The Enlarged Homestead Law

SOME misunderstanding exists as to the provisions of the enlarged homestead law, and as it is a matter in which many people of this section and others, as well, who contemplate coming, are interested, we present the following from the government Press Bulletin:

The 320-acre homestead law, or, as it is often called, the enlarged-homestead law, has made possible the entry of many million acres of dry land in the Western States in tracts double the size allowed under the original homestead law. Only land which has been "designated" by the Secretary of the Interior as "nonirrigable" can be entered under this act. More than 200,000,000 acres have been thus designated, but petitions and sworn statements requesting further designations are constantly being received.

In an interview just given out, Secretary Lane calls attention to the fact that there appears to be considerable misunderstanding among western homesteaders as to the procedure necessary in order that enlarged-homestead designations may be made. The Secretary states that only the simplest and most direct action by the settler is required, and that it is wholly unnecessary for him to incur the charges now made by attorneys who draw up formal petitions that are in fact no more effective than the homesteader's own letter would be. On this account a brief statement of the essential facts relative to the enlarged-homestead law is timely.

The first enlarged-homestead act was approved February 19, 1909, and as later amended provides that in the States of Arizona, California, Colorado, Idaho, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oregon, Utah, Washington, and Wyoming any person who is qualified to make entry under the homestead laws may enter as much as 320 acres of public land which is in a reasonably compact body and is nonmineral, nonirrigable, unreserved, and unappropriated and does not contain merchantable timber. Before such entry can be made, however, the land must be designated by the Secretary of the Interior as not being, in his opinion, susceptible of successful irrigation at a reasonable cost from any known source of water supply.

The work of classifying the lands and determining what areas may be considered nonirrigable has been assigned by Secretary Lane to the United States Geological Survey. Although, under the present ruling of the Secretary, large areas may be designated as nonirrigable without raising the question whether the land is in other respects subject to homestead entry, the work of examining and classifying these large areas necessarily proceeds rather slowly. In addition to these so-called "blanket" designations, therefore, designations of smaller areas are made as rapidly as their nonirrigable character is determined, including areas whose designation has been requested by individual settlers for enlarged homestead entry or for additional entry on tracts adjacent to their present unperfected homestead entries.

No definite form of petition is required, but each application should be limited as far as possible to the specific tract desired for entry and should contain a description, by section, township, and range, of the applicant's original homestead entry and the date of this entry, as well as a description, also by legal subdivisions, of the land desired for additional entry. Information as to the possibility of irrigating the land should also be furnished and should include the distance and direction of the nearest stream or existing or proposed irrigation canal, the elevation of the lowest point of the land above such source of water supply, the depth at which water can be reached by wells sunk on the land, and all available information concerning attempts to obtain water by this method. The general character of the land, both of the homesteader's original entry (if he has made one) and of the land desired for additional entry, should also be described, to aid the Survey in reaching a decision as to its nonirrigability.

This information should be embodied in a letter sent to the Director, U. S. Geological Survey, Washington, D. C. A formal petition drawn up by a notary or an attorney is not at all necessary, and will not result in any earlier consideration of the matter than will be given if the applicant writes personally. Action will be taken on every request as promptly as is consistent with a proper regard to other requests that are pending, and the applicant will be promptly notified when a final decision has been reached.

Markoe, father of the child was buried only the week before, and it was while on a visit to her brother in Louisville Mrs. Markee lost the baby. The cause of the death was an obstruction in the throat strangling the child to death in twenty minutes.

NON-SECTARIAN SERVICE PROGRAMME

The following was the programme had at Library Hall last Sunday evening, Chaplain Frund presiding: Hymn No. 349, red book; "Apostles Creed"; Spiritual reading, Nos. 6 and 7, page 8, red book; Hymn No. 286, page 114, red book; Invocational prayer (to be recited in common); The Beatitudes, page 4, red book; Sermon, Chaplain; Hymn No. 480, red book, page 194; benediction.

"There are sheep astray from the fold because they will not hear the voice of the Great Shepherd of souls. There are recreant children who will obey and keep His commandments. There are the weak who have become discouraged long ago, and who feel that it is useless for them to strive after righteousness, weighed down as they are with the burden of sinful inclinations and vicious habits. There are those who have grown old in evil ways, who appear as if abandoned to reprobate sense, and who deem it too late to retrace their steps and begin their spiritual lives anew. There are a thousand other forms of the same spiritual malady, having as their root the ancient spirit of rebellion on the part of the intelligent creature against the Creator, who gave it being and intelligence and made it free."

Attendance at our Sunday evening non-sectarian services is something in which we should take the greatest pride. We have no finer opportunity of showing the true Christian spirit of good will and helpfulness, and at the same time no surer way of bringing down God's blessing on our thoughts and actions. Let us pray for those whom sin is keeping away, and let us frequently invite them to come, impressing upon them that it is never too late to return to the road of virtue that leads to eternal happiness. Chaplain Frund, U. S. P. H. S.; Mrs. F. H. McKeon, Organist; Mrs. F. C. Smith, Choir Leader.

White Mountain.

Wm. Durbrow, Jr. and H. S. Schefley made a business trip to Carrizozo last week.

Mrs. Monroe Harper has returned from California for a short visit to the ranch.

Norman Riggs and Max Benkendorf are busy rebuilding road on the Riggs homestead.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Reber of Alamogordo, were Sunday visitors here.

M. A. Benkendorf, of Alamogordo, was here over Sunday visiting his son, Max, who recently took up a homestead in this section.

The mild weather continues and people are predicting a moderate, dry winter for the White Mountain country.

William Durbrow, Jr., has returned after a few days' visit with friends in Alamogordo.

Mr. E. C. Funk, is conducting Sunday services in the White Mountain school house.

Miss Florence Nabours attended the dance in Oscura last Friday and reports the usual jolly time.

Joe Wingfield has been a visitor to his family in Alamogordo this week.

H. S. Schefley has been busy this week hauling hay, for which there is considerable demand.

White Oaks.

