

News Notes from Outside Points

FORT STANTON

Dr. M. T. Sloan, the specialist, and Mr. A. E. Lovett left Saturday morning last for a few days outing at the Reservation. They are to let us know their success in bagging game later.

Dr. F. H. McKeon spent Friday and Saturday on business in Alamogordo.

Dr. Woods of Lincoln spent an afternoon at the Post last week studying the treatment being given by Dr. Sloan.

Dr. Currie with Dr. Littlejohn and Mr. McCorkle spent last Sunday afternoon hunting up along the Mesa.

Mr. John Abel met with a painful accident while returning from his daily trip of fence riding on Monday of last week. His horse stumbled and falling on Mr. Abel wrenched the right shoulder, making it necessary to take a lay off for several days.

Miss Jennie Peters has returned to Alto where she has re-entered the school for the winter and spring.

Mr. James Hanna returned Sunday noon from Alamogordo.

William Coleman spent Wednesday afternoon visiting with Mr. and Mrs. John Abel.

The following were the reels at the local picture theater last week: He has a guess coming; Pathe Weekly No. 47-13; A horse on Bill; Dad's little girl; Bronco Bill and The Rustler's child.

Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Lovett entertained at dinner in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Leach one evening last week.

Our commanding officer transacted business at Capitan last Tuesday afternoon.

The local correspondent hereby announces that both papers at Carrizozo receive the same number of notes, and therefore any one wishing to read ALL the NEWS each week can do so only by subscribing for the one which they think gives the best service. No fault of anyone but the publishers themselves for not running all the notes each week. We make this statement because of the many questions asked of late why one paper is cutting on the space given for the Fort Stanton News.

Chaplain Frund began a series of talks on the "Decalogue" last Sunday evening at the library hall before a Non-Sectarian Congregation. Before and after the lecture hymns were sung with Mrs. F. C. Smith, the choir leader and Mrs. E. H. McKeon, and Mrs. A. E. Lovett, organists.

The chaplain spoke directly last Sunday evening on the First Commandment of God, "I am The Lord Thy God; Thou shalt not have strange Gods before Me."

The man who says there is no God is obliged in the same breath to say "All men in all ages and in all countries have been wrong; and I alone am superior in intellect to all of them." In other words I have no common sense; for common sense is nothing else but the common and universal sentiment of the whole world.

A man who doubts the existence of a God is a man who has no common sense. He is a man utterly void of right understanding. There are always either men destitute of morality, or men who, having superficially adopted the spirit of dangerous books, have given up their religious belief, and, having accepted doubtful assumptions against the Faith, imagine that they have strong minds. For such as these one has strong pity.

Real, steadfast, unshaken atheism is only to be found among animals. When man desires to live like animals, he may ape for a time their absence of religion. How many have been Atheists in words, and have suddenly changed when they stood face to face with death.

Darwin says man came from a monkey, but, to be logical, we ask whence came the monkey? And if we could imagine the monkey as originating from a germ, as the Evolutionists claim, we must then seek the origin of the germ, which science can only say is—a mystery.

Again these wonderful deep thinking Evolutionists tell us this big world was formed from a little ball that went rolling—but let us ask Mr. Evolutionist where he got that little ball to rolling, who set it to rolling? and whence the matter it gathered to give it size? Whence the waters, of the earth, the glorious sun, the silvery moon, and blue vault of heaven with starry gems beset? The Evolutionist is beyond his depth, Darwin's long-tailed descendants are speechless, and science has reached the stepping off place and can only say—mystery.

Since then we are forced to admit a mysterious power great enough to create the first life and first particle of matter, and to establish the laws of formations; it would be ignorance too lamentable to be even ridiculous, to imagine the creator of those things too feeble to, at any time, suspend or change the laws of formation. And the fact that the scientists are able to discover the present laws of formation is not evidence that things were always so formed. Such would be impossible as you can readily understand by traveling back in fancy to the formation of the first life and matter necessary to form anything else. The surest way to believe in God is so to live that we do not fear His righteous judgement; and to live thus is to practise with care all that religion teaches—to be a good faithful Christian.

To adore God is to acknowledge Him as the infinite, supreme eternal being who made all things, and upon whom all things depend; it is to annihilate ourselves before His sovereign greatness, and to acknowledge, with deep humility, that all we have comes from Him, and that without him we should not ever exist. We must adore Him alone because He is the Creator and the sovereign Lord of all things.

Jicarilla

Mr. Enzinburg relinquished his ties to our camp Saturday, and left for Tucson, Arizona.

From a letter received in camp we learn that Mr. Franklin has sold out his interests in the Collector group of claims, as well as the "Sallie Dear," "Clipper," and "Mogul" claims to a company of Chicago capitalists.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wilson came over Sunday to visit a few days in Jicarilla.

Johannie Montoya has been on the sick list for several days.

A. H. Norton completed the as-sestment work on the Phil Reasoner claim last Saturday.

Max Guerbarra bought the miscellaneous house-hold effects, and horse and buggy of Mr. Enzinburg, before he left.

Mr. Pitts is contemplating the building of a house, and putting in a good stock of merchandise, in the near future.

There was a deal on for the sale of the Deel property, consisting of the store-house and goods, which we hear has fallen through.

There was a dance at Ancho last week-end, to which some of the Jicarilla "folks" went.

The hens have at last "come off the strike" and the price of eggs is within the reach of all.

Mr. Parks, the forest man, was in camp last week, for the purpose of letting out permits on grazing land.

Judge C. L. Kennedy has been in Santa Fe the past week, on business.

There has been some fine porkers butchered here this winter; some of our people are going out of the business of swine-raising, and are butchering their hogs.

Mr. Davenport is back at his work at the Gallacher well. And almost immediately after vacating the cabin, which proved to be such a haven of comfort during the storm, it burned to the ground. Presumably fire was accidentally scattered in removing the stove, thereby causing the regrettable loss.

It is strange how the average person looks upon the newspaper reporter as a malicious interloper. They actually keep the facts mum, and after it filters out among the populace, and the reporter does the best he can with a rumor, they censure him with mistakes made in a matter that would have been to their interest to have given it out "first handed." But its hard to keep secret the things which belong to the public, and no matter how exclusive may be your ideas of the rights of "thine and mine," the world has a right to know, and ye scribe the pleasure of "delivering the goods."

T. W. Stonerod returned from the Malpa to a few days ago, where he went to recover his horses and mules, after stampeding for the flats during the storm.

A dance is to be "pulled off" next Friday eve, at the school-house, where all the dancing community are expected to gather, "to chase the glowing hours with flying feet."

White Mountain

Miss Florence Nabours has returned from a visit with Mrs. Henry Drace, west of the Malpais.

Mr. J. S. Jones of Oscuro, was over one day this week, staying with Norman Riggs while here. Sheriff Chavez was a business visitor to this section Friday.

This section was shocked at the sudden death of Al T. Roberts. Mr. Roberts numbered many friends here.

There has been considerable activity recently in homesteading of land west of the County Road. Several Mexicans have filed there and houses are being erected.

Jim Nabours and Fred Neighbour have been busy hauling wood this week.

Bill Keehn came down Friday from the drilling outfit west of the Malpais. The Keehn boys are after water for Renslow and Crockett.

Apportionment of School Funds

For the County of Lincoln, New Mexico

I, Mrs. W. L. Gumm, Superintendent of Schools for said county, do hereby certify that I have duly apportioned the school fund of said County on this 9th day of January, 1914. The amount of money subject to such apportionment is Four thousand, nine hundred thirty-six and 98-100 Dollars $4,936.98. The total number of persons of school age is 2212. The rate per scholar is $2.23, which is apportioned to the several school districts as below:

Woodmen of the World Resolutions

Whereas, The great and supreme Ruler of the universe has in his infinite wisdom removed from among us one of our worthy and esteemed Sovereigns, Albert T. Roberts; and, whereas, the long and intimate relation held with him in this Fraternity makes it eminently befitting that we record our appreciation of him; Therefore be it resolved, That the wisdom and ability which he has exercised in the aid of our organization by service, contributions, counsel will be held in grateful remembrance;

Resolved, That the sudden removal of such a life from among our midst leaves a vacancy and a shadow that will be deeply realized by all the members and friends of this organization, and will prove a serious loss to the community and public.

