LET IT REMAIN NEW MEXICO.

Many have made the suggestion—and some have grown eloquent over the proposition—that, in the event of statehood, the new state should assume another name. Some have suggested the name of Lincoln, to which we would interpose no objection, if we were nameless, while various other names have been mentioned, all with the idea of getting away from the name of a foreign country. It is urged by these advocates that such a proposition would give us strength in the east, where, it is said, many people still consider our territory a part of Mexico; and, therefore, a prejudice has been created in the minds of that people.

Aside from the sentiment that is interwoven with the name of New Mexico, let us see if that section of the country is justified in condemning us for the derivation of the name.

New Hampshire took its name from an English county, which, for the sake of brevity, is now called Hants; New York from the Duke of York, after the English had dislodged the Dutch; New Jersey from the Island of Jersey; Delaware from an English lord; Maryland from Maria, the wife of Charles I of England; Virginia from Queen Elizabeth; the Carolinas from Caroline, another English queen; Georgia from George II, of England, and Louisiana from Louis "Le Grand" of France. Besides these names, we have many others that have been transported across the ocean, and the states that have so long borne these names, apparently, have not considered them a burden. In fact, almost, if not quite, every state in the union has a name bearing some foreign or local significance, and they cannot, with any degree of justice, object to our retention of New Mexico because it is a foreign derivation.

New Mexico was occupied by the bold Spanish adventurers long before Jamestown was founded, or the landing was made at Plymouth Rock; settlements were established and the pioneers underwent untold hardships. It became a part of the United States sixty years ago; the Anglo-Saxon has been born and has grown gray-headed here; thousands of people and millions of dollars have come to the territory of New Mexico, continue to make this their home, and will remain when we become the state of New Mexico. Those of the east, who stay away because of our name, are welcome to remain in those states which have derives their names from some old world island, county, king, queen or duke, but so far as we are concerned the name of New Mexico suits us, and should we ever become a state, which is undoubtedly some distance in the future, New Mexico will do us then. New Mexico is good enough.

FORTY-FIVE THOUSAND POUNDS ON THREE ACRES.

Peter Burleson was up from Lincoln this week with a load of his celebrated pearmain apples. Mr. Burleson told a News reporter that he had only three acres in apples, but that he had gathered 45,000 pounds from his trees this year. Figuring the crop at a cent-and-a-half a pound, he will realize $675 from the three acres. Mr. Burleson's trees are young, and have not reached their full capacity in bearing. He confidently expects to gather 75,000 pounds from his three acres when the trees are two years older. There's money in orchards in this county.

A Railway to Medina.

Completion of a 600-mile railway from Damascus to Medina, in a strikingly short time, with funds contributed by faithful Moslems, and without any "graft" by Turkish officials, is a feat just accomplished which is attracting the attention of European publicists. For the road in due time will reach Mecca and the seacoast at Rabigh, and, if German influence can accomplish it, will be connected with the Bagdad railway when it crosses the Taurus mountains. Built primarily to accommodate Moslem pilgrims to sacred shrines, and, as such, a proof of the modernity of method of an ancient faith in conserving its own present-day ends, the railway also has its significance for the political and economic development of a state which, since the road was begun, has witnessed a striking transformation. The Young Turk party and the new regime, suggests the Boston Herald, are likely to use it somewhat differently, as related to German interests, from the manner in which Abdul Hamid would have, had his autocratic power continued.

The elder statesmen of Japan, who have much to say as to the government of the empire, have decided to urge a liberal policy with regard to China and other countries. This includes commercial dealings, the idea of the elder statesmen, as it is that of the premier and hence presumably of the mikado, being "the exchange of productive expenditure for productive income, and that the government bend every effort for the material development of Japan." There is nothing very warlike in this, and the jingoes will have to "take water" again. What Japan is seeking, says the Troy (N. Y.) Times, is peaceful prosecution of business and material prosperity, with economy in administration. That is as far as possible from the policy which involves straining every nerve to create a big army and a great navy.

One great difficulty in trade-schools and industrial training is to maintain practical relations between class work and actual industry. In the University of Cincinnati students spend alternate weeks in the schoolroom and the shops of neighboring manufactories. The students are paid a moderate wage for their shop work. Similar cooperation is to be tried in Fitchburg, Mass., between the high school and the local metal workers. The advantage of the plan is twofold. Since the boys can earn a little while they are in school, they are less likely to feel that their years in the high school are delaying their entrance into bread-winning occupations.

