Little Show For Statehood.

The vacation of Senator Smith, chairman of the committee on territories, has come to an end, and with his return to Washington the hopes of statehood have vanished. If any reliance can be placed on telegraphic dispatches. The Flood resolution is to be reported to the senate without an amendment by the committee, but the chairman gave notice that he would later present an amendment. When this is done, even though the bill passes the senate in amended form, it is believed the house will refuse to concur, and this session promises to end without any statehood legislation.

The dispatch on statehood reads:

Washington, D. C., July 11. Fresh from a conference with President Taft, Chairman Smith of the senate committee on territories today gave notice of an amendment to eliminate the judiciary recall provision in the Arizona constitution, and said if the resolution is adopted as it passed the house it would be vetoed.

To the "amiable band of insurgents and soothsayers" all efforts in behalf of the initiative and referendum and recall provisions of the Arizona constitution were traced by Senator Sutherland, of Utah, today.

He addressed the senate in opposition to the approval of that instrument. Accepting the application of the referendum principle as wise where it applies to such general enactments as a state constitution. Mr. Sutherland contended that the general public never would give sufficient time to general legislation to pass intelligently upon it.

"The people as whole," he said, "have neither the inclination, specialized training, nor time requisite to enable them to master the thousand and one details necessary to qualify them wisely to discharge the functions of ordinary legislation.

Mr. Sutherland generally criticized the attitude of the progressives in all parties as Utopian.

The statehood resolution was reported to the senate today by Chairman Smith of the senate territories committee with the recommendation of the committee that it pass. In reporting the resolution Smith stated that while he personally favored territories and was willing to do what he could to bring them into union, he deemed it expedient to amend the resolution and he gave notice that at an early date he would offer an amendment cutting out the recall of the judiciary in the Arizona constitution.

He closed by saying that he asked for unanimous consent for an agreement to vote on the resolution at an early date.

Senator Nelson stated that representing a minority of the committee, he favored the admission of New Mexico with the constitution they had adopted, but was utterly opposed to the Arizona constitution for two reasons: First, "recall of judiciary," second, "the fact that 15 per cent could initiate the referendum in."

In an interview Smith said President Taft is in very bad belligerent mood regarding the Arizona recall and that if the territories were to get statehood this session he believed it would have to be cut out, otherwise it would certainly be vetoed.

Board Meets

The board of county commissioners met in regular session here Monday. Only two members were present, White and Taylor, and the clerk and the sheriff were represented by deputy. The records, including the tax schedules, were not on hand and the board transacted only routine business, such as approval and payment of claims, making road orders, etc. The board adjourned to meet here next Monday, at which time tax matters and everything pertaining to county affairs will be taken up. The proceedings will be found elsewhere in these columns.

Game Lost.

The ball game at White Oaks Sunday resulted in a tally of 8 to 2, Carrizozo coming out with the short score. Carrizozo did not have her full team at the game, and if she had, a different tale might have been told; but even that is only a matter of speculation. White Oaks had gathered an aggregation of fast ball players.

Returns From Fishing Trip.

Misses Allie Johnson, Frida Eckman and Sallie Hilderbrandt and Messrs. Brent Poden and George Sharp returned from a fishing trip on the Ruidoso Monday evening. They had been camping since the Fourth with the Johnson family. The Johnson family returned later in the week.

A. T. Roberts left Sunday for Shatford, Texas, where he was summoned as a witness in a cattle case.

An Astonished Boy.

In February of this year a Wisconsin farmer took his twelve-year-old boy to a village for the first time, and there the lad saw a train of cars. He was so astonished at the sight that he lost the power of speech for three weeks.
 If that youngster is ever taken to a circus or a zoological garden he'll surely be struck dumb for the rest of his life. His father's farm must be hidden away in a hole in the ground.

If thou knowest anything good of a man, tell it unto others; if anything ill, tell it privately and prudently to himself.—Burkitt.

SHE GOT WHAT SHE WANTED

This Woman Had to Insist Strongly, but it Paid

Chicago, Ill.—“I suffered from a female weakness and stomach trouble, and I went to the store to get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, but the clerk did not want to let me have it—he said it was no good and wanted me to try something else, but knowing all about it I insisted and finally got it, and I am so glad I did, for it has cured me.”

