Candidates Are Questioned.

To Messrs. W. M. McCoy, John W. Terry, John Bowman, Geo. B. Bent, Dr. Guido Ranniger, W. E. Blanchard, Scipio Salazar, and James V. Tully, Candidates for Legislative positions to be voted for by the voters of Lincoln County, New Mexico,

Gentlemen:

The undersigned Republican voters of said County, together with many others desire to know before casting our votes how each of you stand upon the following:

1. Do you favor the amendment of our constitution as indicated by the "Blue Ballot" to make the constitution more easily amended?

2. Are you in favor of a workable clause providing for the initiative and referendum, and will you if elected, support a proposition to amend our Constitution to that effect?

3. Are you in favor the Oregon plan (or one similar) for the recall of unfaithful or incompetent officers, including Judges of Courts, and would you, if elected, favor an amendment to our Constitution for that purpose?

4. Would you support an amendment to the Constitution of the United States for the election by the people of the United States Senators instead of the present system of such election by the legislature of the State?

5. Are you in favor of a primary election law for the nomination of party candidates for all offices?

6. Are you in favor of a corrupt practices act?

7. Are you in favor of salaries for all County Officers which shall yield to them a fair compensation for the work of their respective offices?

John A. Brown Dead.

John A. Brown died last Friday night at White Oaks, and was buried the following day. He had long been a sufferer from an affection of the stomach, and an acute attack caused his death. Deceased was a native Kentuckian and was about 75 years old. He served in the Union army throughout the war, and at the close of the war entered the government revenue service. He came to New Mexico in the early eighties and continuously resided at White Oaks. A wife survives him. He was one of Lincoln county's most upright citizens, and his death is sincerely mourned by a large circle of friends.

daring bareback riders.

Circus day comes around about right. A fellow gets old during the winter. Notes fall due; things must be attended to: life looks serious any way one looks at it. A thousand things press down upon the mind until the head aches. Wrinkles grow deep during the winter, and the hair borrows a tinge from the frosts. It's different circus day. You're a boy again — or ought to be.

INDUSTRY AND MECHANICS

USEFUL MEASURE FOR LOGS

Device Invented by a Texas Man Will Give the Diameter of a Piece of Timber in an Instant.

It is easy enough to measure the diameter of a log at its base, where an ordinary flat rule can be used, but to determine the measurement at any point along the tree is another matter. However, a Texas man has designed a rule by which even this may be done as easily as the width of a flat board can be decided. The device here shown consists of an ordinary measuring stick with a pair of arms attached to it at right angles. One of the arms is stationary on one end of the stick, but the other slides back and forth. The log is placed between the two arms, and the sliding arm is moved up till the timber is in contact with both. The gauges on the measuring stick the exact diameter of the log at that point. The measure can be moved along in either direction to get any other thicknesses desired.

IRON FAILS EATEN BY WORMS

Accidents on Railroad Lead to Remarkable Discovery by Italian Engineers—Insect the Cause.

A microbe has been discovered in Italy which feeds upon iron. Engineers employed on a railway in southern Italy, near Reggio, were recently much disturbed by the accidents always occurring near the same place, and which appeared to indicate that some serious defect must exist in the material or the construction of the rails. The government appointed a commission of surveillance to maintain a constant watch at the spot where the accidents had occurred. Soon after it was noticed that the surface of rails appeared to be corroded, as if by acid. A rail was taken up and broken, and was found to be literally hollowed out by a thin, gray worm, two centimeters in length and of about the size of the prong of a silver fork. Upon its head it carried two little glands filled with a corrosive secretion, which it ejected every few minutes upon the iron. The liquid renders the iron soft and spongy, and it is then greedily devoured by the insect.

Earliest Eclipse of Sun.

The earliest record of a total eclipse of the sun is given for the year 610 B. C. by the historian, Herodotus. He tells how hostilities between the Medes and Lydians were brought to a sudden close "when day turned into night."

DIFFERENT USES OF GLASS

Bridge Spanning Royal Gorge of Colorado River is Made of That Material—Cloth for Dresses.

