Rebels Capture Juarez

JUAREZ, the Mexican city across the Rio Grande river from El Paso, Texas, has again changed hands, the rebels under General Villa capturing the city last Saturday morning. This is the sixth time within three years that this border city has acknowledged the rule of as many authorities. If "variety is the spice of life" the people of Juarez have little right to complain.

The capture was a great surprise, not only to the outside world but to the garrison holding the city. It was generally understood that Villa was hovering near Chihuahua, from which city he was repulsed a few days prior to his attack and capture of Juarez. It appears that he did leave a portion of his army to invest Chihuahua, making a feint on that city, while he slipped away with about 1,000 men, captured a freight train, rode into Juarez, detoured his men and artillery and began an attack on the border city at 2:30 Saturday morning while the federal garrison was enjoying its beauty sleep, little dreaming of the approach of the enemy.

The attack was made in a vigorous manner and carried every thing before it. Many of the federals pulled for the "tall timber," preceded by their commanders, and the few who stood their ground were either killed, wounded or captured. Indeed, the report is that the volunteers, called to the defense of the city, put up a better fight than did the federals, and for two or three hours after the fight began kept up a show of resistance. At 10:30 in the morning of the attack a white flag was run up at the barracks and the remaining soldiers were taken prisoners. The casualties were something like 150, the attacking army losing less than 25 of the number. An American, standing by in an automobile in the streets which he had driven across from El Paso was among the killed. His failure to heed the command of the attacking party, which was said to be due to the fact that he didn't understand Spanish, is the reason assigned for his death.

After the capture of the city and the surrender of the remaining officers and men, by orders of the victorious general, eleven officers, ranging from lieutenant to colonel, were summarily shot. This, the general claims, in defense of the act, was retaliation for similar treatment that the federals had accorded captured rebels. As a matter of fact, if all reports are true, this character of action seems to be the rule with both sides, and, apparently, is not regarded as a violation of civilized warfare—or if so, they justify it as a means to attain a desired end.

The capture of this city gives the rebels, or constitutionalists, one of the main ports of entry in the republic, and the new authorities have already begun the collection of the revenues of the port. It was the capture of this same city in 1911 that caused the resignation of President Diaz and the elevation of Madero to the position so hurriedly vacated. It is not generally believed, however, that the fall of Juarez at this time means the immediate elimination of Huerta, but it undoubtedly hands him a body blow that ultimately means his retirement, even should the United States fail to intervene. It means, also, it is said, more trouble over negotiations on the part of our government, as it has given new life to the Carranza adherents and they now assert that they can put the fixings on Mr. Huerta without any assistance from the United States. At any rate it's a thorough mix-up and slightly changes the tone of the dispatches, which, in itself, is something for which to be thankful.

Successful Hunters Return
ONE, at least, of the many hunting parties that have left Carrizozo this season returned with something to prove their skill as hunters. Harry B. Dawson, Syl G. Anderson and Tom Fitzpatrick came in Saturday night from a ten-day outing in the White mountains, brought in three deer, four turkeys and each a smile a yard wide. They camped in the White Mountain Park and breasted old Sierra Blanca while out. Altogether they had a pleasant and successful trip and venison has been served on many tables since their return.

Blessing

Thoughtless reader, have you ever noticed, that the prettiest wild flowers and vines often contain the deadliest poisons? Selfish reader, have you noticed, that the treasures and pleasures of earth are left behind by those that go away?

Frivolous reader, do the pleasures of yesterday tickle you today? Wealthy reader, when "Death comes like a thief in the night," finds you on your bed of pain and puts his icy hand on your helpless throat, what deeds of your life will then most comfort give? You must admit that you have centered your ambitions, yes, your highest ambitions, on the things that are fleeting.

Our greatest efforts have been for the body which must be put under six feet of earth, after the soul leaves it, to save our friends from stench and disease; and yet the average life is only 33 years, or thereabouts, and many are claimed at the age more tender.

Death is certain, its time uncertain. Pleasures are momentary, and none take their wealth beyond this world's confines. Pilgrims we are here. But how came we here? Whence the first man? Whence the first seed of life? Whence the drop of water? Whence the first plant? Whence the first lump of dirt, and the air we breathe?

Science taking as a basis the way things are formed now, attempts to reason back, but science must always have facts to reason from and, at best can only determine existing laws of formation; but the origin of these laws, the origin of the first life and matter, and the cause of affinities and changes is beyond human comprehension; for there must be a prime mover or cause which we can't comprehend, but which call God.

At intervals through the summer the lock on the cistern was broken, and the water appropriated; and the door locks has been broken, and the entrance to house made possible, and in one instance, meddling with the organ and other fixtures was discovered.

George Tompkins has had the road from his place to Jicarilla put in good condition for the winter. # The ELECTRICAL WORLD

COLLECT DEPOSIT OF CARBON

Soot is of Fineness Desirable for Various Purposes—Work of Bruno Thleme of Berlin.

