The Browns Win.

Sunday morning at 9 o'clock a hundred people left Carrizozo to accompany the Carrizozo Browns to Alamogordo, with the hope animating every breast that the Browns would return with victory perched upon their banners. In this they were not disappointed, for the Browns appeared on the field with a strong, active, ball-playing nine, and they played ball from the beginning to the end of the game. For fear our readers may think we are prejudiced in the above remark, allow us to give the score 8 to 0 and we feel that none can question the statement after the score is named.

The first two or three innings were excellent exhibitions of the national game, and neither team, struggle as it would, could get a runner over the plate that counted a score. But a long drive by Robertson, Carrizozo's pitcher, started the ball going, and another safe hit, coupled with two errors on the part of the Alamos, gave the Browns 4 runs. The Alamos settled down to business after that, and made it difficult for the Browns to score, but by dint of good playing 4 more runs, scattered over 5 innings, were credited to the Browns, while the Alamos had to content themselves with getting to third base three times, and that was the nearest they came to scoring.

The batteries were Pelphrey and Chant for Alamogordo, and Robertson and B. Dingwall for the Browns. Justice demands that we give Pelphrey credit for pitching a good game, and while some of the boys touched him up pretty lively at times, yet he secured a number of strike-outs, and really pitched a good game. In fact, his pitching was not at fault in the production of the 8 scores, for had he had stronger backing the score would have been cut in half. Robertson, who pitched for the Browns, and who has generally been considered a good pitcher, was in magnificent form, and made the best record he has ever had with the Browns. He struck out 17 men during the game, and at all times held the Alamos in the hollow of his hand—or to be more exact, at the tips of his fingers. In addition to his magnificent twirling, Robertson had a field behind him where nothing got away; and with such a combination how could the result be otherwise?

And fans! the grand stand was packed full of them, about equal in number for both teams, but the fans for the Browns had 'em skinned when it came to effective rooting; for in addition to the lively bunch that went from here, Tularosa furnished a crew of live ones, and they did the right thing for Carrizozo. That Tularosa bunch was a live one, on the dead square, and the manner they handed the hot stuff to Alamo warmed the hearts of the loyal Carrizozoans.

We failed to get the entire lineup of the Alamo team, but the following is that of Carrizozo:

Robertson, pitcher; Dingwall, B. catcher; Gallacher John, 1st. base; Ferguson, 2nd. base; Gallacher Will, 3rd. base; Dingwall W. short stop; McLean right field; Van Schoyck center field; Longhrey left field.

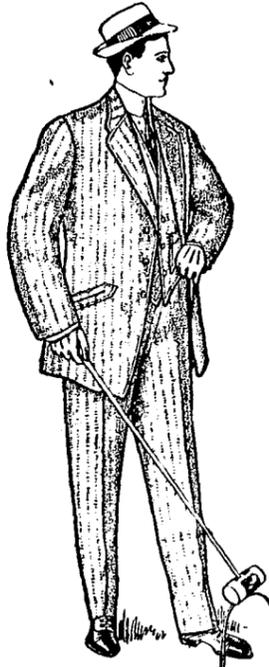

Defeat, however, failed to dampen the spirits of the Alamos, nor did they forget the courtesies due to strangers within their gates. In fact the boys in the Cottonwood city are to be congratulated on the magnificent manner they entertained the visitors; for they never allowed a dull moment to pass. The gates of the city were unlocked, the keys were thrown away, and when the crowd streamed to the depot to take a late train for home, it was a tired bunch, but a jolly one, and each and every feeling that the entertainment offered was worthy of emulation, that Alamogordo was full of the best people in the land and that they were entitled to the blue ribbon as funmakers.

Two games were arranged with the Alamos, to be played on the Carrizozo diamond, Saturday and Sunday, August 12th., and 13th. In Saturday's game the visitors will be met by the Browns, while White Oaks will give them a run for the Sunday game. The game is going in good shape now; let all who enjoy the sport lend a helping hand to entertain the visitors and make their stay a pleasant one.

MAN WITHOUT A PAIN.

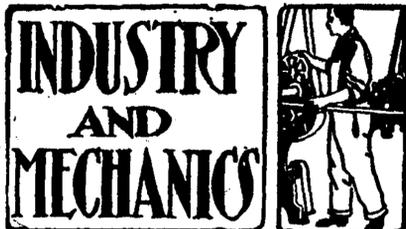

Hurrah for the man without a pain! If he is not the salt of the earth, then the earth must surely remain unsalted. He feels no inward burning necessity of breaking into newspapers with constant declarations as to the badness of men and things. He is not full of suppressed resolutions as to the wickedness of everybody else, says the Chicago Inter-Ocean. He has no special yearning to ascend Chautauqua platforms and feed full the listening throngs with all the horrors of existence. In private life he is the citizen who looks after his family, who is regarded as a good neighbor and who gains and deserves the respect of all those who know him. In the business world he is the man who does his work without a lot of noise and wasted motion and thereby earns the gratitude of his associates or employers. In public life he is the man who sees that the business of government gets attended to and leaves to louder statesmen the honors of big headlines and Chautauqua lectureships. After hearing or reading the studied and laborious complainings of the other variety, the thought of him is like the murmur of pleasant waters. It cools, refreshes and strengthens the jaded spirit. It reminds one that everything is far from being lost, that the world's work is still being efficiently done, that the republic is safe, and that the sun is still shining.