It would seem that in these days there is no limit to the uses made of glass. Among the most extraordinary may be cited the following:

The bridge spanning the Royal Gorge of the Arkansas river in Colorado. This bridge may be said to be half a mile high, for it reaches from one cliff to the other of the gorge, with a deep chasm beneath it. The floor of this wonderful bridge is made of plate glass one and one-half inches in thickness, set in steel framework.

In Lyons, France, pavements made of glass have been in use for some time. They are constructed of ceramocrystal, ceramic stone or devitrified glass, and are laid in the form of blocks eight inches square, each block containing sixteen parts in the shape of checkers. It is said that these blocks are so closely fitted together that water cannot pass between them. The whole pavement presents the odd effect of a huge checkerboard. The special advantages claimed for this style of pavement are that it has greater resistance than stone, that it is a poor conductor of cold—ice, accordingly, not forming readily upon it, and, finally, that it is more durable than stone and much cheaper, besides affording no places for the lodgment of microbes.

In Germany they manufacture glass telegraph poles near Frankfort. The glass mass whereof these poles are made strengthened by interlacing and intertwining with strong wire threads. It is asserted that the glass poles show their superiority over wooden ones by reason of their resistance to the ravages of insects in tropical countries, and against the climatic influences of rain, snow and sleet in other countries.

The ingenious Germans have also devised glass water pipes, having a covering of asphalt to prevent fracture. These are employed in many parts of the empire, and it is claimed that they afford thorough protection against moisture in the ground, against the action of acids and alkalis and also that they cannot be penetrated by gases.

Glass cloth for dresses is no new thing, having been placed on the market a number of years ago. This glass cloth has the same shimmer and brilliance of color as that shown by silk. Besides glass cloth, there may be instanced manufactured glass curtains, carpets, tablecloths and napkins, most of which are results of the ingenuity of European manufacturers.

LIGHTING GAS WITH PISTOL

Unique Little Device Will Be Found Handy for Ordinary Gas Jets, Auto Lights and Stoves.

A unique lighter for ordinary gas jets, gas stoves and auto lights is being manufactured in the form of a toy pistol. Pressure on the trigger causes a series of sparks to issue from the muzzle. These sparks are like those of Fourth-of-July sparklers, and do not burn, although they ignite the gas. Pressing the plunger in front of the trigger re-engages the latter for use again. Each charge lasts for a considerable time.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Low Slums Near the Nation's Capitol

WASHINGTON.—Washington is not one grand succession of marble structures and beautiful parks. There are slums under the shadow of the capitol that compare in squalor with the East side in New York. The capital slums have the advantage over those in New York in being less extensive and in being composed of small houses instead of lofty tenements.

The Washington refuge of the very poor is sufficiently bad to have attracted the attention of sociologists and philanthropists and to have caused President Taft to demand their improvement in a message to congress.

This district is within ten minutes' walk of the United States capitol and has for one of its boundaries the botanical gardens with their wealth of exotics. President Taft, in his message, made particular mention of Willow Tree alley, but it is no better and no worse than the others. Possibly the president mentioned only Willow Tree alley because it was the only one bearing a name that comports well with a state document. The other four are Pigtail alley, Tincup alley, Louse alley and Hell's Half Acre alley. These names, with the exception of Willow Tree alley, have the virtue of making any other description unnecessary. Why Willow Tree alley was so named nobody remembers. There may have been a willow tree there once.

The district is hard to find. It is within the outer crust of a block which has a rather fair exterior. A stranger, after fruitless search, appealed to a policeman. The officer pointed to a narrow opening between two buildings. "Go on in there, and you'll see all you want of it," he said. "It's a pest hole, it is. I'd go with you, but it's off my beat."

The officer was lucky. What the visitor found after he passed the portal of the slums would not be pleasant adjuncts to any beat.

Uncle Sam Gives Facts About Fleas

THERE may be those who imagine it is an easy thing to kill a flea. But if they will read certain facts reported by the United States public health and marine service their minds will be disabused of the notion. The information is given in a pamphlet entitled "Notes on Agents for Flea Destruction." Fleas, it appears from these notes, survive all the usual means of insect assassination and others less common.