Wires are somewhat blackened when thrust into a candle or acetylene flame, but it appears that an electrified wire may collect a large deposit of carbon. Bruno Thleme of Berlin places in the flame two copper wires, one about half an inch above the other. These wires are electrodes of a battery current, and the carbon on the cathode—or negative—quickly forms a thick growth, branching out into the flame. The greatest effect is obtained with a current of 12 to 25 volts. Reversing the current transfers the carbon to the other wire, and with the current of an electric influence machine or induction coil there is sometimes a deposit at the anode. The soot being of a fineness making it desirable for various purposes, an apparatus for producing it continuously was devised. A long flame was formed by gas issuing from a series of holes in a horizontal tube, and a wire was passed through it with a piece of wire gauze suspended above. By means of an electro-magnetic relay the soot was automatically shaken off when it reached to the gauze and short circuited the current. Introducing copper or other salts between plate or wire electrodes, metallic deposits were obtained, similar to the electroplating from solutions, but usually at the anode.

PREPAYING FOR COOL BREEZE

Coin Placed in Slot Closes Motor Circuit and Remains Until Proper Time to Drop Out.

A coin-in-the-slot electric fan is the latest idea of an ambitious inventor guided perhaps by the forecast of Edison that we will one day shop by means of automatic vending machines.

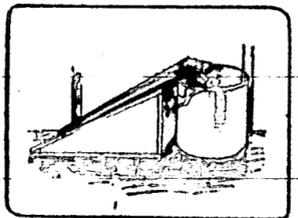

Prepayment Fan.

The coin placed in the slot closes the motor circuit and remains in the contact jaws until a coin ejector, actuated at the end of a predetermined number of armature revolutions by a worm shaft driven by the motor, forcibly removes the coin and drops it into the box, thus stopping the motor. A means is also provided for the continuous operation of the fan by a coin magazine which automatically feeds the coins by the operation of a plunger as soon as the fan has turned the number of revolutions paid for by each coin.

CATCH RATS BY ELECTRICITY

Weight of Rodent's Body Causes Primary Circuit to Close, Hurting Little Animal into Can.

The latest of the many forms of rat traps to have been devised is one constructed by Mills Kueckerbocker of Electrical Rat Trap.

Now Leno, Ill. A wooden box with an incline cover is placed beside a deep tin can with perpendicular sides. At the end of the cover is a hinged platform held in place over the can by springs, says the Popular Electricity. This platform is connected by a copper wire with one side of the primary circuit of an induction coil, and two dry batteries are located inside the box. A small hook to which bait is fastened is attached in front of the platform. The only way in which the rat can get to the attractive morsel is by way of running up the incline cover and onto the platform, which is immediately pressed downward by the weight of the rodent's body. The downward move of the platform to the shelf under it to which the other side of the primary circuit is attached, causes the primary circuit connection to be closed. The electrical current which is suddenly developed by the secondary winding is then sent into a pair of copper wire windings on the platform. This gives the rat a severe shock and hurries it into the tin can, from which no rat can escape. The platform springs back into place just as soon as the rat leaves it.

ELECTRICITY TO KILL FLIES

Insects Strike Charged Wires and Fall Dead Into Trough—One Feature is Its Cleanliness.

Few things are more significant of the earnestness of the campaign against the fly than the invention by an Arkansas man of an electric fly killer. A few years ago a piece of adhesive or poison paper was considered sufficient. This new method of execution consists of a tent-shaped wire frame with troughs at the bottom, the troughs forming the base. This frame is connected with an electric light socket, and the wires charged so that the instant a fly strikes them it is killed, and rolls down the incline into the trough. If this device is placed on the sill of an open window the slaughter of incoming insects will be tremendous. A good feature of this fly killer is its cleanliness, and there is none of the buzzing that forms an annoying accompaniment to some traps.

NEW ELECTRIC BARBER POLE

By Day It Revolves and by Night It is Illuminated by a Small Electric Lamp.

It is said that the striped barber pole originated in those good old days when every barber was supposed to be a surgeon. In days of old, when knights were bold, cuts, contusions, bruises and wounds were not at all infrequent. Then it was part of the barber's business to dress wounds. The striped pole served to guide the unfortunate one to the nearest barber-surgeon. Whether or not this skill in surgery helped when the razor clipped is not stated in history.

Only recently has the barber pole been electrified. By day it revolves and by night it is illuminated by a small electric lamp. The electric or revolving barber pole has for a middle section a glass cylinder that is two feet or more in height by about eight inches in diameter, this section being supported on an ornamental base or on a stout brass rod rising from the sidewalk. The glass section of the pole is surmounted by an ornamental cap.

Within the glass section of the pole is another cylinder made of a thin, light-weight, translucent material upon which are painted the traditional spiral stripes of red, white and blue, the familiar sign of the barber. This inner cylinder is pivoted top and bottom and made to revolve by means of a tiny electric motor attached at the top. Current is carried to this motor on a wire leading from an electric light fixture within the building and up out of sight inside the pole's base. Within the inner cylinder of the electric revolving barber pole are two incandescent electric lights by which the pole can be illuminated at night.

