10-Year-Old Panama Canal Passes Suez

World's Greatest Artificial Interoceanic Waterway.

Washington.—"Ten years old in August, the Panama canal is still a lusty youngster that already is in outgrowing its original clothes and has Uncle Sam wondering if it will need larger garments.

"In traffic handled it has passed middle-aged, fifty-five-year-old Suez canal and is now the world's greatest artificial interoceanic waterway.

"At the present rate of traffic growth the canal will have to be greatly enlarged before it is three decades older.

"This is a thumb-nail sketch of the accomplishments of America's 'Big Ditch' on the eve of its second decade," says a bulletin from the Washington headquarters of the National Geographic society. The waterway was formally opened to the world August 15, 1914.

"The Panama canal's birthday achievement gives the United States the proprietorship of the two busiest canals in the world, the Panama and the Sault Ste. Marie," explains the bulletin. "The latter still handles twice as much traffic as the Panama canal, although it is open only eight months of the year.

"Panama canal's ten-year record reads like the story of the traditional American boy, rising from poverty to wealth. It is a record of financial success beyond the dreams of many of its ardentest adherents; it is a record of service success; it is a triumph of sanitation; it is, as Viscount Bryce predicted, 'The greatest engineering achievement of history or of prospect.'

"In 1913 canal tolls totaled more than $17,000,000 against expenses of $4,017,000, a net profit equal to more than 5½ per cent of the construction cost of the canal, $375,000,000. In 1923 nearly 4,000 vessels passed from ocean to ocean. But still fiscal year of 1924 far eclipsed 1923. Of the 207,000,000 cargo tons transferred in the decade, more than a fourth is credited to 1924 and the tolls rose to $14,000,000. Expenditure figures are not yet available.

Canal Gets Birthday Gift.

"President Coolidge recently gave the deserving Panama canal a birthday present; an executive order putting nine hundred miles of additional country for the Canal Zone. This acquisition will be converted into a large reservoir to take up the Chagres floods which would otherwise go over the Gatun dam spillway.

"The new Alhajuela project will further increase the size of Gatun lake, which is already the largest artificial body of water in the world.

"Ever since the Panama canal was proposed predictions of its great boon to trade have filled the press. Ten years show what the canal is good for. Oil is king at Panama today, the figures show. The tonnage of oils, chiefly crude and refined petroleum, passing through from the Pacific to the Atlantic exceeds the total of all other products.

"From the United States industrial east coast exchanging its particular types of wood for the west coast's native trees. Wheat from western Canada instead of flowing to Europe by the lakes and rivers of the St. Lawrence system, goes to Vancouver now and is shipped to England via Colon.

All Kinds of Odors.

"All the odors, scents and smells rising from a crowded Far East port cannot match those at Panama. Tankers with blood from South America, camphor from Japan, cigarettes from Ander forests, garlic, hair, edible and whale oils from the Far East, iodine from Chile, perfume from France, onions from California, peanuts and tea from China, rubber from Singapore, copra from the South seas, and pungent asparagus from Baltimore, all pass at Panama. But probably no port in Araby dispatches its sketches and its scents in sanitary oxygen and antiseptic sunshine as Panama does. The Canal Zone, from Panama City on the Pacific to Cristobal and Colon on the Caribbean, is antiseptic and well swept as a Dutch kitchen.

"In ten years more than 23,000 ships have transited the canal. These ships paid for this privilege $37,500,000; a sum equal to more than one-fourth the total construction cost. An average of 19 vessels a day now passed through the canal and each day the United States collects $53,000 tolls."

Has New Device to Record Quakes

Greater Accuracy Is Also Promised by Savant.

Washington.—The Georgetown university seismological observatory, which in the last 10 years has given to the world first news of many earthquakes, now assures the public that its reports in the future will be even more dependable.

The university today has among its instruments a new seismograph, known as the Galitzin vertical seismograph, the only one of its kind on this side of the Atlantic.

The special features of this delicate piece of apparatus give magnetic registration and photographic recording, whereby the element of friction in the other types of machines is entirely eliminated. Accordingly, the machine will permit of the recording of many more of the world's quakes and permit of a more accurate interpretation of the writings of a shaking earth.

Hourly checking of the Jesuit seismological station places the number of quakes felt sensibly or instrumentally the world over from 9,000 to 10,000 yearly. Of these in the past only from 90 to 110 have been annually recorded at Georgetown. Father Francis A. Tondorf, director of the observatory, hopes that this number may now reach from 200 to 400.

