!!!STATEHOOD!!!

The new statehood resolution passed the senate Friday, the house Saturday and was signed by the president Monday. A general election for congressional, state, district and county officers will be held in about ninety days. Get in the road.

THE SPECIAL SESSION ADJOURNS.

The special session of congress, which met in Washington April 4th, adjourned sine die Tuesday, the 22d, at 3:02 in the afternoon. The following review of the session is given by the Associated Press:

Although the extraordinary session of the sixty-second congress was called primarily by the president to consider and enact legislation to carry into effect the Canadian reciprocity agreement, which the previous session had failed to do, many matters besides this subject have been considered and passed. Some of them the president approved and others he vetoed.

In keeping with the pledge which the democratic leaders of the house made to the president before the session began, the house promptly took up the reciprocity question, and passed it by an overwhelming majority, although the republican opposition to it was strong. In the senate the temptation was great to add various democratic riders to reciprocity affecting the general tariff law, but the leaders insisted upon keeping faith with the president and upon giving him the exact sort of legislation with respect to the Canadian agreement which he recommended in his message.

Every act of legislation considered by the present congress was initiated in the democratic house. Pending the consideration of the reciprocity bill, the first action of the house after its organization, was the passage of a resolution, with only minor republican opposition, providing for the submission to the several states of an amendment to the federal constitution to enable the people to elect United States senators by direct vote. For only the second time in its history the senate consented to consider such a proposition. The house resolution was finally passed, but not until the senate had amended it in such a way as to give the federal government the power to control senatorial elections in the states. This provision proved unsatisfactory to the democratic house, and, because of that fact, the resolution remains unacted upon in conference, and must await further consideration at the coming regular session.

The next action of the house was to pass a bill requiring campaign committees to make public before election, as well as after, their receipts and disbursements. Once before, in a previous congress, the house passed a bill of this character, but it was so emasculated in the senate, and publicity was confined to receipts and disbursements after election. This time, however, the senate went even further than the house, and passed a measure more radical, in which publicity of primary campaign expenses is required, and a limitation is placed upon the amount which a candidate for the senate or the house may expend in seeking office.

After having disposed of reciprocity, as it was expected it would do, the democratic house took up the subject of tariff revision schedule by schedule. Its first effort in this direction to revise the tariff downward was the passage of the Farmer's free list bill, in which the customs duties upon more than 100 articles embraced in the necessities of life, were removed. The senate took up the measure, and after modifying it to some extent, particularly with reference to meat and cereal food products, placing them upon the free list only when coming from such countries as those with which the United States has a reciprocal trade arrangements effecting other articles, and in this form passed it. The bill was vetoed by the president, however, because of his determination not to approve any tariff legislation that was not based on a report of the tariff board, which thus far has made no report.

The next step of the democratic house was a revision of the woolen schedule, which reduced the duty on raw wool and made corresponding reductions in the manufactures of woollens, on the

MUSHROOMS AS FOOD.

Professor F. E. Clements, the state botanist of Minnesota, has attracted attention by his estimate in a recent bulletin that the annual waste of mushrooms in the United States equals in value the entire agricultural product of the country, says the Manchester Union. It is easy for an enthusiast in any line of thought or endeavor to lose the sense of just proportion, and it may perhaps be taken for granted that Professor Clements has permitted himself to be carried away by the contemplation of the waste of a natural food product which is more or less abundant everywhere and which has an unquestioned food value. Beginning with early summer and continuing until late fall, the production of mushrooms in woods, pastures and waste places is something enormous, and a large proportion of them are not only edible, but nourishing. In so far as they are not made use of—and a small proportion of them is ever gathered—they of course, represent a loss of possible food supply, but some account must be taken of the cost of collecting and distributing them to consumers, as well as of the danger from some species which are harmful and of at least two which may be classed as deadly. These are easily distinguished, to be sure, by any one who has made a study of the mushroom tribe, but until Americans, as a rule, are much more familiar with the subject than at present, a great proportion of the edible varieties will continue to go to waste.

Basing calculations on the estimate that the number of American tourists in Europe in a season is 300,000 and that the average individual expenditure by these tourists is $750, some one has easily figured that about $225,000,000 of American money is spent abroad in the course of a season; and this does not include the cost of steamship tickets. Bankers who handle the letters of credit for wealthy American tourists are quoted to the effect that $3,000 is a fair average for the value of these letters, says the Manchester Union. Among tourists of the wealthy class, says the report, it is common to place from $25,000 to $75,000 in the hands of the bankers, and, as a rule, fully two-thirds of the amount is drawn. Possibly the major premise of this main proposition has been overdrawn; possibly the minor premise; possibly both—and possibly neither. In any event, it must be admitted that $225,000,000 is a tremendous sum of American money to be taken to Europe and left there in a single season.