IS CHILD CROSS, FEVERISH, SICK

Look, Mother! If tongue is coated, give "California Syrup of Figs."

Children love this "fruit laxative," and nothing else cleanses the tender stomach, liver and bowels so nicely. A child simply will not stop playing to empty the bowels, and the result is they become listless, clogged with waste, liver gets sluggish, stomach sour, then your little one becomes cross, half-sick, feverish, don't eat, sleep or act naturally, breath is bad, system full of cold, has sore throat, stomach-ache or diarrhoea. Listen, Mother! See if tongue is coated, then give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the constipated waste, sour bile and undigested food passes out of the system, and you have a well child again. Millions of mothers give "California Syrup of Figs" because it is perfectly harmless; children love it, and it never fails to act on the stomach, liver and bowels.

Ask at the store for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has full directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly printed on the bottle. Adv.

Signatures on Paintings. Experts rarely rely on signatures alone to determine the authenticity of an old painting, but trust rather to their knowledge of the painter's technique. Sometimes the painter's name is found in a conspicuous place, as, for instance, in Raphael's "Sposalizio" at Milan. Proud of having surpassed his master the youthful genius wrote on a frieze in the very center of the canvas, Raphael Urbina.

Roynolds hardly ever signed his work. But upon the completion of the portrait of Mrs. Siddons as "The Tragic Muse," he wrote his name large on the gold embroidery of her dress. He was unable, he said, "to resist the temptation of sending my name to posterity on the hem of your garment."

Didn't Quite Understand. At a draper's shop they employed a small boy to run errands. The other day, while he was waiting in the shop, a lady came in and asked the assistant for a yard of silk.

When it was placed before her she exclaimed: "Oh, really, I must be mad; I want mullin!"

On hearing this the boy rushed out of the shop, and, seeing a policeman across the way, ran up to him, shouting: "Come over here. There's a woman in our shop gone mad. She wants muzzling!"—London Tit-Bits.

He Obeyed. Willie was struggling through the story in his reading lesson. "No, said the captain," he read, "it was not a sloop. It was a larger vessel. By the rig I judged her to be a-a-a-a-a."

The word was new to him. "Barque," supplied the teacher. Still Willie hesitated. "Barque!" repeated the teacher, this time sharply.

Willie looked as though he had not heard aright. Then with an apprehensive glance around the class he shouted: "Bow-wow!"

To Please the Ladies. "Are you strict with lady smugglers?" "No, no," answered the customs inspector. "We always let them smuggle in a few cigarettes or a cake or two of foreign soap."

Landscape Would Be Hazy. "I wonder why it is that joy rides are always taken at night?" "Chiefly, I suspect, because the person who is in the mood for a joy ride is seldom in a condition to view the scenery."

A FOOD DRINK Which Brings Daily Enjoyment. A lady doctor writes: "Though busy hourly with my own affairs, I will not deny myself the pleasure of taking a few minutes to tell of my enjoyment daily obtained from my morning cup of Postum. It is a food beverage, not an irritant like coffee."

"I began to use Postum 8 years ago, not because I wanted to, but because coffee, which I dearly loved, made my nights long, weary periods to be dreaded and unmitigated for business during the day."

"On advice of a friend, I first tried Postum, making it carefully as suggested on this package. As I had always used 'cream and no sugar,' I mixed my Postum so. It looked good, was clear and fragrant, and it was a pleasure to see the cream color it took to look—like a new saddle!"

"Then I tested it critically, for I had tried many 'substitutes' for coffee. I was pleased, yes, satisfied with my Postum in taste and effect, and am yet, being a constant user of it all these years I continually assure my friends and acquaintances that they will like it in place of coffee, and receive benefit from its use. I have gained weight, can sleep and am not nervous."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Write for the little book, "The Road to Wellville."

Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. Instant Postum is a soluble powder. A teaspoonful dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. Grocers sell both kinds.

"There's a reason" for Postum.

NATIONAL CAPITAL ATTORNEY

Destruction of Real Money is a "Messy" Job

WASHINGTON.—After having destroyed something like $1,500,000 in real money since May, 1912, Miss Louise Lester of the treasury department still likes her job, although it is a "messy" one, and hopes to keep at it for some time to come. Miss Lester is a member of the committee on the destruction of mutilated money. Her fellow members on the committee are Messrs. U. L. Adams, chairman; J. N. Fite and William M. Meredith.

Every day shortly after nine o'clock in the morning a big automobile truck backs up to the treasury and takes aboard six or eight trunks. Every one of the trunks contains half a million or more of dollars in real money, the bills being cut in halves. Accompanying the truck is a carriage from the bureau of engraving and printing. Into this climb Mr. Adams and Miss Lester. At least two members of the committee must keep the money in sight at all times.

Upon arriving at the bureau the trunks full of money are taken to the macerating machines. The mutilated money is dumped by Miss Lester and other members of the committee into four large iron funnels, which convey it into the macerating machines below. The latter are huge revolving cylinders lined with angle parts which tear the bills to pieces.