When it first was founded in 1911 the Georgetown observatory had only one seismograph—of the Wiechert type. It carried a stationary mass of 80 kilos. The rocking during windstorms of the south tower of the Healy building, in whose base the instruments were at first placed, necessitated their removal to a cave beneath the quadrangle.

Father Tondorf inaugurated the work at Georgetown when, in 1910, the International Seismological society requested the Jesuit order, with many colleges in the United States, to establish a chain of stations in this country.

Standing Room Only Puts "Pep" in the Turk

Constantinople.—The new prefect of Constantinople, Djelal Bey, to instill the spirit of "hustle" into the prefecture officials, has given orders that no chairs be allowed in any office except the chairs occupied by the officials themselves.

This is intended to discourage the inveterate habit of Turkish officials of comfortably installing their brothers visiting, treating them to coffee, and gossiping interminably without getting down to business.

Wealthy Man Creates New Town in Ulster

Woerner is living with his daughter, Mrs. Edward Smith, at present.

The same turtle was found by Reel once before about 100 yards from where it was discovered this time.

Declares New Glands Give Sheep More Wool

Liege, Belgium.—Dr. Serge Voronoff, famous French surgeon, addressing a scientific congress here, claimed it would be possible to increase the yield of wool by applying his gland transplantation operation to sheep.

Although the operation cannot be performed successfully on all sheep, he said, he hoped to be able to create a special breed by operation on the direct descendants of a certain number of picked specimens.

The experiment was already being made, he announced, on a flock of 3000 sheep in Algeria, and also on a number of goats.

An attack on the government's new oil lease inquiry was made in the supreme Court of the District of Columbia a few days ago on behalf of Albert B. Fall, former secretary of the interior, now under indictment. Fall's lawyers, asking for a rule to show why the new proceedings should not be quashed, contended they were "merely a fishing expedition" not designed to obtain indictments, but to obtain evidence. The government's special oil counsel have revealed the nature of the latest inquiry, which began several days ago before a grand jury in Washington.

HARRY WILLS BEATS FIRPO

WILLS HAD BEST OF EVERY ROUND IN BOUT AT JERSEY CITY.

WINS PRESS DECISION

ARGENTINE FIGHTER GOES DOWN TO DEFEAT BEFORE GIANT NEGRO HEAVYWEIGHT

Jersey City, N. J.—Harry Wills battered his way to a smashing one-sided victory over Luis Angel Firpo in a gruelling 12-round battle before a throng estimated at 75,000 in Boyle's Thirty Acres. Dominating the fight from start to finish, with an exhibition of ring craft that completely spiked Firpo's heaviest gun, his famous right, Wills beat the giant Argentine into decisive defeat with a bruising, relentless attack to the head and body.

Firpo was knocked down for a count of four in the second round, staggered in several others by lightning-like thrusts to his jaw and subjected to a succession of savage, weakening drives to the body. Shorn of his chief and only potent weapon, the Argentine fought a losing battle all the way. His gameness carried him through the terrific punishment his negro rival administered, but he had not the boxing skill, speed or versatility of attack to cope with the crafty, resourceful and relentless campaign of his opponent.

No official decision was rendered, as none is permitted under New Jersey ring laws, but there was no question of the outcome. Firpo, in the opinion of some critics, barely held his own in one round, the third, while the big majority of newspaper critics gave every round to the negro.

The crowd which filled the big bowl close to capacity had come in expectation of a knockout, with opinion about evenly divided as to which of the two ring giants would score it. But instead they saw Wills, the ring master and wily veteran, batter and wrestle his way to a confusing but unexciting victory.

The brown panther was at his best, employing all his strategy to completely baffle his opponent, but Firpo was not the Wild Bull he had been in his other battles. Shorn of the mighty smash that sent Jack Dempsey flying out of the ring a year ago, the South American's attack was impotent and his defense was too crude to avoid the continual barrage of Wills' blows.

Wills employed all the tricks of his trade to stand off Firpo's charges. The big negro continually held Firpo with his long left and wrestled the Argentine about while he administered terrific punishment with short right jolts to the head and body. At close range Firpo was heartbreaking, helpless and at times handled like a child by his dusky rival.

Several times during the fight Firpo complained of Wills' tactics. His handlers, too, protested to Referee Tommy Sullivan that Wills was unfair, but Sullivan refused to heed them, pointing out that they had agreed to fight in the clinches as long as one hand was free.

This agreement, as the fight progressed toward an apparently inevitable end, became of increasing advantage to Wills. Footer and shifter, the big negro dug, rights and lefts into Firpo's body at close quarters, occasionally stung the Argentine with rapierlike shots to the head and raised red welts on the South American's left side.

