The Political Situation

THE political parties of New Mexico have lined up and declared before the people their political beliefs and disbeliefs, so that from the platform the independent voter, the salvation of all political divisions, can form his judgement.

The action of the republican state convention at Santa Fe was a surprise to the state, even though it was known that the same old bosses, once repudiated by the people, were to be in control of that gathering, and those bosses, with little or no regard for intelligent public opinion, were likely to do almost anything to forward their own plans.

The first surprise came with the nomination of Mr. Hernandez for congress, a nice, polite gentleman without one single qualification for the position. The candidate is not fitted for congress either by experience, education or inclination, and his nomination was the result of two elements working along different lines. One republican faction, headed by Catron, did not desire a winning nomination made, because a winner against Ferguson this year would be the logical republican candidate for senator two years from now, and Catron wants to be that candidate. Another faction was insisting upon the nomination of a Spanish-American for one of the offices, and as Williams made an awful lot of noise about delivering a solid railroad vote in case he was nominated, the bosses were afraid to throw him over. As the most satisfactory compromise they made the nominations they did, and have a ticket unsatisfactory even to themselves.

The greatest surprise came in the platform, however. For the first time in American politics, so far as the writer knows, a great political party openly, and in its declaration of principles, becomes the champion of those politicians who have proved themselves false to their trusts by becoming defaultera with the public funds. The platform "condemns" Governor McDonald for his "offensive and pernicious" activities in investigating the shortages of county officials, and trying to collect the money due the tax payers from them. There is no other construction possible, particularly as the public records show where the "hurting" is.

In his report to the legislature, dated January 15, 1913, Governor McDonald mentions four counties in which officials were found to be short, and he shows that thousands of dollars are still due to the tax payers.

It may be said that the records of the state show that the officials of a number of counties were short, in some cases through carelessness, in some cases through carelessness, and in some cases through ignorance of the law. In these counties the shortages and irregularities run from a few hundreds to many thousands of dollars, and were not mentioned in the report.

The people of New Mexico now have before them the candidates of a political party which has declared itself as opposed to the collection of the people's money from the politicians who write its principles, or who undoubtedly influence the writing. Never before in American history has a political party so brazenly defied public decency and so insulted American suffrage by an open declaration of hostility to the officials of an opposition party for their attempts to protect the tax payers from the raids of those who are willing to acquire their money unlawfully while acting as the sworn representatives of the people.

Watch the voters of New Mexico repudiate that platform.

Will Sing "Star-Spangled Banner"

By direction of the State Superintendent, Alvan N. White, the schools throughout the state will, on Monday, the 14th, sing the "Star-Spangled Banner," in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of its composition. The Carrizozo public school will sing this song at high noon on the day and date mentioned above, and the public is cordially invited to be present. At the request of Superintendent McCurdy we herewith present the words of the song:

Oh, say can you see by the dawn's early light
What so proudly we hail'd at the twilight's gleaming?
Whose broad stripes and bright stars thru the perilous fight,
O'er the ramparts we watch'd were so gallantly streaming?
And the rockets' red glare, the bombs bursting in air,
Gave proof thru the night that our flag was still there,
Oh! say does that star-spangled banner yet wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave?

On the shore djnly seen thru' the mist of the deep,
Where the foe's haughty host in dread silence reposes,
What is that which the breeze, o'er the towering steep,
As it fitfully blows, half conceals half discloses?
Now it catches the gleam of the morning's first beam,
In full glory reflected, now shines on the stream,
'Tis the star spangled banner, O long may it wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave.

Oh! thus be it ever when freemen shall stand
Between their loved homes and the war's desolation,
Blest with vict'ry and peace may the heav'n rescued land
Praise the pow'r that hath made and preserved us a nation!
Then conquer we must, when our cause it is just,
And this be our motto "In God is our trust."
And the star spangled banner, in triumph shall wave
O'er the land of the free, and the home of the brave.

The indications now, however, are that Germany has shot her bolt as an aggressor, and that her fighting in the future will largely be on the defensive. The allies on the west are being constantly reinforced—British and Russian troops are pouring into Belgium, and whatever superiority in numbers that was possessed by Germany at first has been over- come. Then, again, the Russian Bear is making such unexpected headway in the east—his numbers are almost beyond enumeration, and Austria has proven such a poor ally—that Germany will, if sober judgments are not at fault, find her position hard to main- tain, even on the defensive.

No additional nations have be- come involved during the past week, although a declaration by Turkey is expected at any time. If Turkey enters the contest, on the side of Germany, it will mean that the other Balkan states not now at war will line up on the side of the allies; and quite likely also Italy. In other words, all Europe seems against Germany, just as it was against France one hundred years ago. There can hardly be a doubt as to the result.

Results are What Tell

There is much food for thought in the following paragraphs tak- en from a speech delivered by Henry J. Allen, the brilliant progressive of the state of Kan- sas, at the opening of his party's campaign at Kansas City, Kan- sas. He said:
"The only argument that is made for amalgamation of the young man's untimely death.