With the completion of the feeding process bucketfuls of soda ash and unasked lime are poured in. This takes the color out. Then the machines are set in motion and grind away for twenty-four hours. The gray pulp matter then goes into another machine and is made into sheets. Most of the pulp is converted into pasteboard, the government receiving $40 a ton from a New York contractor for the pulp.

"There is only one drawback to my job," said Miss Lester. "I receive ever so many letters from persons who seem to think it is my own money I am destroying and that I am doing so for the fun of the thing. But to me it is inconceivable that they do not understand the necessity of destroying mutilated money and that for every dollar destroyed a new one is put into circulation."

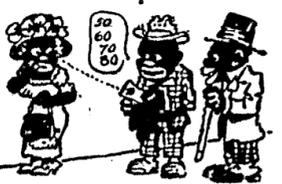

"While my work is somewhat 'messy' it is interesting and does not grow monotonous. It's really fun!"

They Play the Fake Game in the Same Old Way

THE old "pocketbook" trick is being worked with considerable regularity in Washington. The police suspect that a clever pair of negro men are responsible for a ruse which was worked on Emma Davis, a negro woman of 1222 Walter street southeast, the other afternoon, and on another negro woman a week before.

Emma reported to the police of the first precinct that about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon two well dressed negro men who were walking just in front of her, near the corner of Tenth street and Pennsylvania avenue northwest, suddenly stooped down and picked up a pocketbook from the sidewalk.

Making sure that Emma was in a position where she could see what was going on, they opened the find and disclosed to Emma's wondering gaze a quantity of bills of large denominations. Then the men became confidential, Emma told the police, and took her into their secret. They had just found the pocketbook, they told her, and it contained $100. Now, as she had seen them find it, she was entitled to a third of it, and they were not going to cheat her out of her rightful portion of the treasure trove. Then a difficulty arose, Emma said, when the men found that they could not divide the money in three equal parts without more money to put with it.

When Emma was asked if she had any money she trustfully gave the men $7, she said. Even with this amount it was impossible to split the money correctly, the men told her, and directed her to wait a moment while they went over to a lunchroom to get some more change.

Emma waited for about 20 minutes. Then she stopped across the street to the station house and told the police what had occurred. A lookout was sent out for the men, whose descriptions were given.

"Surest Thing You Know, Kid," Said the Office Boy

IT SEEMS there is a business man on Pennsylvania avenue named Adams. He had a fine office boy. He was one of those boys who comes to work for the first time, beats up the rival office boy in the next shop, answers the telephone with the ease and manner of the senior partner, never smokes cigarettes except when the boss is not looking and who speaks the fascinating language of the streets and the lunchroom, where every male human being is a "guy" or a "gink" and every female is a "kikri" or a "chickon."

Adams boy would get to work ten minutes ahead of time, dust out, read all the postcards, peep into the mail in other ways, fill the ink wells and have the face of a cherub when the boss arrived. Then he would go out and shoot a few shots of craps with a friend in the back room. Altogether he was a regular office boy.

One morning when Adams arrived the boy nodded gravely at him and said: "Well, if there's anything you want done I wish you'd lemme have it in a hurry. I gotta go to do baseball game today."

"In that case?" replied the astounded boss; "don't you think that's rather an abrupt way to put it. You ought to be more respectful. Suppose you were the boss and I was the boy—let me show you how I would ask."

So the boy sat down in the boss' chair and Adams went into the hall. Then he entered the office, and said in a polite voice:

"Boss, I would like very much to go to the ball game today. Would it be asking too much if I could get off early?"

And then the boy spoke: "Surest thing you know, kid, I like you and hope you'll get along. Here's half a dollar. Go ahead now."

Representative Bird McGuire Tells This One

REPRESENTATIVE BIRD MCGUIRE of Oklahoma has some very interesting constituents among the Osage. These Indians are great friends of the representative and he in turn is a warm admirer of their sterling honesty and faithful adherence to the truth.

McGuire tells a funny thing on a lawyer out in his state. This man was the leading counsel for a big corporation, a great blowhard and about the most pompous individual on earth. But he had a peculiar way of wheezing when talking or laughing and the Indians had noticed this. It is one of the Indian customs to give persons some name denoting their peculiarities; what we would call in English a nickname. And they bestowed on the pompous individual one about as long as your arm and as sonorous as a preacher on a hot afternoon.

One day the pompous one was walking down the streets of a town and overheard two Indians talking about him. They pointed at him as he passed and uttered a long sentence which he understood, they intended for his name.

"What are those Indians calling me?" asked he, swelling out his chest, while visions of such titles as Thunder-Cloud or Terrible Bear danced through his mind.

"Why, what they are saying," returned an Indian who could translate, "is—thore goes Man-Who-Laugh-Like-a-Jack-ass!"

