T. E. Wilcox the railway agent, is nursing an injured foot, resulting from a peculiar accident. Wilcox occasionally packs a gun when away from the office, and the other day was at work outside, when his dog, evidently imbued with the exhileration of pay day and the enforcement of the deadly weapon act, ran up and grabbed the gun, pulling it out of his pocket to the ground, where it fell and exploded. The bullet passed over the top of Wilcox's foot, but luckily made only a slight wound, that is rapidly healing. The dog still lives.

W. M. Witcher, manager of Welch and Co's large furniture establishment in Capitan, has his building neatly painted and lettered this week. He has utilized one of Capitans resources in the painting of the exterior, the body of the paint being a fine drab ochre from one of the beds of this mineral near town, and that it is a successful paint ingredient even in its crude state, is apparent to any one who sees the building. Several claims of this ochre have been located by local parties and that it will prove valuable, goes without saying.

Dr. J. O. Cobb, in charge of the Marine hospital at Fort Stanton was a passenger on Tuesday's train for El Paso. Dr. Cobb is on his way to attend a meeting of the American Climatological association in Washington, and while there will also attend to various business matters connected with the hospital. He states that the climate here is a most wonderful aid in curing pulmonary troubles, and that while he was at first a little skeptical regarding the claims that were made by those desirous of securing the location of the sanitarium at the post, he is now convinced that its climatic advantages are unequaled. It was a year ago Wednesday, that the military reservation was turned over to the hospital authorities, and the improvement of the grounds and buildings is in marked contrast to the former conditions.

IMPORTANT MINING DEAL

O'Neil Brothers of New York Purchase the T. E. Peters Interests

IN THE BONITO DISTRICT

A Forerunner of Better Times for that Section of the Country.

The first of this week, a deal whereby T. E. Peters transfered his group of mining claims on the Bonito to M. Griffin O'Neil of Capitan, and J. Irving O'Neil of New York City, was consummated; and in a short time the rich properties included in the sale, will be shipping ore to El Paso smelters and enriching the fortunate owners.

EL CAPITAN contained last week, an item to the effect that these properties had been sold, but as there were still some details of the transaction to be closed, no further news of the sale were published. It can now be stated that the sale is made, and that a tender of $18,000 cash, was the cause of the transfer.

The group comprises the Soldier, Christmas, Magnolia, Venus and Diana claims, containing in all a solid block of 100 acres of ground. The Soldier, is the claim most developed, and the work on this comprises three shafts aggregating 400 feet, and a tunel 800 feet in length, cross cutting the vein at a depth of 850 feet, and considerable development on the other claims, plenty to show the valuable deposits they contain. The ore is quartz carrying good values in silver and gold, some of the specimens of native silver being among the most beautiful ever produced in any mine. It is not, however, a pocket mine, the value and size of the vein being regular, with occasional deposits of very rich mineral.

One of the most valuable features of the ground is the magnificent tunnel site, that has been taken advantage of in the present drift 800 feet in length, and that can be continued 600 feet furthur on the "Soldier" claim, and still gain a depth of ten inches for every foot in length. A drift run at right angles from this tunnel, will develop the claims lying next the "Soldier" at an equal depth, and it thus affords the cheapest mode of mining for years to come.

Active work will commence on the 10 of May, and will be superintended by J. I. O'Neil, who will arrive during the month. M. Griffin O'Neil will continue in business at Capitan. The ore will be shipped from this point to the smelter.

This is one of the many deals that will take place the coming season. With the railway facilities and cheap transportation now afforded, many of the claims in this county will become regular shippers, and will in turn cause the development of others. The Bonito district has other valuable properties that will repay the persevering prospectors of past years, and the sound of blasts, and rumble of freight wagons, will ere long, make that beautiful valley a busy avenue of industry and wealth.