Resolved, That it is with deep sympathy for the bereaved relatives of the deceased we express our hope that even so great a loss to us all may be overruled for good by Him who doeth all things well.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the records of this organization, a copy printed in the local papers, and a copy forwarded to the bereaved family.

ARE GETTING READY FOR THE SECOND COUNT, FEB. 2

The News' great piano voting contest is reaching normal proportions now. It has come to where you can't tell who is leading. So many have brought in subscriptions and received their votes, and some have so many that no one can even guess which one has the most. There is quite a demand for merchants' coupons, too. These are the little jokers that will probably tell the story in the end, and this is the way our readers can help. It does not cost you a cent when you buy groceries, dry goods, hardware, furniture, clothing, drugs, or whatever the advertisers in the contest have to offer, and then as the contestant comes to you, you will have a pleasant little surprise for her that will prove you a person who thinks of others, and it will make her pleased with you. Every one of the ladies who is out for that piano wants it, and they are trying in every honorable way to come in possession of it. It is simply a question of which one you like best. Of course you like them all, and Carrizozo and Lincoln County have nothing nicer than these contestants, and what is nicer for a lady, whether old or young, and circle of friends, than a nice piano—and such a one for instance, as the News is to give to the lady that the people of Carrizozo and Lincoln County like the best.

Bear in mind that the ballot box is closed for the second count at 12:30 p. m. on Feb. 2nd. Be sure and have your votes all in by that time so that you will have a fair chance to show what your standing is.

For every seven yearly new subscriptions we will give 10,000 extra votes making a total of 14,200 votes.

For every seven renewal subscriptions 8,000 extra, making a total 11,500 votes.

miles in every direction. The rate of postage in first and second zones is 5 cents for the first pound and 1 cent additional for the remaining pounds—which, if the limit is used, would be 49 cents more, or a total of 54 cents to carry a 50-pound package anywhere within a radius of 150 miles from the postoffice mailed.

The mail order houses of Chicago can do the same—in the first and second zones—but we are in the sixth zone from Chicago; therefore, the big mail order houses of Chicago will have to separate a 50-pound order into three distinct packages and pay the 6th zone rate—which would cost, delivered at this office, $4.03. In other words, the local merchant will have an advantage, in the transportation of a 50-pound package, the sum of $3.49. Unless the article should be diamonds, a pearl necklace, or something quite valuable, the difference in favor of the local merchant is quite a substantial per cent.

But we are told that smaller packages will be sent by the mail order houses, and the rates of postage are against the local merchant. Let us see. Take a 10-pound package. It will cost a Chicago house 81 cents to deliver it to a customer in Lincoln county, while a local merchant can deliver the same package to any point in the first or second zone for 14 cents, which gives the local merchant an advantage in transportation to the amount of 67 cents. On a 5-pound package a local merchant will have 32 cents the best of it over the Chicago house, and so on down the line.

These figures, we submit, represent a fair profit on many articles that will be sent through the mails, and local merchants could, we believe, hold a great deal, if not all, their rural customers if proper efforts were made to get the price of their goods before the public. A ranchman on Ruidoso could order what he wanted from any merchant in the county and have it delivered to him by mail, cheaper than he could go after it, and the local merchant, with the local rates in his favor, could successfully compete with the big mail order houses, if—

If he would let the public know what he has to sell, and at what price.

If he will get in closer touch with his rural trade and say what he can lay down a certain article for, including postage.

When local merchants begin a campaign of this kind they need no longer fear the competition of the big mail order houses. But so long as every man has in his house a catalogue from a mail order house, which shows the style and cost of any given article, with full directions for ordering the same, and the local merchant relies upon only those who enter his doors for his trade, just so long will the mail order house thrive at the expense of the country merchant, and just that much money will be taken out of circulation from each and every community where it is practiced.

Remember the $10 in gold goes to the one who makes the GREAT-EST gain in number of votes and $5 to the one making the next greatest gain.

Others were nominated, but as yet have received no votes. These young ladies should by no means be considered out of the running, as all have been doing some work and they will make the contest interesting for those who already have a good start.

Remember that many of our leading merchants are interested in this contest and give 25 vote coupons with every dollar's purchase. Also, those who don't fully understand the rules and regulations of this contest can call at this office, or write us, and we will be pleased to go over the proposition with them.

Remember and have your friends trade with the merchants who are giving the coupons.

Their ads appear in this issue in connection with our wonderful offer.

For every seven back subscriptions, 6,000 extra, making a total of 8,800 votes.

For every 40 merchants' coupons brought to this office and counted by the publisher or his assistant, a bonus of 500 votes will be given, a total of 1,500 in all.

These coupons may be collected from any and all the merchants who are in the contest.

The following are the enterprising merchants who give coupons.

LEAVES END ON YOUR CIGAR

Invention of Brooklyn Man That Possibly May Add Greatly to Comfort of Man Who Smokes.

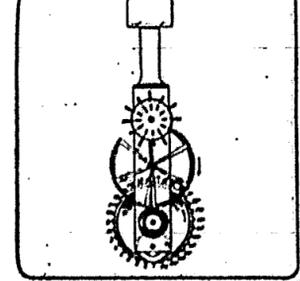

There is a possibility that before long the smoker will not have to cut or bite the end of his cigar, says the New York Times. A patent has just been awarded to a Brooklyn man on a device which inserts close to the end of the cigar which goes in the mouth an aluminum spring about a half inch long. This spring is inserted diagonally and the coils are said to force the filler tobacco apart so that the cigar draws much better than when the end is cut off. This spring is left in the cigar while it is being smoked. It is said to be especially useful in "short filler" cigars and to stop smokers from chewing on them to get a better draft. It is contended that cigar "so equipped are more sanitary than others in that it does away with the need of using public cutters in the stores. Neither will the wrapper show the tendency to unroll that is common in some cigars after the end has been removed. The inventor of the machine claims that it will perforate and insert springs in 10,000 cigars a day and will require only one operative to do the work. The commercial value is said to depend on the willingness of the smoker to pay a little more for these cigars to offset the additional expense incurred by the manufacturer.

embodying stamping wheels for the years, months, and days of the month, having means for advancing a predetermined number of days through a single actuation of a certain portion of the machine for this purpose.

Monument to Schiaparelli

The king of Italy has given his sanction to the movement to erect a monument by popular subscription to the memory of the late Prof. Giovanni Schiaparelli, the distinguished astronomer. It is proposed to erect a monument to him at his birthplace, Savigliano, in Piedmont, and to place a memorial tablet in the Brera palace at Milan. He was connected with the observatory of Brera for 40 years, most of that time as a director. To the world at large Schiaparelli was chiefly famous for his discovery of the so-called "canals" of Mars in 1877.

NOTES OF SCIENCE AND INVENTION

The average watch is composed of 175 different pieces.

A "feathering propeller" has been made for dirigibles.

Geneva is building a natural history museum at a cost of $350,000.

Horse hair automobile tires have been patented by a French inventor.

There are 28 pounds of blood in the body of an average grown-up person.

Diamond production in German Southwest Africa is reported unusually large.

A motor driven aerial propeller, placed in front, draws a sleigh invented by a German engineer.

Included with recently patented sun goggles is a shade to save a wearer's nose from being sunburned.

A new type of German life-water bottle is made of metal, hinged in the middle, and so shaped that it can be tilted to the curves of the body and limbs.

HARNESS FOR THE AVIATOR

Safety Device Made of Leather Straps Can Be Released in Few Seconds—Other Good Features.

A safety harness for aviators has been patented by a New York man, and it has some very good features. Straps fit around the aviator's shoulders and chest, the latter straps, of course, passing under his arms. These straps are buckled to the framework of the aeroplane and hold the operator securely in his seat. The entire harness is joined at one point, in the center of the wearer's chest, and can be opened instantly by pulling out a pin that holds the ends of the straps together on the stud. This feature is practically as important as the primary purpose of the harness, for there sometimes arises emergencies when it is imperatively necessary for the aviator to leave his machine without ceremony, and instant freedom is vital.

EFFECTS OF LIGHT ON EYES

No Actual Data to Prove That Artificial Light Is More Discomforting Than the Daylight.

