STABBING AFFRAY AT JICARILLA.

A very serious stabbing affray occurred at Jicarilla last Friday night; or in the early hours of the following morning. Liberetto, a step-son of Maximiano Guebarra, cut and slashed Matias Sedillo in such a manner that the latter's life was endangered.

Dr. Paden was called from this place, and went to Raventon, expecting to attend the wounded man at his home; but upon his arrival there learned that Sedillo was in such a precarious condition that he could not be moved from the scene of the affray. A night drive was made to Jicarilla, and it was while making this drive that the doctor met with his accident, which, for a time, put him out of business and he was delayed in reaching the injured man.

Ultimately reaching the scene, however, the wounded man was found to be suffering greatly and quite weak from the loss of blood. An examination disclosed no less than twelve knife wounds, some slight, while others were deep and dangerous. The knife in one instance had penetrated the right lung, which, indeed, produced a condition from which the worst results might follow. All the wounds were dressed and the patient revived, and later reports induce the belief that he will recover.

The difficulty took place at a dance, but as to its cause and its merits we are unable to say. We are informed, however, that the man who wielded the knife was given a preliminary hearing before the Jicarilla justice, and was placed under a five hundred dollar bond for his appearance at the next grand jury.

EARTHQUAKE KILLS OVER 100,000.

The island of Sicily and southern Italy were visited by an earthquake Monday of this week, the greatest single disaster recorded in history. A tidal wave succeeded the shock, a large portion of Sicily and the mainland of Italy was submerged, many populous cities entirely wiped out and more than 100,000 lives lost. The devastation is complete, and the worst is to follow—pestilence and famine—notwithstanding the aid that is being rushed to the unfortunate survivors from all parts of the world.

ELEVEN CHINAMEN CAPTURED.

A bunch of almond-eyed gentry got past Carrizozo Sunday night, notwithstanding the vigilance of immigration officers Curtis and Sensner, and went on east, no doubt feeling good over their success in eluding the officials. However, their joy, if joy was felt, was of short duration; for Conductor Clavel, who had charge of the train, was better on hearing than the officers were on seeing, and when Duran was reached, he went to a car from whence emanated the noise, and discovered a lot of live freight in what was supposed to be an empty fruit car, with seal unbroken. Conductor Clavel reported his find to the agent and watchman, the car was opened and eleven slant-eyed sons of the flowery kingdom were taken into custody. The government officials at Carrizozo were notified and pig-tailed bunch was brought back Monday and carried to Alamogordo.

A large amount of provisions and a quantity of water were found in the car, sufficient, it is said, to have maintained the crew until they could have reached the Atlantic seaboard. The authorities do not know where the cargo got aboard, but it is believed El Paso was the point, and evidence seems to bear out the belief that the Celestials had plenty of assistance from private individuals in securing passage, without purchasing tickets at the union depot.

WORK ON THE PIPE LINE EXTENSION PROGRESSES.

The ditch for the pipe line, running north from Coyote, has practically been completed as far as Ancho. The piping has not yet arrived, but as soon as it does pipe-laying will begin. From Coyote for quite a distance north the pipe material will be iron, and where the pressure is less wood will be used. A pumping station will be put in at Coyote, and a reservoir and another pumping station between Coyote and Corona. From Corona to Duran the water will be carried by gravity. The length of this line will be nearly sixty miles, and the company hopes to have it completed within six months.

WEDDING BELLS.

Nogal was the scene of a number of weddings Christmas week, and furnished most of the principals.

Harry K. Allen and Miss Minnie Morgan, both residents of Nogal, went to Lincoln Monday of last week, secured a license and were there married by the justice of the peace.

On Thursday evening of the same week, at 4:15 o'clock, Wm. Hust and Miss Lukey Cochran were pronounced husband and wife by Justice Koonce. The contracting parties live at Nogal.

The same evening, at the hour of 11:15, the services of Justice Koonce were again called into requisition, and, in the dining room of the Nogal hotel, united in marriage Samuel W. Kelsey and Miss Lou Anne Johnson. The groom, formerly a resident of Nogal, now resides at Bonito, where he is engaged in teaching school; and the bride, recently with her parents at Carrizozo, grew to womanhood in Nogal.

To these three young couple, just embarked upon the sea of matrimony, the News extends best wishes, and trusts that they may enjoy long lives of peace and happiness.

AT WHITE OAKS.

A quiet wedding was held at White Oaks on the evening of December 25th. The contracting parties were Fred A. Gibson of this place and Sarah Olier of White Oaks. The ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace H. C. Cray at the residence of D. L. Jackson.

Dillard Shortzer and Myrtle McNew, both of Ancho, were united in marriage at White Oaks on December 25th. Rev. Southwell, Methodist minister, performed the ceremony.

GIRL GOOD LAWYER

PRETTY YOUNG FRENCH WOMAN WINS IMPORTANT CASE.

Mlle. Miropolsky is Only 21 Years Old—Believes in Marriage, But Doesn't Want It to Interfere with Career.

