PROSPECTING FOR WATER ON THE SOUTH FORK.

The Southwestern Company, in order to increase the volume of water in their reservoirs, are drilling four wells at the mouth of the south fork of the Bonito, at a point about a mile below the dam. It is generally believed that the water in the south fork disappears at a point above the dam, and again comes to the surface several miles down the Bonito stream, and the object of the company in sinking these wells is to tap the subterranean stream and connect it with the main pipe leading to the reservoir. Last Saturday a good body of water was tapped in one of the wells, but it did not come to the surface as was expected. A sample of the water was sent to El Paso for analysis. If the water found is pure and of sufficient quantity, it is the intention of the company to install a pumping plant, except they strike a gusher in either of the other wells, in which case they will connect it directly with the main, and dispense with the pumping plant.

THE BUILDING HAS BEEN INSURED

The new school building narrowly missed burning Tuesday of this week. At the noon hour a stove, full of coals, in one of the upper rooms, was overturned, and the floor caught fire. One of the pupils ran down stairs to give the alarm, and W. L. Gumm happened to be present, eating lunch with Mrs. Gumm, one of the teachers. Mr. Gumm, with what assistance he could get, soon extinguished the fire, which was beginning to eat its way into the floor. Mr. Gumm's presence and prompt action was all that saved the building. The directors immediately had the building insured.

CITIZENS' MEETING.

The News has been requested by a number of the leading citizens of the town to announce a public meeting of the citizens of the town and surrounding country next Wednesday night, Dec. 2nd, at the hour of 7:30. The place of meeting will be in the hall over the Exchange Bank. Matters of considerable moment are to be discussed, and it is hoped that a large crowd will be present on the occasion.

NEW ELECTION LAW NEEDED.

The following embodies what the Pecos Valley Tenderfoot, Will Robinson, deems as advisable for New Mexico to have in the way of an election law which will maintain justice at the polls:

First every man should be required to register himself in person, and if he didn't take enough interest in government to do that he should not be allowed to vote. Then when he registers he should be required to then and there pay his poll tax, paying the amount himself, the payment of this most righteous of all taxes being an absolute essential to suffrage. Then at voting time there should be the full Australian ballot law, with all of the tickets printed on one sheet, every copy of which should be held in the hands of the election board and passed to the voter as he comes in, to be marked as he pleases in the privacy of the booths, and deposited by his own hand. It should be a penitentiary offense to seek to influence a man's vote in any way whatever. Every candidate should be compelled to publish a statement under oath of every dollar he has spent in the campaign, and what for, and if one cent of it has gone for any form of corruption the office shall be given to the next lowest candidate who shows and proves a clean score. Then after these things were attended to there should be adopted a form of the Illinois form of minority representation, by which the minority party shall have one representative in three.

EX-GOV. OTERO INDICTED.

Ex-Gov. M. A. Otero was indicted at the recent Territorial court at Roswell, on the charge of giving intoxicating liquors to some cadets of the Roswell Military Institute. The offense is alleged to have been committed during the recent visit of the ex-governor to Roswell.

The boys, to whom the ex-governor is said to have served beer at the Grand Central Hotel in Roswell, are his own son, a son of Gov. Curry, a son of Land Commissioner Ervein and a son of R. C. Garrett. The defense interposed a demurrer to all five counts of the indictment, which Judge Pope overruled. The defense then asked for a change of venue, which was granted, and the case sent to Alamogordo, the headquarters of the Sixth Judicial district. Court convenes in Otero county next March, at which time the case may be heard.

DISASTROUS PRARIE FIRE NEAR TORRANCE.

One of the most disastrous prairie and forest fires that has ever swept New Mexico started last Saturday in the country north of Roswell, and in forty-eight hours destroyed all the grass and timber in an area of 400 or 500 square miles. Herds of cattle and flocks of sheep were driven before the fires into the mountains, fences have been burned for miles and it is thought the loss to sheep and cattle men will be great. There were no towns in the track of the fire and ranches are far apart. No loss of life has been reported, but a number of cowboys and sheep herders who were working directly in the path of the flames have not been heard from. For 25 miles along the stage road between Torrance and Roswell the forage has been entirely destroyed.

DR. CARRINGTON, OF FT. STANTON, GOES TO SAN DIEGO.

A dispatch from Washington, D. C., dated Nov. 26th, says that Dr. P. M. Carrington, of the Public Health and Marine Hospital at Fort Stanton, has been transferred to San Diego, Cal.

Dr. Carrington was placed in charge of the Fort Stanton sanitarium shortly after the government established a sanitarium there for tuberculosis, some eight years ago. The old military post was rebuilt under his supervision, and it is today one of the most modern institutions of its kind in the world. It is equipped with electric light and ice plants, chicken hatcheries, a fine herd of milch cows, and everything conducive to the comfort of the 300 patients.

The doctor, we understand, asked to be transferred, so that he might have better educational facilities for his children. As it was, he sent his children to school in St. Louis, while he had to live at Fort Stanton.

Surgeon H. S. Matthewson, now stationed at Cleveland, Ohio, has been ordered to relieve Dr. Carrington at Fort Stanton.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

REUNITED WITH WIFE

Gen. Daniel E. Sickles, war hero, diplomat, first notable exponent of the "unwritten law," has become reunited to the Spanish wife who has for the past 27-years resided with her own family in Madrid, Spain.

Gen. Sickles is one of the most popular of the remaining civil war commanders and is affectionately known as the "hero of Gettysburg." He has always been active in politics as a Democrat, and was a congressman before the civil war. At that time he raised a brigade in New York and tendered it to President Lincoln, but declined to accept its command on account of his own politics. The president, however, swept away the objection and appointed Sickles to command his men. He was advanced to the command of a division, and at the close of the war was made major general of the regular army. He lost a leg at Gettysburg.

The first Mrs. Sickles was a beautiful Italian girl, and it was when she confessed to an alliance with Phillip Barton Key, district attorney for the District of Columbia and son of the author of the "Star Spangled Banner," that Sickles, then a congressman, shot Key down on the street. He was acquitted by a jury and then astonished the country by forgiving his young wife and taking her back into his affections. To the bitter protests of his friends Gen. Sickles responded with the publication of a formal statement that is an eloquent and touching defense of his position and of the wronged but repentant woman. Mrs. Sickles died a few years after, and later, while ambassador to Spain, Sickles was married to a young woman of a prominent Castilian family. She returned with him to America, but after a few years she went back to her own land, declaring herself unwilling to stand the rigorous winter of the new world, while the sentimental and other interests of her husband were all in his own country. A daughter is the wife of a prominent British diplomat, while a son is attached to the American legation at Athens, Greece. Gen. Sickles will be 84 years old in a few weeks.