Not all the radiant energy which enters the eye is active in the process of producing the sensation of light. No doubt it is fair to assume that at least this "inactive" energy is absorbed by the eye media and transformed into heat, says the Electrical World. This should cause an increase in temperature in the eye, which has led some to hold that this is the cause of irritation and fatigue. There is a general feeling that artificial light is more fatiguing than daylight, which contains far less energy per lumen-second than the light from ordinary artificial illuminants. Of course, it is true that artificial light under the same conditions of diffusion, intensity, surroundings, retinal adaptation, etc., is really more irritating and fatiguing than daylight. It is also to look to the spectral character of the radiation as a probable cause. However, there are no actual data which prove that artificial light is more discomforting than daylight when all conditions excepting the spectral character of the radiation are the same.

Sugar as Antiseptic

The use of sugar as a surgical antiseptic is strongly recommended by Dr. George Magnus of Munich, an eminent surgeon. All saccharine substances are good for this purpose, but pure cane sugar or best sugar is best. Its disinfecting and sterilizing qualities are excellent. It is not injurious to the blood, as has been wrongly believed, and is a better preservative of putrefaction and contamination by microbes than ordinary medical antiseptics.

Restores Historic Palace

The School of American Archaeology has restored the historic palace of the governors at Santa Fe, N. M., which was erected in 1605 and was occupied as the home of government officers during the Spanish regime in the southwest.

Ancestors Lived on Sand

From the fact that the teeth in the skulls of prehistoric men that have been found in Europe from time to time are much worn, a French scientist has drawn the conclusion that they lived upon food much contaminated with sand.

Pumping Anesthetic

Apparatus for pumping an anesthetic into a person's veins and insuring the administration of a definite dose, has been invented by a Paris doctor.

A nevel bed mattress is ventilated through the sides, being composed of more than 1,000 separate spiral sections.

COUSINS CLUB

Tells About Recent Wedding at the White House

WASHINGTON.—A story of how the "Cousins club," as the many relatives of the President and Mrs. Wilson are beginning to call themselves, organized into a little reception committee and did their best to make the diplomats "feel at home" at the wedding at the White House the other day, was told by Mrs. George Howe of New York, one of the cousins.

COUSINS CLUB

Mrs. Howe is the wife of George Howe, who lived for a long while with the president before he went into the White House, and whose education was superintended by the president. "I was principally impressed at the wedding by the ease at which every one seemed to feel, notwithstanding the 'grandness' of the occasion. There was nothing solemn about it, except the wedding procession and the forming of the line for the reception in the blue room.

"We kept the fun up until 9 o'clock at night. It was just like a great, big family party in the south. I was somewhat surprised that the dignified Marine band should play turkey trotting music for us to dance with in the east room, but they did, and Lieutenant Santelmann and his musicians seemed to enjoy it as much as we did. They laughed and played on and on.

"You know, 'Nell,' as we call Eleanor Wilson, is just crazy about dancing, and she is a very fine dancer, too, one of the best I ever saw. When the music had been stopped for good she waved her hand appealingly to Lieutenant Santelmann, and he laughed and led the band again for us.

"We all danced, including the bridesmaids, who were showing every one the dull gold-chased bracelets they had been given by the bride. A great many of the diplomats danced with Margaret Wilson, several of them ambassadors, and she was greatly teased by all of us when she was lucky enough to catch the bride's bouquet. You know, it is a superstition that the girl who catches the bride's bouquet at a wedding will be the next one to be married among those present.

"There was a lot of simple fun like that and mischief, in which all the young folks joined, the older people sitting around and chatting, just as would be done at a party at home. The president didn't dance, but he stood in one of the doorways of the east room for a long while, watching the fun and laughing and joking with every one.

"Most of us had supper and dinner and lunch combined at the wedding breakfast. That kept up a long time. There wasn't wine, but we had fruit punch instead.

Visitors Are Attracted by Squirrels in Parks

"SOME day," said a visitor in the capitol grounds the other day, "the famous pigeons of Venice which flock in so great numbers around the Cathedral of St. Mark will have to look to their laurels. These widely known birds may divide the honors of the admiration of tourists with the little gray squirrels which are fast becoming an interesting and picturesque feature of Washington's many fine green spaces."

As far as tourists are concerned, here in Washington, many of them are beginning to take photographs of the little animals. Just as nearly every man and woman who visits Venice brings away snapshots showing some member of the party tossing bread crumbs or something else to the great flocks of birds, so are the tourists who stroll through the capitol grounds, the Smithsonian grounds and other parks taking photographs of some one stooping over and holding out a peanut to the snappy little gray animals which are fast losing their extreme timidity.

In his native lair the gray squirrel is about as wild as any animal alive. Hunters who depend upon a gray squirrel or two for breakfast know very well that they will run to cover at the slight sound of a snapping twig; and for that reason a wet day is much better for hunting them than a dry day, as the crackling leaves scare a squirrel into his hole in the tree. However, Washington's squirrels are becoming as friendly as house pets, and the sight of one of them eating from the hand of a tourist is a revelation to the Virginia or Maryland mountaineer, who has to stay as quiet as a stone statue in order to get within shooting distance of one.

The gray squirrels are looked upon by the park authorities here as wards of the nation, and a comfortable sum of money is spent every winter in order to obtain food to keep the little pets from dying in the snows. Old weather sharps look upon the squirrels as indicating the coming of a hard winter the way they hide nuts. Just at this time the squirrels are showing unusual activity in making caches of peanuts, which is looked upon by the woodwise as a sure sign that there will be long-continued snows.

Club Formed for the Interior Department Employees

FOR some months Secretary of the Interior Lane has been working on the organization of a club for the interior department employees. He believes that a closer association one with another of the workers of the great interior department would redound to the benefit of all concerned. Secretary Lane met with a good deal of opposition at first, because there are so many kinds of people drawing so many kinds of salaries in this big department, and the social lines are drawn very closely about certain salary grades in all departments in Washington. You could hardly expect a $300 clerk to associate on terms of intimacy in social life with a $1,200 clerk, and so on. Secretary Lane asked one little old lady, who belongs to the Cliff Dwellers class of Washington—or, in other words, a "before the war" society woman who now works in government employ and takes in boarders for company—if she would assist in organizing this social club of the interior department. The aristocratic old lady very snappily informed him that she would not; that she was in the interior department for the purpose of earning money, and that she was socially superior to most of the employees. The secretary met up with a good many setbacks of this kind, but in his general way has been able to smooth out the difference between these social sets and has rounded them into a homogeneous body, and the Home club is now an assured fact.

Nearly 1,000 men and women are already part of the membership, and it is thought that it will be fully 3,000 when the club is finally established.

Felines Are Vain? Prize Winners Flee Publicity

PRIZE-WINNING cats on exhibition at the show of the Washington Cat club object to having their pictures taken. The appearance of a newspaper photographer with his little black camera was the signal the other day for a general exodus of the high-priced felines, who are now roaming the streets of the capital.

The next day nearly the entire police force was out searching for the animals, while physicians were busy treating bites and scratches on hands and arms as a result of the scramble that was made for the cats as they gained their freedom. Several persons were severely bitten.

Champion Lady Soles, a high-priced Persian cat owned by Mrs. F. Y. Mathis of Greenwold, Conn., is one of the missing animals. She was valued at $400 and around her bushy neck was a $1,000 collar of turquoise, sapphire and gold. Four felines were lined up in front of the camera, and as the photographer said "Hold still, now," the cats jumped. The last seen of them was when they disappeared through the door.

Miss G. Taylor of Syracuse, N. Y., was the most seriously hurt in the attempt to hold the cats. She was bitten and scratched about the hands and arms and had to be treated at a hospital.

Famous Cakes For Her Recommends

CALUMET BAKING POWDER

Some little time ago I made a careful study and investigation of the baking powder subject and I feel fully repaid. I am firmly convinced from the results I have received that there is no baking powder to equal Calumet for wholesomeness and economy, and I also recommend Calumet Baking Powder for its never failing results.

USE A "BLUFF" TO IMPRESS

Some Cases of Deception That Have Come Under the Observation of Group of Bankers.