Paris.—The youngest woman lawyer in the world has just been defending a woman accused of trying to kill herself and her baby by inhaling the fumes of a charcoal stove. Mlle. Helene Miropolsky is only 21 and was sworn in as a lawyer before the court of appeals in this city last October. Her appearance as counsel for the defense in a criminal trial attracted a large number of old lawyers to the courtroom, though the case itself was nothing out of the ordinary. Her client had been abandoned by the father of her child, finding herself on the verge of starvation she had tried to end her misery. The baby had died, but she had been saved.

"Portia come to life!" cried an old jurist as he watched the beautiful girl and listened to the eloquence of her soft voice pleading for mercy for the unfortunate sister on whom inexorable justice had laid her heavy hand. And so moving was her plea that the jury acquitted her client.

Mlle. Miropolsky was born in Paris of parents who were Poles by birth. Both father and mother are doctors of medicine, so it is only fair to say that some of the young woman's talent is inherited. She has nothing about her that suggests the "new woman." Handsome, graceful, elegant in costume, she looks like a young woman of the fashionable world—until she dons her gown and cap; then indeed she seems what the old lawyer called her—"Portia come to life."

Before she was 17 she had taken her degree of B. A., and it should be observed that the French requirements for a degree are anything but easy to fulfill.

Mlle. Miropolsky's portraits do not do her justice, for they cannot reproduce the air of intelligence that beams in every feature nor the changing expression, the keen sparkle of the eye, the jet black hair, the white teeth or the charm of manner which are hers.

Mlle. Miropolsky desires especially to practice in divorce cases and on behalf of children. With regard to divorce, she expresses ideas which in some countries would be considered audacious. She would like to see divorce made easier; that is, she advocates dissolving a union on the express desire of both parties. This reform she suggests as being really in the interests of morality. Such a condition of affairs, she remarks, virtually exists nowadays, for if the parties really wish to be separated they arrange a comedy in which there are, necessarily, low and vulgar incidents. In divorce cases she hopes that it may be her lot to plead nearly always for the wife, for, she says, it is the woman who suffers most frequently in these domestic failures.

On the question of marriage she has supreme contempt for what are called marriages of reason, the "reason" generally being money. She recognizes that marriage is the true function of woman, and if she were to meet a man for whom she had real affection she would think herself happy to marry; but on no other consideration save that of love. In any case, she would hope to continue her career in the legal profession.

She is an opponent of capital punishment. She regards criminals somewhat in the light of diseased persons. In any case, she says, where our own motives are often so obscure and our judgment so fallible, we have no right to take the life of a human being.

Mlle. Miropolsky speaks English very well, with a precise but pleasant intonation, and she also speaks and reads German. She has traveled much in Europe and she is a skilled musician. And all this at the age of 21!

THE ALASKAN'S TOTEM POLE.

His Family History Told in the Strangely Carved Symbol.

Seattle, Wash.—Totem poles are erected by certain of the American Indians, principally the Alaskans, before their dwellings as symbols of family pride, veneration of ancestors, or religion. The poles are usually 40 feet high, and are carved into grotesque figures and animals one above the other, while the crest or badge of the chief by whose house it stands surmounts the top.

The totem pole to the Alaskan is as dear as is the genealogy of the proudest "blue blood" of the civilized world, for it stands a record of the character of his forefather, and every carved sign and every blended color upon it has a sacred meaning. For example, the eagle upon a totem pole means that a son of Alaska has descended from a traveler, a leader, or one who migrates. The raven is he who is crafty, wise and possessed of great acumen; the frog that of a philosopher, a savant; the bear means strength, muscle; the whale implies plenty of food; the duck suggests placidity, a phlegmatic temperament; the seal beauty, grace, charm; the salmon means great favors, desires, ambitions, and so on down the line of comparison with every living creature.

Some years ago a party of Seattle enthusiasts, bent upon a voyage of discovery, chartered a steamer and made a trip to southeastern Alaska. They arrived at a small Indian village, but as the population seemed to have deserted the place, they decided it would be just and lawful to "take into camp" one of the totem poles that stood before the Indian huts, Totem Poles. So they entered into negotiations with two old Indian women who were the only living beings about the place, and purchased, as they supposed, one of the most pretentious looking totems in the place. The pole was removed to Seattle and was presented to the city with much speechmaking in the presence of the city "fathers" and other citizens assembled.

Inartistic Pottery.

We wonder that some of our enterprising firm with no great resources at their command do not produce cheap artistic pottery, for it would possibly create its own market after a time. IN VOGUE

FASHIONS IN FURS

COMBINATIONS NOW FORM THE CHIEF MOTIF.

Neckpieces, Muffs and Hats Combine with Ribbon Bows and Rosettes—Good Reason for Seeming Over-Elaboration.