A Boston restaurant keeper kept a green turtle on its back in his window and was tried on a charge of cruelty to animals. A Harvard university professor testified that the turtle was more nearly related to the birds than the fishes, but the defense took the ground that it was not an animal, but a fish, and the judge instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of not guilty. Whatever intellectual Boston may hold as to the status of the reptiles, there is no good reason why the laws forbidding cruelty to animals should not be broad enough to cover more than warm-blooded animals.

An Oak Park professor is advocating the establishment of a school in which the art and science of courtship may be taught. Good heaven! Has the man no knowledge of human nature? As soon as courtship is made a thing that people will have to study and work at nobody will wish to indulge in it. The way to make courtship popular—which seems to the Oak Park professor's object—is to enact a law prohibiting it.

The sick friend is serving useful purposes. He has long served as an excuse for the belated homefarer who has been sitting by his bedside. Now he is coming in handy for the speeding motorist who is hastening to his dying bed. It would be a great shock to his loving friends if by some mischance this convenient scapegoat should suddenly recover.

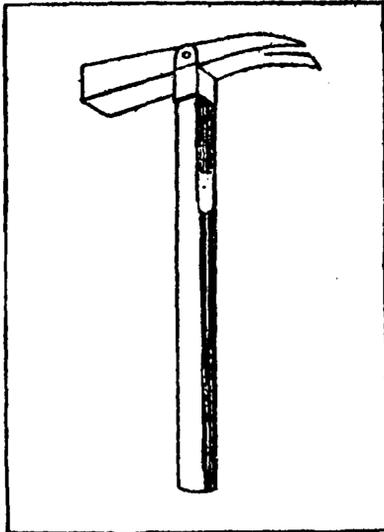

That Pennsylvania farmer who took a club and proceeded to batter up an automobile whose driver refused to stop when the farmer's cattle became frightened, possibly acted contrary to law, but his deed shows the dangerous state of mind engendered in the public by autolists who decline to act reasonably on the road or who ignore the rights of pedestrians.

HAMMER IS EASILY CARRIED

Folds Up Like a Jack Knife and May Be Put in One's Pocket—Head Slides Into Handle.

Aristocratic carpenters will welcome the folding tack hammer invented by a Pennsylvania man. A man owning one of these deceptive tools need never be recognized as a workingman, but may transform it into a straight stick at an instant's notice and pass for a bank president. The top of the handle is bifurcated for a sufficient distance to receive the puller portion of the head. The head is pivoted at the top and is held firm in a sliding metal band which fits over the handle and is pushed up to the top when the tool is in use. When not in use this band is slid down till the puller end of the head lies within the bifurcated portion of the handle and then replaced to keep the head in position, the whole presenting the appearance of a short, heavy stick. As will readily be understood, a hammer of this design has many advantages, chief of which is the ease with which it may be carried in the pocket.

STAND FOR DRAWING BOARD

Enables Artist to Adjust Table to Any Angle of Height—Appears to Be Almost Indispensable.

In the adjustable support for drawing boards invented by an Ohio man artists would appear to have an almost indispensable article. With it a board can be adjusted to any angle or height, and the whole apparatus can be clamped on the edge of a table. Through the clamp runs an iron upright rod with a hinged top, to which the board is fixed. The rod is held at the desired height by a thumb screw in a vise. The hinged portion at the top can be turned so that the board is either resting level or is tilted at any degree. The movement of this part, too, is regulated by a thumb-screw, which must be loosened to permit the tilting of the board and tightened to hold it in place, so that the artist does not move it in working. A somewhat similar apparatus in use for many years has a heavy stand to act as a bottom. When not in use this support can be removed from the table it is on and stowed away in a corner.

CEMENT INDUSTRY GROWING

Present Relative Importance is Rarely Understood—Ranks Third Only to Coal and Iron.

The growth of the Portland cement industry has not ended, and its present relative importance is rarely understood, says the Engineering Magazine. Its increase in size and in commercial influence bring with them certain consequences which might well be borne in mind at the present moment. We can no longer feel that the cement industry is small and unimportant, and that its condition is purely a matter of private or local interest. On the contrary, it must be realized that the soundness of the cement industry has now become a matter of interest not only to cement manufacturers, but to commercial and financial interests generally. In capital employed it probably ranks third only to iron and coal among the American mineral industries. It certainly far outranks, in this respect, all the gold mining industry of the United States and Alaska. Even the copper industry falls into lower place, for Finlay has recently estimated that the value of all the copper mining and smelting plants of the United States is only $110,000,000. From the banking point of view, therefore, we are dealing with one of the three great extractive industries of the world.

Oak in Two Classes.

There is a great deal of confusion in the lumber market at the present time as to oak. There is a variety of oaks and some kinds have many names, but the foresters simplify the matter by dividing them into two great classes, the white oak group and the black oak group, which have very different characteristics. At the present time it is said to be impossible to obtain an order for white oak that does not contain a number of different kinds, and it is not infrequent that there is to be found among it some red oak which belongs to the black oak class. In some markets "cabinet white oak" is regarded by many as a mixture of oaks, while in some others it means red oak only. This varied nomenclature and classification has been the cause of many delays and disputes in the trade, and the agricultural department is at the present time struggling with the matter in the endeavor to secure some systematic classification and understanding about these woods.

Aluminum Unsuitable for Coins.

After many months of discussion and experimenting the French government has decided not to adopt aluminum coinage. This is on the recommendation of the commission of scientists whom the government appointed to consider the subject. A certain number of aluminum coins were made as a test, but the lightness of the white metal, which was one of its chief recommendations, has condemned it.

