ABOUT GOLD PRODUCTION.

Prof. Shaler of Harvard University is credited with predicting such a production of gold within the next decade that, in his opinion, the purchasing power of the metal will be seriously impaired. Aa a remedy, he predicts a return to silver as the money standard. If by 1910 all American silver dollars are converted into subsidiary coinage, in accordance with the provisions of one of the bills now before congress, there will be a good chance for the mints to keep busy in changing them back again. How slowly the world learns its lessons! Let mankind pass laws to the effect that no sugar could be made except from beets, no fabric oxcept from wool, and no bread except from rye, and see what would happen? The value of sugar-cane, wheat and cotton would decline. Simultaneously the value of sugar beets, wool and rye would advance. As this occured thousands of individuals would engage in their production, the supply would rapidly increase, and in due time would equal the demand. Then, as the latter was exceeded, the selling value of the purchasing ability of these favored commodities would slowly decrease until their production became almost unprofiitable.

The way to keep the value of any commodity steady cannot be to place a premium on its production, but to encourage the procuction of all those articles which may be used for similar purposes. Sooner or later, if the wonerful output of gold continues, will it not become necessary, in order to maintain its purchasing power, to limit the the coinage? The effect of such a step on the mining industry can be easily imagined. But can the flood of gold with which the world is threatened be stayed in any way that will not bring disaster to the miner? Certainly the abandonment of the metal for use as standard money, and the substitution of silver in its place would not accomplish the object. And while such of the silver miners as are left might welcome legislation of that kind, it would in the end be as disastrous to them as anything that can be imagined by Prof. Shaler as an outcome of present conditions. Perhaps there is more wisdom than appears at first sight in the old saying: "Man shall not live by bread alone." At the present moment, if the Harvard economist is correct, the industry of gold mining is threatened with real danger, which will require far-seeing statesmanship to avert.—Mining Reporter.

VIVA CUBA SIN CARBONEROS.

The slogan in Cuba at the present is: Viva Cuba Sin Carboneros, (long live Cuba without coal bins). This cry from the Cuban people met the ears of General Wood recently when he announced that the petition for Cuban redress of grievances had been cabled to the President. Speaking of this petition to Mr. Mckinley, the Cincinnati Inquirer says:

"What will all this accomplish in America? How much of the freedom they fought for will the Cubans get? How far is the United States Government from the repudiation of its pledge to the nations of the world? What heed will be paid the work of the Cuban convention? You can answer all these questions easily enough if you have read the reports of the doings of Congress.

The dominant sentiment—not, perhaps, among the people, but certainly among the men in authority in the United States—declares that there must be no foolishness in Cuban affairs. It is the same sentiment which terms Ruiz Rivera an "old blatherskite" because he is of a Latin race and refuses to pass lightly over nice considerations of honor and right. He stands for the "excitable" opposition, and he refuses to be silent and politic, when he perceives the shadow of a huge injustice.

WILL BE TROUBLESOME.

He and his like are very troublesome to representatives of our new destiny which, borne of a mere formality of war, brought sudden power and rank and pay to the heroes who had good press agents and a pull at Washington. Rivera is so foolish, you know, and impractical. When he was saved from a slaughter of Cuban wounded because of his rank in the ragamuffin army that 200,000 Spanish regulars could not whip he displaced the childish unreason which has now almost exhausted our diplomatic patience. Offered the alternative of a commission in the army of Spain or death in Cabanas he stubbornly insisted that Cuba ought to be free and chose the latter. Even the Spanish officers remonstrated with him for his foolishness, and instead of replying to them in a commonsense way, he said simply: "If there were no martyrs there would be no religion."

How can you deal with rash men such as this. It is they who stand in the way of our enlightened and inspired policy in Cuba. It would simplify the situation much in the interest of logic and common sense if the guide in the death trench at Cabanas could show you a few more spots with powder and lead mural decorations behind them, and tell you that here stood Ruiz Rivera and there old Cisneros, who sacrificed a fortune of seven millions for Cuban independence, and there Maximo Gomez, who for 10 years knew no home but the field on which his ragamuffin soldiers slept, and dozens more of like obstructionists of our policy of piratical commercial common sense. But, of course, we must do the best we can and comfort ourselves with the assurance that eventually we shall prevail, especially if it comes to fighting."

ROBBING THE SCHOOL CHILDREN.

