THE CAPITAN COAL FIELD

Is In Bad Condition and the Fuel Company

WILL TRY ANOTHER

Near Puerto de Luna on the Maxwell Land Grant.

If reports be true the New Mexico Railway and Coal company has some important changes in view for the operation of the coal mines owned by the company at Capitan and Maxwell City.

It is said that the company has discovered that the coal in the Capitan mines is so shattered and broken that it will not pay to work it and the company is even now taking out the heaviest machinery and moving it to the new fields about Puerto de Luna, on the Maxwell grant, near the proposed junction of the El Paso Northeastern and Rock Island roads.

While none of the officers of the company could be found yesterday and today it is given out as a fact that the company has found that it cannot compete with other mines with the Capitan coal and will go to better fields. It is not the purpose of the company to entirely desert the Capitan mines but to reduce the force and not attempt to put out more coal than is consumed by the railroad. This is not good news for El Paso, but it is said that the mines at White Oaks will soon be worked at about the same price as has been paid for the Capitan coal. The company has for several months been prospecting in other parts of New Mexico with the view to moving the machinery and practically deserting Capitan, and the news comes now that the company will give most of its attention to the deposits near Puerto de Luna. This will probably not make the price of coal in El Paso much higher as the new fields are not much further and can be worked much cheaper.

It should not be understood that the Capitan coal is exhausted—to the contrary the supply is quite sufficient. The trouble seems to be the condition of the coal. The deposits have been broken and in bad condition for over a year and the company has found the operation an expensive one. The new mines to be opened by the company, however, are solid, and the coal is in the best of condition.

While the Capitan mines will still be worked to a considerable extent the officers will give their attention to the new mines. The principal offices will be removed from Capitan to Maxwell City, where Superintendent Perte will spend most of his time. General Manager Thompson will likely have offices in El Paso but spend his time at the different mines. The forces of the Mercantile company will be devided between the two camps, but most of the force will go to the new mines.—El Paso Herald.

TRAINING OF WORKMEN.

Nearly all trades and handicrafts have been invaded by machinery, some in a vastly greater degree than others. Work which was deemed beyond the capacity of machines but a few years since, is now regularly done by them, and the best craftsmen today in many industries are those who execute repairs.

Gone forever is that devotion to labor which the old craftsmen enjoyed, and which has left its impress in Gothic arch and poems in stone; in mediaeval basses, and Chippendale furniture; in cameos and pottery; in craft wedded to art; in chefs d'oeuvre, which are the wonder and despair of the present. These facts are enough to discount the value of a long apprenticeship now. But more remains to be said.

Apprenticeship under the old guilds was an intensely personal relation. But the relations between employers and factory hands today are impersonal. An apprentice now is only so in name, a numbered unite who puts in his cheque with other numbers. He is not taught a trade. He must pick it up for himself. It is nobody's business to instruct him, neither his master's nor his foreman's, nor the workman's. In some of the smaller shops in country towns traces of the old relations still remain, but they are becoming more and more exceptional.

It is generally to the interest of an employer that an apprentice not learn his trade as a hole, but only a little section of it. It pays better to keep a lad repeating the performance of one section of his craft than to teach him all. More money is made. But the apprentice becomes a young specialist, a prig in his teens, cocksure over some little piece of handicraft, at which he may earn something over his normal wages. And many a lad does not become disillusioned until he has to face the world and try his luck in other shops. And, therefore, the best shops in which to place a lad are not the big establishments, but the small ones, where every class of work is done, and where tools and appliances are often scant. A lad will learn more in these than in those replete with every appliance, and minutely sub-divided into sections and groups.

The best training for a lad today is that which he can envolve for himself. The greatest evil that can befall him is to become a specialist, and nothing more, while in his teens. Yet that is what must happen if he spends several years tending machines or doing repentive, unvaring tasks in one big establishment.

The best training, therefore, today is that gathered by the peripatetic youth. If a lad cannot gain experience in one place he should move about, gathering as much as he can accumulate with one firm, then on to another, and attending training schools as opportunity offers. His views become broadened, he becomes self-reliant, and, in time, having found his true work, he may settle down as a specialist. Joseph Horner, in Cassier's Magazine.