Monday of this week brought a budget of weather samples from the entire calendar. The morning dawned bright and balmy, grew warmer, then gave a March bluster of thunder showers, changed into an east wind storm of dust and fury and finally ended in a snow storm which lasted thru the night. Next day the sunshine absorbed the snow.

The White Oaks post office, during October, handled 2055 pounds of mail matter, sold one hundred sixty money orders and cashed forty-nine others in spite of the strike.

Our Bob-Cats, Allen Lane, Dan Jackson and Ed Queen, went hunting during the lay-off given them by the strikers. Two gentlemen from El Paso and others of White Oaks were also in the party. The Vau Schoyck, Lye, and Lane motor cars carried the party and their out-fit. Rather luxurious way of hunting! They killed one deer, bought the skin home to prove it, and had oceans of fun.

Jimmie Simms and his mother have come to White Oaks and occupy the furnished home of Mrs. Lois McDonald. Miss Edna Ward will keep house for them and Jimmie will work for the Wild Cat Co.

Monday work was begun again at the mill, the mines and cyanide plant.

Tuesday a few more weary, disgusted looking young men left town. They all seem to realize now that they struck at the wrong time, in the wrong place.

John Lee, Sr., ran a nail into his hand making a wound which threatened to cause serious trouble but Dr. Paden has given immediate relief.

Chas. Spence has gone with his first trainload of lambs to the feeding pens near Chicago, leaving this end of the business in the hands of his partner, J. B. French.

Mr. Summerville of Michigan, is here to spend the winter with his daughter and her husband L. C. Barlow, who is in charge of the big cyanide plant.

The Schajles have bought the "Crazy property" here and are transforming it into a home.

The members of the "Woman's Club" were hostesses at a jolly Halloween party given at their club rooms Friday evening of last week. The club gave the entire conduct of the party into the hands of the witches, even the invitations were issued in the mystic symbols of witch craft.

Electric lighting has been installed in several of the residences here, and in the store rooms and cellar of the White Oaks Trading Company.

The friends of Hon. John Y. Hewitt will be glad to learn that he is improving. Though he writes that he did not begin to improve until he fired the doctors and substituted for their treatment one of his own. He will remain in El Paso a while longer.

The young people were entertained last Wednesday evening by Miss Harriet Wingfield, and later in the week by Mrs. Ted Reasoner.

Dr. Whitacre has been ill for sometime but is improving, is able to be out on sunny days.

Jicarilla

Mr. Fitchpatrick returned from White Oaks Sunday where he visited since Friday.

Mr. Dale came in from Ruidoso the last of the week with a load of apples.

Mrs. Corbit had charge of the Deel store during a recent illness of Mrs. Campbell.

E. H. Talbert is getting very much "to home" at his ranch on the east side.

Claud Branum, like almost everybody, is looking for young cattle. The scarcity of cattle is a surprise to those unheeding the gradual disappearance of stock on the ranges. But "we never miss the water 'till the mill runs dry."

A victim of the deplorable explosion at the Dawson mines was Valentin, a brother of Joe Mon-

ELECTRICAL WORLD

DOOM OF STEAM LOCOMOTION

Cost of Electrical Operation Practically About Five-Eighths of That of Former Power.

The pioneers in the substitution of electric motive power for steam upon the railroads merely hoped that the costs of operation would be smaller than they were under the old system. But they did not know that they would be. They had no experience to draw upon. They were compelled by the circumstances to make the venture. It is only within recent months that they could say that the venture had paid.

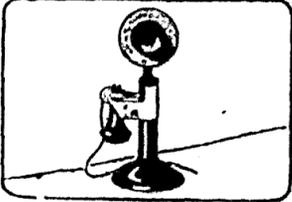

Now, under tests of varied character, it has been demonstrated that the cost of electric operation is practically about five-eighths that of doing the same work with steam locomotives, says the Toledo Blade. The electric locomotive has proved to have decided advantages in being able to use its entire weight for tractive effort, in making a greater mileage per year than the steam locomotive and in needing fewer repairs.

The saving is sufficient to warrant every railroad in the country undertaking the labor of electrification. It is sufficient to warrant the public looking forward to a day very near at hand when the smoke and grime making locomotive will be a part of the past.

USING ELECTRIC PYROMETER

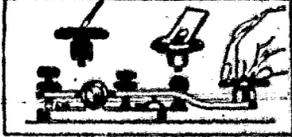

Measurement of Temperature So Far Perfected That Almost Any Degree Can Be Obtained.

Electric pyrometry, as the measurement of temperature by electric means is called, has now been so far perfected that it is applicable from near the absolute zero—some 400 degrees Fahrenheit below the ordinary zero—to the temperature of melting platinum, more than 3,000 degrees Fahrenheit above zero. Prof. J. A. Fleming, in a recent lecture on the subject, described the two methods of measuring temperature by electrical means, one depending on the increase of electric resistance of a pure metal with increase of temperature, and the other on the production of an electromotive force in a circuit of two metals when one junction is kept at a constant temperature and the other is heated to the temperature which it is desired to measure. Many electrical pyrometers give a continuous record of the temperature on a revolving drum.

IMPROVEMENT ON KEY KNOB

Physical Strain on Operator Is Taken Away by Use of Clip, Invented by North Dakota Man.

An improvement in the telegraph key knob is here presented. A finger clip is rigidly attached to a small, round plate screwed into the top of the knob. By loosening a screw in the plate, the finger clip can be set at any angle to suit the operator and then held by tightening the screw. The main body of the knob is of rubber.

The claim of the inventor and patentee, H. C. Dauphinais, Fargo, N. D., is that the use of the clip takes away the physical strain due to sending with a key having a flat knob.

Electricity for Heating

Some railroads use electric power for heating trains. Part of them use the current directly in the heaters, as they do in trolley cars in some cities. Others use an electric boiler.

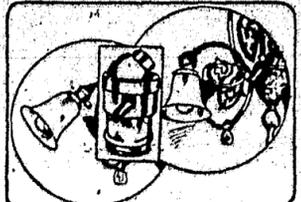

Small Electric Motor

The smallest commercial motor weighs less than two pounds. It is used where a little power is required, such as for dental drills, etc.