If the Springer educational bill is defeated, the people of New Mexico, regardless of party, can place the responsibility for it upon one man and one only. The man is Frank Hubbell, the chairman of the republican central committee. The people of New Mexico want better schools. The Springer bill is acknowledged to be the best educational bill ever presented in New Mexico. No argument has been produced against it. The man Hubbell, who by the way aspires to be governor of New Mexico, brings no argument against the bill. He has none to bring. He has only his own sinister motives. The greater the ignorance of the people, the longer such obstructionists to education as Hubbell flourish. It is said he has gone from one member to another with threats to defeat certain measures of theirs in case they do not vote against the educational bill. Failing in this he consents to the passage of the bill on condition that a direct bonus of $1,200 a year be taken from the pittance allowed for the education of the children of his county and added his own salary. Incidentally his amendment does the same thing for the children of San Miguel county. This man Hubbell stands for the republican party of New Mexico. He is to-day its chairman, and the party permits him to prevent all legislation which aims at the education of the people, unless along with it he is allowed to rob the school children of their paltry pittance, and then joins with him to pray for statehood, holding up at Washington the argument that, we have a beneficent school system, and an enlightened people. Let the people of New Mexico, who pay the taxes and who support our public works pray that statehood may be deferred until such individuals as Hubbell candidate for governor, and chairman of the republican central committee, are made impossible by the education of the people.—Optic.

ATTACHING GAMBLER'S CHIPS.

A new feature in attachment suits starteled gambling fraternity Wednesday night. Ed Lee claimed that a man by the name of Boatwright owed him $30. Locating the man in a poker game with several stacks of chips in front of him, Lee procured a writ of attachment for the sum of $32.50 and costs. Proceeding with the constable to the poker table the man was pointed out and the constable simply gathered up the man's chips and put them in his pocket. He then presented them to the proprietor, who cashed them. The attachment of poker chips for debts is apt to create considerable of flurry. If they are attached for a gambling debt it will further complicate matters. Altogether the question is one which will probably bring up many complicating points when the trial is had next Wednesday. —Silver City Enterprise.

OUR INSTITUTIONS.

The heavy legislation of the 34th legislative assembly at Santa Fe, has been in the interest of a few towns that wanted an institution, educational or otherwise, for the benefits which would be derived from it, or rather from the expenditure of the funds necessary to build and maintain it. They even provided for a normal school at Puerto de Luna, a small Mexican town on the Pecos river that never has had either a public school or a newspaper, and is not nearer than forty miles of a town that has. Thus public moneys are squandered by our law makers, to build a school house where there is no one qualified to enter the school when established, and when it is clear that all the school is wanted for is, money that will be expended in erecting the building and operating the school which will not have a dozen pupils in the normal courses, in ten years.

This, however, is but a fair illustration of legislation respecting the establishing of schools and institutions in New Mexico. We have more institutions of higher education in the territory, than efficient public schools. These various institutions were established for two reasons: One was, to make a show and thus hasten statehood, and the other was the local financial benefit to the towns where the institutions were located. Of course, there is also in most cases, a benefit resulting to the people of the town where the school is located, as their children are educated at public expense. This, however, is a secondary consideration in most cases.

The principal of the whole thing is wrong. We should have a university, an agricultural college and a first class public school system. The university should include a normal course and a course in minerology, chemistry, &c., for those desiring to take those courses. If this plan had been adopted, some thirty-five or forty thousand dollars a year could have been saved, and the people of New Mexico enjoy the same educational advantages. But every town must have a school of high grade, and so the work goes on. Where it will end no one can see. It is simply a form of paternalism; everybody is getting to think anything they can get from the state is all right. Special, or class legislation, is unjust and unwise, and in the end will result in injury to the state or nation that practices it.

THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS.

A law making three mills the minimum levy for public schools, passed both houses of the legislature and was signed by the Governor. Good!

If the money squandered in establishing institutions all over the territory had been thus used, it would have been much better. We need a first class public school system, and when that is established, and maintained, higher institutions will follow whether aided by the government or not.

The Barnes election law which was a modified form of the Australian ballot system was killed by the legislature last week. A square count and secret ballot is just exactly what a great many New Mexico politicians don't want, yet they are ready for statehood and more taxes.

THE SCHOOL LANDS.