For Fall Field Festival

A BIG mass meeting was held in the Nye-Osborn of- fice Wednesday night, having been called by A. J. Rolland, president of the Commercial Club. The purpose of the meeting was to ascertain whether or not Carrizozo should follow its usual custom of having field days, or a fall festival, and if so to ar- range for it. It was unanimously decided to have a program covering two days, the dates selected be- ing Oct 2nd and 3rd.

A motion was adopted authorizing the chair to appoint an executive committee of four. The chair to be an ex-officio member thereof and chairman of the committee. This Committee was also authorized to prepare a list of Com- mittees and present same to the meeting. The committee retired for ten minutes after which the following report of committees, which was duly adopted:

Oscuro

Mrs. Monroe of Portales, New Mexico, has arrived and will teach school the coming year. Mrs. Blaney being here also in her former position.

The new addition to the School house is completed and is a big improvement. Oscuro has one of the best school houses for the size of the place in the state.

H. H. Huffmam, C. W. Fowler and C. D. Stevens of El Paso spent Sunday here and purchased land near the town. They expect to do extensive improving soon.

Elias G. Raffety spent the last two weeks here on business and returned to El Paso Thursday. While here he made proof on his land holdings near town.

Miss Trixie Harris and Mr. H. S. Sheffield were guests at the Crews homes over Sunday driving over from Three Rivers. On Monday the Crews family returned to Three Rivers with them.

M. Sayers Crockett and family have moved back here from their ranch in order that the children may attend school.

Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Nabours, Jr. were here Wednesday with a load of fruit and on land business. Re- turning to their home at White Mountain the same day.

A local telephone line from Carrizozo to White Mountains is being planned and would be a big ad- vantage.

A community dance will be held at the new rooms of the school building on Saturday evening, and a splendid time is anticipated. Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Harvey were the guests of Dr. and Mrs. Robert Blaney on Sunday. Both families motored down from Carrizozo in the morning.

Considerable rain has fallen the past week in this vicinity.

Elias G. Raffety is preparing to set out forty acres more orchard at once.

Mrs. Adelee Caffee has been spending a few days in Carrizozo the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Puresley have left for El Paso, where Mr. Puresley is engaged in business. Earl Black left for Highroll this week to join the U. S. Surveyors, who will return here at an early date, to complete surveys of townships in this vicinity.

George Morris and family are moving into town so as to be close to school.

Through Eugene Jones, of this place, the State Corporation Commission obtained permission of the E. P. & S. W. to allow settlers free use of railroad ties, and many wagons are busy haul- ing the old ties.

Vacant houses are scarcer in Carrizozo than non-combatants in Germany. The town contin- ues to build and yet the demand grows.

Anticipated Opening of School

The local school was formally opened Tuesday morning with suitable exercises in the auditorium. The attendance, espe- cially in the High School, has exceeded all expectations, and several more will enroll before next week, when a list of pupils in the High School will be pub- lished in these columns. Six more new desks for the High School department as the thirty- which have just been installed proved insufficient to take care of the present number. In every room the large attendance has made it necessary to bring into service every seat available. The building has been the object of thorough renovation and the freshly oiled floors add greatly to the comfort of all concerned. The general public is invited to visit the school at any time and see the work in progress, for only then can the scope and nature of the course of study be properly appreciated.

The European War

LITTLE is now in the Euro- pean war the past week, ex- cept changes in position of the armies and the reported reverses of the German army near Paris. Russia continues her victorious action against Austria, having added an additional victory to those already won over the Aus- trian troops. The Austrian army is reported to be so badly demor- alized that it is considered no longer formidable to the Russian invasion.

The almost continuous success of the German army in the west, operating against French, Bel- gian and English troops, has ap- parently run its course. The German army near Paris met with a very serious reverse the 8th, and were compelled to retreat. The German Imperial Guard, which was commanded by the Crown Prince, was the heaviest sufferer

SCIENCE AND INVENTION

FOR PRESERVING HAILSTONES

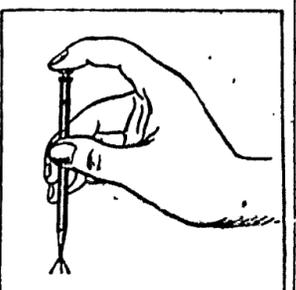

Maria Weinberg of the Technological Institute of Tomsk Has Perfected a Simple Method.

The precise manner in which hailstones are formed is not yet known, partly because their existence is so ephemeral that it is difficult to make prolonged and detailed study of their peculiarities. To overcome this difficulty, Maria Weinberg of the Technological Institute of Tomsk has contrived a method of preserving hailstones indefinitely by immersing them in a mixture of equal parts of benzol and toluol, which possesses a density nearly equal to that of the ice. In this way he has succeeded in keeping them intact for many months. From these preserved hailstones, with proper refrigerating precautions, microscopic sections can be made for examination in the laboratory, and even magnified projections of the sections can be thrown upon a screen by means of a polarizing microscope and a lantern. Herr Weinberg says that hailstones can be preserved in any viscous liquid, like vasoline or castor oil, whose density very nearly equals theirs.