Glass That Won't Break.

Glass that is unbreakable has been produced for the first time at Baccarat, France. The new process has been successfully applied to the manufacture of lamp chimneys for use in coal mines containing much fire-damp. The glass makers of Baccarat have also succeeded in increasing the elasticity of the glass.

TO WASH LINGERIE WAISTS

Dip Them in Lukewarm Lather of Naphtha Soapsuds and Rub the Soiled Spots.

In the case of lingerie waists too fine to stand the weekly boiling by the home laundress, the alternative of the cleaner's establishment is a dip into a lukewarm lather of naphtha soap suds and a rub on the soiled spots with the same soap. The waist is then rolled up wet and left all night in a china bowl. In the morning, without further handling, it is rinsed in warm water, the water being changed until the final rinsing leaves it perfectly clear. The usual bluing and starching process follows and the waist is dried in the sun. It is then dampened and rolled up until it shows an even dampness suitable for ironing and is pressed quickly and carefully, care being taken about having an iron of the right degree of heat. The process gives a lovely, clear whiteness to the linen or cotton fabric of the blouse and does not rot even the finest goods. It may not be resorted to for colored materials, but for anything white it is invaluable. In these days when electric irons may be used in the privacy of one's own room at the summer hotel, a capable maid can do up all the best waists in this way.

IRONING BOARD FOR SLEEVES

Device of An Ohio Man That Will Be Appreciated by the Wise Housewife.

The average ironing board is much too large to slip into the sleeve of the average woman's shirtwaist, so an Ohio man has devised a sleeve ironing board. This device is made of two boards, one acting as a base and the other, shaped like a sleeve, hinged upon it and collapsible so that the two can be folded together when necessary and form a flat object, taking up little room. A hook fastened to the baseboard holds the ironing section rigid in whatever position it is desired, either closed or elevated. This is achieved by thrusting the free end of the hook into one of various holes along the supports, and the ironing portion is thus maintained at different levels. Without a device of this kind the laundress can only iron sleeves out by going over them as they lie stretched out on the board, and this process often causes unsightly creases. Slipped over a small board the sleeves can be formed smooth in every part.

Homemade Liniment.

Dissolve ten cents' worth of gum camphor in one teacup of ammonia or alcohol and shake well; then add half a pint of pure olive oil and ten cents' worth of glycerin; shake well before using. This liniment will cure sciatic rheumatism by rubbing the parts in pain from six to eight weeks, and will not return. It will take the swelling from a sore throat.

SALADS FROM WAYSIDE

MANY WILD DELICACIES WHICH HOUSEWIVES CAN USE.

Dandelion Has First Place Among Such Greens—Sorrel Makes Delicious Soups and May Be Served in Other Ways.

There is a goodly supply of delicacies in the hedges, which the French housewife in her wisdom uses for her health's sake in salads. Foremost among the wild greens is dandelion, a valuable medicine for the liver.

Cooked alone it is good, but its bitter flavor may be mitigated by mingling it with spinach.

Dandelion salad is extremely wholesome. Take the young and tender green leaves of the plant and wash them thoroughly with cold water, but do not braise the leaves. Lay them in a glass dish, and pour over two tablespoonfuls of olive oil, one tablespoonful of lemon juice, pepper, salt, and sugar to taste.

Little early shoots of corn, cooked, or served as a salad, are another much appreciated delicacy.

Sorrel, too. Both the French and Germans make delicious soups, salads and other dishes of the vegetable, the fresh acid of which is wholesome on languid days. Gather a few handfuls and cook it as you would cook a puree of spinach, and serve it as a relish with roast beef instead of horseradish sauce, or with lamb instead of mint sauce.

Sorrel makes a good addition to spinach, if you use three-quarters spinach and one-quarter sorrel.

In cooking these acid herbs and greenstuffs a porcelain vessel must be used, and not a metal one.

Nettle tops may be treated with advantage in just the same way.

A few leaves of sorrel added to any salad improves its flavor, but whenever you use sorrel in salad mix less vinegar than usual with the dressing, as the acid in sorrel is well nigh sufficient.

For a watercress salad the following is a food Italian receipt:

Wash three or four bunches of watercress and drain them, slice four or five cold boiled potatoes very thin, and mix with the following sauce: Four tablespoonfuls of oil, half a tablespoonful of vinegar, salt and black pepper to taste, one shallot minced up fine, half a pinch of cayenne and half a tablespoonful of sugar.

Sorrel may likewise be made into a puree either with a meat stock or maigre, and is delicious if stewed. Boil some cleaned sorrel until tender and rub through a sieve into a stewpan. Add a tablespoonful of bechamel sauce, a little salt and vinegar, and two ounces and a half of fresh butter. Stew a few minutes and serve.

The bechamel sauce is made like this: Mix three tablespoonfuls of butter and three of flour to a smooth paste, put half an onion and half a carrot sliced, a little bit of mace, two teacupfuls of white stock, a pinch of salt and grated nutmeg, and a bouquet in a stewpan; simmer for half an hour, stirring often; then add one teacupful of cream, boil at once, strain and serve.

Favorite Mince Meat.

Three pounds beef off the round, one and a half pounds kidney suet, two heaping milk pans chopped apples, three pounds raisins, two pounds currants, one pound citron, one pound lemon and orange peel mixed, the juice and grated rind of six lemons, one quart molasses, one quart boiled cider, three cups brown sugar, four tablespoons cinnamon, one tablespoon cloves, one tablespoon mace, one tablespoon allspice, one glass jelly. Mix all together and cook until it boils, then add one pint brandy, bottle and seal.