The school lands donated by Congress to New Mexico should be segregated from the public domain at the earliest date possible, and placed on the market to be leased to stock men and farmers. There are thousands of acres of lands suitable for grazing in Lincoln county, that could be leased, if they were only surveyed and placed on the market.

The law provides that only one section can be leased to one person and we think a wise provision as do not want very large tracts of land held by one person. We prefer many settlers on smaller tracts. However, leases are assignable so that persons requiring more than one section, or many as for that, may purchase the leases of others and thus secure land sufficient for their needs. A hundred families on a tract of land of fifty miles long, is much more to be desired than one only, as is often the case on the big ranches. The small ranchmen are worth much more to the county, if we could settle it with such, than large outfits. Then why not take steps to have the fine grazing lands in Lincoln county surveyed and placed on the market to be leased to sheep and cattlemen who may wish to locate here? A little effort in this direction, might prove of great benefit. If no effort is made to get these lands surveyed, the surveyors may and likely will be employed in other parts of the territory and our lands will be left as now so that only 160 acres can be acquired and that under the homestead laws only. The time is fast approaching when stock will have to be kept in pastures, and if these lands are offered for lease, it will afford opportunity to such as wish to make pastures, to get lands sufficient for that purpose.

The attorney general of the United States has appointed Captain William Clifford Reid, a Las Vegas attorney, to be assistant United States attorney for New Mexico, to succeed George P. Money, also of Las Vegas. The appointment gives great satisfaction to the republicans of the territory.

GENERAL HARRISON.

Benjamin Harrison, Ex-President of the United States, was born at North Bend, Ohio, Aug., 20th 1833. His great grand father, Benjamin Harrison, was one of the signers of the Declaration of Independence. William Henry Harrison, elected presiden in 1840, was his grand father. His father, John Scott Harrison, served two terms in congress. Young Ben lived on his father's farm, and worked at anything there was to do, until he was nearly grown, when he went to Carey's Academy in Cincinnati. From there he went to Miami University at Oxford, Ohio. He graduated and was married before he was twenty-one years old. He sold a lot given him by an aunt in Cincinnati, for $800 and with the money moved to Indianapolis, where he began the practice of law. Here he and his wife rented and lived in a two room house, one room was the sitting and sleeping apartment, and the other a kitchen and dining room. General Harrison's estate is estimated to be worth a half million dollars. Thus do we see in his history, what may be, or was at least, accomplished by a poor boy in the American republic.

Hinkle has introduced a bill requiring county superintendents to hold a deploma from some recognixed territorial institution or a first grade teacher's certificate. It will vacate a good many offices of county superintendent in New Mexico, but unquestionably will greatly benefit the public schools of the territory. But like Barnes' election bill this will probably be kicked out by the sapheads which are in the majority in most if not all New Mexico legislatures.

The stockmen are taking down the drift fences. The time is coming when every ranchman will own his own lands and run his stock in pastures. They must either own the lands, or be able to lease them. A lease law with protection for small stock men is the solution.

BLACK JACK TO HANG.

Thos. Ketchum, known as Black Jack, is condemned to hang tomorrow at Clayton, New Mexico, for the train robbery at Folsom, in the northern part of the territory a few months ago. He no doubt, now fully realizes the force of the saying, "Honesty is the best policy." He has a brother in Texas who is doing well in the stock business and who is an honest and respected citizen. Black Jack might have done likewise if he would. His fate is of his own making.

Later: The Governor has it is said granted Ketchum a respite to the 28th of April.

J. J. Hagerman bought 100,000 acres of land from the government just east of the Pecos river in Chaves county. A few years ago the government granted land to the Santa Fe railroad. 100,000 acres of these lands are in Arizona, and the government has taken it for a forest reserve and gave these lands sold to Hagerman instead. He aims to fence it for a stock ranch.

The President has been congratulated on the quiet lately for having had forced through the senate the Spooner amendment to the army bill, which makes him absolute dictator of the Philippine Islands, and the Cuban amendment which will permit him to give Cuba independence on his own terms when he gets good and ready. Thus he is invested with powers which ten years ago would have appalled the majority of Americans.

Magdalena and Kelly, mining camps of Socorro county are said to be prospering. New finds of lead and silver ore are reported in the vicinity of Kelly, and much prospecting is going on at different places in the county. A company after having looked over the camps of the county is figuring on starting up the smelter at Socorro which has been idle during the past ten years.

CAPTAIN LUNA.