TO MODERNIZE OLD FIXTURES

Antiquated, but Costly Apparatus, Too Beautiful to Be Thrown Away, Can Be Renewed.

In thousands of homes there are in use old, antiquated electric fixtures much too costly and beautiful to discard. The only objectionable feature of most of these old fixtures is that the lamps are held at an angle. Experience has shown that the distribution of light is greatly improved if lamps are installed in a vertical position. Therefore all modern fixtures are provided with vertical outlets, says the Popular Electricity. By the use of what is called the angle cap socket the old angle fixtures may be made to hold the lamp in a vertical position with a marked increase in lighting efficiency.

DANGERS OF THE WIRELESS

German Authority Reports That Operators Who Send Signals Suffer From Impoverished Blood.

The latest in the list of occupational maladies is "wireless operator's disease." A German authority reports that the men who send the C. Q. D. signals suffer often from impoverished blood, headaches and other untoward symptoms. That these are directly due to the powerful electric waves sent out by their machines has not been directly proved, but incidents are cited that make this appear at least probable, a writer in the Literary Digest asserts. Other conditions only indirectly connected with wireless telegraphy may, of course, add to the effect. We quote from Cosmos the following translation in abstract from Elektrotechnische Zeitschrift:

"Wireless telegraphers are subject to anemia, in which the number of red blood globules, as well as their content of hemoglobin, is diminished. This malady has certainly various causes; in the first place, the defective sanitary conditions of the stations, especially on board ship. It is equally probable that the strong ozonization of the air, due to the use of alternating currents of high frequency to send the messages, plays an important part. Similar troubles, such as paleness, headaches, loss of appetite and bad digestion, have often been noted among the electrical workers employed in high tension plants, such as those at Niagara.

"The future will show whether electric waves have any physiologic effects. A Viennese physician, Dr. Beer, has noted the production of subjective glows when a powerful electric magnet is brought near the head. "An American electrical engineer named Collins has made experiments on a sleeping cat and asserts that, under the influence of electric waves, the animal lapsed into the air as if an alternating current had been sent through it. Collins concludes that powerful electric waves may cause characteristic accidents, possibly fatal ones. Nevertheless, no absolutely conclusive proofs have yet been obtained."

INDIGESTION, GAS OR BAD STOMACH

Time (If) Pape's Diapesin ends all Stomach misery in five minutes.

Do some foods you eat hit back—taste good, but work badly; ferment into stubborn lumps and cause a sick-sour, gassy stomach? Now, Mr. or Mrs. Dyspeptic, get this down: Pape's Diapesin digests everything, leaving nothing to sour and upset you. There never was anything so safely quick, so certainly effective. No difference how badly your stomach is disordered you will get happy relief in five minutes, but what pleases you most is that it strengthens and regulates your stomach so you can eat your favorite foods without fear.

You feel different as soon as "Pape's Diapesin" comes in contact with the stomach—distress just vanishes—your stomach gets sweet, no gases, no belching, no eruptions of undigested food.

Go now, make the best investment you ever made, by getting a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapesin from any store. You realize in five minutes how needless it is to suffer from indigestion, dyspepsia or bad stomach. Adv.

HENPECK HAS LITTLE JOKE

For Once He Turned the Tables on His Wife, and Surely Had a Right to Laugh.

Henpeck was in a state of delight all the evening; it was so evident that at last he had won a fortune.

"No, but it is the joke of the age. I have been laughing all day. This morning when I went into the dining room at breakfast time there was no meal visible. I went into my wife's room and there she was still asleep. So unlike Bertha, you know, I called her: 'Say, Bertha, it's eight o'clock; I want my breakfast.' Not a movement. I shouted; shook the bed; brought in the trying pan and beat the reveille upon it. All to no purpose. What was I to do? Time was passing and I didn't feel inclined to go to work hungry. Get my own breakfast? Not on your life. What am I married for? Then a bright thought struck me. I took off my shoes, crept as quietly as I could along the passage; a board creaked; in a moment Bertha was awake.

"James, where have you been?" "And you should have seen her when she realized the truth. Ha! ha!"

DIZZY, HEADACHY, SICK, "CASCARETS"

Gently cleanse your liver and sluggish bowels while you sleep.

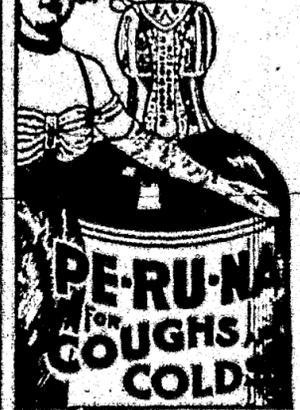

Get a 10-cent box. Sick headache, biliousness, dizziness, coated tongue, foul taste and foul breath—always trace them to torpid liver; delayed, fermenting food in the bowels or sour, gassy stomach. Poisonous matter clogged in the intestines, instead of being cast out of the system is re-absorbed into the blood. When this poison reaches the delicate brain tissue it causes congestion and that dull, throbbing, sickening headache.

Cascarets immediately cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested food and foul gases, take the excess bile from the liver and carry out all the constipated waste matter and poisons in the bowels. A Cascaret tonight will surely straighten you out by morning. They work while you sleep—a 10-cent box from your druggist means your head clear, stomach sweet and your liver and bowels regular for months. Adv.

Not long since he overheard a young married couple of his acquaintance billing and cooing, not, he is noted, for the first time. The grown folk present smiled, but Robert's face remained solemn. NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Electricity in a Bowl Protects a Bunch of Coin

WASHINGTON.—"Conscience doth make cowards of us all," remarked Mr. Shakespeare, which only shows that Shakespeare was hap to humanity and wrote a good many things that other people merely thought. This philosophy on morals may not have been written with a particular view to janitors, but there are several cases in Washington where it would apply. There is one widely discussed at the capitol, where it is well known that Superintendent, Elliot Woods can leave jewels and precious stones or anything else he happened to have lying around with a perfect looseness, and there is not a laborer on the place who would not walk around the block to avoid going near them.

