Carrizozo Going 'Way Up High!

GREAT CHORUS BY ALL THE BOOSTERS!
Sure Headed Right This Time!

GETTING up by pulling on your own bootstraps may not work out in some things; in others it's a winner.

The principle is all right. Get hold—hang on—stick to it—and, provided the straps don't break, up you go.

Pulling with one finger won't do it; one side at a time is no good, either. Got to get hold with both hands and all pull together. Then you get somewhere.

And when the whole bunch gets at it and the straps are attached to as solid a foundation as the natural resources of Lincoln County, and—

The working parts are oiled with a fairly good brand of local enthusiasm, and—

The enthusiasm is backed up by liberal doses of put-a-dollar-in-the-slot-and-pull-out-two-propositions, and—

Everybody is strictly unanimous that the ship is headed in the right direction—

There's pretty sure to be—Something Doing!
And here's some of the evidence—

N. B. Taylor—Push it along, ers and homesteaders I have heard. Looks more practical and hopeful every day to me. It is the best move any community could bring big benefits.

H. B. Dawson—The very best move that could be made. A little actual demonstration is worth a lot of theory. It will win.

A. K. Baker—Very glad to see something being done. It is out right, and we must keep at it. We will have to make an effort and put in our time and money before we can expect results.

W. J. Doering—Best thing that ever happened. With a development association and a practical demonstration farm we'll get somewhere.

H. S. Campbell—I favor the whole proposition, and the quicker we get down to business the sooner we will get results. It may cost us a dollar a piece, but it is worth it and all the money we pay out will come back a hundred-fold. Let's start the plow.

C. P. Lemons—I am heartily in favor of keeping things moving. It all looks good to me.

H. H. Joseph (here for a few days from Tucuman)—Our experimental station and local development movement are doing wonders for us. The knockers keep in hiding, and the whole community is pulling together for better things—and getting them. It is the only thing to do.

Mrs. H. H. Joseph (his wife)—Even the women folks in our section are feeling the uplift of the publicity and development work. They are all getting to be real boosters. Community material development brings opportunity for social and individual development.

[Might say about here that when you get right down to brass tacks Carrizozo women realized this proposition before the male bipeds did. The Woman's Civic League has been really doing real things for the community for some time. They lighted the streets and cleaned the town—and have other work in hand.—THIS NEWS.]

C. A. Stevens—I know we're on the right trail. The only thing now is to keep it going. Let us get together and stay together and pull together.

A. F. Roselle—Carrizozo and Lincoln County look better to me than ever. Of course we must keep at it.

J. C. Adams—I am mighty glad to see something doing and sure believe that experimental farm will do big things for us.

Fred Lafone—All the dry farm-

Turkey Day Proclamation

THE American holiday, Thanksgiving Day, is near at hand. New Mexicans have much to be thankful for this year. They have enjoyed many blessings and experienced few calamities. We have had no disastrous storms and have been free from dangerous conditions of any sort. Crime has decreased, and order has been better maintained under the law.

During the past twelve months New Mexico has entered the Union as a sovereign commonwealth; she has assumed the functions of state government and her financial credit is exceptionally good. In manifesting our appreciation of the new conditions under state government, we should resolve to make our great new state a blessing to all of our people, such as good citizens have a right to expect. There has been an effective desire to awaken and cleanse the public conscience, and a betterment in the standard of public service and efficiency is taking place. Capital has good opportunities here and the wage earner does not lack employment. Crops and produce have been plentiful, and the public health is in good condition.

We have a state old in civilization, but new in many things, with untold wealth in its great undeveloped resources. Our beautiful sunshine and health-giving atmosphere make our climate unequalled, if anywhere else equalled, and is one of our chief assets which should be attractive to those seeking health as well as fortune.

Now THEREFORE, in accordance with the time honored custom and conforming to the proclamation of the President of the United States, I, WILLIAM C. McDONALD, governor of the State of New Mexico, do hereby designate and proclaim, Thursday, November 29th, 1912, as and recommend that the people of New Mexico observe the day by attending divine worship if possible; that the public schools be closed, also places of public and private business so far as may be practicable; that we offer our gratitude to Almighty God, not only through prayer, song and sermon, but by sharing with the needy among us the blessings which we enjoy.