Some of the papers are making a fuss over the fact that the legislature appropriated one thousand dollars for a bust of Captain Luna to be placed in the hall of representatives at the capitol. The New Mexican and sheets pandering to the administration and looking to benefits from the native legislators, laud Capt. Luna to the skies, and place his name beside that of the great heroes of the country, while another class who are independent and outspoken, say that Luna shirked as a soldier and did nothing to entitle his memory to be thus revered. Now the facts are that Luna, a native, went to the Spanish war as a capt., which other natives were ready to do if only they had had a pull to obtain such a position. Luna is entitled to credit for even going as a captain, for but few of the natives went or were willing to go and fight in the ranks against the enemies of the Stars Stripes in Cuba. And as Luna went to the Philippines as a lieutenant, a less remunerative and lower in rank than his commission in the Spanish war, we must conclude that he was really enthused with more or less patriotism. That he was drowned in the Philippine service is to be regretted, but impartially summing up the matter, we find no reason why public moneys should be used to place a bust of Capt. Luna in the hall of representatives, unless it be on the ground that he served in the 33rd Assembly as Speaker, and few would favor placing a bust of our Ex-Speakers in the hall.

We concede that Luna probably did his duty as an American citizen and we would say naught to reflect upon his record as a soldier and a native son of New Mexico, but he is no more worthy or entitled to commemoration in this way and at public expense than are any of the soldiers from New México, who fought the battles of El Caney and San Juan Hill in Cuba, and who lost their lives doing duty as brave and patirotic Americans. If the action of the legislature is based on the fact that Luna is deserving of this notice simply becsuse he was a native and was patriotic enough to go to the war, he being one of the very few who did so, then it is certainly not any credit to the native people who did not and would not go. However, the real cause of this action is Fallstaffian in its nature. Simply bluster for effect and to curry favor with Luna's friends who are politically strong in New Mexico.

We respect the memory of Capt. Luna, and think the movement by subscription all right. He may well deserve it, but we protest against the use of public moneys for the purpose stated, for the reason that it is impossible to thus reward all who are equally deserving, as public taxes are not levied for such purposes.

A bill creating Luna county out of a portion of Grant and Dona Ana counties passed and was signed by the Governor. This bill was opposed by the representatives from Grant and Dona Ana counties. This has long been a source of contention in the legislature, and perhaps it is better that it is settled.

The legislature adjourns today. Its further existence as a law-making body, is barred by limitation. The sixty days allowed, have expired, and now a sigh of relief goes up from the tax payers as they realize that not as much harm has been done as was feared.

STATEHOOD.

Delegate elect Rodey said to a Journal-Democrt reporter the other day, that president McKinley favors statehood for New Mexico, and so assured him when he (Rodey) was in Washington. Mr. Rodey thinks the 57th congress is New Mexico's opportunity to get into the union, and that if admission is not granted this year it will be the fault of our own people. He admits that eastern congressmen oppose New Mexico's admission, as a rule, but thinks the opposition may be overcome.

Admission has been the song of every newly elected delegate to congress from this territory for years, and has been repeatedly turned down by congress, but now as Mr. Rodey says, it looks like the President really favors New Mexico's admission to the union, thinking probably that the new state will add two more republicans to the majority in the senate.

Mr. Rodey advises all statehood advocates to have statehood printed all over their stationary, like the citizens of Oklahoma, and write to every member of the House and Senate, soliciting aid for the cause.

THREE RIVERS RIPPLES.

M. A. Wharton & Co., Three Rivers Store, reports a good business. Our ranchmen and farmers are no longer troubled over twenty-five miles of rough road to reach nearest postoffice and store, as was the case here until recently. These accommodations are now permanent fixtures among us and have added materially to the comfort and happiness of our people.

W. A. McIvers and others interested with him, have been exploiting the mineral resources of the Three Rivers district this week, and seem remarkably well pleased with the outlook, and think the opening of the reservation will bring a new and virgin field to the prospector and capitalist.

J. O. Nabour sold a load of hides at the Three Rivers Store and hauled home ranch supplies.

Stock of all kinds are in excellent condition for the time of year. There is plenty of water in the river for irrigating purposes, and the farmers are getting ready to plant.

Quite a number of men and teams have passed through this week en route to the grading camps on the El Paso Rock Island extension.

Sheepmen are bringing their flocks off the mountains to get ready for lambing and shearing.

