Delegate Smith Says He Did It.

Delegate Smith of Arizona says that the filibuster against the Omnibus bill was engineered by the Republican steering committee of the senate, the members of which kept in the background themselves and shoved the less experienced Senators to the front to kill time. Aldrich of Rhode Island was the head and director of the filibuster movement. There was a safe majority of fifteen in the senate for the Omnibus bill, Mr Smith says, if a direct vote could be reched. The vital point was reached when the bill was added as an amendment to the postoffice appropriation bill. President pro tem Frye stood ready to declare the amendment out of order and the Republicans who favor the bill would not vote to overrule the decision of the chair. Then it was that the friends of the bill knew they were defeated and gave up the fight.

Mr Smith says only his opposition prevented the passage of a bill uniting New Mexico and Arizona as one state. The New Mexican accused him of defeating Statehood on this line and he cheerfully accepted the responsibility, feeling satisfied that he was carrying out the wishes of the people of Arizona. He says there is no doubt that an effort will be made in the next Congress to pass two Statehood bills, one joining Oklahoma and Indian Territory and the other Arizona and New Mexico. Mr Smith is opposed to union between Arizona and New Mexico under any circumstances or conditions, and says that the people of Arizona must organize to beat the scheme or the Republican managers will put it through during the next session of Congress.

CHANCE FOR THE PROSPECTOR.

A capitalist never yet found a mine he buys them after they are found. It is the prospector who makes the first discovery. He is the one who blazes the trial, finds the way, and guides the man of means to the mountain ranges, the canyons and the hills to the cropping ledge, the mineral zone in which Nature has placed her richest treasures.

This is the age of mining an era of mining. Men of wealth have the fever. They have come to a realization of the fact that mining is a legitimate pursuit that it is vastly profitable, that there are more millionaire mining kings than there are railroad or manufacturing magnates, and they want an inning in this fascinating pursuit and occupation. Hundreds of investors and capitalists are of the same mind. However, they will not find mines, but they will buy them, after they are found, if they can. And right here is where the oportunity of the prospector comes in. With his ability to trace the float to the mother lode, his mining experience, his knowledge of mountain life, his training in judging the value of different classes of ores, and with an understanding of the formations, the distinction between prophyry, granite, lime and quartzite, it only remains for him to make a valuable discovery in order to command the attention and assistance of capital in order to transform a prospect into a producing mine and dividend payer.

While the west is possessed of many almost matchless bonanzas, the fact remains that our mountain range and canons have been barely prospected as yet. In fact, there are great areas of country in the west, much of which are doubtless richly mineralized, that have as yet never been visited by the prospector and miner. What such boundless tracts hold in "trust" for the future, no one can tell, but it will be the prospector who will reveal the secret, and, in time to come, it will be through his aid that the work will be given innumerable metallic wealth-producers which will be the equal, if not the peer, of the great Monte Cristo propositions of the west in which we all take such justifiable pride in this day and age. The prospector of today has an opportunity never before enjoyed by his fellow-craftman. Salt Lake Mining Review.

The Panama Canal.

When completed, the panama canal will save nearly 10,000 nautical miles in a trip from Philadelphia to San Francisco. A writer in the Philadelphia Press points out that at present the distance covered by a steemship route from Philadelphia to Pernambuco, Brazil, is 3,000 nautical miles from Pernambuco, Punta Arenas, in the Straits of Magellan, 3,113 from Punta Arenas to Panama, 3,904, and from Panama to San Francisco, by way of the Strait of Magellan and stopping at Panama, the distance is 15,078 nautical miles, of which amount 11,801 miles represents the distance between Philadelphia and Panama. When the canal is completed this 11,801 miles will be replaced by 1,081 miles which is the distance between Philadelphia and Colon, the eastern entrance of the Panama canal. Steaming via Colon and the Panama canal, the vessel will have to cover only 5,258 miles in going from Philadelphia to San Francisco, as against a present distance of 15,078 miles, a cut two-thirds.

The Rio Grande is on a rampage.