Done at the Executive Office this the 20th day of November, A. D. 1912.
WITNESS MY HAND AND THE GREAT SEAL OF THE STATE OF NEW MEXICO.

ANTONIO LUCERO,
Secretary of State.

Governor.

Training the Little Folks

THE following interesting paper was read at the recent meeting of the Lincoln County Sunday School Association held at the M. E. church in this village, by Mrs. Fannie E. Ellis. It attracted much attention as one of the ablest papers presented at the meeting, and as it covers much ground of general interest to all parents, as well as gives a good idea of the sort of work the association is doing, The News feels justified in printing it in full. The title of the paper is

THE JUNIORS—9 TO 12; WHAT SHALL WE DO FOR THEM?

When we take into consideration the fact that this in the transition stage—the passing from docile, trustful childhood into the teens—which time is fraught with large possibilities, both for good or evil, no period of life demands greater care or tenderness, for at no time is character more surely being formed.

The first consideration, then, should be the teacher. Just anybody, no matter what their qualifications, will not do. The influence exerted now means more to the young mind than any that has gone before or may come after, for the reason that children of this age have just begun to think for themselves and much wisdom is needed that they do not form wrong habits of thought. To be a successful teacher of boys and girls of this age requires one, be it man or woman, who has not forgotten their boyhood or girlhood days, who is clear headed and warm hearted, for much allowance must needs be made.

Most children of this age are full of animal spirits—nature made them so, and they are of little account without it. So some liberty must be allowed them, and it requires judgment and skill in management that the liberty granted does not lapse into license. The chief object is to keep them busy and much will depend upon the teacher's painstaking in planning the work in such an interesting way as to engage every moment of the time of the lesson period. Unless interested they are almost sure to fall into mischief. To attain the best results some sort of seclusion is almost a necessity. If a separate class room or screen is not possible, they should at least be seated as remote from other classes so not to be neighborly. Absolute attention must be had to secure any measure of success. Then, it is vitally important to win the confidence of the children—make comrades of them, not alone in the class, but at their homes, on the street or wherever you meet them. Once let them be convinced that you are always and everywhere their true friend, that you love them, and it will not be a difficult task to win and hold their attention.

Be patient with the slow and dull pupil, and especially is this necessary with the bad one. Often they appear worse than they really are, and great care needs to be exercised just here. If it becomes necessary to reprove let it be done privately and in love. No good ever comes from scolding. Not infrequently boys and girls are lost to the school and church by a public reprimand or criticism.

At this stage in child life do they particularly need to be trained in respect and reverence. As a republic, makers of our own laws, freer than any other people, and boastful of our freedom, I fear we are losing much of the reverential spirit of our forefathers.

THE committees appointed at the public meeting of Nov. 11, to report on an Experimental Farm for Carrizozo and a plan of organization for county publicity and development are ready to make their reports and Chairman Sager, Secretaries Chase and Haley have called a meeting for Monday evening, Nov. 25, at the old Kelley store. Every citizen is urged to be present. Do not let anything interfere with your being there.

Oscuro Is Coming

A PARTY of Carrizozo boosters, Messrs. Rolland, Campbell, Chase, Stevens and Haley, went to Oscuro Wednesday afternoon to attend a local boost meeting there. They report a fine gathering with much enthusiasm, there being some twenty or more of the leading ranchers and business men of Oscuro present. A delegation of three, Dr. Guido Ranniger, E. F. Jones and Dr. R. E. Blaney, were selected to represent the Oscuro section at the big boost meeting Monday night. The Carrizozo visitors explained the purposes of the county wide organization movement and told them Carrizozo was not looking for outside help for her experimental farm—but wanted every community to join in boosting the opportunities of the entire county. The party were shown several places about Oscuro where irrigated and dry farm crops were being handled and declared the Oscuro bunch were leading off along the right lines. They were loud in their praise of the places visited.

Civic League Meeting Tuesday

THE meeting of the Woman's Civic League called for last Tuesday was unavoidably postponed until next week. The meeting will be held on Tuesday afternoon next, Nov. 26, at 3 o'clock, in the basement at the Bank. All members are urgently requested to be present. There are several important matters to be considered, not the least being that of a series of social entertainments and dances for the coming winter months. "If," said a prominent official of the League, "we are going to make Carrizozo a real, live town the matter of social gatherings of a character that will attract our young folks and make them feel that their home town is a good town to live in is of great importance, and should have enthusiastic encouragement. We hope there will be a full attendance. Even the men-folks are getting waked up—and the women cannot afford to rest on their honors."