Firpo's gameness was his only asset in his last analysis, for he was lapped, out-generaled, out-boxed and out-punched at every turn. The Argentine's remarkable recuperative powers enabled him to weather the storm, but that was all he could do.

Prince Enjoys Fox Hunt

Syosset, N. Y.—For three and one-half hours the Prince of Wales rode to hounds, holding a firm seat on a white horse, which carried him over twelve mile fences, took him over a score of ditches and over many miles of Long Island fields. According to reports given out in Las Vegas last week, the crops in the eastern and northern parts of the state will be much better than those of the year of 1923. While the bean crop of the Estancia valley will not be up to the first estimates, it will run about 60 per cent and it is now believed that over 300 cars will be sent to the markets of the north and east. The quality of the pintos is reported good and owing to a shortage in other parts of the country the farmers will get the top notch prices for the product. The fruit crop is also good and many car loads of apples will be shipped during the fall. In the southern parts of the state the crops are also better than last season.

As the result of the big membership drive of the Artesia Chamber of Commerce, the organization now has a membership of over 100 strong and one of the livest bodies of the kind in the state. Over twenty new members were secured.

Bigelow, secretary, and three others were indicted by the federal grand jury at Albuquerque, charged with conspiring to make false statements in an application by that company to the War Finance Corporation for an advance of $200,000. The other three named in the indictment are Walter C. Hubbard, cashier of the Sierra County Bank of Hillsboro; Arch Lathan and J. P. Nunn, Sierra County cattlemen. Herndon was president of the now defunct State-National Bank of Albuquerque and also the Sierra County Bank. McDonald was an officer of the former. Hugh N. Gage, former cashier of the First National Bank of Hope, N. M., was charged with embezzlement of $3,000 of the bank's funds.

The plant of Douglas fir and western yellow pine near Glenwood which are being used as experimental reforestation projects were inspected last week by G. A. Pearson, silviculturist, who is in charge of the Fort Valley experiment station at Flagstaff. He was accompanied by Robert C. Bolton of the Mimbres forest headquarters office. A movement is under way for the reforestation of nearly 400,000 acres of denuded timber land in New Mexico and Arizona. A survey of this work was recently made by R. E. Marsh of the district forest office.

SCHOOL NOTES

By F. S. COPELAND.

School opened Monday morning with a decided increase in the upper grades, and a light enrollment in the lower rooms. This will, no doubt, be materially added to later. Many families are away working and have not yet returned for the school year. Fifty-six have started in high school. The high school faculty is composed of F. S. Copeland, superintendent, of the University of Nebraska; Mrs. R. J. Carter, home economics, from Oklahoma State Teachers College; Miss Helen Fleming, commercial, from the University of Colorado; Miss Sarah Townsend, Spanish, from Coe College at Cedar Rapids, Iowa. The grade faculty is composed of Lewis Cummins, fifth and sixth; Miss Geneva Coffey, third and fourth; Miss Catherine Spence, first and second; Miss Merle McClure, primary and music. The Fort Stanton teacher is Miss Virginia Scott. Everything points to a prosperous school year and we hope the prospect will not be dimmed.

Miss Viva Robertson, state supervisor of vocational home economics, and H. W. Gardner, state agricultural supervisor, spent Thursday forenoon in inspection of the Capitan schools.

Through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. G. S. Hoover, the faculty greatly enjoyed a moonlight picnic on the Mesa Monday night. Many from Fort Stanton were also in attendance.

Work is starting nicely and we hope that parents will see their children are both regular and punctual in attendance.

NINETY-NINE YEARS—Is it possible that there be so many as one unbiased party, not directly concerned in the case, that can with conscience say the Messrs. Leopold and Loeb, super-intellectuals and master minds in the gentle art of painless murders, received justice in the Illinois court, as interpreted by the statutes of that great commonwealth? We don't believe so.

We take no stock in the insidious comment to the effect that Judge Caverly was illegally influenced by pecuniary gain from bulging purses of the wealthy sires of the self confessed murderers, nor do we think the prominence of the convicted youth's families could be the cause for the verdict which has prostituted the statute books of the state of Illinois. We do say the jurist erred when he based his neck-saving and "justice tempered with mercy" verdict in the case. In the first place, Judge Caverly was supposed to do neither more nor less than the statutory law of the State prescribed in the premises, any excess of the written law or any failure on the part of the judge to impose the full letter and intent thereof is nothing short of a transfer of the law making powers of the government from the legislative to the judicial, and anyone so stripping one branch of its constitutional powers, except by due process of law, is guilty of theft and embezzlement of power.