DOING REMARKABLE WORK

Dr. Sheldon Jackson, United States general agent of education in Alaska, is attracting the attention of the world by the progress he has made in his work. The educational standing of the frigid territory was practically nil when Dr. Jackson took up his work there in 1885. The population was naturally scattered, and communication was difficult. There was seemingly no demand for education, so far as the major portion of the populace was concerned, and the trip of the intendant teacher to the field of his labors meant a long journey among the icebergs by boat and then a cross-country movement by dog train. Consequently the demand for positions as teachers in that country was modest.

But Dr. Jackson is nothing if not an enthusiast in his work, and he soon became convinced that no field at hand would pay better returns on the work and worry expended. He declares that the Alaskans are susceptible of an exceptionally high degree of education, that they are much the superiors intellectually and mentally of the American Indian.

Seventy teachers are now at work in Alaska, and these teach nearly 3,000 pupils of all ages. The coming of the schools has been warmly welcomed by the natives, and they crowd the little buildings and lavish much affection upon their instructors.

SAYS PLANTS HAVE SENSES

Sir George Howard Darwin, president of the World's Association of Science, has astonished the scientific and lay worlds by his positive declaration, based upon long study, that plants can see, think and remember. The proofs he produces are such that the scientific gathering to whom his remarks were addressed were compelled to admit the probability that plant life is not devoid of a certain low order of instinct akin in a far-off way to that possessed by animals. And it may be safely said that Sir George has given the scientific contingent a profitable field for investigation for some time to come.

Sir George is the second son of the late Charles Darwin, even more famous as a scientist than the son and as well known for the rather startling nature of some of his deductions.

not less than for the convincing fashion in which he defended his theories. It is far from certain that many of the striking new statements of the son upon the subject of the development of plant life are not really the following out of ideas which were settled upon and given the light by the senior Darwin in his lifetime.

He is by no means a stranger to America, either as a matter of reputation or in personal contact. For he came across to attend the celebration of the bicentenary anniversary of the birth of Benjamin Franklin, under the auspices of the American Philosophical Society of Philadelphia, a year or so ago. Among the discoveries which will make his name most notable in the list of scientists, however, are his studies upon the subject of ideas. Sir George is a professor in Trinity college, Cambridge.

TESTING PAINT.

Property owners should know how to prove the purity and quality of white lead, the most important paint ingredient, before paying for it. To all who write, National Lead Co., the largest manufacturers of pure white lead, send a free outfit with which to make a simple and sure test of white lead, and also a free book about paint. Their address is Woodbridge Bldg., New York City.

Why Didn't She?

A little boy of five years, playing with his sister one day, leaned too far out of the second-story window, lost his balance and fell into the yard below. Very miraculously he escaped being injured, and his parents and friends were so delighted that they gave him quite a number of pennies, nickels and dimes.

The next day, after he recovered from the shock of the fall, he was counting his money, and on seeing his little sister enter the room, exclaimed: "Geo, Gladys, look at all the money I got for falling out of the window! Why don't you try it?"—The Delinquent.

Debts of the Rich and Poor.

Debts, as a general rule, are harder to be collected from the rich man than from the slave of toll, for the former builds upon his position in society to excuse him from his obligations, while the latter often makes the attempt to discharge his contracts to preserve his standing in the community.

The Usual Luck.

Howitt—That new watch of yours is a beauty.

Jewitt—Yes, but I don't get any chance to show it; whenever anybody asks what time it is somebody is sure to see a clock before I can get my watch out.

Wanted to Be Sure.

Howard's father is named Harold, and these two names of those so dear to her are often on his mother's lips.

Howard had asked to be taught the big prayer at night instead of the childish "Now I lay me." After he had been saying it for a month to his mother's satisfaction, he said to her one night as she was leaving the room:

"Mother, I am not sure I say that prayer just right. Is it Howard be thy name or Harold be thy name?"

This woman says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved her life. Read her letter.

Mrs. T. C. Willadsen, of Manning, Iowa, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I can truly say that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved my life, and I cannot express my gratitude to you in words. For years I suffered with the worst forms of female complaints, continually doctoring and spending lots of money for medicine without help. I wrote you for advice, followed it as directed, and took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it has restored me to perfect health. Had it not been for you I should have been in my grave to-day. I wish every suffering woman would try it."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness, or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

SULTAN'S FIRST APPEARANCE IN PUBLIC

Perhaps the most astonishing recent change in Turkey is that which is represented by the spectacle of the sultan, Abdul Hamid, taking a drive. Until the threatened advance of two army corps upon Stamboul forced Abdul Hamid to revive the constitution of 1876 the commander of the faithful never had dared to show himself outside the precincts of Yildiz kiosk, except for the Friday drive to the Selamlik in the Hamidieh mosque, which is practically within the grounds of the palace. By thus showing himself freely to his people Abdul Hamid has done a good stroke of business for himself, because the Turk is a patient beast of burden, absolutely loyal to his padishah, and only asking not to be ridden to the death by corrupt pashas and palace favorites. Hence the public appearances of the sultan have been the occasion of a series of outbursts of perfectly sincere loyalty.

SON OF MAN-EATERS

AMERICAN WILL TRY TO CIVILIZE CANNIBAL YOUTH.

Made Orphan by Tribal War He is Adopted by Mining Engineer and Brought to United States—is Social Favorite.

Los Angeles, Cal.—Delighted with his surroundings in this city, where he has been but a few days, Samuel, an 11-year-old boy of the man-eating Chunchoo tribe of Peru, is enjoying himself to the utmost.

Samuel was brought to Los Angeles by Mrs. Chester W. Brown, wife of a mining engineer. The boy was the center of attraction on the voyage from Mollendo.

Mrs. Brown and her mother, Mrs. M. E. Louis, made the journey in 47 days, and on the ship the Chunchoo lad found much to excite his curiosity, but with true Indian stoicism he expressed little or no astonishment.

Samuel took his first automobile ride recently, and Mrs. Brown smiled, thinking that he would certainly show delight, but the little Chunchoo savage took it as a matter of fact.

Even the phonograph did not surprise him, and he acts as if he had known the telephone from his babyhood in the jungle.

There is a romance dark and bloody connected with the little Peruvian Indian boy's presence in Los Angeles. He comes from Mabré de Osle, near one of the rivers contributing to form the headwaters of the Amazon, and his kinsmen and ancestors have all been, and still are, genuine cannibals.

The Chunchos are regarded as exceptionally hostile and untamable. They range throughout what is called the "unbroken country."

Brown's company has received a concession of 2,000,000 acres of rubber forests, and during the road building Mr. Brown met the death-dealing cannibalistic Chunchos. A tribal war had just ended and Samuel and his brother were left orphans. A white man adopted Samuel's brother and will bring the lad up as a man servant; but Brown was determined to try to civilize Samuel.

Every instinct for hundreds of years past inherited by Samuel, the son of cannibals, is in the direction of the wild life of the jungle, the freedom of peak and plain. Mr. Brown realized the difficulties of his task, but was not deterred.