An ungallant New Jersey farmer dressed up his scarecrows in hobble skirts and basket hats, and declares that the crows are too panic-stricken by the fashionable frights to come near his fields. Many men will think more of the intelligence of birds after this display of the crows' antipathy to hobble skirts.

A Chicago teamster has been sentenced to one year in the penitentiary for stabbing a horse to death because the animal would not stand quietly beside a hitching post. No doubt he deserved what he got, but if he had merely killed a man he might be out on small ball.

RACKS AND BUNKS FOR FEED

Dominion of Canada Live Stock Commissioner Issues Bulletin on Beef Production.

A bulletin recently published by the Dominion of Canada live stock commissioner on the subject of beef production is intended to throw light on every detail of the stock feeding business. Among other things the question of feed bunks and feed racks is taken up and the accompanying illustrations taken from this bulletin give a clear idea as to how these are constructed.

In figure 1 we have a hay rack that has been made on a corral fence. It is made of 1x4 battens, these being high enough so that the cattle cannot bring much pressure on them. A space of about six inches is left open at the bottom between the slats and the fence, the purpose of this being to allow the old uneaten hay and rubbish to fall out, thus keeping the racks clean.

In figure 2 we have the side view of a feeding trough. This trough is placed on a table three feet six inches wide with a 2x4 or 2x6-inch scantling around the edge to keep the meal from falling or blowing off. It should be elevated 2½ or three feet from the ground and placed so that the cattle can feed from both sides. Twelve feet is a convenient length, though there is no reason why this trough cannot be made at least sixteen feet long.

In figure 3 we have an end view of the feeding trough and table.

Revival of Pigeon Business.

After a lull of several years the pigeon business is coming into its own again. More people are commencing to take up the fancy as well as the commercial plant end of the business. There is, and always has been, money in pigeons when conducted on a business plan by people who understand pigeons.

HAY AND HOG RACK COMBINED

Found Very Satisfactory to Ohio Farmer Who Has Been Using One for Fifteen Years.

We have been using for the past 15 years a combination rack, which we think very well of, writes Geo. W. Brown of Hancock county, Ohio, in the Farm and Home. It is 15½ feet long and 7½ feet wide when wings are attached, all made from dressed red elm, painted well with venetian red paint.

The sills (a) are 2x8, and cross-sills (c) 2x5, and to each cross-sill, as shown, are clips (d) attached for setting the side wings upright (as shown in cross-section, Fig 1), in using it for a hog rack, hauling corn, pumpkins, tile, etc. These crosspieces are 4½ feet long, and the clips set well to the ends in order to make a good width for the stock rack.

For use as a roughage rack the wings (e) are slipped in over the main sills, and beneath the planks (b), fitted to underside cross-sills, making a rack bottom with wings flaring upward (as shown in cross-section, Fig. 2), sufficient to make a very nice rack for loading baled hay or straw. The bales work inward upon the load and compact together, rather than outward, as when hauling upon a flat-bottom rack.

The same end gates (f) are used in all events, and fit snugly into clips provided at each end of the rack. Both the end gates and side wings are made interchangeable, and in putting the rack together for use there is no fixed rule for fitting the pieces. Our rack is now stored away in the wagon shed left out of the way.

We like this rack, too, for one man can handle easily any one of the pieces, and there is no heavy lifting in taking it off the wagon. Many times we use only the center portion upon the low wagon for hauling fodder.

PROTECT STOCK FROM FLIES

Excellent Mixture to Keep Troublesome Insects From Milk Cows and Other Farm Animals.

To protect milk cows and young stock and horses from the common house fly and the more troublesome wood fly the following mixture may be used without injury to the skin of the animal to which it is applied. It is an excellent and economical remedy. It is as follows: One gallon of fish oil, four ounces of turpentine, one point of coal oil, one ounce of the oil of cedar and one ounce of carbolic acid. Mix thoroughly. Stir the contents before using. Spray a small quantity of this or apply with a paint brush to each animal once a week. A small quantity will answer.

The following formula is recommended by Professor Wheeler, of the Kansas Agricultural college: Resin, one and a half pounds; laundry soap, two cakes; fish oil, a half pint, and water to make three gallons. Dissolve the resin in solution of soap and water by boiling together. Add fish oil and the balance of water. Apply with brush.

Matteson's formula is: Fish oil, three quarts; crude petroleum, one quart, and carbolic acid, one ounce. Mix well. One-half pint will cover twelve cows; put on with spray pump. These formulas are all good. Their use will present the cows from being annoyed by the flies when at pasture or in the stable. Cows so treated will keep in better flesh and they will give more milk.