The eminent Chicago jurist stressed the youthfulness of the criminals as a mitigating circumstance, and the one and only motive for his act of electing the criminal code of his state. Is it to be established as a principle, with his late decision as a precedent therefor, that capital punishment only applies to persons who have attained the age of twenty-one or more years? Sixty-one percent of the crimes committed in the United States are at the hands of boys and girls who have not come into voting age. What can we reasonably expect when our juvenile offenders recognize the fact that the worst they can get is an incarceration in one of those modern penal institutions with a battery of alienists and sympathetic legislators to assault the bastile and again inflict them upon a patient and helpless public, which is to supply the victims for their future nefarious operations?

Judge Caverly erred further in assuming that mental qualities capable of knowing the precise spot to which a chisel could be applied to produce a quick, painless death were incapable of realizing the enormity of the criminal act.

None is clamoring for the blood of the murder firm of Leopold & Loeb, and we are far from being an exception. Even the little victim's father expressed a desire that the scions of those two powerful Chicago families should not pay for the crime with their lives. It was a most Christian utterance on the part of that grief-stricken parent, and if he alone should be consulted, then, and in that event, Judge Caverly's decision would have received public sanction and the motives of the court would not have been imputed. But there is a higher obligation to be met in the matter, a debt which each individual member of society owes to such society to the point of sacrifice.—The greatest good that would accrue to the public as a whole. Laws, contrary to general belief, are not written down in our statue books to avenge wrongful acts against society, but that the greater number composing that society might be served—The law is NOT vengeful.

The laws of the great state are not exceptions to the rule. The statutes composing the criminal code were promulgated for the sole purpose of regulating and prohibiting acts of violence toward the general public by individuals, separately and collectively. Into the laws was written a statute which indicated that kidnapping and holding for ransom was a grevious offense that deprived one of one's liberty and confiscated one's goods, to both of which one had a constitutional right. To prevent the convicted kidnapper from again committing such an act against the public good it was written that he should be hanged by the neck until dead, or locked up for a period not exceeding ninety-nine years, depending on the manner in which the crime was committed.

In the same book it is recorded that anyone depriving another of life has not only broken God's commandment but is also guilty of crime against organized society and should, for the good of society, either be hanged or given a penitentiary term for a period of time, not to exceed ninety-nine years, depending on the brutality and deliberation with which the crime was committed.

Leopold and Loeb confessed to the kidnapping of the 14-year old Franks boy from his school and to writing letters to the frantic parents of the boy, in which they demanded a certain amount of money as ransom for returning the child. Thus they convicted themselves on the first count of the first capital offense, which was for money, the manner being of the most imaginable deliberation and coldbloodedness. According to the laws covering this offense, alone, they should have been hanged. The Judge seemed more concerned about age limits and the spectacular than he did about the law and the protection of the society he had sworn to uphold. He failed of duty.

Confessions and substantiating evidence showed, beyond a reasonable doubt, that the murder was deliberately planned, the little lad being subjected to the most disgusting unprintable indecencies that could only have been brewed in the lowest pits of hell and given to the world by these two arch-fiends incarnate—Nathan Leopold Jr. and Richard Loeb.

It is a pity our courts are losing the respect of the people. It is a terrible strain on the advocates of American institutions to be forever placed on the defensive for their stand.

Judge Caverly you have erred.

It is estimated the land slide near our city, would fill every cow in the United States Dallas—Wichita Falls.

REPUBLICAN COUNTY CONVENTION HELD MONDAY.

REFUSE TO ENDORSE BURSUM FOR U. S. SENATOR.

Motion to Send Delegation to Santa Fe Instructed for Junior Senator is Ordered Tabled.

At the Convention of Lincoln County Republicans, held here Monday for the purpose of electing eighteen delegates to represent this county at the Republican State Convention at Santa Fe the 23rd inst., very little friction was developed, the various committees performing their alloted duties with dispatch and satisfaction.

The nearest approach to a rupture came after the delegates to the State Convention had been elected. At this time the meeting was thrown into an uproar when Sam J. Bigger offered a motion to the effect that the delegation go to Santa Fe instructed to support the candidacy of H. O. Bursum for United States Senator. After heated discussion of the motion, pro and con, Mr. Bigger's motion was tabled, the convention going on record as being opposed to instructed delegations. One speaker who opposed the Bigger motion paid eloquent tribute to the junior Senator when he said nobody doubted that the convention was for Mr. Bursum.

