kills Two Bears.

San Antonio, Texas, Nov. 26—How Padre Pablo Martinez parish priest of Analco, Durango, Mexico, fought two ferocious bears in the Sierra Madre mountains and saved the life of his boy companion by plunging a knife into the heart of one of the animals is related in San Antonio by Father Eugene Sugranes, of the Missionary Sons of the Immaculate Heart of Mary, with headquarters here.

Padre Martinez a few days ago received an urgent sick call which took him away from his recnory a long distance on horse back through the rugged mountains of that vicinity. Accompanied by a boy, he began the long trip, carrying a rifle, a hunting knife and some rations. Suddenly, while in the rocky fastness of the mountains they were attacked by two large bears. The boy fainted but the priest kept his composure. He shot one bear, killing it instantly. In the meantime the other bear jumped on the unconcious form of the boy and was preparing to tear the flesh when Padre Martinz came to the rescue with his hunting knife. As the blade plunged into the heart of the bear the animal relaxed its grasp on the boy and gradually sank to the ground where it bled to death. After the boy was revived with a dash of cold water, the pair proceeded on their journey, reaching their destination not far from the scene of the encounter. Some Indians who were told of the incident took the carcasses of the bears to Durango where they skinned and the pelts distributed among the tribe. The meat, weighing approximately 1,500 pounds, was also given to the Indians.

EMMETT PATTON,

To Correspondents.

We will once make a special request to correspondents of this paper. We will not only make a request but we are adopting a rule which we will adhere to strictly hereafter. We are glad to publish news correspondence from any part of the county, as we know it makes the paper more readable, but it MUST be received not later than Thursdays, and earlier if possible. Of course in case of some unusual happening we would get it in up to the time of going to press. On the last of the week, we are always busy setting up local news happening and other news matter that can't be secured the first days of the week, and when correspondence comes late, it helps delay the paper. This rule not only applies to country correspondents, but to parties who furnish news notes or reports. Hereafter, when such things come in late their publication will have to be omitted until the following week. Now, will correspondents please bear this in mind.