A group of bankers met for their daily lunch at a club restaurant where it was their habit to discuss various problems. This time the conversation drifted toward the various modes of deception practiced by people. One member related how, among his acquaintances there were five who owned pianos but not one could play. These friends, he stated, were in but fair circumstances, and to his thinking it was folly to invest merely for the sake of appearances. Another member of the party stated that he knew a family where they had five shelves for the sake books to enlarge the library so that it would have an impressive appearance. Glass doors covered the shelves, and whenever a visitor expressed a desire to consult any particular book the key to the doors could not be found. Each banker seemed to have some story to tell; even "Silent Clarke," as one of the members was known, because of the few stories he told started them all by reciting the methods employed by a man he knew whose desire was to impress everyone that he was rich.

"Why," he said, "that man was so crazy to show off that he blacked himself each morning and washed the windows to make people think he could afford a negro servant."—National Weekly.

Go Ahead, Jimmy. "And remember, Johnny Blinks," said the teacher, who was endeavoring to drive a moral precept into Johnny's head, "there is always plenty of room at the top."

"I guess you got that a little wrong, teacher," said Johnny, whose father is a street-car conductor. "Plenty of room up front," is the way my pa says it."

Got Mixed. "What sort of a proposal do you suppose that business adviser of hers made Gladys?"

"What was it?"

"I suppose he was negotiating for some real estate at the same time, for he asked her to give him the refusal of her hand."

He Was Having It. Stubb—That's a witty Britisher. While he was sitting on the park bench some mischievous boys filled it with wax and his coat tails adhered as if they had been cemented.

Penn—Great joke! What did he say when he arose?

Stubb—Why, that well-known British expression: "I'm having a flipping time."

She Didn't Understand. "See here," said his wife; "I hear you acted scandalous on that trip with those Knights of Sparta."

"Me? How's that?"

"Mr. Wombat says you posed as the Isaac Walton of the party. What do you mean by going around under an assumed name?"

No. "It seems strange to think that the little word from you will make me happy for life!"

"Yes. But there's another little word the saying of which will keep me from being miserable for life. I am just selfish enough to say that one."

A Gentle Knock. "That girl has pretty hair," remarked the young man.

"Yes," said the dame; he was with, "and she has some at home that is even prettier."—Louisville Courier-Journal.

A Bigger Contract. "So you think you can support my daughter?"

"I think so."

"And can you support her French maid, her two poodles and her pet monkey?"

Usual Distinction. Young Wife—That pudding I have just made for you is a poem.

Hubby—And I suppose I'm to be the waste-basket. — Pennsylvania Punch Bowl.

Lowell Howell came to from his trip to the White Oaks yesterday.

Frank Gurney and little son came up yesterday from El Paso.

Max Guevara was in town today from Jicarilla and left in the afternoon for Alamogordo.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Owen were down the latter part of last week from their home near Corona.

Frank Gray has been quite ill this week, a disarrangement of the stomach producing the indisposition.

Bernie Humphrey has purchased a new Ford car, Sam Miller is negotiating for one, Bill Doering wants one and many others are dreaming about one.

Home Mission Meeting

THE Woman's Missionary Society met Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. Geo. L. Ulrick. A large crowd attended. A committee was appointed to get up a musical program to be given Feb. 18th, 22nd being on Sunday. The proceeds are to be used to purchase a piano for the church. Further notice will be given later. Mrs. Ulrick had at last meeting been appointed as a committee of one to see about having a lighting system placed in the parsonage; she reported that they were in, and the inmates of the parsonage reported that they were giving splendid service. The ladies took up the matter of having a "Go-to-Church" Sunday, and decided to have one. After further business was transacted, light refreshments were served after which Mr. Ulrick (whom the ladies had surprised) gave a few readings and poems. The ladies reported an excellent time.

The Society meets with Mrs. R. T. Lucas, Feb. 4th.

Old Citizen Passes Away

NEWS reached here Saturday morning of the death of William Sterling, who died at his home on the Mesa, above Nogal, the night previous. Mr. Sterling had been a resident of the Mesa country for a number of years, was an exemplary citizen and a worthy neighbor. Deceased had about reached the three score and ten milestone, and had suffered the last few years of his life from a cancer, which was the direct cause of his death.

OSCURO ON THE MAP

I buy cow hides, sheep and goat pelts. Sell dry goods, groceries, etc. Run a first class hotel and feed corral and Uncle Sam's post office. Come to see me.

John H. Boyd, Oscuro, N.M.

WHERE QUALITY IS ALWAYS FIRST

No Need to Stand and Watch while we weigh out the groceries you order. We are as particular about our weighing as we are about the character of our groceries and those who know us will tell you how high our standard is. Try us with an order and learn for yourself.

Mrs. J. H. Cody came over from Capitan Wednesday to look after her music and dancing classes. She expects to make weekly trips in the interest of her classes.

If you want salt fish, fresh fish, fresh oysters or anything else kept in a first class meat market we have it—Groom's.

Clarence Spence is recovering from an attack of pneumonia. The malady not proving as dangerous as was anticipated, he was not sent to the hospital, but has been treated at home.

LOST—A man's overcoat and a pair of overshoes, last Wednesday, in town or between town and Bar W ranch. Finder will please return to this office.

Married in Chicago

MISS VIRGINIA FENTON was married in Chicago on the 2nd inst. to Mr. Chas. G. Scholz, business manager of the New York Tribune. Following the ceremony, the couple left for Panama and, returning from their honeymoon, will come by El Paso and Carrizozo. The bride is a sister of Mrs. William F. Whittingham, is well known in Carrizozo, having been employed in the Exchange Bank some years ago. THE NEWS joins many friends in extending best wishes.

Home for Sale

For $800 I will sell a good 3-room adobe house, located in McDonald addition, Carrizozo; close to school house; good big corner lot, good well of water, cellar and a 15-barrel galvanized tank for rain water. All goes on easy terms.

Address, F. W. BROCKWAY, 1-16-4 Fort Stanton, N. M.

Claude E. Porter was down the past week from Holloway, making additional affidavits on his homestead proof. Mrs. Porter has gone to Oklahoma for an extended visit while he remains to look after ranch affairs.

Albert Ziegler expects to leave next week for the east, to purchase a spring stock of goods. He will go to St. Louis, Chicago and New York, and intends to purchase the most complete stock of spring and summer goods ever brought to this market.

If it's bargains you're after you can find them at Ziegler Bros. That enterprising firm has chartered an entire page of THE NEWS this week to quote to their customers some of the excellent bargains it has to offer. Note the reduction on many articles.

Dr. F. S. Randles returned Tuesday night from the east end of the Capitan mountains, where he has been the past three months doing assessment and development work on some iron claims. He says the property is showing up well and he feels confident of interesting capital in its further development.

A youngster of the masculine gender put in an appearance at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Julian Taylor Monday morning. The firm name will, therefore, undergo another change. Formerly it was N. B. Taylor & Son, later N. B. Taylor & Sons, still later N. B. Taylor, Sons & Grandson and now it will be N. B. Taylor, Sons & Grandsons.

Mrs. Bell Injured

MRS. JOHN E. BELL was quite painfully injured Sunday afternoon, as the result of a fall from a buggy. Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Dawson had been out driving and, returning, Mrs. Dawson had gotten out of the buggy. Mrs. Bell started to drive home, when near the Catholic church the front wheels ran out from under the buggy bed, throwing Mrs. Bell violently to the ground. The horse, of course, became frightened when the wheels ran upon him and made a two-mile run into the country, finally coming to a stop at Dr. Pine's ranch. Friends hastened to Mrs. Bell's assistance and found her temporarily unconscious as a result of the fall. She was conveyed to her home and soon recovered from the shock, although her shoulder was badly bruised, which still gives her some trouble.

Two Knots Tied

JUDGE MASSIE officiated at two marriages this week, one on Monday, January 19, and one on Tuesday, January 20. On the 19th the contracting parties were Laura G. Merrez and Lenor Wastar, both of Carrizozo; on the 20th, C. L. Robinson and Ella Bingham, of Capitan, were united in marriage.

DO YOURSELF GOOD

And Help Us at the Same Time

THIS clearance time is a time when our customers can really render us service, and when we show appreciation of it by very low prices.

We want to clear each season's goods in their season; get every winter article out of the way of Spring goods. That explains our low prices; it's a time when you buy things because they're bargains; and when we're glad to sell them at lower prices than usual in order to clean up and straighten out the stock and get ready for the new Spring goods.