JUDGE M'MILLAN HOME.

Denies That He Has Resigned or Made Any Request.

Judge Daniel H. McMillan has returned to New Mexico from Washington where the charges preferred against him were heard by the attorney general. Judge McMillan has gone to Socorro to join his family. He emphatically denies that he has resigned or that he has made any request to be allowed to hold the spring term of court or any other term of court in this territory. He says that the case has been argued and submitted to the attorney general and there is nothing now but to wait his decision. Judge McMillan gives the impression that so far as he is concerned the case is closed. Santa Fe New Mexican.

Large Iron Ore Deposits

At the north end of the Oscura mountains in the southeast corner of Socorro county, says the Santa Fe New Mexican, is situated a section about ten miles square wherein there are found extensive and easily worked deposits of hematite iron ore running about sixty per cent. to the ton. The location is about seventeen or eighteen miles west of the El Paso Rock Island railway, and about thirty miles southeast of Progreso, the county seat of the new county of Torrance. These deposits were discovered by Prof. F. A. Jones, formerly director of the New Mexico School of Mines, and now in charge of the Geological and Mining Census of the territory under the direction of the Geological Survey of the Department of the Interior.

The section is known as the Jones' Iron mines, and the New Mexican understands from a reliable source that all of Professor Jones' claims acquired by location, discovery and assessment work have been sold and transferred to the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company, which corporation in due time expects to run a branch railroad from Coyote station to these iron ore fields. The consideration is believed to be quite handsome and will make Professor Jones, comparatively speaking, a wealthy man. The company now has a store on the premises and is emploping from twenty to thirty miners to do development work and prospecting. Whenever the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company gets ready for active business, it can safely be asserted that a large and prosperous mining camp will ensue, and that, more than probable, foundries and rolling mills will be constructed and operated there. Coal in abundance can be brought down by the Santa Fe Central from its extensive coal fields near Clark in the southern part of this county or from the Dawson coal fields in Colfax county by the Dawson railroad and the El Paso & Rock Island road.

No More Private Land Sales.

The passing of a resolution by the territorial land board introduced by Solicitor General E. L. Bartlett, and providing that no more territorial lands be sold unless after full advertisement in the daily papers in Santa Fe, Las Vegas and Albuquerque, is a long step forward in the right direction and will bring much better prices for such lands than has been the case heretofore. This method will also do away with the chances for combination by interested parties to secure territorial lands, timber or grazing, for a song. The fullest publicity should be given proceedings of the land board and of the United States land commission, in order that the people may know what is going on, and to silence the criticisms of persons who are charging that there is something wrong with the transactions of the territorial land board and of the United States land commission because no definite information concerning their actions has been published except in the annual reports of the Land commissioner.
Santa Fe New Mexican.

Klassner vs. Lumbley.

The territorial land board has received a decision from the secretary of the interior to the effect that after careful examination of the law governing the donation and selection of lands donated by the United States to the territorial educational, charitable and penal institutions, he was of the opinion that in cases of the leasing of such lands and school sections, the decisions of the territorial land board were final and that no appeal from the decisions of that board to the secretary of the interior could be taken. This was decided in the case of Mrs. E. C. Klassner vs. W. H. Lumbley, involving the lease of a school section which the land board awarded to Lumbley, and from which decision Mrs. Klassner through her attorney, appealed. The lease is therefore confirmed to Lumbley.

Cutting Timber the Cause.

The cutting of timber on the Chama river and its tributaries on the Tierra Amarilla land grant in Rio Arriba county has caused damaging freshets. The winter snow has melted too rapidly and the result must be that the winter supply will be cut short and the scarcity will be felt during months of June, July and August, when the regular water supply is most needed for both stock and agricultural purposes. What is needed is a forest reserve to include the sources of the Chama river and its tributaries. This, however, cannot well be brought about, as that section is contained mostly within this Tierra Amarilla land grant and is private property.

Alamo Improvement Co. Won.

