WASHINGTON LETTER.

Special to the EAGLE.

The reason for the very marked friendship shown by the administration towards Great Britain in the South African struggle has been made plain by the signing of a treaty between the two countries formally abrogating the clause in the old Clayton Bulwer treaty by which Great Britain claimed the right of dual control over the Nicaraguan canal about to be built by the United States. As a piece of diplomacy on the part of Great Britain it ranks with the greatest efforts of all time. By it, that country permits the United States to build the canal at its own expense and to operate, police and control it, holding it neutral for the ships of all nations, both in peace and in war. The United States agrees to put up the money and to execute all the above tasks and further agrees not to fortify either the canal nor its approaches. Both nations agree to observe the neutrality of the canal, but the United States pledges itself not to fortify either the entrance nor the approaches. The result is that Great Britain has the canal built at no trouble or expense to herself, and if she ever goes to war with this country, she can send her overwhelming fleet to Nicaragua, sieze the unprotected, undefended canal, use it so as to hurry her warships from the Atlantic to the Pacific and harry both our coasts, and at the same time prevent any American war ship from passing through. There will be no treachery in this, because all treaties lapse during war, and the Hay-Pauncefote treaty will be no exception. Unless the United States shall build a huge navy, the chances are that any war with Great Britain would end with the latter as owner of the canal. Oh! It is a lovely stroke of diplomacy—for Great Britain. The worst part of the affair is that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty was really abrogated years ago by its chief provision being deliberately violated by Great Britain. She pledges herself not to extend her territory in America and before the ink was dry she nearly doubled the area of her possessions in British Honduras. Now she takes advantage of trusting, confiding Secretary Hay to surrender the treaty she has already broken and by doing so to limit the United States in the execution of of a work already practically undertaken in a way which is sooner or later bound to inure to her advantage and the disadvantages of this country. Fortunately, the Senate still has to consider the treaty and it is to be hoped that enough Senators are free from Anglomania to amend it before ratification. Even if the Senate should ratify it without amendment the House will still have something to say regarding the canal bill. Chairman Hepburn, of the Commerce Committee, who prepared the bill, declares that the United States must and will fortify and says that without such fortification, the Government, for instance, would never have dared to bring the Oregon through the Canal during the late war.

The Porto Rican tariff bill will be taken up in Congress some time this week and the hottest sort of a fight is likely to be precipitated. The crucial question is whether Congress can establish a tariff for that and other islands differing from that of the United States. The Constitution provides that "all duties imposts and excises must be uniform throughout the United States." The Ways and Means Committee, which reported the bill, holds that Porto Rico is not a part of the United States and that this provision therefore does not apply. The Committee says: "That Congress has power to govern acquired territory independent of the limitations of the Constitution, but in cases where the territory has been acquired for the purposes of Statehood Congress would be subject to those fundamental limitations in favor of personal rights which are formulated in the Constitution and its amendments, but these limitations exist rather by inference and the general spirit of the Constitution, from which Congress derives all its powers, than by any express and direct application of its provisions." In other words, the Republican Committee contends that the Porto Ricans are not citizens of this country; that they are not entitled to trial by jury, habeas corpus, freedom of the press or of speech, or to be secure against unreasonable searches and seizures. They may be granted all this, but they have no real inalienable right to it. In fact the commitee holds that they have no rights except those that the President or Congress may please to grant. Either of these can establish any form of Religion it pleases, can permit polygamy and slavery (as the President has already done in Sulu) or can prohibit it. The Democrats, on the other hand, contended that the people of the islands are entitled to all the privileges of United States citizens. The issue is therefore made up between constitutional liberty and autocratic rule, between the Republic and the Empire. The debate may well be interesting, as it concerns the fate of millions of people.

There is excellent authority for stating that the weakening of the Kentucky Republicans was due to the fact that President McKinley intimated to them that he could not support the outrageous usurpations of which former Governor Taylor had been guilty, much as he would like to do so. The universal feeling in this city in both parties is one of condemnation of former Gov. Taylor's course. One of the cabinet officers said today that no South American president had every carried things in so high handed and indefensible a manner. Public opinion, which it must be confessed, was strongly in favor of the Kentucky Republicans changed completely in all circles in this city and people beginning to realize that men who behave as Taylor has done were none too good to resort to falsehood as to Democratic oppression in order to create public sympathy for their cause.