Obviously the flea is a hobo among insects, for one of his deadliest enemies is green soap. A flea dipped entirely in a tincture of green soap succumbed beyond resuscitation in two minutes; another ceased his movements in forty seconds and was dead in ten minutes; no fleas of any of the species examined survived the soap.

In a humane attempt to suit the tastes of the flea in the manner of dying the investigators tried oil of pennyroyal, oil of peppermint, kerosene, miscible oil, the refuse from the Pintsch gas tanks and many other chemicals. A flea left to swim in for-malin, a powerful germicide and insecticide, was "apparently dead in 12 hours," but "revived;" another kept for 20 minutes in a mixture of creosote, soap and water was still alive after fifteen minutes, but died five minutes after that.

It took 100 per cent. carbolic acid more than one minute to kill a flea; of two fleas that were made to swim in a one-thousandth mercury chloride solution, a powerful germicide, one was alive after ten hours, the other after eighteen hours; powdered sulphur was practically inert and useless for killing fleas. Hydrocyanic acid is among the most powerful poisons, yet five fleas exposed for 45 minutes to hydrocyanic gas were alive at the end of the test.

Cranks Offer Forest Fire Remedies

WHILE the field officers of the U. S. Forestry service are taking precautions against fire in the great national forests of the west, the forestry bureau is besieged constantly by "cranks" and real inventors, chiefly the former, who propose all sorts of ridiculous plans for coping with the flames. One of the most novel of these recently came from an eastern man who proposed that an artillery organization be formed in the forest service and equipped with huge mortar batteries, which would shoot grenades filled with chemicals.

This man's plan was to have a battery of these mortars hauled to a suitable hill near a forest fire, from which the grenades would be discharged rapidly into the fire and, bursting, would smother the flames.

Another "crank's" plan was to construct huge screens of asbestos, which could be placed around trees near a fire and thus prevent them igniting. Of course this way did not attempt to explain how the problem of transporting these screens through rough mountainous country could be solved.

A third plan was to locate a number of huge sprinkling carts in each forest and drive them to a fire, turn on the water and, presto! your fire would be out—the inventor said. He was told to go to, unless he could provide a sprinkling cart big enough to tackle a fire such as raged last fall in Idaho, the flames of which mounted over 200 feet in the air and burned the ties off a railroad bridge, and at another point jumped clear across a valley half a mile wide, converting streams in its path into steam and cooking the fish therein.

Some men never reach the top because the elevator isn't running.

Be thrifty on little things like bluing. Don't accept water for bluing. Ask for Red Cross Bag Blue, the extra good value blue.

It's one kind of tough luck to strike oil when boring for water.

His Idea.

"An Ahkound is the best man of his kind, isn't he, pop?"

"I believe so, son."

"Then, pop, if I kill more flies than all the other fellows, I will be an Ahkound of Swat?"

The Old Love Possible.

Mrs. Clarence H. Mackay, at a garden party at Hampstead, praised the working girl.

"How much nobler," she said, "to work than to marry for money. I know a pretty girl who gave up a good position to marry a man of sixty-eight."

"I am marrying for love," she told her chum.

"And the old fellow," said the chum, disgustedly, "is worth $7,000,000!"

"Yes," was the reply. "It's the $7,000,000 I'm in love with."

Only a Moose.

"The modern woman isn't a bluff," asserted Mrs. Gobbolink, looking up from her newspaper. "This suffrage movement has more in it than mere ideas. The new woman is brave and fearless. Here is a story of a woman up in Canada who killed a mouse. It seems that she—"

"Impossible!" interjected Mr. Gobbolink. "There must be some mistake—read it again."

Mrs. Gobbolink searched out the paragraph and then blushed vividly. "How stupid of me," she stammered. "I did make a mistake. It wasn't a mouse she killed—nothing but a moose."

FOOD AGAIN

A Mighty Important Subject to Every One.