Quite a while ago the senate laboratory was not the commodious structure it is now, but merely a private laboratory and workshop for Mr. Woods. He was an electrical expert then, as he is now, and was always fooling with anything from wireless to high frequency currents. He noticed at one time that a good many of his small personal possessions disappeared if he did not lock them up, and as he seldom thought to lock anything up, the lost flat increased to an annoying extent.

One day he built a large tyden jar out of a big china bowl and a little tin foil. He dropped a lot of pennies and nickels and dimes into it and charged it with enough "juice" to kill an ox maybe, or at least enough to make the ox think he had been killed. He left it on a sheet of glass and walked off, leaving the door of the laboratory open.

It was not long before one of the outside laborers slipped in and took a look around. That bowl of small change was an irresistible temptation, and he evidently thought a few would not be missed. He ran his hand into the bowl, but before he could grasp a nickel he felt as though some one had hit him on the funny bone with an ax. He gave a wild yell and landed in the middle of the property yard. Since that time it has been well and generally known that Mr. Woods "puts confures" on anything that belongs to him and you could not hire anybody at the capitol to touch a thing of his.

This Model Shop Was Rather an Eerie Place

WHEN the model shop of the Smithsonian Institution was down by the railroad tracks in South Washington, Harry Handley and the late Mr. Palmer, who were in the shop, had the surrounding population "buffaloed" to the extent that it was never necessary to lock a door. The model shop was rather an eerie place, anyhow, with its atmosphere of plaster of paris, half decomposed bodies and statues and rugs and skins and almost anything also queer that happened to float through the museum. There were a lot of life masks in plaster, and the residents of the shop were beloved by all the small boys and many of the adults of the vicinity to be body snatchers and to make their living by questionable and occult arts, including human vivisection.

The thing that made the place sacred, or rather hallowed, to illiterate neighbors was a human skeleton that lived in the back of the shop and that by a simple arrangement of overhead cords could be made to get up off a chair and walk into the shop. There is one of the clerks up in the war department who is an amateur naturalist of some attainment. He is also a smoker and is in the habit of keeping a small reserve supply of tobacco in a jar on his desk, so that he can replenish his pouch if he runs short during the day.

He found, finally, that it was impossible to keep any tobacco on hand and whenever he wanted it in a hurry the jar was sure to have been emptied. The inhabitants of Ireland have nothing on the sons of Ham when it comes to dreading snakes. All snakes look alike to them and they are all deadly, more so because they are snakes, quite regardless of the species. The clerk knew this quite well and, carefully washing out the tobacco dust from the jar, he one day dropped a perfectly harmless grass snake into it and put on the lid.

That afternoon he stayed late with a draftsman who was working overtime in an adjoining room. About 5:30 there was an agonized yell from the neighborhood of his desk and one of the janitors passed through the room in a blinding cloud of dust and took the stairs three at a time without waiting for the elevator.

Hidden Wealth Lost; Stove Is Worst Offender

THE United States has made millions of dollars through the efforts of thirty people to place their surplus wealth beyond the reach of thieves. Goats, calves, dogs and other animals have eaten hundreds of rolls of bills that would have been far safer in banks. Parley P. Norris also appears to be a profitable source of loss.

But for the work of the redemption division of the treasury department the loss in many cases would be total. As it is much of the money is redeemed, but to date Uncle Sam is $14,000,000 richer than he would have been had he never issued paper money. Millions of the fractional currency notes have been offered for redemption and together with later issues, are either lost or hoarded up by curio collectors.

Dogs, cats, pigs, goats and calves appear to be the chief offenders when it comes to eating paper bills. Recently the redemption division was compelled to examine the stomach of a dog that had swallowed a $20 bill dropped by his owner. The bill was thought to be worth more than the dog, so the animal was killed. Calves mutilate paper money worse than any other animal. Goats appear to give it a "lick and a promise" and swallow the whole roll.

Men in the redemption division assert that in cases where animals swallow bills the proper course is to get the bills as soon as possible and to ship the whole mass to Washington to be unfolded and tested as to its genuineness.

Decidedly the larger part of money sent to Washington for redemption is said to have been mutilated by fire. The parlor stove is a great source of loss. During the summer months money is concealed in the stove and in the fall is sent up in smoke in the first fall fire.

Congressman Drove a Mule and Was Proud of It

IT IS not often that a mule will help a man to get into congress, but this very thing happened in the case of William N. Baltz, who represents the Twenty-second Illinois district. He is the man who succeeded Representative Rodenberg.

Baltz is a farmer, and he is proud of it. In his youth he was offered an opportunity to obtain a college education, but he declined, saying that he preferred to devote his time to his farm. So he went to work and farmed right up to the minute that it became necessary for him to come to congress. Furthermore, he will farm some more, whenever congress adjourns.

There were those people in his district who were politically opposed to him that thought it would be a fine scheme to expose the fact that he drove a mule around home, and they spread this "scandal" far and wide.

After the story had been going the rounds for two or three weeks Baltz was called on one night down at He'sville to make his first political speech.

"Some of my political opponents say that I drive a mule," he said. "You bet I drive a mule! He's a good mule, too. I don't suppose there's a better mule in southern Illinois. I'm not ashamed of that mule, and I'm not ashamed that I'm a farmer, either. Some folks try to belittle me by saying that I wear a hickory shirt. You bet I wear one! I'm not ashamed of that, either. I'm a farmer and I'm an honest one, and if you send me to Washington I'll be an honest congressman, too!"

The speech made a hit with the audience and the newspapers said that it was one of the best that had been delivered during the campaign.

For Sale—A few Jersey milk cows, some now giving milk, others will be fresh soon.

J. W. LAWS, 10-24-30 Lincoln, New Mexico

William M. Reily brought in a fine blacktail buck from Pine Canyon Tuesday evening. The animal was a prize winner in his species—probably dressing 200 pounds.

Too many hunting out this week to give a detailed account of them all. Suffice to say, none of them have returned with venison, except William Reily mentioned elsewhere.

PASTURE—Good grass, plenty of water, splendid shelter. Persons wish to pasture stock. Address: Elbert T. Collier, Hurlburt, N. N.

Capt. John Lee was down Saturday from White Oaks. He was nursing a very bad hand, the result of running a nail into it, and blood poison was imminent, but little danger now exists.