Eat for the Fun of It. According to Mr. Herbert W. Fisher in World's Work food is of no use to us unless we enjoy it. Mr. Fisher does not, however, recommend us to be gluttons. He says the less we eat the more pleasure we shall get. The principle is that if we eat little we shall taste much. And the taste of food, not the amount, is, after all, the lure of it.

THE TRUTH ABOUT BLUING.

OTTUMWA WOMAN CURED

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Ottumwa, Iowa.—"For years I was almost a constant sufferer from female trouble in all its dreadful forms; shooting pains all over my body, sick headache, spinal weakness, dizziness, depression, and everything that was horrid. I tried many doctors in different parts of the United States, but Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done more for me than all the doctors. I feel it my duty to tell you these facts. My heart is full of gratitude to you for my cure."—Mrs. HARRIET E. WAMPLER, 524 S. Ransom Street, Ottumwa, Iowa.

Consider This Advice.

No woman should submit to a surgical operation, which may mean death, until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous medicine, made only from roots and herbs, has for thirty years proved to be the most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Mrs. Pinkham, at Lynn, Mass., invites all sick women to write her for advice. Her advice is free, confidential, and always helpful.

IN AGONY WITH ITCHING

"About four years ago I broke out with sores on my arms like boils. After two months they were all over my body, some coming, and some going away. In about six months the boils quit, but my arms, neck and body broke out with an itching, burning rash. It would burn and itch, and come out in pimples like grains of wheat. I was in a terrible condition; I could not sleep or rest. Parts of my flesh were raw, and I could scarcely bear my clothes on. I could not lie in bed in any position and rest. In about a year the sores extended down to my feet. Then I suffered agony with the burning, itching sores. I could hardly walk and for a long time I could not put on socks.

"All this time I was trying everything I could hear of, and had the skill of three doctors. They said it was eczema. I got no benefit from all this. I was nearly worn out, and had given up in despair of ever being cured when I was advised by a friend to try Cuticura Remedies. I purchased Cuticura Soap, Ointment, and Resolvent, and used exactly as directed. I used the Cuticura Remedies constantly for four months, and nothing else, and was perfectly cured. It is now a year, and I have not had the least bit since. I am ready to praise the Cuticura Remedies at any time. (Signed) E. L. Cate, Exile, Ky., Nov. 10, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold by druggists and dealers everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 21, K, Boston.

The Summer Toast.

In all her business life the bit of work she is now completing has been most pleasant, says the free lance stenographer.

"I have been typewriting toasts on paper napkins," she said. "A society of club women who have planned to do a lot of outdoor entertaining this summer expect to use thousands of paper napkins, and I have had the job of typewriting a toast on each napkin. It is a pretty idea, and I tried to meet the charming sentiment of the ladies halfway by using a good non-copying ink, but in spite of that precaution I am afraid that many a guest will leave the lunch table with a purple smudge on her face."

WAYS TO SERVE BERRIES

Expert Hostess Very Seldom Dishes Them Up Twice in the Same Manner.

The expert hostess, especially, if she likes strawberries better than does the rest of her family, rarely serves them twice in the same way.

For breakfast she uses them on the hull, massed on a mound of sugar with a border of leaves. The strawberry fork is sometimes used, but epicures prefer eating them from the hull.

For a first course at luncheon serve the berries in sherbet glasses with a maraschino sauce, or combined with pineapple and thin slices of banana. The fruit should be prepared at least an hour before the meal, sugared and well chilled.

Newer than the compote as a first course are timbale cases filled with big berries heaped with powdered sugar.

Strawberry shortcake is good. Constant warfare is waged between shortcake made from biscuit dough and that from cake batter. Both are palatable, but the former should be really short and the cake not the plain variety too often used. Choose a nice cottage pudding batter or, better yet, use the one, two, three, four recipe, which is known to most cooks.

The secret of a good shortcake is to have half the berries sugared and crushed for filling. This is also used on the top layer, topped by whole berries.

Plenty of rich cream is good with shortcake, but a scant supply is trying, and it will go farther when whipped. A sauce of strawberries and a syrup of boiled sugar and water make an agreeable charge. Sometimes sherry is used for flavoring.

COB CORN LOSES ITS TERROR

Choice Morsel Need No Longer Roll From Plate Nor Smear the Fingers.

Through the ingenuity of a New York restaurant man, corn on the cob may now be eaten without annoyance. This man has devised a combination corn holder which does not only keep the ear from rolling off one's plate, but also enables the diner to manipulate it by means of a rod at either end and avoid smearing the fingers. A form of corn holder was invented several years ago, but it did not meet all the requirements, as does this latest type, and fell into disuse. The holder described in the cut consists of a trough a little longer and wider than an ear of corn and with slots in its end walls. Two rods, with knobs by which to hold them, are thrust into the ends of the cob. When eating the corn the cob can be held by these handles, and when the ear is laid down it can be placed in the trough without fear that it will roll off the plate and leave a track of salted butter on the hostess' snowy linen.