Most all the able bodied men of this section, that can get away, are at work on the rail road, so it now looks as if there would be a short acreage planted this spring in the valley. The mines also will employ much more labor than formerly.

T. A. Hager, living on the Cal Epps place, on Little Creek, has 600 goats, some six years ago Jessie Rogers on South Fork had a bunch of goats that he was not able to sell at 75c. each, and he finally traded them off for ponies, now goats are said to sell readily for cash at $4 per head.

The Rev. Newton Jackson Lowther and family have deserted their White Mountain range and immigrated to Arizona with their loaves and peanuts, they are hunting that country where the corn grows in pods, already shelled. Mr. Lowther is a bright man, has the moving instincts well developed, after he has done Arizona and the open country afield, he can go up to that walled enclosure, the Golden City, and St. Peter wil be at the gate to let him in.

Congress gave to Pres. McKinley more power in the Philippine Islands than is possessed by kings and emperors. He is to establish civil government in the islands. This means that he alone is to be responsible for the government of the islands. He appoints all officials and makes all laws for carrying on the government. He must do this, or authorize a commission to make the laws, rules and regulations governing the people of the islands. Thus he is to govern ten millions of people without their consent, and to make, or cause to be made, all laws by which their property rights are to be determined, as well as all laws affecting the lives and liberty of the people. If this is not imperialism, then what is it?

OF LOCAL INTEREST.

No mail again yesterday. We are now getting the poorest mail service ever dealt out to this community.

A mining excitement is reported this week at Three Rivers, near the Three Rivers store. The find is copper and said to be high grade ore.

What about that base ball team, boys? Time to organize and begin practicing if the White Oaks nine is to stand at the head of the local teams this summer.

It is now generally conceded that the Rock Island will build a branch into the White Oaks coal field from the north. An outlet for White Oaks coal to the northeast will result in much good to this community.

March has been unusually cold. We have had but few warm days, and it is thought that the fruit is all right. The trees are full of buds, but not far enough advanced to be damaged by the cold winds we have had thus far.

The Eleventh Cavalry which was made up principally of western recruits, has been disbanded and members of the regiment are arriving home from the Philippines. Capt. Geo. Curry, well known in this county, remained in Luzon, as chief of scouts on a salary of $350 per month. Chas. Schinzing also, a member of Capt. Curry's company probably remained in the Islands, as Mr. A. Schinzing, of this place, an elder brother has not heard of Charlie's leaving the Islands.

Ernest Langston has joined the immigrants to Oklahoma, where he intends to locate a home when the Kiowa and Comanche reservations are opened for settlement.

Silas May and Wm. Reily took a trip up the line of the new road last week to Santa Rosa. They report large forces of graders at work near Santa Rosa, and think a town will spring up at that point.

Col. G. W. Prichard has been appointed District Attorney for this district, including Lincoln, Eddy, Chaves and Socorro counties, to succeed Hon. Silas Alexander. Thus a prominent republican of Lincoln is fittingly rewarded.

Hamer Nix, of Alpine, Texas, sawed the horns off his old black cow last fall, and now she has twin calves. Who says dehorning is not a success.

There is a boy at Alpine Texas whose eyes are X-rays. He can see a stream of water several hundred feet under-ground and is in great demand, locating wells for ranchmen. He can only see into earth at night.

Oil wells are now the excitement in many parts of Texas and New Mexico. Discoveries have been made at Gallup and on the Pecos river, below Carlsbad. For years it has been known that there was some character of oil on the Pecos river near Puerto de Luna, and a number of people are now prospecting in that vicinity. At one point the oil boils up between the rocks.

Judge Tillotson has gone to Panhandle to look for a ranch. He aims to sell his Penasco farm and ranch and move, says the Elk correspondent of the Stockman. Judge Tillotson is an old timer in the Penasco country and has a fine farm and ranch; He is a valuable citizen and we cannot afford to lose many such. Don't know his reason for desiring to move and hope he may decide to remain in New Mexico.

The Stockman says Roswell pays $6,000 a year for Kansas butter. Perhaps the people of that thriving city pay much more for eggs than for butter. These should be produced at home. If the people of New Mexico do not learn to supply the home market, they must not expect to attain the greatest prosperity. The Pecos Valley is an ideal place for a dairy, and chickens do as well and are as easily raised in New Mexico as in any part of the country.