The Alamogordo Improvement company's injunction against S. M. Ellis, who attempted to sell whiskey in Alamogordo, has been sustained by Judge F. W. Parker. There is a prohibitory clause in the deeds issued by the Improvement company to purchasers of Alamogordo realty forbidding the sale of whiskey or any intoxicant on the property so conveyed. Mr. Ellis secured a lease from an Alamogordo citizen, and this prohibitory clause was not inserted. With that margin Ellis opened a saloon and rested his case on the county. The Improvement company enjoined him and the court has sustained the injunction.

A Blaze at Carrizozo

The railroad eating house at Carrizozo burned last Friday afternoon at about half passed 3 o'clock. The fire was started by children playing with matches in the basement, some of them setting fire to the paper on the walls of the room. It is fortunate that the new hotel is just about ready for business, otherwise the traveler would have to bring his coffee pot and lunch with him while passing through this section of New Mexico.

Latest Discovery.

Gold underlays the vast tundra between the beach and the foothills of the Nome coast, say those who have been boring through the frozen alluvial deposit in that region. "Washed by the waves," suggests one; "precipitated from the vast solution of sea water," is the explanation of another.

Rather remarkable field for development there. Suppose that north shore, cold and uninhabitable for past ages, has possessed a peculiar precipitant for the billions of gold scientists say sea water carries. Suppose the great chemist in distributing his elements placed this precipitant there only, and the Nome shore is metaphorically gigantic zinc boxes gathering the precious metal since the morning stars sang together.

Suppose, again, that the placer gold of continents, swept into the tossing, rolling old sea for centuries, has been driven by that mill race, the Gulf Stream, into the narrow north channel, and there, on the eddy side as the course changed, has been dropped and dropped till the very sands are gold.

How probable! Here we linger on the effete temperate zone, in the exhausted cells of wealth, while nature stores in the north. Natural laws have not worked thusly here. But remember we are in a different zone. To the north, an ex-chasm to the north, where arctic shadows weave wild fancies and man's tameless immagination finds shelter in obscurity. Blue Mountain American.

The Danville Va. Bee contains the following ironical letter to the President of the United States:

Lantry and Sons have decided that no saloons will be allowed at any of the camps along the cut off, as intoxicated men are a menace to public safety when they are handling explosives all the time. So the railroad men will have to wait until their pilgrimage to Belen for the pleasures of a jag. This arrangement by the Lantrys is an eminently wise one.

Hilton's $10,000 Coal Deal.

While in Las Cruces last week, Mr. A. H. Hilton of San Antonio, in behalf of the Carthage Coal company paid to H. D. Bowman, receiver of United States land office, nearly $10,000 for coal lands belonging to the company at Carthage N. M. This is the largest sum ever paid into the land office at one time, either by single individual or corporation since the office was established. This is the coal property which has been in dispute and contested in the courts and before the general land office for the last three years, and the title has finally been issued by the government to Mr. Hilton and his associates.

The Las Vegas Optic announces that Duncan Garrett, a well known cattleman of southern Arizona and a former citizen of Bisbee, has just been sentenced to serve two years in the regular army of the Republic of Mexico. Although his friends have made every effort to secure his release they have as yet been unsuccessful, and it looks as if another American citizen has been caught in the tenacles of the Mexican criminal law. Several weeks ago Garrett became involved in a fight with a Mexican at La Cananea. It was a good fight and the men were evenly matched. There appears to have been no objection to its continuing until Garrett bit off a section of the ear of his Mexican adversary. Then having shed blood he was immediately arrested and thrown into prison without any chance to vindicate himself or to communicate with his friends.

Comstock Lode.

Electricity generated by water power may be the means of restoring Virginia City to something like its old-time grandeur. Electricity generated thirty miles away has been turned on in the shaft of the consolidated California and Virginia, and the the great pumps which are to clear the Comstock lode of water down to the lowest depths are at work. The great machines will run without cessation until all the accumulated water is discharged. The abandoned drifts which have been submerged more than six years will again be accessible to the miner. It is expected that an extensive body of ore will be reached at the lower depths.