It seems incredible that in this day and age any one who knows how to write a business letter and fall to include an address, either on the envelope outside or on the paper inside. But thousands upon thousands of letters fall of delivery every year just because the recipients have changed their address and the writers have failed to indicate their own address.

GRATIFYING reports continue to come from El Paso where Fred Burleson is in a hospital, where he underwent an operation last Friday for a bullet wound which was inflicted by A. A. Highfill the previous Wednesday night. The ball had passed through the lower part of the liver and cut the colon. Following the operation, the patient immediately rallied and when his father and Dr. Watson, who had accompanied him to the hospital, returned Monday evening from El Paso it was felt that the danger point had been passed. Reports from the hospital daily indicate his speedy recovery, which is, indeed, good news to his family and host of friends.

$100.00 Reward
I will pay $100.00 reward for the arrest and conviction of the dastardly scoundrel, or scoundrels, who, on the night of November 19, 1913, burned down the Hotel Building, that was situated on the Townsite of Holloway, N. M., provided the arrest is made on or before Dec. 20, 1914. There were a lady and four children, one of them less than a month old, in this building when it was burned down. I ask the cooperation of all law-abiding citizens in running down such rascals as these who have so little regard for property or the possible loss of life of a mother or some of her babies.

The currency bill is having harder sledding in the United States senate than did the tariff bill, and it seems quite doubtful about its passage at the special session which will adjourn the 29th of this month. The measure has been called, and is, an administration measure, and republicans shy at it; while a few democrats are "insurgers" which ties it up. If, however, the special session fails to enact currency legislation it is quite sure the regular session, which convenes the first Monday in December will take the matter up and push it to an early conclusion. It is too important to be allowed to die, particularly when all parties are agreed that some kind of currency legislation is absolutely essential.

The big strike on the Southern Pacific has been called off, differences between the company and its employes have been adjusted and the latter have returned to work. In the meantime, the big coal strike in Colorado continues, which involves great loss to operator and miner and, ultimately, will cause much suffering and want.

The constitutionalists in Mexico have won another battle since the capture of Juarez, the latest being Victoria in the state of Tamaulipas. As a result, the constitutionalists are becoming quite cocky and announce that they neither desire nor require the helping hand of Uncle Sam to throw Huerta out.

Thanksgiving Day Proclamation

IN the midst of trials and hardships almost inconceivable to us at this distance, the little band of pilgrims found it in their hearts to give thanks to Him who rules all. This was sincerely the expression of their gratitude for blessings before unknown, as well as a desire for guidance from a higher power, giving thanks for their preservation from disaster and the privilege of living and worshipping in an atmosphere of freedom.

There is not it meet and proper with our broader vision and superior civilization to pause and look beyond with thankful hearts for an the good that has come into our lives?

Here with opportunities beyond the hopes of the pilgrims, with conditions as we make them, blessed with material prosperity and ever developing citizenship, advancing in everything that goes to enrich and ennoble, with better homes, better schools, better churches, let us pause for a day and in quison give thanks to the "Giver of every good and perfect gift," the All-wise Ruler, who shapes the destiny of man.

There can be no doubt that we are ever moving forward, and for this we must be grateful and thankful. "The thoughts of men are widened with the process of the sun."

Now Therefore, I, William C. McDonald, Governor of the State of New Mexico, in accordance with custom and the proclamation of the President, do hereby proclaim, Thursday, November 27th, 1913, Thanksgiving Day.

I urge upon all that this day be observed as one of prayer and praise to God for the many blessings enjoyed by our people. At the same time may we not forget the poor and needy, making the day what its name implies for all. And I urgently request that all places of business be closed, so that this shall be in fact a day of peace and quiet.

Done at the Executive Office

this the 12th Day of November, 1913.

Witness my hand and the Great Seal of the State of New Mexico.

WILLIAM C. McDONALD,

Governor.

Attest:

ANTONIO LUCERO,

Secretary of State.

The News Weekly Lay Sermon.

THE most comprehensive and the simplest code the world has known, the basis of modern as well as ancient conduct, a code that has survived for 40 centuries, a code as lucid and as vital now as when fashioned on the thunder-shaken peak for tented Israel, is comprised in less than a dozen sentences, in fewer than 300 words. They tell us that the direct method will result in harmful legislation. They forget that the principle of self-preservation is too deeply rooted to permit the people deliberately to injure themselves. They say that it will mean turmoil and change. I answer that the people acting in mass are the safest and most conservative force in history, and that the very existence of such a check will make its exercise rarely necessary. They say that it means revolution. The answer is that with the people in control there will be no occasion for revolution except through the orderly expression of the people's will. It is only when government is outside the people's control that drastic methods become necessary for its recovery. It has been well said that Anglo-Saxon manhood confined beneath the pressure of accumulated injustice is the most dangerous explosive known to history. The initiative and referendum is a safety valve against both ultraradicalism and ultrac conservatism. Sheppard.

TAKES OFF DANDRUFF HAIR STOPS FALLING

Arial Try This! Makes Hair Thick, Glossy, Fluffy, Beautiful—No More Itching Scalp.

