New Industry for Lincoln County

ERBERT P. COLLIER brought in a load of brooms Tuesday from his factory which he is operating at his ranch, near Coyote Station, twelve miles above here.

Mr. Collier is the pioneer in the growing of broomcorn, in commercial quantities, in Lincoln county, and is the first to turn that product into a merchantable commodity.

Like every pioneer, Mr. Collier had to experiment with this proposition--and experiments are of times costly. He tried a small crop on new land, met with a rather unfavorable season in his section, discovered when too late, that his seed variety was not the best and, as a result, did not secure the best returns.

Mr. Collier, in his experience with the growth of broom corn and its manufacture, has learned much to his own profit, and has gained a knowledge that will be of inestimable value to other farmers of Lincoln county.

The growth of broom corn should revolutionize the farming industry of this section. It will grow with less moisture than almost any other crop.

As for market--the local merchants--throughout this section will no doubt be glad to handle all that can be turned out.

From the cobbler's bench grew the great shoe factories that are now turning out millions of pairs of shoes annually; from the old-fashioned spindle, that wove a few yards of homespun, came our cloth factories that now measure their products by bolts; and so is it the history of everything--great results from small beginnings.

Proceedings of County Commissioners

PROCEEDINGS OF THE BOARD OF COUNTY COMMISSIONERS OF LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, AT SPECIAL MEETING HELD IN THE EXCHANGE BANK BUILDING IN CARRIZOZO, NEW MEXICO, November 24, 1912.

A Pretty Fair Booster

RESIDENT J. M. Belleville of the National Industrial Traffic League--membership more than 100,000 freight shippers--a high official in the Pittsburgh, (Pa.) Plate Glass Co., and for many years connected with the Pennsylvania Railway Co., gave the Los Angeles Times an interview recently in which he said:

"I am an optimist by nature, but after a prolonged journey all over the country I feel that my optimism has not been half way expressed before, for we are entering on the most magnificent era of good times the country has ever known.

"Back of it all is the farmer; scientific farming is doing more for the country than any other one feature.

"I have a son who has a ranch in northern California, a forty acre farm which was part of a grain farm.

"By diversified farming, and knowing how to farm, he will make more from that forty acres than the old grain farmer used to make from a thousand acres.

"The same thing is being done all over the country; farmers now know how to farm instead of, as their fathers did, going at it simply from traditional methods.

"All manner of business is good and getting better, the financial conditions could not be better; the American people are saner and less hysterical than ever before, and altogether we are living in the happiest portion of the world's history."

The News Weekly Lay Sermon

A SLENDER acquaintance with the world must convince every man, that actions, not words, are the true criterion of the attachment of friends; and that the most liberal professions of good-will are very far from being the surest marks of it--George Washington.

In the tax matter of R. L. Owen, for the years 1910 and 1911. It being shown the Board that said R. L. Owen paid upon the B.M. No. 10, T. & S. R. 11 K., whereas the above mentioned land is Government Land and the intention being to pay upon the B.M. NW 1/4, SW 1/4, SE 1/4, and NE 1/4, Sec. 10, T. & S. R. 11, K., the Board recommended to the District Attorney that correction be made on the description on the tax roll for the years 1910 and 1911, also that the description be inserted in the tax roll for 1912 on same land.

Story of a Demonstration Train

THE following short story of a demonstration train, the interest it aroused and the proposed trip over the El Paso & Southwestern next week, is furnished by the Agricultural College. The coming of this demonstration train marks a new epoch in the history of Lincoln County. Its purpose will be to impart useful information to farmers and stockmen and substantial results are looked for.

The Agricultural College is doing a great work in this line, and the generosity of the railroad in supplying the train is appreciated. The story reads: The Agricultural College Demonstration Train for 1913 will be run over the El Paso & Southwestern and Rock Island lines, starting from El Paso, Friday, January 17, and covering every mile of track of these lines, within the state of New Mexico from El Paso on the south to Dawson on the north; and from Rodeo, almost on the Arizona line on the west, to Nara Visa on the east.

Last Year's Demonstration Train over the Santa Fe was visited by over 33,000 persons. The El Paso & Southwestern, not to be outdone, is placing at the disposal of the College a special train of six cars, including two automobile cars for live stock; a flat car for some of the bulkier exhibits, and for use as a lecture platform; an express car, which will be fitted with agricultural exhibits; a passenger coach to be used as a lecture car; and a private car for the staff of twelve persons from the College who will accompany the train.

This is a part of the policy of carrying the College to the farmer. It is intended to arouse greater interest in good farming, to give instruction in methods of farming, to encourage the children to take an interest in the farm, and in the study of agriculture. It will be, so far as possible, a traveling agricultural College. Last year men drove as much as thirty miles in some cases to see the Demonstration train, hear the lectures and ask questions in regard to their own agricultural problems. There will be something for every member of the family. Every person who lives on a farm, or who is interested in farming, or who eats the things that are raised on a farm, should prepare to turn out when the whistle blows, give the Demonstration train a rousing welcome, and make the best use of every minute while the train is at the station.