THE TERRITORIAL SOLONS.

Interview in Denver "Post."

"You talk about your legislatures," said Thomas D. Burns, of Tierra Amarilla, N. M., "but, hah! you never saw one, not even a little bit of a symtom of one—wait till you come down to New Mexico and see one of ours; one like this'n that's just adjourned, for instance. Say, that was a bird—at least the house of representatives was."

As Mr. Burns has lived long in New Mexico and has a fair knowledge of ornithology, his discriptions of the lower branch of the legislature may be accepted as reasonably correct. Mr. Burns, knows as the "perpetual senator from Rio Arriba," may be excused for his leniency toward the territorial council, as the senior body is called.

"Why, sir, the wonderful works of that body could not be enumerated in a week," continued the senator. "Take for example the location of those government institutions. The government, you know, donated the price of 150,000 acres of public land to the Territory to be used in the establishment of a Territorial normal school, a blind asylum and a miner's hospital—50,000 acres each, you know.

"Well, sir, each and every member of the lower house had promised his constituents to have at least one of these institutions in his county. This naturally caused complications but the whole matter was adjusted in the simplest and most satisfactory way possible. Six bills providing for the location of the blind asylum in Rio Arriba county, McKinley county, Taos county, Colfax county, Bernalillo county and Santa Fe county were presented and promptly passed.

"To satisfy other clamorous assemblymen, the miner's hospital was located in Lincoln, Dona Ana, Chaves, Grant, Mora and San Juan counties. This proceeding was hailed with great delight by the intelligent and conscientious representatives of the above named counties, and each member notified his constituents what he had done, and six sets of bonfires blazed in as many counties and six mass meetings of appreciative citizens, passed resolutions of thanks and expressions of the sense of the deep obligation under which the several communities were placed with respect to the 'able,' 'aggressive and untiring' efforts of the men chosen to look after their interests 'in our legislative halls.'

"These resolutions were beautifully engrossed, and copies were sent to the members, along with many individual and impromptu expressions of gratitude.

"The normal school was not so much in demand. When it was put up the offers were light,' and it was finally knocked down to a man from Valencia, who wanted it located at 'Punta de Agua,' a place which could not be found on the map, but which the member from Valencia assured the assembly was a very distinct place of habitation, altough, as yet, no postoffice has been established there."

"And what did the senate do with all these beautiful bills?" Senator Burns was asked.

"Hmh! We didn't do a thing to 'em. What could we do? We just took a look at 'em, and put 'em in cold storage, and the blind folks and the ailing miners and the ab-normal will have to wait for another legislature to minister to their needs."

ANOTHER NEW RAILROAD.

The New Mexico Southwestern railway has filed incorporation papers for 180 miles of road to be built from El Paso to the New Mexico-Arizona border, where it is to connect with a road to be called the Arizona Southwestern rail road, which is to be extended to San Diego, California. New York and New Jersey capitalist are behind the scheme, which to is be a link in the trans-continental road.

McKINLEY FOR A THIRD TERM.

Chancey Depew is advocating a third term for President McKinley. It is an unwritten law of this government that two terms is the presidential limit, and it will now take a greater influence than all the Depews in the nation to dethrone the two term custom. The argument advanced by this statesman is that so many questions of national moment have arisen out of the nation's wars and consequent foreign possessions during Mr. McKinley's presidential terms that it would be dangerous to put him out until these difficulties are settled. The end of our difficulties in the settlements growing of our late wars and through the acquirement of our foreign possessions promise to be continuous, at least the end, under most favorable conditions can never be reached during President McKinley's natural life; and that he is any more competent to cope with national complications than many others who are available as presidential material is not believed by the people, and should he try to reach the presidency a third term, the result will be as it was with Grant, his race will be ended in the nominating convention.