In the absence of County Chairman J. B. French, Secretary E. H. Sweet called the convention to order promptly at 2 p.m.

The convention elected R. A. Duran temporary coairman and C. H. Patterson temporary secretary.

A motion was made that the chair be authorized to appoint three members on each of the following committees: Rules on Order of Business, Credentials Committee, and Committee on Permanent Organization. An amendment to this motion was offered by H. B. Hamilton to the effect that the Credential Committee be eliminated, that time might be saved. The motion, so amended, was carried, the chair appointing the following committees:

Rules On Order of Business—H. B. Hamilton, Mrs. C. M. Fisher and Geo. Romero.

Permanent Organization Committee—Sam Kelsey, Alfredo Gonzales and Mrs. Harry Comrey.

After a fifteen minute recess to allow the committees time for deliberation, the convention was called to order to hear the following reports:

Your committee on Permanent Organization hereby suggests the temporary organization be made permanent.

Your committee on Rules on Order of Business submit the following as its report—1. Report on Permanent Organization. 2. Selection of Delegates to represent Lincoln County at the State Convention. 3. To transact any other business that might properly come before this convention.

On motions, duly made and seconded, the above reports were adopted in the order named.

A motion by E. H. Sweet empowering the Chair to canvass the convention for Delegates to Santa Fe was met by a motion that the delegates be elected from the floor. The counter motion lost, but an amendment to Mr. Sweet's motion, made by Chas. Curry, that a nominating committee composed of one delegate from each precinct was adopted. The motion of Mr. Sweet was carried in the amended form.

The Nominating Committee having made known its readiness to report, the Chair called the convention to order after the five minute recess that had been made pending the conclusions of the committee, and the following names were submitted to the convention as a whole: Bob Brady, Alvino Romero, Harry Comrey, Mrs. Harry Comrey, Mrs. C. M. Fisher, A. E. Rohde, Geo. A. Titsworth, E. O. Jones, Chas. Curry, G. A. Freidenbloom, Tom Du Bois, Brack Sloan, H. B. Hamilton, Mrs. H. B. Hamilton, J. B. French, Joe Romero, Mrs. J. E. Farley, E. H. Sweet, Mrs. E. H. Sweet and Ensavio Carabal.

The convention adopted the report of the Nominating Committee without a dissenting vote.

It was also the will of the convention that the above named delegates act as representatives at the Judicial and District conventions, which will be held at Santa Fe.

At this juncture Mr. Bigger made the "Bursum" motion above mentioned: When the atmosphere had somewhat clarified, a motion by Henry Lutz to table the Bigger motion, was carried.

On motion of C. Hightower, duly seconded, the convention was declared adjourned, but the Chairman requested all members remain to set a date for the Precinct Primaries and County Convention, the latter to convene for the purpose of nominating a complete county ticket for the November election.

September 29, was agreed on as the date for the several Precinct Primaries.

Friday, September 27, was designated as the date for the county nominating body to convene at Lincoln.

Holstein Gets New Record

Chicago—The fourth consecutive year of over 31,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of butterfat makes Adirondac Wieiske Dairy Maid the production queen among 528,000 purebred Holstein Friesian cattle in the United States, the Holstein Friesian Association of America announced here. She is the only cow in the world to produce over 31,000 pounds of milk and 1,000 pounds of butterfat in four successive yearly test periods, according to Edward G. Hurst of the extension service of the association. All records by this cow were produced in the herd of the Bridgford Holstein Company, Patterson, Calif., where at 11 years of age she produced 31,517 pounds of milk and 1,095.62 pounds of butterfat. The tests did not start until the cow was nearly 8 years old. Her average for four successive yearly test periods is 32,349.9 pounds of milk and 1,048.13 pounds of butterfat.

Theater Men Acquitted

Craig, Colo.—The campaign being waged by the Rev. Y. S. Beans received a set back when A. A. Evans and Curtis Chapman, proprietors of the Victory motion picture theater, were found not guilty of operating a show on Sunday. The jury, in a justice court, reached its verdict without deliberation. If found guilty, Evans and Chapman announced several days ago, they planned to carry the case to the Supreme Court if necessary, basing their pleas on the fact that even were they guilty the state law prohibiting Sunday shows was obsolete, having been passed in the 1860s.