MUST PATENT WITHOUT DELAY

In a recent decision, Binger Hermann, commissioner of the United States land office at Washington, has ruled that a patent filed on mineral land must be carried through without delay. The person who makes the application on mineral land must proceed with his case or he looses all rights after a reasonable time has elapsed. The custom has been to apply for a patent on lands, and then, in a great many cases, the person applying has allowed the matter to rest for years. The commissioner bases his ruling on section 2324 of the revised statutes.—Albuquerque Citizen.

FOR THE BABIES.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. An Editor's Life Saved by Chamberlain's Cough Remedy.

During the early part of October, 1896, I contracted a bad cold which settled on my lungs and was neglected until I feard that consumption had appeared in an incipient state. I was constantly coughing and trying to expel something which I could not. I became alarmed and after giving the local doctor a trial bought a bottle of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and the result was imediate improvement, and after I had used three bottles my lungs were restored to their healthy state.—B. Official Paper of Lincoln County

Both factions of the Kentucky legislature are now in session at Frankfort.

Senator Clark admits spending the trifling sum of $139,000 to overthrow Marcus Daly's rule in Montana.

Roosevelt has declined to play second fiddle to McKinley, and now Republicans are looking elsewhere for vice presidential timber.

The first decisive British advantage of the South African war was gained the other day: Gen. French entered Kimberly, thus relieving Cecil Rhodes.

Five thousand Filipinos attacked an American fort the other day, but, of course, were repulsed; yet all were not killed and the merry war continues.

Milwaukee or Kansas City will probably secure the National Democratic convention this year. Both cities are making strenuous efforts to bag the prize.

Kentucky is quieting down, Taylor has sent the Militia home, and both contestants for the gubernatorial chair have concluded to leave their cases in the hands of the courts.

Gen. Otis reports the Filipinos very active and that all his forces are busy. The war has lasted one year and seems no nearer a conclusion in February 1900 than in February 1899.

Great Britain is putting forth every effort to induce the savages of South Africa to take up arms against the Boer, just as she did with us in 1812. Such practices should be condemned by all civilized nations.

The Hanna Payne ship subsidy bill has met its death blow, it is thought, in the lower house. This was a pernicious measure, and it is some consolation to learn that all men cannot be induced to bend the knee to corporate greed.

"All is not gold that glitters" was exemplified by French's stroke to relieve Kimberly. Later reports are to the effect that the tail end of his division was intercepted by the Boers, the British losing much booty, many oxen and a number of prisoners.

If I Should Die To-Night.

If I should die to-night
And you should come to my cold corpse and say,
Weeping and heart sick o'er my lifeless clay—
If I should die to-night
And you should come in deepest grief and woe—
And say "Here's that ten dollars that I owe;
I might arise in my large, white cravat,
And say "What's that?"
If I should die to night
And you should come to my cold corpse and kneel,
Clasping my bier to show the grief you feel,
I say, if I should die to-night
And you should come to me, and there and then,
Just even hint 'bout paying me that ten,
I might arise the while
But I'd drop dead again!

BEN F. KING

The Republican territorial convention, for the purpose of electing six delegates to the national Republican convention at Philadelphia, meets in Socorro March 17. There is a rattling of old dry bones in many counties; the issue being, "shall it be Catron or Otero? The little governor seems to have the best of the contest so far; yet Republicans have a faculty of heeding all differences before election day, and but little importance should be attached to this little family row, for their ballots will all go through the same slot in November.

"First in war, first in peace and first in the hearts of his countrymen" was spoken of the Father of his country, the anniversary of whose birth we celebrate today. One hundred and sixty-eight years ago George Washington was born, and of all the great men this country has produced, none are so deeply venerated, and the anniversary of his birth is more generally observed than any other event of the year, unless, perhaps, the Fourth of July, which is closely connected with the memory of Washington.

