GENERAL MILES' REPORT.

The General Claims that a Part of His Report was Withheld From The Public.

DEFENDS HIS PHILIPPINE REPORT.

General Miles, in a letter to the editor of the Army and Navy Journal, defends the report which he made of the army in the Philippines.

For his reflections in that report on the conduct of the campaigns in the Philippines, General Miles was harshly criticised by the press and by army officers who thought his remarks a reflection on their cloth. Now General Miles makes complaint to the editor of the Army and Navy Register that his report was not presented in full to the public or to the army, and that because of the elimination of certain portions, the writer is liable to be misunderstood and the reader misled.

General Miles says he particularly regrets the fact that his order issued to General Davis in command of the division of the Philippines in regard to the conduct of the army's business, was not given proper publicity, but the most notable part of the report is his declaration that he was never governed by prejudice, that he has a most sacred regard for the welfare of the army, that the practices of the army in the Philippines were without warrant, but were not the fault of the men, but of their officers.

On the subject of cruelties General Miles says:

BLAMES OFFICERS AND NOT THE MEN.

"It is idle to assume that campaigning in the Philippines has conditions that warrant resort to medieval cruelty and a departure from the honorable method of conducting warfare, and that such departures as have existed should be overlooked and condoned.

"It is most gratifying that the serious offenses have not been committed by the soldiers unless they were under the direct orders of certain officers who were responsible.

"Soldiers have withheld fire when ordered to shoot prisoners, protested against acts of cruelty and written to relatives at home urging them to take action to put a stop to those crimes. It will ever be one of the glories of the army that such deeds, committed by whatever authority, are abhorent to the American soldier.

"The officers who are responsible, using chiefly cruel Macabebes, do not by any means constitute the American army, and there must be a very unmistakable line drawn between the great body of honorable and faithful officers and brave soldiers whose records have been commendable and those of whatever station, whose acts have received, and should receive, the earnest condemnation of all honorable men."

The Silver City Smelter

Silver City, N. M., May 18 It is stated upon good authority that the Silver City smelter will in a very short time commence buying ores. The parties who have purchased the works will arrive in this city in a few days to complete the finishing work before starting up the mill. They will also install considerable new machinery in the plant and it is thought that the smelter will be running by the latter part of next month.

HORRIBLE BUTCHERY.

Hundreds of Jews Massacred and Their Bodies Terribly Mangled in a Province of South Russia.

MEDIEVAL ATROCITIES RECALLED.

Berlin, May 18. Reports received from Kishenef say that during the three days' massacre of Jews, forty-eight persons were killed outright, eighty have since died of their wounds and upward of a thousand are injured.

Nine children were murdered in a horrible manner. One child was found with its body split in two. The most injuries were inflicted with pieces of furniture and heavy sticks.

Such was the fury of the crowd that many bodies were unrecognizable.

A special dispatch from Kishenef says: "On the second day the Russian doctors who were moved to pity by the horrible sights they witnessed, drove to a distant station and sent a telegram to St. Petersburg, informing the authorities of what was happening.

"The total number of murders did not exceed 300, whereas there were 5,000 soldiers and 300 police in the city. The military and police calmly looked on while the atrocities were being committed, making not the slightest attempt to stop them. They gladly accepted good pieces of loot thrown to them.

DETAILS FROM LONDON.

London, May 18. Additional details of the massacre of the Jews at Kishenef have filtered through the Russian censors. St. Petersburg newspapers print accounts of the butchery of women and children and dispatches from Kishenef have been transmitted by telegraph to London.

The details are diabolical. The medieval tortures to which the Christians were subjected were not more revolting. Official apathy permitted the massacre to continue unchecked for days. Nearly a week riot, murder, rapine and robbery went on.

Jew baiting is spreading throughout southern Russia. There is certainty that the horrible stories of so-called murders by the Jews are being circulated to stimulate anti-Semitic feeling.

No More Wine.