By a 40 days' fast at Long Beach, Cal., a Chicago school teacher won a husband. Doubtless it is all right, but we trust the man she married did not get the idea that his grocery account would be small because of her temporary abstemiousness. Fasting makes people hungrier than ever.

The aeroplane is forecasted as a future means of beating the baseball box offices; but from the latest returns the baseball tickets will be cheaper than surgical bills and funeral expenses.

A Pittsburg man jumped into the river because a perfect stranger he met wouldn't take a drink with him. It is a great shock to a Pittsburg man to meet some one who refuses a drink.

Gossip of People and Events Gathered in Washington

Squanders $4,000,000 in Five Years

WASHINGTON.—Countess Julia W. L. Seckendorf, the dashing beauty who rose from lady's maid to mistress of millions of dollars, through which she ran in five years, declares that she had no regrets because her fortune has been squandered.

The countess is now said to be at least $100,000 in debt, and was forced to undergo the humiliation of seeing the last of her property sold at a debt sale.

"I spent it when I had it," the beautiful countess is reported to have remarked to a friend.

"I haven't any regrets now that it is gone. Some people have money, but they won't spend it. Frankly, I cannot see what good it does them."

The career of the countess, who is an American girl, is as romantically interesting as that of any woman in the world.

Once the lavish entertainer of cabinet members, ambassadors, senators and social lights in Washington, the Countess Seckendorf, who five years ago fell heir to the $4,000,000 estate of her second spouse, gained a reputation as a spender, tearfully watched her last possessions passing into the hands of others to the accompaniment of the droning voices of auctioneers.

It is said that the countess owes about $100,000, although the figure has not been authoritatively announced.

Some years ago Miss Julia Davidson, the present countess, entered the employ of Mrs. John O. Donner as maid. The Donners had a daughter named Elsie, and Miss Davidson cared for the child.

About six years ago Mrs. Donner died and Donner married Miss Davidson. Immediately the house became the center of social life among the wealthy people of the district. Servants seemed everywhere, and the new Mrs. Donner began to enjoy life to the utmost.

Her millionaire husband was devoted to her and his affection was returned. Elsie, Donner's daughter, still lived on the estate.

After Donner's death five years ago Mrs. Donner came into the great fortune. She went to Washington and mingled with the fashionable set there, meeting the count, who captured her heart. She soon squandered her money.

Leper to Have Home with His Family

THE strict isolation in which John R. Early has been kept by the district health officers is to be broken. Within a short time Early is to be permitted to live with his family.

That is, he will be allowed to dwell in the same house, but will not come in direct contact with them. He will have his own sleeping apartment, bed linen, towels, dishes and other domestic appliances.

This has been practically decided upon by the health officials. The plan will not be carried into effect until the commissioners have received the report from the solicitor of the treasury as to whether or not the federal authorities have power to transport the leper to North Carolina, the latter's home state, regardless of the fact that that commonwealth has refused to accept him.

Although the decision has not been forwarded to the commissioners, it is known that the solicitor's opinion is adverse. He has said that the federal department is powerless to act, and has reported to the secretary of the treasury to that effect.

The commissioners will take no action until they have received the opinion in official form from the latter. That Early is to be a permanent care of the district is the conviction of the officials.

Plans for Early's future care and treatment have been discussed by Health Officer Woodward and Dr. William Fowler, chief of the contagious disease service. It is settled between them that the strict isolation of the afflicted man is to be broken.

It is considered likely that some old building belonging to the district will be turned over to the leper and his family for habitation and he will be instructed to provide for himself and keep his own quarantine.

In the event that this building cannot be procured it may be that Early will be permitted to live in the house near the asylum grounds now occupied by his wife and child. On the other hand, it may be suggested to him that he buy a small place in the suburbs.

Physicians in charge of Early are considering a plan to inoculate him with the leprosy bacilli, which constitutes the recently discovered Nasitin cure of the malady. This method is said to have cured the disease in several instances, when used while the disease was in its early stage, as in the case of Early.

Early clings to the faint belief that his disease is not leprosy, and that the physicians have made a mistake in diagnosing his case. He does not favor this new treatment.