USEFUL TOOL FOR JEWELERS

Nippers Invented by a German Genius Will Handle the Smallest of Jewels.

Few trades, if any, require greater precision and nimbleness in the fingers than the jeweler's. In watch-making, and repairing in particular, a man has to handle infinitesimal jewels that he would surely fumble if he had not some tool to pick them up with. There are pincers, of course, but it is easy to drop a jewel out of the ordinary kind. Accordingly, a genius in Germany, where watch-making is a fine art, devised a pair of nippers that would appear to be just what is needed in this work. A tube that tapers at the bottom has a plunger running through it and at the bottom of the plunger are three paws, operated by a spring. A knob at the top is used to push the plunger out and the spring draws it back again.

Nippers for Jewelers. When the plunger is pushed out at the bottom of the tube the jaws spread so they will engage a jewel. When the pressure is released and the spring draws the jaws back they hold the jewel firmly for inspection.

WALKING ON WATER SURFACE

German Inventor Patents Collapsible Floats Which Are Driven by Screw Propellers.

With one of these floats, recently patented by a German inventor and which are shown in the illustration, on each foot, a man is supposed to be able to walk upon water. Each float is built of a series of hoops connected by hinged rods so that the entire frame is collapsible. A ballast tank beneath the foot keeps the float right side up and affords stability. The floats are driven by screw propellers.

Shoes for Walking on Water. Which get their power from a number of flaps protruding from the bottoms at the soles.

Silver-Plate Dead Bodies.

A German professor has invented a process of silver-plating dead bodies, so as to convert them into metallic images of the individuals as they were when in life. Otoplasts can be used if the relatives can afford it.

Eradication of Earth's Surface.

Investigation by the geological survey of the erosion of numerous mountain peaks of the United States shows that the surface of the country is being worn away at a rate of about an inch in 100 years.

HOW TO DISCOVER NEW GERMS

Diphtheria, Typhoid, Dysentery and Other Bacilli Easily Identified on Glycerinated Potatoes.

(By LEONARD KEENE HIRSCHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D., Johns Hopkins.) Few conundrums are more mysterious to most people than the poser, "How do doctors discover germs?" Yet the query is easily answered. It is very easy to discover a new germ. The only thing necessary is to know where the mischievous imp lurks. This is not irony—it is the truth. If you "suspect" wisely but not too well, all you do is to capture a thumbnail full of tears; mucous scabs, crusts, pus, etc., and water. Then you drop the stuff in a quart of parboiled, sterilized water and take 15 drops of this diluted and well-shaken mixture for planting purposes. If there are a myriad of vegetating microbes in this 15 drops, known or unknown, you cannot find them even with your most powerful microscope, because they are as one grain of sand in the Pacific ocean. To find them and identify them the hidden germs must be in a garden grow. That is to say the 15 drops of water must be planted upon fertile, germ-growing soil.

Such a soil has until the present discovery usually been gelatin, beef tea, bananas, Iceland moss, blood-serum, milk and plain potatoes.

Dr. M. R. Smitrow of New Haven, Conn., now offers you a much easier way to plant, produce and capture your wary microbe. To isolate your bacterium, sterilized and smeared with glycerine, surpass all of the thousand and one other germ traps.

He drives home his lesson by showing that certain supposedly identical disease producers, such as the bacillus that causes human glanders, can be shown to be different from five other micro-parasites with which it is apt to be confused, when grown upon glycerinated potatoes.

The diphtheria, typhoid, dysentery and other bacilli are visible all alike on plain potatoes, but easily identified as distinct upon glycerinated potatoes.

Discovery of Vulcan.

Vulcan, an alleged planet, was discovered in 1850, only to be effectively obliterated from the planetary system 60 years later. Leverrier, who acted as godfather to the new addition, calculated a path and found that the planet revolved around the sun in about twenty days. Yet other observers failed ever to see the planet and now Professor Campbell announces that the eclipse observations of recent years prove almost conclusively that the existence of such a body is a practical impossibility.

NOTES OF SCIENCE AND INVENTION

Folding screen panels, to inclose any bed and exclude insects, have been patented.

A recently patented screw has a slot along its length to prevent it working loose in wood.

A combined parcel carrier and folding stand, which may be attached to any bicycle, has been patented.

Jacks have been invented to relieve the tires of motor fire apparatus from pressure while standing idle.

Rockets to be fired from the ground to destroy aeroplanes are a French invention for which great accuracy is claimed.

A Virginia inventor has brought out a motor-driven plow from which the motor can be removed for other work about a farm.

French army officers are experimenting with an armored aeroplane that carries a machine gun mounted above the motor.

For covering a milk bottle after the paper cap has been removed there has been invented a closely fitting porcelain stopper.

By introducing minute particles of zinc into the tissues of powerful electric currents a Philadelphia surgeon cures cancer and has effected many notable cures.

According to an Italian physician, new cases of intertrigo of the nervous centers, producing a disease that, if not cured, may lead to paraplegia and even dementia.