The arrival of a new heir at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Grumbles was overlooked by our newsgatherer last week. The mother and child are doing well and Walter is correspondingly happy.

Commissioners Duran and Ferguson were here Monday to attend a special meeting of the board of county commissioners. The meeting was postponed till next Monday, at which time the tax levy for 1913 will be made.

Rev. Herbert Haywood and wife returned the early part of the week from Deming, where they attended the Baptist Convention. Juarez, El Paso and Alamogordo were also visited. They are charmed with Deming and the Pass City.

Mrs. Eugene Schaeffer and children went to El Paso Tuesday, accompanied by Dr. Walker. The younger daughter, May, was quite ill and the purpose of the trip was to have an operation for appendicitis. The operation was delayed for a few days and Dr. Walker returned yesterday.

J. McSmith met with an accident one day this week in which he came up much better than might have been expected. He was extracting the shells from his gasoperated shotgun, when one of the shells exploded, firing all the others in the magazine. The gun was torn into little bits, but the injury sustained by Mc was from a shell that was imbedded in his thigh.

BALDWIN LEE HALL was born April 6, 1854. He was a native of Kentucky but was raised in Tarrant Co., Texas, near Fort Worth where his parents moved in his early childhood.

He was married in 1880 in Norran Co., Texas, to Miss Sallie Blackburn. Eight children resulted from this union. Of this number five are yet living.

Mr. Hall came to Capitan several months ago for the benefit of his health but tuberculosis was too far advanced for its ravages to be checked by climate or other means. The disease conquered and Mr. Hall passed away the morning of Oct. 21, 1913, at his residence in Capitan.

The deceased was by no means a stranger in this community when he came here some months ago having lived here for about one year some seven years ago. A wide circle of friends and relatives mourn his departure.

Of his immediate family, the wife, Mrs. Sallie Hall, a son, Mr. Eaber Hall, two daughters, Mrs. Cassie Davis of Wichita, Kans., and Miss Mattie Hall were with him during his last hours. Other relatives present were Frank S. Hall of Corona, a brother and his daughters, Mrs. Oma Owens and Mrs. R. L. Owens of the same place, also Roy, Will, and Frank McDonald, nephews of the deceased.

In the absence of a minister the family called upon Supt. Chas. L. Schreck of the local schools to conduct the funeral which was held at the family residence in Capitan Tuesday afternoon, Oct. 21, 1913.

Mr. Hall was not a member of any church but he recently was led to a belief in the saving power of divine Grace and we trust and believe that it is well with his soul in the land beyond.

Mrs. Sallie Hall, wife of the deceased, who herself has been in quite poor health for some time past went to spend a few days with Mrs. R. L. Owen and Frank S. Hall of Corona, leaving the next day after the funeral.

A Night of Terror.

Many mothers have passed nights of terror in this situation. A little forethought will enable you to avoid all this. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is a certain cure for croup and has never been known to fail. Keep it at hand. For sale by all dealers.

Democrats Sweep Everything.

EVERYTHING that wasn't nailed down went democratic at the elections held Tuesday of this week. It is, naturally, gratifying to democrats that the election resulted as it did, but the most gratifying thing in the whole matter, is the action of the people in showing a willingness to give the administration an opportunity to put its policies in operation and not condemn it by an adverse vote before a fair trial had been given.

The bitterest fight took place in the city of New York, where the forces of good government were arrayed against Tammany, Mitchell, the fusionist candidate for mayor, defeating McCall, the Tammany candidate, by more than 100,000, and carried with him a majority of the council. Mitchell, though a democrat and fighting Tammany, a democratic organization, was supported by republicans, progressives and many democrats. Sulzer, the deposed governor of New York, was elected by a large majority to represent a New York district in the state assembly. The state assembly is republican, owing to the fight on Tammany.

Massachusetts elected a democratic governor by a plurality of more than 50,000 and the entire state ticket of the same political persuasion was also elected. Democrats and progressives will control the legislature.

New Jersey elected a democratic governor and state ticket and have a substantial majority in the state legislature.

In Maryland the principal interest centered in the election of a U. S. Senator. It was the first state to elect a senator under the popular election of senators. Blair Lee, a democrat, was chosen by a substantial majority and will take the place of a republican now representing that state in the upper halls of congress. Democrats have control of the state legislature by a two-thirds majority.

Municipal contests throughout the country, fought largely on local issues, resulted in a division of the offices, democrats, republicans and fusionists winning, according to the bent of the electors.

Out of the four congressmen chosen to fill vacancies the democrats were successful in three, with a very close count for the fourth in a Massachusetts district where both candidates claim the election.

Two conclusions are easily reached by Tuesday's returns: first, the voters were willing to give their moral support to the administration in its efforts to prove its governmental theories correct; and, second, that the republican party is hopelessly divided.

The Irish Thrive

FOR centuries, as all the world knows, Ireland has suffered from absentee landlordism, and that fact has caused millions of the Irish to leave their native land. The hard economic agricultural system under which the people of Ireland have struggled—a system that has yielded but a bare existence—has created a world-wide sympathy. Blessed with a sturdy population, a rich soil and a delightful climate, the conditions have been such that the tillers of the soil eked out a most miserable existence. A wonderful change for the better is now apparent. The English government some years ago authorized the loan of millions of pounds to the Irish tenantry with which to purchase lands for their own use. These loans were made at a low rate of interest and on long time payments. Immediately this governmental policy bore rich fruit; the thrifty tenant began to own his home and gradually the soil is coming into the possession of those who till it. This policy is not only bringing prosperity to stricken Ireland, but it also accompanied by peace and contentment. Better educational facilities follow in the train of this progressive policy and it is not too much to say that the future has the brightest promise for Ireland of any country under the British crown. All friends of Ireland—and America is full of them—rejoice over these bettered conditions.