San Francisco, May 2. The grand commandery Knights Templar of California has decied by unanimous vote that hereafter no wine shall be served at Templar banquets. The innovation has been introduced, it is claimed, so that the order on this coast might fall in line with the general movement of the same kind in the east and because the use of wine in the lodge rooms for all official functions is contrary to the principles of Masonry. It is said that the grand lodge of Masons at its annual meeting next October will take the same decisive action and order that all banquets given under the auspices of any Masonic lodge of the state be strictly temperate.

Re-Surveying Placer Claims.

C. F. Goddard, with a force of men, is re-surveying and putting up permanent monuments on the property of the American Placer Company. Messrs. Paden, Prichard and Gumm located these claims some years ago, but they put up only temporary stakes, stone monuments, properly marked, will now take their place.

The Trial of Bruce Jones.

Tuesday at 10 a. m. the preliminary trial of the case of Bruce Jones for the killing of Ernest Sowell on the 7th inst was opened in Justice O'Reilly's court, Col. W. H. H. Llewellyn representing the territory and Hon. John Franklin the defendant.

The hearing lasted until Wednesday afternoon when the trial ended and Jones was allowed bond in the sum of $10,000 which was furnished by his two brothers Wm. and C. N. Jones and R. H. Pierce.

The case was closely contested from the beginning to the end and all available testimony was brought out by both sides.

Bruce Jones stated before the coroner's jury that he and Ennis Hilburn were preparing to close up the saloon for the night at about 1 o'clock a. m. when some one knocked on the back door, Hilburn going to the door and on opening it a man presented himself with a gun. Hilburn turned to Jones and said, "look out, Bruce, here is a man with a gun." Jones had a sack of money in one hand and a six-shooter in the other and as Hilburn shut to the door Jones fired. This was reproduced as testimony by the defendant in the preliminary hearing.

The prosecution produced testimony showing that four of Sowell's friends were with him about an hour before the killing and had searched him and found no gun and that he (Sowell) was very, very drunk.

These two bits of testimony were the most important brought out during the trial.

Jones bond was accepted and he left in company with his two brothers for his home at Carlsbad Thursday morning. Alamogordo News.

Hundreds of Cars of Cattle.

The Rock Island is making preparations for handling about six hundred cars of cattle in the next few weeks from southern New Mexico.

Three trains of cattle have just moved from Ancho, N. M., and three more trains are expected to move in a few days. These cattle are being shipped by W. C. McDonald to Kansas points. Four trains have already been ordered to load at Columbus, N. M., for northwest territory and Canadian points.

Three hundred cars will move by May 15th from the Pecos valley by way of the E. P. & N. E., to the northwestern territory.

Three hundred cars will also move from different Mexican points by way of the E. P. & N. E. from El Paso to northern points.

The Santa Fe company is also arranging as heavy a movement from El Paso and Deming. It is estimated that the Santa Fe will handle over five hundred cars from Deming to the other markets and also a very heavy movement out of El Paso.

The California shipments have about stopped for this year and only a few more trains of Mexican cattle will go there. Albuquerque Journal-Democrat.

Teachers' Institute.

The regular Teachers' institute is to be held at Capitan, beginning on Monday, August 3rd, 1903, and to be in session four weeks. The regular examination of teachers takes place on Friday, August 28th.

As heretofore, teachers are required to attend the County Institute at least two weeks; but as little benefit work can be done in such a limited term, it has been decided that we have two weeks longer session than usual, and it is to be hoped that all teachers will attend the full time.

The Irish Land Bill.

[illegible] progress continues to be the story of the Irish land purchase bill as it has been its history since secretary Wyndham first introduced it.

No more striking illustration of the strength of the hopes that are fixed upon it could be given than the fact that it has united the various factions among the Irish people, has substituted an attitude of tolerance and reasonableness for one of rancor and opposition and has created an evident disposition on both sides to maintaining the good feeling.

The first test of the strength of the bill was the reception of it in Parliament and the press. The second time in the action of the convention of the Irish Nationalists in Dublin. In that convention Mr. John Redmond, who more than any other one man since the death of Mr. Parnell is the leader of the Irish people, threw his whole influence into support of the bill, and Mr. William O'Brien who but a short time ago was breathing forth lightnings against England, also spoke eloquently for its adoption.