North Home Stake Mill Run.

The Lynn Mining & Industrial Company is making a mill run at the old abe mill this week. The ore is said to be a good average for the camp. Considerable development work is being done on this property and the results are, it is generally understood, satisfactory to the new company.

Nogal Notes.

Regular Correspondence.

The Easter exercises at this place were enjoyed very much. Saturday evening at the home of Mrs. Lillie B. Moore an Easter egg rolling was given. Miss Minnie Gaylord won the prize for rolling the most eggs in the basket. Mr. George Eaker was Miss Gaylord's strongest competitor for the prize, which was a fine Belgium hare.

Among the visitors present were noticed Mr. Bird's daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and daughter, and a Miss Witt of El Paso.

The concert exercise at the church Sunday night entitled "The Pilgrim's Vision" was one of the most entertaining exercises Nogal has ever had. It had been thoroughly prepared and was well renderd. Those who had part in it deserve much credit.

Mr. H. L. Davidson of Tucumari, son of Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Davidson came home on a visit two weeks ago but unfortunately has been confined to his bed most of the time since his arrival. We are glad to say he is now convalescent.

Miss Clara May of Capitan has been visiting here for several days.

School is progressing nicely. There is a full attendance.

Mr. Geo. Sligh came in Monday from the Jicarilla district.

Mr. W. F. Moore left last week on a visit to Texas and Ark., where he will see friends and relatives.

W. A. McIver and wife are expected home from Santa Fe the first of the week.

Mr. Milton Burleson, brother of Mrs. W. E. Dudley, arrived in our city Tuesday.

Found his Boy.

It will be remembered that A. L. Butchee and son of Resebud, Texas, came to this city on a visit last fall, and the boy disappeared. Afterwards the father went to the Capitan mountains and exhumed the remains of a person, supposed to be his son. Judge Evans yesterday handed the Record a letter from Mr. Butchee stating that three days after he returned home he received a letter from his boy, saying that he was along O. K. and was working for the New Mexico Oil and Development Co., at Carrizozo. He said that he was in nine miles of his boy and did not know it. Mr. Butchee will come to this city about May 1st and will buy some property here. Roswell Record.

THURSDAY, APRIL 16, 1903.

The Golden State Limited flew the track in southern Iowa, the other day, no serious damage was done.

There has been a consolidation of post offices at Las Vegas. There is only one Vegas now. This is as it should be.

The returns from the city elections in Ohio don't indicate the often alleged demise of Jeffersonian desciples in the land of Buckeyes.

Grover Cleveland is coming west. Aside from the room he takes up in moving his anatomy around, the visit will be of little consequence to the average Westerner.

President Roosevelt is shooting mountain lions in the Yellowstone National Park. We will doubtless have some interesting magazine stories in the May issues, eh?

West Point authorities have ruled that cigarrette-smoking cadets cannot make competent army officers. Let the enemy smoke cigarettes, the American soldier can do without them.

Bill Reed, a tough character and saloon keeper on the line of the Santa Fe cut off, shot a teamster at Sharp's grading camp, near Belen, last Saturday night. The killing was the result of a drunken row.

Robt. A. Hurt, the county assessor, will soon interview you on the subject of how much you are worth in taxable property. It certainly costs money to be a Lincoln county millionaire, as the rate of taxation is now about three cents.

Thirty thousand negros are wanted from the southern states to work on the Panama canal. It is said that the labor supply on the isthmus is not sufficient, and the fact that labor must be imported is going to add to the task of building the big waterway.

Quo warranto proceedings have been filed against Alfredo M. Sandoval, recently appointed Sheriff of Sandoval county, alledging incompetence under law requiring property qualifications, his not owning $500 worth of realty in the county. He was appointed by the board of county commissioners according to the provisions of an act of our last legislature.

A company has been organized at Albuquerque to determine whether or not tobacco can be successfully grown in the Rio Grande valley. Those connected with the experiment are said to understand tobacco culture, and are thoroughly convinced that it may be grown at a profit. New Mexicans will watch these experiments with a great deal of interest.