Intervention Probable

It is difficult to sift the wheat from the chaff in the mass of matter that is being furnished by the Associated Press on Mexico. First we had the announcement that the United States had delivered a note to Huerta, telling him not to stand on the manner of his group, but to get! Second, came a denial that no such ultimatum had been issued. Third came the announcement that Mexico had asked France to mediate. Fourth followed the declaration that Uncle Sam wouldn't permit France or any other foreign nation to have a finger in the pie, and fifth, we are now led to believe that the first report is true, because the authorities admit having issued a note to Huerta. Now, if Huerta stands pat, it is inconceivable how anything short of intervention will, or can, follow. A scrimmage is, therefore, in prospect.

Forest Road About Completed

THE Capitan Gap road, for which the forest service made an appropriation, is nearing completion. It has been graded for a distance of 5 miles, culverts and bridges put in and when it settles, which will be when moisture strikes it, it will be a valuable piece of road. W. M. Ferguson, who has had considerable experience in road building, has been in charge of the work and the forest authorities are well pleased with the result. Supervisor Kinney and his assistant, Jas. A. Scott, have given the work much personal attention and their interest in the matter is most commendable. The work is on an important north and south highway in the county, and over a section of country that had, in the past, received little attention.

Splendid Lambs

SHERWOOD CORN delivered a bunch of 2,200 lambs at Ancho the first of the week, disposing of them by weight. The shipment averaged 57 pounds, which about topped the weight of any shipment made this year. Lambs are slightly lighter this year than usual, but when a stockmaster receives something like $2.80 for his lambs it must be conceded that the business is a profitable one.

Davidson-Beaty

IN the county clerk's office Tuesday afternoon, Justice Edward Massie performed the ceremony that united in marriage Mr. Emmett F. Davidson and Miss Lucy E. Beaty. The contracting parties are well known, not only at Corona, their home, but throughout the county, and THE NEWS joins their many friends in extending best wishes.

Crane & Company, of Topeka, Kansas, are celebrating their forty-fifth anniversary in business in Kansas, by furnishing their friends and customers with C. C. Blake's Weather Forecast for 1914, free of charge, with the exception of postage, 2c., which should accompany requests for this Forecast. They have been publishing these Forecasts for a number of years, charging $1 each for the same. Mr. Geo. W. Crane, who was the head of this firm for forty-five years, up to the time of his death in January of this year, watched and checked the Forecasts of Mr. Blake for the past twenty-five years, and found them to be accurate and reliable.

Mr. Blake is seventy-four years old, and his calculations are the result of over fifty years of study. He is a highly educated mathematician, and his calculations are based on astronomical laws. Mr. Blake predicted the drought of 1913 more than a year in advance, and said that the drought of 1913 would be longer and more severe than those of 1911 and 1912.

He predicts that the winter of 1913-14 will be an exceptionally good one for winter wheat, and gives a great deal of other valuable data regarding the coming year, which is going to be an exceptionally erratic one, and dangerous for the farmer according to his prognostications.

Crane & Company have one of the largest printing, publishing, binding and office supply houses in this Western country, and they have adopted this means of helping their customers and friends in celebrating their anniversary of forty-five years of successful business in Kansas. Any subscriber to the Carrizozo News will be forwarded a copy of this Forecast by writing to Crane & Company, Advertising Department, enclosing a 2c. postage stamp.

CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

It is cruel to force nauseating, harsh physic into a sick child.

Look back at your childhood days. Remember the "dose" mother insisted on—castor oil, calomel, cathartics. How you hated them, how you fought against taking them.

With our children it's different. Mothers who cling to the old form of physic simply don't realize what they do. The children's revolt is well-founded. Their tender little "insides" are injured by them.

If your child's stomach, liver and bowels need cleansing, give only delicious "California Syrup of Figs." Its action is positive, but gentle. Millions of mothers keep this harmless, "fruit laxative" handy; they know children love to take it; that it never fails to clean the liver and bowels and sweeten the stomach, and that a teaspoonful given today saves a sick child tomorrow.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on each bottle. Adv.

Thinks Cancer is Contagious. Authorities contend that cancer is not contagious, but Doctor Odier, head of the cancer institution at Geneva, Switzerland, says he has discovered in one of the principal streets of that city at least a dozen houses in which the disease has occurred, a fact he can only account for on the theory that it is contagious. He urges that every house in which there has been a cancer patient be disinfected.

He Was on Duty. Herbert stood on a chair. The chair stood in the pantry.

The jam stood on the shelf. Herbert's mother stood on the threshold. Herbert stood his ground.

"My son," said the mother, pointing at him with astonishment. "I am so surprised! To think that my little boy would do a thing like that."

Herbert, resourceful and not at all abashed, looked at his mother straight in the eye. "Please do not interfere with the 'manuvers' of a boy scout," he said.

"A boy scout?" "Yes, mother, after supplies."

Big Sleep. A middle-aged couple were preparing to leave for a week-end with a daughter in the city, and their last instructions to their grown-up son, who was a heavy sleeper, were to be sure and wind his alarm clock, so that he would be in time for his work the next morning.

Monday noon they got back to the house and were surprised to find the blinds closed exactly as they had been left the Friday previous on their departure. As they let themselves into the house they heard their son's voice coming sleepily from his bedroom:

"What's the matter? Did you miss your train?"

DIDN'T KNOW That Coffee Was Causing Her Trouble.

So common is the use of coffee as a beverage, many do not know that it is the cause of many obscure ailments which are often attributed to other things.

The easiest way to find out for oneself is to quit the coffee for a while, at least, and note results. A Virginia lady found out in this way, and also learned of a new beverage that is wholesome as well as pleasant to drink. She writes:

"I am 40 years old and all my life, up to a year and a half ago, I had been a coffee drinker."

"Dyspepsia, severe headaches and heart weakness made me feel sometimes as though I was about to die. After drinking a cup or two of hot coffee, my heart would go like a clock without a pendulum. At other times it would almost stop and I was so nervous I did not like to be alone."

"If I took a walk for exercise, as soon as I was out of sight of the house I'd feel as if I was sinking, and this would frighten me terribly. My limbs would utterly refuse to support me, and the pity of it all was, I did not know that coffee was causing the trouble."

"Reading in the papers that many persons were relieved of such ailments by leaving off coffee and drinking Postum, I got my husband to bring home a package. We made it according to directions and I liked the first cup. Its rich, snappy flavor was delicious."