Roadbed of Gold Planned

Chicago.—Passengers on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy railroad east of Denver are to ride on a roadbed of gold. The right-of-way it was announced here for 100 miles will be ballasted with the slag from the gold and silver mines of Colorado. Each ton of this ballast contains at least $2 worth of gold ore, but the quantity is too small for the smelting companies to get out profitably with machinery now in use. Great piles of this slag have accumulated in and around Denver and other points in Colorado and the Burlington management has contracted for a large part of it.

Hollywood Wild Party Raided

Los Angeles, Calif.—Twenty members of Hollywood's motion picture colony were captured in a sensational raid at a Laurel canon residence when police interrupted an alleged wild party and held the actors on charges of prohibition law violations and disturbing the peace. Jules LeBaron, a motion picture production company president, Robert Cavillo, his director, and F. A. Datig, a casting director, were among those lodged in the Hollywood jail. All of those arrested gave assumed names, including five women, believed to be motion picture extras.

Large Pear Crop in Colorado

Denver.—Colorado is shipping the largest pear crop in its history. This season's crop, according to a Department of Agriculture report, runs 100,000 bushels more than the crop of 1921, which totaled 600,000 bushels. The shipping season on the western slope began August 8, when three cars of pears were shipped from Palisades, in Mesa county. By August 21, 200 cars had been shipped, compared with 250 cars for the same time last year. The largest day's shipment was twenty-nine cars, August 10. It is expected the shipments of pears from all parts of the state will total 750 cars. Olathe is the largest shipping point, with Grand Junction next and Palisades third.

Dust Explosion Cause of Fire

Milwaukee.—Fire, caused by a dust explosion, destroyed the Charles A. Krause Milling Company building and caused damage estimated at $1,500,000. One employee was burned seriously. An hour and a half after the explosion the ballers burst and the entire building collapsed.

Large Profit in Marine Insurance

Washington.—When the division of marine and engineering insurance of the Veterans' Bureau automatically passed out of existence, its books had work showed a net profit of more than $17,000,000, although it had paid claims totalling $11,470,000. The $30,000,000 appropriated by Congress as an operating fund Director Hines said the division was created ten years ago to insure American merchant vessels and their cargoes against the hazards of war.

Receiver Asked for Teapot Dome

Washington.—Owen J. Roberts and Atlee Pomerene, the special investigators of counsel, will ask the United States District Court at Cheyenne, Wyo., within a few days a receivership for operations of a lessee to Rear Admiral Joseph Strauss, who resigned as director of the Teapot Dome reserve. A selection has not yet been made. The court has indicated that in spite of the government's request the receivership may be left vacant for the present.

May Employ Guns to Get Airplane Started

Shooting an airplane out of a gun probably sounds like a wild flight of fancy, yet that method is under scientific test at the naval air station, Washington, says Popular Science Monthly, and may become the standard way of launching airplanes from warship decks.

The plane is placed in a small car, mounted on tracks that end at a platform on top of a battleship's turret. The car is connected by a series of pulleys with a piston inclosed in a gun. When the gun is fired, the piston is driven forward, pulling the car almost instantly into a speed of 60 miles an hour. At the end of the tracks hydraulic and spring buffers stop the car, and the plane is catapulted off, continuing under its own power.

BROOD SOWS DEMAND SPECIAL ATTENTION

Those who are expecting fall litters should pay special attention to the feeding of their brood sows. A sow that is not properly fed during the period of pregnancy cannot be expected to do her best at farrowing time.

The tendency is to rely too much upon corn as an exclusive feed for the sows. There are no harmful properties in corn; it is a good feed so far as its fattening qualities go, but it is not suitable for muscle and bone building. It is not necessary to exclude corn from the brood sow's rations—not at all; but it is necessary to feed with it something that is comparatively rich in protein, such as tankage, oil meal or shorts, the former being preferable in most cases because cheaper—not cheaper per ton but cheaper per pound of protein content.

A hog needs a certain amount of animal protein, and since it can nearly always be purchased cheaper in tankage than in any other form, why not use this product to a greater extent? A brood sow that is fed one pound of tankage with each peck of corn, while on pasture, will produce healthy, vigorous pigs.

A year ago last spring farrowing records were kept on 63 Kansas farms by the experiment station of that state. From these records it was found that 263 sows that were fed corn properly balanced with tankage, skim milk, oil meal or alfalfa, farrowed 2,669 pigs, or an average of 10.1 pigs per litter. These sows also had good surroundings and were well cared for. Of these pigs 64 per cent were raised to weaning time. In other words 6.5 pigs per litter were thrifty when old enough to wean.