Welsh Singers Refuse President's Wine

"GET thee behind me, Satan," is what 25 husky Welshmen thought when offered some of President Roosevelt's sherry at the conclusion of a White House concert the other evening. What each really said was:

"No, thank you; none for me."

The Welshmen gave a private concert for the edification of the White House family. The event slid along like a hunk of tallow on a hot stove-plate. The president nearly blistered his hands applauding the "Men of Harlech." Mrs. Roosevelt's face was suffused with pleasurable enjoyment at the rendition of "Old Black Joe."

The bad guess and its consequences came as the last words of the final chorus drifted out of an open window. An attendant came into the room niftily juggling an enormous tray containing 25 glasses of sherry. He tendered a glass to the first man at the end of the line with black clothes and a white choker. He declined with thanks.

The next three men also refused. The other 21 had their mouths open ready to make similar announcement.

The waiter likewise opened his mouth, but in astonishment. He realized that an awful blunder had been made somewhere. In a dazed manner he waved the tray until it was again waving around his head and hastily plunged from the room. Every member of the Mountain Ash choir is a total abstainer.

Proof is inexhaustible that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound carries women safely through the Change of Life.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 804 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and suffered from nervousness, headaches, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for me, and since taking it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. IN THE LIMELIGHT

PICKED TO SUCCEED GOMPERS

James Duncan, selected as the hope of those members and officers of the American Federation of Labor who hope to oust President Gompers from his position at the head of the organization, is already the first vice-president of the Federation. He is likewise national secretary of the Granite Cutters' union, and has been practically the director of the destinies of that body since 1895.

Duncan is one of the notable figures of the organized labor movement and has taken a prominent part in its affairs. He led the great educational campaign and ultimately the great strike in the granite cutting industry to secure the eight-hour working day in 1900, and represented the American labor movement in the British trades congress at Bristol, England, in 1898. In 1901 he was selected as a member of the industrial department of the Civic Federation. Proof of the broadness of his interests is the fact that he is a member of the National Geographical society, the Public Opinion league and the American Academy of Political and Social Science.

A native of Scotland, Mr. Duncan has been a monumental granite cutter since 1873, and is also a granite statue cutter. He was active in the earliest effort to organize American wage workers for the betterment of their conditions and has been a vice-president of the American Federation for 14 years. The present movement to place him at the head of the Federation, has been started by that element of the organization which objects to President Gompers' action in carrying the union movement into partisan politics as a part of the Bryan campaign. The movement has commanded wide support among the non-Bryan union leaders, who declare that the Gompers movement misleads the public in the belief that organized labor's votes can be delivered to any candidate by its leader. They declare with confidence that Gompers will be ousted and replaced with Duncan at the Federation convention in Denver next month.

NEW ASSISTANT POSTMASTER

Joseph Stewart, newly appointed second assistant postmaster general of the United States, owes his good luck at this particular time to the rule which President Roosevelt has pronounced to govern all the federal departments. The executive declares that when a man holding an important position engages in outside politics and becomes a candidate for an elective office, he must resign his place at once and separate his name from the Uncle Sam payroll. One of the first men to feel the effect of the new rule was James T. McCleary, second assistant postmaster general. He was formerly a congressman from Minnesota and had become a power in the house when he was unexpectedly defeated two years ago by W. S. Hammond. McCleary was promptly taken care of by the appointment to the postoffice department, and this year he went out after his old place in congress again. After a bitter fight he secured his nomination, but he still has a hard fight on his hands for the election.

He was not permitted, however, to remain in the official list while his campaign was going on. He was given an intimation that it would be a graceful thing to resign forthwith. He acted on the suggestion and Stewart was at once named for the vacancy.

Mr. Stewart has been connected with the department for many years, and his appointment is really a deserved promotion, for he was superintendent of the division of railway adjustments in the same branch of the postal department of which he is now the head.

HOLDS TICKLISH JOB

Sir William E. Goschen, British ambassador to Austria, is at the present moment standing upon a particularly thin sheeting of diplomatic ice. Upon his tact and diplomacy depend, in no small degree, the peace of Europe, and the stability of the boundary lines of several nations.

