CLARK'S SENTENCE IS AFFIRMED.

The territorial supreme court at Santa Fe, on the 13th inst., affirmed the decision of the lower court by which Jap. Clark is sentenced to seven years in the territorial penitentiary for the killing of Deputy sheriff Chase at Torrance in 1905.

The convicted man and McKean were jointly indicted for the murder of Chase, but McKean was discharged at the trial and Clark found guilty and given a seven-year sentence. Clark was employed as a cowboy on the Block ranch, in this county, and he had previously had some difficulty with the deputy, and bad blood was engendered: Clark and Chase met later at Torrance and after some words Chase was shot. At the time of the killing, there was some question as to who fired the fatal shot—Clark or McKean—hence the joint indictment.

In the assignment of error, the legality of the court which sat at Estancia, the alleged county seat of Torrance, was questioned. At the organization of Torrance county the county seat was established at Progreso, but by legislative enactment was later changed to Estancia; and the defense claimed this a violation of the Springer act.

Pending the appeal, Clark was out on bond, but becoming involved in an altercation at Corona last spring, he was again incarcerated in the penitentiary; and by the supreme court's decision will serve his term there, unless his sentence is commuted.

A PLEA FOR ENGLISH IN SPANISH COMMUNITIES.

MR. EDITOR:—Apropos the reply of Judge Cray, aent the hope for 'Nineteen-nine, in El Paso Herald's New Year edition, in which his expressed desire seems to be to compel the Mexicans to learn English, in order that the interpreter may be discarded; I would say he is not alone in this. It has long been a "thorn in the flesh" of those who hope for the elevation of that race. And now that Judge Cray has in so few words struck the key-note of so absorbing a question, those of us who feel that we are bearing the Mexican's burden, may, by agitating the subject, get some relief from local or legislative quarters. First (we are speaking now of only the uneducated or Spanish-speaking people): Does the Mexican desire to learn English? Indeed, no. He is in blissful ignorance of the benefit he would obtain. If they were desirous of acquiring English, they would patronize our free schools; and there is no use of disguising facts—they will not attend school. I speak only in reference to our vicinity, and do not refer to any other section. It appears there is no one to see to it, or else the work is grossly neglected; and yet they are herded together on election day for the purpose of which the eager candidates is fully ware. In their ignorance they become tools in the hands of the slick politician. In truth, they do not feel the want of an education. They enjoy every privilege of an American citizen, transact all business in Spanish, have an interpreter to fill the deficiency, and bequeath the same Spanish proclivities to their people to come for generations. Now, the only way out of this is to educate them in English, and until this is done, disfranchise them. Let it be understood by them that we of America hold no allegiance to Alphonso's kingdom; that we care not to propagate the Spanish language any longer; that they need hope for no elevation, until they can demand their rights in good old English. If they prefer to cling to Spanish let them have it; they can live their gypsy-like lives in isolation, injuring no one so much as themselves. Ignore them entirely. We cater to American officers, and can devote the money given to interpreters for more laudable purposes. I could give a thousand instances to prove that we will positively stagnate if we continue in the rut we now are living. But it is too great a theme for one communication. It will take time and determination to conquer. Let us all go to thinking.

UNCLE SAM.

BADLY BURNED WITH STEAM

Juan Gutierrez, boiler washer at the shops, met with a painful and serious accident Monday morning. An engine had been washed out and the plug replaced, but when the boiler had been steamed up it was discovered that the plug was leaking. Gutierrez started to tighten the plug by tapping it with a hammer, and the jar, with the force of the steam, blew out the plug. The jacket was blown off and a portion of it struck him above the right eye, making an ugly gash. The steam burnt his face and right arm quite severely, particularly the arm, causing some of the flesh to drop off. Dr. Paden, the local company surgeon, took a number of stitches in the cut and dressed the wounded man's injuries, and sent him to the Alamogordo hospital on Tuesday morning's No. 1. The right eye is thought to be injured, but the sight may not be lost entirely.

TO SHIP CAR LOAD OF ORE

Hopkins and Smith, who own some valuable mineral claims near Scheleville, about ten miles south of Carrizozo, are sorting ore preparatory to making a car load shipment next week to the El Paso smelter. The ore is lead and silver, and contains some high grade values. The future and immediate development of the property will depend upon the returns from this shipment. The owners feel sanguine that they have the making of a paying mine.

LOCAL OPTION.

