

Two Big Field Days--Friday and Saturday, September 26 and 27. Over $500.00 in Purses. Big Free Barbecue

Washington Playing Waiting Game

NO new developments have taken place in Mexico the past week, in which the government of the United States has had a part. A number of Americans have come out of Mexico and a large number of others made preparations to leave the disturbed sections, in response to the suggestions made by President Wilson in his message to congress, but conditions became more peaceful and hundreds came no further than the border. Whether the lull justifies their action in failing to take the president's advice remains to be seen.

News Notes from Outside Points

FORT STANTON
Mr. A. D. Sharp of New York City, is spending a few days the guest of Mr. Thomas Keough at No. 4. Mr. Sharp is private secretary to the Vice president of the New York Central Lines, with headquarters in that city.

THE committees on Field Day events are rapidly adjusting the program for the two days--Friday and Saturday, September 26th and 27th. The committee on sports, such as racing, goat roping, bronco busting, etc., have formulated its program, and the committee on baseball is preparing a schedule for the gathering that promises splendid entertainment. The Barbecue committee is also busy and hopes to be able to meet every requirement. Committees on reception and dedicatory services are busy, but are not yet ready to give out a stated program.

The Baptist Convention
The following notes on the Baptist Convention were furnished by Rev. Herbert Haywood, the local pastor:

Up to date some thirteen or more visiting Baptists from Otero and Lincoln counties are attending this association. No. 2 was 2 hours late, and on this account the election of officers on Thursday night was but temporary. At nine o'clock this morning the regular business will begin, and preaching will be announced for 7:30 at night, and the Woman's Missionary Union will be given an hour this afternoon.

Rev. Pace of Tularosa and the local pastor were appointed to read the church letter, which represent the constituency and work of the different churches for the past year.

Different phases of religious work will be discussed, and the public is cordially invited to attend.

On Sunday afternoon the ordinance of baptism will be administered. It is hoped that several of the visiting pastors will remain over Sunday and occupy the pulpit.

And the pastor desires that the body shall get through with its business in time Saturday to avail itself of the trip to the mal pais, which has been so kindly offered by the Commercial Club.

E. E. Phillips, who is drilling a well for J. B. French near Duck Lake, was called to Three Rivers this week to extract a drill from a well that is being sunk there. He succeeded in taking out the tools and returned to his work at Duck Lake.

NEW INVENTION

TO SCAMIFY FRUIT QUICKLY

Invention of Michigan Man Does Work Effectively and Prevents Hands Tearing Articles.

For the scaring of fruit and vegetables, a Michigan man has patented a device which not only does the work as effectively as any woman would want, but saves the hands from coming into contact with the articles cut up. A circular plate, with supports at intervals is equipped with a sub-ber of rotating teeth on one side. Another disk also has teeth on one side and a strap on the top, through which you can pass your hand, holding the disk as you would a fresh brush. The first plate is placed in the bottom of the pan, cutting side up. The fruit or vegetable to be scarified is then placed on it, and the cook slips the second plate over her hand and proceeds to roll the object around until it is literally cut to pieces by the teeth. Whatever juice runs out of the fruit during this operation is caught in the pan.

NEW AND UNIQUE INVENTIONS

Among Other Novelties Connecticut Man Installs Private Motion Picture Theater in Home.

Ingenious mechanism in a new German lighthouse that uses electricity as an illuminant switch on a new lamp and moves it into focus should the original lamp be extinguished.

In the residence of a Connecticut man there has been installed a private motion picture theater, so located that guests can view the pictures as from a box while at the dinner table.

A combination lock that operates the handle of an umbrella and prevents it being opened by any person ignorant of the combination is the invention of a London cafe conroom attendant.

For use in connection with a piano or organ keyboard, a Swedish inventor has perfected electrical apparatus which transcribes music as it is composed on a way ribbon, from which it may be copied.

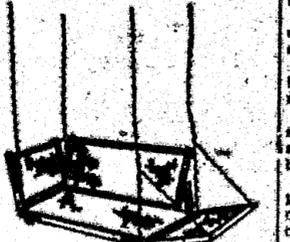

A bowling cabinet capacious enough to hold everything a seamstress may need in her work, yet which folds up like a screen and can be carried by handles on one side, has been invented by a Missourian.