As the official representative of the British empire at Vienna, Sir William stands between the war dogs that are snarling at each other across the map of Europe. Bulgaria, announcing its independence of Turkish rule, is presumed to have the backing of Austria, which has some ulterior aims of its own. Germany, France, Russia and Italy are interested in the embroglio, although their relations between themselves are such as to make direct action impractical in the premises. The chance for involving most or all of these nations in a scramble looks excellent, unless the arts of diplomacy shall be successful in keeping them from each other's throats.

Sir William has been in the diplomatic service since 1869, when as a young man of 22 he became an attache and was connected with the embassy of Madrid. He rose rapidly from one higher position to another and served at Buenos Ayres, Paris, Rio de Janeiro, Constantinople, Pekin, Copenhagen, Lisbon, Washington, St. Petersburg and practically all the important capitals of the world. He was charge d'affaires at Washington in 1893. He reached the rank of minister in 1898, when he went to Belgrade, and after two years he went to Copenhagen as ambassador. His transfer to the court of Francis Joseph took place in 1903.

The Difference.

The woman who remains single all her life because the only man she ever loved died in the flower of his youth is regarded as a heroine. The man who remains a bachelor because the darling of his heart went to an early grave is generally supposed to be a fool.

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only Constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, Ohio. Sold by Druggists, etc. Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

The Still Alarm.

A tourist in an out-of-the-way region of England put up one night at an amiable old lady's cottage, the village inn being full.

Now, the tourist was very deaf, which fact he took pains to impress upon the old lady, together with instructions to wake him at a particular hour in the morning.

On waking a great deal later than the time appointed, he found that the amiable old lady, with a commendable regard for propriety, had slipped, under his door a slip of paper on which was written:

"Sir, it is half-past eight!"—Harper's Weekly.

NOT UP TO THE RECORD.

Boy Had, at Least Once Seen Larger Pedal Extremities.

A pupil of one of the public schools in Chicago sends this communication: "Dear Sir: In our school this morning an amusing dialogue took place.

"A primary teacher of Chicago, wishing to impress on her pupils the necessity of greater quiet, said:

"I am a great deal larger than any of you, yet I don't make any noise when I walk around the room."

"Perhaps," remarked little seven-year-old Kenneth, "you don't wear shoes."

"Oh, yes, I do," quickly replied the teacher; "just look. Did you ever see any larger than mine?"

"Kenneth surveyed them carefully. "Yes," he replied, slowly, "once—in a show."—Waverly Magazine.

ASTONISHED THE DOCTOR

Old Lady Got Well with Change of Food.

A great scientist has said we can put off "old age" if we can only nourish the body properly.

To do this the right kind of food, of course, is necessary. The body manufactures poisons in the stomach and intestines from certain kinds of food stuffs and unless sufficient of the right kind is used, the injurious elements overcome the good.

"My grandmother, 71 years old," writes a N. Y. lady, "had been an invalid for 18 years from what was called consumption of the stomach and bowels. The doctor had given her up to die.

"I saw so much about Grape-Nuts that I persuaded Grandmother to try it. She could not keep anything on her stomach for more than a few minutes.

"She began Grape-Nuts with only a teaspoonful. As that did not distress her and as she could retain it, she took a little more until she could take all of 4 teaspoonfuls at a meal.

"Then she began to gain and grow strong and her trouble in the stomach was gone entirely. She got to enjoy good health for one so old and we know Grape-Nuts saved her life.

"The doctor was astonished that instead of dying she got well, and without a drop of medicine after she began the Grape-Nuts." "There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Anticipated Cause for Sorrow.

Ina came in from the country on her fifth birthday to visit her cousin May. At night they were put to bed early. An hour passed, when heart-breaking sobs were heard from the children's bedroom.

"What's the matter, children?" asked May's mother, entering the dark room.

From under the bedclothes Ina sobbed out: "May won't give me any of her peanuts."

"But May has no peanuts," replied her aunt.

"I know that," sobbed Ina, "but she said if she did have peanuts she wouldn't give me any."—The Delineator.

The Inner Voice.

Mamma was trying to teach her four-year-old daughter the difference between right and wrong. She said: "Listen, baby, and you will hear a little voice in your heart, which will tell you what God wants you to do."

A few days later, having some disturbance in digestion, and hearing a rumbling noise within herself, she called to her mother: "Mamma, mamma, come quick; God is talking to me in my stomach."