El Paso is all stirred up over an attempt on the part of a gang of Negro Soldiers from Fort Bliss to rescue two of their comrades from the police; and in the melee a policeman and a soldier were killed. Just why the department continues to keep Negro soldiers in forts, when there is a good chance for them to show their fighting blood in the Philippines, where many noble men are meeting death, is hard to understand. A Negro, wearing a uniform, is a fomenter of strife wherever he goes.

The recent treaty negotiated between England and the United States grants the United States the power of constructing the canal and operating it, but she must maintain its neutrality; neither must she fortify it. In other words, England permits us to build the canal, and in case of war her fleet will come over and capture it, the terms of the treaty forbidding us to fortify it.

Rev. Sam Jones is still on the rampage, and has this to say regarding the society woman: "Society will eat the heart out of a woman just like whiskey will eat a man's blood up, and some of you old sisters who run around in society haven't got any more heart than an alligator. When you extend one of those limp, gloved hands to me, I would just as leave shake a dead catfish's tail."

Ex-Consul Macrum to Pretoria is causing the administration to sit up at nights and devise ways of explaining to the people the non existence of a secret treaty with Britain. The Ex-Consul says his official mail was opened by the British and the administration made no efforts to call the perpetrators to time.

A very striking illustration of the Kimberly relief is represented by the Chicago Record Artist, and reproduced by other papers. The cartoon shows "Bobs" chasing the Boers, and Cecil Rhodes, with diamonds from his nose to his toes, taking John Bull by the arm and saying, "cheer up, I'm rescued."

THE WHIHE OAKS COUNTRY.

Prof. J. C. Carrera, who is collecting New Mexico's Mineral Exhibit for the Paris Exposition, says a number of good things about the White Oaks country, in an interview with the El Paso Times. In speaking of our resources, the professor said in part:

"I have just returned from a trip along the line of the El Paso & Northeastern road, and I assure you that is a great country. The work of development inaugurated by the railroad company has extended to individual efforts of hundreds of home seekers who have flocked into the country. There is great activity in the Salado coal fields. In the development of the resources of this country El Paso will realize its brightest hopes.

"The Salado coal fields can and will make El Paso a great manufacturing city. During my recent tour of the west I discovered that the greatest amount of cash in circulation is to be found in the coal camps. Raton is the most prosperous place in New Mexico on account of its coal product. The new coal fields at Salado will cause a great deal of prosperity to flow into El Paso. While the Salado coal fields are in the infancy of development, the geology shows a coal formation covering an area three times greater than that at Raton and Trinidad combined; and the development work of the last two years shows that the coal is not only good, but that the supply is beyond measurement.

"In connection with the fuel resources of the country opened up by the El Paso & Northeastern, there are found both in the Jicarillas and the Jarillas deposits of iron comparing in size and quality with those deposits which have made Pittsburg and Cleveland centers of our iron industry.

"At present the town of White Oaks is somewhat quiet, but the Old Abe mine there is producing handsome returns for its owners. In our mining exhibit at the Paris exposition will be seen the most remarkable piece of gold ore yet brought from the bowels of the earth through the ingenuity of man. A piece of gypsum, not unlike a piece of ice penetrated by wires of virgin gold, makes this specimen from the Old Abe the most unique specimen of gold ore ever seen anywhere.

"When the railroad extends its line to White Oaks the camps there will produce large quantities of low grade gold ore; and the White Oaks coal properties will enter into lively competition with the Salado coal fields."

In its column on mines and Mining the El Paso times has the following to say, which will be of interest to miners and prospectors in this section:

"The El Paso Chamber of commerce has taken up the matter of developing the mineral resources of the district tributary to El Paso. A strong committee of seven members on mines and mining has been appointed, and the committee has formulated a plan for collecting specimens of mineral to make a large and representative exhibit. This exhibt will be displayed in the room of the chamber at El Paso. A circular letter is being prepared which will be sent to every miner and prospector who can be reached, asking for specimens, and also for detailed information as to character of mining properties throughout the district tributary to El Prso. The committee will also look after the interests of the miner in the matter of smelting charges, freight rates and so on."