On the other hand, a motion for the rejecting of the bill was voted down by a majority so great as to make the very voting a mere form, and the speeches and votes of protest were even more significant than the votes. Leaders of both sides, the English and the Irish, are now proceeding on the evident belief that an opportunity for getting together has come, which it is believed may not recur in a generation. Youth's Companion.

Large Guano Find.

Another evidence of the fact that Eddy county does not know all of its own territory not recently brought to light is the discovery of a large cave about thirty five miles southeast of Carlsbad in which is immense bed of guano. The cave was discovered by A. Long some few weeks ago and since that time he, in conjunction with Ramsey Brothers Co., have organized and are making arrangements to operate it. If proper rates can be secured from the railroad they will be ready by the last of the month to commence placing this fertilizer on the market.

The cave is in the foothills of the Guadalupe and from the entrance to the guano beds there is a distance of about [illegible] feet which has an average of about 35 degrees. It is claimed that the quantity is almost unlimited and the quality is of the very best.

Says Road Delayed Cattle.

A suit was filed in the district court in El Paso T. W. Boone, vs. the Southern Pacific and Rock Island railroad companies, for damages.

The case will be heard in Judge Gregg's court.

T. W. Boone is a New Mexico cattleman and alleges that November [illegible] he delivered to the defendants at Deming forty-six head of bulls and seven [illegible]. That due to unnecessary delay in transit seven head died, and that the whole lot shrank to the amount of $[illegible] he claimed that the roads held his stock on the way for over [illegible] hours while sixty five hours are all that are usually used in putting cattle on the Kansas City market.

Therefore he prays damages for $[illegible], with interest and costs of suit.

The 21st of May. H. E. Old sol must have made a mistake this year and never crossed the equator.

OUR VARIED RESOURCES.

Something New For The White Sands: May Mean Millions.

The following is a communicated article and will be of interest to our readers.

Chas. Van Plunkenheimer, an eastern furrier, dealer in seal, ermine and other high grade goods, having his principal warehouse in Philadelphia, has been in correspondence with parties here in regard to starting a fur-ranch in the White Sands.

The recent increase in the American Judiciary on account of new courts in the insular acquisitions has made the real ermine go to almost prohibition prices and has led to much research into the question of providing substitutes which will pass for the real article.

After many laborious and futile experiments the gentleman above named has succeeded in getting a cross between the white Angora cat and the white hare of Spitzburgen, which bears a fur of exquisite softness and of a quality almost undistinguishable from real ermine.

It is a well known fact that in the Arctics amid the almonst eternal snows, the universal tendency among both birds and quadrupeds is to be of pure white and that all species of Arctic animals when brought into the temperate zone or the tropic will acclimate and soon begin to show spots or tawniness in their offspring and eventually develop permanent dark shades.

To maintain the the purity of whiteness in the animal so strangely and unnaturally developed as above mentioned would require Arctic conditions of light.

Unfortunately the animal seems exceedingly tender and Arctic fur farming is out of the question in its case.

Mr. Van Plunkenheimer happened to be in conversation with some Scranton, Pa., capitalists and incidentally learned of the White Sands near here, and the thought came to him as an inspiration that he might secure rights there and find all the conditions essential to success in raising his ermine, (which by the way is worth about $18,00 a skip,) and he at once corresponded with parties here, and will soon be ready to begin business. He says the desert-like appearance of the rolling sand mounds, with now and then a sage brush or mesquite is admirably suited to the rabbit instinct of his ermonette, and that the soft white sand furnishes ideal rolling and camping ground for it from a feline point of view.

One thing is certain, the experiment need not be a very costly one and its success means millions.

What varied resources Otero county has!

Tuberculosis Among Miners.

In a lecture delivered by Dr. Stewart Cowen in Victoria, Australia it was stated that nearly one-third or the deaths among adults in the town of Eaglehawk, Victoria were due to tuberculosis. Of thirty three deaths of men engaged in mining more than one-half died of this disease, whereas among men not engaged in mining not one in nineteen died of that scourge.