“I know of so many cases where women have been cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound that I can say to every suffering woman if that medicine does not help her, there is nothing that will.”—Mrs. JANETZKI, 2063 Arch St., Chicago, Ill.

This is the age of substitution, and women who want a cure should insist upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound just as this woman did, and not accept something else on which the druggist can make a little more profit.

Women who are passing through this critical period or who are suffering from any of those distressing ills peculiar to their sex should not lose sight of the fact that for thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ills. In almost every community you will find women who have been restored to health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

USE AN AUTOMATIC STIRRER

Mechanical Apparatus on Lid of Saucepan Does the Work Easily and Effectively.

There are some viands which the cook is compelled to prepare frequently which must be stirred constantly while they are on the stove or else they will burn. This is particularly true of some cereals, and the temptation is strong on the part of the cook to divide her attention with other articles also in the course of preparation, with the result that one or the other often suffers.

The automatic stirring saucepan is a new invention which is likely to meet with great popularity.

A rod fitted with transverse blades runs through the center of the saucepan and is fastened to a clockwork attachment on the lid of the pan. When the spring is wound up the rod moves around and the two blades agitate the contents of the saucepan far more effectively than an ordinary spoon would.

TASTY WAY TO SERVE FRUIT

“Macedoine,” a Mixture of All Kinds, is Something That All Will Appreciate.

Macedoine may be made with any combination of fruit, fresh or canned, dried or preserved. At this season of the year a mixture of fresh pines with oranges, prunes and any left-over fruit juices can be utilized. The little evaporated German cherries make a rich fruity juice. Wash, soak over night and stew gently until all goodness is extracted. Strain and sweeten. Add a pineapple, peeled and shredded; some nice prunes soaked over night, the pits removed and the meat cut in small pieces, two or three oranges peeled and cut in bits, and any surplus left over from canned or preserved fruits. Stew gently, sweeten to taste, and serve with buttered wafers or brown bread sandwiches. This will keep some time. If it shows signs of fermenting, boil up again.

If desired gelatine may be added to this, allowing a level tablespoonful granulated gelatine to each cup of the macedoine. Soften the gelatine in cold water, then dissolve over steam or add to the hot macedoine. The bits of fruit may be left in or strained out as preferred. Pour into small molds or on earthen dish, spreading the mixture about an inch in thickness. When firm cut in cubes.

Hen's Nest.

This is a delicious dessert or supper dish. Take five eggs, make a hole in one end and empty the shells. Fill them with blanc mange. When stiff and cold take off the shells. Pare the yellow rind very thin from six lemons, boil in water until tender, then cut them into thin strips to resemble straw and preserve them in sugar. Fill a small, deep dish half full of lemon gelatin and when it is set put the straw on in the form of a nest and lay the egg on it.

BUSINESS WOMEN A Lunch Fit for a King.

An active and successful young lady tells her food experience:

“Some years ago I suffered from nervous prostration, induced by continuous brain strain and improper food, added to a great grief.

“I was ordered to give up my work, as there was great danger of my mind failing me altogether. My stomach was in bad condition (nervous dyspepsia, I think now) and when Grape-Nuts food was recommended to me, I had no faith in it. However, I tried it, and soon there was a marked improvement in my condition.

“I had been troubled with faint spells, and had used a stimulant to revive me. I found that by eating Grape-Nuts at such times I was relieved and suffered no bad effects, which was a great gain. As to my other troubles—nervous prostration, dyspepsia, etc.—on the Grape-Nuts diet they soon disappeared.

“I wish especially to call the attention of office girls to the great benefit I derived from the use of Grape-Nuts as a noon luncheon. I was thoroughly tired of cheap restaurants and ordinary lunches, and so made the experiment of taking a package of Grape-Nuts food with me, and then slipping out at noon and getting a nickel's worth of sweet cream to add to it.

“I found that this simple dish, finished off with an apple, peach, orange, or a bunch of grapes made a lunch fit for a king, and one that agreed with me perfectly.