For one thing, it is only a short time since Samuel donned his first clothes; none of the Chunchos from time immemorial has ever known even so much as the use of a coat or trousers. The women live the simple life, after the true style of the Garden of Eden. Such intensely important feminine diversions as matching the color of a hat to the hair or coffee-colored complexion, of serious concern to American belles, is unknown in the Chunchoo country.

Brown first took Samuel as the lad was christened, to Tirapata, the outfitting town for the mines in that part of the country, and headquarters of the Inca Gold Mining Company, owned largely by Pittsburg capitalists. At Tirapata Samuel was taught the Cetchway language, the gabble of friendly natives that work in the mines and also show astonishing skill spearing fish.

After two years with these semi-civilized tutors the young cannibal was taken to Arequipa, an important city, and here he began studying Spanish, in which he made rapid progress.

Of English he still knows little. He says fluently "Good morning," "Good evening," and recently at dinner, after tasting a delicious soup, remarked politely that it was "very good chupco." The word "chupco" is tribal lingo for a dish that corresponds to American soup, and the little savage was quick to associate the terms.

Samuel spends much time amusing himself with other children, is a general favorite, and is making fast friends. His temper is sunny, his disposition even. He is quite a mimic, and recently was on the lawn indulging in all sorts of boyish pranks, such as swelling out his chest, imitating a policeman, taking a bit of palm leaf and pretending to shave his face, rolling on a blanket and cutting dildoes to the delight of American boys and girls.

He also is learning rapidly lessons in politeness. He gets up briskly in the morning, when he is called. He will soon have a private tutor, and when Samuel can speak English he will be placed in the public schools. He shows exceeding fondness for fruit and meat. As might be guessed, he is a pronounced meat eater, and it also seems that he never can get enough fruit. His own people live largely on these two articles.

How Samuel will develop remains to be seen. Already he shows unusual interest in mechanics. On shipboard he surprised everybody by taking pieces of wood, rags and strings and building an excellent reproduction of a boat. He also draws pictures quickly and with some originality.

In physical appearance Samuel has round, intensely black eyes, a chubby face, coffee-colored complexion and raven black hair, and each particular hair stands on end.

MAN SEES WITH RABBIT'S EYE.

Grafting of Cornea from Animal Gives Sight to One Blind.

New York.—Much interest has been aroused among physicians by the announcement of the successful grafting of the cornea from the eye of a rabbit upon the eye of a young man who had been blind since his ninth year.

The case was reported to the medical board by Henry R. Leser. According to his account the patient, a man of 24 years, has been without useful sight for 15 years, from leucoma, a disease of the cornea.

Now, three months after the operation, Dr. Leser says the graft is in perfect position and the patient is able to count fingers at a distance of 12 inches. He is gradually learning to distinguish colors and is able to go about unattended.

Specialists in optical surgery said that while the transplantation of the rabbit's cornea is one of the oldest of plastic operations, it is not common and often does not yield such good results as in this case.

Prepare for Bad Winter.

Hanover, Pa.—Unmistakable signs lead local weather prophets to predict a severe winter.

An old weather-wise farmer remarked that the weeds have grown unusually high, which, he said, indicates a long, severe winter.

He said nature causes the weeds to grow tall so that birds can feed upon the seeds when the ground is covered with snow.

Another indication, he continued, was the fact that squirrels are carrying their winter supply of grain into hollow trees. When they deposit them in less secure places a mild winter may be expected.

Profit in Imitation Jewelry. There are some large profits made on goods sold in New York city, but the greatest percentage goes to the retailers of jewelry that has imitation precious stones in its composition. The profit is often 1,000 times as much as the goods cost. To get $40 for what costs 40 cents is quite usual.

MY OWN FAMILY USE PE-RU-NA.

HON. GEORGE W. HONEY. Hon. George W. Honey, National Chaplain U. V. U., ex-Chaplain Fourth Wisconsin Cavalry, ex-Treasurer State of Wisconsin, and ex-Quartermaster General State of Texas G. A. R., writes from 1700 First St., N. E., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"I cannot too highly recommend your preparation for the relief of catarrhal troubles in their various forms. Some members of my own family have used it with most gratifying results. When other remedies failed, Peruna proved most efficacious and I cheerfully certify to its curative excellence."

Mr. Fred L. Hebard, for nine years a leading photographer of Kansas City, Mo., located at the northeast corner of 12th and Grand Ave., cheerfully gives the following testimony: "It is a proven fact that Peruna will cure catarrh and influenza, and as a tonic it has no equal. Quartermasters have tried to make me take something else 'just as good,' but Peruna is good enough for me."

Peruna in Tablet Form.

For two years Dr. Hartman and his assistants have incessantly labored to create Peruna in tablet form, and their strenuous labors have just been crowned with success. People who object to liquid medicines can now secure Peruna tablets, which represent the solid medicinal ingredients of Peruna.

REVISE THE TARIFF.

The declarations of the democratic party for the past twenty years have been to the effect that tariff duties have been protective rather than for the production of revenue, and that the rates were exorbitant, the burden falling upon the consumers, who constitute the great mass of the people. The same party has repeatedly declared that the duties on the necessities of life should be abolished, and that the revenue for the maintenance of the government should come from the luxuries the rich only could afford.

We have seen the beneficiaries of the tariff wax wealthy, and the people vote regularly for a continuation of tariff duties, on the plea that our workingmen and "infant industries" needed protection. We have seen American-made goods shipped to every part of the world and sold to the foreigner cheaper than they could be purchased by American buyers. Just why the foreigner should be able to get our goods cheaper than we can is not easily explained—in fact, there has never been a serious attempt made to do so. But, notwithstanding this condition, a majority of the people vote to continue a high tariff, and appear to enjoy the privilege of paying an excessive tax in order that a few men may reap the benefits from its workings.

The great steel king, Andrew Carnegie, after having made three hundred millions of dollars by means of our tariff laws, now says that our industries have passed the infantile stage and are able to stand alone without the aid of the tariff "tit," that we no longer need protection; that all we do need is to raise sufficient revenue to carry on the government, and that such revenue should be produced from a tax on luxuries and not from the necessities of life. It is most true that the "Canny Scot" never ventured to say anything like this while he was amassing his millions, for it was and is, a well-known fact that while he was piling up his immense fortune he took everything in sight and gave as little in return as possible.

It is not wonderful that Mr. Carnegie should reach this wise conclusion, but it is rather surprising that he should admit it. A man who accumulates his wealth through a system of legalized robbery seldom finds fault with the system. But this is what Andy has said, and no man in the United States knows better what he is talking about than the "Laird o' Skibo Castle." An admission from this source was unlooked for, but it is only an evidence that the worst of men are sometimes compelled to acknowledge a truth.

The final gasp of the New Mexican, probably, lifted a load from off Max Frost's liver and cast a gloom over Oklahoma and Texas.