Anybody can preach economy—the thing is to practice it.

It is nauseating to read, day after day, in the territorial press, "What would be a suitable name for New Mexico when it becomes a state?" Some suggest Lincoln as an appropriate name. But why Lincoln? What did Lincoln ever do for New Mexico? Why change the name, state or no state? However, it is not a state yet, anyway, which reminds us of the old-time recipe of how to cook a rabbit. You first catch your rabbit, and then—

"Cres. Gallegos, the heretofore wheel-horse of Guadalupe county democracy has openly announced his change of party affiliations." —Santa Rosa Sun.

The above-mentioned has been affiliated with the democratic party of Guadalupe county for well-nigh two decades, and has been the recipient of many honors at its hands. What has caused his change of heart? Maybe it was because the nation saw fit to elect a republican president, and maybe it was because the republican delegate to congress was elected by the skin of his teeth. It matters little, however, as the principle in a man must be small indeed, who will for a chance of getting his knees under the Andrews pie counter, turn his coat. The democratic party can well afford to lose Cres., and we wish the republican party luck with the bargain.

SOUNDS FAMILIAR.

If the republican organization of New Mexico fails to secure statehood for the territory at the session of congress now about to begin, the members of that organization will present a sorry spectacle in ever again urging statehood as an inducement for a democrat to vote for a republican candidate for delegate in congress. During the recent campaign republican speakers all over the territory represented that conditions in congress were fully ripe for statehood and, in fact, statehood was virtually promised in case of Mr. Andrews' election.

Now that Mr. Andrews has been elected it is for the republican leaders of the territory to verify their statements and make their promise good. Gentlemen, it is time for you to be up and doing.

—Socorro Chiefton:

Oh no, brother, that cry has won many battles for the republicans; why abandon it now in its old age?

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us. The dollar bottle contains 2½ times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

JUNGFRAU RAILROAD

LINE BEING BUILT TO TOP OF HIGH ALPINE PEAK.

Greatest Mountain-Climbing Feat Ever Attempted—Stations Hewn Out of Solid Rock—Survey Daring in Itself.

Luzerne.—An electric railway is being laid out to the top of the Jungfrau, that great Alpine peak of the Bernese Oberland which towers with its eternal snows 14,000 feet above the level of the sea. It is the greatest mountain-climbing feat ever attempted by a railroad. Already the railroad is in operation up to Elmsee station, which is at an altitude of more than ten thousand feet. The work on the completion of the line is being pushed steadily, all the engineering problems having been solved, and before long the traveler, with no physical effort of his own, will be able to stand on the summit of the Jungfrau and see the Alps below and around him.

This daring project really is an extension of the Wengernalp railroad which for some time has run from Interlaken up to Schmeldegg, a station more than six thousand feet above the level of the sea. The projector of the enterprise was Adolf Guyer-Zeller, who died in 1880, leaving his work to others. When the project first was laid before the Swiss government it was thought that it might be dangerous to health if not to life to transport tourists in so short a time as the railroad would take to make the trip to such an altitude as the top of the Jungfrau, on account of the rarefied state of the atmosphere at such a height. This sudden change was feared to be perilous, but experts were called in who decided that a short stay at the altitude of the peak of the Jungfrau would not affect the ordinary man in good health. So the concession was granted.

Beyond the station where now the trains stop at Elmsee the line of the road runs for nearly all the way through a great arched tunnel cut in the solid rock. A considerable portion of this tunnel has been completed, and along it have been excavated great rock stations, some of considerable size.

The survey for the Jungfrau line was a task wonderful and daring in itself. It was in the construction of the great tunnel that the chief problems came in. Some places which had to be surveyed for this tunnel were absolutely inaccessible and the engineers resorted successfully to a process known as photogrammetry, or laying out the section accurately from photographs taken from a distance.