A Boston lady talks entertainingly of food and the changes that can be made in health by some knowledge on that line. She says:

"An injury to my spine in early womanhood left me subject to severe sick headaches which would last three or four days at a time, and a violent course of drugging brought on constipation with all the ills that follow.

"My appetite was always light and uncertain and many kinds of food distressed me.

"I began to eat Grape-Nuts food two or three years ago, because I liked the taste of it, and I kept on because I soon found it was doing me good.

"I eat it regularly at breakfast, frequently at luncheon, and again before going to bed—and have no trouble in 'sleeping on it.' It has relieved my constipation, my headaches have practically ceased, and I am in better physical condition at the age of 63 than I was at 40.

"I give Grape-Nuts credit for restoring my health, if not saving my life, and you can make no claim for it too strong for me to endorse." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek Mich.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

Simple.
"And what do you sailors do when you get homesick?"

"We goes to sea again, mam."

One Explanation.

"Say, Pa, what does it mean when it says the Supreme Court dissolved a trust?"

"Well, my son, you see, hum—ha—that's a sort of solution of the trust question."

"Does it fix it so there isn't any trust any more, Pa?"

"Well, my son, when you dissolve a lump of sugar in water the sugar is still there, but you can't see it."

A Shooting Affray.

Just as we were ready to place the last form on the press at 11:30 this morning, we were informed of a shooting affray that had just occurred at the Headlight saloon. Jas. P. Welker, the owner of the saloon, shot Wm. S. Bourne twice with a shot gun, the charges taking effect in the head and shoulder. It seems, from the best information obtainable, that Bourne had entered the saloon and that some words were indulged in between Walker and himself; that Bourne marched two or three bystanders out, and when Walker remonstrated Bourne retired and later returned with a winchester. Just what occurred at this time is somewhat indefinite, but the result was that Bourne was shot twice, the gun having been charged with bird shot. Bourne fell and was soon removed to the Paden hospital, where Drs. Paden and Walker are now looking after the wounded man, whose injuries, it is not believed, will prove fatal. Two boys, Ira Johnson and Henry Hoffman, each received a shot in the throat and face, but in neither case serious. Walker was arrested by A. T. Roberts, and is being held pending a preliminary hearing.

Transplanted.

BY THE PASTOR.

Taken from this sinful world to the world above, such is the case of little Lorena Rogers. She did not stay with us long—a little less than a year. Born the 15th day of November, 1910, departed this life October 30, 1911. For the length of her stay she had gained the greatest love and affection of all who knew her. Had some one said to me that I would witness a touching sight when the little casket was opened I, perhaps, would have said "No, my friends; for she has not tarried with us long enough to have a place in the affections of only the mother and father;" but such was not the case. She had touched our heart like a magnet, and drew strong men to her as I had never before witnessed.

I thought of the words of one of old, "Behold how they loved her." And thus, mid tears and broken hearts, we laid the little body to rest in the Lincoln cemetery, there to await the coming day all nations shall be gathered before the judgment bar of God. Little Lorena was the only child of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Rogers, of Fort Stanton.

Be sure and take advantage of the great values in boys' suits now on sale at Carrizozo's most popular store—Ziegler Bros.

LEGISLATIVE CANDIDATES.

The voters who believe in a constitution more easily amended should support the following democratic legislative nominees:

John W. Terry, senator, 15 th. district. Geo. B. Bent, senator 18th. district. Scipio Salazar, representative 16th. district. Guido Ranniger, representative 30th. district.

These nominees are not only pledged to the Blue Ballot, but they favor the initiative and referendum, a corrupt practices act, the election of United States senators by direct vote and a primary election law. These progressive features can only be put in operation by the election of democratic members of the legislature.

The Blue Ballot offers the only opportunity left a free people to assert their rights.
A government of the people, for the people and by the people is guaranteed by the Blue Ballot.
The Blue Ballot means the liberation of the people of New Mexico.
Our forefathers fought for liberty--the BLUE BALLOT represents liberty.
Statehood was a boon to the people of New Mexico, but the greatest boon of all was when a democratic congress gave the people, through the BLUE BALLOT, the privilege of a free government, administered in behalf of the people.