The League has a membership of 54. What it can do in good work for Carrizozo is practically unlimited. They can make it the best town—socially, morally and materially—in New Mexico. Such work is worth doing, and it is to be hoped there will be a big and enthusiastic meeting next Tuesday.

The News' Weekly Lay Sermon

THIS I ask Thee, O Ahura! Tell me aright: Who from beneath hath sustained the earth and the clouds above that they do not fall? Who made the waters and the plants? Who to the wind has yoked the storm clouds, the swiftest and fleetest? Who is the inspirer of the good thoughts within our souls?—Zenda-Avesta.

Respect for the Bible, for the Sabbath, for the house of God, for law and order, for personal faith and honor, and especially for the aged, is one of the greatest needs of the age. And to train a child in these principles to me seems far better than the mere teaching of lessons; and upon the Sunday school teachers by virtue of their office as religious instructors much depends.

It is "line upon line, precept upon precept" that counts. A doctrine may be taught in a day, but the power to ingraft that doctrine into the nature of a child or to make it a life principle, is of slow and oftentimes difficult growth, and it is at this point that patient and painstaking training goes farthest in the formation of true character. It is a noble and far-reaching work, an opportunity for good that I fear many do not fully appreciate.

Again, at this period of a child's life does he need to have impressed on his dawning consciousness that he belongs rightfully to God and not to the evil one—that his young life may be lived

Here is One Case of It

LAST spring George Lee bought one quart of White Bermuda onion sets of Ziegler Bros. Last week he brought in the harvest—nearly 300 pounds of as fine onions as ever grew in Bermuda—silk skinned, firm fleshed, sound and perfect—and you can buy them at the market price right where Mr. Lee bought the sets—Ziegler Bros. Ah we advise any of you who think perfect onions cannot be raised in the Carrizozo Valley to go and buy some and try them. And this is not an "adv." for Ziegler Bros., but just a statement of fact. We might add that the sets cost 10 cents per quart; the 300 pounds of onions grew on a patch possibly ten feet square and the average price per pound—to the farmer—would be about 3 cents per pound; that would mean $9.00 a return of about $450.00 for a full acre of onions. Or $4,500.00 for ten acres. How many of you fellows who work hard 8 and 10 hours a day are getting that amount for a year's work? It is just one of Lincoln County's opportunities.

the root of all evil, but we don't dare use his name because we don't want to take a chance on losing our scalp.

He "went on a note" at the bank for a friend. The note became due and the friend didn't pay up. The bank of course notified the surety. He saw his friend and touched him up. The friend "explained" and then promised. The note was good and the bank was patient. Time rolled around, and the cashier's digestion was disordered one morning, so he wrote one of those polite little letters which say so little and mean so much. Once more the surety got after his friend and got another explanation and some more promise. And then time ran on—and the same thing happened again. The surety was in town one day and visited the bank. "That note been paid?" he asked. The cashier regretted that it had not. Then the surety's wrath broke looser.

"By thunder," he roared, "I wonder if that feller's going to let that note petrify!"

Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Gurney went Monday to El Paso, where Mrs. Gurney and little Frank will remain a portion of the winter. F. W. returned Wednesday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Elliott and Engineer Charles Crust returned this week from their outing, and rumor says they brought in a fine deer and some turkeys.

E. R. Kelley is on a visit to his old home in Alvarado, Texas, and may remain through the holiday season. He went especially for a visit with his mother, who is 84 years old.

Rolland E. Levers, representing the International Auto Co. of El Paso, drove a Buick car from El Paso last Saturday, making the trip in ten hours. He will remain here several days.

J. P. Salberg, who came here recently from Boulder, Colorado, and entered a homestead some five miles out, is building a residence on his place. He will move his family here in the spring.

We will show a great line of Holiday goods this season—they will be on display the first of December—gifts for everybody. Do your shopping early.

Chas. A. Stevens this week received a car of Studebaker wagons, buggies and hacks, and proposes hereafter to be able to supply the local trade requirement in this line. He will carry a well assorted stock of these well known and reliable goods and will meet all competition in prices.