“I threw so on my Grape-Nuts diet that I did not have to give up my work at all, and in the two years have had only four lost days charged up against me.

“Let me add that your suggestions in the little book, ‘Road to Wellville,’ are, in my opinion, invaluable, especially to women.” Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

FITTING UP NURSERY

FURNITURE APPROPRIATE FOR THE OCCUPANTS.

Suitable Room, with Proper Environments, is Something Child Has a Right to Demand—Rugs More Sanitary Than Carpets.

The furniture of a nursery should be simple and substantial, but not overpowering and out of proportion to the little inmates of the room. There should be at least one "child-size" table and several chairs to match. The furniture should be low and broad and sufficiently heavy so that it is not easily upset. The manufacturers today are making delightful sets of furniture for children, and the prices are reasonable, so that there is little excuse for inappropriate furniture.

So many nurseries are just makeshifts—the sewing-room or the den is appreciated for baby's headquarters, and no effort is made to transform the room by banishing those things that are unnecessary and unsuited to a nursery. Just as with us grown-ups, there are certain rooms in which we prefer to sit, the room containing our favorite books and pictures in all probability—so it is with the children. The child grows to love his nursery and to feel at ease there if it is a suitable room with the proper environment.

Rugs are preferable to carpet in a nursery as they are more sanitary. If a rug cannot be obtained in the desirable size, a carpet may be made into a rug of almost any dimensions. Mottled velvets are suitable for a nursery, their effect being similar to that of a plain carpet, but they are more serviceable. Wilton rugs and the ingrain rugs made in Scotland, are also used for nurseries. The hand-woven rag rugs are particularly appropriate, being washable and very durable. The rugs are now made with

ONE THING MOST ESSENTIAL

Some mothers lament that they cannot give their children "advantages." They cannot give them the education they could like to, or the fine clothes. They cannot send them to dancing school, where they can get into society.

All these may be desirable things to do, and a mother may be justified in lamenting that she cannot do them. But because she cannot do these things, she need not think she can do nothing. She can, without cost, give her children an "advantage" that often outruns education and clothes and position, in gaining them the desirable things of life. She can give them good manners.

The value of good manners is inestimable. They open business doors and social doors. They win liking, friendship, love. They smooth the path of the man or woman wherever he goes in the world.

It is the manners of the foreigner as much as his title that wins the American girl's heart. A woman goes down before a man who is courteous, thoughtful, deferential in the hundred and one little things that are so much to a woman. Many a woman has said she would rather have manners in a man than morals, if she had to make a choice. It may be a most unwise choice, but nevertheless it is the choice that will be made in seven cases out of ten. Therefore, the mother who gives her boy good manners has given him a great power.

Therefore, the mother who gives her children good manners need not repine too bitterly, if she can give them nothing else. They will get on.

A few home-makers allow their principles of hygiene to forbid curtains at the windows, but simple curtains that can be frequently laundered are to be recommended, and give a dainty freshness to a room.

We cannot re-enter the "child-world," but it is our duty and our privilege to make the best possible background for it.—Chicago Inter Ocean.

The Feminine Wins. It is an odd coincidence that women are taking again to these pretty, comfortable house gowns that are so ultra feminine, just when there is so much discussion of the trouser skirt. It might have been a prearranged race for leadership, in which case the feminine tendency in frocks has won, for already the jupe culotte, as the French call the freakish skirts, has ceased to interest us.

Properly Thankful.

Clark Howell of Atlanta tells of the sad case of an elderly darky in Georgia, charged with the theft of some chickens. The negro had the misfortune to be defended by a young and inexperienced attorney, although it is doubtful whether any one could have secured his acquittal, the commission of the crime having been proved beyond all doubt. The darky received a pretty severe sentence. "Thank yo' sah," said he cheerfully, addressing the judge when the sentence had been pronounced. "Dat's mighty hard, sah, but it ain't anything what I expected. I thought, sah, dat between my character and dat speech of my lawyer dat yo'd hang me, shore!"

W. A. HALEY, EDITOR

There seems little use to object to the recall of the judiciary in Arizona. New Mexico would win in the proposition if given half a chance.