By treating it with certain acids, a French inventor has brought out a paper which disintegrates and destroys any inscription written upon it after a time.

HAMMOCK IS QUITE UNIQUE

Bottom, Back and End Frames Are Filled With Lattice Work, of Flexible Basket Weaving.

On the heels of the criss-cross couch hammocks, a Wisconsin man has devised an entirely new type of hammock, and a very unusual one. This hammock has a bottom frame, a back frame and two end frames of wood, not fitted in with lattice work, or flexible basket weaving. The back frame is probably mounted on two posts arising from the bottom frame and the end frames are hinged to the bottom frame and can be let down from the top by means of chains that are attached to the four large chains from which the whole is suspended. The back and ends are then adjustable to any position the user may desire. Incidentally, the back is supported on its lateral extremities so that it automatically returns back to the angle at which the occupant of the hammock may be prone or reclining.

LIGHT PRESSURE ON EARTH

Science Has Gained Far Into Subject and Figures Force Reaches 74,000 Tons on Globe.

Light, traveling its 186,000 miles a second, came as regarded an ethereal, immaterial something in vibration. Simon Newcomb, in his "Popular Astronomy," issued in 1878, said of this: "If light were an emission of material particles, as Newton supposed it to be, this supposed pressure of light would have some plausibility. But light is now conceived to consist of vibrations in an ethereal medium and there is no known way in which they could exert any impelling force on matter."

But today Newton is supported and science has gone so far into the pressure of light as to figure that this light pressure on the globe reaches 74,000 tons. Further, along the lines of deduction, there is pressure upon any object that reflects or absorbs light, the pressure being greater on the reflecting matter. That mankind is not to be smothered or knocked out by this, however, is shown in the fact that 15,000 trillions of light particles strike the globe every second, these overwhelming numbers of particles equaling a five and one-half pound shot falling the 194,000 miles in a second. Unless some unknown influence suddenly should congeal the immeasurable corpuscles of light into solid shot, each striking every second, there's no danger either of death from the shots or of a darkness, relieved only by the stifling white-hot missiles bombarding us.

ARTERIOSCLEROSIS IN CITIES

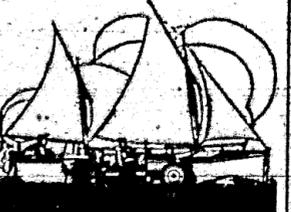

Many Factors Tend to Produce Arterial Degeneration and Consequent Premature Senility.

It is very generally felt that the high-pressure conditions of city life, the immoderate use of alcoholic stimulants and tobacco, and impure foods, combined with worry and the increased demands which are everywhere made upon the individual today, are factors which are producing earlier arterial degeneration and consequent premature senility, says the New York Medical Journal. It is no uncommon thing to meet with well-marked cases of atherosclerotic arteries in New York in men who are nearer the fourth than the fifth decade of life. This is in marked contrast to countries like Norway, where simple, patriarchal living is still practiced, and where men in the seventies and eighties not infrequently preserve the soft, elastic arteries of youth.

MOTOR CAR PROPELS YACHT

Application of Automobile to Drive Small Vessel Has Been Carried Out by an Englishman.

The application of an automobile to the propulsion of a small yacht has been worked out successfully by an English sportsman, says the Popular Mechanic. The vessel, a 22-foot yawl, has a deep cockpit so arranged that the automobile can be run or lifted into it. The rear wheels are then lacked up and the driving mechanism of the car connected to the yacht's propeller by chain gearing. With a 12-horse power car the yacht was driven against head winds on a three weeks' cruise without trouble.

NOTES OF SCIENCE AND INVENTION

According to a French scientist potassium must be added to the list of radioactive substances.

Glass spoons have been invented for cold drinks with tubular handles to be used in place of straws.

A scientist says that the bassoon player is always cranky and the drummer generally lacks humor.

Native cooks in Ecuador are prejudiced against stoves, saying the excessive heat produces fever.

Pelhelm, Sweden's earliest mechanical inventor, constructed a grain drill as early as the seventeenth century.

A hydroplane built in Belgium of steel instead of wood is said to have attained a speed of forty-five miles an hour.