Among the important measures to be discussed by the 38th Legislature will be a local option law, and it is proposed to increase the license to $999 in case the measure becomes a law. Referring to this matter, the El Paso News of recent date says:

New Mexico is making a strong fight for local option. It is eminently right for communities to have the right of declaring either for or against the sale of spirituous liquors whenever they believe it to effect the interests of the country. There is a wide difference between local option and prohibition. Local option regulates and gradually reforms; prohibition chokes the patient, and worse evils result. New Mexico should have local option.

NEW WAY TO COOK OYSTERS.

Make a Most Palatable Luncheon Dish When "Devilled."

Take some little cups; line them with puff paste cut out in rounds about one-eighth of an inch thick, but a piece of buttered paper inside and fill up with rice and bake for about 15 minutes, then remove the paper and rice, take the cases from the molds, and place a little piece of fresh butter in each and a raw oyster that is thickly masked over with the mixture as below on the butter, sprinkle over the top a few browned breadcrumbs, and then put into the oven on a baking tin for about eight to ten minutes; dish up on a dish-paper while hot. Serve for a savory or for a second course dish.

For seasoning a dozen oysters chop up four washed and boned anchovies, mix them with a tiny dust of paprika, a saltspoonful of French mustard and the same of English mustard, a dessertspoonful of chopped chutney, two hard-boiled yolks of eggs that have been rubbed through the sieve, mix up with the liquor from the oysters that has been reduced to about a tablespoonful, and use.

The Home.

Roasted chestnuts are said to be very delicious when salted the same as peanuts.

Never add salt to cooked pork until it is almost done, since it tends to extract the juice.

An old turkey has rough and reddish legs, a young one smooth and black legs. Fresh killed, the eyes are full and clear, and the feet moist.

A fish sauce can be served in the half of a hard-boiled egg. Remove the yolk, pour in the sauce and place the little egg ramekin in the heart of a lettuce head.

Run peanuts through the chopping machine and cream them with melted butter. Some like a pinch of mustard in peanut butter, especially when used for dark bread sandwiches.

Clear soup or consommé should be strained through a folded towel laid on a colander. It must not be squeezed, or some of the small particles of egg used in clearing will be forced through and spoil the soup.

Clean iron holders are the exception rather than the rule. They need not be, for little washable cases, open at one end like a pillow slip, are easily made, and can be renewed as often as desirable with little trouble. Tie cases on with tapes.

Sardines a la Cambridge.

Take some sardines, say 12, for six to eight persons, remove all the outside skin, take the fillets from the bones and rub the meat through a fine hair sieve and mix it with six minced raw oysters, two hard-boiled yolks of eggs, a tiny dust of paprika, three ounces of freshly made white bread crumbs, 1½ ounces of warm butter and the liquor from the oysters and two raw yolks of eggs. Divide the mixtures into portions about the size of a walnut, roll each up in flour and dip into whole beaten-up egg, then into freshly made white bread crumbs, and put into a frying basket and fry for three or four minutes in clean boiling fat; then dish up in a pile on a hot dish on a dish paper and serve. Garnish with a little fresh green parsley round the dish here and there.

Potato Apples.

Two cups of hot sliced potatoes, one-third cup of grated cheese, one tablespoonful of butter, one-half tablespoonful of salt, few grains red pepper, slight grating nutmeg, two pounds of thick cream, yolks of two eggs. Mix ingredients in order given and beat thoroughly. Shape in form of small apples, roll in flour, egg and crumbs; fry in deep fat and drain on brown paper; insert a clove in the stem and blossom end of each.

HURT IN A WRECK.

Kidneys Badly Injured and Health Seriously Impaired.

William White, R. R. man, 201 Constantine Street, Three Rivers, Mich., says: "In a railroad collision my kidneys must have been hurt, as I passed bloody urine with pain for a long time after, was weak and thin and so I could not work. Two years after I went to the hospital and remained almost six months, but my case seemed hopeless. The urine passed involuntarily. Two months ago I began taking Doan's Kidney Pills and the improvement has been wonderful. Four boxes have done me more good than all the doctoring of seven years. I gained so much that my friends wonder at it."

A Distinction.

When Bill Burns first struck Washington he stopped at one of the hotels. Finding the expense would not be so great at a boarding house, he packed up his belongings and set forth.

A couple of weeks afterward, Murphy of the Athletics said he heard he was living at a boarding house.

"You heard wrong," replied Bill. "I'm boarding in a boarding house."—Washington Star.