These figures clearly show that miners are more prone to consumption than men engaged in general occupations above ground. Mining Reporter.

Troubles in the Philippines.

Manila, May 18. A hurricane devastated Santa Maria, Bulacan, Luzon, on Saturday. Earthquake shocks were felt and during the progress of the storm the stone barracks collapsed, killing and injuring seven native scouts.

Colonel Taylor with a force of constabulary, defeated several bands of fanatics, in Cebu Island, May 14, killing 20 and wounding several. A few of the constabulary were wounded. Lieutenant Walker is missing. The fanatics repeatedly charged the constabulary line. More trouble is expected from these tribes.

Is Cast Adrift.

A pitiful case of filial ingratitude was brought to light in the Southern Pacific passenger station this morning, says the El Paso News of the 28th, when the Rock Island train pulled in from the north.

There was a decrepit old man every years of age. He was tenderly carried in to the waiting room of the Southern Pacific by the conductor and porter of the train and his belongings bestowed around him well as possible.

The man was old James Miller, a pioneer of the Gila Valley country, and was traveling back to live with his son Leonard Salmon Miller who resides 30 miles from Silver City.

He had been put aboard the train by another son at Carrizozo, early this morning, and left to shift for himself. The son told the conductor to look after him and that off, said he I so to the best of his ability.

The old man complained of being ill at the station this morning. He was found lying all bundled up in a knot in the waiting room by the reporter.

He told a pitiful story of his ailments and asked the people to do something for him.

He was almost blind and so feeble that he said he thought that he might die before he got to Silver City. The matter was reported to superintendent G. F. Hawkes, and with his customary kindness and consideration, he at once took charge of him, seeing that he was made comfortable. He will arrange for the old man to be carried to the Santa Fe station tonight so that he may catch his train.

It looked like the old man had been cast adrift and the people around the station censured the son at Carrizozo for not coming with him and taking care of him.

Containing Some Truth

"We are unable to recall in political history an instance of a man of recognized leadership in a party who has assumed and maintained toward it such an attitude as that now held by Colonel Bryan. He has twice received the highest mark of confidence the Democracy could bestow, its nomination and enthusiastic support for the presidency, and he owes to it more consideration, more readiness to exercise self-sacrifice and self-abnegation, if necessary than any man in it. Hundreds of thousands of Democrats who were not in entire accord with many of his views, multitudes who wholly dissented from him on important questions of policy nevertheless followed him loyally, and were twice led to defeat. Does he not now owe something to them? He has not hesitated to cherish and express a hot grievance against any member of the party who could not accept wholly the platform he dictated, and who declined to follow him, they differed with him, and consequently no longer belonged to the party without any qualification, as the designated leader he was IT, and his interpretation of party principles must be accepted, and his directions obeyed. And these demands were made in the name of party loyalty and allegiance. Now, the time approaches for another contest, and the sky is full of signs of victory for us, with moderate counsels, wise leadership and united ranks. Men are saying everywhere, there must be no such mistakes as in the last campaign. We must profit by experience, let us drop dead issues and stand on our old principles, which are as vital today as ever."

The above from the Cincinnati Enquirer aptly illustrates the political situation from a democratic standpoint, except, by inference, it shifts the blame from the men who are responsible for the defeat of Mr. Bryan, otherwise many democrats agree with the proposition that the perpetual fight being kept up by Mr. Bryan is not conducive to the best interests of the democratic party.

While the six millions, and more, of democrats who voted for Mr. Bryan regretted that many democrats could not see as they did—some giving its platform and candidate but little aid, others fighting them—yet no man should assume the responsibility of saying what shall and what shall not constitute a democrat. That is a subject for the next national democratic convention to decide.

On the other hand, it is not right for the so-called Cleveland wing of the party to be given control, for the reason, as has often been asserted, that "Your plan has been tried in two campaigns, and you have gone down in defeat;" when they, only, are to blame for non-support of its candidate and platform. That they are entitled to and will receive a respectful hearing every conservative democrat concedes, but that they be given control of the party, for whose defeat they are responsible would be still more unjust.