The upper house of congress has again resolved itself into a talk-fest. If it passes one remedial or progressive measure, the country will be surprised.

Reciprocity may become a law, if the senate ever reaches a vote, but that is now beginning to look doubtful. The sure way to kill any measure in the senate is to talk it to death.

The news now comes that President Taft will veto the Flood Statehood resolution, if the senate puts it up to him. It looks like a bluff, after all this delay; try him and let the responsibility fall where it will.

If the people of New Mexico do not, by this time, believe there is an Ethiopian in the administration woodpile they are without incredulity. To keep from passing the Flood Statehood resolution, after waiting almost three months, we are told that President Taft will veto it if not amended.

Congress may adjourn the early part of August, and if this session accomplishes anything it will have to get busy. The house has passed a number of important bills, but the senate has failed to concur in a single one coming from the lower body. The nearest concerted action was the passage of the bill for the direct election of senators, and even that was amended by the senate, and no agreement between the two houses has been reached.

After taking a two week's fish, Chairman Smith has returned to Washington, and announced that he would immediately report the statehood resolution. While making this announcement, he adds, however, that he intends to submit an amendment, cutting out the recall feature in the Arizona constitution. This not only means delay, but the ultimate defeat of statehood. The fishing trip had a bad effect upon Mr. Smith; at least, through him, the territories will suffer.

COMMISSIONERS' PROCEEDINGS.

Carrizozo, N. M., Monday, July 10, 9 a. m., 1911.
Board met pursuant to adjournment from Monday, July 3rd, 1911. Members present: Hon. W. R. White, Chairman; Hon Robert Taylor, member; William Barnett deputy sheriff; W. J. Doering, deputy clerk. Minutes of June 5th were read and approved.

In the matter of the assessment of the New Mexico Fuel Company.

Now coming on to be heard the objection and complaint of the New Mexico Fuel Company to the raising and changing of its rendition of its property for taxation during and for the year 1911. After fully and further considering the same, the following order was unanimously made and adopted.

Whereas at the June, 1911, meeting of this board, it raised the value of 1000 acres of land returned by the New Mexico Fuel Company as grazing land at $1.50 per acre from said sum of $1.50 to the sum of $23.50 per acre and classified said lands as coal lands, and thereby raised the rendition made by said company to that extent; and,

Whereas, said New Mexico Fuel Company has complained of and objected to this board's said action and presented evidence in support thereof and,

Whereas, it is made to appear to this board that during the last preceding years under identically the same circumstances like action on the part of this board has been reversed by the Territorial board of equalization and rendition similar to the one made by said New Mexico Fuel Company has been sustained and upheld by it, and that the fair and reasonable value and classification of said lands (as the law is construed by the said Territorial board of equalization) is as returned by said New Mexico Fuel Company.

It is by the board ordered that the complaint and objection of said New Mexico Fuel Company be upheld and allowed, and that the action of the board at its June 1911 meeting changing the classification of said land and raising the value thereof and the rendition of said New Mexico Fuel Company be vacated and that the return of the said New Mexico Fuel Company of its property for taxation made for and during the year 1911 be and the same is hereby approved as made by it, and it is ordered that property be assessed and carried on the tax rolls and lists returned by said New Mexico Fuel Company.

Board adjourned as board of equalization and convenes as board of county commissioners.

County Seat Muddle.

Lincoln county is distinguished by his time, and for almost two years past, in having a dual government. The records and three county officials are at Lincoln, and the court's ruling was that they should stay there until the court house and jail should be completed at Carrizozo. On the other hand, the court holds that the district and the probate courts must be held at Carrizozo, county seat.

The commissioners, too, are holding their sessions at Carrizozo, acting under the advice of the district attorney, which seems to be sound, as the law makes it imperative for the board to hold sessions at the county seat. It is true, also, that the law says that the treasurer, the clerk and the sheriff shall be at the county seat with their records, and Carrizozo has been declared the county seat by the courts at five different times. The difficulty in the law governing the removal of records, however, is that it conflicts with an old law and the court ruled that the old law was repealed by the new.