WOMAN'S VIGIL IN SING SING'S SHADOW

NEW YORK.—Near the summit of a sloping street at Ossining is a house whose bow window looks almost directly downward at the little, evil, black-barred apertures that make the windows of Sing Sing prison...

Mrs. Becker's Turn to Suffer. Another woman now has been doomed to take up the vigil Mrs. Patrick once kept on the death house...

When the long drawn morning whistle shrieks above the prison walls her watch begins and her mind's eye faithfully pictures a big, pallid-faced man walking through the steel corridors on his way with a long line of companions to the workshop benches...

But he knows that she is always faithfully there, thinking of him, ready eagerly to further any new plan they may be able to devise in a long continued, always baffled quest for precious freedom...

She watches the carriages that come daily winding up the hill and wonders what nature of man may be sitting shackled to a deputy sheriff within, what his crime has been, what punishment he faces...

One Woman's Vigil Made Easier.

But her vigil now is not as hideous as it once was, for this woman is the wife of Albert S. Morris, and for a time he was condemned to death.

When the lights grow dim at the dawn in Sing Sing it means that the electric power has been borrowed for just that little while to send a murderer's body straining against the straps of the electric chair...

It was a queer marriage that this woman made with the murderer of Stephen Brice; the millionaire reclus. It was after he had been convicted of the crime that she had drawn up a contract of marriage which they both signed but which they might not seal with so much as a single kiss.

Tragedy of Ferraro's Mother. Nobody remembers now the crime of Ferraro that put him in the death house. It was very brutal and stupid, a murder in the dress. The man had the frame of an ox and the mind of a bad child.

The vigils of all the women who have come near the death-house have not, however, ended in a stare into black despair. There was Eddie Wise's mother who was herself admitted to stammer to him wildly that his sentence had been commuted by the governor.

Victor Herbert's reputation is not based on classical music. His greatest successes perhaps are "Coco Bonaparte," "The Red Mill," "Babes in Toyland" and one or two others.

When the day of death for the one they love has fallen—the killing stroke delivered—the only signal that is given these watchers is that dimming of the lights.

Two days before Carlyle Harris, the medical student who poisoned his girl wife, was put to death his young brother averted from a train at Ossining and helped his mother, a little, withered, silver-haired woman, down the stairs.

"My wife," said a young benedict, "is so exceedingly nervous at night that she scarcely sleeps at all."

"Well, you have to expect that. My wife was like that. Every time she heard a noise downstairs she'd rouse me out and send me down to investigate."

"That's rather good!" exclaimed the young one. "I'll try that."

History falls to tell the inventor of the coil, which has been such a boon to mankind, not only in quieting the rowdy youngster, but in stimulating a healthy imagination and attention.

Legislature Meets

THE State Legislature met in regular session at Santa Fe Tuesday of this week. Under the constitution, the session cannot go beyond 60 days, but it is believed every minute of that time will be necessary to enact necessary legislation. There was no reorganization of the house and, therefore, Roman L. Baca retains the speakership. The election of a United States Senator remains uppermost in many minds, but what action the legislature will take in the matter no one can tell.

Governor McDonald read his message to the joint assembly Wednesday. The message went into the details of taxation, showed very clearly the existing faults, and recommended a full value assessment, arguing that in such an event the rate of taxation for state purposes would be reduced to 2 mills.

The governor also urged the legislature to adopt the two proposed amendments to the federal constitution—an income tax and the direct election of United States senators.

The message also urged an appropriation for an immigration bureau, or the creation of an immigration commissioner, backed by a substantial appropriation.

The message is a very lengthy document covers the school question, county salaries, irrigation, public lands and many other items of interest to the people. So long to be reproduced here that sufficient, if needed, to keep the assembly busy.

To Equalize Valuations

ASSESSOR HENRY CORN returned Wednesday morning from Santa Fe. Mr. Corn went to the Capital a week ago to meet the assessors from the various counties, the purpose being to reach a uniform system of valuations of like classes of property throughout the state. Beyond assessors attended the meeting and an association was formed with Guy H. Herbert of Chaves county as president and Fred Heyn of Bernalillo county secretary.

The assessors present, who formed the association, discussed ways and means of assessing property, endeavoring to reach a basis whereby all property in the state could be assessed on an equality, and in the interchange of ideas much useful information to each individual assessor was elicited. The Assessors' Association later met in joint session with the county commissioner, another organization, and jointly discussed taxation matters. The assessors and commissioners also met with the state equalization board and the entire field of tax matters was covered. Much good is anticipated from these meetings and fair and equal assessments of property should follow. The Association of assessors will hold annual meetings hereafter and the organization hopes to number every assessor in the state as a member, as they feel that the association and what it can accomplish are matters of great importance to every assessor and tax payer in the state.

Experiment Farm Work

THE first actual work on the 10-acre experiment farm began this week. E. E. Phillips, who was given the contract for drilling the well, got his machine on the ground Tuesday evening and Committee men Gurney and Stevens went out the following day to locate the point where they wanted the well drilled. The machine was accordingly set up at the point indicated, and the drill began dropping at ten o'clock yesterday morning.