Another lot of 160 sows, on 11 farms, farrowed an average of 7.2 pigs per sow and raised 3.8 pigs per litter. These sows had received practically nothing but corn. The unbalanced ration decreased the size of the weaned litters by 40 per cent. Such results are not uncommon; on the contrary, they invariably follow the feeding of corn alone to pregnant sows. A cow can no more produce muscle and bone out of corn, which is deficient in the constituents out of which they must be produced, than can a mason make mortar out of sand and water. One is as impossible as the other.

Feed a balanced ration to the brood sows now while they are carrying their litters and you will have a lot of strong pigs this fall.

Minerals Fed to Steers Found to Be Beneficial

Minerals for steers were tried at the Iowa station during the past winter. A mixture of 50 pounds ground limestone, 50 pounds sweet bone-black and one-third ounce of potassium iodide was fed to the steers at the rate of one ounce per head per day. The steers in this experiment got shelled corn, corn silage, clover hay and oil meal, with salt available at all times. The cattle which had minerals gained slightly better, had a better appetite and were a little better finished at the end of the feeding period than other cattle which had the same ration minus the minerals.

Mineral feeding to steers is still in the experimental stage, but the results of the Iowa station indicate that it may be worth while. Where good clover or alfalfa hay is fed, we should expect that minerals have less effect than in a ration in which the hay has less mineral matter than clover or alfalfa. Those who can easily secure the minerals can well afford to try the Iowa mixture with their next load of steers.

Profitable Practice to Feed Foals Fresh Grain

Foals should not be allowed to follow mares that are working on the farm, but should run together in a roomy, clean, well ventilated box stall or paddock. If a small pasture, surrounded by a good fence and containing shade is available, it makes a good place for foals. If fresh water is not available constantly, it should be supplied often.

The foals should be notched morning, noon and night and allowed to run with their dams during the night. In this way they go through the summer in good condition and can be weaned without any setback.

Foals will learn to eat readily and it is profitable to let them have access to clean, fresh grain. Two parts crushed corn, two parts crushed oats and one part bran is a satisfactory mixture. If crushed grain is not available, shelled corn and shelled oats may be used.

Hogs Thrive on Milk

"If pigs could choose their place of birth, I think they would be found exclusively on farms where operators are patrons of creameries," says George D. Dittle, Dunn county, Wisconsin.

There is no feed more economical and better suited for the rapid development of pork than skim milk. As pigs come to weaning time, they also need red dog or low grade flour and a little oilmeal, with shelled corn as a dry feed.

Turn Hogs Into Corn

It does not pay to turn hogs into corn much before the corn is ripe, or at least well dented. Practical feeders know that it takes just about as much feed to produce 100 pounds of gain, and there is a very large amount of water in corn, say in roasting-ear stage. The difference in actual feeding value between milk stage and mature stage would probably be from 30 to 40 per cent. For this reason, don't turn the hogs in too early; it's costly.

AFTER BABY WAS BORN

Back Weak and Painful, Mrs. Miller Benefited by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Rotan, Texas.—"I am writing to let you know how I have been benefited by taking your medicine. After my second baby was born my back was weak and hurt me continually, so I thought I'd try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I had read so much about where it had helped so many women. I had been bothered with my back for over a year, and it would hurt me until I could not do my work, which is keeping house for three and cooking and washing dishes. I tell all my friends if they have any kind of female troubles to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. You may use this testimonial if it will help any one."—Mrs. C. R. MILLER, R. F. D. No. 1, Box 76, Rotan, Texas.

In a recent country-wide canvass of purchasers of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound over 121,000 replies were received, and 98 out of every 100 reported they were benefited by its use. For sale by druggists everywhere.

Ice Drifts Far South

An unusual occurrence of ice in the North Pacific has been reported to the United States hydrographic office by the master of the American steamer, West Jessup, who relates having seen "a large and a small piece of drift ice" in latitude 41 degrees 03 minutes north, and longitude 144 degrees 2 minutes east. This is about 100 miles off the coast of Japan. Ice is seldom seen in the North Pacific anything like as far south as this; and the report indicates conditions along the east Asian coast exactly opposite to those prevailing along the east North American coast where icebergs and drift ice were rarer this spring than for many years.

"Well tell the world, and everybody else who has time to listen," says the Tifton Gazette, "that if we had been the girl who found a rattler under her dresser, we would have given up that room and all parts adjacent to the rattler. We never did much admire cephus, no way."

Which recalls the story of the Georgia farmer who was awakened from a sound sleep by his wife, who had seen a snake crawling from under the cover at his feet. He glanced at the snake and said: "No harm to it. Can't you see it's a kingsnake? Never wake me up again for less than a rattlesnake!"—Atlanta Constitution.