Fortunately the woman who has a piece of fur too worn about the edges to be worn in its present shape, yet not unworthy of recutting, for she may imitate at very slight expense the novelties that bring so high a price in the shops. A very little piece of fur will do for a neckpiece, muff or hat, for the style is now to combine with ribbon bows, rosettes and ruffles, and even with inset lace.

A most elaborate combination, you will say—but think—how can we protect our throats from winter's chill and yet have our huge incroyable revers and other direttore motifs uncovered to admiring gaze? As for the muffs, they must assuredly not present an unbroken expanse of fur in opposition to the much beruffled stoles above them. Then why should not My Lady Dainty boast a hat to match?

The note of novelty in the simple ruffled bands of fox fur, sable, mink and martin, is this, that almost without exception they are joined to the head of the animal on the side instead of in front or back. The ends, moreover, if there be ends, are made to hang over the back of the left shoulder, for the new coats all protect the throat.

There are also little, chokers of mink, martin and other soft furs that fasten in back with a knot of ribbon. These may or may not have separate pelts set on the bottom of the collar at the sides with tails and heads overhanging front or back.

But more attractive still are the little folded collars of velvet banded at the top with a bit of short-haired fur, which is in turn completed by a platted ruche of double-faced satin ribbon. Colors are often used in this combination, moss green with a touch of gold being employed to brighten up the lighter furs, white also being seen with black.

The muffs foremost in favor are the large pillow affairs made up of alternate strips of fur and inset lace, or of fur set off by ribbon frilling.

The furs of the winter's vogue are the richest, glossiest things that ever an animal grew for woman's adornment. Sable and chinchilla take the lead, though their great expensiveness makes them prohibitive to mere orinary mortals. Black lynx and pointed fox rank second in favor, the glossy lynx in particular setting off the satin coats and hats to advantage.

Our drawing shows a fancy neck piece of ermine, with platings of chiffon and lace. It is made with a high ruche around the neck, and the fur bands are finished with the ermine tails.

The hat on this figure shows a combination of lace, fur and paradise plumes for trimming. Just below are two fancy neckpieces, one of platted chiffon and ribbon, and the other of fur finished by a bow.

A Practical Use of Ribbon.

Warranted to weather all sorts of weather is a simple yet effective ribbon trimming which is entirely new this year. The graceful "Janet" hat in to-day's illustrations shows this unusual mode of trimming. Yards and yards of three-inch satin ribbon, edged at one side with pliable wire, are massed into a full rosette. Still more yards are arranged in lapping folds around the crown. Even with the lavish amount of ribbon employed, such a hat would prove quite inexpensive and be both practical and attractive for runabout wear.

Save the Buttonholes.

When discarding a worn undergarment or waist, save the strip of goods on which the buttonholes were made. If the buttonholes are still strong. When repairing underwear on which the buttonholes have become torn or too large, select one of the strongest of the saved buttonholes and place it over the old one and stitch into place. This process requires but half the time and labor that it would take to put a new band on and work the buttonholes.

DESIGNED FOR THE BRIDE.

A charming suggestion for a bridal costume is made from ivory white liberty satin. The draped fichu is trimmed with bands of pearl passementerie, and where it crosses a tulle to left side there is a long sash falling to below knee depth and also trimmed with passementerie and finished with silk fringe. This is caught at bust line with a bunch of orange blossoms and the sleeves are alternate bands of tulle and passementerie. Plastron and high stock are tucked tails.

This woman says that sick women should not fail to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she did.

Mrs. A. Gregory, of 2355 Lawrence St., Denver, Col., writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was practically an invalid for six years, on account of female troubles. I underwent an operation by the doctor's advice, but in a few months I was worse than before. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and it restored me to perfect health, such as I have not enjoyed in many years. Any woman suffering as I did with backache, bearing-down pains, and periodic pains, should not fail to use Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills, and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.

The old year is dead. Ring out the Old, ring in the New.

The old year, with its joys and its sorrows, its sunshine and shadows, closed its eyes last night in eternal slumber, and today Old Father Time bears an infant in his arms—1909. The old year, to many, if not most, has been one of sorrows and reverses rather than one of joys and successes, and few are found weeping at its bier.

It has been characterized by hard times, depression in business, financial unrest, industrial failures, resulting in idleness for thousands who labor for their daily bread and entailing untold suffering, especially in the larger cities, where the unemployed congregate. On the rail, in the mine and at sea the casualties have been great, and many disasters caused the loss of thousands of lives and millions of dollars of wealth. Just as the old year was breathing its last came the report of the most dreadful disaster in the annals of history—an earthquake, followed by a tidal wave that engulfed many cities in the island of Sicily and on the Italian mainland, carrying death and destruction in its wake, leaving 100,000 human bodies inextricably mingled with the wreck of homes, all mute witnesses of an indescribable catastrophe.