As the line of the road beyond Elmsee glacier is through a region of perpetual ice and snow, glaciers and avalanches, the railway could not of course be built in the open. As it was impracticable to go over the mountain side the engineers determined to go through it and so laid out and have partially completed a covered route above which the avalanches can thunder, the snows accumulate and the glaciers move all they want without damage to the railway. From the station at Schmeldegg to the Elger glacier the railway runs in the open with the exception of one short tunnel, and as the train skims along the top of the pass a magnificent view is presented of the mountains and valleys, the snowy peaks, the deep gorges, the gleaming ice fields of the Alps. The number of huge and well-known mountains which can be seen from this section of the railway is remarkable. At Elgerwand, the next station on the line, one is fairly out upon the great slopes of the Elger and seems to have entered a region of arctic snow and ice. All around is the Alpine solitude, broken only by the rumble and crash of some distant falling avalanche may be, or the sound of some stream issuing from the glaciers. This station at Elgerwand, like all those which follow it on the route, is a large room hewn out of the living rock.

At Elmsee is the largest of these rock-hewn stations. It not only is a station, but a hotel, for there are bedrooms for tourists who care to undergo the strange experience of passing a night there. The hotel windows, cut through the mountain side, overlook the valley. These windows open onto balconies, temporary affairs that can be taken in and stowed away when the storms of winter stop operations on the railroad.

WIRELESS TO STEER TORPEDO.

Young Bostonian Harnesses Ether Waves for Duty Under Water.

Boston.—An ingenious young man of Charlestown, the district of Boston that produced the inventor of the electric telegraph, is confident that he has discovered just how to harness Hertzian waves, so as to employ them in making submarine torpedoes dirigible and dischargeable at the behest of an operator aboard ship or on shore. Patent rights have been applied for by this young experimenter, whose name is Charles A. Logue, Jr.

Mr. Logue, who is a student at Boston college, and 21 years old, has for years been interested in scientific inquiry, and since the first practical achievements in wireless telegraphy has devoted a great deal of attention to the study of ether waves and their possibilities. After months of diligent effort he succeeded, some months ago, in influencing the course of a mock torpedo in a tank of water. After many trials he succeeded at last in steering the tiny craft in the tank in any desired direction, and when the attention of William J. Doolan, a torpedo expert at the Charlestown navy yard, was directed to it, Mr. Doolan made an examination and decided to take a working model of the apparatus to Washington.

I could not get anything that would help him. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and after using them three times, the sores commenced to heal. He is now well, and not a scar is left on his body. They have never returned nor left him with bad blood, as one would think. PISO'S CURE

Dress Up-to-Date.

STYLES IN GLOVES

TWO-BUTTON AND SINGLE-CLASP LENGTHS POPULAR.

Indications Are That Dark Shades Will Be Largely Worn—Green to Be One of the Colors Most Affected.

Advanced styles in gloves indicate that long sleeves are an established fact, for most of them are in two-button and single-clasp lengths that barely cover the wrists.

These up-to-date gloves are in taupe, wistaria, dark green and rich deep brown colors.

Among these decided tints there is an extremely pretty shade of wistaria—that looks like mauve until the two colors are placed side by side—that will be worn with gowns on dahlia and wistaria tints. Taupe goes well with almost any color and is expected to become very popular.

Green is a color that seems to be coming to the fore, and some very pretty gloves in dark green are seen in both emerald and olive shades.

Suede, too, is struggling for a place in the glove world, and, as this kid has a tendency to reduce the size of the hand, probably it will meet favor. On the whole, however, fashion's fancy is for bright, glossy surfaces, hence the full line of glaze kids.

Mocha is always in demand as fall advances, and several new shades are seen in this popular kind of hand covering.

The favorite tones will be taupe, tan, slate and gray, and, fortunately for those women whose hands perspire freely, these gloves with silk linings can be bought. The value of the silk lies in the fact that it keeps the hands warm and absorbs the perspiration.

Auto gloves are made with deep flaring gauntlets in the favorite tans and dark browns.

At three dollars a pair there is a very good model, with wide cuff, gusset strap at wrist, and spear-back, colors tan and black, and a cheaper grade at two dollars a pair is made with a large gusset at the side for slipping on and off quickly. It has no clasp.

The cosiest looking angora and rabbit wool gloves are ready for those who prefer these for cold days. They come in white, black, natural tints and gray.

The evening gloves are of fine glaze kid, long, of course, and show no outre or extraordinary features. The backs are plain, for neither embroidery nor applique marks the newest styles. It is possible to get evening gloves in every imaginable color, but white is always in good taste, and it goes without stating—the most economical, for not only will it harmonize with any toilet, but it can be cleaned time and again and looks like new, which is not the case with colors.