Put one quart of milk in double boiler, then add 12 macaroons crushed, 1 1/2 cups sugar, two tablespoons corn starch. Let thicken like soft custard, then remove from the fire, and after it is cool add one pint cream and two teaspoons vanilla.

Thousands suffer from sick or weakened kidneys without knowing the cause. If you have backache, headache, urinary disorders, look to your kidneys—give the help the kidneys need. Mrs. R. E. Scott, 302 Front St., Baker City, Ore., says: "For twelve years I was a sufferer from kidney trouble. My back ached terribly, the kidney secretions were in awful condition and my bladder badly inflamed. I grew so bad I was bedfast and was so thin I looked like a skeleton. Doctors failed to help me and I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. They cured me permanently and I am now as well and strong as anyone."

STATEHOOD WON AT LAST.

The long fight for statehood has ended, and all that now remains to complete the work is to follow a certain routine, which, by January 1st, will land us in the union. The Flood resolution, as it applied to New Mexico, was passed, the recall of the judiciary having been eliminated from the Arizona constitution. The senate adopted the resolution Friday afternoon by a vote of 53 to 8. The house passed the resolution the following day without the formality of a roll call, and the president signed the measure at 3:08 Monday afternoon.

The question now comes as to the date of an election and the actual date of our admission. Neither of these questions can be answered definitely; for both the president and the governor have a maximum and minimum time, under the enabling act, to issue their proclamations, and these dates can, therefore, only be given approximately.

The enabling act provides that the president shall issue his proclamation to the governor of New Mexico within thirty days from the date of the approval. The president will quite likely issue his proclamation at once. The next step is for the governor of New Mexico to issue a proclamation, calling an election: this proclamation must be issued not more than thirty days from the date of the president's proclamation. Not more than ninety nor less than sixty days must elapse from the date of the governor's proclamation to the day of election. Hence, it will be seen, if the maximum time were given, one hundred and fifty days would elapse between the date of the signing of the statehood resolution and election day. However, it is generally believed that the full limit will not be utilized and it is confidently predicted that we will have an election within ninety days, or less, from the date of the passage of the resolution. Should this view prove to be correct, we shall have an election in the early part of November.

As a state, we shall have a most important election. A full set of state officers are to be chosen, two congressmen, forty-nine members of the lower house and twenty-four senators, which shall constitute the state legislature, and which, in turn, will elect two United States senators; three members of the supreme court, eight district judges and an equal number of district attorneys, a state corporation commission, composed of three members, and a full complement of county officials.

In addition to all these opportunities in which the people are given a chance to express their preference, there will also be a proposed amendment to our constitution, which will be on a ballot separate and apart from the ballot containing the names of the candidates. This ballot will be on blue paper, and will contain the proposed amendment, which, if adopted, permits an easier method of amending our constitution. The amendment ballot will contain the amendment and two blank squares, and opposite one of the squares will be placed the words: "For Constitutional Amendment," and opposite the other square: "Against Constitutional Amendment;" and the voter is to mark with a cross the square opposite his preference, for or against.

Attorney Dixon and wife are here from Memphis, Tennessee, and are visiting Mr. and Mrs. P. G. Peters.

The "dog killer" was abroad Saturday night. By Sunday evening, Jimmie Deens, who officiated as undertaker, reported seven deaths and more momentarily expected.

W. E. Winfield was up from the Harper ranch, on Three Rivers, several days this week. He says the fruit and vegetable crops exceed his expectations, and, being exceptionally choice, he finds a ready sale at fancy figures.

A. T. Roberts and W. S. Bourne spent several days in the Three Rivers country this week. They report the orchards drooping with their loads of fruit, while a glance at the water melon and cantelope patches is a sure cure for sore eyes.

W. C. McAdams, the 17 year old son of the late W. C. McAdams of Corona, was killed by lightning near Vaughn, N. M., Wednesday. He was in company with Joe Beaty, who was also badly shocked by the same bolt, and it is reported that his condition is serious.

Ex-Governor Geo. Curry came in on No. 3 from Santa Fe Wednesday, and stopped over until the next morning, when he proceeded to his home at Tularosa. The governor met many of his friends and plainly showed his pleasure over the result of statehood. He expects an early and warm election in the new state.

Mrs. Irene Peter and children, accompanied by Mrs. Peter's parents, came over from Capitan Monday. They took the delayed No. 3 the same day for Alpine, Texas, where they will make their home. We regret to see these estimable families leave our county, but our best wishes accompany them.