Eggs can be boiled, steamed, and poached at the same time with a new cooking utensil on the chafing dish order.

An asbestos lined vest-pocket in which a lighted cigar can be carried safely has been invented by a Philadelphia tailor.

One of the newer sanitary drinking fountains has the cups at the ends of flexible tubes so they can be raised to a person's mouth.

Spring operated lamps have been patented by a Wisconsin inventor to set the screen down in a clean way and without waste.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

He Twists Letters Like Mexican Juggling Lariat

WASHINGTON.—Frank B. Willis, the rising young statesman from Wool Town, Ohio, who pulled down the spelling laurels in the recent Press Clubs ladies' night entertainment, had better study up that blue-backed speller, because there's another chap in town who can twist the letters round his tongue like a Mexican greaser juggling a lariat. This same fellow is Wesley Brown, special assistant attorney general of the department of justice.

Some time ago a correspondent who purported to be a college professor wrote a letter to President Taft complaining that the recurrence of crime waves was due to malign thought impulses hurled about by detectives of the department of justice. Then the detectives would issue forth and arrest these law breakers, according to the writer, in this way working up a reputation for efficiency. The writer also said he had appeared before the senate "third degree" committee, and that his views were greeted with loud guffaw. In conclusion he said: "They laughed, Mr. President," he wrote, "at the profundity of their own ineptitude."

Mexican Juggling Lariat

The letter was referred to the department of justice, and Wesley Brown was asked to prepare an indictment for it. There was a scream of laughter when Brown turned in a burlesque opinion, couched in words which outranked the professor's ten to one. They say President Taft chuckled all day over it. And as for big words—just watch:

"After careful reflection," wrote Wesley Brown, "I concur in the physical theorems herein deduced by the complainant. His conclusions regarding the auto-suggestion of crime are fully borne out by the history of human experience. Its insidious effect upon the mind has a pronounced tendency to bring on aboulomania or cretinism of the will power, combined with a choreic condition of the faculties."

"In some cases it has even been known to induce kateosis or some more serious dissociation of the mental elements of a justic character and lurid developments such as, for instance, confusional encephalomalacia. "The application of the third degree annihilates the inhibitory powers of the average victim and plunges him into a state of volitional hypnosis, thereby breaking down the fundamental doctrine of free agency."

How John Burroughs Found a Place to Sleep In

JOHN BURROUGHS, accompanied by two well known naturalists, Ernest Thompson-Seton and Glenn Buck of Chicago, was a recent visitor to the capitol.

At the capitol Mr. Burroughs gazed with thoughtful eyes directed toward the imposing, glistening white, marble senate office building.

"Beautiful building, isn't it?" he was asked.

"Huh! Yes," was the slow response.

"But," he added, "I would a whole night rather gaze at a scene I remember so distinctly. I had visited a small hamlet in a state that was 'dry'."

"I looked about, but could find no place to sleep. It took only a few minutes to traverse the settlement. There was only one place where a light could be seen. The nature of the business being transacted there was apparent to all who cared to understand. It was a so-called 'blind tiger'."

"Seeking rest there was out of the question, but I was tempted to enter and ask for information. As I was hesitating, a faint light in a building

Opposite showed, and in a few minutes the form of a man, partly dressed, appeared in the doorway and began an unsteady course for the blind tiger.

"I did not stop him, but as he entered the place of liquor dispensing, I entered the place he vacated, blow out the light and cast myself into his bed, which was warm."

"It seemed hours later when I was awakened by a reeling Swede."

"Ah bano thanking you've my bado," he began.

"Mah," I replied. "You've been to the blind tiger."

"That was enough. The man was too dazed to think. He turned about, by degrees, and walked out of the place. I don't know where he went, but probably back to the blind tiger."

Calamitous Cessation for Bobby's Little Lamb

It is an admitted fact that Mary had a little lamb, but it may be news to the general public that Bobby Blank, who lives out Georgetown way, had another. Last week he had, until the other day, when his ownership came to what can briefly be called a calamitous cessation.

Bobby had been week-ending with a little cousin who lives out in the country two hours by wagon, on a hill, off the pike. Little cousin owned a pet lamb, and when the wagon was waiting for Bobby he, somehow, managed to squeak get off and get away with the goods.