There have been questions of much greater concern before the nation than McKinley has ever witnessed or is likely to witness, so far as the preservation of the country's prosperity and happiness is concerned. And it is generally believed that the country is amply able to take care of itself, and that presidents, like soldiers may be produced as rapidly as conditions demand them. But if the personal and financial interests of Mr. McKinley's friends are the national questions refered to by Senator Depew, and if the welfare of these interests are necessary to the life and preservation of our national government, then a third term may be necessary; otherwise we must conclude that there is plenty of presidential timber outside of Canton, or even the entire state of Ohio, who may be trusted to steer the ship of state through all kinds of weather.

IF BRYAN HAD BEEN ELECTED.

A Chaves county sheep man was mourning his fate to some companions one day last week. He said that he was offered fourteen cents for his 1900 clip, but being sure of McKinley's election, he refused the offer and stored his wool. For a year he has paid interest on money to run his flocks, insurance and storage on his wool and can now get but seven cents. Nobody was blamed in the matter at all, it was simply fate that brought it about. But a bystander was heard to remark after the wool grower passed on, "If Bryan had been elected how that man would have been cussing him and the whole democratic party for something of which they had nothing to do." Roswell Record.

There are sheep men in here who flopped over to the republican party under the same empty hallucination, having convinced themselves that tariff and republicanism governed the price of wool. The conditions expressed in the foregoing article should, however, constitute food for reflection for the fellow who has laid his democracy aside for a will-o-the-wisp theory which he hopes will add shekels to his coffers, at the same time, ill considerate of what it will bring to his neighbor. It is not only among sheep men that these presto change political opinions are noticed but in the cotton states, as was the condition last year, when the farmer gets 8 to 10 cents for his cotton he is ready to lay it to the political party in power, but 7 cent wool must be a little hard for the newly converted republican sheep man to swallow, however he may have a better understanding of politics and wool after he has marketed his 1901 clip.

They are all figuring on what has caused the slump in wool under this administration, and many who know the real cause would eat a sack before they would admit it. But had Bryan been elected some of these same fellows would take advantage of the situation to "cuss" him in seven different languages. Seven cent wool is a pretty tough dose for the New Mexico sheep republican this year, and by the time he markets his 1901 clip he will want to reverse the sheep before looking at it. Still in most instances, they will vote protection, as they call it, if there is three hundred feet of snow in the platform, followed by midnight for a half a century.

The new companies being incorporated to do business in New Mexico average more than one a day. They represent millions of dollars of capital from every part of the Union. New Mexican. Still you fellows are all the time beeting about statehood, claiming that nobody will invest money in a territory.

General McArthur recommends that Aguinaldo be allowed to come over home to the United States next summer and spend a vacation with his foster mother. Agui should come, it would enjoy a summer's outing in Adriondacks or a society whirl at Saratoga. The ladies would be supremely interested in him and the small boy would follow him around with the same devotion as that with which he brings up the rear of the band wagon, during the circus season. The only danger is that some fake will counterfeit him, and turn the whole enterprise into a circus side show, and then the curious would miss the real thing after all.

Jose Sanchez and Andres Calles will be hung for murder in Grant county the 5th of June. Jose M. Rivera will unless sentence is commuted be hung at Lincoln, this county, the 12th of June. These three victims with Ketchum at Clayton and Garcia at Las Cruces swell the number to five for New Mexico so far this year. Crime in New Mexico is decreasing at a double ratio—at least the number of criminals are.

The Ship, Chas. Zieger, has been abandoned to its fate and the Rio Grande is reported impossible of navigation.

The New Mexico Territorial fair will be held in Albuquerque Oct. 15 to 19.

THE CAPITAN PROGRESS DENIES THE EL PASO HERALD'S STATEMENT.