'Tis pity the members of the 34th legislative assembly of New Mexico, were not born earlier. They would have been in Clover a few years ago, when men spent from three to four days of the week sitting on the fence "chawing terbacker" and swapping horses. However, they are doing the best they can. "You vote for my bill and I'll vote for yours," is about the way they seem to come together. If the matter of "Boot" enters into the deal it is not apparent.

Collin Campbell of Cochise county, Arizona, has 10,000 cattle on the range, and as losses from bears, wolves and panthers have been serious, he employed Chas. Montgomery, a noted hunter to kill them. He procured some indi- and large number of dogs and with the cowboys from the ranch made a round up in the mountains. They killed nineteen panthers, five bears, two lynx and over one hundred coyotes. One indian was killed and three more badly hurt by a bear and a great many dogs were also killed by this bear—a large grizly. They rounded up five miles of country. This beats Roosevelt out of sight.

SHE SHOOK HIM.

From an Exchange.

A young gentleman was engaged to a charming young girl in Tennessee, and just before the holidays he went to visit her. The day for the wedding was drawing near and the groom-elect thought he detected some kind of a sad expression in the eyes of the fair young thing, and right he was. She approachd him one evening just as the western sun was setting in the western part of the west, and looking up into his tender eyes he said: "William, I have a secret, and my conscience smites me until I have to tell you. It is this, Willie: my father served a term in the Tennessee state prison. It was no fault of mine, Willie, and you still love me?" "Glad you brought this confession business," said Willie. "I, too, have a secret," and then he looked sad, "my father served a term in the New Mexico legislature," and Mabel, the mean thing, shook him, and now he's home retailing shoes and cussing.

DANGER IN COAL MINING.

Even a cursory examination of almost any mine inspectors report cannot fail to impress one with the large number of accidents occurring from falls of roof and coal. Of this class of accidents fully 90 per cent. occur in close proximity to the working face. This is the portion of the mine that is more particularly under the charge of the miner and for which he is responsible in a large measure. It is true that it is the duty of the mine foreman or pit boss to see that each working place is maintained in a safe condition, but with the supply of needed timber and a few hurried instructions to the miner the responsibility of the mine foreman ends and the work of setting timber at the face devolves upon the miner himself.

Many a miner has lost his life through the neglect to perform this work promptly. Familiarity with the dangers of mining does not tend to make the miner a competent judge as to whether the setting of a few posts is an immediate necessity or whether it may not be delayed until he has loaded out the coal of the night before. It is human nature to postpone dead work, or work that brings no apparent remuneration, until an idle time, or at least to give preference to work that counts. The "sticking up of a post" is a matter of so little moment to the busy miner that it is in general regarded by him as something that can be done at any time. A few careless raps with the end of his drill upon the rock above him and he goes to work with little thought of the actual danger that threatens. In nine cases out of ten a stone must give a very hollow sound to cause the miner to delay his other work for even a few moments and set a few posts that would render his place safe beyond question.—Mines and Minerals of Scranton, Pa., for March.

A GREAT NEWSPAPER.

The Sunday edition of The St. Louis Republic is a marvel of modern newspaper enterprise. The organization of its new service is world-wide, complete in every department; in fact, superior to that of any other newspaper.

The magazine section is illustrated in daintily tinted colors and splendid half-tone pictures. This section contains more high-class literary matter than any of the monthly magazines. The fashions illustrated in natural colors are especially valuable to the ladies.

The colored comic section is a genuine laugh-maker. The funny cartoons are by the best artists. The humorous stories are high class, by authors of national reputation.

Sheet music, a high class, popular song, is furnished free every Sunday in The Republic.

The price of The Sunday Republic by mail one year is $2.00. For sale by all news dealers.

REMARKABLE CURES FOR RHEUMATISM.

From the Vindicator, Rutherfordton, N. C.

The editor of the VINDICATOR has had occasion to test the efficacy of Chamberlain's Pain Balm twice with the most remarkable results in each case. First, with rheumatism in the shoulder from which he suffered excruciating pain for ten days, which was relieved with two applications of Pain Balm, rubbing the parts afflicted and realizing instant benefit and entire relief in a very short time. Second, in rheumatism in thigh joint, almost prostrating him with severe pain, which was relieved by two applications, rubbing with the liniment on retiring at night, and getting up free from pain. Sold by Dr. Paden.