The well is being drilled on a slight eminence overlooking the plot of ground and if water is secured, of which there is little doubt, the entire tract can be watered by gravity. The land lies well, is near the railroad track and the committee hopes to have something doing soon that will lend attraction to every passer-by. The bids for the posts and other things necessary to inclose the tract will be awarded in a few days; the ground will be broken as soon as practicable and it is hoped to have everything moving along in ship shape in the very near future.

Getting Ready for Business

THE STEVENS GARAGE has secured the services of H. H. Joseph. The latter, with Mrs. Joseph have come from Tucuman. Mr. Joseph is an experienced and accomplished automobile machinist. Mr. Stevens has ordered a few engine lathes from Chicago besides other things necessary to equip a first class garage, and will be prepared to do all kinds of general repair work. The garage is to be enlarged, so that it will meet the needs of local as well as traveling autoists. This looks like business, and is another link in the chain that will attract travel this way.

Home Mission Held Session

THE Ladies of the Home Mission Society met with Mrs. George L. Ulrick Wednesday. Mrs. John E. Bell was elected treasurer to fill a vacancy. The society decided to use what money it had on hand to place a storm door on the parsonage—the east entrance.

A plan was formulated whereby the society will serve tea once each month in the office of District Attorney Hamilton. The regular bi-monthly meetings will take place as usual, the society meeting at the homes of the members. The next meeting will be at Mrs. J. E. Farley's.

To the Public

OWING to the stormy weather, the Judges of Election didn't get their certificates in time to hold the election, and on the morning of the 14th a meeting of the voters of precinct No. 5, was called for the purpose of preparing a petition to the Hon. Board of County Commissioners, and the following recommendations were made:

- For Justice of the Peace, DOLORS LURNA'S.
- For Constable, SARINO GONZALES.

Mon Jay night—Tuesday noon.

Justice-Election

IN the Justice election in this precinct Monday, there was no contest for Justice of the Peace, but for constable a friendly rivalry was in evidence throughout the day. And while there was a rather large number of votes cast for a precinct election, there was little button-pushing and no strenuous electioneering.

For Justice of the Peace, Ed. Massie received 152 votes out of the 160, Paul Bentley 4 and 4 scattering. For constable John B Baird received 104 votes, Wm. J. Humphrey 52, scattering 4. Both candidates elected now hold the office for which they made the race.

Hon. J. V. Tully, legislative member for this county came over from his Glencoe home during last week's storm and went on to El Paso. From there he went to Santa Fe, to be present at the opening of the legislature Tuesday of this week.

Dr. Paden has just received a letter from his son, Mel, which conveyed the pleasant information that he was able to sit up and expected to resume his position in the hospital next Monday. If all goes well he will not come home until May.

The east side of the divide has been pretty well "snowed under," the past week, and as a result few have put in their appearance here. We hope, however, a large number of them will be on hand Monday and Tuesday to meet the demonstration train.

We are publishing this week a short story from the agricultural college relating to the demonstration train and lectures. We hope it will be found of sufficient interest by our readers to induce a large crowd to come here on the night of the 20th and also the next day.

An accident occurred at the club building Wednesday that came very near catching a bunch of laborers. While hoisting a large cement column the fastenings slipped and down came column, platoon and men. Fortunately no one was injured, but some of the boys haven't yet recovered from the narrow squeak.

J. S. Morris, who is superintending the erection of the railroad club house, returned Tuesday from El Paso, bringing with him a bunch of brick layers. The work on the building is being pushed with all the speed possible, but the recent cold weather has interfered very materially with the cement work. Mr. Morris tells THE NEWS that he hopes to have the building completed early in March.

Attorneys Hewitt and Hamilton, Referee Spencer and Chauffeur Smith had an experience last Sunday on their return from Lincoln which neither is anxious to repeat. They had a break down on account of the deep snow—beyond the Nogal divide, and had to tramp four miles before they could get assistance. The broken parts of the car have since been repaired and Al Smith—at least—is fast forgetting his troubles.

The Demonstration Train

THE Demonstration Train will arrive at Carrizozo, Monday at 5:30 p. m. with ten to twelve Agricultural College professors on board, and also some of the El Paso & Southwestern officials. An illustrated lecture by President Garrison of the college will be delivered at Real's Hall that night, and in addition, others in the party will have something to say of interest to farmer and stockman.

The next morning the train will go to Capitan and is scheduled to return to this point about 11:15 a. m. at which time a demonstration and lecture will be given from a platform arranged on the car. Don't fail to be at Real's Hall Monday night; everybody be on hand at the appointed hour at the depot Tuesday morning. Many things of interest will be said and shown.

John Harris Not Improving

Ed W. Harris heard yesterday from his brother, John, who is in a hospital at Kansas City, and the information was not altogether reassuring. It was stated that an operation would be necessary to prolong John's life, and its success was problematical. A tumor of cancer of the stomach is declared to be the difficulty. A telegram was received this morning by Ed W. Harris, stating his brother John had undergone an operation, but that it was not as successful as was anticipated. Whether an additional operation will be made, or whether the patient will start for home immediately was not stated in the telegram.