The Alamogordo and Sacramento Mountain railway is extending further into the timber belt of the Sacramentos, and the area of timber lands is fast diminishing. The spring floods from off the barren sides of these mountains will soon admonish the inhabitants of that section of New Mexico that the lumber business is an expensive luxury.

INSPECTING COUNTY RECORDS.

New System of Recording to be Introduced in New Mexico.

The Albuquerque Evening News says: "Charles V. Stafford, auditor of New Mexico, is in Albuquerque to begin the inspection of the books and records of Bernalillo county. He has just finished his first inspection of the records of Santa Fe county. After completing the inspection of the books of the several prominent counties, he will install a uniform and modern system of bookkeeping in all the county offices.

A territorial auditor is a useless animal in Lincoln county as long as our present corps of county officials hold office. And so far as the new system of bookkeeping is concerned, he will probably find some bookkeepers among them when he reaches Lincoln.

Rodey Aboard the Union Car.

In his effort to get astride the tidal wave of popular political favor in time for the next election in New Mexico Delegate Rodey has declared himself a supporter of the joint statehood movement. He is an adjustible piece of political machinery, automatically taking any position in public matters that he feels will insure his continuance at the public crib.

Cavalryman Under General Wheeler.

All this fuss the El Paso and Roswell papers have been making about a Mr. Gaither of El Paso capturing a desperado is all stuff. In the first place no desperado has been captured and no property of Gaithers has been stolen.

C. C. Harwell, who has been subcontracting under Good & Co., ever since the El Paso & Northeastern railroad started, and who has been connected in a business way with G. M. Gaither of El Paso, has been arrested by Gaither's son, charged with steeling, three mules, one horse and a wagon. Harwell has authority from Gaither to hold the property in question until G. pays Harwell some $350.00 of debt and his name is to the documents in black ink, and Harwell also has several letters all of them about this property, which clearly show Harwell entirely justified in holding it. Harwell never made any attempt to escape, but inquired, we find, at different points on his route from Belen to Hagerman for work, teaming. He inquired at Ancho and again at the Alto saw mill, again at Weed, with a lumber company there. He went through Roswell stopping there nearly one whole day watered his team at the artesian well in front of the court house, shod his animals etc., went on to Hagerman, and contracted and went to work, breaking 300 acres of land. This doesn't look like the act of the criminal or desperado Mr Gaithers son is reported to have captured, or the desperado from Travis county Texas of whom Mr Hardeman speaks.

The facts are that this C. C. Harwell is an old confederate soldier, full of wounds and saber cuts he received in the service of his country. He belonged to the First Alabama Cavalary, and served under General Joseph F. Wheeler and has an honorable discharge and a good record.

This property over which he is now under arrest has been in his possession since last October and he has more stock on the Santa Fe Central. The Gaither stock being left in his possession pending a settlement which Gaither acknowledges to exist between them over his own signature. It looks like malicious persecution. It appears from the evidence now in the hands of the sheriff that G. M. Gaither gave his son, since the arrest has been made, a bill of sale to the property. This desperado, as his persecutors call him, was arrested without a warrant by James Hardeman a Chaves county deputy, and turned over to Henry Hall, one of Sheriff Owen's deputies, and Gaither has never seen him from the time he left Belen up to the present time. Yet he is being praised by El Paso papers for having done noble things.

Harwell is as we stated above, old and crippled from wounds received at Shiloh and Chicamauga and other places, where he fought as a confederate soldier during the war.

This same desperado lived in Pecos county Texas several years and was county commissioner for one term. Was foreman of the work in the grading camps of Good & Co. on the El Paso-Rock Island and Northeastern railroads for two years, and is recommended to W. S. Hopewell as a competent and thoroughly reliable man, we have just read Good & Company's letter to Mr. Hopewell to this effect. There, no doubt, has been desperados in New Mexico, but we fail to see the application in this case.