THE REASON.

De Quiz—Are you in favor of a safe and sane Fourth of July?

De Whiz—No; let the boys have all the giant firecrackers they want.

De Quiz—But such things are dangerous.

De Whiz—I know it. I haven't any boys.

HIRAM CARPENTER'S WONDERFUL CURE OF PSORIASIS.

"I have been afflicted for twenty years with an obstinate skin disease, called by some M. D.'s psoriasis, and others leprosy, commencing on my scalp; and in spite of all I could do, with the help of the most skillful doctors, it slowly but surely extended until a year ago this winter it covered my entire person in the form of dry scales. For the last three years I have been unable to do any labor, and suffering intensely all the time. Every morning there would be nearly a dustpanful of scales taken from the sheet on my bed, some of them half as large as the envelope containing this letter. In the latter part of winter my skin commenced cracking open. I tried everything, almost, that could be thought of, without any relief. The 12th of June I started West, in hopes I could reach the Hot Springs. I reached Detroit and was so low I thought I should have to go to the hospital, but finally got as far as Lansing, Mich., where I had a sister living. One Dr. — treated me about two weeks, but did me no good. All thought I had but a short time to live. I earnestly prayed to die. Cracked through the skin all over my back, across my ribs, arms, hands, limbs; feet badly swollen; toe-nails came off; finger-nails dead and hard as a bone; hair dead, dry and lifeless as old straw. O my God! how I did suffer.

"My sister wouldn't give up; said, 'We will try Cuticura.' Some was applied to one hand and arm. Eureka! there was relief; stopped the terrible burning sensation from the word go. They immediately got Cuticura Resolvent, Ointment and Soap. I commenced by taking Cuticura Resolvent three times a day after meals; had a bath once a day, water about blood heat; used Cuticura Soap freely; applied Cuticura Ointment morning and evening. Result: returned to my home in just six weeks from the time I left, and my skin as smooth as this sheet of paper. Hiram E. Carpenter, Henderson, N. Y."

The above remarkable testimonial was written January 19, 1880, and is republished because of the permanency of the cure. Under date of April 22, 1910, Mr. Carpenter wrote from his present home, 610 Walnut St. So., Lansing, Mich.: "I have never suffered a return of the psoriasis and although many years have passed I have not forgotten the terrible suffering I endured before using the Cuticura Remedies."

With or Without.

The announcement has gone forth that the president will veto the Flood resolution, because of a provision therein giving the people of New Mexico a chance to vote on an easier amendment and the people of Arizona a chance to eliminate the recall in their constitution. On the other hand, the president is credited with saying that he will approve the Nelson substitute, which provides for the admission of New Mexico under the constitution adopted by the people, and the admission of Arizona with the recall stricken out.

We are not so much interested in Arizona, but simple justice demands that if New Mexico goes in on her constitution, and she should, Arizona should be given the same privilege. The Flood resolution gives the people of both territories the opportunity to change their constitutions, but a change is not a prerequisite to admission; while the president insists that Arizona's constitution must be changed before she can be admitted. The Flood resolution is much fairer than the position taken by the president; for if the constitutions of either are to be tampered with it is up to the people to do it, and if the people do not desire a change no harm is done and both territories come in as states. The president, however, insists on congress arbitrarily changing Arizona's constitution. The effect of such action is apparent—it means delay and quite possibly defeat. It is too evident that the territories are not wanted.

The Month of August.

August promises to be a most interesting month for New Mexico and for Lincoln county particularly. On the seventh, the senate is to decide our fate as to statehood—if statehood is guaranteed it will be a red letter day, if defeated or delayed it will be a black letter day. Also, again, for the people of this county, this month is fraught with big things.

The territorial supreme court meets on the fifteenth, and during its sessions the Lincoln county contest for the location of the county seat will be up for hearing. If the lower court is sustained, and the territorial supreme court has twice handed down a decision sustaining the lower court, the injunction will be dissolved and work on the county buildings will recommence. On the other hand, should the territorial supreme court give an adverse decision to the one advanced by the lower court, the merry fight will proceed and no man can forecast the ultimate result. Therefore, to the people of Lincoln county August will be long remembered, and with the results, whatever they are, will follow joy and sorrow—joy for those who win, sorrow for those who lose.

Troublous Mexico.

Peace, that was fondly hoped for in Mexico upon the retirement of Diaz, appears to have been a dream. A number of minor engagements have taken place between the Magonistas, or liberals, and the Maderistas, or the government. Several lives have been lost and the feeling between the two factions seems to be growing in intensity. Business affairs, too, continue to suffer from such unsettled conditions and the future of that republic is not as bright as it should be. What the end will be no one can tell, but if there is serious dissatisfaction over the coming election, and that now seems certain, another revolution is almost sure to follow.

Reciprocity went through the senate just like it came from the house, an overwhelming majority being given the pact. Now, everyone wonders, with such a vote favoring the proposition, why it took three months to put it through.

Next Tuesday is the day on which New Mexico is hanging its hopes. Sentiment is about equally divided as to our chance for statehood. Our position is that almost any minor incident is liable to turn the scale for or against us, and we are forearmed against surprise or disappointment.