Joe R. Adams left Tuesday for Santa Fe, and it is said he has a good job at the pen. Joe's genial face and accommodating ways made him many friends while he was commander-in-chief of the big Stevens dray, and all wish him success in his new position. B. C. Estes takes his place on the local freight wagon.

Mrs. Wallace L. Gumm, superintendent of schools, visited the White Oaks school Wednesday of this week. It had been her purpose to visit other schools beyond that point, but the recent snow in that section made travel quite difficult; so she returned to Carrizozo yesterday.

Gordon Gunn and bride came in yesterday from Childress, Texas, where they were married on the 14th. They are guests of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Rolland, and will leave today for Tucumcari, where Mr. Gunn is employed with the railroad company. Miss Fern Fevier it was before the wedding ceremony changed it to Mrs. Gordon Gunn.

Old Boreas got his back up pretty high Wednesday night. He knocked in a section of the new (unfinished) court house, tumbling it in on the concrete floor, but never seizing it. Now and then a loose brick on a coping or chimney or a signboard came down, but no serious damage was done. The howl the wind put up, however, was equal to that of a Kansas twister.

Funeral of Captain Joseph A. Paris. All that was mortal of Captain Joseph A. Paris was laid at rest in Evergreen Cemetery, this village, on Sunday afternoon last. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Herbert Haywood, at the Baptist church at 3 p. m., the remains having been brought over from Fort Stanton by auto in the morning. Capt. Paris died at the Marine Hospital at Fort Stanton about noon, Wednesday, Nov. 13. His wife was at his bedside and had been with him for several weeks before the end came.

Capt. Paris was born at Elizabethtown, Kentucky, and was 49 years old. For eighteen years he was in active service in the United States Merchant Marine Service, holding the rank of Captain and pilot. Most of this time was employed on the Ohio and

J. C. Bander is a pre-emptive millionaire, the strike in his mine in Nogal mining district is certainly immense. Free gold and lots of it to be seen with the naked eye.

The news of an experimental farm near Carrizozo has most greatly surprised our people. Why was not this done long ago and doubtless it would have been, if we had favorable opportunities.

Many of our voters appear to be well satisfied with Governor Whelan, and understanding they cast their ballot for the other fellow.

The big snow at this time is a sure indication of an excellent crop year in 1913, and in my opinion no better year could have been selected for the Lincoln County Experimental Farm at Carrizozo, but the land should now be plowed deep, and well watered before the snow and freeze so that it will retain all the moisture.

All that remains to be done now is to do it right.

Lincoln county is now about to go up and take a front seat.

There's ten to one more fun on the boost line than out among the knockers. The water's just right—come on in!

The fellow with a turkey for his table next Thursday will agree with the governor, all right—and New Mexico is full of him.

Failure is oftentimes the fault of the individual rather than the condition. This applies to farming more particularly than any other pursuit.

That little blow Wednesday night was quite active, but, bless your heart, they wouldn't wink the other eye at one like that over in Kansas or Oklahoma.

The men of Lincoln county will have to look to their laurels in the public spirit line. The women of the Civic League are said to be mixing heap big medicine.

Taft has sung his swan song, Teddy has issued his despatch—and yet everything moves along as though the country was not hit by a cyclone along about the 5th.

The Bulgarians are knocking at the gates of Constantinople. They seem determined to have Turkey for Thanksgiving—but the sauce is likely to be cholera.

For sixteen years a democrat has not been able to enter a government office without removing his hat—and yet there are some individuals who express surprise that there will be a cleaning after the 4th of March.

And also the good old Christmas tide draws near. It is well to remember them all and well to patronize home merchants when you buy the presents. By the way, do Monkey-Ward or Roes-Sawbuck "put up" any for that experiment farm?

The News believes heartily in the boost proposition all along the line provided the line is right. There are plenty of level-headed, common-sense balanced men in the county to make good in carrying out the proposed advancement organization and keep the lines right. They should be called on to take charge and direct the forces. We do not want any booms. Real development of our real resources is the only thing worth striving for.