A fine rain fell Tuesday night and Wednesday. The ground had a thorough soaking, the first in over thirty days. Vegetation had ceased to grow, and in most instances was dying or dead. New life is now put into everything, and if frosts hold off until late much good will follow the late rains.

Development work on the coal mine south of town is making good progress under the guiding hand of Superintendent Wetherby. A hoist has been ordered and as soon as it is put in place development work will continue with increased vigor.

A. T. Blair, of the Carrizozo Trading Co., left Tuesday for the eastern markets, to purchase a stock of fall and winter dry goods and clothing for his company. This firm will have one of the neatest and largest stocks of goods ever brought to this country, and will use every means to please their customers.

A report was received here this week that a case or two of small pox had developed at Capitan. Health officer Paden went over yesterday to investigate the report. He found the cases to be receding and in a condition to permit of an accurate diagnosis. Instead of being smallpox, as was no doubt plainly indicated in its incipiency, the disease developed into a bad form of chicken pox.

Joe R. Adams met with a painful accident Monday, which will incapacitate him for work for some time. He was sitting in the seat on his dray, when a couple of boys, who were also on the dray, got into a scuffle and one of them threw the other against Mr. Adams in such a way that he was thrown from his seat to the ground. His collar bone was broken, and, although it was immediately set, the injury necessitates the carrying of his arm in a sling.

Cuts and bruises may be healed in about one-third the time required by the usual treatment by applying Chamberlain's Liniment. It is an antiseptic and causes such injuries to heal without maturation. This liniment also relieves soreness of the muscles and rheumatic pains. For sale by all dealers.

E. E. Wilson came in Sunday bringing a sample of milo maize grown on his place east of Jack's Peak. The heads were large, almost matured with grains large and plump. He also had a tub of cucumbers, which for size were about the best ever raised in this end of the county. The squash he showed was fine, and the cauliflower was immense, being large creamy white balls, resembling cream cheese in appearance. He also has cabbages which were firm and white. He has a large field of wheat and Indian corn, which, after the spring freeze, and the injury caused by rodents, he had about one-half stand left. It is holding on well and will yield fairly well for sod land. So most of us are turning farmers, and may we find a fuller realization from the farm than from the gold mine.

Carrizozo Took Both Games.

The Carrizozo ball team went to Capitan Saturday, and played the Capitans a game that afternoon. Capitan had gotten together a good team, and put up a mighty stiff game until near the end, when an error gave the visiting team an opportunity to score three extra runs. But for this error the game should have been two to one in favor of Carrizozo, whereas it was five to one.

The batteries were: Carrizozo, Gallacher and Van Schoyck; Capitan, Thorp and Reuter.

The Carrizozo boys went on to Fort Stanton Saturday night, and were royally entertained at that historic and interesting old place. An entertainment had been prepared by the Fort boys, in which a delightful dance, a moving picture show and other forms of amusement made a merry night. The affair was largely attended from various sections of the county, and was a pronounced success in every respect.

Sunday afternoon the Browns crossed bats with the Fort Stantons, and the large crowd present was treated to an excellent game of ball. No man in either team succeeded in making a score until the fifth inning, when the Stanton catcher, on a passed ball, allowed two runs to Carrizozo. The Browns made an additional score before the close of the game, and the Fort boys were shut out. The errors on the part of Fort Stanton occurred at opportune times for the Browns, else more than nine innings might have been necessary to break the deadlock. As it was, 3 to 0 was a good game, and Carrizozo fans were well pleased with the result.

The batteries were: Carrizozo, Robertson and Van Schoyck; Fort Stanton, Hightower and Hightower.

Two Kid Nines.

The Alamogordo "kid nine" came up Sunday night to meet a similar team here the following day. The game was pulled off at the ball park at three o'clock Monday afternoon. The local kids had the visitors going, and going bad, up to the fifth inning, the score standing 5 to nothing in favor of the locals. The visitors made a brace about this time, and began to get a boy home occasionally, but could not overtake the lead of the home team, the score at the end standing—Carrizozo 8, Alamo 7. Reily and Grumbles pitched for the locals, and Peck caught. The Baynes brothers formed the battery for the visitors.

THE MARTYR.

Polly—So Mrs. Highmere's husband has developed bad habits. How did you hear about it?

Dolly—Oh, Mrs. Highmere invited us all to an afternoon tea so she could tell us how she suffered in silence!

An Artist.

"You had to refuse the request of these men?"

"Yes," replied Senator Sorghum.

"Were they angry?"

"Not at all. I showed so much grief at not being able to oblige them that they went away sympathizing with me."

A SPOON SHAKER.