INDUSTRY AND EDUCATION.

For some years the tendency of young men seeking higher education has been toward law and medicine. Schools of these professions have increased in number and the fields of occupation have become more overcrowded, says the Omaha Bee. Certain new tendencies in industry and the science of treating human ills are at work which suggest the possibility of a change in the drift of the educational current. Public and private enterprise are enlisted in a movement to work out new cures for old diseases and improve sanitation throughout the country. Vast progress has been, and more will be, made. Along with this, though distinctly apart from it, goes the effort of the government and private capital to harness nature for the needs of industry; to open up irrigation and water-power for agricultural and industrial purposes. The New York Times invites to the new fields of scientific service the attention of young men contemplating unfinished fields of opportunity. They are, undoubtedly, prolific of opportunities. What will the effect be in these two channels? Will the current be diverted from law and medicine to that of technical or sanitary engineering?

How rapidly the aeroplane is becoming practically useful is shown by the plan of the English postoffice department to install immediately an aerial post between London and Windsor and the report that the French postal officials intend to employ the hydro-aeroplane for delivering mail from incoming steamships, says the Chicago Record-Herald. Not more than two years ago men of affairs and scientists saw little possibility of the heavier-than-air machines becoming more than a means of sport. There seems not much to be gained in time in sending letters by aeroplane between London and Windsor, but the experiment will doubtless lead to the establishment of other lines if successful. The distance is only 21 miles, and it is expected that the trip will take about half an hour. A railway express train could travel as quickly. As regards the transfer of mail from steamships, there seem greater possibilities; several hours may be gained.

An entirely unromantic Austrian count, who has lived in New York some years concealing his title and earning his bread, has just found it necessary in getting a marriage license to reveal his secret. He came to America to escape the dull conventions imposed by his rank at home, and is so well content with social freedom that he will never return to Austria. This is not the kind of nobleman that marries an American heiress in a church decorated with $10,000 worth of roses, but he will make no worse American citizen on that account.

Persons who grow vastly discontented with their lot if they are not promoted or otherwise elevated in power and remuneration every year or two may be interested in the announcement that Principal Charles F. Harman, who has just retired from service in New York city, has been a schoolmaster for fifty-four years and only "missed" two days. His boys gave him a reunion dinner. They believe, and rightly, that he has had a great influence upon the civilization of the city.

BULL NEEDS SOME EXERCISE

Animal Should Not Be Allowed to Run With Cows or Heifers—Exercising Pole Is Excellent.

After the bull is old enough for service he should not be allowed to run with young heifers or cows, but should, in suitable weather, be exercised daily. An exercising pole with chain, balanced by swivel joint (a one and one-half or two-inch wheel axle with box) upon the top of a stout post, which stands seven or eight feet above ground, is satisfactory. Make the pole as long as requisite strength and convenience will permit, that the bull may cut a good-sized circle about the post, says the Country Gentleman. On the top of the small end of the pole fasten a sash pulley, and, at a point just forward of the line of the post, a corresponding pulley; also, at intervals between the pulleys, put two or three screw-eyes to guide the chain from pulley to pulley.

Bore holes vertically through the pole for the ends of the chain to fall through. At the outer end of the chain attach a strong swivel snap hook, and at the other end hang a weight just heavy enough to take up the slack chain as the bull raises his head. The chain should be, when the weight is raised up against the pole, only long enough to permit the bull to lie down comfortably. When the bull is old enough for service he should thereafter never be allowed to have his liberty; but daily exercise should not be omitted. The exercising pole might be placed under a roof or building, but in winter it should be under cover and in the shade in summer.

KEEP BROOD SOWS SEPARATE

Should Be Kept Away From Pork Makers and Most of Corn Removed From Their Ration.