"Bill!" said Blad, as Jimsonberry flayed by his motor. "I wish I had an automobile."
"Oh, nonsense, Bill," said Slathers. "What's the use? You couldn't afford to keep it."
"No, by Jiminy," said Blad, "but I could afford to sell it."

Just Like a Woman.
"He discovered that his wife had two detectives trailing him for six months."
"How did he discover it?"
"She sent him the bill."

A Point in Verbalism.
Professor (to class in composition).—Someone in the class recently referred to a woman as of "medium size." Please avoid this expression in referring to a woman; it smacks too much of commercialism.
Freshman.—But, professor, she might be "on the market."

A Useful Invention.
A Yorkshire farmer was paid by check for some cattle he had sold. It was the first time it had ever happened.
"What's this?" he asked.
"Why, money for the beasts," said the cattle dealer.

The farmer stared, and had to be assured that it was not a check for the bill he had just paid for it.
"Well," said he, "I'll try, but if it's a wrong 'un thou'll hear about it." The check was cashed, of course, and the farmer went home happy, but he could not sleep. He had seen a wonderful thing, and it had excited him. As soon as day broke, he went for the cattle dealer's house, and woke the dealer.
"It's me," he said. "Where's the got thin bits of paper from? Aw cud do w' half a dozen myself!"

Time for Another.
Fred C. Kelley was stopped by a panhandler at a street corner in Washington to hear a tale of woe. Kelly gave the teller a quarter.
A month later the same man stopped him at the same place and told him the same tale of woe.
"Nix," said Kelly. "It is only a month ago that you stopped and told me that story and I gave you a quarter."

"A month ago?" asked the panhandler.
"Yes," replied Kelly firmly.
"Well," said the panhandler, "you don't expect me to live on a quarter any longer than that, do you?"

A "Break" on the Wire.
Two telegraph operators were seated in a downtown café recently when an athletic young man and an exceedingly pretty girl entered. They were placed at a table opposite the "key" men, who were sitting side by side in a position facing the girl. As is the custom of the craft when wishing to discuss someone in a public place they telegraphed to each other, using their knives on the plate.

"Peacherino, isn't she?" one ticked to the other.
"A troo full," came back the tapping reply. "Wonder who the sack is with her?"
"Search me—looks like a boob tied up with a wren like her."

"But they aren't married. If they are, all she needs to do to get a divorce is to exhibit that map of his in court."

While the two men were enjoying a huge laugh over their silent joke they were surprised and somewhat alarmed to hear some more "table knifit telegraphy." The "peacherino" was doing it and she did not look at all pleased, either.

"You two would better look out while you are all together," carefully ticked her knife blade while she listened to something her companion was saying. "This sack and boob, as you call him, with the divorce map, is my husband—boltermaker by trade. He eats fresh little boys."

Something happened to the "wires" about that time and all communication ceased.

Fashion's Fancies

IN BLACK AND WHITE IF ONE WOULD DRESS WELL

PREVAILING COLORS FOR MILLINERY THIS SEASON.
Fancy Brims One of the Marked Features of the Styles—Soft Hats in Good Felts to Be Seen in Profusion.
It is a good thing that black and white never grow tiresome, for millinery finds them predominating in all sorts of hats this fall. Two smart designs for street wear are shown here.

of white felt faced with black velvet. In accordance with the characteristics of the season, the brims are fancy, one of them showing a wing-shaped extension and the other the alashing and turnings that have proved so advantageous to the trimmer.

Small, flat bows, covered buttons, button and button hole trimmings appear on models of this class. Most of them have soft crowns made over rice not with very little wiring.

These hats do not require bandeaus except for heads smaller than the average. In such cases it is better to introduce a padded head-band in the crowns than to use a stiff bandeau. The hat continues to be perfectly comfortable, and sets on the head in the manner of a man's hat.

Many soft hats are shown in good felts, and most of the softer ones wear soft. Such hats are trimmed with fancy feathers, soft wings and flexible quills suiting them admirably. Younger women like them especially, as they can be adjusted in any pose.

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

NEGLIGENCE AND ITS SETTING

Harmony With the Surroundings is the Desired End It is Sought to Achieve.
Imagine a kimono of China blue and white silk in one of those illusive designs of the far east, and let it be the gown to be donned only in a room decorated in the Chinese style so prevalent in modern day furnishing revivals. There would be curtains of rich blue, with arabesques of willow pattern covering the armchairs, tall lamps with shades of blue and white and a few vases of Nankin blue. What a fascinating, restful, retiring harbor for a tired woman, where she can sip the fragrant beverage which is China, also, in cups of egg shell daintiness.