NEW LINGERIE COMING

FULLER SKIRTS AND DRAPERIES WILL NECESSITATE CHANGE.

Return to Old-Time Follies and Folds May Be Looked Upon as Sure—How Reign of Tight Skirts Has Done Good.

By MARY DEAN. The amount of underwear worn by a fashionably dressed woman at any one time has, during the last two seasons, diminished almost to a negligible quantity, but the designers have done their best with the handkerchief and have produced undergarments that are dainty and beautiful.

Corset Cover for Evening Dress. Taught lessons that will probably linger.

Even when it is no longer necessary that not a crease or fold in underwear shall show through a clinging, scant frock, the value of carefully fitted underwear may still be appreciated. Women have learned how to do away with clumsy and unnecessary fullness around waist and hips. Charming combination garments have been evolved which are in no way extreme.

For the moment the underskirt adapted to the narrow skirt still holds sway. Only in the shops of the fashionable connoisseurs does one hear much talk of coming innovations in undergarments.

For wear over the corsets there are combinations of many types. Some are cut in one without-overtone heading waistband, and have a corset cover without fullness, continuing in culotte, or comparatively close-fitting drawers, which, instead of being open and flowing at the bottom, are drawn closely to the legs above or below the knee by ribbon.

These are made of lingerie materials, in light-weight wash crepe, and in the soft Italian silk, and are embellished by hand embroidery and flat insets of lace, but have no sign of frill, save, perhaps, a narrow soft lace edging the top and armholes and culotte ends.

Other combinations have the one-piece cut, but the drawers are not drawn in at the bottom, and they are wider throughout their length than the culottes. Even those are, however, likely to finish with flat trimming at the bottom instead of with the old-time frill, and to have but little lace.

There are still other models called "Fantolettes" which have been in evidence for a few months past. These were designed for wear with the dance

DAINTY COMBING SACQUE TO MAKE PEARL BEAD BOWS

In Square Form, of White and Colored Batiste—Simple Directions for Its Construction.

A dainty combing sacque that can be easily and quickly made is in the form of a square, with a small circle cut out at the center. Materials required for it are a yard of white batiste and three-fourths of a yard of colored batiste. Cut a 36-inch square from the white batiste. Cut a piece out for the back. Make a slit from the neck to the end of one corner, this to serve as the opening in the front. This leaves a point coming directly down the back. Take the colored batiste and divide into strips three and a half inches wide. Join the strips together and sew around the edges of the sacque, leaving the neck and top free. Turn back the two remaining corners to form sleeves, leaving the point over on the outside, and fasten with a tassel at the ribbon. Or leave without tassel, as in the illustration.

To Keep Vests Fresh. When the vest gets sticky and sticky sewed a rolling pin which has first been covered very lightly with flannel and then with a piece of sticky frocks, which, in order to have free movement when dancing, were slit at the side of back. These pantelettes are usually made of crepe de chine and trimmed at the bottom with deep frills of lace or plaited frills of the crepe de chine. The crepe de chine upper part reaches to well below the knee and fits rather snugly to the plain upper part when attached to the frills of lace, net or crepe de chine, which extend to the ankle.

Two-Leather Pump for Summer.

Long, low and rakish—as the seamen say, "built like a yacht"—is the graceful pump of this summer. The slender, narrow toe, long vamp and the moderately high heel, also slender in line, emphasize the aristocratic and Patricia effect of the 1914 woman's foot which seems to have little kin with the stubby, short-toed foot of a season or two ago. And the very smartest pumps this year are built of two leathers, one varnished and black and the other has the soft, dull surface of white kid or buckskin. Combinations of bronzo kid and buckskin are also seen, but the smartest pump shows leather and snow white buckskin or kid.

For wear with simple morning dresses of dimly or flowered voile, the all white buckskin pump is favored—but the white buckskin buttoned boot—but with formal afternoon costumes the two-leather pump is by far the smartest.

Plaid Bathing Suits.

Not to be outdone by other styles and fashions, those that govern bathing attire have taken cognizance of Roman stripes and Scotch plaids. And many of the new caps show visors of stripes or plaids. Some of the new bathing suits, too, are trimmed with girdles and waistcoats of stripes or plaids.

TO MAKE PEARL BEAD BOWS

Ornament Just Now So Fashionable Is Easily Within the Reach of Any Clever Girl.

To make these double bows, which sell in the shops from $1.00 up, requires two strings of small pearl beads, costing 15 cents a string; some fine wire, costing five cents a spool, and some malline, costing five or ten cents. Sitting about one hundred beads on a piece of wire, leaving some free-wire at each end. Divide the string into 50 beads each and take the free ends to the middle and wind them around, thus forming two loops. The inside loops are made in the same way, with the exception that it only takes 25 beads. The piece which goes over the center and holds the beads together is made of two or three strings of beads of about five each. These are sewed to a small piece of cloth to give it body, and also that you may sew it to your bow of malline. These bows are very effective also, of black jet beads on black malline or ribbon. The larger the beads are the faster it takes.