Later. Just as we go to press we are notified by Justice Tompkins that C. C. Harwell has stood his trial before the justice court of this precinct under Gaither's charge of theft and has been exonerated and declared in legal possession of the property in question and Mr. Carl Gaither who has been lauded as the brave youth by an El Paso reporter has been arrested under charge of malicious prosecution.

His trial has been set for 10 o'clock tomorrow.

Armstrong Vs. Owen.

The sheriff contest case, Armstrong vs. Owen, about which so much has been said in Lincoln county, will be heard before Judge McMillan at Socorro, beginning Monday morning the 20th inst. The interest in this case has continually grown among the people of this county, not only because of the gross injustice on the part of Owen's enemies to turn him out of office but because of the fact that in so doing an attempt is being made to thwart the will of the people whose ballots placed him in office. And, again, the fact that he has made, so far, an unparalleled record as sheriff makes the people anxious that he should hold his own and continue in office. He has landed safely in the bastile every man he has gone after since taking office, and there is seventeen to twenty of them in jail now every cell is occupied and a half dozen in the "run round." The county commissioners have asked for an extra term of court for this county in order to rid the county of some of its criminals and if it is refused an addition must be built to accommodate even the present number of of prisoners.

The law abiding citizen who has been working, talking and voting for the last several years, hoping to elect a man sheriff who would enforce the laws of our territory and county, of course cannot help but be anxious to see Owen continued in office, for this he certainly has done under their own observation, they have seen him doing it, and have enjoyed the peaceful results of a reign of law and order in Lincoln county under his administration.

The cattle sanitary board of New Mexico has been instructed to employ a veterinarian. All other states and territories have a state veterinrian.

Easter Services.

The Methodist and Congregational churches united to hold union Easter services last Sunday. The morning service was at the Methodist church. By eleven o'clock the house was filled. The choir had prepared an excellent musical program which was renderd to the delight of all. Hon. R. E. Lund read the Scripture lessons, after which Rev. Samson led in prayer. The sermon was preached by Rev. Hamilton from 1. Cor. 15:17.

In the evening the Congregational church was completely filled, and the large congregation was both entertained and instructed by an able sermon by Rev. Samson from Heb. 2:3.

There was no union meeting of the two young people's societies, but the League members attended the Endeavor meeting; likewise the Endeavor members attended the League meeting. Splendid musical programs were rendered by each society. All in all, the day was one long to be remembered by the church going people of White Oaks. Those who have a right to know say that a better feeling now prevails than the town has known for years.

Bob Raynard is working on the Hawkeye prospect.

Bud Ravencraft is out in this part of the woods doing some blacksmithing for Curtis, Panky and Parker.

Messrs. Hilton and White are talking of sinking their well in Juano Gulch deeper; so it will give them plenty of water for their placer jig.

By the way, the Hawkeye is showing up some rich ore at the bottom of the Winze, with a good prospect of there being quite a body of it. The shaft is being rapidly sunk.

Messrs. Ross and Cline are having a successful year with their goats and sheep. Mr. Ross has had his shearing done, and got a very fine clip of mohair, about ten inches long and very fine.

M. A. Price has sold his group of placer claims to Mr. Hopkins with claims of Charles Daniels and E. J. Murphy, between Ancho and Rico gulches, the company intends to go to work at once.

T. J. Hoss, Colorado mining man, has been in Jicarilla all this week, looking for what he considers desirable property. He is well pleased with the camp and has now gone to Roswell to meet some of his company. He will return right-away and intends to obtain property here. The Copper Market.

Concerning the copper market the Engineering and Mining Journal says: Copper continues to rise, and the price has already gone somewhat beyond expectations. Demand continues very good, indeed, and while some home purchasers have been holding back a little, expecting a reaction, foreign customers are buying largely. Undoubtedly the March returns will more than offset the comparatively light exports of the opening months of the year. Consumption continues on an enormous scale, and the late purchasers find it difficult to secure metal for the deliveries they want. Copper is now quoted at 18 cents, and the market is very strong.

A complete and well assorted stock of job supplies just received a few days ago. We can do your printing.