Another fascinating fashion in tea gowns is the Watteau style, which gives scope for delicate color harmonies, and which conjures up a vision at once of a Louis Seize boudoir with pink and blue tapestries and gold legged chairs and tiny tables. The newest Watteau gown, made with a box plait from the shoulders, hangs loosely from the center of the back and is draped in graceful folds below the hips.

New Bonnet Caps.
New bonnet caps which fit closely to the head and cover the ears are made of point d'esprit, lace or chiffon trimmed with tiny open roses of silk which go round the brim, if a fall of lace shading the face may be so termed. Most of all they resemble the Charlotte Corday.

Reason Was Plain.
"My husband has deserted me and I want a warrant," announced the large lady.
"What reason did he give for deserting you?" asked the prosecutor.
"I don't want any lip from you. I want a warrant. I don't know what reason he had."
"I think I understand his reason," said the official feebly, as he proceeded to draw up a warrant.

No Such Apparation.
"Do you get a stipend for your weekly work?"
"Nothin' like that. I git regular pay."

Big Difference.
"Did you have any osculatory entertainment at your party?"
"No; only some kissing games."

Never Judge a Man by his Coat; he may owe the tailor.

WINDOW SEAT IN GABLE END.
Fannier Gown Bash:
The peanier gown is incomplete without a girde or sash. In fact, the girde of soft silk, velvet or satin is a very admirable way to retain a slenderness at the waistline and to conceal the attachment of the peanier at the top. Girdeles can be from two to six inches wide, depending on the length of the wearer from neck line to waist line.

Long-waisted women may wear high girdeles with grass. Their less fortunate sisters should cling to the narrow ones, and use end of material in long, straight lines or loops to emphasize height.

NECK RUCHE HERE TO STAY

Despite its Being Discarded by Parisians American Women Regard it With Favor.
As most of us have already noticed, the tulle neck ruche is coming along in great shape and rapidly becoming a fashion. That is, on this side of the ocean. I made a note to this effect not long ago. Some one who read the item asked me if I didn't know that the Parisians were laughing at us about this little matter of the ruche. I said no, why were they laughing about it and he said because they'd fooled us. They gave out that neck ruches were to be in order, everybody doing it, that sort of thing, don't you know and we "bit!" Whereas no one who really knows anything about such matters would ever be guilty of wearing a ruche. Think of it! The atrocity! The blunder! "The social error!" To wear a ruche when a Parisian wouldn't! Isn't it awful! I said I thought the joke was not on us but on Paris. Well, wear our ruches, if we want to. There are moments when I think that Paris might well go way back and sit down.—Exchange.

Kills Coming.
The side plaits that have been so cleverly introduced into skirts this summer are merely advance agents of the killed skirt that is coming back. Oh, it will not be the all-enveloping arrangement of heavy folds, but will fall from a fitted yoke around the hips. Already very exclusive models are being designed for soft silks that emphasize the idea yet are unobtrusive in the change of style.

IN AN UPPER ROOM

That was a very wise Cambridge student of whom the London story tellers were talking some time ago. One of his college friends finding himself without funds, went to this Solomon of students to borrow. He found him in bed. Seizing him by the shoulder, he shook him.
"I say," he said, "are you asleep?"
"Why do you ask?" queried the other, sleepily.
"I want to borrow a sovereign."
"Yes," said the other, turning over and closing his eyes. "I'm asleep."

Call to Arms.
"Bang!" went the rifles at the maneuvers.
"Oo-oo!" screamed the pretty girl—a nice, decorous, surprised little scream. She stepped backward into the surprised arms of a young man.
"Oh," said she, blushing, "I was frightened by the rifles. I beg your pardon."
"Not at all," said the young man. "Let's go over and watch the artillery."

Timely Reminder.
"We are still mining ore, growing cotton and manufacturing steel," said the American host.
"Why do you tell me that?" inquired the foreign visitor.
"I just want to remind you that the country is producing something besides politics."