And the little god of love turn

SABBATH-DAY MEALS

The average family expects food a bit nicer and more apt of the ordinary on the Sabbath. With the overworked mother this is often an added burden. In many homes the children are taught to be thankful and as Saturday is usually a free day for the school-age child, part of the time may be profitably used in helping about the house. Vegetables may be prepared ready for cooking the day before, dessert made and salads ready for mixing.

When a roast is to be served it is cooked on Saturday and reheated for the Sunday dinner, saving that extra care. Mother needs a rest day as well as any member of the family.

A nice custom in some homes is to allow the father and boys, if any, to prepare the Sunday supper. With ingredients at hand they may make the things they like and it is usually a pleasure they look forward to. Of course they are not as careful of first about dishes and "messing up" the kitchen, but it will not be long before they will learn just how to do things.

What a comfort it is to know that the men and boys in the family are capable of preparing a wholesome meal when the emergency comes. It is worth much to them and to those who need to be served.

Gelatin desserts and those of jello may be prepared the day before, and with whipped cream make a most tasty dessert.

For supper an omelet or milk toast, a rarebit or sandwiches with a hot cup of cocoa may be easily prepared. If cup cakes are prepared the day before one may fill them with whipped cream if a very dainty cake is desired.

Ham Omelet.—Take smoked ham or bacon, cut into small bits and fry in a hot frying pan until well browned. Then add an egg or two for each person with a teaspoonful of cold water to each egg, beating all together until foamy. Pour in the egg and cook until well done on the bottom. Place in a hot oven to finish baking on top. Serve hot at once.

Hot cream soups are another easily prepared dish and one which the most of us enjoy.

FEELS IT HIS DUTY TO TELL THE FACTS

"Tanlac has meant so much to me in the way of improved health that I feel it a duty, as well as a pleasure, to recommend it," is the appreciative statement of J. M. Freeman, well-known resident of 307 Camden St., San Antonio, Texas.

"About a year ago my stomach and digestion got all out of fix and I soon became badly run-down. My appetite went back on me and the little I did eat failed to nourish me. Constipation troubled me nearly all the time and I also had billious spells and attacks of dizziness.

"My sleep was unsound and I got up mornings with a mean, sickening taste in my mouth and a dull headache that lasted me almost through the day. I lost considerable weight and that tired, draggy feeling was on me all the time.

"After a few days' use of Tanlac I noticed a marked improvement in my appetite, digestion and general condition. So I took four bottles and by that time I was eating as heartily as I ever did and digesting everything fine.

"My liver went to work right, my headaches stopped and I was able to sleep like a log. I had gone down to only 143 pounds, but I am now a strong man of 213 pounds, and my health is the best it has been in years. A friend of mine took four bottles of Tanlac at the same time I did and got fine results, too. As a builder of health and strength Tanlac is certainly without an equal."

Camping by Automobile

Probably the most remarkable thing about a camping trip in a motorcar is that, although such a trip is quite practical, there are still many motorists who do not know what camping and vacationing means. It is not a rich man's game. Anyone with a car of moderate power can strike out and live by the wayside absolutely independent of hotel or village. It is the best kind of a vacation, and the expense will be practically the cost of gasoline, bacon, cornmeal and a few other things, which includes the equipment necessary for cooking and sleeping.—Automobile Digest.

Science Planning to Use Volcanic Power

In a district in Italy volcanic energy is exploited for the purpose of making electricity, which is supplied to many towns, some of them through pipes to huge boilers, where its heat converts water into still more steam which drives the dynamos and provides central heating in many houses. Similar installations are being erected in other parts of Italy, and the future may see that country become a vast electric power station, supplying electricity to half Europe.

The great spectacular volcano of Kilauea, in Hawaii, is to be made to justify its existence in the same way. The crater of Kilauea is a vast lake of molten lava, and this will be harnessed to supply the Hawaiian community with light, heat and power.

Indians Had Apple Trees of Large Size

Those hardy surveyors, Scull and Lutzens, who went up into what is now Pike county, about two centuries ago were amazed.

They found there seven gigantic apple trees. They were remains of an Indian orchard, and the trees were far larger than any then existing in or near Philadelphia.

That was the chief rendezvous of Tom Quick, says the Philadelphia Inquirer. He was a Wandering Jew Indian killer. For the death of a brother of his family he vowed in youth that he would kill 100 Indians.

Before his death he admitted, or boasted, that his vow had been made good and he told away his old rifle and shortly afterward died.