Looks Like Flood Resolution.
W. C. McDonald, chairman of the territorial democratic central committee, returned yesterday from the east. While absent he visited the national capital, and looked over the statehood situation. He feels that next Tuesday the Flood resolution will go through the senate, with possibly some minor amendments. What the president will do when the matter reaches him is only a matter of conjecture, but those fellows who have so readily secured the ear of the president and announce that he will veto the resolution are drawing largely on their imagination. It seems quite certain, Mr. McDonald thinks, that the president will be given the chance—veto or sign. The Nelson substitute has little show.

Lincoln County Good Enough.

George A. Montgomery returned Saturday morning from a visit to his old home in Minnesota. Mr. Montgomery was called to Minnesota in February, this year by a telegram announcing the serious illness of his mother, who died shortly after he reached her bedside. He remained there some time, assisting in straightening up the family estate, and came to visit a brother in Oklahoma before returning home. Notwithstanding the fine sections visited, Mr. Montgomery says this country looks about as good as any, and that he was glad to get home.

To Nursery Men.

Why I come in contact with nursery fruit? The fruit raised in New Mexico is superior to any. No finer fruit raised anywhere. Unreliable nurseries are and have been trying to deliver goods that are not up to the standard, through some one. The nurseries of Kansas and Oklahoma, were trying to put on the fruit growers an inferior grade of nursery stock, when I represented James Truitt Sons, of Chanute, Kansas, promised the fruit growers first class goods, they failed to do so, and will personally replace each article that failed to grow. The customers that have not taken their goods because they were not as promised, will call and remedy the matter. No better fruit country any where then in New Mexico, then why not have the best.

Very truly,

ADDITIONAL LOCAL.

J. R. Humphrey has closed out his jewelry business and will leave soon for Banning, California.

The past ten days have gone by without rain, and vegetation of all kinds is beginning to need moisture.

Sunday school was conducted in the new Methodist church Sunday. The attendance was better than usual.

That Tularosa bunch at Alamogordo Sunday certainly ginged up things. The way they rooted for Carrizozo was calculated to give the Alamos cold feet.

Ed C. Pfingsten was down Wednesday. He delivered a 4,000-pound safe here, the property of the V V ranch people. It was a clumsy piece of metal to handle.

The Baptist church has recently been given a substantial coating of paint. The dressing not only adds to the attractiveness of the building but also to its longevity.

Alamogordo did herself proud in the manner she entertained the Carrizozoans Sunday. It is hoped that Carrizozo will return the compliment with interest when the Alamos visit us.

Mrs. W. L. Gumm returned Friday from the Silver City country. She attended the Silver City normal, and at its close visited a week with Mr. and Mrs. John F. Gumm in the Mimbres valley.

Tom Johnson expects to leave to-morrow for Chicago, to be absent about three weeks. He has a proposition of considerable moment to self and friends, and if put through will mean much to Lincoln county.

Rev. B. I. Walker, has been called by the Baptist congregation at this place for the coming year. The new minister is not a stranger to our people, having visited here often the past few months, while living in Alamogordo.

Loretz and Gumm, the former a commission merchant of El Paso, visited the Bonito and Ruidoso orchards the past week, inspecting the fruit crop. They report a rather heavy crop, but most orchards somewhat damaged by hail.

The Dingwall Bros. and Robertson were called to Tucumcari this week to play in a four-day ball tournament. Bennett Dingwall had a bum ankle, received in the Alamogordo game Sunday, and will probably be unable to play the game as she should be played.

Gumm and Phillips have received the casing and a large pump for their new well west of the mal pais. They expect to insert the casing and place the pump in action as soon as possible, in order to test the strength of the well.

Mesdames Lena Gallacher and Zellah Bird, daughters of Mrs. Mamie R. Grumbles, arrived this week from Texas. They had been visiting relatives in Texas, and Mrs. Bird accompanied her sister on a visit to their mother here before returning to her home in Oklahoma.

Dr. T. H. Williams arrived Saturday from Chickasha, Oklahoma. He left Monday for Tularosa, from which point he will go to the Ruidoso for a fishing trip. He will return here the latter part of the month and practice his profession—dentistry—a short time before going to Oklahoma.

Mrs. Geo. Stevens arrived Wednesday from Kansas City and is visiting her sister, Mrs. W. L. Gumm. She will remain a month in the county, spending part of the time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Austin, at Angus, and with another sister, Mrs. Dr. Laws, at Lincoln. She is accompanied by a son.

Lincoln Baptist Association Meets.

The first session of the Lincoln Baptist Association met in the Baptist church last night. A number of ministers and delegates from different parts of the district are present, and still more are expected to arrive today. The sessions will extend over Sunday.

A well known Des Moines woman after suffering miserably for two days from bowel complaint, was cured by one dose of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. For sale by all dealers.

Seemed to Give Him a New Stomach.

"I suffered intensely after eating and no medicine or treatment I tried seemed to do any good," writes H. M. Youngpeters, Editor of The Sun, Lake View, Ohio. "The first few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets gave me surprising relief and the second bottle seemed to give me a new stomach and perfectly good health." For sale by all dealers.

Socialist County Organization.

At a meeting of the Socialist annual convention which met at Willard, New Mexico, July 18th., 1911, it was unanimously agreed that the Socialist should begin at once to organize in every county in New Mexico, where there are enough Socialist to form a local, and all who are interested in the Socialist movement in Lincoln county are requested to write me at once for full particulars.

C. B. Lane, Alto, New Mexico.

Old Men to Organize.