Is it possible for anyone to suppose or believe that "Bull" Andrews, with his small majority, can obtain Statehood for New Mexico from a republican administration?

Had some Andrews' Pennsylvania friends (?), whom he impoverished, been in the Territory and legitimate voters, Andrews would not have had 388 plurality.

"Bull" Andrews' low-water mark plurality of 388 has placed him, possibly, in a position where he will not be able to produce the goods—Statehood—which was the only campaign argument offered, or could have been offered, in his behalf.

Had the Territory been possessed of a few more "Texans and Oklahomans" Larrazolo would have been elected delegate. Had that been the case, there is no telling what kind of fit the New Mexican's editor might have had before the final collapse.

Governor A. B. Cummins has been elected United States senator from Ohio to fill out the unexpired term of Senator Allison. Senator Allison is the author of the "Iowa Idea," which demands a reduction of the tariff, and, although a republican, will make a valuable addition to the tariff reform element in congress.

The incoming administration and republican congress are busily engaged arranging to purloin another one of the most sacred of democratic doctrines—the revision of the tariff. But, it may so happen, that a republican party's revision will be more to the interests of the trusts than of benefit to consumers. Uncle Joe Cannon has verbally placed himself on record as in favor of a revision of the tariff, but the American people know, or should know, what kind of tariff revision he will stand for should he be the next speaker of the lower house.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

PRINCE TURNS MONK

HEIR TO THRONE OF MEXICO FORSAKES WORLD.

Renounces All Political Ambition and Will Devote Life to Literature and Writings—Chosen by Maximilian as Successor.

Washington.—Prince Augustino de Iturbide, grandson of the great liberator of Mexico, heir to a throne, man of the world, educated, widely traveled and a member of the jeunesse dorée of many European capitals, has forsaken the ways of the fashionable world and joined the Third Order of St. Francis, in Washington fashionable society

Prince Iturbide was widely known for many years.

Suffering recently from a severe illness, he has of late spent many months in the hospital. Prince Iturbide now asserts that he has renounced all political ambitions and that he will never make any attempt to regain his claim in Mexico. He expects to devote his life mainly to literature and writings of a theological character.

Interwoven with the life of the prince is the romantic history of the land of the cactus for the last hundred years, and the melancholy fate of the Austrian archduke, Maximilian. By right of descent from the Emperor Iturbide, as well as from the fact that he was declared heir by Maximilian, Prince Iturbide would be entitled to the throne of Mexico were that country to again become an empire. The Emperor Iturbide was born in 1783 and led the revolt of the colonies, then known as New Spain, against the mother country. This war began in 1821 and lasted seven months, ending in the success of the colonies, the leader of the army, Iturbide, becoming emperor. This state of affairs was concluded in about a year by the abdication of the emperor, who sailed for Europe, where he made his home some time.

Learning that his native land was to be made the object of an attack by the European powers, Iturbide returned to Mexico only to find the republic which had existed during his absence had made a law that his life should be forfeited should he again set foot on Mexican soil. He was seized and put to death.

This was in 1824. The family of the emperor came to this country, settling in Washington and Philadelphia. It was in Washington that the emperor's son, Angelo, met Miss Greene of Georgetown, and after their marriage they went back to the City of Mexico.

It was there, in 1863, that the present Prince Augustino de Iturbide was born. About a year later Maximilian, archduke of Austria, was called by the Mexican monarchistic party to come to this country and take possession, the monarchists offering him the throne of an emperor. Maximilian, who was aided by Napoleon III., accepted the invitation, landed in Mexico and was, for a time, an unhappy and poverty-stricken monarch. The native Mexicans, however, revolted against a foreign sovereign. Maximilian was defeated, tried for treason, sentenced and shot. Maximilian, shortly before his death, declared that the young boy, Augustino de Iturbide, was to be his heir, as he could thus combine in one person both native and foreign claims.

After the death of Maximilian and the establishment of a republic for a second time, the Iturbides returned to Washington. Young Augustino was placed at Catholic colleges and also traveled abroad extensively.

While still a young man he returned home, and, as a lieutenant, entered the Mexican army, but having issued a proclamation which was regarded as disturbing to the government, he was put in prison, then exiled, so that now, while he is not formally forbidden to set foot in his native land, it would be unwise for him to do so.

FAMOUS TREE REJUVENATED.

Growth Under Which Cortez Wept Has New Lease of Life.

Kansas City, Mo.—The famous Noche Triste tree at Popotla, Old Mexico, has been given a new lease of life and it may survive for a few more centuries. It was on the night of July 1, 1520, that Cortez was driven with his army of Spaniards out of the city and down the long causeway that leads to what is now Tacubaya. It was a night of sorrow for the great conqueror. It seemed that disaster had finally overtaken him and that his plans for making a great empire in the new world must fail. His fleeing army was panic stricken. It is related that Cortez was unable to calmly bear the burden of his defeat and that when he reached the overspreading branches of this great cypress tree, which even in that day is said to have been a giant among giants of the trees in the valley of Mexico, he sat down and wept. From that day to this the tree has been known as the tree of the sorrowful night. The age of the tree is problematical.

The first evidence of decay of the tree was apparent about 20 years ago as a result of a fire which swept through the forest where it stood. Its trunk was seriously burned and its branches began to decay. The ancient tree gradually lost life and it was nearly dead when it was decided two years ago to make an effort to re-suscitate it. Careful treatment given every part of the big tree.

In order to still further protect the historic tree an iron fence was built around its trunk to keep the vandals away from it. The tree began to put out new foliage and twigs last year, and this spring it is showing evidence of a complete rejuvenation. It seems to have begun a new growth in all of its branches and there is much rejoicing on the part of the people, who revere its age and wonderful history,

How Could She Be Expected to Address Perfect Stranger?

A traveler in the mountains of Tennessee had been stowed away in the best bed the cottage afforded. Late in the night he was awakened by the voice of the paterfamilias addressed to the daughter, who was entertaining company by the fireside.

"Mandy," growled the old man, "is that young man there yet?"

"Yep, pap."

"Is he got his arm around yer waist?"

"Yep, pap."

"You all tell him to take't away."

"Aw, yo tell him yerself, pap," replied the girl, in a dull, lifeless voice.

"He air a plumb stranger to me."—Success Magazine.

INVALID'S SAD FLIGHT.

After Inflammatory Rheumatism, Hair Came Out, Skin Peeled, and Bed Sores Developed—Only Cuticura Proved Successful.

"About four years ago I had a very severe attack of inflammatory rheumatism. My skin peeled, and the high fever played havoc with my hair, which came out in bunches. I also had three large bed sores on my back. I did not gain very rapidly, and my appetite was very poor. I tried many 'sure cures' but they were of little help, and until I tried Cuticura Resolvent I had had no real relief. Then my complexion cleared and soon I felt better. The bed sores went very soon after a few applications of Cuticura Ointment, and when I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment for my hair it began to regain its former glossy appearance. Mrs. Lavina J. The Nicetown Parrot. Jacob Hope, the famous pet stock dealer of Philadelphia, was showing a reporter one of his phonograph-trained parrots, a truly marvelous bird.