No man should attempt to be bigger than his party, and the rank and file of the democratic party will not soon forget nor easily forgive Cleveland and his friends in their failure to support the regular nominee of the party; nor will the future action of Colonel Bryan, should he follow that example, be any less condemned. There is room in the democratic party for both Bryan and Cleveland, yet neither is wanted as the standard-bearer, but both could and should aid in the selection of one, and the party should unite in his election.

A Peripatetic Sage.

If a Chinese philosopher were to follow the speeches of President Roosevelt without personal knowledge of the man he would probably say

Happy nation whose chief is a white-haired sage steeped in the wisdom of the ages! Through how many decades of profound meditation must your venerable ruler have passed to be able to strew pearls of thought at every step along his pathway! He knows all things and upon all men he bestows salutary counsel. Yea, and not upon the men only, but upon the women and children. He tells the women how many babies they must have, and when they have had them he tells the children how to play

The praise of the Confucian would not be undeserved. President Roosevelt completed the circuit of good advice he has been addressing to adults of both sexes and all occupations by saying to the school children at Redlands "When you play, play hard, and when you work, don't play at all That's common sense for all of you."

Admirable counsel, and not to be outgrown with advancing years! The President is playing now playing hard and no doubt that is why he has been paying so little attention to the work that is crying for him from Washington When he gets back to the White House will he drop play and turn his attention to serious business? If so we shall see a flutter among the naval and military smugglers in Porto Rico whom the trusted subordinates of the President are protecting We shall see a genuine house-cleaning in the Post-Office Department, of which the tardy suspension of Supt Machen of the Free-Deliveries Division is only a beginning. We shall have a real investigation of the charges brought by Gen. Miles against our proceedings in the Philippines, and perhaps we shall have some questions asked of Gen. Wood about Bellairs and other matters.

There is a lot of work awaiting the Executive that should have no play in it. —N.Y. World.

Russia remains in Manchuria, and all the demands that have been made by the powers have been answered courteously, if not satisfactorily. The Muscovite will not be easily shaken from his purpose.

The "door of hope" was closed to the negro in Maryland—he was bounced from his post office. But Maryland is a close state and Mississippi is not. Even presidents fall into inconsistencies occasionally.

The war is over in the Philippines, but the dispatches report the killing of a band of Bolos, and, once in awhile, that of an American Officer. The latest victim of the pacified Fillipinos is Captain Overton, A West Point graduate from Texas.

Government by injunction seems to be a two-edged sword, as evidenced by the situation in Omaha. There the strikers were enjoined by Federal court from certain interferences, and in turn the merchants and business league were enjoined by the state court for refusing to sell goods to union men and ordered to discontinue their meetings.

In the press censor law, recently enacted by Pennsylvania, the foreign newspapers are finding plenty of the essence of intolerance to talk about. The German press comment is not calculated to inspire confidence in the measure, for the character of their condemnation is such as to make an American blush: they say it is "only fit for Russia and not for free America."

Disturbances continue in Turkey; Armenians are preparing to take advantage of the uprising in Macedonia. Thus the Sublime Porte is being informed of new insurrections from all quarters.

More strikes are in progress and more impending, perhaps, than at any other time in the history of this country. If the men are receiving good wages, why do they strike, and if they are not why do not companies, which are declaring enormous dividends, give the laborer his just reward?

The law, it would seem, as well as the "constitution does not follow the flag." The native Porto Ricans were punished for smuggling, but when members of the navy and army began the business the government's representative in Porto Rico had orders from Washington to not prosecute.