LUNCH NAPKINS OF DAMASK.

Prettily Worked, They Make a Most Acceptable Gift.

Nothing makes a more acceptable present for an engaged girl than a set of lunch napkins, in fine damask or Chinese linen, scalloped on the edge and worked in one corner with a monogram or an open design in eyelet embroidery.

If the damask is handsome the work can be kept quite simple; a shallow scallop and three small block initials across one corner, about 2 1/4 inches up. Instead of the three initials a monogram can be used set in a medallion of narrow satin stitched with a row of small dots on the outside. Sometimes the medallions are shield-shaped, worked in satin stitch.

On the linen a more elaborate effect is better. Keep the scallop simple, but in one corner have a monogram from which radiates an open vine-like design in eyelet work. The Madeira embroidery is particularly showy for napkins and good patterns are easily obtained at any art-needlework store.

Do not make the mistake of having two deep a scallop. True, it wears better, but looks heavy and inartistic. If the edges are well padded with chain stitch and closely worked they wash well. Use a fine mercerized cotton, as it makes the work much smoother.

FOR WEAR IN THE EVENING.

This picture shows a stunning evening robe of black dotted tulle over cream liberty satin. It employs one of the very deep girdles extending down over hips and around bottom at set intervals are two rows of narrow black jet trimming. The low-cut bodice has festoons of jet across the front, with tassels hanging at each side, where it fastens, just at the bust line. The shoulder straps and cuff bands on the short sleeves are also of jet and the shirred white piece across the front is embroidered white tulle, through which is run narrow jet trimming.

Toy Money.

Paste silver paper on a piece of pasteboard. With real money as a guide mark off many circles and cut out. You should have dollars, halves, quarters, dimes and nickels, writing on them respectively one dollar, 50 cents, 25 cents, ten cents, five cents. For pennies use a light brown or bronze paper instead of the silver paper on the pasteboard. The children of various sizes will enjoy using this money when they play store and thereby will learn its value and how to make change.

The New Evening Mantle.

A charming and useful article, seen now in Paris, is the new evening mantle for the shoulders, in place of a scarf. It is of crepe de chine, or embroidered silk, and is generally heavily weighted with silk fringe or deep lace, so that it clings to the form. This, too, may be drawn over the head to protect the hair.—Vogue.

COOKED IN CHAFING DISH.

Appetizing Dishes for Those Who Are Fond of Shrimps.

Shrimps may be cooked delectably in the chafing dish in several ways. They are delicious with curried rice. Put four tablespoonfuls of butter into the blazer with a little chopped onion and allow to remain until brown. Add a heaping tablespoonful of cornstarch, into which two teaspoonfuls of curry powder, a teaspoonful of salt, and a dash of pepper have been mixed. Then add two cupfuls of milk, one-half cupful of shrimps broken in small pieces, and a cupful of boiled rice; cook slowly for about five minutes.

For shrimp salad cut the shrimps into pieces and mix with minced lettuce. Arrange lettuce leaves with it and cover with a dressing made with two eggs, yolks and whites beaten separately, adding a teaspoonful each of salt and pepper, half cup of vinegar, and a spoonful of mustard. The whole should be cooked until it begins to thicken.

Two other recipes have been tested and found not wanting. For one, take half a pint of fresh or canned shrimps, a tablespoonful of tomato sauce, half an onion grated, two and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter, half a cup of boiled rice, and half cupful of cream. Put the butter into the blazer, and when melted stir in the onion and rice. Then add the shrimps, cream and tomato sauce. Stir until it boils, then allow it to simmer for five minutes. Serve on toast.

The other recipe: Melt a piece of butter in the dish and add half a cup of boiled rice, one cup of cream or milk, and three tablespoonfuls of catsup. When the mixture is thoroughly heated add one cup of shrimp and cook for three minutes. Serve this also on toast.

The Home.

Try cleaning white cloth trimmings with salt and flour, hot. This is very effective, while not injuring the material in any way.

Furniture takes a better polish if, before starting the rubbing, all dirt and dust is rubbed from the wood by a slightly dampened cloth.

A quick and easy method to peel onions for frying or stewing is to cut off the top and bottom of the onion, quarter it and the outside skin is easily removed.