How Time Flies

FOURTEEN years ago the town of Capitan was platted and a paper started there. Many changes, it is true, have taken place during that period, and yet it seems but yesterday that our neighboring town was born. That paper, started at that time, was the predecessor of THE NEWS. THE NEWS has changed its location, and is now issued in a still newer town than Capitan, but has not changed in its loyalty to all parts of Lincoln county, nor in its purpose to continue an element—and we hope an important one—in upbuilding of the county's resources. It today starts on its fifteenth volume, and, by the good grace of the people of Lincoln county, hopes to maintain a place in the hearts of the people for many years to come.

Knights of Pythias Resolutions

Having answered the call of the Supreme Chancellor of the Universe, and entered into his reward, we are called upon to mourn the loss of one of our most beloved and cherished Pythian Knights. Therefore be it Resolved: That no truer man, or more exemplary Knight ever graced the roster of this organization than our departed brother, Albert T. Roberts.

Resolved: That in every relation of life he was the same true, trusted, and model man—making all his associates happy and contented by his genial nature and words of good cheer.

Resolved: That his mission on earth was to illustrate the pure doctrine of practical benevolence in seeking out distressed, assuaging grief, comforting the dying and burying the dead. He fully recognized the doctrine that man needed a closer acquaintance with man—the world over.

Resolved: That in years to come his eulogy will be breathed silently into the ears of heaven, with the last prayer of the dying; by the widow over the bier of her husband, by the young orphans over the grave of their father.

Resolved: That no man ever more fully exemplified the cardinal doctrine of this humanitarian movement in his daily walk than our lamented brother. By every act, word, and look he seemed to reaffirm the saying of our illustrious prototype: "I do prefer the certainty of death unto the possibility of dishonor." Be it further Resolved: That a copy of these resolutions shall be spread on our minutes, that a copy shall be given to the papers of this city for publication, and that a copy shall be given to the widow of our deceased brother.

Mrs. Frank W. Gurney Dies

Mrs. FRANK W. GURNEY died at her home in El Paso last Sunday morning at 2 o'clock, from tuberculosis. She had been a sufferer from tuberculosis for many months and during the past year the disease secured a stronger hold on her frail body and she gradually became weaker, and at last, at the hour named, the burden of life were laid down and she passed into dreamless slumber.

Mrs. Gurney was a charming, sweet little woman, of noble qualities and distinguished accomplishments, and her death, although not unexpected, was received here in deepest sorrow by her many friends among whom she was a general favorite and where she was highly esteemed.

The funeral occurred Monday, the interment taking place in the Evergreen cemetery, El Paso, the various societies of which her husband was a member and the Civic League of Carrizozo, of which the departed was a member, sending a profusion of flowers in token of esteem.

The husband, who had watched faithfully by her side with her as she closed her eyes in rest was, also, various other members of the family who reside in El Paso. Upon the reception of notice of death, Mrs. Frank W. Gurney, Sr., went to El Paso, as did other ladies of Carrizozo, to be present at the last sad rites. A husband and a sweet little boy of five summers, of the immediate family, survive, and the tender sympathy of all goes out to the husband and little son, in the death of the young wife and mother who has departed this life before scarcely reaching the age of thirty years.

MAN'S LOYALTY NEVER EQUAL TO THAT OF WOMAN

Writer Makes Strong Argument to Prove That the Weaker Sex Is the More Steadfast in Adversity.

LOVE RULES HER LIFE, AND TESTS PROVE IT

Neither Trouble Nor Disgrace Ever Drove True Wife From Her Husband's Side—Case Brought to Light Is Only One of Many That Are Hidden From the Public Gaze, and Too Often Her Only Reward Is Ingratitude—Why Men in Trouble Invariably Seek the Condolences of Women.

ARE women more or less loyal than men?

They are less loyal—in the little things—but quite as steadfast in the greater. They are less loyal maybe to the woman who happens not to need their help and friendship, but infinitely more so when the time comes when a sister is down and out and needs assistance, asserts Rita Reese in the New York Press.

And, strong as a woman can prove herself to be when another woman really needs her protection and help, she is infinitely stronger and braver when it is a man she is called upon to see through a period of "black trouble" and even disgrace.

We hear alighting things said of the loyalty of women—that all women are cats with velvet claws sheathed until the moment comes when they are tempted to scratch.

Some one has declared that a woman's reason is always "Because," and usually that "Because" hides her claws.

Women Contradictory.

Woman is a mass of contradictions. I grant you she says things she doesn't mean and usually means a lot of things she doesn't say. But she very seldom means the trivial remarks she makes about trivialities of another woman.

She may enviously comment on the style in which another woman lives, on her motor cars and pearls, and even her popularity, and accordingly withhold her friendship because of this petty envy, but if the other woman happens to lose these possessions, and with it her former happiness and position, she seldom finds anything but a sympathizing sister in the woman who formerly held aloof from her.

We can hear with our friends in their adversity, but when the spirit strong enough to stand an overdose of their prosperity. Women feel strongly this way. They dislike to be pitted, commiserated by a woman more fortunate than themselves. Whether they really feel pity is an open question, but most of us know what it is to be commiserated because we lack either time to do the things we'd like to do or the money that might make it possible for us to enjoy pleasures that are given to women no more desecrating than we are.

Stronger Than Words.

But once the barrier of prosperity is removed all women are free and equal, and most of them meet on the common ground of understanding and come to see that friendship is something stronger than pretty words.

"For the friendship of true women, Lord, that hath been since the world had breath. Since a woman stood by a woman's side to comfort through birth and death. You have made us a bond of mirth and tears to last forever and are for the friendship of true women, Lord, take you our thanks today."

The above lines by Theodosia Garrison are from her exquisite poem called "A Thanksgiving." In these verses she expresses the bond between women so beautifully that I am tempted to quote her further:

"Now much have I found to be glad of, much have I sorrowed for. But naught is better to hear than the foot of a friend at the door; And naught is better to feel than the touch of a sister hand. That says: 'What are words between us; I know and may understand.'"

Only a woman can understand the griefs of a woman, and only a woman can truly comfort another woman. "Back to the arms of our sisters we turn for our comforting."

What Loyalty Means.

There is an old story that I think illustrates a woman's loyalty as compared to a man's.

Once upon a time in a fair land there was a man who, after his fashion, loved two women, and, in turn, had every reason to believe himself beloved by each of these.

Now disaster came upon the man and a court ordered that he be banished from the country in which he had held a position of honor and importance. The woman whom he thought loved him best turned her face away from him, and bade him goodbye forever. She declared that she would love no man who could bring disgrace upon himself. The man pleaded with her to believe that he was innocent, but she was cold and reminded him the judges had decreed him guilty.

Now the other woman, the one whom he loved least, declared that she did not believe him guilty though the whole city should rise against him; that if he were banished she would go with him.

And accordingly when he set forth an exile she journeyed beside him to the desert.

Here they lived many months, and only the comfort and courage of his companion kept the man from taking his miserable life.

And often he marveled that she should have sacrificed so much for his sake, and every time she reminded him that she could do it gladly, because she was the woman who loved him.

Woman Sends Him Away.

And time went on and the judges in the city found that they had made a mistake and that they had unjustly exiled their former companion and friend. And messengers were sent forth in the desert to bring him back in all honor.

And his return was celebrated as a holiday and all his old friends gathered around to welcome him.

But it was the woman who had sent him away that rode with him in his triumphal procession. The other woman had hidden herself in the desert, thinking that he would turn his back on all the world to find her. But he did not.

And the man justified himself after this fashion to the woman who had turned away from him when she loved him guilty:

"Lo, thou art that which all men worship in a woman, that embodiment of honor and purity."

And the woman in the desert never came back, but the man, so the old fable reads, lived happily or unhappily with the other all the days of his life.

The woman in the desert typifies the woman with a soul above conventions; whose love rules her life and whose loyalty only asks for a test to prove it. In modern life we often see cases that are very similar. And very often the woman meets the same fate as the woman in the fable. She is forgotten when the time comes for the triumphal crowning.

Woman's Love Strong.

The love of woman for a man truly often passeth all understanding. Many waters cannot quench it, and disgrace and poverty touch it not at all; even neglect and deliberate insult have often failed to destroy it.

I know a man who has achieved a certain fame from a book that his wife helped him to write. She not only practically rewrote the book after he had finished it, but had it published out of money she had saved, penny by penny, from her housekeeping allowance, supplemented by what she received for doing fine needlework. She started with that man and nursed him through an awful period of delirium tremens; she kept him out of jail and out of the lunatic asylum.