The new mail service that was to be inaugurated on May 10, is postponed and the government has advertised for new bids on the various stage routes in this county, the time now stated for the beginning of the service being the 10th of June. The delay is caused by the contracts now in force being below a figure that any man; white, black, free born, or otherwise, can carry the mail, and exist on the income from the business. At present the contractors are paid $1,400 per year for carrrying mail between White Oaks and Lincoln. This means a daily trip, 47 miles each way, 94 miles a day, employing two drivers and several horses, for the munificent rembneration of less than four dollars per day! The bids for the new service were higher than the above rate, as they should be, and were all rejected by the post-office department as being too high. If a few kodak pictures of the present contrivance used as a conveyance on the main route here could be sent to Washington, together with the statements of some of the citizens of the county, it might result in an improved service. It is all right to compel the contractors to live on or near the route, but it is preferable that we have one who can get off the route once in a while, and make a short call on the folks at home.

General Manager J. A. Eddy to Resign.

It has been rumored for some time that J. A. Eddy would resign his position as General Manager of the E. P. & N. E. railway and in an interview with a representative of the El Paso Herald, he says:

"Yes, the rumors relative to my leaving the White Oaks have a basis of fact, and as soon as I can attend to a few remaining details I will leave the company.

"I never contemplated remaining longer than to establish the proposition. I am not a railroad man. In fact, this was absolutely my first experience and I simply proceeded along the line that business principles apply to all kinds of business. I prefer not to tie myself down to the details of operation. My resignation has been in the hands of the directors for nearly a year and I have recently requested that the same be accepted.

"It was my province to give to the railroad and towns their locations and establish them. I am exceedingly proud of my work and if there has been a mistake in any essential detail I have not yet discovered it. Incident to my work was the organization of the corps that now operate the business; their selection devolved upon me personally, and I consider it a remarkably fine organization of men for a new enterprise in a remote section of the country.

"My brother will remain at the head of the management and I will devote myself to Eddy Brothers' affairs and investigate some new enterprises that have been brought to our atttention.

CAPITAN.

All hail the queen of the Capitans!
The proudest of cities, all hail!
At last thy true courage is proven,
And the people shall reach thee by rail.

Thy solitude soon shall be broken,
New impulse shall quicken the stride
That has made the foremost of cities,
Of our county the treasure and pride.

The hum of the mill and the smelter,
Recounding on every street,
Will prove that Capitan's courage
Knows no such thing as defeat

Thy sparkling glittering mineral,
To thousands will add new life
Who come for a share of our commerce
And engage in thy new business strife.

Then here's to the Queen of the mountains,
The city of scenery grand,
And of riches so varied and plenty,
To make it wide known in the land.

ARID LANDS IN THE WEST.

Resolutions Passed by the Stock Men in Convention Assembled at Denver.

The convention of stock men from the states of Montana, Colorado, Wyoming and Utah, which met in Denver recently, passed strong resolutions against the proposed national lease law. There is undoubtedly a similar feeling among the stock men of New Mexico, the smaller ones of whom would be forced out of business in a short time if congress were to pass the bill. The resolutions were adopted at the Denver convention by an overwhelming majority, after a most able presentation by the proleasers of their reasons for endorsing the bill, and read as follows.

Whereas, we have observed with no small concern the efforts that have recently been made to secure a national law for the leasing for grazing purposes of the public domain; and after giving the subject thorough investigation and full consideration, we are of the opinion that such a law would be unwise and injurious for the following reasons:

First The value of agricultural land in Colorado is materially enhanced by the free range privileges guaranteed by the general government, by its time honored policy; and to now deprive the settlers of that privilege would be a breach of faith on the part of the general government and cause a wanton depreciation of property values created and vested under that pledge.

Second It would be impossible for small stockmen, under the varied conditions of the range of the arid west, to fence or otherwise protect themselves in their losses, so that their range must sooner or later be absorbed and devoured by large and syndicate owners.