In this country, the old year has witnessed the death of our only ex-president—Grover Cleveland—and the making of a new one—William H. Taft. It has seen the corporations, which the president told us he had lassoed, slip the noose and become more exacting than ever. And on the side of labor it has witnessed the prosecution of the labor leaders and the rendering of a decision by a judge, the wording of whose verdict proved him to be most highly prejudiced, thus bringing odium to the bench and creating sympathy for the men he showed such a willingness to punish. Graft has been rampant, involving municipal, state and national officials: some of the grafters have been punished, but more have escaped; and the catalogue of disaster and corruption runs on indefinitely.

But let us turn our faces to the future; let us forget the reverses of 1908 in the contemplation of the victories to be won in 1909. Let us begin over again—start the new year with a smile, and trust that the promised prosperity may be realized; that labor will find remunerative employment and capital profitable investment, and that peace and plenty may journey side by side. It is the hope of the future that makes the present endurable. Let us, then, hope for the best.

Better Not Get Dyspepsia

If you can help it. Kodol prevents Dyspepsia, by effectually helping Nature to Relieve Indigestion. But don't trifle with Indigestion.

A great many people who have trifled with indigestion, have been sorry for it—when nervous or chronic dyspepsia resulted, and they have not been able to cure it. Use Kodol and prevent having Dyspepsia.

Everyone is subject to indigestion. Stomach derangement follows stomach abuse, just as naturally and just as surely as a sound and healthy stomach results upon the taking of Kodol.

When you experience sourness of stomach, belching of gas and nauseating fluid, bloated sensation, gnawing pain in the pit of the stomach, heart burn (so-called), diarrhoea, headaches, dullness or chronic tired feeling—you need Kodol. And then the quicker you take Kodol—the better. Eat what you want, let Kodol digest it.

Ordinary pepsin "dyspepsia tablets," physics, etc., are not likely to be of much benefit to you, in digestive ailments. Pepsin is only a partial digester—and physics are not digesters at all.

Kodol is a perfect digester. If you could see Kodol digesting every particle of food, of all kinds, in the glass test-tubes in our laboratories, you would know this just as well as we do.

Nature and Kodol will always cure a sick stomach—but in order to be cured, the stomach must rest. That is what Kodol does—rests the stomach, while the stomach gets well. Just as simple as A, B, C.

CHRISTMAS TREE CUSTOM UPHHELD BY FOREST BUREAU.

Washington, Dec. 26.—The country's forests again have been called upon to supply about four million Christmas trees, and again many persons have asked themselves and have queried the United States Forest Service, "Is the custom a menace to the movement for forest preservation?"

In the millions of happy homes over the country where the younger generation has made the Christmas tree the center of play since early Friday morning, there are many mothers and fathers who have given the question more or less thought. From Sunday schools and other organizations also, which hold an annual celebration around a gayly trimmed evergreen for the benefit of the little ones, has come the question whether it is consistent to urge conservation of forest resources and then to cut millions of young trees every year to afford a little joy in the passing holiday season.

"Yes, it is consistent and proper that the custom should be maintained," has been the answer of United States Forester Gifford Pinchot in every case. "Trees are for use, and there is no other use to which they could be put which would contribute so much to the joy of man as their use by the children on this one great holiday of the year.

"The number of trees cut for this use each year is utterly insignificant when compared to the consumption for other purposes for which timber is demanded. Not more than four million Christmas trees are used each year, one in every fourth family. If planted four feet apart they could be grown on less than 1,500 acres. This clearing of an area equal to a good-sized farm each Christmas should not be the of much worry, when it is remembered that for lumber alone it is necessary to take timber from an area of more than 100,000 acres every day of the year.

"It is true that there has been serious damage to forest growth in the cutting of Christmas trees in various sections of the country, particularly in the Adirondacks and parts of New England, but in these very sections the damage through the cutting of young evergreens for use at Christmas is infinitesimal when compared with the loss of forest resources through fires and careless methods of lumbering. The proper remedy is not to stop using trees but to adopt wiser methods of use.

"It is generally realized that a certain proportion of land must always be used for forest growth, just as for other crops. Christmas trees are one form of this crop. There is no more reason for an outcry against using land to grow Christmas trees than to grow flowers."

No. 2 passenger train, passing here at midnight on the 29th, was wrecked on the morning of the 30th between Santa Rosa and Tucumcari. The tender jumped the track, but no coaches were derailed and no one was hurt. The track was torn up for several rods, but in about four hours was repaired and traffic resumed.

On account of the mild fall and winter weather, we are somewhat overstocked on quilts and blankets, and will make special inducements to intending purchasers.—Ziegler Bros.

A Happy New Year to all our friends and patrons.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbert T. Collier and children were down from White Oaks Wednesday.

Turn over a new leaf, and resolve to do better.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. White were down from the Mesa yesterday and the day before.

Captain Paris returned to Fort Stanton yesterday after spending the holidays here.

Have you sworn off your bad habits, and formed good resolutions for 1909? If not, why not?

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Coe were over from Glencoe this week visiting relatives.

Geo. S. Treat was down from White Oaks Tuesday, and called at this office to say "How-do."

Prof. C. F. Davis, who is engaged teaching school at White Oaks, spent the holiday week in Carrizozo.