The wise men who make the world go round for us assert that character changes with environment, and it must be so, for, by the time the wagon had wheeled up to the home curb the small white thing that had been as docile as those other dear lamblings that skip on the forever-green grass in the way-back spelling book, took on a kiddish bating velocity.

Bobby's mamma was waiting to welcome little son as he hopped out of the wagon, dragging the lamb at the end of a string. The first thing the two knew the lamb had batted in and sprawled them, mother and man-child, on the pavement.

A crowd developed with a suddenness that suggested it must have swarmed up from the crevices in the bricks.

The little lamb got busy and tutted around at the human fringo with skillful impartiality, until a particularly big man gave it what was intended to be a down-and-out kick. But it wasn't. Not for the little lamb. As for the man—but maybe he wouldn't like it mentioned; some people are so delicately sensitive—and, anyhow, maybe he would have done better if the little lamb had given him a second try, but it wasn't that sort of a little lamb. It preferred to streak off like white lightning—and maybe it is streaking yet.

Some Mighty Beautiful Things in the Constitution

SENATOR TOM MARTIN of Virginia is radically different from most statesmen from the sunny south. He is not an orator. On the contrary, he is usually so silent that he makes the Sphinx seem like the star book agent for an installment publishing house. As some of his constituents like to say: "Tom takes his'n out in thinkin' and actin'."

But while Martin says little, he listens much. And when he does finally break into speech his words are to the point.

Some time ago there came up, in the senate, a bill on which there was a bitter fight. Straightway several of those senators who have come to be known as "constitutional sharks" leaped to their feet one after another, in high sounding and resounding protest.

"Shall we, unworthy as we are, dare to violate either the letter or the spirit of our beloved constitution?" they demanded. "Never—never—not one iota—NEVER!"

Martin listened calmly until all had done. Then he rose slowly and draped himself gracefully over one edge of his desk.

THE MOST BEAUTIFUL OF ALL THOSE GLORIOUS WORDS, SUB, GIVIN' US THE RIGHT TO AMEND—

"Mistah President" said he in his soft drawl, "I yield to no man, sub, in my respect for the Constitution and its framers. They did well. They did nobly, sub—for their time. But, Mistah President, those gentlemen have been dead mo' than one hundred years, sub, and times, sub, have changed. We've got to remember that, sub."

"An' remembering that, Mistah President, what I started to say was this: There are some mighty beautiful things in our Constitution. It's a beautiful work, sub. But, Mistah President, of all the beautiful things in all that beautiful work, to my mind the mos' beautiful of all are those glorious words, sub, givin' us the right to amend."

Just Wanted to Be Sure.

For four entire hours had the lady remained in the shop. She had visited every department and worried the majority of the salesmen without spending a penny.

Toward the close of the afternoon one of the salesmen, feeling somewhat exasperated, ventured to make a mild protest.

"Madam," he asked sweetly, "are you shopping here?"

The lady looked surprised, but not by any means annoyed.

"Certainly," she replied. "But what else should I be doing?"

For a moment the salesman hesitated, then blurted out: "Well, madam, I thought perhaps you might be taking an inventory."

Then the lady melted away among the shadows by the door.

Enthusiast: "An up-to-date preacher, you say?"

"Yes, his sermons are bristling with motor car metaphors."

Don't Poison Baby.

FORTY YEARS AGO almost every mother thought her child must have sleep, and a FEW DROPS TOO MANY will produce the BLEEP FROM WHICH THERE IS NO WAKING. Many are the children who have been killed or whose health has been ruined for life by paregoric, laudanum and morphine, each of which is a narcotic product of opium. Druggists are prohibited from selling either of the narcotics named to children at all, or to anybody without labelling them "poison." The definition of "narcotic" is: "A medicine which relieves pain and produces sleep, but which in poisonous doses produces stupor, coma, convulsions and death." The taste and smell of medicines containing opium are disguised, and sold under the names of "Drops," "Cordials," "Soothing Syrups," etc. You should not permit any medicine to be given to your children without your or your physician know of what it is composed. CASTORIA DOES NOT CONTAIN NARCOTICS, if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.

Long-Lost Mine Found.

The long-lost Cinnabar mine in Nevada has been found after a search lasting more than thirty years. The discovery was made some weeks ago by George Krough while searching for stray stock, seven miles from Mina.