There has been a great deal of talk concerning the attitude of certain prominent democrats in the presidential campaign of 1896, and as to how they voted. A prominent congressman, who professes to know, gives the following, concerning men, who are now mentioned in connection with the democratic nomination for the presidency next year, and for whom they voted in 1896: Grover Cleveland, Palmer and Buckner; David B. Hill, Palmer and Buckner; Alton B. Parker, Bryan and Sewall; Arthur P. Gorman, Bryan and Sewall; David R. Francis, Palmer and Buckner; Richard P. Olney, Palmer and Buckner; William C. Whitney, McKinley and Hobart; Edward L. Shepard, Palmer and Buckner; Tom L. Johnson, Bryan and Sewall; Henry Watterson, Palmer and Buckner.

The White Oaks public school closed last week, after having been in continous session for nine months. The present board began two years ago with a deficit, and two nine-months terms have since been taught and there is now to the credit of this district, after all expenses have been paid, over $700.

Mrs. John A. Hollars, who has been engaged as first assistant in our school for the past two years, left for California last week to meet her husband, Rev. John A. Hollars, who is located at San Francisco. Mrs. Hollars is an indefitigable worker, a very successful teacher, and leaves many friends in White Oaks whose best wishes go with her.

William Sertemeyer came in yesterday morning from Sonora, Texas, but arrived too late to see his daughter, Mrs. Atkinson, who was buried the day previous. Mr. Sertemeyer started at the same time his wife and daughter left home, but became suddenly ill, before going far, and returned to his home. He was subsequently telegraphed, when their was little hope of Mrs. Atkinson's recovery, but, for some reason, the telegram never reached him, and he did not again start for White Oaks until he received a letter from his wife; consequently he was shocked when he reached here after the funeral obsequies. He, his wife and daughter, Emelia, and M. B. Atkinson left last night for their respective homes.

Mrs. Atkinson Dead.

Monday morning at 10 o'clock, Louise, the wife H. B. Atkinson, breathed her last, surrounded by husband, father, mother and sister. Mrs. Atkinson had been sufferin from an attack of typhoid fever of almost two months duration, and in order to secure better medical aid and more attentive nursing about two weeks ago the patient was brought to White Oaks. Mrs. Sertemeyer and daughter, Emelia, of Sonora, Texas, mother and sister, and M. B. Atkinson, of Rockport, Texas, H. B. Atkinson's father, came at once when informed of the serious condition of their relative, and have been in constant attendance by her bedside.

Shortly after reaching White Oaks complications intervened; the skill of the physician was baffled; the tender care of nurses availed naught, and the spirit took its flight at the hour mentioned. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. R. E. Lund, 2 o'clock P. M., Tuesday, and the remains interred in the K. P. cemetery.

To the husband, who mourns the loss of a wife of one year, the father, mother, sister and other sorrowing relatives the Eagle extends sympathy.

A Card of Thanks.

I wish to express, through the columns of the Eagle, my thanks to the people of White Oaks for their generous assistance and kind sympathy extended to me and mine during the illness and death of my wife. Their gentle ministrations and constant care will never be forgotten. I wish particularly to thank Dr. Paden for his patient and careful attention, and want all to know that his efforts are appreciated.

H. B. ATKINSON.

Almost a Man.

The friends of Julian Taylor, and they include all the young people in town, gathered at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. N. B. Taylor Monday night to congratulate Julian on his eighteenth birthday and wish him many happy returns of the same. Games were indulgded in, lunch served and the marrymakers departed for their respective homes at a late hour.

The Old Abe Building.

The Eagle Co., operating the Old Abe Mine, has ordered a large amount of lumber, and has begun the construction of another building on that property. The building is to be 75x36 feet and will be located between the cyanide plant and the concentrators. In this building will be built four canvas tables, each six feet wide, running the full length of the building, and will be used for catching the values in the slimes after passing over the concentrators.

Off For Ruidoso.

A party of five, besides Felix Guebara who furnished the team and did the driving, left Saturday afternoon for a two week's outing on the Ruidoso. They were J. W. Smith, Sterling Lacey, Bud Ravencraft, S. M. Wharton and Walker Hicks. They expect to be joined later by J. E. Wharton, who could not leave his farm just at that time. The wagon contained all kinds of deadly weapons, and if four-legged animals are all that are slaughtered on the trip their friends will be agreeably surprised.