A number of young people were down from White Oaks on Christmas night, guests of the Carri-Pastime Club.

A. C. Wingfield, who has been over on the Ruidoso the past two months, was in Carrizozo several days this week. He later went to White Oaks where he will be engaged for some time.

Mr. and Mrs. John Norton of Capitan spent Christmas week with Mrs. Norton's father, P. G. Peters.

W. S. Kirby and family returned Wednesday from Goldthwaite, Texas, where they spent the holidays.

Engineer John Harris returned Tuesday from El Paso, where he had gone to spend the holidays with his family.

Attorney Wm. F. A. Gierke, Surveyor-elect Frank E. Theurer, and A. A. De Camp went to Lincoln yesterday.

James Hubbert, car inspector in the local yards, with his family went to Alamogordo last night. They will return Sunday.

George Roslington left Wednesday for Albuquerque where he will enter the office of the Occidental Life Insurance company.

Machinist Jerry Simpson, of the shops, spent two days this week on his homestead east of town, making improvements on the same.

From the number of weddings that took place during the past week, it would appear as if the girls were making up for lost time. It will be four long years before another leap year rolls around.

Wm. S. Bourne was over from Capitan two or three days this week, looking at a bunch of live stock, with a view of making a shipment.

Engineer W. C. Hudnall is again holding a throttle, after a ten days absence in Alamogordo, where he was called by the illness of his wife.

W. K. Collier, clerk in General Foreman Kimbell's office, who spent the holidays with relatives in Texas, is expected home this evening.

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Parker and children and Mr. and Mrs. J. J. McCourt and children, of El Paso, spent the holidays at the Bar W ranch.

James Robinson, of Bonito, passed through Carrizozo Tuesday on his way to Corona. He will go to work in the Gallina Mountain mines.

J. W. Stephenson and J. W. Stuart, owners of a fine flock of Angora goats in the Eagle Creek country, were in Carrizozo Wednesday and Thursday.

Judge G. B. Greer was in town Tuesday from his home on the Bonito. He was on his way to the Estancia Valley, where he annually delivers fruit trees for a Denver nursery.

Miss Cora Kelly leaves tonight for Estancia, where she has been engaged to teach school the coming five months. She will live with her brother, J. T. Kelly, who has with the family here the past month.

Frank Theurer has purchased the real estate and insurance business of George Roslington. Mr. Theurer thus becomes the owner of the Highland Park addition which adjoins the townsite on the south.

Mr. and Mrs. O. S. Poage are the happy parents of a fine baby girl, born on Tuesday morning. Mother and babe are doing well—and Poage is, too, though unable to take his place in the yards until today.

A. A. De Camp of Beggs, Oklahoma, arrived here last week and may decide to locate here. Mr. De Camp is an old friend of Attorney Gierke, who formerly lived at Beggs, and took an active part in making Oklahoma a "dry" state.

The drawing for the two large boxes of candies at the Carrizozo Trading Company's store took place on the evening of the 24th. The lucky ones were W. M. Reilly who won the large box with No. 9, and Pablo Mancha who won the other box with No. 25.

Blaming the Women.

Against whom are we to charge the social distinctions that now curse the circles of Protestantism in this country, if not against the women? Men are naturally democratic. Left to themselves they seldom draw sharp social lines or insist upon conventional distinctions. What do we find in the one sphere where they are supreme the political world? How much class distinction exists there? Not so with women. They are more gregarious, but at the same time more conventional. Is not fashion their standing incrimination at this bar? If rich, they are the more exclusive, if poor, the more sensitive. Social lines existing in the world without they have extended into the sacred inclosure of the church, until to-day there is no more conventional body among us than the well-to-do Christian church, declares John Halcom Shaw D. D. in the Homiletic Review. Nothing hurts us so much as this one condition, and for its existence I hold our women almost exclusively responsible. Let them only say the word, and mean it, and this state of affairs will be gone in a week.

Sausage, unless some qualifying term is employed, is a mixture of chopped pork, veal and beef. At any rate, that is the decision of the recent international congress for the repression of food and drug frauds. The Paris butchers do not like this definition and insist that sausage proper contains nothing but the meat of pigs. They asked that qualifying terms be used when beef or veal is mixed with the pork, but were overruled. It is rather late in the day to dispute over sausages, says the Youth's Companion. This culinary confection is of ancient lineage. King, in his curious and interesting "Art of Cooking," remarks that "Varius Hellogabalus had the peculiar glory of first making sausages of shrimps, crabs, oysters, prawns and lobsters." Elagabalus, as King should have written it, was emperor of Rome from the year 218 to 222, when he was killed by his soldiers at the age of 18 years, and is remembered for no worthy act unless it be the invention of the crustacean sausage. But even the sausage of Elagabalus could not compare with the good old-fashioned country sausage made from fresh pork and seasoned with pepper and salt and sage and various other herbs, the like of which town dwellers rarely find in the markets.