The El Paso Herald of the 23rd inst. contains a half column article about the conditions of the Capitan coal fields and the Coal Company's intentions with reference to its future operations etc. The Herald's article is given in full on the first page of this paper, and if the statements therein are not correct the coal company is doing itself a great injustice by not contradicting it. Concerning the Herald's article the Capitan Progress of the 24th, says:

"The fallacy of the Herald's statements is too apparent to need mentioning were it not for the fact that there are many who are not familiar with the methods of the El Paso news mongers. The statement is not only false but it is a malicious mis-statement of facts. Had the Herold taken the pains to ascertain the truth it would have found that the reverse is true for the New Mexico Fuel Company is at the present time getting out more coal than it has at any previous time in the history of the Capitan coal fields, and, this too, with a much smaller force than was formerly employed. This does not look much as if the coal is playing out, but on the other hand shows that the coal is increasing in quantity and improving in quality as depth is gained."

Five cadets have been dismissed from West Point for hazing.

The [illegible] of a large number of cattle this summer. The stock of the round up for the east half will begin on the [illegible] of June.

[illegible] of importance this week. We are however, blessed with [illegible] crops and fine range. Cattle as well as [illegible] of live stock are in good condition.

We are [illegible] to differ from the editor of the Eagle in his article with regard to sheep being a destructive agency to forests and ranges which appeared in the issue of the 23rd inst. Sheep are certainly a benefit rather than a detriment to ranges, and as to being an agency for destruction to vegetation, that is all a mistake. Sheep will eat grass to spread and grow thicker and taller, and will do so [illegible] than any [illegible] of stock that can be put upon it. Sheep at will be [illegible] by the observant, destroys seed, which in many instances would seed out the grass. An example of the [illegible] sheep have on the open ranges may be seen in both the Capitan Mountain country and in the Pecos Valley. There cannot be found better stock ranges in the territory than the north side of Capitan Mountain district, and there is now and always has been more sheep on its ranges than any other part of New Mexico. And as to floods and washouts, sheep make no trails like cattle and horses, coming and going to and from the watering places. Trails made by cattle and horses finally become arroyos and in that way cause more floods and do greater damage than the light nipping of the mutton sheep. [illegible] really more [illegible] than destroyer. I am no sheepman, never was, but [illegible] prejudices aside I am compelled to agree with Mr. [illegible] in this.

Correspondence.

The China people are employing two men cleaning out and repairing the tunnel of their mine, which is something more than a claim.

The McIvers company has been doing preparatory work the past week, have employed eight men in surveying claims, sinking a shaft and driving a drift.

The farmers up the Valley sandwich in their time prospecting and most of them have occasionally sold a claim which has helped out the larder.

Last Sunday those families of the verdent vale, who enjoyed the luxuries of a strawberry bed, feasted on ripe, rich, red strawberries all smothered over with thick cream.

J. H. Lightfoot is planting potatoes on the Bonito just below the mouth of South Fork, understand he has seed enough to plant five acres. It takes 400 pounds of potatoes to seed an acre, and none of our people have tackled so extensive planting this season, after the experience of last year.

There is going to be a large surplus of peaches, pears and plums to ship out this season in this higher portion of the White Mountain valleys above Ft. Stanton, and apples galore. Why cannot some enterprising party establish a preserving industry in our midst? There is money in it. A small canning outfit that will can both fruit and vegetables with a daily capacity of from four to five hundred cans, can now be secured at a cost of only $150. It is no ways likely that so small an outfit as this would answer the needs of this section. There are large canning establishments in Missouri that can apples; an evaporator is no more expensive. One industry established in a community always brings other enterprises in its train. It is not the proper caper to ship out our fruits, add freights two ways, commission, dealers profits and packers outlay, then buy them back at the enhanced cost. The fruits and vegetables should be canned or evaporated here where they will be consumed.

Creed revision is now absorbing the time of the leaders in the Presbyterian church. The controversy regarding revision has led to three divisions or sets among the 640 commissioners of the General Assembly at Philadelphia. First there is a conservative group, composed of those opposed to any change whatever in the doctrinal standards of the church. Second, there is a party desirous of setting aside the confession of faith, as not expressing the belief of the church. Then between these is the centrists who favor maintaining the old confession with proper revisions setting forth a clear declarative statement of doctrines of the church.

CAPITAN COAL FIELDS WILL NOT BE ABANDONED AT PRESENT.