The Loyal Woman Is Never Too Poor to Give Her Help and Sympathy.

and she was rewarded when fame came to him by having him turn his back on her and go off with a younger woman.

Time passed on, and his luck changed again: He lost out a second time and was in the gutter. Again she went to him, for he was deserted; of course, by the one who had been his companion in more prosperous days, and took him home and nursed him back to life and decency again, and with her assistance he wrote a second book. This, too, was a success and from it he received enough money to get him going again, and in all haste he abandoned his wife a second time.

Down and Out Again.

The lesson he had learned had not sunk in, for before a year had elapsed he was down and out again. This time his case was more wretched and beastly than before. He was living in a Bowery mission when his wife found him and for the third time carried him to her home and there he lies today an invalid, with his mind half gone, but tenderly nursed and looked after by the woman on whom he has no claim, having outraged every bond that once held them together.

If any man ever had such loyalty to another man I've yet to hear of it. Some say the wife in the case by her actions proves clearly that she has neither sense nor pride. I don't think so. She has both, but greater than either is her sense of pity—pity for the man who has only her to turn to when the world goes black around him.

Now this isn't a brief for the loyalty of woman in little things. Personally I think the word "loyalty" is the wrong one to use in such a connection. Loyalty is a word that is better connected with the bigger things, and women as a sex are not loyal to other women in petty things.

Woman have petty jealousies that men do not understand because the majority of men are so busy they haven't time to even think about the trivialities that crowd into the idle brain of the average idle woman.

Man Has Much More Liberty.

Man has a great deal more liberty than woman, and a great deal more money, and a great deal more interests; naturally he is indifferent to trivialities. He may wish he were financially in a position that his neighbor across Wall street is in, but the thought doesn't enter in his mind and lead him to make unpleasant remarks about the better business man.

No, he knows that his neighbor has worked harder and been more awake to his opportunities. He is wise enough to know that with the same attention his own business may assume the proportions of his neighbor's business.

A woman who doesn't work and who has no way of acquiring the things she wants except by having them given to her, by a chance of fortune as it were, naturally is envious when another woman in her set is more lucky and gets them. A woman's petty envy may be aroused by a motor car or a sealskin coat or a pearl pendant, but these are trivial things that are swept aside when the real issues of life, death and sorrow and human needs start her in the face.

Survival of Race Instinct. Again there are those who say that there can be no such thing as loyalty between two women, when both are interested in the same man, or in any man.

This, it seems to me, isn't an individual trait, but a survival of the race instinct from those far-off times (not so far gone either) when men represented to woman all the indulgences, independence and freedom that was given to her. From him she received favor, and all other women naturally were rivals, as she saw them, if they interested him.

It is not such a far cry to those days. Many women today live quite as dependent "on the most high god of some most high Jove," and because they are human, not because they are women, they jealously guard every privilege and every possible encroachment upon such liberty.

Because a woman is a woman she is interested in the sorrows of other women. Few men can bear the idea of condoling with a friend; they want to fly from a woman in trouble, and while they'll give materially to help any man friend, it's asking pretty much of them to give spoken consolation and companionship to such an one.

A heart-broken man never bunts up a man to pour his troubles out to, but always it is some woman friend who tries to lighten him up.

A woman who is broken-hearted never thinks of blurring out her grief to a man; it would only annoy him. She instinctively knows that. Her first aid is another woman. In prosperity she may not have been able to see that many women were around waiting for her favor, but in adversity any old woman will do—for the universal woman, be she a deposed queen or a widowed charwoman with a large family to support. Such an one is never too poor to give her help and her sympathy to any other woman who really needs it.

Robinson Crusoe.

A well known violinist is the father of two lovely and intelligent children. The other day he overheard a conversation between the two in which they were trying to recall the first names of all the great opera singers. "What is Crusoe's first name?" he heard the younger ask. "Don't you know?" replied the other, in a disgusted tone. "Why, it's Robinson, of course!"

Willing to Learn.

Herbert and Helen were sitting on the beach in the moonlight, when, moved by an impulse he could not resist, he suddenly kissed her. "Oh, Herbert!" she exclaimed, "that's not right!" "I'm very sorry, Helen," replied Herbert humbly. "I did the best I knew how. Won't you show me the proper way?"—Ladies' Home Journal.

HOPE TO RAISE LARGE SUM

Millions of Red Cross Christmas Seals to Be Sold for Anti-Tuberculosis Work.

Few people have any idea of the magnitude of the Red Cross Christmas seal campaign. This year over 100,000,000 seals have been printed and distributed. If placed end-to-end these seals would extend nearly 2,400 miles, or practically from New York to Salt Lake City. They have been sent to over 25,000 different agents and will be sold and handled by an army of not less than 100,000 volunteers, including men, women and children. Millions of advertising circulars have been scattered throughout the country, and so thoroughly has the advertising campaign been organized that it is doubtful if many people in the more populous states of the country will not have heard of the Red Cross seal and its mission in the prevention of tuberculosis. It is hoped that at least 50,000,000 seals may be sold this year. The principle upon which the sale of seals is based is that every cent except what little is needed to cover the actual cost of printing and handling shall be spent for tuberculosis work in the community, where the seals are sold.

HOW TO TREAT PIMPLES AND BLACKHEADS

For pimples and blackheads the following is a most effective and economical treatment: Gently smear the affected parts with Cuticura Ointment, on the end of the finger, but do not rub. Wash off the Cuticura Ointment in five minutes with Cuticura Soap and hot water and continue bathing for some minutes. This treatment is best on rising and retiring. At other times use Cuticura Soap freely for the toilet and bath, to assist in preventing inflammation, irritation and clogging of the pores, the common cause of pimples, blackheads, redness and roughness, yellow, oily, mothy and other unwholesome conditions of the skin.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."

One of the Guggenheims.

"There's nothing like putting the best foot foremost—putting the best face on the matter," said Oswald Garrison Villard in a recent Baltimore address.

"Why shouldn't we all emulate Mrs. Sudden Ryches, whose father was a policeman?"

"Lord Laeland said to Mrs. Sudden Ryches at a luncheon at Sherry's: 'What business is your father in, madam?'"

"She flushed slightly, slipped her amber-colored Chateau Yquem, looked Lord Laeland straight in the eye, and answered: "'Copper.'"

"And Lord Laeland, remembering the pale palaces of the copper millionaires overlooking the park, said: 'Ah! angely, and was very much impressed indeed.'"

Red Seals and Christmas Gifts.

A big-hearted purchaser of Red Cross seals in a southern city recently complained because the seals did not come in sheets larger than 100. He had prepared a Christmas package for his daughter and had conceived the idea that he would wrap it entirely in Christmas seals. As the present was bulky, the sheets of 100 were not sufficient. He solved his problem, however, by pasting several sheets of seals on a large piece of wrapping paper, in which he inclosed his daughter's gift.

"Mother," said a little girl, bringing a grimy little urchin to the maternal fount of kindness, "please wash Dicky's face for him."

"But why should I wash his face, dear? I'm not his mother. If Dicky's face needs washing, wouldn't it be better for him to go home?"

"Yes, mother, only—well, you said it wasn't healthy to kiss dirty faces, and I want to kiss Dicky now!"

Household and Mental Order. Froebel, "father of child-study," said that "inward clearness proceeds from outward order," and there is truth enough in the observation to give food for thought in the careless, untidy mother and father. Froebel's saying was connected, no doubt with his insistence that the child's play and work materials in the kindergarten should be taken out in perfect order and so returned at the close of the exercises, and Dr. Montessori, the Italian educationalist, whose method is working a change in the teaching of children, requires the same thing in her "Houses of Childhood." There must indeed be a potent influence in an orderly, punctual, wisely-administered household, and there is no question that children brought up in such an atmosphere do show clearness in their mental processes. Fortunately, this is an influence which is independent of riches or poverty and so can be exerted by any mother.

Not for Ten Cents. During Robert Edeson's last visit in the south he had occasion to spend the Sabbath with an acquaintance who owned a big plantation near Port Gibson, Miss.