A Missourian who has just been sentenced to a prison term of three years for having four wives at one time, with none of them divorced, offered the excuse that his memory was bad and that he could not always remember whether he was married or not. A man cannot always charge his mind with little matters of this sort, you know.

Reports from the colleges throughout the country show that the entering class is larger than usual. The panic does not seem to have affected the ability of parents to give an education to their sons and daughters.

It is necessary now to look both ways for automobiles when you start to cross the road. When aeroplanes get to be common, it will be necessary also to look up.

Gossip of Washington

What Is Going On at the National Capital.

Mystery of a Missing Mink Overcoat

WASHINGTON.—Unless St. Anthony speedily answers his prayers, or some other agency of the lost and found intervenes to help him, it may be necessary for Senator McCumber of North Dakota to insert an advertisement in the newspapers of his state for a mysteriously missing overcoat.

In the second week of his strenuous campaign for the presidency Judge Taft invaded North Dakota. He was accompanied by a cold wave that met him at Minneapolis. Great preparations had been made for his entertainment at Fargo, where the arrangements contemplated a visit by the Republican presidential candidate to a big barbecue near the edge of the city. All these plans were outlined to Mr. Taft by a local committee which boarded the train at Crookston, Minn. When Mr. Taft hinted that he had no garment to protect him from the cold, local committeemen said they would see to it that he was provided with proper habiliments.

When the Taft special reached Grand Forks, Senator McCumber got Fargo on the long-distance telephone and said he wanted the chairman of the county committee to be at the station with an overcoat that would fit Judge Taft. A hundred loyal sons of Fargo were willing to shiver in the raw prairie blizzard that the next president of the United States should be properly clad. The difficulty was to find a man of the Taft physical proportions who owned an overcoat.

The county chairman was in despair until he happened to think of Finn Leech, a "boyanza farmer," whose ranch is only a few miles from Fargo. Finn weighs 340 pounds. The county chairman lost no time in getting in touch with Finn Leech.

"Did Finn have an overcoat?" Sure thing, and it was lined with mink and cost $175.

"Would he loan it to Judge Taft for use that evening?" Would he? Would a lifelong Republican miss a chance to have his finest garment adorn the shoulders of the leader of his party?

Ten minutes later the overcoat was in the hands of the county chairman and Judge Taft was tucked beneath its ample folds as soon as his train reached Fargo. He wore the coat to the barbecue and to the meetings following the feast. And for all that Finn knows he may be wearing it now as he follows the elusive golf ball over the links at Hot Springs.

The $175 mink lined overcoat disappeared when Judge Taft left Fargo. Nobody seems to know where it is. Its owner has asked Senator McCumber to make an investigation.

Citizens Want a Change in Government

THE liveliest question in Washington just now is that of a change in the district's form of government. As everybody probably well knows affairs are administered now by a commission of three men appointed by the president, one of whom must be an army engineer.

There is undoubtedly a growing opinion that a concentration of authority in the district government would simplify the municipal situation and produce better results. The commission plan has its good features. It has long been held up as a model, ideally suited to the needs of the District of Columbia, where suffrage is denied. But frequent and repeated contention and bickering among the members of the board have served to create more or less general criticism of the commission plan, and thus give the propaganda for a change some momentum. With the commissioners obviously working at cross purposes, and airing their differences, and subordinate district officials following this example by engaging in noisy controversies, it is a logical sequence that the present form of government should gradually be somewhat undermined.

Many substantial citizens and large tax-payers are convinced that a one-headed government would work more smoothly and satisfactorily. This is no new conviction on their part. It has been emphasized in recent exhibitions of division in the present triumvirate, it is true, but the advisability of concentrated authority has appealed to them for years.

Police Ban on Dazzling Salome Posters

THE shock to the modesty of the guardian of Washington's morals the other day was almost overwhelming when his eye caught an animated, dazzling and highly colored poster of the dance of Salome.

"Away from my sight, ye temptress," he cried as he slowly recovered his moral standard. Forthwith he determined that the capital could not gaze upon these pictures of the dancer in full career.

The edict of this "moral censor," who is H. L. Goodford, inspector of police, is law, so far as it concerns theatrical posters, and so the Washington billboards will be barren of Salome.

Thus was Gertrude Hoffman, who had "a vision of Salome" to present to the capital at one of the leading theaters, banished from the sight of the casual passerby, the street urchin and the student of billboard art.

The offending posters now repose in the dark recesses of the stage of the theater, while actors and managers and attaches gather about and declare them martyrs to the cause of art.

"Ain't it awful, Mabel, that such swell pictures should be condemned, just like some phony canned goods or something like that," said one indignant chorus girl. Just to show that the management did not share the shame of the censor, the posters were posted up in the theater lobby.

SEEMED WORSE EVERY DAY.

A Dangerous Case of Kidney Complaint and How it Was Checked.