Straight From Coffeedom.

Coffee can marshal a good squadron of enemies and some very hard ones to overcome. A lady in Florida writes:

"I have always been very fond of good coffee, and for years drank it at least three times a day. At last, however, I found that it was injuring me.

"I became bilious, subject to frequent and violent headaches, and so very nervous, that I could not lift a spoon to my mouth without spilling a part of its contents.

"My heart got 'rickety' and beat so fast and so hard that I could scarcely breathe, while my skin got thick and dingy, with yellow blotches on my face, caused by the condition of my liver and blood.

"I made up my mind that all these afflictions came from the coffee, and I determined to experiment and see.

"So I quit coffee and got a package of Postum which furnished my hot morning beverage. After a little time I was rewarded by a complete restoration of my health in every respect.

"I do not suffer from biliousness any more, my headaches have disappeared, my nerves are as steady as could be desired, my heart beats regularly and my complexion has cleared up beautifully—the blotches have been wiped out and it is such a pleasure to be well again." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Read the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs. "There's a reason."

TIPS FOR HOUSEWIFE

NEW IDEAS ON THE SERVING OF VARIOUS FRUITS.

More Frequent Use of Dried Cherries Urged—Uses of the White Grape—Variety in School Children's Luncheons.

Dried cherries should be used in cookery oftener than they are at present. Soaked over night and cooked in sugar next day, they make a nice sauce, which may well take the place of apples at this time of the year, when the latter fruit is apt to grow flavorless. They may also be used in cakes and sweet puddings instead of currants, or in combination with them. In fact, they may be used in almost any recipe calling for currants. They have a piquancy which the currant lacks.

The uses of the white grape are endless. It makes a pretty addition to fruit cocktails, salads and desserts of all kinds. A fine bunch of white grapes buried in the heart of a pale green lemon jelly is a thing of beauty when turned out on a crystal dessert platter, and a bunch of purple grapes looks equally well in a pale purple jelly prepared from fermented grape juice, water, sugar and gelatine.

When bright red apples are to be made into sauce, do not peel but merely wash them well, and quarter. Let them cook till tender, and then press them through a potato ricer or very coarse sieve that will exclude only the skins and cores. Not only is the beautiful color of the apples preserved by this method of cooking, but there is much saving of good apple pulp, which is more or less wasted with peeling.

In putting up school children's luncheons it is not necessary to use always the same kind of bread. White wheat bread should be varied with whole wheat, graham, rye and Boston brown bread. The children will not only have the dietetic advantages of the peculiar qualities of each kind, but they will not grow tired so quickly of "plain bread and butter." Do not cut off the crusts of the bread and lose the nutriment which they contain.

To prevent baked potatoes from becoming soggy, break the skins upon taking them from the oven. This gives the steam a chance to escape.

Gooseberries in Batter.

Make one-half pound of flour, two eggs and a pint of milk into a batter. Use no baking powder, but beat the batter a good deal, and make it two hours before using. Wash and top and tail one pound of gooseberries. Cook very slightly with sugar, so as not to break them. Lay in a well greased pudding dish; mix two tablespoonfuls of melted butter with the batter, pour over the berries and bake in a quick oven until a golden color. Serve as soon as it is ready, with plenty of soft sugar to eat with it. This is a favorite with the children.

Cherry Ice.

Stone one pound of cherries, break the stones and take out the kernels. Cook the cherries with the kernels for ten minutes in one cupful of water, three heaping tablespoonfuls of sugar, then pound them and add the strained juice of one and a half lemons and a few drops of red coloring. Rub through a fine sieve, add one pint of custard, one wineglassful of sherry wine and when cold freeze.

New Way to Bake Sweet Apples.

A new way to bake sweet apples. Put the apples in a stew pan over the fire with a cup of sugar to a pint of water, let them boil until tender, but whole, and the water all in the apples; then put in dripping pan in a good oven for a short time. They are very juicy and firm.—National Magazine.

FINE LINGERIE RULES

HAND WORK NECESSITY ON UP-TO-DATE UNDERWEAR.

Soft Finished Dimities and Batistes Are Textures to Look for—Garments Must Accord With Skimp Lines of Dress.

How can womankind resist the piles of airy white goods everywhere seen when fine underwear is de rigueur, and unmade materials are so cheap, and ready-made lingerie so expensive? The textures to look for at this burning season are the soft-finished dimities and batistes, which, checked, striped and figured, turn out most satisfactory garments of the in-timatés sort. The models for chemises, drawers, princess slips, skirts and combinations must all be of a sort to accord with the skimp lines of outside dress, and good hand sewing is a necessity. Yes, hand sewing, the dainty stitchery of our grandmothers, is almost compulsory on up-to-date lingerie. Only the seams may be stitched, but all the rest—felling, hems and tucks—must be put in with patient fingers and with much daintiness at that.