When starching Holland pinafores, if a little tea is put into the starch used they will keep their color, instead of getting that faded appearance we all know so well.

If a small quantity of cream turns sour in the icebox do not throw it out, but with a fork beat it a few minutes and a tiny patch of fresh butter and a little glass of buttermilk will be the reward.

To clean kid shoes put in a saucer a half-ounce of strong ammonia, dip in a clean flannel and rub it on castile soap. Then rub the shoes with this, changing the flannel when it becomes soiled.

Soft Ginger Cookies.

Put one pint of molasses on the stove to get hot. Break one egg in a dish, add one cup sugar, one tablespoon ginger, one teaspoon salt. Stir this up thoroughly. When molasses is hot put in it two teaspoons saleratus, beat it and while foaming pour over the mixture of egg, sugar etc. Now take one mixingspoon of good vinegar, put into the molasses dish and clean the molasses all out. Pour it into the mixture, use a large dish as it foams. Mix stiff and knead hard. Bake in a quick oven. Roll one-quarter-inch thick.

Spanish Omelet.

Fry in butter two sliced onions, three minced sweet peppers till done, beat up six eggs, and stir into pan. Cook till done. Serve with ham or bacon.

PERUNA A TONIC OF GREAT USEFULNESS.

HON. R. S. THARIN.

Hon. R. S. Tharin, Attorney at Law and counsel for Anti-Trust League, writes from Pennsylvania Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows:

"Having used Peruna for catarrhal disorders, I am able to testify to its great remedial excellence and do not hesitate to give it my emphatic endorsement and earnest recommendation to all persons affected by that disorder. It is also a tonic of great usefulness."

Mr. T. Barnecott, West Aylmer, Ontario, Can., writes: "Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having a grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well. I also induced a young lady, who was all run down and confined to the house, to take Peruna, and after taking Peruna for three months she is able to follow her trade of tailoring. I can recommend Peruna for all such who are ill and require a tonic."

Peruna Tablets.

Some people prefer to take tablets, rather than to take medicine in a fluid form. Such people can obtain Peruna tablets which represent the solid medicinal ingredients of Peruna. Each tablet is equivalent to one average dose of Peruna.

BY WAY OF COMPARISON.

Youngster's First Efforts in the Realm of Natural History.

Four-year-old Clyde was a precocious youngster—very talkative and a close observer. He and his father were strolling through the meadows one morning when Clyde observed, for the first time, some tadpoles in a pond. He waded in and cried out in delight: "Oh, father, what are they?"

"Tadpoles, son," the father replied. "Please, father, let's take them all home with us, then come back and find the mamma and papa, and we'll have the whole family in our pond at home."

The father explained how impossible this would be, and as he walked on a few steps a large ugly frog hopped across their path. Clyde's father said: "Look, son, perhaps there is the papa."

Clyde was very thoughtful. He looked at the frog, then at his father, then at himself and exclaimed:

"Well, father, was there ever so much difference between me and you?"

Up-to-Date.

A little girl six years old gave an afternoon tea to some of her friends, and she wished to make it as perfect a reproduction of those given by her mother as was possible.

"What shall you give your friends to eat?" asked the same mother.

"I don't know," replied the embryo aesthete; "unless I give them pink tissue paper and cambric tea. Uncle Tom says that's the most fashionable thing."

B. Montaigne, who superintended the laying of the pipe line from the south fork of the Bonito to Carrizozo, is now engaged in extending the line further east. A large force of men are employed excavating for the pipe. By spring it is expected the line will be completed to Pastura, which is about 140 mile from the point of intake. The company may later further extend the line, depending principally on a sufficient volume of water.

New Mexico has eight thousand square miles of coal lands, representing wealth of which figures can convey no adequate idea to the mind. These coal lands are the key to a future industrial development that will cause this territory to rival any of the manufacturing states of the east.—Tucumcari Sun.

An exchange says: When the frost is on the whiskers and my overcoat's in soak, then this sort of open winter doesn't strike me as a joke, and I wish the good old summer might come sloping back once more—when I'd kick and raise a rumpus as I've always done before. I would use a smokey language as I tried to swat the flies, and I'd quote from wicked authors when the sweat rolled in my eyes; so I'll just pretend I'm happy, and I will not snarl or croak, though the frost is on the whisker and my overcoat's in soak