Children's White Shoes.

When buying white shoes for little children it is much better to get shoes made of white cowhide leather rather than those of kid. The former are easily cleaned by simply washing off with a damp cloth and a little white soap, and require no other dressing. If wiped off after each wearing, they can be kept clean and white with very little trouble, and they wear better than the kid, and are no higher in price.

SPICED HAM TO SERVE COLD

Especially Good for Luncheons, Teas, or Suppers During the Hot Months of Summer.

A recipe used in a southern family for many years is as follows: Select a ham weighing from 7 to 9 pounds, and soak in cold water from 12 to 24 hours. The butcher will probably be the best judge as to the length of time, because some hams are made much saltier in the curing than others. He will know by experience in buying from different curers. When ready to cook scrape the outside, scrub with a clean brush and rinse. There must be nothing left upon the meat, the odor of which must be absorbed in cooking.

Put into a ham boiler or large kettle, cover with cold water and place over the fire.

When it begins to boil add 12 cloves, one bay leaf, 12 pepper corns, two blades of mace, one carrot, one turnip and one quart of cider. Take off the scum as it arises, and when the pot boils push it back where it will only simmer. Otherwise the ham will be hard instead of being juicy and tender. About 25 minutes to the pound should be allowed. When cooked let the ham remain in the water until lukewarm, and in the meantime prepare a mixture of one cup of rolled bread crumbs, a teaspoonful of dry mustard, two teaspoonfuls of brown sugar, one beaten egg, and enough cider to make a paste. Remove the skin from the ham and spread with the mixture. Dot with cloves and bake in the oven until a rich brown.

This is delicious cold for luncheons, or served hot a sauce accompanies it, made as follows:

Put in a small saucepan a level teaspoonful each of flour and butter. When it is melted add a cupful of the stock the ham was boiled in. Cook this for 10 minutes; then pour in a cupful of cider. Stir well, bring to a boil, strain, and serve.

WHEN FRUIT IS PLENTIFUL

Two Delicious Concoctions, One for Breakfast and One for After-Dinner Dessert.

Take three eggs, two tablespoonfuls of cream, two ounces of sugar, one ounce of butter and six peaches. Beat up the white of one and the yolks of three eggs with half of the sugar and the cream. Whisk up the other two egg whites and beat lightly into the mixture.

Then melt the butter in a small frying pan and let it get very hot. Pour in the beaten eggs and stir until all is cooked, taking care that the mixture does not become lumpy. Peel and chop the peaches and dust with the sugar. Put them in the middle of the omelette and fold over the sides.

For fruit bouillon take one quart of any small ripe fruit, which should be put in a stewpan with about four cups of cold water. Allow it to simmer until soft and then rub the fruit through a wire sieve and return the juice to the stewpan, and when boiling hot thicken with a tablespoonful of corn flour. After taking it from the fire add a glass of sherry and leave it to chill. Serve in bouillon cups with a spoonful of crushed ice and whipped cream.

Sheep-Tongues With Cabbage Lettuce.

The tongues are first of all to be bruised. Take a dozen and a half good cabbage lettuce, wash them very clean and blanch them; when they are cold and you have squeezed all the water out of them, open them in two, take off the stalks, powder a little salt and pepper over the lettuce, shut them and give them a good form; place them in stevpan and surround with layers of bacon; moisten with a little brine of anything to give them a good taste; otherwise take the pot-top with a little froth and salt; when the lettuce are quite done drain them and squeeze them in a cloth to extract the grease; dish them in rosettes, first a tongue, then a lettuce, and so on successively; put a large tongue in the center to improve the look of the rosette.

Your Money's Worth.

If you want to get your money's worth when using the oven of the gas range, place a combination of articles to cook at one time. When you wish to roast a small piece of meat (four or five pounds), you have room for at least two other dishes and shelf space for baking potatoes around the small roasting pan. Dried fruit already soaked is delicious baked. The combination when baking might be roast meat, potatoes, bread, dried prunes or apricots, or baked apple or brown betty.

To Remove Ink Spots.

To remove ink spots on clothing, if table salt is applied immediately, before putting on anything else, every particle of the ink will be absorbed, and also that you may sew it to your bow of malline. These bows are very effective also, of black jet beads on black malline or ribbon. The larger the beads are the faster it takes.

Egg & Bismark.

Strain a handful of cooked French peas through a sieve mixed well with a tablespoonful of thick hollandaise and ornament two poached eggs on toast cut in rounds (one egg on one round) with this sauce. Serve on individual plates. This makes two portions.

To Prevent Tea Stains.

To prevent tea from staining a cloth if spread, an excellent way is to put a lump of sugar in the teapot when making the tea.

ROAD BUILDING

HEAVY, SHORT ROAD ROLLER

Useful Improvement May Be Constructed by Using Worn-Out Mowing Machine and Concrete.