"This bird isn't like the 'Uncle one,'" said Mr. Hope. "There was a Nicetown man, you know, who had a parrot that he once commanded to say 'Uncle' in front of a roomful of guests. The parrot could say 'Uncle' beautifully, yet though the man pleaded with it nearly an hour, it remained as silent as the grave."

"Then, enraged, he snatched up the obstinate parrot, ran with it to the chicken coop, and half-twisting its neck, threw it in among the hens."

"After his guests were gone he regretted his cruelty. He went sadly back to the chicken coop to see if the poor parrot was dead."

"Opening the door, he frowned. Ten of his twelve prize Plymouth Rocks lay corpses on the floor, and the parrot was standing on the eleventh, twisting his neck and screaming:

"Say 'Uncle,' durn yo; say 'Uncle.'"

Saved Himself First.

Sam and Joe were out rowing, when the boat capsized, spilling both men in the water. Sam was a fine swimmer, but not very bright, while Joe was bright enough, but could not swim a stroke.

When Sam found himself in the water he struck out lustily for the shore, while Joe clung to the overturned skiff.

As soon as Sam reached the shore he was about to plunge into the water again, when a man standing near said:

"What are you going back into the water for? You just swam ashore."

Sam paused a moment, then said:

"Well, I had to save myself first, now I'm going back to fetch Joe."

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

The dwelling of Walter Gray, at Capitan, was consumed by fire Wednesday of this week. The fire started from a defective flue. Mrs. Gray was alone, and before assistance arrived the flames had gained such headway that there was no saving the building.

Jones Taliaferro returned Wednesday from Alamogordo, where he had gone the week previous to file an application for a referee in bankruptcy. Mr. Taliaferro is one of the oldest and best known merchants in Lincoln county, and has many friends who will regret to learn of his financial embarrassment.

Silas May and C. E. Hutchinson, of Tucumcari, returned from the Capitan mountains this week, after a two weeks hunt. They report having had a good time and plenty of sport, in proof of which they showed the goods. Deer in the Capitan, they claim, are as plentiful as cotton-tails on the Carrizozo flats.

Harry Little and Candalario Sandoval went on a hunt for large game about two weeks ago in the Oscura mountains, and have not since been heard from. Before starting they stated that their object was bear, and consequently their friends are beginning to feel a little uneasy about their safety, as going after a bear, and a bear going after you, are entirely different propositions. However, their friends think they will turn up in good time, whole—with or without a bear.

Messrs. Julian Taylor, Ben. F. Goff, Frank Gray and O. L. Henry returned Monday from a four days hunting trip northwest of the mal pais. They claim that the deer generally found in that vicinity have moved to other points, which accounts for their lack of success. They saw but one deer during the four days, which they wounded, but it got away and ran into another party of sports, who bagged it. The season is now drawing to a close, and it is the last hunt these boys will take for a year.

FIVE DOLLARS REWARD.

The above amount will be paid for the return to the undersigned of a No. 12 hunting-case watch, which was lost on the Carrizozo I-X ranch road about eight miles from Carrizozo.

LIGHT FOR SUMMER

HIGH TIME TO DISCARD HEAVY DRAPERIES.

Cotton or Silk Fabrics Most Cool and Cheerful in Appearance—Calcutta Net Also Used Extensively in Many Ways.

Heavy draperies should be replaced by lighter weight cotton or silk fabrics that are cool and cheerful in appearance. Curtains of Calcutta net are reasonable and suitable for various purposes. The net comes in all colors and in several meshes. It is 48 inches wide and 50 cents a yard. The green and tan shades are good. The white and ecru wash well, and to avoid shrinking, pull it gently into shape when nearly dry. Calcutta net is also used extensively for den and living-room pillows. The cushions first have a slip of a plain color and over this a cover of the net in a suitable shade. This gives a lattice effect to the pillows which is quite pleasing.

Then there are silkollans, taffetas, soft silks and dimities, as well as denims and cretonnes. Silkollans are soft and pretty, but are most too flimsy for satisfactory curtains. Serim increases in popularity and great improvement in weaves has been accomplished the past few years. Linen taffeta is very popular, and burlap is particularly well adapted for stencil effects, and is available for walls as well as draperies. Dimity launders well and can therefore be kept fresh and clean.

Pricella silk, coming in every shade at 90 cents a yard, can be used with cream Calcutta net to give color tone to a room. This silk resembles the heavier raw silk used for draperies, but which costs $1.50 a yard. The silk curtains should hang straight down, and not reach more than four inches below the window. Many prefer curtains only to the sill, but allowance must then be made for shrinkage of the washable under curtain, as at all times both net and silk curtains should be the same length.

Of course the domestic and imported cretonnes are handsomer each year and still lead in cotton fabrics for hangings and furniture coverings. Exquisite designs in domestic cretonne can be had as low as 25 cents a yard, and are shown side by side with the imported, which retail from 30 cents to $3.50 a yard. The higher-priced imported cretonnes are double width. The demand this season is for the single width grades, which cost from 30 to 50 cents a yard. As over draperies, cretonnes are effective. They should not be hung next to the glass, for they will fade rapidly. Plain net or scrim, between them and the light, protects the draperies. Some of the large shop windows are showing the effect of a room done entirely in cretonne. Where it is employed lavishly, there is danger in overdoing it. This season the cretonne in floral pattern is preferred, and although blue, mauve and pale yellow are in demand, pinks and reds are used to a greater extent.—N. Y. Post.

Calf's Foot Jelly.

To four calf's feet, carefully scraped and prepared, allow about two quarts of water and boil about seven hours, skimming well. When done, set aside to coagulate, then remove all the grease. From the four feet there should be about three pints and a half of jelly. Pour on this one quart of sherry, the juice of six lemons, a pound and a half of granulated sugar, the thinly-peeled yellow rind of two lemons, one bunch of raisins and two blades of mace. Wash eight eggs clean, beat the whites to a froth and crush the shells. Put with the jelly. Set on fire, stir until the jelly is melted, then remove the spoon. Let just 20 minutes from the time it commences to boil. Pour into a coarse cotton bag and drain. If not perfectly clear, repeat the straining with trans-

WELCH & TITSWORTH.

CAPITAN.

Frank Lesnet came down from Dawson Monday.

Postmaster Henley of Nogal spent Sunday and Monday in Carrizozo.

Arthur May, Dan Bullion and John Eaker were down from Nogal Tuesday.

Wayne Van Schayck was a visitor from White Oaks a couple of days this week.

John Y. Hewitt, councilman-elect from this district, was down from White Oaks Monday.