Trimming? Well, you may be as much or as little trimmed as you like, or can afford, in your lingerie, but the woman with aristocratic tastes chooses a very modest trimming, preferring to put most of her money and energy in the material and good work. A little edge of imitation Cluny, run with doll ribbon and whipped to the rolled goods, is all that is seen on many lovely kimono gowns, chemises and drawers. As tucks take up a lot of room—or add a suggestion of heat—they are confined to skirts, but even then are put up and down, so that the flouncing in which they are used will fall gracefully. A lovely use can be made of a small quantity of dotted muslin, for this may form the flounce on a petticoat or shape collars for gowns and frills for drawers. Lawn goes well with it, as well as a little edge of Valenciennes.

In fact, there is scarcely a thin white material on the market that cannot be used for underwear, and as a contrast in material is very smart the home dressmaker can use up all the bits left from cutting one garment on another in a different texture. As the more ordinary patterns of Val have been copied in cheap laces, this admirable dentelle has been set aside for novelty laces of all sorts where the garment's texture, too, is unusual. But if all the underwear is of American lawn, which is a very useful and dainty material for summer, Val makes about the cheapest and most effective edge that can be had.

Our illustration drops us back to the commonplace top of underwear. It gives the separate corset cover, a scant garment made of embroidery and finished at the armholes with a little hand needlework to match. Through eyelets at the top, and the beading of the belt, is drawn a narrow wash ribbon in pale blue.

Many women who regard the separate corset cover as a nuisance sew the belt of this model to the wide drawers now worn and so effect useful little combinations. The drawers are of the enormously wide skirt variety, with the bias upper part fitting the hips without a wrinkle and with their bouffant legs they quite adequately take the place of short petticoats.

TRIMMING FOR THE SUIT

Nothing so Effective as Black and White Striped Silk for Tailored Garment.

As a decorative agent in trimming the tailored suit there is nothing so effective as black and white striped silk.

It may be as wide as one inch or as narrow as pin stripes, but it has a dash and charm all its own and fully realized by us today.

Linen or serge suits have come under its sway. Revers, collars and cuffs are deep or shallow, but they are modish in black and white stripes.

This does not mean that no other color need be used. On the contrary, the neutral background on which to add green, peacock blue, citron, coronation red or royal blue.

Buttons are sure to be applied accurately on stripes—which is a helpful hint to home dressmakers. Braid can convert a colored background into checks, if you wish. The suit can be decidedly changed by adding the popular striped silk so much exploited by our leading designers.

Hollyhocks on Hats.

There is nothing demure about this season's millinery, as witness the fact that hollyhocks, as well as sunflowers, are the new and important flowers to go on all kinds of hats. The hollyhocks are placed in an upright stalk at the side of a high crowned hat, in the same way we are now using straight wired plumes.

What His Lady Thought.

Sincere But Awkward.

It was at the private theatricals, and the young man wished to compliment his hostess, says the Boston Transcript:

"Madam, you played your part splendidly. It fits you to perfection."

"I'm afraid not. A young and pretty woman is needed for that part," said the smiling hostess.

"But, madam, you have positively proved the contrary."

Father Loses an Excuse.

"Don't you regret seeing your children growing up to face the responsibilities of the world?"

"Yes," Mr. Bliggins said; "it's a little disappointing to find my boy so big that he is no longer an excuse for my going to the circus."

Grandfather's Fault.

Father—Why, when I was your age I didn't have as much money in a month as you spend in a day.

Son—Well, pa, don't scold me about it. Why don't you go for grandfather?—Silent Partner.

A trial package of Munyon's Paw Paw Pills will be sent free to anyone on request. Address Professor Munyon, 53d & Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia, Pa. If you are in need of medical advice, do not fail to write Professor Munyon. Your communication will be treated in strict confidence, and your case will be diagnosed as carefully as though you had a personal interview.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are unlike all other laxatives or cathartics. They coax the liver into activity by gentle methods. They do not scour, they do not gripe, they do not weaken, but they do start all the secretions of the liver and stomach in a way that soon puts these organs in a healthy condition and corrects constipation. In my opinion constipation is responsible for most ailments. There are 26 feet of human bowels, which is really a sewer pipe. When this pipe becomes clogged the whole system becomes poisoned, causing biliousness, indigestion and impure blood, which often produce rheumatism and kidney ailments. No woman who suffers with constipation or any liver ailment can expect to have a clear complexion or enjoy good health. If I had my way I would prohibit the sale of nine-tenths of the cathartics that are now being sold for the reason that they soon destroy the lining of the stomach, setting up serious forms of indigestion, and so paralyze the bowels that they refuse to act unless forced by strong purgatives.