Perhaps you have a grader of some sort and road drag, but you need a heavy short roller. They cost too much to buy, so make one this way. Procure an old worn-out mowing machine, any make, writes W. A. Dillon in Farmers' Mail and Breeder. Take off or break off all the parts that stick out past the wheels. Smooth off a bit of hard ground; now dig a small hole just large enough for the hub. Set the machine up on one end, put a jacket of galvanized sheet iron around the wheels, secure it at short intervals with small stove bolts and make it fit neat and straight. Now fill the jacket with the best fine concrete. Tamp it well and allow it to stand until the concrete is well set. Remove the jacket; keep the roller shaded and spray it for eight or ten days.

Have the blacksmith put an iron frame on this roller. Heavy tire iron will do, using the hubs for splines. When a strong tongue is added you will have as good a roller as anybody; one that will last a life time and will cost but little. Save the jacket to make more rollers with.

When your road is graded run the roller down the center, instead of on the side, as now. Take two disk harrows the same number of disks and if possible the same kind. Turn the disk on the harrows so they will throw the dirt toward each other when placed side by side. Now set them close together side by side in the middle of the road to be worked. Take a light log chain and fasten the harrows together. Put a team of each harrow and drive down the road to be worked. Turn around; let out the chain a couple of feet; go back. Repeat the operation a number of times. You would be surprised how much dirt the disk harrow will cut up and how much it will move toward the center. Finish with drag of grader. Then roll the center and you will have a good road at small cost.

We have organized a country club here and given each member a piece of road to drag, near his home. We elected a drag boss so when it is just right to drag the boss calls all the members and in about two hours we have all the roads in the district dragged. We have had very bad weather ever since organizing, but the plan appears to work well.

ROAD SCRAPER EASILY MADE

Two-inch Planking, Securely Bolted Together, Will Furnish Most Useful Farm Implement.

There are many jobs upon the highways and farms that require a rough type of use of a scraper, yet are not important enough to require the purchase of one. The scraper shown in illustration may be constructed of two-inch thick planking, securely bolted together, and also reinforced with angle irons, to make the joints more secure against the strain. The blade or cutting surface is made of an old saw blade, bolted to the box as shown in illustration. The horses are attached by a chain fastened to two iron hooks, one upon each side of the scraper. With two handles it is complete and ready to save many times its cost in small filling jobs.

EVERY FARMER SHOULD HELP

Every Day's Work Makes Roads Better if Done Intelligently—Merchants Aid in Work.

The man who farms should begrudge the time he spends in grading, dragging and ditching the highways. He must use them twelve months in the year. Every day's work makes them a little better if the work is done intelligently. In many localities the merchants have aided in the work of road betterment, and it seems ridiculous that their efforts should be distributed by the farmers. Good roads associations in every county will eventually increase the value of all farming land.

Selection of Cows.

Extreme care is necessary in selecting cows. For so much of the milk is feeding and breeding will stimulate a profit from a truly good cow. A good dairy cow is one with a large capacity for using food, shows the maintenance requirement and one that uses this food for milk production. In determining the most desirable breed, one must consult his own blood and station first. The man who uses a Holstein cow and ditches a Jersey will be more successful with the Holstein.

Greatest Ball Game of The Season
Fats vs. Leans

(By one of the fats)
"Nobody loves a fat man". But we will make those skinny, lean, lank, hungry, would-be ball players like us next Sunday.

Some of those lean fellows are so thin they have to stand twice in the same place to make a shadow; and to think they have the nerve to incite our good nature to dare, threaten and antagonize us till rather than have personal battle with them we have agreed to settle our difficulties by the National game route of baseball.

And who would think Joe Adams, George Olney or Syl Anderson ever won any fame or wore medals for meritorious service performed on a ball lot? Just wait till Ed. Monroe, John Baird, or Doc Tice walk up to that scrawny Shorty, who claims to be a pitcher, and they will knock that ball down to Johnsons. Of course, they will have to hit it hard, because they can't run as fast as Harry Johnson or Billie Dingwall.

Then do show you just how good-natured we are after we win this game—no we ain't going to be hoggish, we are going to give it to the Carrizozo baseball club, which is a little in arrears. No, we don't want the money; we just want to show those lean guys we are not too fat yet to play baseball.

We quote below what some of the leans are saying:

For instance George Olney says: "We'll show up some of those regular ball players, if they will give us a chance, and teach them some inside baseball."

And Shorty Dawson, the fattest lean man on the lean team, who is going to do the delivery stunt for the leans, says: "I sure to be sorry for you guys when you get through with us". Now honest, these kind of remarks would make any good-natured fellow sore.

Then old Joe Dick, he says: "I am sure going to see us win, if I got to use my gun, and I sure got her on".

Now us fat fellows, we ain't saying just exactly what we are going to do to them lean fellows, 'cause we've a big surprise for the crowd. But you are going to see some good old ball players in action, with lots of fun and mirth.

Honest, we wouldn't miss that game for half of Lincoln county. The following named officials will probably officiate:

His Umps, Major Campbell, John Haley or Frank Mudge; official score keepers, Frank Gurney, A. Arrington and Walker Hyde.