"I have been using Postum about eighteen months and to my great joy, digestion is good, my nerves and heart are all right, in fact, I am a well woman once more, thanks to Postum."

Name given by Postum Co., Hattie Creek, Mich. Write for copy of the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled.

Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Grocers sell both kinds.

"There's a reason" for Postum.

FAVORITE DISH IN ORIENT

Saffron Pilaf, Mainly Composed of Rice, Considered Great Delicacy in the Far East.

This is also called wedding pilaf, because it is invariably made and served during wedding dinners and other great occasions in the Orient.

It is composed of two parts, the first being a plain pilaf, which should be made before the second part is commenced. For this first part:

Ingredients: Five cupsful of steamed rice, two tablespoonfuls butter, salt and pepper.

Method—In a deep vessel roast well the rice in the butter and add the broth. Season to taste and boil over a strong fire. When nearly done slacken the fire and cover the pilaf with a piece of muslin under the lid of the vessel in order to prevent the water from the steam falling back into the vessel. After five or ten minutes stir the rice lightly with a perforated spoon and put into a hot oven till all moisture has evaporated and the rice remains almost dry.

Put this aside where it will remain warm and proceed to make the second part of the pilaf.

Ingredient: Three cupfuls water, one cupful of rice, two pinches of saffron, two tablespoonfuls of rose water, half a cupful of sugar.

Method—Put the washed rice and the sugar together in a deep vessel and boil over a moderate fire till nearly done. Add the sugar, also the saffron (which must have been soaked in the rose water for twenty-four hours) and mix well. When the rice is well cooked the pilaf may be considered done, when it should be poured over the first part of the dish. Serve in a deep plate. If the entire quantity is not to be used at one time then it is advisable to keep the sections separate and heat separately, mixing just before serving.

FRIED HOMINY WITH BACON Should Be Made the Staple Dish for Breakfast. With, of Course, a Little Fruit.

First fry the thin slices of bacon in a frying pan, then cut the cold hominy in slices and fry in the fat. It is well to have plenty, so as to avoid the need of another meat or hearty dish for the meal. Rolls or cold bread or almost any other little ceremonial dish will complete the ordinary light breakfast, with the coffee. Of course, a little fruit is always in order at any meal, whether custom or fashion calls for it or not. That usually is more a matter of convenience and economy or luxurious indulgence than other wise, although for breakfast the fruit is of especial value as an appetizer and clearer of the taste and whole system than at any other time. We are all so apt to have no appetite and also to be sluggish in the morning that fruit is a very desirable addition to the first meal of the day at any season.

Brightening Faded Goods. Hang across a clothesline, moisten all the very soiled places, and rub with soap. Then turn the hose on them. You can turn the hose off while you rub the soiled places a little between your hands. Then turn on the hose again, drain and dry. They will then be sweet and clean.

Potato water is excellent for brightening shabby carpets. The carpets should first of all be shaken well and beaten, then scrape half a dozen good sized potatoes as finely as possible into a bucket which is half full of warm water. Strain this, wring a cloth out of the water, and give the carpet a good rub all over, rinsing frequently.

When Starching Clothes. Put into the starch a little soda to keep it sweet, and a teaspoonful of glycerin, which imparts a dainty gloss to collars and cuffs. Clothes starched with this mixture can stand for 24 hours without the least danger of mildew.

If a glossy starch is added to the ordinary lumpy starch used for dark prints, the pieces may be easily ironed on the right side without making any visible change in the appearance of the material, which is noticeable when ironing dark red, blue and black prints.

Tea "Dainties." Take two cups of powdered sugar, half a cup of butter, a cup of sweet milk, the whites of four eggs, a teaspoonful of lemon extract, two teaspoonfuls of baking powder, and flour enough to make a soft batter. Beat this batter hard for ten minutes before putting into heated patty tins. Bake quickly and allow to cool, then ice with a soft icing made from whites of eggs mixed with enough powdered sugar to make it stiff.

Fruit Salad. Cut a slice from the top of a pineapple. Scoop out the inside, discard tough center portion and shred the remainder. Add bananas cut in small pieces. Sweeten with powdered sugar, rell pineapple case, cover and send to table in its original shape.

Sunday Corned Beef. It is well to cook either in fireless cooker and take up just right, after it has stood over night in the cooker, or, if having no fireless cooker, to fully boil and have actually cold or slightly reheated.

FALLING HAIR MEANS DANDRUFF IS ACTIVE

Save Your Hair! Get a 25 Cent Bottle of Danderine Right Now—Also Stops Itching Scalp.

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scourge. There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its luster, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen, and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, luster and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance; an incomparable gloss and softness, but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp. LIGHTNING FROM FOG BANK Captain of Pacific Coast Schooner Tells of Strange Bombardment of His Vessel.

Capt. A. Sunderberg of the steam schooner Waap, which plies between Seattle and California ports, reports a strange experience at sea on August 7.

In a report made to the Hydrographic office Captain Sunderberg says that at 10 p. m., when six miles east by south of Point Conception, his vessel ran into a thick fog bank which hung close to the water.

Without the fog rising in the least, a violent electric storm broke out, and for one hour and 14 minutes the blanket of heavy mist was pierced continually by discharges of atmospheric electricity and vivid flashes of angular signals and forked lightning. At 12:15 a. m., August 8, the steel foremast of the Waap became charged with electricity from the top down to the spring stay. Captain Sunderberg says this was not the usual display of St. Elmo fire, as the mast gave out loud reports as if from a powerful wireless apparatus.

While the vessel was bombarded by lightning which coursed down her main mast, her officers and crew did not venture on deck.

HEAD BEGAN TO FESTER P. O. Box 55, Greenville, Cal.—"Last fall my baby boy, two and a half years old, fell and hit the back of his head on the door-casing, cutting quite a gash. I thought it would heal right away, so when I picked him up and washed his head I put some on it and he soon was playing again. The next morning there was a scab over it, but after a few days it began to fester and other sores came near it. They commenced at his neck and gradually spread to the top of his head. The eruption was like ulcerated pimples and itched and irritated him awfully, especially at night, when he would scratch and dig his head. I had hard work to keep him from scratching them. His hair fell out where the sores were thickest.