PEOPLE TALKED ABOUT

TAFT'S SECRETARY OF STATE

Philander C. Knox, United States senator from Pennsylvania, and attorney general in the cabinets of President McKinley and President Roosevelt, has accepted the post of secretary of state in Taft's cabinet tendered him by the president-elect.

Senator Knox became famous as a public man several years ago. An attorney general he conducted the litigation of some of President Roosevelt's most noteworthy suits against the trusts, and when it became time for him to leave the Roosevelt cabinet as a result of a call to the United States senate by the state of Pennsylvania when it lost Matthew S. Quay, his work in the department of justice had acquired an importance and distinction that classed its fruit among the greatest legal strokes this government. Senator Knox began his cabinet career under President McKinley, shortly before the latter was assassinated, having been drafted to fill the place of John William Griggs of New Jersey, resigned. With the accession of President Roosevelt to the White House he was chosen to continue in the cabinet, his appointment being confirmed by the senate December 10, 1901. He resigned the attorney-generalship June 30, 1904, to accept his Pennsylvania senatorship appointment, which was tendered by Gov. Pennypacker. He took his seat in the senate December 6, 1904, and is at present serving a term which expires in March, 1911.

Philander Chase Knox was born at Brownsville, Pa., May 6, 1853. He graduated from Mount Union college, Ohio, in 1872, and subsequently took the degree of LL. D. at the University of Pennsylvania in 1905 and at Yale in 1907. His career at the bar began in 1875. He became assistant United States district attorney for the western district of Pennsylvania in 1876 and held it for a year. He then entered the practice of law, in which he was engaged constantly until his selection as attorney general by President McKinley.

NEW MISSOURI SENATOR

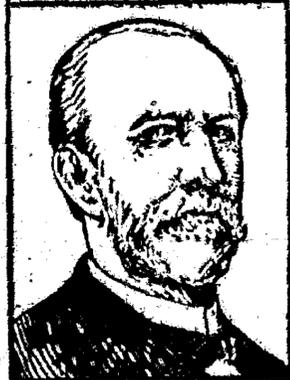

John C. McKinley is going to be the next United States senator from Missouri. To the average reader of the newspapers during the recent campaign this announcement will be something of a surprise. That is because none of the able editors or political dopsters ever figured McKinley in the running at any stage. The fight seemed to be all between Gov. Joseph W. Folk and Senator W. J. ("Gumshoo") Stone. The latter was running for re-election and the former for the toga. Both are Democrats, and as nobody thought of the possibility that a Republican legislature might be elected, it seemed as if the Democratic vote in the primaries would settle the affair.

In the meantime, Mr. McKinley, a Republican, was drawing a modest salary as lieutenant governor of Missouri. It will be remembered that when Gov. Folk was elected four years ago, after a bitter party fight, the shake-down carried the whole Republican state ticket into power except the nominee for governor. The anti-Folk Democrats had started a fight on their own party candidate which elected half a dozen G. O. P. state officials, including Herbert S. Hadley as attorney general. This boomerang movement went farther and gave Hadley a chance to make himself governor of Missouri.

McKinley went out after his party nomination for the senate last fall, and landed it easily. It looked like an honorary distinction, but it wasn't. For the final casting up of the returns shows a Republican majority in the legislature on joint ballot, and that means the election of McKinley over both Folk and Stone.

RICHER THAN ROCKEFELLER

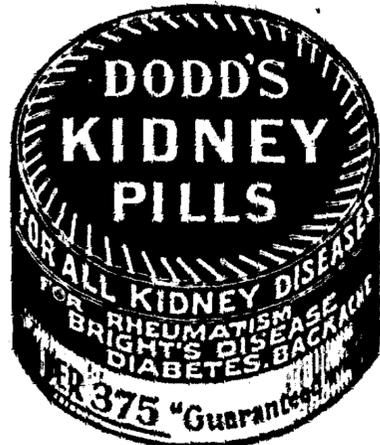

Thomas Barlow Walker of Minneapolis, is the second man to be discovered who is credited with being really richer than John D. Rockefeller. But whereas John D.'s wealth is in cash and stocks that return a handsome dividend in cash every three months, the Walker millions are represented by enormous timber tracts.