Now, as to the law governing the action of the board of county commissioners, there is apparently no conflict, and, therefore, only one interpretation of the law governing the case. But law and equity are two different propositions—one statutory, the other judicial—and when a conflict arises statutory provisions take the losing side. And so it goes: The average individual doesn't know whether to follow the statute or disobey the letter of the law and risk his fate to the courts.

Notice.

All parties who were indebted to The Carrizozo Trading Company on March 11th, 1911, and whose accounts or notes were assigned and transferred to the undersigned, are hereby notified to make prompt settlement of same during the month of July. All accounts and notes outstanding on August 1st, will be turned over to an attorney for collection.

Washington Correspondence.

Washington, D. C., July 14.—That there are powerful forces at work to keep New Mexico and Arizona out of statehood, and that the situation has reached a stage where drastic action must be taken, if statehood is to be secured this session, no one can deny. It's up to the citizens of the territories now to decide what methods they will adopt to bridge the small remaining gap between life in a territory and life in a state.

public roads in their respective districts, and to see that no individual obstructs the public clerk an opportunity to be present in person or

VALUE OF IMAGINATION.

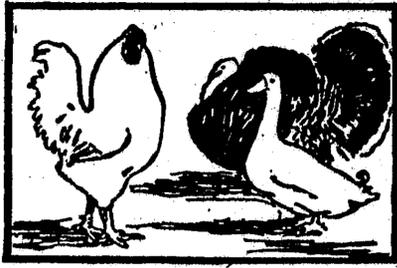

Life naturally must be more interesting to the person of vivid imagination than to one who lives only for the tangible things about him and who fears to dream as his fancy will because reality bears heavily upon him. We do not think that even the man of affairs would find the indulgence of a few day dreams detrimental to his interests, while to those who look only upon the serious side of life and share only its darker aspects, a few dreams of what perhaps may come to pass would act as a tonic upon tired nerves, says the Charleston News and Courier. Our dreams are often companions to us, and sometimes we find ourselves moving unconsciously with them in a world far removed from our real habitation, but one whose promises seem easy of fulfillment and whose delights compensate for some of the hardships we may, perhaps, be called upon to bear during our waking hours. The world which is our idea of happiness, with all its wonder of accomplishment and all its measure of appreciation—the world in which we naturally play an important part—who has not seen its shining sands, and lofty summits, and flowering paths, beckoning, telling us how good it is to live and defying us to resist its appealing call? We cannot all gain its shores and discover long-hidden secrets, but, at least, we can turn its promises to our advantage and make our day dreams oases, as it were, in the desert spots of life.

James H. Collins, writing of "the orderly German mind," notes that a generation ago the chief exports of Germany were philosophy, poetry, music and emigrants, while today she ships machinery, chemicals, textiles and other manufactured products, and the mere thought of her competition scares America and has brought England to the verge of hysteria. How has this come about? You could put all Germany, and Pennsylvania to boot, in the state of Texas. Yet there are upward of 70,000,000 Germans. With scant natural resources, the Teuton had to think hard and make the best of it. Just as in scholarly and scientific research, his agricultural and industrial labors have been intense, methodical, plodding, thorough. He has taught the world how to farm. He is supreme in the economic use of chemicals.

Potash salts of many kinds were imported into the United States from Germany last year and to the value of $11,000,000. Yet as far as the German supply is concerned, it is said that the present rate of demand upon the great potash salts are used for many purposes to last for 600,000 years. These potash salts are used for many purposes in this country—in gold mining, glassmaking, soap-making, bleaching, dyeing, in photography and medicine, in the manufacture of explosives and for fertilizers. In recent years there have been attempts to discover potash in paying quantities in the western desert portions of the United States.

A zoo expert says that snakes must be protected. For obvious reasons, those who disagree with him will be afraid to do anything but give an apparent acquiescence, if they do not wish to subject themselves to serious suspicion.

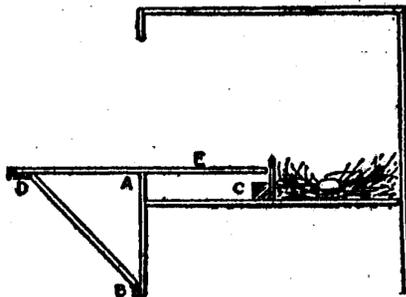

POULTRY

TRAP NEST EASILY WORKED

Simple Contrivance is Operated by Weight of Hen—Fowl is Removed From the Top.