Third The crowding out and extinction of such small herds must result in restricting competition in the purchase of farm products, and will bring about a decrease in prices which entails the loss of the former values, the buying up of small ranches and farms by powerful corporations, and the final extinction of the yeomanry.

Fourth It will close up the avenues by which all stock owners have climbed from a few head to large herds and deprive others of that opportunity which we have so happily improved and which all citizens of other states and territories of the union have, up to the present time, enjoyed.

Fifth—It will concentrate the wealth occasioned by the free grazing of stock upon the public domain into the hands of the few, and cause the ruin of many.

Sixth—It must bring endless and ruinous litigation or manifest injustice between stock owners, whose herds commingle, and between which no adequate lines can be drawn or priority of occupation established.

Seventh—The use of the public domain for grazing purposes under the present system is more satisfactory than the proposed change to the lease system.

Eight—The leasing of the public lands will result in the withdrawing from settlement of a large area of the public domain, and if enacted will dispossess, [illegible] shut out the homestead settler of the enjoyment of his rights and privileges on the public domain, thus bringing to a standstill the progress, development and reclamation of the western states and will cast a pall of stagnation, retrogression and decay over one-third of the total area of the nation.

Ninth—Its tendency will be to give an under power in the distribution of such land into the hands of the secretary of the interior.

Tenth—The said legislation, if enacted into law, will give to a favored few powers, privileges and opportunities which of right belong to the many, and which under existing law they enjoy, and will enable the rich and powerful to oppress, harass and destroy the weak and helpless; and will discourage, handicap and deter the home builder and the pioneer, who, in every era of our country's history, has been the support, strength and dependence of the nation; therefore be it,

Resolved, That we denounce all proposed lease laws as un-American and contrary to the interest and development of our state, and earnestly protest against the enactment of any national law for the leasing of the public domain, thereby depriving resident farmers and homeseekers foom emjoying the privileges that our government has given to them for several generations and plagueing the people with the evils above set forth.

Resolved, That the same objections must prevail against the cession of the public domain by the general government to the state against which we earnestly protest; and be it further,

Resolved, That this convention take such further action as will procure the dissemination of this protest and the reasons therefor throughout the territory affected, and request the immediate co-operation of its inhabitants; that these resolutions be published in all the state and local papers and that a copy be delivered to each member of congress of the United States, and we hereby invite the earnest co-operation of all the stock growers in the western states and territories.

A Word to the Wise,

PRACTICAL economy lies in getting what you want and that which will please you. It is false economy to buy anything because it is cheap, when it is not what you want. Such a course brings dissatisfaction and in the end is extravagance. Here you can get exactly what you want. Our stock is so large and varied that we can please everyone in any line they may wish to purchase, whether it is hardware, groceries, dry goods, notions, boots or shoes. It is not boasting to say we carry the largest and best selected stock of general merchandise ever brought to southern New Mexico.

DRY GOODS The people of Capitan and the surrounding country can find an immense stock of ladies dress goods, notions, hats, boots, shoes and clothing in our store to select from, which we invite all to call and inspect.

HARDWARE Our stock of hardware, including stoves, cooking utensils, table and pocket cutlery, carpenter's tools, builder's material, etc., has been greatly increased by the arrival of a carload of goods for this department.

No trouble to show goods. 1000 Door locks just rec'd.

GROCERIES The housewives of Capitan will find in our large line of staple and fancy groceries everything that is needed in the culinary department, including canned goods, dried fruits, preserves, pickles, etc., etc.

Ranchmen supplied in job lots.

The Future PITTSBURG OF THE SOUTHWEST

The Great Capitan Coal Fields

Have already become famous, although on railroad only since October 1st, 1899, and with its other great resources of iron, coke, timber, precious metals, farming, grazing, and its beautiful climate, recognized by establishing the U. S. Government Consumptive sanitarium at Fort Stanton, five miles distant, must make of Capitan one of the most important cities of the Southwest.