In his own name, this plain, quiet Minneapolitan holds 750,000 acres of the finest sugar pine and yellow pine on the upper Sierra Nevada mountains in northern California, while his holdings in his own state of Minnesota make upwards of a million acres. And still he objects to being referred to as "the timber king." His timber riches are even more valuable than those of Frederick Weyerhaeuser, although the latter has been made famous as the man who is richer than the Standard Oil magnate. Walker began life at Xenia, O., 68 years ago, and made his way upward through the preliminary course that included berry picking, selling newspapers, clerking, working as traveling salesman, teaching school, surveying and finally lumbering. He started the latter without either money or influential friends, but he succeeded in landing a contract to furnish ties for a railroad and that opened the way. He was helped early in his career by James J. Hill, then a Minneapolis wharf clerk. Now that he has made his pile, he spends most of his time in picture and pottery collecting, while his sons look after the business.

The birds were flying south. Presently they espied a lone robin perched on a lofty limb.
"Come on," they cried, "and join the bunch."
But the robin perked his head on one side and shook it vigorously.

"I'm waiting," replied the robin, "for one of these daffy little airship chappies to blow along and then maybe I can sneak a ride."

THE GOVERNOR'S MESSAGE.

Upon the convening of the legislature at Santa Fe Monday of this week, Governor Curry sent a message to the assembly that contains a great many suggestions as to legislation, and the message, as a whole, is considered a very strong document. He recommends the enactment of many new laws and the abolishment of a number now in the statutes. The following are some of the most important of the governor's recommendations:

The enactment of a law that will insure a better collection of poll tax.

An increased penalty for the non-payment of taxes.

An amendment of the law with reference to the manner of assessing taxes, so that all property will share its just burden.

Local charitable institutions to be charges upon the counties instead of the territory.

A new election law, providing for non-partisan election boards, but not the Australian system.

A local option law and a territorial excise board to regulate the liquor traffic.

A territorial good roads commission, to work with the boards of county commissioners, and the employment of convicts in the construction of roads.

The abolition of capital punishment.

That the coal oil inspector be placed on a salary.

The creation of new counties where taxpayers desire them and where financial conditions and population justify.

A re-arrangement of the equalization board.

The abolition of the bureau of immigration, and the creation of the office of a secretary at a fair salary.

The creation of a railroad commission, with power to fix rates.

A game license on hunting but not on fishing.

Uniform divorce laws.

New banking laws.

The depositories of county funds pay interest.

An appropriation for building roads and the appointment of a commission to work with boards of county commissioners.

D. W. Glenn was down from Ancho this week.

NEW ELECTION LAW NEEDED.

Last week, during the hearing of the Larrazolo-Andrews contest, representative Miller, republican, of Kansas, a member of the house committee on elections, declared New Mexico was unfit for statehood, and based his remarks on the evidence submitted in the case, supplemented by the speech of Mr. Larrazolo, the contestant. Political corruption was shown to have been practiced to such an extent that it was calculated to arouse the envy of all "blocks of five" perpetrators of which the east could boast. Attorney Medler, of Albuquerque, who represented Andrews, admitted that the methods complained of by Larrazolo (alphabetical voting, sheep voting, intimidation, etc.) had been accepted as regular, but that those methods were falling into disuse, and that hopes were entertained that such practices would ultimately cease. This admission caused the committee to smile, and was another hard knock against statehood.

Therefore, it is up to the 38th legislative assembly of this territory to repeal the present election laws and enact one that will ensure a fair election; and we do not know of a system fairer than the Australian system. Several other laws need repealing, or at least amending, also, but none more so than the election laws. The present legislature, by enacting good laws and killing bad ones, can accomplish a great deal towards statehood for the territory of New Mexico.

The New Mexico Legislative Assembly convened at Santa Fe last Monday. Much is expected from it, as on the nature of the legislation enacted by that honorable body will depend, to a great extent, the question of statehood for New Mexico.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

Our Guarantee

Go to your druggist today, and purchase a dollar bottle, and if you can honestly say, that you did not receive any benefits from it, after using the entire bottle, the druggist will refund your money to you without question or delay.

We will pay the druggist the price of the bottle purchased by you.

This offer applies to the large bottle only and to but one in a family.

We could not afford to make such an offer, unless we positively knew what Kodol will do for you.

It would bankrupt us.
The dollar bottle contains 2 1/2 times as much as the fifty cent bottle.

Kodol is made at the laboratories of E. C. DeWitt & Co., Chicago.

CARRIZOZO NEWS

CARRIZOZO NEW MEXICO

Torpedoes That Carry Guns.