MORAL FOR THE MONEY-MAD

Hope of Becoming Millionaires About on a Par With the Washer-woman's Delusion.
Prof. Warren M. Beldler of Bethel, Pa., in a recent address made the striking assertion that the American people, money-mad, taught their children how to earn a living, but not how to live.
"There is no viler, and there is no vainer ambition," said Professor Beldler to a reporter, "than that of the American boy to become a millionaire. What percentage of our boys do become millionaires? It would take a good many decimals to work that out, believe me!"
"The boys who set his heart on a million fares like the washerwoman who set her heart on a cross-eyed aeronaut last week?" said a friend.
"Yes, I did," replied the washerwoman, as she rocked back and forth over her tub. "Yes, I married him, and I gave him $500 out of my buildin' association to start an alrhap factory."

"That so?" said the friend. "Where is he now?"
"I don't know," said the washerwoman. "I'm waitin' for him to come back from his honeymoon."

INTENSE ITCHING WITH RASH
336 W. 20th St., Los Angeles, Cal.—
"The skin affection began in a little red colored rash on my right leg, and gradually spread to other parts of my body. Then small pimples appeared and later several boils on my leg. The skin around the boils was at first bright red, and afterwards became darker colored. The itching irritated—the sores.—The pain causing nervousness and loss of sleep, and the itching was intense. After using various remedies for about six months I saw how a person afflicted with skin disease was cured by using Cuticura Soap and Ointment."
"I bathed the sores with Cuticura Soap and hot water and then applied Cuticura Ointment and after about six months' constant treatment the sores gradually healed, leaving the skin soft and smooth. Cuticura Soap and Ointment effected a complete cure." (Signed) H. A. Robinson, Feb. 25, 1912.

Explains the Undertaker's Grouch.
"Who is that fellow sitting humped up and muttering to himself out there on the horse block?"
"Aw, that's Ezra Toombs, the undertaker," replied the landlord of the Skeedee tavern. "He's feeling sore over the way his business has been going of late. You see, the doctor gave Judge Feebles two weeks to live; that was six weeks ago, and the judge is up and around now and aggerin' on marryin' again. Every time Ezra meets the doctor he asks him, 'How about it, boy?' and they have a row. And now he's sittin' out there watching a tramp painter gliding the weather vane of the church across the street.—Ezra says, by Heck, he's about ready to move away, things is so dead here."—Kansas City Star.

Protected Both Ways.
Two conservative ladies of old-fashioned notions were traveling in the west and, becoming interested in a young girl on the train, finally asked why she was making so long a journey alone. They were greatly shocked at her blithe explanation:
"Well, you see, my mother and step-father live at one end of the journey, and my father and stepmother live at the other. They send me to each other twice a year, so there isn't a bit of danger with four parents all on the lookout!"

"No, sah! He was under the kitchen table," she very quickly replied.—Mack's National Monthly.