The fat men, as they call us, won't publish their lineup now, because we have two or three dark horses, and if we told you who it was those lean fellows might get sore and not play us.

But if you come out Sunday you are sure going to see some ball game.

Admission 25c to all.

Bird-man At State Fair

AS part of the two exhibitions which he will give daily during the coming state fair at Albuquerque, October 5 to 10, Roy Francis, the famous American aviator, will give a graphic illustration of the deadly part the aircraft of the warring European nations are taking in the great conflict. Francis is reputed the most skillful bomb thrower among American aviators, having excelled even the best of the army aviators. He will seek, from varying heights to set fire to a light frame shack which will be set on the fair grounds enclosure and from a seat in the grandstand visitors to the fair can get a thrilling sense of how the terror stricken and defenseless cities of Europe must view the attacks of the airman. Francis this year has a machine which laughs at altitudes and in which he is giving wonderful exhibitions of prowess as a master of air tricks and

Kansas City Flooded

Kansas city, Sept. 8.—As a result of the greatest rainstorm ever experienced here more than 3,000 homes have been flooded and hundreds of persons driven into the streets.

Despite the fact that the waters are receding, there is much danger from collapsing buildings. The loss is estimated at $1,500,000.

The flood already has cost three lives. Two men were killed when they came in contact with a broken trolley wire and a woman was drowned when the waters engulfed her home.

Overflowing streams flooded the Country club district, the south side, the east and west bottoms, Sheffield and other sections. The greatest damage was done in the southwestern part of the city and in Rosedale, Kan., a suburb, where the water stood 23 feet deep in places.

Turkey creek, a drainage stream, always treacherous, was a harmless thread of murky water when the people who live in the valley went to bed last night. Then came rain which continued ten hours and fifty minutes and was 6.44 inches.

Turkey creek rose until it was a mile wide. The water crept up the streets of Rosedale and into homes and the city hall. The water rose so rapidly that many were not awoken until it was washing under their beds. Mill creek, a small stream flowing through the Country club district, an exclusive residence section, rose and carried away outbuildings, motor cars and other vehicles. In the eastern part of the city Mount Washington cemetery was inundated. The blue river rose 15 feet in a few hours and washed away much of the property belonging to manufacturers near Sheffield and Centropolis.

Jicarilla

Mrs. Mary Campbell died Saturday night at her home here. Every attention was given her that would lighten the burden of suffering, but death was the only assuager. To her brother here and friends in Kansas we tender our sympathy.

Mrs. Lena Grambles, of Carrizozo, was ministering as nurse during the last week of Mrs. Campbell's illness.

There was a man from the Yellow Jacket Mine Company in camp to buy draft mules. We did not learn of the result.

Andrew McBrayer returned from the Nogal country a few days ago to visit home folks.

M. A. Price is improving his place here, by enclosing it with a substantial fence.

Mrs. Burnett left for Ancho to begin her school work the first.

Ted and J. C. Reasoner drove out Sunday for the benefit of a brief outing among the sylvan dells of Jicarilla.

Mrs. E. E. Wilson and children are visiting in camp for a few days.

The people on the east side are agitating among themselves the feasibility of starting a school. It is too far for them to patronize the Jicarilla school, and the idea appeals to them as almost a necessary move.

A. H. Norton is "laid up" the last week with a sprained back from heavy work.

The Hedges-Wischar discovery in the "Doctor" claim is still very good. It is one of the strange things how placer gold collects under bed rock at the depth of twenty feet, but it is a fact nevertheless in this instance, and continues very promising.

Johnnie Montoya is out with a mower cutting some of the fine grass for hay.

Dr. Walker was out from Carrizozo a few days ago on a professional visit.

Ed Fox is moving his mining machinery to the coal mine, near Carrizozo, we hear, but can not vouch for the rumor, that he has been an interest in that property and will shortly move his residence to that locality.

Miss Edith Tickner passed through on her way to the east side, to assume her school duties at Rabenton, a week ago.

A daughter of Mr. Carabajal is very sick at the ranch with typhoid fever.

It is a wicked thing to do, making politicians pay back the taxpayers' money, and the aggrieved politicians got in their work on the Governor at their Santa Fe convention. Now, we will soon see what the voters are going to do to the aggrieved politicians.

The indications are that one Elisego Baca, of Bernalillo county, has not been suppressed. Elisego is now in a position to make real grief for the political bosses, and he is just as likely to do it as not in fact, just a little more likely to do it.

Is it possible that Mr. Hernandez, candidate for congress on the republican ticket, found any of the alleged activities of the governor in hunting up county shortages "offensive"? Perhaps some perniciously active official has published, or caused to be published, false reports of shortages? Let us hear from the candidate.

According to the official records some of the defaulting county officials have paid up, and others have not. It is more than probable that those who have not paid expect protection of some kind, and we suggest to those who have paid that if the republicans win at the next state election they might sue the state and recover. There is no use in being a politician for what there is in it unless there is something in it, and after reading the republican platform we are convinced that there are gentlemen in that party who are there for what they can get.