Some time in the afternoon a large gathering of negroes appeared on the banks of a stream that skirted the farm, attracted by a baptism. Mr. Edeson, calling to a black boy who was looking on, said:

"Isaac, I'll give you a dime if you will be baptized this afternoon."

For fully three minutes the darky looked at Mr. Edeson, then he answered:

"No, sah; you can't git me to fool wit the Lord for ten cents."

NEW YORK FACES PROBLEM IN ITS RIVAL GANGSTERS

Politicians and High Police Officials Blamed for Existence of This Menace to the Country's Chief City.

PUBLIC ALSO INDIFFERENT TO CRIME AND CRIMINALS

Efforts to Break Up the More Powerful Organizations Have Resulted in the Formation of Smaller Bodies Just as Menacing—Writer Sees Possible Good in the Boy Scout Movement—Lawless Youngsters Mostly American Born and Come From the Tenement Districts.

NEW YORK.—Rival gangsters fought a revolver battle from automobiles on primary day, September 16, in broad sunlight, at the corner of Sixty-fifth street and Broadway, just as the matinee crowds were pouring out of the theaters. The police managed to get four of the combatants, and the car which they had used in the shooting affray was found to contain lists of voters in six election districts, systematically arranged to enable repeating.

It was the gang in the service of the politician, just as in the Rosenthal murder the gang had been in the service of a high police official. The gang serves those who pay it or can protect it against the law. For $5 it will detail a "kid" to black a man's eyes; for $50 you can have a man stabbed, and "doing the big job" will cost you more than $500 or $1,000 if you are properly vouched for to the gang leader by some one with a "big pull."

The man with the "big pull" is always a politician or a gambler, writes Henry N. Hall in the Sunday New York World. The politician's alliance with the gangster is as close today, if not as open, as when a district leader on the eve of an important election gave an interview to newspaper men with one foot on a box from which his lieutenants were distributing 500 lead-loaded blackjacks to "the boys" for use the next day, or when a political leader—now one of New York's most distinguished representatives in the congress of the United States—went over to New Jersey to testify under oath that "Monk" Eastman was a reputable business man and an otherwise respectable citizen.

Difficult Problem.

There is no more difficult problem in American civic life today than the elimination of the gang. There are three reasons for this. The first is that the American public is indifferent to crime. There is no place in the world where the man in the street who goes about his own business and keeps clear of the underworld is as safe in his person as he is here, and the result is that unless he himself, or some one he knows personally, is the victim of a crime, he reads about these things in the paper with an interested complacency not unlike the feelings he derives from a thrilling moving-picture show. Gangs, gangsters, Black Hand crimes and bomb outrages are accepted as among the things incidental to life in a big city, and it is impossible to arouse anything like public indignation over their presence.

The second reason is that the interests to which the gangs are useful—the politicians, the gamblers and those who grow rich in the underworld—are so powerful that they are able to protect those who are of service to them. It is only in exceptional cases, when public feeling is outraged by some

The politician's alliance with the gangster is as close today as when a political leader went over to New Jersey to testify under oath that "Monk" Eastman was a reputable business man.

anton defiance of law, some very spectacular and serious crime, that protection from "above" fails to secure amnesty. The third reason is that however effectively you may break up a gang, its members will always ally themselves with other gangsters and these other associations. Breaking up powerful gang is followed too often by the appearance of three or four smaller and rival organizations. It is only scattering the trouble.

Catching the Gangster Young. There is only one way to get down gangs in a city like New York, and that is to cut off their supply of recruits. The gangster has to be caught young. There is no gang in New York today which willingly adds grown men to its ranks. The new recruits all come up from the streets. I have talked with a number of gangsters, and there is such a surprising unanimity about their boyhood days that it is not impossible to picture the upgrowth of the "gorilla."

Watch almost any gang of small boys playing in the streets of the tenement districts. They always have a leader. It matters not what they are doing or to what mischief they are up to, there is always one who is braver, stronger, more resourceful than the rest. He will grow into a man of action. He will make a success of life if his home influences and early opportunities give him a fair chance; but if he goes wrong he is the material of which the gangster is made. It is so easy for him to go wrong.

As he gets older he may commit some little breach of the law that other boys will take pride in as a proof of his daring. The corner saloonkeeper patronizes him and marshals him with others of his kind. He gets his introduction into the underworld and meets real gangsters upon whom the women of the streets fawn and who nod knowingly to the "cop" on the corner. If he stumbles into a scrape the saloonkeeper or one of his newly acquired friends will appeal to some ward politician for bail, lawyers and the necessary "pull" to get him out of trouble. Then he sticks to his friends, and gangdom has won another recruit.

Irrepressible Conflict.

All this is perfectly well known to the churches, the settlement workers and all the "reformers," and many and strange are the ways of those who would lead youth in the paths of righteousness. There is going on all the time in this as in every other great city a constant tussle between the forces of good and the forces of evil. Both are reaching down into the struggling mass of upgrowing humanity, seeking for new recruits.

A great deal of perfectly good energy has been wasted in trying to get real live boys to spend their Sunday afternoons in summer attending Bible classes when they wanted to play ball in the corner lot. That is just an invitation to the "daring" boy to play truant, and as the rest of "de gang" who lack the initiative to grow up into anything but law-abiding citizens anyway are not there to play with him he goes off and gets into mischief.

Real gangsters upon whom the women of the streets fawn and who nod knowingly to the "cop" on the corner.

Field for Boy Scouts.

Only one organization really seems to be properly equipped for attracting to itself the boys who but for its existence would grow up to be gangsters, and that is the Boy Scouts. It is just the kind of thing that appeals to high-spirited boys and it is doing a most wonderful work in making them into manly youths who will grow up to be good and useful citizens. There is a striking sameness about the gangster's unwritten code and the laws of the scouts.

"Thou shalt not squeal," is the first law of the gangster. The gangster's honor is to be trusted in gangdom. The first law of the Boy Scouts is "A scout's honor is to be trusted." If he breaks his honor by telling a lie he ceases to be a scout. If the gangster squeals the penalty is death.

Next to not squealing, the law of the gang is that its members shall be "hunky." A scout's second law is loyalty to his country and his friends. "He must stick to them through thick and thin against anyone who is their enemy." And so on. A scout must be brave and daring and must obey orders without question and he must never sulk. All of which things are expected of the gangster.

Mostly American-Born.

A large majority of the gangsters are American-born, mostly of Irish or Italian descent. The young Jew does not make good gang material, or rather what gangs there are in or of the ghetto differ from the real "gunmen." The young Jew who goes wrong becomes a thief, a "dip," or pickpocket, or else he gambles—generally with more or less success—in which case he hires gangsters to protect his profits. Here and there on the lower East side a gang of young Jews will get up a fake lottery and sell their worthless tickets to the small shopkeepers, who know that refusal to "come across" with the 50 cents demanded would lead to a stone being pitched through their store window at night, or some wanton damage being done to their goods. It is a cheap form of blackmail.

Leaders Who Play Safe.

There are several gangs in New York with a membership of more than a thousand, but more and more the men at the head of them keep their hands free of actual crime. The leader is the man with brains and money, and above all with the confidence of the politician, who has enough influence to smooth out the serious troubles into which his followers may fall. In case of a murder or killing it is the general rule for the actual murderer to be safely hidden away while the arrest is brought about of some other member of the gang, who, on trial, will be able to put in a perfect defense, or who will have to be released by the police for lack of evidence.

"He Will Attend to That When He Gets Out."

Although it is literally true that there are in New York today dozens of gangs and thousands of gangsters, the great majority are without real standing in the underworld. At a conservative estimate there are, however, from twenty to twenty-five recognized gangs, with a membership in excess of 5,000 men, from which politicians and gamblers and others requiring their services can get thugs, repeaters and strong-arm men for any purpose, from carrying an election or breaking a strike to securing the commission of crime against the persons or property of citizens.

Settle Their Own Disputes.

Gangdom recognizes its own state of outlawry and it always settles its own disputes. The recognized forces of law and order—the police—are never called upon to listen to its complaints. If a gangster falls in any feud, if he has been shot or stabbed, he never gives the name of his assailant. "He will attend to that when he gets out." If he dies he knows that his friends will avenge him, and often in New York hospitals when the police have vainly tried to get a wounded gangster to "squeal" some member of his gang will call at the hospital, bend over the little white cot and only a tightening of his jaw tells the policeman on guard that the visitor has learned the name of the man who is to pay for the gangster's death.