The discovery was kept secret until claims were staked and assays made of the ore, showing it to run high in quicksilver.

Following the announcement of the finding of the mine a rush was started for the district in which it is located.

Hawthorne, after finding the Cinnabar deposit, became confused and lost his way on the desert. He wandered about for several days and finally landed at New Boston, formerly a thriving camp, but now extinct.

He conducted expedition after expedition in search of the deposit, but his efforts were fruitless. He described the location, stating that two petrified trees stood near the mound.

The stone trees are to be noticed today as described by the old prospector, who dies 13 years ago.

Compliment.

"The English are a heavy-handed race," said a suffragette in the smoking room of the Colony club.

She lit a fresh cigarette and sipped her coffee.

"The English are heavy-handed," she repeated. "I went to hear Mrs. Fankhurst lecture in Woodstock on my last visit to England, and do you know how the jolly old farmer chairman introduced her? Well, this is what he said, intending it for a compliment, mind you:

"Ladies and gentlemen, you have heard of Mr. Gladstone, the grand old man. Let me now introduce to you the grand old woman."

Never Again.

"Going to get out here and stretch your legs?" asked one passenger of another.

"What place is it?" asked his companion.

"Chicago."

"No, I had one stretched here once."

A BAD start makes a good ending, we are told, and the saying was never more applicable than to Carrizozo's base ball team. In the early part of the season our team became the brunt of many a joke, because of its inability to make a showing—in fact, could scarcely win a game. The tide turned, however, at last, and for the past two months the Carrizozo team has made every opponent "bite the dust," having won everyone of the last five games—Sunday's game with Capitan making the fifth. So, the "shoe is on the other foot" now, and we have the other boys wondering what to do. However, Sunday's game didn't really belong to Carrizozo. The visitors had it won twice and should have taken the game. But in many respects it was like the previous games—Carrizozo getting off behind and having to play like sin to overtake their opponents.

Capitan led up to the fifth inning, but was then overtaken and passed by Carrizozo. Again, in the seventh, Capitan led, but the score was tied in the eighth. At the beginning of the ninth, Capitan made a desperate effort to score, and all but succeeded, a runner dying at third when the side was retired. Carrizozo then came to bat; a single badly handled gave the first batter his base, and the second batter landed a long one over the outfield and the man on first romped home—making the score 10 to 9, in favor of the home team, and the game was over.

The teams were very evenly matched. Capitan having brought a strong aggregation of players over. The local team, also, was probably the strongest line-up Carrizozo has had for years; as a matter of fact, we had the pick of the west side. Both sides made errors to be sure but that the errors were about equalized is evidenced by the closeness of the score. Batteries: for Capitan, Thomason and Norman; for Carrizozo, Gallacher, Grumbles and Van Schoyck.

Killing at Arabela

A KILLING occurred at Arabela Wednesday of last week. Manuel Garcia was the victim and Emilio Flores is charged with the crime. A knife was the weapon used. Flores was given a hearing before Justico Brady at Lincoln, having been arrested by Sheriff Chavez, and released on a $1,000 bond.

The parties to the unfortunate affair were brothers-in-law, but the examining trial failed to bring out any evidence to show that any bad blood existed between the two. The evidence merely showed that Garcia and another approached Flores who was lying down and under the influence of liquor; that they attempted to raise Flores to his feet, when the latter threw his hand—which held an open knife—around striking Garcia in the leg, severing an artery, from which he bled to death in a few minutes.

Yaquis Demand Lands or a Fight in Sonora

NOGALES, Ariz., Sept. 7.—The Yaqui Indians have alarmed their allies, the Sonora "Constitutionalists," according to American refugees who arrived today, by demanding that the "Constitutional" state government return to them all lands allotted to them by Porfirio Diaz.

The demand of the Yaquis, it is asserted, came in the form of an ultimatum: "Return our lands, or fight."

GOOD telephone service depends largely upon mutual courtesy. The telephone is more useful to those who talk as if face to face, for civility removes difficulties and facilitates the promptest possible connections.

As in other intercourse, it often happens that two or more people wish to talk with the same person at the same time. Without courtesy confusion is inevitable, and the confusion is greater when the people cannot see each other.