ANOTHER RRAILROAD EXTENSION.

The Fort Worth Correspondent Discovers A Confirmation

The Fort Worth correspondent of the St. Louis Globe Democrat sends that paper the following confirmation of news published in the El Paso papers last week.

"Information comes from Pecos City, the southern terminus of the Pecos Valley system, that President Hagerman intends building a connecting line between the Pecos Valley and the El Paso & Northeastern railroad in the near future running most likely between Alamogordo and Roswell. The surveying corps will enter the field this week. That will give El Paso a 220 miles shorter course to Kansas City. Another source of information states that President Hagerman will extend the Pecos Valley road to El Paso, presumably passing between the Guadalupe and Sacramento mountains. Such a route would make a short line from the Mexican border and the railway center of the southwest through the Pecos valley to Amarillo, thence east, which would secure a trunk line business from Colorado and Missouri. The road would perhaps offer some advantages to El Paso in furnishing a through line to the east and middle west which would be as short, via Roswell and Amarillo and the Panhandle branch of the Santa Fe, as the system formed by an extension of the Rock Island from Liberal to White Oaks."

THOUGHT IT WAS A MAVERICK.

It is not likely that little Japan kept a straight face when she raised her picturesque flag over the diminutive island of Bayat, in the Phillipines archipelago, or that she will feel like going to war with United States over the question of ownership of that island.

It must be remembered that the Japs are now fairly pounding the pike in their haste to acquire European ways and habits, and that the land grabbing habit is one of the strongest characteristics of Europe. A Japanese warship probably chanced to be sailing around north of twenty degrees of latitude and ran across this island. Knowing that it was not specifically included in Spain's cession of the Philippines to the United States, Japan unquestionably classed Bayat as a maverick island and promptly slapped on it her own flag brand.

And that's all there is to it, very likely. Uncle Sam will prove ownership and take Bayat into his Philippine herd. Japan will yield gracefully and trot around kotowing and seraphically smiling, on the lookout for other mavericks. And in this way she will acquire the land grabbing habit the half mark of proud and impetious blood these days, and perceptible even on some Americans who should be shamed for yielding their free souls to such indignity.—Republic.

THE GREAT PRESIDENTIAL CAMPAIGN OF 1900.

The wars of America have, heretofore, settled affairs of state. Great questions of policy, of national motives and national conclusions have been answered as soon as the battle smoke cleared away, and the victor realized his victory. The war with Spain is unlike its predecessors. It has not answered questions, but has created probleme which may not be solved lightly. These problems are being formulated by the political parties, and before they can be definitely settled at the ballot box it is necessary that the people be informed in regard to the situation. The result of the campaign of 1900 will make a broad mark upon the page of history; it will doubtless establish the policy of the great Republic of America for a quarter of a century. It is vastly important, therefore, that every citizen shall study the situation through that best of mediums, a great newspaper. The Semi-Weekly Republic which affords a comprehensive view of political situation in all its bearings. It publishes the new news. The Semi Weekly Rebublic is a Democratic paper, but it offers to its readers the news regarding all the political parties, and this without prejudice. It is a fair newspaper. Its telegraph and cable news service has been proved to be the very best employed by a modern paper. Its special features are unsurpassed. It is the newspaper for the reader who has not access to a daily paper.

News features, art, and literature combine to make The Republic's Sunday Magazine a specially attractive weekly magazine. The half-tone illustrations printed in this magazine surpass anything ever attempted by a newspaper. These products of photography are worth the price of the paper. Special articles by trained writers on the news and the subjects engaging the public attention are prepared for The Republic's Sunday Magazine. A distinctly useful and attractive feature of this magazine is the fashion department. Always reliable and up with the times, the ladies find the fashion page a delight. Indeed, The Republic's Sunday Magazine appeals to every member of the family.

The subscription price of the Semi-Weekly Republic is $1.00 per year. The Republic Sunday Magazine $1 25 per year. Both papers are now being offered at the very low price of $1.50 for one year. To secure this low rate both must be ordered and paid for at the same time.

Address all orders to THE REPUBLIC, St. Louis, Mo.