Within ten minutes after an application of Danderine you cannot find a single trace of dandruff or falling hair and your scalp will not itch, but what will please you most will be after a few weeks' use, when you see new hair, fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair—growing all over the scalp.

A little Danderine immediately doubles the beauty of your hair. No difference how dull, faded, brittle and scraggy, just moisten a cloth with Danderine and carefully draw it through your hair, taking one small strand at a time. The effect is amazing—your hair will be light, fluffy and wavy, and have an appearance of abundance; an incomparable luster, softness and luxuriance.

Get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any store, and prove that your hair is as pretty and soft as any—that it has been neglected or injured by careless treatment—that's all—you surely can have beautiful hair and lots of it if you will just try a little Danderine. Adv.

Finance as She Is Wrote. To add to troubles of the Wall street man forced to spend his summer in the city comes the necessity of employing a substitute stenographer in vacation season. Wall street diction is hard enough for the regular stenographer; the substitute finds it next to impossible.

The employer of one of the substitutes not long ago tried to be particularly careful and distinct in his dictation. Nevertheless, "comptroller of the currency" emerged as "comptroller of the corn belt." A remark about the "drought district in Kansas" was interpreted as "grouch district in Kansas."

Reverting to money matters again, the employer talked about taking bullion into the Bank of England, and the copy showed that bullion soup had been taken into the bank.

"Stuff did," was the answer, "but he had half a street's start."

HAS ALMOST LOST MEANING

Suffrage Leader Decries the Too Frequent Use of the Word Domestic.

Mrs. Carrie Chapman Catt ridiculed in Chicago the old anti-suffrage cry of domesticity—that woman's place is in the home.

"The trouble is," said Mrs. Catt, "that many women cannot be domestic; they have no homes. The word 'domestic,' therefore, should not be used, as it too often the case, in a loose way."

The suffrage leader smiled. "Yes," she continued, "some people give this word as elastic a meaning as the witness gave it in a Georgia court. Asked why he was not present to testify in a certain case, the man said he had had a 'domestic trouble' just about that time."

"What was the domestic trouble, pray?" asked the examining attorney. "Well, to tell the truth, boss," said the witness, "I was in the penitentiary for stealin' a cow."

PIMPLES ALL OVER FACE

1413 E. Genessee Ave., Saginaw, Mich.—"Cuticura Soap and Ointment cured me of a very bad disease of the face without leaving a scar. Pimples broke out all over my face, red and large. They festered and came to a head. They itched and burned and caused me to scratch them and make sores. They said they were seed warts. At night I was restless from itching. When the barber would shave me my face would bleed terribly. Then scabs would form afterwards, then they would drop off and the so-called seed warts would come back again. They were on my face for about nine months and the trouble caused disfigurement while it lasted."

"One day I read in the paper of the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I received a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment and it was so much value to me that I bought a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment at the drug store. I used both according to directions. In about ten days my face began to heal up. My face is now clear of the warts and not a scar is left." (Signed) LEROY C. O'BRIEN, May 12, 1913.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

PLEASANT ADDITION TO TABLE

Okra One of the Very Best of the Vegetables That May Be Made into a Salad.

There never was a time when so many vegetables and fruits of other latitudes are finding their way to our markets. Improved transportation facilities and increased demand for new foods has brought the foods of other tables within the reach of our own.

Okra was once considered solely a southern product limited to creole and Louisiana zones. But now we see the green, attractive pods in many markets, selling at five cents for two or three, and cheaper in large quantities.

A northern woman was pleasantly surprised to find that okra would grow in our latitudes, and she was delighted with the tall hollyhock-like plant with large cream flowers, and found that she could use the pods in many ways.

For a salad she took the very small green pods, boiled them until tender, chilled them and served on lettuce with French dressing. She added them to soup in the proportion of two cups of okra to four quarts of water, using meat and onion, salt and pepper, and sometimes tomatoes.

The famous "chicken gumbo" is made with a fricasseed chicken, to which is added the okra sliced crosswise, tomatoes, slices of ham, thyme, parsley, with a rich gravy.

Okra combines particularly well with rice and tomatoes, and a delicious dish can be made by adding stewed okra and tomatoes to boiled rice, and either serving at once or baking in a deep dish.

The creole cooks say that okra should never be cooked in any copper, brass or iron vessel, as the metal will be absorbed and the pods become discolored. Use only agate or porcelain.

While okra does not contain any particular food element in quantity, it has the peculiar muscilaginous quality given to only a few plants, and is therefore, at its best in soups and sauces which have a meat flavor. It is also cooling, and so can be classed as an addition to our table salads.—Philadelphia Record.

Baked Ham.