In the illustration herewith is shown the simplest form of trap nest imaginable, says the Orange Judd Farmer. The hen alights on the running board and walks toward the nest. When she approaches the point E her weight depresses that end of the board and disconnects the support D, which falls of its own weight. Then when she steps into the nest, the board being heavier on the outside and hinged at A, tips until the opening to the nest is closed. The hen is removed from the top of the nest, which is then set as shown in the cut.

COOP FOR HENS AND CHICKS

Common A-Shaped Affair is Easily Constructed and Can Be Made Without Any Floor.

The accompanying illustration shows a common A-shaped coop used for hen and chickens. It is quickly and easily made, says the Homestead. As shown in the illustration it is three feet wide, two feet from front to back and two feet high. The cross-pieces nailed on the front side are three inches apart. Ordinarily a coop of this kind is made with a floor, although this is not absolutely necessary. If it is not floored care must be taken to have it placed where water will not enter in case of heavy rains.

Capons Pay Best.

A few years ago capons were seldom found on sale except in some of the more exclusive markets, in the largest cities. This was largely because poultry raisers have only in recent years learned that caponizing insures not only a higher price per pound for their fowls, but an increase in weight for each bird. A capon not infrequently attains a weight of from fourteen to sixteen pounds, or practically twice that of the ordinary rooster of the same breed. And with other conditions similar the meat is always sweeter, always tender and usually just fat enough to make a good appearance and readily salable at from four to six cents a pound above that of ordinary poultry.

CLEAN WATER FOR POULTRY

Drinking Fountain So Arranged That Hens Cannot Scratch Litter and Dirt Into Pan.

When the hens are shut up in the house, they are very apt to scratch dirt into the drinking pan and also to muddy up same, by standing in it with their feet. By using about twelve 11-inch lengths of heavy wire, the wire protector shown in illustration can be easily and simply made. The wire is joined together at the top by winding with a piece of malleable wire, and the wires are then bent outward in the form shown at the bottom, bent so as to fit into the drinking water pan and remain upright. This leaves ample room for the hens to reach the water to drink, but prevents their getting into the pan. By setting the pan on a platform about ten inches above the floor it will be out of the way of litter when the hens are scratching.

Fountain Kept Clean.

TWO CAUSES OF LIMBERNECK

Usually Brought by Fowls Eating Decayed Meat Full of Maggots—Also by Ptomaine Poison.

Limberneck is an inflection that is usually caused by fowl eating decayed meat full of maggots. Some assert it is also a result of ptomaine poisoning. The remedy is turpentine, and the following is a good treatment: Mix a tablespoonful in an equal amount of warm water, and pour into the crop. Follow by filling the crop nearly full with warm water, and then, holding the fowl by the feet, head down, gently work out the entire contents. When thoroughly cleaned give a tablespoon of castor oil and allow the fowl to remain quiet by itself until recovered. To prevent this trouble, at least once a week make a careful inspection of the range to see that no dead, decaying animal bodies are laying about breeding maggots.

Corn and Plymouth Rocks.

A hen should not have a very great quantity of corn. It soon makes her too fat. This is especially true of the larger fowls. The Leghorn is more of a runabout and seldom gets too far for good laying, but Plymouth Rocks are not to be trusted with too much corn before them.

POULTRY NOTES

Regularity in feeding should be the plan.

The hen that will not scratch is not a well one.

It is generally estimated that broilers shrink about a half pound when dressed.

Poultrymen make a regular practice of raising roots, cabbage and lettuce for their laying hens.

The best food for sitting hens is whole corn, with plenty of pure water, grit and charcoal.

A loafer in the hen house is not a desirable companion for good, strong, healthy, busy hens.

If there are two toms in the flock and they don't agree, shut up one day and the other the next.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Cures all humors, catarrh and rheumatism, relieves that tired feeling, restores the appetite, cures paleness, nervousness, builds up the whole system.

The Second Dimension.