The old men of the town are working up an organization to be known as the "Good Old Men's Society." The limitation "good" may deprive the organization of a large number of prospective members, and the promoters may be compelled to eliminate that troublesome adjective. Another restriction is that all members must have lost their teeth. Pete Johnson has only two left, but agrees to have those extracted in order to become a charter member. Geo. Spence will probably be chosen the G. B. A. and D., while Geo. D. Tarbell has been agreed upon for the T. S. V. and J.

The reason for this organization, one of the prime movers informed us, was that the toothless masculines had been denied membership in all other organizations. Who can blame them for the institution of an order where they may reign supreme?

Frame New Rules for Federal Courts

WASHINGTON.—Chief Justice White of the United States Supreme court has appointed a committee to revise the rules of equity practice in the United States courts. The committee is composed of himself, Justices Lurton and Van Deventer, the only members of the Supreme court who have had experience on the bench of the United States circuit court, Justice Lurton since 1893 and Justice Van Deventer since 1903.

This move is the initial step in a great reform in federal court procedure, which has long been advocated by Justice White, who has often criticized the antiquated practice on the chancery side of these courts.

The present rules were promulgated in 1842. They are adapted in their entirety from the ancient rules of the high court of chancery of England, and are cumbersome and complicated in the highest degree, lending themselves to delays and embarrassing litigation rather than expediting causes.

It is significant that the rules from which the United States court rules of equity practice were adapted have long since been displaced in the English practice, and in almost every minor jurisdiction in the United States where they were in force in the last century have been abandoned for code procedure or amended in accord with modern ideas and practice.

Members of the bar in commenting on the proposed reform without exception commend it. They say that the rules as they now stand, if rigidly enforced, would involve litigation in an endless snarl, and that the present rules have been tolerable only by reason of the disregard of many of them which have been found impractical of enforcement in modern procedure. But in such cases they say that special orders and short cuts in suits are made to fit the individual case and thus the whole procedure is "up in the air" or in the "discretion of the court," which is in many cases just as bad.

Nation Has a Great Naval Scrap Heap

THE fate of the battleship Texas, once the pride of the United States navy, recently sent to the bottom of Tangier sound, in Chesapeake bay, by the guns of her sister ships, as an experiment in naval science, has called public attention to the prodigious size of the nation's naval scrap heap.

Not only is the government spending more than $66,000,000 on its new Dreadnaughts now under construction, but it is throwing away annually millions of dollars' worth of battleship construction of the older type, now considered out of date.

On the naval junk pile in the last ten years 36 vessels have been dumped. They cost the government to build, or to buy ready built, $9,803,495.50.

The ships which have been destroyed outright are but the smaller part of the number of abandoned naval vessels which total 36 in the past ten years. The greater part are those which, while still technically counted as a public asset, would be of no value in war and would never again be used for that purpose. They are in use as training vessels for the naval reserves of various states. The monitor Amphitrite, destined for use at St. Louis, is a type of these ships which are useful only in providing possible future recruits for the service.

The Texas was the first modern battleship constructed for the navy. It was surpassed in speed by the Iowa, the Oregon, and other vessels in the battle off Santiago, but its name was written as large as any on the page which records that day's fighting.

And it will now be but a few years, according to the inexorable rules of the navy department, before the Oregon, Massachusetts, Indiana and Iowa follow the Texas as targets for the projectiles of newer vessels or are relegated to the ignominy of the junk heap.

Prosecution a Check to Mail Frauds

THE sleuths of the postoffice department are growing stiff in the joints from lack of exercise, the officials of the attorney-general's office are dozing at their desks, and the machinery that used to be grinding out fraud orders so merrily is rusting from disuse.

The world seems to be growing better, or at least that part of it which formerly indulged in so many get-rich-quick schemes seems to be less active than in days gone by, and the postoffice officials declare that it is all due to the vigorous measures taken by the present administration to stamp out public fraud and protect the unwary.

"Months have passed since we have issued a domestic fraud order," said Jesse Suter, the authorized publicity agent of the postoffice department, "whereas in former times scarcely a day passed without the issuance of one or more against individuals or firms who were fleecing the people. As a matter of fact, the 'get-rich-quick' schemers are coming to the conclusion that the postoffice administration will not 'stand for' them and that in consequence it will be healthier for them to keep within the bounds of the law.

"They know that if they conduct shady enterprises nowadays they face, not only the penalties of a fraud order, depriving them of the use of the mails, but also stand a very good chance of getting into the penitentiary."

"The only cases that we are called on to handle nowadays seem to be the mail for lotteries in foreign countries."

"If our government is to be enduring, it must rest on principles of justice, truth and righteousness, sanctioned by recognition of a supreme being whose superintending providence watches over the affairs of nations and of men. There is no official union of church and state in this country, but there is no antagonism between the civil and religious authorities. Church and state move on parallel lines. The state holds over the spiritual rulers the aegis of its protection without interfering with rights of conscience. The church helps enforce civil laws by moral and religious sanctions. It is the duty of us all, churchmen and laymen, to hold up the hands of our president, as Aaron and Hur stayed up the hands of Moses."—Cardinal Gibbons.

NEW SAFE FOR MILK BOTTLE

Ingenious Apparatus That is Destined to Balk Petty Thieves—Opened Only With Key.

It took two Michigan men to devise the milk bottle safe shown here, but between them they contrived a most ingenious apparatus that is destined to balk the petty thieves that steal milk bottles from doorsteps.

New Milk Bottle Safe.