Through the invention of the armor-piercing torpedo gun, Lieut. Commander Cleland Davis has created so terrible a menace to the navies of the world that revolutionary changes must follow fast on the trail of its adoption by this nation. It will no doubt force the world a step nearer to armed neutrality or a universal peace, for it renders battleships so much more vulnerable below the water line than hitherto that nations will be less inclined to take the risk of war. To offset the destructive effect which experts claim this new device is capable of, ship designers must revise plans and shelve precedents by placing in the water ships radically different from any now afloat. Thousands of tons of additional armor will alone give a maximum protection to the great floating forts of the world when the United States has been equipped with a torpedo that drives a shell loaded with deadly "Dunnite" deep into the interior of another ship and, by a time fuse, causes it to burst in the vital section of the quarry. Therein lies the power of this new implement, says Technical World Magazine, and there also is the radical difference between the Whitehead, or gun-cotton, and the Davis torpedo. Terrible as is the former, it may be called a harmless toy by comparison. It rushes through the water 15 feet below the surface at the rate of 40 miles an hour; strikes the object of attack and explodes the 200-pound charge of gun-cotton in its war head against the side of the ship. Before the days of water-tight compartments and steel containing bulkheads that crashing detonation would have been a sounding requiem over the graves of the crew, for the ship would have filled and sunk.

Women Displacing Men.

Woman is putting on her good clothes and coming down-town. Which is one of the epoch-making events in her industrial history. For, while women are not gaining on men noticeably in factories, they are gaining on them every day, noticeably, strikingly, overwhelmingly, in salesrooms, correspondence rooms, auditing rooms, and all the other places conveniently summarized as "stores and offices." Nevertheless, while it is true in the factory trades as a whole that men and women seem to have reached, temporarily at least, an equilibrium of relative numbers, it is also true that here and there, occasionally, in the constant give and take between the sexes, men are being displaced by women. When this happens, says William Hurd, in Everybody's, it is worth watching, because the industrial character of woman is then revealed in action.

From all accounts, the funeral of the Chinese emperor, with all its barbaric splendor, numerous animals and tremendous crowds, must be looked on there as something in the light of a tremendous national circus parade. Probably it is the only enjoyment which the populace get out of the Imperial functions.

Elbert H. Gary's dinner in New York to the steel magnates of the continent brought together an aggregate of wealth that would have made Croesus feel like a piker.

Emperor William remains in bed, though well, the Berlin dispatches say, being eaten by melancholy because he is not allowed to talk.

PARTNER OF MORGAN

METEORIC CAREER OF NEW MEMBER OF BANKING FIRM.

Why Famous Financier Has Chosen Henry P. Davison for an Aid—Success Won by Energy, Integrity and Brains.

New York.—Among the men, who have won their way to fortune and a commanding place in the financial world will have to be written the name of Henry P. Davison, late vice-president of the First National bank, but who on January 1 became a partner in the banking house of J. P. Morgan & Co.

To men of finance the name of Henry P. Davison is very familiar, and stands for all that goes to make up the successful banker and man of affairs, for although but 41 years of age, Davison has made himself felt as a power in the money world.

Henry P. Davison is strictly a self-made man. Every dollar he possesses he made from the raw material of energy, hard work, application, honesty and quick intelligence. When about 19 years ago he came to New York from Bridgeport, Conn., he was merely a bright, active, enthusiastic young fellow, who had had a little experience as a bank clerk in his native town of Troy, Pa., and in Bridgeport. He had a few hundred dollars, but his real capital was in his head.

The little money he had then cannot be considered as even the nucleus of the fortune he has acquired since, for Mr. Davison does not owe his success to frugality and saving; he owes it to keen business foresight and knowledge of finance, and to the confidence of moneyed men he has won.

He was born in Troy, Pa., a little town near the northern border of the state, not very far from Elmira, N. Y. His father was a business man, and his uncles were the local bankers. Young Davison was graduated from the Troy high school at the age of 17 years, and when he was 18 he was teaching school, having in his class some boys older than himself.

He kept at this work for a term or two, and then entered his uncle's bank as a clerk. There he got a fairly good knowledge of the banking business and widened his acquaintance so that in a year or so he got an offer of a bookkeepership from the Piquette National bank, of Bridgeport, Conn.

He gave perfect satisfaction there, but he himself was not satisfied, for he wanted to get into the larger game and become a New York banking man. So he sought and obtained a position in the Astor Place bank in this city. He was only 22 years old, but he soon became receiving teller.

The Astor Place bank became a branch of the Corn Exchange bank and Davison went to the Liberty National and in six years worked up from one position to another until he became president of that institution. He resigned to become vice-president of the First National, and he has held that important position for six years, taking over a more and more active and prominent part in general banking affairs and having his advice more and more sought by the big men of the financial world.