It was on a little branch railway in a southern state that the New England woman ventured to refer to the high rates. "It seems to me five cents a mile is extortion," she said, with frankness, to her southern cousin.

"It's a big lot of money to pay if you think of it by the mile," said the southerner, in her soft drawl: "but you just think how cheap it is by the hour, Cousin Annie—only about thirty-five cents."—Youth's Companion.

DON'T NEGLECT YOUR KIDNEYS.

Kidney troubles are too serious to neglect. Slight ailments are often forerunners of dangerous kidney illness and should be treated without delay.

Obadiah B. Crane, 222 First Av., Watertown, S. Dak., says: "I was taken with rheumatic pains and my left limb was almost paralyzed. I hobbled around with a cane as weak as a child. I was afflicted with a bladder weakness and was compelled to arise several times during the night. Shortly after I commenced to use Doan's Kidney Pills; I could do work, that was before impossible. I am stronger and better than in years."

THREE CURED OF ECZEMA

"When a child, I suffered eight years with eczema. I could not sleep at night, and had sores all over my chest. We had doctors and none could do any good, until my mother saw the advertisement of the Cuticura Remedies in the paper. We used the Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent, and they cured me of eczema. I also used them on my five children. Two of them had eczema very badly. When my children had eczema, I was not worried at all, as I knew the Cuticura Remedies would do their work. They had sores all over their heads, their hair would fall out, and they would scratch all night and day. They had it on their heads, face, and in back of the ears so that I thought their ears would drop off. I washed their heads and bodies with Cuticura Soap and they are as clean as the driven snow. Cuticura Soap and Ointment also cured my children of ringworm. I would not be without the Cuticura Remedies. They are wonderful." (Signed) Mrs. Violet Cole, 26 S. Redfield St., Philadelphia, Pa., Oct. 29, 1910.

SYSTEM WORKS WELL

SHOWING VALUE OF HOUSEKEEPERS' PENCIL AND PAD.

Hours of Searching Saved When All Things Are Enumerated as They Are Put Away—Family's Whereabouts Accounted For.

It was when making a visit that I learned how pencils may simplify housekeeping. My friend took me first to her storeroom, at the top of the house, where were many trunks, boxes and packages. Each one bore a paper or card on which was written a list of its contents. "You see, I never have to spend any time looking for anything," she said, "because whenever an article is put away the fact is noted on the box or package. When anything is taken out it is crossed off from the list. A pencil and tablet on the door make this the work of an instant, and thus I save myself hours of searching."

We went to the rooms of the various members of the household, and on each closet door hung a pencil and tablet. "So far as possible I have the possessions of each member stored in his closet," said my friend, "but when this is not possible I note the fact on the back of the tablet, telling where each article may be found. One year I was taken sick in the autumn just when winter clothes were needed, and, thanks to this method, the family were able to find their heavy coats, gloves, caps, etc., without ever once coming to me."

Hall closets were treated in the same way. In the kitchen there was a tablet and pencil, on which to write a list of articles needed, another on which were written the menus for the three meals of the day, while a drawer of alphabetically arranged cards contained recipes. "Before I thought of this system," said my friend, "I was often annoyed by not seeing on the table dishes which I thought I had ordered, and sometimes my cook and I had differences of opinion as to which of us had forgotten. Now there is never any trouble. And now I must show you one thing more."

This proved to be a tablet in the hall on which the various members of the family wrote when they went out. Here I read: "L.—At dentist's; home at 3 p. m." "G.—Shopping; back for lunch." "It's such a help to the maid," was her comment, and I knew without her telling me, how much running up and down stairs it saved.

It is needless to say that I adopted her system at once, and I cannot say how many times in the years that have passed I have thanked my friend for showing me the value of a housekeeper's pencil.—Exchange.

Onion Soup.

Put six ounces of butter in a large saucepan over the fire and stir into it four large white onions, cut up, not sliced. Stew this slowly for one hour, stirring frequently to prevent its scorching. Add salt, pepper, cayenne and about one quart of stock, and cook one hour longer. Then stir into the mixture one and a half cups of milk and simmer for a few minutes. Have ready a soup tureen. In it beat the yolks of four eggs, with two table-spoons of grated parmesan cheese. Stir the hot soup into this, beating until it thickens a little. A slice of toasted French bread should be placed in each plate and the soup poured over it.