The safe is a box just big enough to hold two bottles, side by side, and is divided into two vertical compartments. The door has a spring lock and the key is held by the householder, the milkman not requiring any. In the fact that the milkman needs no key lies the feature of the device. In the bottom of one compartment is a trapdoor that strikes the lock on the front door as it is pushed up and opens the latter. When a bottle is placed on the trapdoor, however, and a sliding bar adjusted just above the bottle to prevent its being raised, the milkman can close the front door of the safe with the assurance that no thief can enter. At the side of the box is a hook to hold any extra bottles.

REGULAR TIME FOR MILKING

Job Should Not Be Performed by Tired, Dirty Farm Hands, Just In From Field.

There is much loss in milking because of having this work done by tired and dirty milkers, but the men doing the work are not to blame for being in this condition, says a writer in the Kimball's Dairy Farmer. They come from the fields with their clothes covered with dust and perspiration, and as soon as they have their supper commence the milking. Is it any wonder that it is often only half done? If farmers would make it a rule not to compel the help to do milking out of seasonable working hours they would experience much less trouble in securing help. The milking should be made a part of the day's work and not an addition to it. Many farmers, especially where only ten or fifteen cows are kept, look upon this job as a side issue; that is, the milking can be done when they can't do anything else. The milking is as important as any part of the work, and whether you are plowing or harvesting, make your plans so that when the time comes to milk it can be done without any delay. Again, the best results cannot be had from cows unless they are milked at regular hours.

Warm Milk for Calves.

Warm milk is best for the calf, no matter how old it is.

GREEN RYE FOR MILK COWS

May Be Fed When It Heads Out and There is More Nourishment in It at That Time.

Green rye may be fed as soon as it heads out; there is then the most nourishment in the stalks. Cut when free of dew, and let it wilt a few hours before feeding. Feed small quantities at first. A half forkful may be given to each cow after the hay has been eaten. When fed thus there is no danger of bloat or hoven. The feeding of green feed to cattle should be in the hands of a careful man, and not given to boys or a careless hand. Attention to this rule will frequently save the life of a valuable cow.

Horses at work should not be given green feed, as it is liable to produce colic. Cows should not be turned out to pasture too early. Wait until the grass has made some growth, and there is some nourishment in the grass. Before turning out to grass give the cows a feed of hay or straw first. After the hay is eaten they are turned on the pasture. For the first day or two let them graze, one or two hours. When the cows are accustomed to the change they may remain out all day. Experienced dairymen feed a small grain ration throughout the grazing season. If you are getting 16 cents per gallon for milk, it will pay to do this.

EXCELLENT QUALITY OF MILK

Jersey Cow is Unsurpassed for Beauty, Utility, Profit and Superiority of Product.

The milk of the Jersey cow will always be in great demand with the critical consumer, because it contains far greater proportion of nourishing solids and rich, highly flavored, butter fat than the milk of other breeds.

The man who investigates the advantage of the Jersey cow over the dairy breeds will generally invest his money in a Jersey cow, and the profits will demonstrate his wisdom.

The Jersey cow yields as much profit as two or more ordinary cows. She is healthy, vigorous, and costs no more to keep than an inferior cow.

Prize Winning Jersey Heifer.

The milk from the Jersey cow is 30 per cent. richer than the average cow. The Jersey cow is unsurpassed for beauty, utility, profit and excellent quality of product.

Keeping Cows Clean.

Keep the flank and udder of the cows clipped. It is much easier than to clean the parts before milking. It helps to keep dirt out of the milk. To clip the cows all over once or twice a year will do them good.

DAIRY NOTES

Bad cream will not make good butter.

Dairying is the most prominent branch of farming.

A cow that milks for only five or six months is seldom a profitable cow.

Irregularity and too much generosity in feeding the calf are often dangerous.

When your cows do not pay for their feed, it's time to change the feed—or the cows.

USEFUL WORK BASKET

DAINTY RECEPTACLE FOR LADY'S NEEDLEWORK ACCESSORIES.

Material Needed is Inexpensive and Affair is Easily Made—How to Make Handy Case for Darning Materials.

Some strips of ribbon, thin cardboard, and narrow lace ribbon are the only materials needed for the first of these dainty and useful work-basket accessories. The ribbon should be at least 3 1/2 inches in width. Its length is determined when it is decided how many papers of needles the ribbon case is meant to hold. If six papers, the length should be nine inches, an inch and a half extra being allowed for every extra paper.

The first thing to do is to miter one end and make an inch hem at the other with silk of the same shade used for stitching.

Now fold a third of the silk up, as suggested by the diagram, and stitch at intervals to form pockets for the papers of needles.

The top of the ribbon is now folded over, and pressed with a fairly hot iron. When the needles have been put in, the case can be folded up, the ribbon cut into six lengths, and sewn on as fasteners, and tied in pretty bows.

The case for darning materials is so fashioned that the flap takes the needles, and the pockets and casings hold the cards and skeins of mending wool.

Linen is the best material to use, and cannot be beaten for hard wear, while no more suitable binding can be found than woollen braid. Two pieces of the linen measuring eight inches by six are first cut, and neatly stitched together. Two pieces are the only other lengths required, one measuring six inches in length and four in depth, the other measuring five inches by four.

The larger of these two pieces is stitched to the foundation along the bottom and up the sides as far as it reaches, to form pockets for the cards of darning wool, and is divided in the middle with a row of feather-stitching.

The other piece is folded and creased down, and stitched at the creases and two ends so as to form slots for the skeins of wool to be slipped through. The piece of linen which forms a flap and folds over the case can be padded with a little cotton-wool and six darning needles stuck through. Dress fasteners, one at each end of the flap, are used to keep the case shut.