There is no better proof of the prosperity of a mining camp than a good list of patent applications in the column of its local newspapers.

A COSTLY PAGEANT

$4,000,000 WAS SPENT AT THE INAUGURATION.

At the second inauguration of President McKinley $4,000,000 was spent. That amount was used by the Government and citizens of the United States in assisting in making the ceremonies the most brilliant and military ever witnessed since the founding of the American Government.

Just 100 years ago, in 1801, Thomas Jefferson, of Monticella, Va., was inaugurated the third President of the United States at a total cost of $5,000.

Following is a conservative estimate of the cost of President McKinley's second inauguration:

Cost of ceremonies at Capitol, erection of platforms, decorations, &c.	$ 7,500
Cost to Government in salaries to Pension Office clerks given eight days' leave so office can be decorated	72,000
Cost of moving records and files in Pension Office, restoring lost records, tracing, &c.	15,000
Cost to Citizens' Inaugural Committee	50,000
Cost of erection of reviewing stands for the purpose, court of honor, &c.	30,000
Decorations of buildings, flags, &c.	15,000
Cost of seats on reviewing stands for inaugural parade	125,000
Cost of transportation for out-of-town visitors, including troops and other paraders, estimated 175,000 visitors at $10 per capita	1,750,000
Cost of meals and lodging, 175,000 visitors at $6 per capita	1,050,000
Cost of inaugural ball tickets	60,000
Cost of supper at inaugural ball 6,000, at $1 per capita	6,000
Cost of flowers	7,500
Cost of carriages going and returning from ball at legal rate of $5	30,000
Cost to each visitor of $5 for incidentals, progrommes, souvenirs, &c.	750,000
Cost of costumes for inaugural ball for 5,000 ladies, $50 each	25,000
Grand total	$4,219,000

CERRILLOS ANTHRACITE MINES.

In Mines and Minerals for March Prof. Arthur lakes says:

We have or are supposed to have, so little anthracite coal in the West that a veritable anthracite coal mine is a novelty of especial interest. Such we heard of being near Cerrillos Station in New Mexico and in a recent visit to that country we stopped off to examine it. We were surprised to find not only a well and deeply developed mine, but a coal village around the works of many substantial houses and numbering some 500 to 800 inhabitants, with an extensive plant and a large coal breaker of thoroughly eastern or Pennsylvania pattern.

The Cerrillos Mountains are a small group of hills some 50 miles north of Albuquerque City, New Mexico. They are formed of a central core of eruptive porphyritic rock surrounded by a series of uptilted sandstones of the Laramie Cretaceous coal bearing series. Into these strata many dikes and intrusive sheets of porphyrite have been intruded, emanating from the parent core. The heat from these eruptive sheets, when they have come near enough to the coal, has metamorphosed the coal into anthracite. Coal beds not so influenced in the same region remain unchanged as bituminous coal, consequently there are two classes of coal worked near one another. One a four foot six inches seam of bituminous coal and another, some 50 to 75 feet below, of three feet six inches to four feet of anthracite overlain by a thick intrusive sheet of eruptive porphyrites.

LOCO.

A number of West Texas papers are indulging in a discussion of loco, the old time enemy of the stockman. The Hereford Reporter gives several columns to prove that the weed is not poisonous at all, but merely indigestible, and if cattle die from eating it, it is from no other reason. R. B. Neighbers, sheriff of Pecos county and a prominent cowman, says through the columns of the West Texas Stockman that loco poisoning can be easily cured. He claims a post-mortem examination will show a large number of long-legged ticks at the butt of the ear over the membrane of the brain. He says the ticks infest the loco weed. His remedy is to fill the ear with common kerosene and allow it to soak in well. The Plainview Graphic ridicules both statements, saying that the noxious qualities of the loco are well established and the only relief is to destroy the plant at blooming time. The Childress Index inclines to the latter view, also, and remarks that loco poisoning will continue as long as the weed grows on the ranges.—Roswell Record.

WAR HORSES

Between October 1899, and January 31, 1901, horses, mules and other supplies to the extent of $26,595,692 were exported to South Africa. The number of horses and mules shipped from our ports during the period was 76,632. Among other exportations was wheat, canned beef and rum.

Headache often results from a disordered condition of the stomach and constipation of the bowels. A dose or two of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will correct these disorders and cure the headache. Sold by Dr. Paden.