Mrs. Lucy Quebeck, Mechanic St., Hope Valley, R. I., says: "Eight years ago I contracted severe kidney trouble and my back began to ache continually. Every day it seemed worse. The least pressure on my back tortured me, and I could not stoop without a bad twinge. The kidney secretions passed irregularly with pain, and I bloated badly. My head swam and spots flitted before my eyes. One doctor said I was incurable. However, I found prompt relief when I started using Doan's Kidney Pills, and the troubles I have related gradually disappeared."

BAD ITCHING HUMOR.

Limbs Below the Knees Were Raw—
Feet Swollen—Sleep Broken—
Cured in 2 Days by Cuticura.

"Some two months ago I had a humor break out on my limbs below my knees. They came to look like raw beefsteak, all red, and no one knows how they itched and burned. They were so swollen that I could not get my shoes on for a week or more. I used five or six different remedies and got no help, only when applying them the burning was worse and the itching less. For two or three weeks the suffering was intense and during that time I did not sleep an hour at a time. Then one morning I tried a bit of Cuticura. From the moment it touched me the itching was gone and I have not felt a bit of it since. The swelling went down and in two days I had my shoes on and was about as usual. George B. Farley, 50 South State St., Concord, N. H., May 14, 1907."

"I learn," she said reproachfully, "that you were devoted to no fewer than five girls before you finally proposed to me. How do I know that you didn't make desperate love to all of them?"

"I did," he replied promptly. "You did!" she exclaimed. "Certainly," he returned. "You don't suppose for a moment that I would be foolhardy enough to try for such a prize as you are without practicing a little first, do you?"

BREAKS A COLD PROMPTLY

The following formula is a never failing remedy for colds:

One ounce of Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, one ounce Toris Compound and one-half pint of good whiskey, mix and shake thoroughly each time and use in doses of a table-spoonful every four hours.

This if followed up will cure an acute cold in 24 hours. The ingredients can be gotten at any drug store.

The average woman can change her mind in half the time it takes a man to change his collar.

Habitual Constipation

May be permanently overcome by proper personal efforts with the assistance of the one truly beneficial laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs and Elixir of Senna, which enables one to form regular habits daily so that assistance to nature may be gradually dispensed with when no longer needed as the best of remedies, when required, are to assist nature and not to supplant the natural functions, which must depend ultimately upon proper nourishment, proper efforts, and right living generally. AROUND THE HOUSE

MISCELLANEOUS ODDS AND ENDS OF INTEREST.

To Remove Scratches from Polished Furniture—Cleaning Mother-of-Pearl Bric-a-brac—Comfortable Position for Sewing.

A scratch on polished furniture can be almost obliterated by rubbing vigorously with linseed oil.

If an iron is not at hand when marking clothes with indelible ink, hold the writing against a lighted lamp chimney or gas globe. Garments that are to be hung out to air can be put on hangers, rather than pinned to the line. This prevents sagging or marking with clothespins.

Bric-a-brac containing mother-of-pearl should never be cleaned with soap and water. Instead, it should be rubbed with a cloth dipped into whitening and water.

If, when using lemon for flavoring, you need only half a one, put the other half on a plate and cover with a glass tumbler. This excludes the air and prevents it from drying up or getting moldy.

If some of your country friends have sent you a box of flowers that are the worse for a journey, do not throw half of them out before plunging the stems in hot water in which has been put a few drops of ammonia.

Let the flowers stand in hot water for about five minutes, then cut the ends of the stems and put them in cold water. The blossoms and leaves will be found to be wonderfully revived.

Hair brushes should be cleansed always once a week, if not oftener. Men, especially, are apt to neglect this duty, not from untidiness, but because they have no time to think about it. I know of one mother who gathers up the combs and brushes of her four sons, regularly once a week and washes them in borax and water. A dessertspoonful of borax to a quart of hot water, she tells me, is the correct proportion. The brushes should always be rinsed afterward in clear water and if possible set to dry in the sun. Steam heat is apt to injure the backs.

A woman who sews a great deal of the time has found that her back does not become so tired if her chair is low, or if she has a stool upon which to rest her feet. It is surprising what a difference the comfortable position makes and how much more work she can do. Should the arms become weary she puts a cushion in her lap. On this she rests her elbows, changing the position of her sewing, thus giving both arms and eyes a chance to recover.

Benzine is also good to clean the keys of a piano, but denatured alcohol is quite as satisfactory, and much cheaper, besides not having a disagreeable odor. Make the rag just damp enough to remove the soil, when too wet it runs into the cracks and injures the wires.

Toothsome Nut Loaf.

Run through a meat chopper until it is chopped fine two pounds of loaf beef and one-quarter pound of blanched almonds. Season highly with salt and pepper and shape into a steak. Lay on an earthen platter, rub thickly with butter and bake for about 20 minutes.

Cleaning Engravings.

When houses are being refurbished this autumn it might be well to know that yellow stains on the margins of engravings may be removed by sponging with a solution of hydrochloride of soda.

Getting His Own Back.