A very pretty bag for thimbles can be made from odd pieces of silk and some rounds of cardboard. Two of the latter of the size of a two-shilling piece are cut and covered with rounds of silk. Ribbon, or a strip of silk measuring about three inches in length and five in width, is next required and hemmed at both ends. The wide sides are whipped with strong silk, and sewn round the covered cardboard, one at each end, care being taken that the hemmed sides overlap each other a tiny piece. Buttons and loops sewn along the hem close the little case when the thimbles have been placed inside.

If it is necessary to make the case more elaborate, this is easily accomplished by the addition of flowers or a conventional design worked in embroidery silks before the silk is sewn to the rounds of cardboard at the ends, and instead of buttons and loops strips of ribbon can be used and tied into little bows.

The case suggested made on a much larger scale does admirably for odd spools of silk or cotton, and will keep them from becoming dirty and entangled.

The Widow's Mite.

It is remarkable that the very people who have but little are the very people who are always giving much of the little that they have to people who have less—the story of the widow and her mite is as true today as ever.

Hoops as Gifts.

Among the new wedding presents are embroidery hoops, the outer one of silver, the inner one of satin wood. These make unique gifts to the girl who does any kind of embroidery during the leisure summer hours.

CREPE DE CHINE W. ST.

This dainty waist is of pink crepe de chine, elaborately trimmed with a cord embroidery and a heavy silk embroidery.

The girdle is of black satin, fastened at the side with a steel ornament.

Talk on Wool Tariff.

The calcium light is thrown on the wool tariff by the following talk from an Indiana congressman: The woolen manufacturers can well afford to make the bargain, for they do not live up to their promise to divide the tribute collected from the people with the wool growers. And if they did they would only have to add the increased price of wool to their cloth and collect it back off the consumers and would make the wool growers pay their own tribute.

"During the last thirteen years the tariff upon Indiana wool has been 11 cents per pound and yet the average Boston price has been only 4 cents above the London market for the same wool and the average price for 1910 is only 1 cent a pound above the foreign market. The reason for this is plain. The farmers and wool growers have never been able to organize and co-operate to hold the wool, while the woolen manufacturers have long been combined as a trust and thus as one buyer they offer the wool grower whatever price they see fit to pay and the wool grower has to take it.

"But that is not all. While the wool growers have been induced to support a tariff on woolens on the promise of being allowed to share in the tribute collected from the consumers of woolen clothing, the woolen manufacturers have been collecting an average tariff tax of 90 per cent off of the American people, including the wool growers themselves, amounting as variously estimated from $175,000,000 to $200,000,000 annually.

"While under this promise to divide profits with the wool growers and while the American people have been paying $175,000,000 to $200,000,000 annually to stimulate the sheep industry, the number of sheep in Indiana has declined from 832,856 in 1900 to 710,238 in 1909 and the wool clip from 4,537,975 pounds in 1900 to 1,644,638 pounds in 1909."

A 2-Year old Monster.

We do not mean by the above caption a Gila monster, an Anaconda or a Boa Constrictor, but just a huge, 2-year-old baby boy, weighing 122 pounds. The story sounds fishy, we'll admit, but it comes from Georgia, and as the state has been celebrated for the production of great men, why may it not produce a big boy?

His height is given at 39 inches without his socks; 14 inch neck, 33 inch bust, 36 inch waist and 15 inches across the shoulders. He eats like a horse and is as fat as a pig, and if he doesn't take the persimmon this story is a fake.

Jicarilla Happenings.

Saturday it did not rain, it poured. Something like one and one half inches of rain fell in probably less than twenty minutes.

George Wishar, we hear, has been employed by the "Collector company," and will put in his best licks at the "Sally Dear," very soon.

Johnnie Martin and Sam Richardson of Ancho came in Sunday to assist in organizing a ball team, to terrorize the neighboring teams.

We hear that Mr. C. C. Hedges of Jicarilla has sold the old mining claim, known for years as the "Sally Dear," to W. A. Franklin.

The young people met at the school house Sunday last to organize a Sunday school. Mrs. Reasoner is superintendent, Miss Izora Reasoner secretary, J. C. Reasoner treasurer.

E. E. Wilson has a fine flow of water in the new well for Gallacher brothers. At a depth of two hundred and four feet the water was found. Its capacity has not been tested, but there seems to be plenty and of good quality.

As Ed E. Wilson and family were returning home from Jicarilla Saturday last, they were overtaken by the storm, and at a point near the school house, where the pines are tall and the electric flashes play around their tops, a sudden flash of lightning and terrific thunder came instantaneously and knocked him out of the buggy, dazing him for a short time. His wife and two children were scarcely jarred by the experience, but the team of horses seemed spell bound by the sudden jar, else there might have been a sad wreck to relate.

We learn that Mrs. James Cooper is some better, that her malady has been pronounced typhoid fever by the doctor in attendance. Her sister, Mrs. Lin Branum, has been with her the last week, besides relatives from Ancho.

We are told there will be given a dance next Friday eve, by the young men of this Camp. The proceeds to go towards equipping the baseball team.

There have been several "rich strikes" reported very recently in different quarters of the Camp. Time will tell, so we need not be "rash" in one estimate.

Ed Fitchpatrick of White Oaks came out Saturday last, and "did" the wonder places of this Camp.

W. W. Fitchpatrick returned from White Oaks a few days ago, where he had visited friends for a week.