Potato Salad.

Slice cold boiled potatoes and put a layer in a salad dish; cover with thin slices of hard-boiled eggs and strew with bits of pickled onion; when the dish is full pour over them a dressing made in the proportion of one table-spoon of salt to half as much pepper, and the same quantity of made mustard; beat up well before pouring over the salad; let all stand ten minutes or more before serving.

Woman's Power Over Man

Woman's most glorious endowment is the power to awaken and hold the pure and honest love of a worthy man. When she loses it and still loves on, no one in the wide world can know the heart agony she endures. The woman who suffers from weakness and derangement of her special womanly organism soon loses the power to sway the heart of a man. Her general health suffers and she loses her good looks, her attractiveness, her amiability and her power and prestige as a woman. Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., with the assistance of his staff of able physicians, has prescribed for and cured many thousands of women. He has devised a successful remedy for woman's ailments. It is known as Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is a positive specific for the weaknesses and disorders peculiar to women. It purifies, regulates, strengthens and heals. Medicine dealers sell it. No honest dealer will advise you to accept a substitute in order to make a little larger profit.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG, SICK WOMEN WELL.

New Mexico Catch Phrase Contest.

July 9th, 1911,

For use in advertising and on stationary and literature the Bureau of Immigration wants a new "catch phrase" which, in the most striking manner, will impress on the reader at a glance the resources and opportunities of New Mexico. The old catch phrases, such as "Ho! to the Land of Sunshine," "Heart of the Well Country," "The Land of Opportunity," etc., are examples of what is wanted. These were first originated and used by New Mexico, but are now being extensively copied by other states and communities in their advertising matter. The New Mexico Bureau wants a catch phrase as good and striking as these old ones, but original and new.

The Bureau therefore has offered a prize of $5.00 for the best "catch phrase" submitted, and a second prize of $2.50 for the second best phrase.

The conditions of the contest are:

First—The contestants must be residents of New Mexico.

Second—No phrase will be considered which contains more than eight words. The shorter the better.

The contest will close August 1st, 1911. All entries must be so addressed: "Catch Phrase" Contest, Bureau of Immigration, Albuquerque, N. M.

The contest will be decided by a committee composed of the President of the Bureau of immigration and two disinterested New Mexico newspaper men who will not be permitted to compete. Every phrase should have the author's name and postoffice address written plainly on the same sheet with the phrase.

The Bureau also desires a "catch verse" of the same nature as the "catch phrase" and will give one prize of $2.50 for the best verse submitted on or before August 1st. The conditions are the same as above except that no verse will be considered which contains more than four lines.

The verse contest will be decided in the same manner and by the same committee as above.

The Goldstain ore has been looking good for quite a while, and within the last few days some very good ore was encountered in veins.

We learn that Mr. Franklin, of the Revenen Company, struck rich ore in the Revenen shaft last week. We are delighted to know that these companies are realizing something after so long a time.

Some of our people went to White Oaks Sunday to witness the ball game.

There came near being another wedding here last week. All was ready, even the important little paper so necessary on such occasions, when the irate father put in his appearance, and annulled the proceedings with a decided "No."

Mr. Chrat was in Jicarilla a day or two last week looking for cattle.

Mr. Handy, a brother to the late O. G. Handy, is in camp visiting with Mr. Stoneroad. He may remain indefinitely.

Mr. T. W. Stonewad is in the Corona country hauling wool to storage for the sheep men of that vicinity.

The Fourth of July was badly bespattered with rain and mud in the forenoon, but Old Sol smiled upon us at intervals during the afternoon. However, some of the sports were abandoned on account of the mud.

The Mexicans had quite a large crowd at the picnic grounds near the store on the Fourth. They danced day and night.

We learn from a gentleman from Los Angeles, Cal., that Dick Cavanaugh is very low with lumbago. "Uncle Dick," as we all called him, is an old timer in Lincoln county, and we regret his misfortune. He is an inmate of the Soldiers' Home.