During the business depression and financial disturbances last year Mr. Davison was a member of the special clearing house committee which made a searching investigation into the affairs of many financial institutions, and he took part in all the important meetings of the big men of Wall street.

And J. Pierpont Morgan, as keen a judge of men as may be, having watched Mr. Davison's career and studied his character and methods closely for years, has chosen him for a partner in his big banking house. To Wall street men that is the highest indorsement which could be given, for they know that it would not be obtained save by the display of ability which but few men possess.

MEETING OF CHURCH ALLIANCE

Will Probably Be Held in June Instead of October.

New York.—In all likelihood the next quadrennial meeting of the Pan-Presbyterian alliance or the general council of Reformed churches holding the Presbyterian system, will be held in New York city in June, instead of next October, as planned until recently.

Rev. David James Burrell, pastor of the Marble Collegiate Reformed church, who is chairman of the committee on arrangements for the gathering, and Dr. William Henry Roberts of Philadelphia, American secretary of the alliance, have sent a communication to Dr. George D. Matthews of London, general secretary of the alliance, recommending June for the convention, and they are awaiting his answer before going on with plans for the meetings. The western committee wanted the council in October, but the eastern section cabled this could not be.

This Pan-Presbyterian organization, which includes some 25 branches, representing more than 20,000,000 communicants from every part of the world, will be the greatest gathering of the kind held in New York for many years. This is the fourth time the alliance has met in America, and it will be the ninth quadrennial conference.

RATIONAL CURE FOR ECZEMA

No More Dosing the Stomach—Cure the Skin Through the Skin.

When you have a scratch on your hand you wash it out and cleanse it and then the skin cures itself. You do not take blood medicine to cure a festering wound.

The best skin specialists to-day are agreed that the only way to cure the skin is through the skin. If the eczema patients were really suffering from an inward malady, the entire body and not only the skin would be diseased.

You can prove immediately the relief of a true skin cure by using oil of wintergreen as compounded in D. D. D. Prescription.

This liquid attacks the disease germs, numbing them while building up the healthy tissue of the skin. Druggists everywhere sell and recommend D. D. D.

HANDS RAW AND SCALY.

Itched and Burned Terribly—Could Not Move Thumbs Without Flesh Cracking—Sleep Impossible.

Cuticura Soon Cured His Eczema.

"An itching humor covered both my hands and got up over my wrists and even up to the elbows. The itching and burning were terrible. My hands got all scaly and when I scratched, the surface would be covered with blisters and then get raw. The eczema got so bad that I could not move my thumbs without deep cracks appearing. I went to my doctor, but his medicine could only stop the itching. At night I suffered so fearfully that I could not sleep. I could not bear to touch my hands with water. This went on for three months and I was fairly worn out. At last I got the Cuticura Remedy and in a month I was cured. Walter H. Cox, 16 Somerset St., Boston, Mass., Sept. 25, 1908."

Dish Well Repays Time Needed in Its Preparation.

Prepare a stuffing for the pig as follows: Cut 12 thin slices of well-buttered bread, sprinkle each slice with very finely-chopped sage leaves, season with paprika and salt, and place the slices one on the top of the other, and cut them across into four parts, then put them inside the pig, and on the top of the slices place a layer of sausage, then fasten by means of a trussing needle and string; then brush the pig all over with salad oil and truss it up, wrap it in a double fold of brown paper that has been well oiled or steeped in warm butter, tie it up, and put it to roast for two and a half to three hours, according to the size of the pig, care being taken to keep it thoroughly basted while cooking.

About half an hour before the cooking is complete remove the paper and brush the pig all over with thick cream, and return it to the fire to get a nice deep golden color, and to get crisp; then cut off the head and split the back, lay the two halves of the pig on the dish with the head at the top.

Serve with brown sauce and apple sauce in saucboats, and hot currants on a napkin. The pig must be served very hot.

Wash the currants, dry them, and put them on a tin in the oven for about ten minutes, then dish up and use.

GINGERBREAD THAT ALL LIKE.

Delicacy Popularly Supposed to Have Originated in Nuremberg.