"I know what I'll do," said the girl whose bashful lover would not propose. "I'll go out as a trained nurse." "But that is a profession. You know nothing about it," he replied. "Haven't I had six months' experience sitting up nights with you?"—Illustrated Bits.

Miss Maud—There's nothing to be alarmed about, Mr. Timmid. Papa's room is just overhead, and he's snoring.

Prefer Cash to Checks.

The bank check has taken small hold as yet upon the citizens of Mexico, especially when amounts of less than $1,000 are concerned. They consider it much easier to pay spot cash than to give a check for amounts of $50 and $100 and maintain with some amount of reason that a business deal can be put through with better advantage when the cash is in sight.

Not Open to Everybody.

"A most peculiar effect was produced by an announcement in the advertisements of a county fair to be held in my state," says Congressman Champ Clark. "Among other things, the announcement said that 'attractive features of this great fair will be highly amusing donkey races and pig races.' Then, to the amazement of the judicious, this note was added: 'Competition in these two contests will be open to citizens of the county only!'"—Lippincott's.

Glow of Health Speaks for Postum.

It requires no scientific training to discover whether coffee disagrees or not.

Simply stop it for a time and use Postum in place of it, then note the beneficial effects. The truth will appear.

"Six years ago I was in a very bad condition," writes a Tenn. lady, "I suffered from indigestion, nervousness and insomnia.

"I was then an inveterate coffee drinker, but it was long before I could be persuaded that it was coffee that hurt me. Finally I decided to leave it off a few days and find out the truth.

"The first morning I left off coffee I had a raging headache, so I decided I must have something to take the place of coffee." (The headache was caused by the reaction of the coffee drug—caffeine.)

"Having heard of Postum through a friend who used it, I bought a package and tried it. I did not like it at first but after I learned how to make it right, according to directions on pkg., I would not change back to coffee for anything.

"When I began to use Postum I weighed only 117 lbs. Now I weigh 170 and as I have not taken any tonic in that time I can only attribute my recovery of good health to the use of Postum in place of coffee.

"My husband says I am a living advertisement for Postum. I am glad to be the means of inducing my many friends to use Postum, too."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a Reason."

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

It Reminded Him.

Nick Altrock, one of the real funny actors on the ball field, boarded at the same hotel with "Jiggs" Donohue last winter and one morning at the breakfast table in conversation with "Jiggs" said:

"The buckwheat cakes at this hotel remind me of a baseball game."

"How's that?" asked Donohue.

"The batter doesn't always make a hit," Washington Star.

A Scientific Theory.

"Now they claim that the human body contains sulphur."

"In what amount?"

"Oh, in varying quantities."

"Well, that may account for some girls making better matches than others."

High Diplomacy.

Mrs. Gramercy—You look all tired out.

Mrs. Park—It's no wonder. It's so trying to find out from your friends what they'd like to have for Christmas without conveying the impression that they may expect it from you.—Smart Set.

A Scheme?

"A certain girl agreed to marry a man in case Taft was nominated. Now, of course, she has to make good. What do you think of that?"

"I think that girl was playing very safe."

You'll never catch on if you don't try; and after catching on, don't be afraid to let go, if necessary.

A VISION OF THE PAST.

The following verses were written many years ago by Colonel D. J. M. A. Jewett, of Capitan, while a citizen of Louisiana, and as they have never been in print, and are apropos of the present season, we take pleasure in presenting them to our readers, some of whom may have reason to feel that those who should have succeeded them have gone before, and have become their ancestors, as it were, in another life:

In the silent hours of the dying year
I turn my treasury o'er,
And lovingly linger with what remains
Of the loves of days of yore.

Whips and tops and bits of strings,
Bits of toys and broken rings
And threads of golden hair;
Little shoes, a picture torn,
Pretty suits my babes have worn,
A battered broken chair.

Childish letters stained with tears,
Epics of the buried years,
A fatterer's, accented glove;
Lace that curtained baby beds,
Curls once shed from baby heads,
Last legacies of love.

Dowry fingers as snow-flakes falling,
Baby voices in whispers calling,
Almost my buried youth rears:
Childish fingers my hair is turning,
Childish kisses my lips are burning,
It would seem as in days of yore.

These be not mere dreams. These silent hours
Are peopled by other forms than ours;
On our earthly senses stealing,
Half their heavenly forms revealing
Glimmering shadows—airy graces,
Fragrant of their heavenly homes.

In the silent hours of the dying year
I turn my treasury o'er,
And lovingly linger with what remains
Of the loves of days of yore.

D. J. M. A. JEWETT.

New Orleans, Dec. 31, 1873.

ACCIDENT TO DR. PADEN.

Dr. M. G. Paden, while driving in the Jicarilla country last Saturday night met with a painful accident. His team became unmanageable and dashed down a hill. The bad condition of the roads and the darkness militated against control of the team and the doctor was thrown out, bruised and temporarily rendered unconscious. The team ran a short distance, came in contact with a tree, overturned the buggy and broke it into kindling wood. The team was recovered next day, but it has required all this week to say as much for the doctor.