"The sores looked red and mottled. I had all his hair cut close to his head so I could get the Cuticura Ointment on well night and morning and I washed his head well with the Cuticura Soap. After a few applications night and morning the itching stopped and no more new sores came. In two weeks it was healed nicely and in three weeks he was cured and there is not even a scar on his head." (Signed) Mrs. A. B. Walters, Dec. 17, 1912.

Warning. The minister was coming to dinner and the lady of the house killed a rooster in his honor. Her little boy was very much annoyed, and thought it cruel.

"Shoo, shoo! Here comes the man that ate yer father!"

seriously ill, and is being attended by Mrs. Corbit.

We are in the trails of a blizzard, with a strange combination of snow and thunder. It was bitterly cold Monday with a blinding snow.

Mr. Dale delivered some fine beef to the settlement Tuesday.

Recently, C. B. Hatfield went through a severe trial test of some remedy unknown to him here-to-fore. He doesn't care to repeat the ordeal under which the medicine threw him.

Max Guevara arrived from White Oaks, just ahead of the worst part of the blizzard Monday.

Mr. Frasier, after a long absence, returned about a week ago, to pursue the work he contemplated a year ago.

The infant of Mr. and Mrs. Dale is painfully ill. Though it was improving at last report.

Miss Essie McBrayer has been on a protracted visit to her sister at Ancho.

In a letter of recent date from W. A. Franklin, he was very sick with severe cold. Will leave the "windy city" in a short time for Jicarilla, when work may be resumed on the "Salije Dear."

"Poor Corona" but Proud

Corona, N. M., Nov. 3rd, 1913. To the Management of the Carrizozo News

Dear Sirs: In justice to the Corona Basketball Team and to myself, we would kindly ask space in your paper to call attention to what seems to be an impediment in the veracity of the contributor to The Outlook, of last week, who hides his identity behind the Non-plume of "One who was there"

It is true that the Corona school girls "assayed" to play a game of ball on the 27th of Sept., under the auspices of Lincoln County Court House Dedication Committee, and that said committee offered a purse of $25 to the winning team. It is also true that the Carrizozo team was successful in that contest; but it is not true that the Carrizozo team furnished any part of that purse or paid any part of the expenses of the Corona team. It is not a fact that the Carrizozo team offered to pay any part of said expenses. That is why the Corona girls, in accepting the challenge of Carrizozo, for the 2nd game refused to bear the transportation expenses of that game, but offered to take care of the team while here. These conditions were accepted by the Carrizozo team and the game matched for Saturday, Oct. 25th as evidenced by the following extract from a letter, signed by the "Helo Captain" of that team, who, by the way is not a school girl, as "One who was there" would have you believe.

"We have a game matched with Captain for next Saturday but will play Corona on Saturday, Oct. 25th," signed by Lena Highhill, Capt.

The above letter is the only line ever received from the Carrizozo team, notwithstanding a number of letters were written by Corona urging them to give the team here further assurance that they would be here on the above date, that the girls here might be prepared to entertain them. As stated by this disciple of "Fair Play" in his miserable abortion of truth and fairness, the Carrizozo team came on Friday instead of Saturday, the day agreed upon. We have been reliably informed that this arbitrary change was made by Carrizozo to suit the convenience of the paid referee, Mr. Hutchinsson, who could not come on Saturday. Suffice to say that an agreement was reached, whereby one game was to be played on Friday afternoon and two on Sat-

Reference Hutchinsson on the job. His poor book carried with a 1911 rule book and his little narrow mind made up to win the game for Carrizozo, regardless of rules or honor. The game proceeded.

"Foul on Corona for talking," cried out the Official Referee. (One of the girls had spoken to another girl, which is not in violation of the rules of the game.) Carrizozo took a free throw and made their first goal. "Foul on Corona for two players trying to catch the ball when thrown at the goal." This decision showed the referee to be either so rotten or so notoriously ignorant of the rules of the game that he was called upon to produce his authority for such a ruling. After calling the captain down for addressing "His Highness" he reached for his pistol-pocket, which lies just over his cerebrum, and withdrew therefrom a copy of Spaulding's guide book of 1911. After being shown a copy of some years later date he was gracious enough to withdraw his decision.

The game proceeded with a number of other arbitrary rulings in favor of Carrizozo and against Corona. The first half closed with the score standing, Corona 7, Carrizozo 5, notwithstanding the Corona girls were matched against a good team and a biased referee. It did not take long after the 2nd half was called for said "Official Referee" to even up the score, on "fouls" and the score stood 8 and 8. It was at this stage of the game that this "Adjudicator of Basket Ball Jurisprudence" felt called upon, not only to call a foul on one of the girls, but to shake his finger in her face and reprimand her for guarding from behind; when his player had suddenly turned with her back to the aforesaid offender. It was at this juncture that I, the Hon. George Clements, (as denominated by the Ammanian Scribe of last week,) approached this stick of worm-candy, who goes by the name of Hutchinsson, and asked him not to peonate or try to intimidate the player; whereupon this mixture of unmitigated gall and egotism informed me that it was none of my business, and that it was a man's job to remove him from the game. Then it was I led this distributor of equity outside the lines. There is not a word of truth in the statement that "He was approached from behind and seized." I could easily have pitched him through the goal, with the cowardly "advocate of fair play" (who is afraid to sign his name) acting as guard all the while. In justice to the above importation of knowledge, I will say that he came to me after the game closed and admitted he had done wrong and apologized for his action. The same was accepted and I supposed the matter was closed at that; but it seems that some unknown skunk, smarting under an imaginary wrong, has hid himself under a drift of "One who was there," and is trying to throw his mud upon every one who opposed his deep laid scheme to capture a basket ball game regardless of the merits of the contesting teams. We have no censure for the young ladies who composed the Carrizozo team, but in the language of a mighty writer who has just proceeded us will say "that they have lots and lots to learn" although they do very well considering the instruction they are receiving.

Yours Fraternally, George Clements, A Fatherly Deputy, and Ex-officio Basket Ball Referee.