Break five whole raw eggs in a large bowl, and whip them for five minutes with an egg beater, then add eight powdered cloves, a pinch of ground cinnamon, half a grated nutmeg, quarter of an ounce of ground ginger, ten ounces of sugar, and work all together for about ten minutes, then add four ounces of candied lemon and orange peel cut in small dice shapes, six ounces of flour sifted and warmed, three ounces of creme de riz, a pinch of salt, and three teaspoons of baking powder should be mixed with the dry flour before it is stirred in. When these are well mixed add half a pound of sweet almonds, blanched and split in halves, and half a teaspoon of soda dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of cold single cream.

Brush over a deep baking tin with warm butter, and paper it with a paper likewise brushed over, sprinkle it with chopped almonds, and pour in the mixture, brush the top over with a little cold milk, and bake in a moderate oven for rather better than half an hour.

Then turn it out and cut it in any fancy shapes, such as rounds, squares, diamonds, etc.

Cream Cheese and Parsley.

Wash the parsley, shake and dry in a cloth, then remove the stems, and chop the leaves very fine. Add a tablespoonful of the chopped parsley to half a cup of cream cheese. Add also a generous quantity of paprika, and mix the whole thoroughly. Spread upon slices of bread prepared for sandwiches, or upon butter thins or other wafers. Press together, and serve as soon as possible. Decorate the serving plate with parsley. The cheese mixture may be shaped into balls, and served with the crackers or plain bread and butter sandwiches.

Cauliflower Pickles.

Boil 12 heads of cauliflower in salt water until tender, then beat five eggs add five cups brown sugar, two cups mustard, two red or green peppers; boil mixture, then skim out peppers, add one-half teaspoon of turmeric, one-half cup black peppers, butter size of an egg; add this to five quarts vinegar, spices to taste, boil, and pour over cauliflower. Turmeric can be bought at the drug stores.

LAME BACK PRESCRIPTION

The increased use of "Toris" for lame back and rheumatism is causing considerable discussion among the medical fraternity. It is an almost infallible cure when mixed with certain other ingredients and taken properly. The following formula is effective: "To one-half pint of good whiskey add one ounce of Toris Compound and one ounce Syrup Sarsaparilla Compound. Take in tablespoonful doses before each meal and before retiring."

Toris compound is a product of the laboratories of the Globe Pharmaceutical Co., Chicago, but it as well as the other ingredients can be had from any good druggist.

"CALLING" THE PITCHER.

The captain—See here, you've give coventeen men bases on balls! Dis here's a ball game, not no dix-day walkin' match!

Prepared for the Worst.

Gov. John A. Johnson of Minnesota, who had many supporters for the Democratic nomination for president, was asked what his attitude on the matter was.

"Why," he said, "I can best explain my attitude by telling you about a man I know out west who went to town one night and imbibed very freely at the various bars."

"He was weaving an uncertain way homeward along the road when he almost ran into a large rattlesnake that was coiled in the road and rattled ominously. He looked at the snake for a moment and then drew himself up as well as he could. 'If you are going to strike, strike, drat ye,' he said. 'You will never find me better prepared.'" —Saturday Evening Post.

Electricity's Beginnings.

The term "electricity" was derived from the Greek word meaning amber. Electricity itself is earliest described by Theophrastus (321 B. C.) and Pliney (70 A. D.), who mention the power of amber to attract straw and dry leaves. Dr. Gilbert of Colchester, physician to Queen Elizabeth (1540-1603) may be considered the founder of the science, as he appears to have been the first philosopher who carefully repeated the observations of the ancients and applied to them the principles of philosophical investigation.

THEN AND NOW

Complete Recovery from Coffee Ills.

"About nine years ago my daughter, from coffee drinking, was on the verge of nervous prostration," writes a Louisville lady. "She was confined for the most part to her home."

"When she attempted a trip down town she was often brought home in a cab and would be prostrated for days afterwards."

"On the advice of her physician she gave up coffee and tea, drank Postum, and ate Grape-Nuts for breakfast."

"She liked Postum from the very beginning and we soon saw improvement. To-day she is in perfect health, the mother of five children, all of whom are fond of Postum."

"She has recovered, is a member of three charity organizations and a club, holding an office in each. We give Postum and Grape-Nuts the credit for her recovery."

"There's a Reason." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

A Pleasant Prospect.

A Philadelphia woman, whose given name is Mary, as is also the name of her daughter, had recently engaged a domestic, when, to her embarrassment, she discovered that the servant's name too, was Mary.

Whereupon there ensued a struggle to induce the applicant to relinquish her idea that she must be addressed by her Christian name. For some time she was rigidly uncompromising.