Breeding sows should be separated from the porkmakers and most of the corn removed from their ration. Fatty tissues and padded internal organs work disaster to the breeding sow, for as she fattens she becomes lazy and takes very little exercise. This tardy task is costly to the breeder of swine, for instead of vigorous, active pigs, he will have uneven, puny squealers, that persist in crawling under the bedding and around the place where the mother usually settles, and then he is done for. Exercise above all else is conducive to strong litters, while the sow's ration should be made up largely of muscle and bone-growing feeds, such as oats, bran, skim milk, short cut clover or alfalfa. It is not the fattest nor the biggest pig at birth that makes the heaviest hog, but rather the one that has the ability to move about freely and fight for his special platter at the nurse table.

HORSE FEED IS NOT WASTED

Bag Invented by Massachusetts Man Supplies Oats Only as Fast as Animals Can Eat Them.

Any person who has watched horses eating their noonday meals along the streets cannot fail to have noticed how much of the feed was wasted when the animals tossed their heads to get at the oats in the bottom of the bags. A Massachusetts man has designed a feed bag which saves all this waste and in addition makes the horse eat slower, so that he gets all the benefit of the food. The bag is made in two sections, one for the animal's head and the other for the feed. An opening at the bottom allows the oats to flow into the compartment in which the horse has his head, but only as fast as he eats them. He does not have to toss his head about and even if he does there is no waste as the compartment containing the feed is closed at the top. By eating slowly, too, he is satisfied with less feed than if he bolted it. When not in use the bag can be folded up and carried in the tool box under the seat.

PURE WATER FOR THE STOCK

One of the greatest difficulties that confronts the stock raiser during dry summer weather is that of keeping pure water for the stock. The illustration shows a method employed by an Illinois farmer for several years, says the Homestead. Bury an old zinc tank or some other construction that will hold at least 50 gallons of water, in this place a large size water barrel, bore some three or four holes in the bottom end of this just below the top of the outside tank. In these holes place an iron tube as much as an inch in diameter and the enclosure tank will always be full of water and there is no waste.

Water Trough for Stock.

Suburban Sobriquets.

Everybody else had lived in the summer colony long enough to name his home for whatever tree or shrub grew most abundantly in the front or back yard. Up and down the road were cottages labeled the Elms, the Wisteria, the Lilacs, and so on through the horticultural guide book. The newcomer had no name for her house, but after studying the tactics for a week she took a survey of the premises and thenceforward dated her correspondence the Rhubarbs.

WHAT THEY THOUGHT OF HIM

Remark by No Means Complimentary Made by Constituent of Representative Underwood.

Representative Underwood, chairman of the ways and means committee in congress, represents what is known as a "manufacturing district," because it contains all the factories and smelters in and about Birmingham, Ala. But he also has among his constituents a lot of farmers—of which fact he is now painfully aware.

He drove out to a settlement in Blbb county one afternoon to persuade the farmers they ought to vote for him. As he stepped up to the porch of a little store an old man rushed up to him with the request:

"Please sign this paper. It's a petition to Congressman Underwood to have a young lady postmistress here." "I'd be glad to sign it," said Underwood politely; "but as I'm not a resident of this community, my name wouldn't help."

"Oh, yes, it would," the old farmer assured him. "We're getting everybody to sign it, strangers and all. Go ahead and put your name down! That fool congressman will never know the difference!"—The Sunday Magazine.

Of Course He Cried.

"Jimmy! what on earth are you crying about now?"

"Tommy Jones dreamed last night that he had a whole pie to eat an' I didn't."

AT HOUSE CLEANING

SOME POINTS WORTH KEEPING IN THE MEMORY.

Much Labor Can Be Saved by Knowing Just What Are the Best Things to Use—Proper Care of Silver.

Brass can be polished by rubbing with a mixture of powdered chalk—precipitate kind used for tooth powder—rubbed into a paste with lemon juice. Let it dry on and polish with chamolis. There is an excellent pomade that is a good brass cleaner.

In applying any pomade or paste for cleansing it will be more efficacious if moistened with kerosene instead of water. In the same way use alcohol for silver pastes.

Old copper can be rubbed bright quickly with lemon skins and salt or salt and vinegar. Let it stay on a very short time and polish with chamolis.