HORSE OUTFRUNS A KANGAROO

Men Attack the Big Animals With Only Clubs For Weapons, and Kill Them.

Notwithstanding the kangaroo's popular reputation for speed, he is easily overtaken in the bush by a good horse within half a mile. A capable kangaroo dog—a lean, swift beast, a cross between a greyhound and a mastiff, bred to course and kill—soon runs him to bay. Without dogs it is the custom to kill with a cudgel. This is often accomplished by the sportsman from the back of his horse. Dismounted, however, with the kangaroo waiting alertly for attack, it is sometimes a perilous venture to come to close quarters. A slip—and the sportsman finds himself all at once in a desperate situation. A lumberjack showed scars of an encounter. He had ridden the kangaroo down and, being in haste to make an end of the sport, he had caught up the first likely stick his eye could discover, and he had stepped quickly and confidently and he had struck hard and accurately. And the next instant, caught off the ground, he was struggling, breast to breast, in the hug of the creature, frightfully aware that he must escape before the deadly hind foot had devastated him.

"My club broke," he exclaimed, "and the boomer got me."—Norman Duncan in Harper's Magazine.

Not the Same.

Robert W. Chambers, at a literary luncheon in Garden City replied to an attack on publishers made by a young writer.

"If there is a demand for an author's book," said Mr. Chambers, "he will find his publisher anxious to treat him fairly and even generously. Of course there are exceptions—my friend Blank's publisher, for instance, was an exception.

"After a short conversation one day in Fifth avenue, Blank, on taking leave of me, said:

"By the way, do you remember my telling you that my publisher said he would raise my royalties for a month or so?"

"Yes," I replied. "Hasn't he?"

"No," I misunderstood him. He meant he'd try and raise the back royalties due on the last year's sales of my book. I haven't had a cent yet."

WHAT TO DO WITH LEFTOVERS

Hash More Palatable, Though Less Economical, Than Meat Brought to the Table Cold.

I suppose that in most households a dish of hash comes to the table at least once a week. Hash is very nice, and many people prefer it to cold meat. But it is one of the least economical things going, because half a pound of meat cuts up into very little mince, and people take a larger helping of done-up things than they would of cold meat in slices. Therefore, if you want to be economical, don't have hash.

But, if you are going to have it, you might as well make it properly. Do it in the following way—and it will be perfectly delicious:

Remove all fat and gristle from your meat. Chop it by hand, or put it through a machine. If you use a meat chopper you must put a crust of bread through afterwards, in order to clean out all the little bits of meat which have stuck to the works. If you don't do this you will leave quite a lot of meat on the knives, and it will be all wasted.

Melt one ounce of butter in a pan. When this is melted, stir into it one ounce of flour, and add half a pint of stock or milk. Cook the mixture for ten minutes, stirring it very carefully all the time and making sure that it does not turn lumpy. When it is done it will be a very thick sauce.

Take the pan off the fire, stir the minced meat into it and flavor the whole with parsley, herbs or tomato sauce.

Put the pan back on the fire, and stir the contents till it is quite hot. Don't let your mince come to the boil on any account though, or it will be spoiled. Take it off, turn it out on a hot dish, and decorate it with snips of toast. It will be firm enough to stand up in a pile. A good cook makes her dishes nice to taste, pretty to look at, and easy to serve and enjoy.—Exchange

CURRY SAUCE WORTH TRYING

Approved Recipe, Not Especially Difficult to Make, Will Be Found to Give Satisfaction.

Curried meats and vegetables are delicious. Here is a recipe for a good curry sauce that is not especially difficult to make. It can be served with left-over chicken, cut in little strips, and heated in the curry, then put on a platter with a ring or mold of hot rice. It can be served with left-over mutton or lamb, cut in dice or thin slices. It can be served with several vegetables. To make it, slice a medium-sized onion thin and fry it in two ounces of butter. When it is brown add a desertspoonful of curry powder. Let it cook a minute or two and then add a cupful of beef gravy. Dish gravy from roast beef or beefsteak is the best sort, but if this is not at hand beef stock will do. Add also two whole cloves, a clove of garlic, a strip or two of lemon peel, a half teaspoonful of salt, two bay leaves and a teaspoonful or two of tarragon vinegar. Cook this gently for half an hour and then strain it.

Excellent Oat.

If all the bones that are trimmed from the roast either at the market or at home, are cracked and put into a kettle they will make an excellent basis for rich gravies or a soup. To every pound of bones allow a quart of cold water, a carrot, turnip, two tomatoes, an onion and a stalk or two of celery, all the vegetables cut into small pieces. Simmer slowly until the soup has been reduced about half. Then cool, skim and strain.

How to Clean Wall Paper.

Take one quart of flour, one and one-half tablespoons powdered alum and one pint of cold water. Sift the alum with the flour and mix with the water, and cook until thoroughly done, stirring constantly.

Turn it out on the bread board and mix into it one-half cup of flour. Break off pieces of the cleaner and use as you would a cloth. This will make your wall paper look like new.

Hose in Sink.

If the dishes are washed in the sink attach pieces of white rubber hose to the faucets, of convenient lengths, to carry the water over all the dishes. This will be found to be very convenient, and also saves dishes that might otherwise be broken by striking against the faucets.

Olive Oil for Shoes.

Patent-leather shoes may be kept in good condition during the cold weather by rubbing them with a little olive oil and polishing with a piece of Canton flannel. This will keep the leather from cracking and the shoes will always appear new.

Best Way to Clean Carpet.

There is nothing better than newspapers, wrung out of water and torn in bits, for cleaning a dusty carpet; scatter over the floor before sweeping. They will gather more dust than you would imagine was there.

Makes a Good Gravy.

Fry a few slices of breakfast bacon, mix a large spoonful of flour with the dripping, add a pint of milk and as much water. Stir until smooth and thick. This makes a good gravy.

To Keep Cranberries Fresh.

To keep cranberries, put them in glass jars, fill the latter to overflowing with cold water, and screw the tops on tightly. In this way the cranberries will remain fresh all winter.

Its Kind.

"Here is a brilliant essay on appetitetics."

"I suppose it is illustrated with cuts."

Be happy. Use Red Cross Bag Blue; much better than liquid blue. Delights the laundress. All grocers. Adv.

Suits Him, All Right.

Mrs. Enright—She says small checks will be in fashion for now fall suits.

Mr. Enright—Thank heaven!—Pook.

Simple Method.

"How do you tell mushrooms from 'toad-stools'?"

"I wait till next morning. If I'm here they were mushrooms. If I'm in heaven they were toad-stools."

ERUPTION DISFIGURED FACE

Lock Box 26, Maurice, Ia.—"In the spring of 1911 our little daughter, age five years, had a breaking out on her lip and part of her cheek that we took for ringworm. It resembled a large ringworm, only it differed in that it was covered with watery blisters that itched and burned terribly, made worse by her scratching it. Then the blisters would break through and let out a watery substance. She was very cross and fretful while she had it and had very little rest at night. When the eruption was at its worst the teacher of the school sent her home and would not allow her to attend until the disfigurement of her face was gone.

"I wrote and received a sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment, which we used according to directions, and they gave instant relief, so we bought some more. It gradually grew better. We kept on using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and in three or four months the child was entirely cured." (Signed) Mr. Henry Price, Oct. 22, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

All Is Fish to the Net.

"Catch anything while you were away on your vacation?"

"Sure I did. It weighed 28 pounds. You catch anything?"

"Uh-huh. I told you I would. She weighs 130 and her dad's worth half of a street railway company, an electric lighting plant and two breweries."

Ten miles for a nickel.

Always buy Red Cross Bag Blue; have beautiful clear white clothes. Adv.

Found a Flaw.

Little Pierre had been taken to the seaside and expressed himself on his return as disappointed with the ocean.

"What's the matter with the sea?" asked his surprised father. "Isn't it big enough, my boy?"

"Yes—but it has only one shore."

A simple remedy against coughs and all throat irritations are Dean's Mentholated Cough Drops—6c at all good Druggists.

His Message.

"That man has a look of profound wisdom. I'm anxious to hear what he has to say."

"Well?"

"Good heavens! He's announcing that he has on exhibition the only three-legged chicken in existence."