"Under the circumstances," said the lady of the house, "there is nothing to do but to follow the English custom and call you by your last name. By the way, what is it?"

"Well, mum," answered the girl, dubiously, "It's Darling."—Harper's.

The Domestic Password.

"You are not going to stay in town late tonight, are you, John?" "Not very late, dearest. I have to help put a man through the third degree at the lodge. I'll come straight home as soon as it's over."

(Kindly, but firmly) "If you can repeat the password, 'Six sikh sikh sippings,' distinctly when you come home from the lodge, John, the servant will admit you; and if you can't you needn't ring. You'll stay outside all night, my dear."

John came home early.—Illustrated Bits.

Teacher's Qualifications.

One morning, a few weeks ago, as a South Jersey country physician was driving through a village, he saw a man, slightly under the influence of liquor, amusing a crowd of spectators with the antics of his trick dog. The doctor pulled up and watched the fun a while and then said:

"My dear man, how do you manage to train your dog that way? I can't teach mine a single trick."

The man addressed looked up, and with that simple rustic look replied:

"Well, you see, it's this way: You have to know more'n the dog or you can't learn him nothin'."—Philadelphia Ledger.

Didn't Want the Job.

During a recent examination for applicants for the position of mail carrier, a colored boy appeared before the civil service commission.

"How far is it from this earth to the moon?" was the first question asked him. "How far am I from de earth to de moon?" he repeated, as he began to reach for his hat. "Say boss, if you're gwine to put me on dat route, I doesn't want de job;" and with that he left as though he were escaping from some calamity.—Circle Magazine.

Boy's Tool Chests.

Mama—"Where is that pretty tool-chest your aunt gave you Christmas?"

Small Son—"In the closet; but the tools is all broke."

Mama—"Mercy me! You naughty boy. You must have been trying to use them."—New York Weekly.

Time Not Ripe.

Anxious Patron—"Doctor, don't you think you'd better call in some other physicians for consultation?"

Family Doctor (cheerfully)—"Oh, no, not yet. There is still some hope."—New York Weekly.

Fortune is said to knock once at every man's door, but it's difficult to make some men believe it.

Accounted For.

"Mamma," said little Elsie, "do men ever go to heaven?"

"Why, of course, my dear. What makes you ask?"

"Because I never see any pictures of angels with whiskers."

"Well," said the mother, thoughtfully, "some men do go to heaven, but they get there by a close shave."—Judge's Library.

Two of a Kind.

Little Johnnie, who is considered the image of his father, was one day in his mother's way, when she told him, "You are always in the way."

He replied, "I am just like papa!"—The Delineator.

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

The reproduction of "The Last Loaf," under the auspices of the public school, brought out a good audience, and was highly entertaining. Many who witnessed the performance declare it to have been far superior to that of more pretentious plays on the road, and the acting exceptionally good for amateurs.

John Kerr, formerly supervisor of the Lincoln forest reserve, and later supervisor of the Magdalena reserve, was in Carrizozo this week. Mr. Kerr is now assistant chief of the grazing department, and this trip to the Lincoln National Forest is his first under the new arrangement. His headquarters are in Albuquerque, to which point he returned yesterday.

R. F. Hare, professor of Chemistry in the A. & M. College at Las Cruces, came in last night to institute the Masonic lodge at Carrizozo. There are eighteen charter members, composed of residents of all sections of the county. This is the only lodge of the Masonic order in Lincoln county, and its membership will, no doubt, reach large proportions.

Dr. M. G. Paden returned Saturday night from Bisbee, Arizona, where he had been called to consult with the surgeon-in-chief of the El Paso & Southwestern System. While there, the doctor visited Arnold Ridgeway and family, formerly residents of White Oaks and well known to old-timers in this county, and reports them to be in fine health and spirits.

The race between the Grumble's gray and the Vega bay was pulled off on schedule time last Friday afternoon. The distance was a quarter of a mile and the purse $50, although about $200 or $300 all told was wagered on the result. The gray won by a length. There were other races besides the main event, and the sports attracted quite a number from different portions of the county.

Wm. S. and Robt. Bourne, Albert Pfingsten, W. H. Sexton and George Dillard have a lease on the American mine in the Nogal mining district, and are at work overhauling machinery and preparing to pump the water out of the mine. They expect that it will require thirty days to free the mine of water. This is one of the oldest mines in the district, and is known to be a valuable one. The main shaft is down 350 feet. As soon as the preliminary work is done and the machinery put in shape, the lessees expect to commence shipping ore.