Where silver that is kept in chests most of the year must be cleaned it will save time to boil in soapsuds to which has been added a good-sized lump of washing soda. Rinse thoroughly in hot water and, if extra polish is necessary, rub up with a little silver powder.

Put your silver back in the chest in tissue paper wrappings and a lump of camphor in the box and you will be saved work the next time it is taken out.

Never use soapsuds on cut glass. Wash in ammonia water—not so hot as to crack the glass—scrub with a fine brush in the facets, rinse in fresh ammonia water and dry for an hour or more in cheap, fine sawdust. This brushes out quickly and your pieces shine like new.

When cleaning the china closet do not content yourself with just dusting off unused sets with a damp cloth. China should be well scrubbed at least once a year or it may stain. Soak for half an hour in lukewarm soapsuds and rinse in clear water, not too hot, or it will crack delicate porcelain.

Stains on china can be removed with a little dry salt or by rubbing well with wood ashes moistened with kerosene.

If you do not superintend the washing of your own fine china, insist upon the maid using a rubber pad in the bottom of the dishan and not putting in too many pieces at a time.

Have a good carpet soap for rugs and carpets, or use a fine olive oil soap, scrub well with the lather, rinse twice, once in lukewarm water, then in cold. Rub until nearly dry, then hang in the air.

If floors are much stained and cannot be done over, wipe off carefully with gasoline, then rub to polish with a mixture of half a pound of porcelain, a quarter pound of beeswax, melted and mixed when hot with four tablespoonfuls of turpentine. Beat until cold. Apply with flannel, rub with another piece, and polish with iron covered with wool padding and fine velveteen, if you have no regular floor polisher.

Sparkling Mead.

Sparkling mead is made by boiling fourteen pounds of honey in six gallons of water for half an hour, breaking into it four eggs; then stir into this a half ounce each of cinnamon, cloves, mace and bruised ginger, and small bunches of marjoram, balm and sweetbrier; boil a quarter of an hour longer and pour out to cool. Then toast a large slice of brown bread, spread it over with fresh yeast, and put it into the liquor. Let it ferment for a day, and then put it into a cask, but keep it open till the fermentation is complete. Then cork the cask tightly. This may be bottled in a month, and if bottles are used which have not the patent spring stoppers the corks must be securely tied.

WHEN CUPID WAS OFF DUTY

Lover's Bad Cold That Led to Most Unfortunate Misunderstanding With Girl.

Sweet was the lass, low was the gas; it was the evening she expected him to put across the big question.

He did not look well. Something seemed to be troubling him. He tried to say something, but the words stuck in his throat, and the girl, noticing this, turned the gas even lower.

Suddenly he turned to her and cried, "I'm a dub!"

"No," she said, fondly. "You don't appreciate yourself as well as some others do, perhaps. Tee, hee!"

"Yes," he persisted stubbornly, "I'm a dub!"

"No," she maintained.

"Yes," he almost shouted, "I'm a dub!"

She was a sensible girl, and so, realizing that he ought to know best, she thanked him kindly for warning her in time and handed him his hat. It was only after the door slammed behind him forever that she realized the awful truth.

He had contracted a nasty cold, and what he had been trying to say was, "I'm in love!"

HANDS BURNED LIKE FIRE

"I can truthfully say Cuticura Remedies have cured me of four long years of eczema. About four years ago I noticed some little pimples coming on my little finger, and not giving it any attention, it soon became worse and spread all over my hands. If I would have them in water for a long time, they would burn like fire and large cracks would come. I could lay a pin in them. After using all the salves I could think of, I went to three different doctors, but all did me no good. The only relief I got was scratching.

"So after hearing so much about the wonderful Cuticura Remedies, I purchased one complete set, and after using them three days my hands were much better. Today my hands are entirely well, one set being all I used." (Signed) Miss Etta Narber, R. F. D. 2, Spring Lake, Mich., Sept. 26, 1910.

Although Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold everywhere, a sample of each, with 32-page book, will be mailed free on application to "Cuticura," Dept. 2 L, Boston.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—"I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me.

"I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will."—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2963 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