The dance at the Wetmore hall Thanksgiving night was well attended and greatly enjoyed.

Geo. Thorp, accompanied by Messrs. Franklin and Hadley, was in from Jicarilla Saturday and Sunday.

W. L. Gumm returned Monday from El Paso, where he had gone to dispose of a choice carload of apples.

Henry Emerson, one of the old timers in the Nogal district, was in Carrizozo several days this week.

Bennett Dingwall returned from Dawson this week. He expects to locate here, and may become a fireman on the road.

S. T. Gray, one of our old Capitau friends, came over yesterday and will visit several days with the different members of his family.

E. L. Melton, who was foreman on the new school building, left Saturday for Los Vegas. The work was completed, examined and accepted on that date.

John A. Laughlin, the contractor on the school building, was in from Trinidad Friday and Saturday, making final settlement with the school board and turning over the building.

Joe Howard of Capitan came over on Monday's train and returned Thursday. He admitted that Carrizozo was the best town in the county, but that Capitan was the next best.

MARRIED: At Roswell, last week, D. J. Bonnell to Miss Agnes Coe. The young couple will reside at Glencoe, this county, near the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Coe.

United States court for the Sixth Judicial District convened at Alamogordo Monday. The docket includes ten criminal and eighteen civil cases, and it is believed the session will last about two weeks.

Con Skinner, who has been engaged for sometime on the pipe line east of here, was called to his home on the Mesa Monday by the sudden illness of his eighteen months old baby, which at last account was fast improving.

The Eagle Mining company at Parsons are again running a full force. The ore is said to be a better grade than usual, and the management is satisfied with the results from the Huntington mills and the cyanide process.

Mrs. L. A. Scott and son, C. L., arrived this week from Dawson, and are visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kimbell. Mrs. Scott and son are mother and brother, respectively, of Mrs. Kimbell. Mr. Scott is clerk in the general foreman's office at Dawson.

The wind and sand storm of Tuesday certainly made things move lively in this corner of the county. It was perhaps the hardest blow of the season, and we get pretty stiff ones here occasionally and semi-occasionally.

Governor Curry has appointed Jones Taliaferro, of White Oaks, and Harry S. Comrey, of Ancho, delegates to represent Lincoln county at the eleventh annual session of the American mining congress to be held at Pittsburg, Penn., on December 2 to 5.

Howard Hall, while driving in from the country Tuesday during the wind storm, had a valuable watch whipped out of his pocket by one of those cork-screw gusts peculiar to the flats. He says a Carrizozo sephyr will compare very closely with an Oklahoma cyclone, and he has experienced both.

Attorney Hudspeth, of White Oaks, was called by wire to Corona on Thanksgiving evening. He did not know the nature of the case, he was called on, but thought it might be the result of an exchange of pleasantries among some of the boys on the eve of the great American festival.

M. S. Crockett passed through yesterday on his way from the Mesa to the Oscuras, where he was taking the remnant of his cattle. He and his father, F. M. Crockett now have their entire stock of cattle in the Oscuras, and for the present are watering them at the Nabours tank.

A new telephone directory was issued this week by the Improvement Company. Those having phones, and who allow others to use them for the purpose of connecting with the long-distance phone, will be charged up with the toll for same. The company claim they lose considerable each month by this means, and in future, will collect from the party owning the phone.

LIGHT FOR SUMMER

HIGH TIME TO DISCARD HEAVY DRAPERIES.

Cotton or Silk Fabrics Most Cool and Cheerful in Appearance—Calcutta Net Also Used Extensively in Many Ways.

Heavy draperies should be replaced by lighter weight cotton or silk fabrics that are cool and cheerful in appearance. Curtains of Calcutta net are reasonable and suitable for various purposes. The net comes in all colors and in several meshes. It is 48 inches wide and 50 cents a yard. The green and tan shades are good. The white and ceru wash well, and to avoid shrinking, pull it gently into shape when nearly dry. Calcutta net is also used extensively for den and living-room pillows. The cushions first have a slip of a plain color and over this a cover of the net in a suitable shade. This gives a lattice effect to the pillows which is quite pleasing.

Then there are silkolines, taffetas, soft silks and dimities, as well as denims and cretonnes. Silkolines are soft and pretty, but are most too flimsy for satisfactory curtains. Berlin increases in popularity and great improvement in weaves has been accomplished the past few years. Linen taffeta is very popular, and burlap is particularly well adapted for stencil effects, and is available for walls as well as draperies. Dimity launders well and can therefore be kept fresh and clean.

Princella silk, coming in every shade at 90 cents a yard, can be used with cream Calcutta net to give color tone to a room. This silk resembles the heavier raw silk used for draperies, but which costs $1.50 a yard. The silk curtains should hang straight down, and not reach more than four inches below the window. Many prefer curtains only to the sill but allowance must then be made for shrinkage of the washable under curtain, as at all times both net and silk curtains should be the same length.

Of course the domestic and imported cretonnes are handsomer each year and still lead in cotton fabrics for hangings and furniture coverings. Exquisite designs in domestic cretonne can be had as low as 28 cents a yard, and are shown side by side with the imported, which retail from 30 cents to $3.50 a yard. The higher-priced imported cretonnes are double width. The demand this season is for the single width grades, which cost from 30 to 50 cents a yard. As over draperies, cretonnes are effective. They should not be hung next to the glass, for they will fade rapidly. Plain net or scrim, between them and the light, protects the draperies. Some of the large shop windows are showing the effect of a room done entirely in cretonne. Where it is employed lavishly, there is danger in overdoing it. This season the cretonne in floral pattern is preferred, and although blue, mauve and pale yellow are in demand, pinks and reds are used to a greater extent.—N. Y. Post.

Calf's Foot Jelly.

To four calf's feet, carefully scraped and prepared, allow about two quarts of water and boil about seven hours, skimming well. When done, set aside to congeal, then remove all the grease. From the four feet there should be about three pints and a half of jelly. Pour on this one quart of sherry, the juice of six lemons, a pound and a half of granulated sugar, the thinly-peeled yellow rind of two lemons, one bunch of raisins and two blades of mace. Wash eight eggs clean, beat the whites to a froth and crush the shells. Put with the jelly. Set on fire, stir until the jelly is melted, then remove the spoon. Let boil just 20 minutes from the time it commences to boil. Pour into a coarse cotton bag and drain. If not perfectly clear, repeat the straining until transparent.

Carrizozo News

CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO.

Competition and Justice.

The day seems to have come for consideration of the question whether the present organization of the stock exchanges is such as to insure public confidence, fair play and absolute security to honest clients, or whether some degree of intervention by the government to secure these results is required, writes Charles A. Conant in Atlantic. Speculation is legitimate, and will go on increasing in volume with the growth in the wealth of the country and in the quantity of negotiable securities. To interfere with it without warrant is to tie a ball and chain to the limbs of national economic progress. But more and more, with the growing complication of the mechanism of finance, is growing up a sentiment for such supervision of this mechanism as shall insure its safe and honest working. From the smoke and dust of battle between vested interests seeking economic freedom, and the state seeking to protect the individual against errors of judgment and false statements, emerges the principle so well stated by the eminent capitalist, Thomas F. Ryan, in an article in the Independent, that "it is right that competition between men should be brought within constantly narrower and narrower rules of justice."