CHORUS OF BOOSTERS

ment for the town.
Jacob Ziegler—All Lincoln County and Carrizozo has ever needed was to show the world the real resources we have here. Surely the move is a good one—the very best.
W. J. Humphrey—I know of nothing that will set us ahead faster than a vigorous publicity campaign.
Albert Ziegler—I strongly favor the movement. It will give us a definite knowledge of what can be done. I believe it will succeed, and it will lead to better things all around and open new fields. For instance, poultry raising I believe will prove specially profitable. This is a great country and none of us know how varied the resources that can be developed.
John Doering—Any move that will bring good people in here and develop our resources is good. It looks practical and I say push it.
Mrs. Harriet Pons—It just looks to me as if it was exactly the right thing to do. How are we going to know what we can do if we don't try?
A. C. Wingfield—I most heartily favor the movement all along the line.
Lee B. Chase—Already the little publicity we have had out of the more discussion of the movement is bringing inquiries. It is only a question of keeping it up and results are sure to come.
Rev. R. B. Evans—It is a splendid move and will bring good results beyond question.
Rev. Paul Bentley—I know we can raise profitable crops. It is no experiment with me. If rightly managed the experiment station will bring great results.
W. M. Rely—if the plans are carried out successfully they will undoubtedly do much good.
Mrs. George L. Ulrich—I think it is the best thing that ever happened in Carrizozo—except, of course, the Woman's Civic League. I hope the men will keep up their enthusiasm and then they will get results.
D. I. Clowe—My homestead experience leads me to believe that success lies just ahead. I certainly favor this movement.
Harry L. Humphrey—Nothing better has ever been started here. Let us keep it up.
T. E. Kelley—I feel that this movement is starting out in a practical way, and I certainly favor keeping at it until we get results.
Dr. E. B. Walker—It is an excellent movement, and should bring big results in the way of development.
S. H. Nickles—Certainly I favor it. If we don't blow our horn no one else will. And we've got a good horn to blow.
F. W. Jones—It looks good to me. If it is kept up I feel sure results will follow.
George Lee—The best thing we can possibly do. I know we can deliver the goods.
D. B. Humphrey—Nothing like making a noise about what we've got—and we've got the best.
Oscar Bamberger—No reason why we can't raise our own sauer kraut and maccaroni—or get the other fellow to come in and do it for us. It can be done. It is a good thing.
J. A. Cooper, Ancho—I am a stockman and have never had much farming experience, but if we can prove that we have water adapted for irrigation it would be a good thing for Lincoln County.
John E. Bell—I have expressed my faith. We can do things here if we go at it right. It looks good to me.
S. L. Squier—Seems to me a splendid move. Publicity and an experiment farm will make a great Valley of this.
Frank W. Lesnet—It is undoubtedly a good thing. Other communities have benefited. No reason why we should not.
P. E. Lacey—Sure, I believe it is the best ever...

A. W. Adams—Couldn't be anything better for the town or county. It is a good thing and just what we need.
G. T. McQuillen—I think I can safely promise your experiment farm free telephone service. Our company know that such moves as Carrizozo is undertaking are what build up a country and make business.
H. B. Hamilton—Good publicity helps any locality. A successful experiment farm here will show the world we can do things—and doing things is the best kind of publicity.
F. W. Gurney—Just got back from El Paso, and say, Carrizozo looks better than ever to me. Already with the little start we've made, they're sitting up and taking notice outside. Keep it up? Well, I should say we would.
J. McSmith—It is sure a good thing. Couldn't be any better way to advertise.
Dad Kahler—If that farm is managed right it will mean a good many dollars on a good many acres of land that are idle now in this Valley. I haven't any doubt whatever that we have ample water.
W. W. Stadtman—I have always had faith in the future of Carrizozo and Lincoln County—and I believe this movement means that we are going to do something really worth while to show our faith.
Dr. R. T. Lucas—My impression is that every live community becomes more alive by work of this kind. It has become a sort of community necessity and is well worth while.
without becoming stained with sin and scarred and dwarfed with evil habits that, even as children, they may perform acceptable service to the Master, and I candidly believe they may be so trained as to find their greatest pleasure in such service; but if, at this formative period, such training is neglected, do we wonder that they grow up, not only ungodly in their lives, law breakers and oftentimes outcasts? We need to remember we are dealing with live beings, immortal souls, not mere inert matter, and no time thus spent should be counted as lost—and no effort, be it ever so painstaking, that will add in the formation of such character should be grudgingly given. We can learn a useful lesson from the gardener—it takes careful culture, pruning and the best of plant food to bring to perfection the beautiful flower that is such a joy and inspiration; no pigment, be it ever so artfully applied, can add to its tint or fragrance—the life-giving properties must come from the internal growth; and if our children are to grow into that beauty of character, if they are to be as "plants grown up in their youth," they, too, must be stimulated to grow from that pure food which will alone insure such results.
What, then, is the value of junior work? I confess I cannot sum it up. If we could know the actual loss sustained by the life that has been stained and dwarfed by sin; if we could count up the tragic devastation and ruin wrought in human character and destiny by early neglect; if we could, in a slight measure, fathom the awful depths of those words, "eternal wrath," we might, in some degree, realize the value of any plan that seeks to prevent these terrible results, by hindering the cause that leads to them. Then, if we could, in a small degree, estimate the good that might have been accomplished by the many thousands of lives that have been ruined by early neglect had they been trained for lives of useful service, we might understand something of the inestimable value that work must be, which aims, not only to save souls, but to fashion lives, to engage and bring into service talents, and in every way possible to train boys and girls that their lives may be a blessing, not alone to themselves, but to the world.