Cover your ham with cold water and let it simmer gently, just long enough to loosen the skin so that it can be pulled off; this will probably require from two to three hours, according to the size of the ham. When skinned place in a dripping pan in the oven, pour over it a cupful of vinegar and one of hot water, in which dissolve a teaspoonful of English mustard. Bake slowly, basting with the liquid every few minutes for two hours. Then cover the ham all over to the depth of one inch with coarse brown sugar and do not baste again until the sugar has formed a thick crust, which it will soon do in a slow oven. Let it remain in a full hour after covering with sugar until it becomes a rich golden brown. When done drain from the liquor in the pan and put on a dish to cool. When cool, but not cold, press by turning a flat dish on top. The pressing makes it cut firmly.

Raised Doughnuts.

One pint of milk scalded, one-half cupful of sugar, flour to make a soft dough, two eggs, one teaspoonful of salt, one heaping tablespoonful butter, one yeast cake. Put the butter in the scalded milk, cool, add the yeast, sugar and flour, heat well and let stand over night. In the morning beat the eggs, stir them into the butter and flour to make a soft dough, knead lightly and set to rise. When light take out half the dough, spread on making board and cut out. Spread a clean breadcloth on the table and sprinkle lightly with flour. Put the doughnuts on this cover and let stand one-half hour. Fry in boiling fat. Do not stick a fork in them.

Wash That Utensil.

In making whitewash that will not scale off, I find the following very good, writes a contributor to the Washington Herald. Dissolve glue in hot water, and add in the proportion of a pint of water to four gallons of whitewash; or dissolve an ounce of gum arabic in a pint of boiling water and stir in, observing the same proportions. Before applying this or any other wash, scrape the wall clean and smooth. Another good method is to add ultramarine glue, as it gives a pretty tint. A little salt added to the whitewash is very good; it prevents it from rubbing off.

Cooking Keynotes.

Leftovers of fish can be safely kept in a fruit jar with rubber and sealing them tightly.

A wire basket is a good thing to keep the eggs for cooking in, as one can see how many eggs are on hand without taking the basket off the pantry shelf.

A cheap and durable toaster for a gas stove is a piece of sheet iron. Over this a five-cent wire toaster can be used without danger of burning or blackening the bread.

Sour Cream Cake.

Beat two eggs well, then add one cup of sugar and beat again. In another bowl dissolve one-half teaspoon of soda in one cup of sour milk. In still another bowl or pan put 1 1/2 cups of flour and one-half teaspoon of baking powder, thoroughly sifted together. Stir these all together, add a tablespoon of melted butter and one-half a teaspoon of vanilla or lemon. Beat well. This makes a good layer cake also. It is nice eaten warm.

FIGURING OUT THE SCHEDULE

Farmer Needed No Time Table to Know Just When the Car Would Come Along.

"Out at Stop—well, on second thought we will not give the number of the stop, because that would identify the person this story is about a little too closely. Out in the country, at a place where the interurban cars stop, we waited for a home-bound trolley, the other day. A man came out of a house by the side of the road, and waited beside us.

"Are you going to take this car?" we asked.

"Hope so," he replied, "if my wife gets here in time, I will."

"How soon does the car come?" "Wait an 'I'll see," was the reply. Then he shouted to the house:

"Mary, how soon are you goin' to be ready?"

"In just ten minutes, John," came the reply through an open upstairs window. The farmer nodded to us.

"If she's tellin' the truth," he said, "the car 'll be here in just nine minutes an' a half. An' they ain't another car for an hour."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

JUST THROWING OUT A HINT

If Charity Fund Was to Be Given to the Needy, He Could Use Part of It.

The children of a Boston Sunday school class had contributed their pennies for weeks to a fund which was to be devoted to charitable purposes, and on the day when they were to decide on the matter of its distribution each child was called upon to express an opinion as to how it should be spent.

The teacher explained to them that there were several charities which would be glad to receive the fund, either in Boston or among the foreign missions. She had impressed upon them, however, that the money might be spent to good advantage among the sick and needy children of their own parish. Several bright speeches on the subject had been made, when one seven-year-old boy arose and, evidently bearing in mind the teacher's remarks about charity beginning at home, said:

"I want you to know that I have put a good many pennies in that box— and then, after some delay— and I've got a terrible cold myself."—Boston Post.

Gretna Green Ceremony.

A young couple who arrived at Berwick the other Sunday were married after the Scottish fashion in a delightfully simple way.

They drove over the border into Scotland, and, stopping at a spot where two men were seated, the young man said that he and the lady wished to be married and that they could not adopt the conventional method, as it would be stopped directly the banns were put up.

The couple then formally took each other for man and wife before the two witnesses, and a document to that effect was produced and signed by the parties and the witnesses.

Really Unkind.

"Ah, yes," murmured Miss Schesch, after the first selection at the musicale. "I have had some exciting experience. Coming over a terrible storm arose, and I had to sing to quiet the passengers. You should have seen the heavy seas running."

And the big, rude man in the pink necktie gazed out of the window. "I don't blame the sea," he muttered.

Old People Need A Bowel Stimulant

An Ideal One is a Mild Laxative-Tonic That Will Keep the Bowels Gently Active.