Munyon's Paw Paw Pills are a tonic to the stomach, liver and nerves. They invigorate instead of weaken; they enrich the blood instead of impoverish it; they enable the stomach to get all the nourishment from food that is put into it.

These pills contain no calomel, no dope; they are soothing, healing and stimulating. They school the bowels to act without physic.

Regular size bottle, containing 45 pills, 25 cents. Munyon's Laboratory, 53d & Jefferson Sts., Philadelphia.

Silly Willie.

"What's little Willie, crying about?" "Because he doesn't get a holiday on Saturday and his brother does."

"But why doesn't Willie get a holiday on Saturday?"

"Because he isn't old enough to go to school yet."

Legislatively Expressed.

"No one can go wrong if he follows the Ten Commandments," said the sincere citizen.

"Yes," replied Senator Sorphum, "the only trouble about the Ten Commandments arises from the amendments people try to tack on to them."

Aids to Memory.

Emporia Man—Hello, Griggs! The last time I saw you, I think, was during that summer when the grasshoppers stopped the railroad trains in Nebraska.

Omaha Man—No. Grimshaw; it was the summer when the grasshoppers didn't stop the trains in Kansas.

A Different Matter.

Jinx led to me yesterday in order to get off to go to the ball game. He said his wife's mother was dead.

"I think you are mistaken. I heard what he said."

"Then what was it?"

"He said he would like to attend his mother-in-law's funeral."

No Judge.

"Your father doesn't think you have been especially well behaved," said the small boy's uncle.

"I know that," answered the precocious juvenile. "But things I have heard mother say make me think he isn't any great judge of high-class deportment."

No Time Wasted.

Olaf Larson, working in a millinery warehouse, backed into an elevator shaft, and fell down five stories with a load of boxes. Horror-stricken, the other employes rushed down the stairs, only to find him picking himself unharmed out of the rubbish.

"Ess de boss mad?" he whispered cautiously. "Tal 'em Ay had to come down for nails, anyway."

How it Works.

Hsu Ping-Chen, the popular Chinese consul at San Francisco, discussed at a recent dinner his country's customs.

"There is one custom," said a young girl, "that I can't understand—and that is the Chinese custom of committing suicide by eating gold leaf. I can't understand how gold leaf can kill."

"The partaker, no doubt," smiled the consul, "succumbs from a consciousness of inward guilt."

average reducing the rates substantially one-half. In order to get the senate, with its republican majority, to agree to a revision of this schedule, it was necessary to adopt a compromise measure wherein the duties on raw wool were placed at 29 per cent, with the rates on manufactured woollens adjusted accordingly. This also was vetoed by the president because the tariff board had not reported on it.

Then the house took up the cotton schedule from a democratic standpoint considered only a degree less obnoxious than the woollen schedule. Here, too, the rates of the Payne-Aldrich bill were substantially cut in two, but this action also was vetoed by the president for the same reason that he vetoed the other tariff amendments. Doubtless the house would have continued its schedule by schedule revision, making reduction in the duties on iron and steel products, and in the chemical and sugar schedules, had it not been for the announced determination of the president to veto all tariff measures except reciprocity, passed at this session.

The statehood resolution approving the constitutions of the territories of Arizona and New Mexico to enable them to become states in the union, was the cause of much controversy, and finally resulted in presidential disapproval by reason of the provision in the Arizona instrument affecting the recall of judges. The Flood resolution introduced by representative Flood of Virginia, chairman of the house committee on territories, provided for the approval of the constitution of both territories, with the qualification that in case of Arizona the people should be given an opportunity to vote again upon the recall of judges feature—to vote it in or vote it out—and that the people of New Mexico should be afforded a like opportunity to vote upon the question of making of making their constitution more easily amendable; but even this treatment of the recall section was objectionable to the president and prompted him to veto the resolution.

The one remaining important measure passed at the session, which was fortunate enough to receive the president's approval, was the bill providing for congressional reapportionment. This measure increases the number of members in the house of representatives from 391 at present to 433, exclusive of Arizona and New Mexico. Under its provision no state loses in representation, although several make gains ranging from one to six. New York will make a gain of six members in the house and Pennsylvania will gain four, the next largest number. The apportionment provided in the bill will remain in effect until after the next decennial census is taken.

The democrats of the house pledged themselves as a party to the "Dollar-a-Day" pension bill for union veterans of the Civil war, a measure which has been much advocated in the interests of the old soldiers. Inasmuch, however, as it could not become operative until after the next fiscal year, on July 1, 1912, no attempt was made to pass this bill in the extraordinary session.