Bishop Brent's Decision.

Bishop Brent has raised himself greatly in popular estimation by his announcement of his determination to refuse the Washington offer of the bishopric, and to return to his hard and important labors in the Philippines, says the Boston Advertiser. This may be said without implying that a different decision would have lowered him in popular estimation. Had he decided that under the conditions of his health or for other reasons he should accept the call to Washington, there could be questioning of his sincerity or his courage. His record stands proof against unworthy insinuations. He has done great work in the islands. He would do valuable work at Washington. This because he is a forceful, honest, energetic man. His determination to go back to his work, to build a firmer structure on the sound foundation he has laid in the Philippines, will, however, endear him to the hearts of all who admire courage and thoroughness. Bishop Brent, never in danger of losing his position before the world, has now achieved one that will stand long in history as an example of personal unselfishness.

The World's Wheat Supply.

The possibilities in increasing the world's supply of wheat, as well as that of the United States, are manifold and impossible of estimation, declares the Century Magazine. Vast regions of land in South America, North Africa and Asia are awaiting the demand for "still more wheat" which shall bring to them the steel plow and the self-blinder, and cause them to yield a food-product sufficient to feed a new population of untold millions. And were modern agricultural implements and agricultural knowledge in the hands of the Russian and European peasants, another addition, the extent of which can hardly be guessed, could be made to the world's wheat supply.

A southern paper says that improvement is noticeable even in the razor-back hog. Perhaps he has been strapping himself on the canvasback duck.

HORTICULTURE

BUDDING PEACHES.

W. T. Macom, Horticulturist of Canada, Tells How Work is Done.

Budding of peach trees is best performed when there is still sufficient sap beneath the bark to permit the latter being easily raised with a knife. On the other hand, if the work is done when the tree is still growing vigorously the bud is liable to be "drowned out," or, in other words, forced out by reason of too much sap and growth of the stock. The stock which is to receive the bud should be at least three-eighths of an inch in diameter near the ground. Peaches are usually budded on stocks which have grown from the stone the same year. The lower leaves are rubbed off to a height of five or six inches to enable the budder to work more freely. A perpendicular cut is now made in the stock as near the ground as possible from an inch to an inch a half long, and preferably on the north side of the tree, as the bud will not be so readily dried out by the sun on that side. The cut should only extend through the bark. Another cut should now be made across the top of the perpendicular one. The two cuts when made will appear in the form of letter T.

The buds are cut from well-developed shoots of the current season's growth of the variety it is desired to propagate. The best developed buds are chosen which will be found about the middle of the shoot or "stick." Before the buds are removed the leaves should be cut off the shoots; a piece of the petiole or leaf stem is left, however, by which the bud may be handled after it is removed. A very sharp, thin bladed knife is necessary in removing the bud. Knives are specially made for this purpose. The bud is cut off the shoot downwards or upwards, whichever is more convenient, the general practice, however, is to cut upwards. The length of the piece removed with the bud should be about one inch, long, and the cut surface smooth. It should be quite thin, as but little of the wood is taken with the bud. The buds or twigs should be kept where they will not dry out while the work of budding is going on, preferably in water or a piece of wet sacking. The bud is inserted under the bark by raising the latter with the blade of the knife or the part of the budding knife made for that purpose. The bud is then pushed down and under the bark with the fingers, and finally the piece of leaf stalk which was left when it was removed from the twig is pressed with the blade of the knife to bring the bud into proper position. The bark on each side of the bud, which should now be under the bark of the stock, will hold it in position. In order to bring the bud and stock into close contact and prevent the former from drying up before the union takes place, they should be tied tightly together with raffia or some soft string, taking care not to cover the bud with it. The bud should unite with the stock in two or three weeks, and after that time the string should be cut, as otherwise the bud may be injured. If the proper season has been chosen for the work the bud should remain dormant until the spring. If it starts in the autumn it may be killed during the winter. In the following spring the stock should be cut off just above the bud, which will cause all the strength of the stock to be directed into the bud and produce rapid growth, three feet not being an exceptional growth for the first season. The above directions apply to other tree fruits, such as apple, pear, plum and cherry, except that the stocks for them are usually two years old.

CORN ROOT WORMS.

The Only Remedy for the Pest is Rotation of Crops.

The northern corn root worm is a white slender worm not thicker than a pin. It is about a quarter of an inch long, has a small brown head and six very short legs. In this section of the country, it begins its attacks on the corn in May and June. As soon as it assaults a root, the latter dies and if a number of the roots are destroyed, or there is dry weather, or the soil is poor, there will be a withering of the corn plant and in some instances it dies as it does when attacked by heart worm. Late in July, the worm changes and in a few days comes forth as a green beetle. It feeds on the yellow pollen as it is collected on all parts of the stalk. Others feed on the corn grain and still others fly to the blossoms soms of weeds growing in the vicinity. The writer has noticed them feeding on blossoms of pumpkins and similar vines. The females lay the eggs for the next year's brood in September on the dying roots of the corn.

Worm in Corn Roots.

The only remedy is rotation of crops and this is sometimes not very satisfactory. Be sure that the soil is as rich as it is possible to make it. If it is, the plant will be vigorous enough to stand the assaults of a number of the worms before there is any noticeable injury to the plant.

Ripen Pears Off Trees.

Pears are best when ripened indoors instead of on the trees. The time to pick pears is determined, first by their known season of ripening; and, second, by the ease with which the stem parts from the branch when the fruit is slightly lifted. Most pears are marketed in a green but mature state.

appeal to the Well-Informed in every walk of life and are essential to permanent success and creditable standing. Accordingly, it is not claimed that Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna is the only remedy of known value, but one of many reasons why it is the best of personal and family laxatives is the fact that it cleanses, sweetens and relieves the internal organs on which it acts without any debilitating after effects and without having to increase the quantity from time to time.

It acts pleasantly and naturally and truly as a laxative, and its component parts are known to and approved by physicians, as it is free from all objectionable substances. ### PRESCRIBED CUTICURA

After Other Treatment Failed—Raw Eczema on Baby's Face Had Lasted Three Months—At Last Doctor Found Cure.

"Our baby boy broke out with eczema on his face when one month old. One place on the side of his face the size of a nickel was raw like beefsteak for three months, and he would cry out when I bathed the parts that were sore and broken out. I gave him three months' treatment from a good doctor, but at the end of that time the child was no better. Then my doctor recommended Cuticura. After using a cake of Cuticura Soap, a third of a box of Cuticura Ointment, and half a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent he was well and his face was as smooth as any baby's. He is now two years and a half old and no eczema has reappeared. Mrs. M. L. Harris, Alton, Kan., May 14 and June 12, 1907."