Col. A. S. Greig of the El Paso Northeastern railroad and a member of the New Mexico Railway and Coal company, came in last night and partly confirmed the story published in The Herald a few days ago about the opening of the new mines in the Maxwell grant. In discussing the matter Mr. Greig said:

"Yes, we are opening the mines and all indications point to the fact that we have some very fine property. A force of men are now at work on the property and will be greatly increased soon. At present no railroad goes near the mines but I think that our road will put in a track to the mines as soon as the coal is ready to ship. If the coal is what we think it is we have a great thing.

"No, we have not settled on taking the men from the Capitan mines. We will work a good force there but expect to have more men at work at Maxwell City than at Capitan. The coal at Capitan is in as good shape as it ever was but of course it is in a broken condition. El Paso Herald.

OUR MINING INTERESTS.

Mining interests in New Mexico seem to be in the ascendant; capital is coming in from many parts of the country seeking New Mexico properties. The industry has greatly increased in importance, in Southern New Mexico since the building of the El Paso & Northeastern railroad, and the outlet to the northeast when the Rock Island connection is made will revolutionize the mining interests of south and central New Mexico. Gold, coal and copper and lead mines will be opened in the White Oaks, Jicarilla and Gallina districts as a consequence, and it will be of incalculable benefit to this section of country.

Grant county is also enjoying a healthy mining boom, and is making a creditable record in mineral production. In the neighborhood of Puerto de Luna or Santa Rosa both coal and oil will be worked as soon as the railroad is in condition to handle the tonage. Elizabethtown in Colfax county is doing more mining than ever before and Socorro county just west of Lincoln is showing up some of the richest copper in the territory, and capital is coming in from various sources. Bland, the Cochiti country is progressive, and Mogollon, the San Andres, and the Otero county districts are active in fact the industry throughout the territory is expanding in leaps and bounds, and the output for 1901 will show New Mexico's mineral production at least 100 per cent greater than in 1900.

CAPITAN CORRESPONDENCE.

Taxpayers Wrought up Over the Apparently Reckless Expenditure of District Funds.

Editor, WHITE OAKS EAGLE.

Dear Sir:

Under date of March 1st, The Capitan Progress states that: "The board of school directors of the Capitan district met last Saturday in Capitan and awarded the contract for the construction of the new $12,000 school house, Little and Fancet being the successful bidders."

The article also states that there were "seven bidders," this would lead one to believe that Little & Fancet were the lowest of the seven who bid on the work. Your correspondent has made some inquiries from those who submitted proposals and finds that at least two of the seven were below the price that the Progress named as the cost of the building viz., $12,000 and the Progress ought to know as the editor is the secretary of the board.

The bid of Pollack & Sinclair for brick and stone trimmings was $11,72[illegible] and to build the house as specified, all cut stone, $12,000. The bid of M. Griffin O'Neil, was $9,764, made up on the basis of brick and stone, with a separate bid on the excavation and concrete foundation of $967.00. We understand this foundation of concrete has been omitted from the present contract, or alleged contract. Mr. O'Neil, informs us that his bid of $9,764, included this foundation, so we find that the house could have been constructed for $8,867, by responsible people. Both of the firms above mentioned are responsible contractors, Messrs. Pollack & Sinclair having the contract for the executive building at Ft. Stanton, and Mr. O'Neil, that of the Laundry, and Cold Storage plants at the same place.

All inquiries from the tax payers fail to elicit any information as to the amount of the contract, or upon what basis of construction the contract was taken, therefore this letter is addressed to you with the request that it be published, and we respectfully ask the Hon. Board of School Directors the following questions: What is the amount of the contract price of the school house?

What are the changes made from the plans and specifications as furnished by the architect?

Who are the bondsmen for the contractors, and in what amount?

If a contract has been signed and the work is being done under it why did members of the school board pay for the hauling of the rock to be used in the foundation of the building?

If the work is being done by contract why was material for its construction ordered before the bids for the house were opened?

These are live questions, and are being asked by the residents of the district every day.

Yours Truly,

CITIZENS of CAPITAN,