Healthy old age is to absolutely depend upon the condition of the bowels that great care should be taken to see that they act regularly. The fact is that as age advances the stomach muscles become weak and inactive and the liver does not store up the juices that are necessary to prompt digestion.

Some help can be obtained by eating easily-digested foods and by plenty of exercise, but this latter is irksome to most elderly people. One thing is certain, that a state of constipation should always be avoided, as it is dangerous to life and health. The best plan is to take a mild laxative as often as is deemed necessary. But with equal certainty it is suggested that cathartics, purgatives, physics, salts and pills be avoided, as they do but temporary good and are so harsh as to be a shock to a delicate system.

A much better plan and one that thousands of elderly people are following, is to take a gentle laxative- tonic like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which acts as nearly like nature as is possible. In fact, the tendency of this remedy is to strengthen the stomach and bowel muscles and so train them to act naturally again; when medicines of all kinds can usually be dispensed with. This is the opinion of many people of different ages, among them Mrs. Mary A. P. Davidson of University Mound House, San Francisco, Cal. She is 78 and because of her sedentary habits had continual bowel trouble. From the day she began taking Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin she has had no further inconvenience and naturally she is glad to say kind things of this remedy.

A bottle can be bought of any druggist at fifty cents or one dollar. People usually buy the fifty-cent size first, and then, having convinced themselves of its merits, they buy the dollar size, which is more economical. Results are always guaranteed or money will be refunded. Elderly persons of both sexes can follow these suggestions with every assurance of good results.

Families wishing to try a free sample bottle can obtain it postpaid by addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 419 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. A postal card with your name and address on it will do.

In the matter of the Special Levy for Court House Building...

Carrizozo, New Mexico, October 6, 1913

To Hon. H. B. Hamilton, District Attorney, Carrizozo, New Mexico

Dear Sir:- As you are possibly aware our predecessors in office...

We further find in the record that the Board also entered into a contract with the Pauly Jail Building Co...

Mr. Bechtel, the Contractor recently informed us that he had concluded his part of the contract... and the County owes Mr. Bechtel about $1000, they also owe for the new set of cages to the Pauly Jail Building Co...

There is no means of heating the jail or court house, no lights or lighting plant in either of the buildings and no furniture in any of the offices or in the court room...

The county has no funds with which to pay off the above indebtedness or to place the court house and jail in a suitable condition for occupancy...

The county has no funds with which to pay off the above indebtedness or to place the court house and jail in a suitable condition for occupancy...

Board of County Commissioners, Lincoln County, N. M. By MELVIN FRANKS, Chairman

Mr. Hamilton's Reply: October 7th, 1913. To the Board of County Commissioners, Lincoln County, N. M.

Gentlemen: Your inquiry of the 6th inst. as to the condition of the Court House and Jail at Carrizozo...

Section 1 of Chapter 104 of the Laws of 1907 as amended by Section 1 of Chapter 101 of the Laws of 1907 provided that the County Commissioners of any County not having a court house or jail...

Section 1 of Chapter 104 of the Laws of 1907 provided that the County Commissioners of any County not having a court house or jail in the judgment of the said County Commissioners...

I am therefore of the opinion that under the acts referred to above you have the right when you meet to make your regular tax levy to make a levy of not to exceed five mills on all property subject to taxation within the limits and confines of said county to be placed to the credit of a fund to be designated as the Court House Building Fund...

Trusting that the above answers your inquiry, I beg to remain, Very truly, H. B. HAMILTON, District Attorney.

Now the Board in compliance with the above opinion of the District Attorney levies a tax of five mills on all the taxable property within the confines of the county of Lincoln under the provisions of Chapter 104 of the Laws of 1907 as amended by Section 1 of Chapter 101 of the Laws of 1907...

In the matter of the resignation of A. S. Mayes as Justice of the Peace of Precinct 15 at Oscuro, the board accepts said resignation and Dr. Guido Ranniger is appointed as Justice of the Peace of said Precinct 15, Oscuro. The board now stands adjourned sine die.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express to the kind people of Carrizozo our sincere thanks for their sympathy and aid extended during the serious illness of our son.

We are happy to state that he has undergone a successful operation in an El Paso hospital and that he is rapidly recovering from the wound inflicted by a pistol shot, which he received on November 12th. Our joy for the many kind expressions of sympathy and assistance rendered is only exceeded by the feeling of relief attendant upon his recovery.

Sincerely, MR. AND MRS. PETER BURLERSON.

Card of Thanks

To the good people of Carrizozo, Ancho and elsewhere we wish to tender our heartfelt thanks for their kindness and sympathy in our sad misfortune.

S. C. BURNETT, WIFE AND SONS.

To Attend the N. M. E. A.

QUITE a number of the county teachers will start Sunday for Albuquerque to attend the annual meeting of the New Mexico Educational Association. Mrs. Gunn, the county superintendent, will accompany them. Captain Carrizozo, Corona, Honda and a number of others, quite likely, will send teachers to the meeting. The indications are that Lincoln county will have the biggest representation at the coming meeting of any time in its history.