Few perhaps are aware of the extent to which the city of London is bridged over. In all, it seems, there are no fewer than 75 bridges. Of these 19 are railway bridges, three are bridges over roads (such as Holborn viaduct) and 53 bridges which connect private premises.

Boston.—"Ik Marvel" has just passed his eighty-sixth birthday and is now spending the sunset of his life at the old home in Edgewood, Conn. Somewhat aside from the highway of literary activity, he is still remembered as the man who away back in the fifties saw in human events the stuff of which dreams are made, and around the experiences of his own youth and bachelorhood wove a ves-ture of reverie that made them a de-light wherever books are bought and read.

Donald Grant Mitchell was born in April, 1822. Being a sickly, delicate boy, he seemed altogether unlikely to bear the strain of college education, and entered Yale with little hope of completing the prescribed course. But strength came with effort, and after hard work, alternated by moments of comparative leisure, in which he edited the college magazine, young Mitchell graduated successfully and delivered the farewell address in 1841.

After leaving Yale he became a sufferer from the same pulmonary trouble which in the three preceding years had proved fatal to three members of his family. It was this illness which compelled Mr. Mitchell to give up the plans he had formed of doing journalistic work in New York.

For a time he retired to an old family homestead in Salem, Conn. Then he undertook a trip to Europe, from which he returned much benefited in health. The literary result of this journey was his first book, "Fresh Gleanings," published in 1847, the year in which he began, without continuing, his study of law. Then followed another trip over the Atlantic. Mr. Mitchell was an eyewitness of the Paris outbreaks of 1848, and he described them in his second book, entitled "The Battle Summer."

New York now called him. He edited there a satirical and humorous paper, "The Lorgnette," contributing to it special articles of his own signed "John Timon." Subsequently these articles were printed in two small volumes.

All this time Mr. Mitchell had been working out the various chapters of the book which was to make him known not only throughout the United States, but also in foreign countries—"Reveries of a Bachelor." The first "reverie" appeared in "The Southern Literary Messenger," then a leading literary periodical published in Richmond.

The "Reveries of a Bachelor" at once became widely popular. When the second edition was issued Mr. Mitchell says he began to revise the book, and then, because revision would have completely changed it, left it as it was.

After the publication of "Dream Life" in 1851, a book only second in success to the "Reveries," Mr. Mitchell in 1853 realized one of the most vivid of his dreams by marrying Miss Mary F. Pringle of Charleston, S. C. The same year President Pierce appointed him consul at Venice. Accompanied by his wife, he spent a year in that city, part of the time being given to collecting materials for a history of the republic of Venice, which he never completed. On his return to this country in 1855 he settled upon his farm at Edgewood.

Mr. Mitchell was for some time associate editor of the Hearth and Home, New York, and frequently appeared as a lecturer.

Mr. Mitchell had 11 children. His wife died on December 5, 1901, after a happy married life of more than 48 years.

COMING ON SPECIAL MISSION.

Chinese Official to Extend Thanks of Government to United States.

Shanghai.—Tong-Shao-Yi has arrived at Tientsin from Mukden, which governorship he resigned temporarily in view of his special mission to America, which is expected to have momentous results, although nominally he will merely thank the Washington administration for remitting a portion of the Boxer indemnity.

Tong-Shao-Yi said that the six years he had spent in Mukden as governor had been an interesting experience. He could affirm that all complications were at an end. He will leave for the United States on his mission in the beginning of November.

After his mission to the United States is completed Tong-Shao-Yi will

AWFUL GRAVEL ATTACKS.

Cured by Doan's Kidney Pills After Years of Suffering.

F. A. Rippey, Depot Ave., Gallatin, Tenn., says: "Fifteen years ago kidney disease attacked me. The pain in my back was so agonizing I finally had to give up work. Then came terrible attacks of gravel with acute pain and passages of blood. In all I passed 25 stones, some as large as a bean. Nine years of this ran me down to a state of continual weakness and I thought I never would be better until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. The improvement was rapid, and since using four boxes I am cured and have never had any return of the trouble."

Sold by all dealers. 50 cents a box. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

Good English.

A French lady living in America engaged a carpenter to do some work for her at a stipulated price. She was surprised later to find that he charged more than the price agreed upon. When she attempted to remonstrate with him, however, her English failed her and she said: "You are dearer to me now than when we were first engaged."—Success.

Character Told by Thumb.

If the thumb be supple jointed the individual is easy-going, spendthrift, careless of time, money, energy, opportunity and all things. If it be firm jointed he is cautious, watchful, keen, diplomatic, tireless in planning, confident and sure of success, self-poised and self-controlling.

Almost any man can marry money if he is willing to take a widow older than he is along with it.

Economy.

"I have just read a story of an economical farmer that Mr. Rockefeller, Jr., had been telling to his Sunday school class," said Higgins. "He says there is a farmer out near Cleveland who makes a fad of economy. Every time he drives into town he carries a hen with him tied to the seat of his buggy. A friend who rode out with him one day was curious to learn the use of that hen, so he watched carefully, and found out. When at noon the farmer lunched under a tree, he gave his mare a feed from a nosobag, and the hen, placed on the ground, ate all that the horse spilled from the bag, so that there was no waste at all."

"Good story," said Wiggins, "and true, too. I know that old farmer. Mr. Rockefeller didn't say where he got his lunch, did he?"

"No," said Higgins, "the story stops there."

"It was the egg the hen laid under the buggy seat on the way out," said Wiggins.—Harper's Weekly.

Genius Described.

Mark Twain said of genius at a New York banquet:

"A genius, as an old lady in Hannibal once explained to me, is a man what know's more'n he can find out, and spills vittels on his clothes."

CURE FOR SCARLET FEVER.

A friend on the Bonito sends us the following, which he guarantees as an infallible cure for small pox and scarlet fever. As it may be of interest to our readers we publish the recipe:

"The following remedy was taken from the Stanton (Cal.) Herald and published in the Times-Echo, Eureka Springs, Ark.: I herewith append a recipe which has been used in hundreds of cases of scarlet fever and smallpox, and is as unailing as fate and conquers in every instance. When learned physicians said patients must die, it effected a cure. It is harmless when taken by a well person. Here is the recipe as I used it to cure my children of scarlet fever and others of smallpox:

"Sulphate of zinc, 1 grain; digitalis (fox glove), 1 grain; one-half teaspoonful of sugar; mix with two tablespoonsful of water. When thoroughly mixed add two ounces of water. Give a spoonful every hour. For a child, smaller doses, according to age. Either disease will disappear within 12 hours. If countries would compel their physicians to use this there would be no need of pest-houses. If you value advice and experience of one who knows, use this for either of these diseases.