The republicans of New Mexico want an angel, and they want that angel quickly. An angel for political purposes, is a gentleman with a trusting disposition, a long and deep pocketbook and a generous disposition. The progressives have had an angel for these many months; and with the assistance of the angel several gentlemen experienced in political ways have built a party from a small pebble, and have not missed many meals while they were doing it. The funds are not flowing into the republican treasury this year. The producers did not nominate Mr. Hernandez to win.

There are politicians in New Mexico who must cease talking of Bull Andrews and his disreputable political methods. In the days of Quay Pennsylvania republicans did many things of which the party may well be ashamed, but the politicians responsible for the worst in that state never had the political hardihood to disregard the public decency of the state and denounce officials for making politicians pay back the people's money. Their party workers got away with public money, all right, but if they got caught and had to pay it back there was no "condemns" in the party platform, no matter how offensive and pernicious the politicians caught with the goods believed the acts of the officials to be. Even Pennsylvania voters would not stand for that, and Andrews would not want to run on that kind of platform in New Mexico, because he knows better.

It is now plain that the republican bosses nominated Mr. Hernandez for trading purposes, only, and that they propose to trade him liberally, if the opportunity offers, in all doubtful legislative districts. Such a purpose indicated a desperate situation for the republicans, who, for reasons fully known to themselves, closely guessed at by the outsiders, but not commented upon to any extent because of the libel law as it is applied, consider it more important to them to control the lower house of the legislature to the extent of being able to pass bills over the executive veto. It is not libel to say that men who will deliberately sacrifice political principle for the advancement of their local schemes mean no good to the people. It is best to send enough democrats to the legislature to prevent any coarse work upon the part of the gentlemen who have already been repudiated by the voters of New Mexico.

Do you know the fine points of your own baby? If not enter him or her in the great state fair baby show, October 5 to 10. The entry cards are now being distributed and may be had by addressing Mrs. George S. Klock, or Mrs. John W. Wilson, Albuquerque, N. M. Your baby may win one or more of the big cash prizes or handsome premiums; and of special value to every mother will be the report on the physical condition of each child, made by a committee of famous physicians who have made a special study of child life.

President Made Good

(Albuquerque Morning Journal)

There is not a section of this country where admiration for the president has not greatly increased since the outbreak of the European war. On every hand are heard expressions of gratefulness that there is in the White House a man of the moral stamina and the mental caliber of Woodrow Wilson. In his acts and in his outspoken sentiments he has sensed the American attitude toward stricken Europe with precise accuracy.

And these evidences of a general confidence in the president's judgment and calmness are not mere surface indications of a desire to back the government at a time like the present; they are not alone temporary proofs of American patriotism in an hour of stress; they are an acknowledgment, to use a popular phrase, that Wilson has made good, that he has filled the bill.

He alone has the credit for the United States not being engaged in war with Mexico at this time. The country now understands something of the enormous advantages that have come to us because we are at peace.

If for no other reason, and there are plenty of others, the voters of New Mexico are going to send to congress again a man who will act in harmony with the president in his efforts to save this nation from a catastrophe.

Any man who votes for either Hernandez or Francis C. Wilson for congress votes to condemn the peace policy of the president. He was condemned by both the republican and progressive conventions. It is up to the voters to sustain him at the ballot box as they are sustaining him in their public and private opinions.

Large Forest Reserve Receipts

A bulletin has just been issued by the agricultural Department, from the Forest Service, which shows the net receipts from National Forest in Arizona and New Mexico during the fiscal year to have been $429,188.84. Of this amount the schools and roads in the two states received twenty-five per cent, and an additional ten per cent for roads within the National Forests. The amounts to each state are not given but Arizona is now to have received the larger sum.

WOMAN WEAK AND NERVOUS

Find Health in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Creston, Iowa.—"I suffered with female troubles from the time I came into womanhood until I had taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I would have paid if I overworked or lifted anything heavy, and I would be so weak and nervous and in so much misery that I would be prostrated. A friend told me what your medicine had done for her and I tried it. It made me strong and healthy and our home is now happy with a baby boy. I am very glad that I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and to all I can recommend it."—Mrs. A. E. BORGAM, 604 E. Howard Street, Creston, Iowa.

Roots and Herbs are used annually in the manufacture of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which is known from ocean to ocean as the standard remedy for female ills.

For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the diseases of women. Merit alone could have stood this test of time.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (Incorporated) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman, and held in strict confidence.

There's one good thing about living in these times. We don't have any highwaymen.

That's true. But my woman is just as bad or worse. He's a low-weight man.

To believe that a task is impossible is to make it so.

Big Stone Hounded Off Irishman, but Killed Polander, Who "Couldn't Stand Much."

Representative Michael E. Conroy of New York used to be employed in the coal mines of Pennsylvania. One morning as he was going to work he met another Irishman all fixed up in his Sunday clothes.

"What's wrong?" asked Conroy.

"Nothin' wrong," answered the other laborer.

"But what's happened?"

"Nothin' happened. A man's got to show some respect for the dead."

"What dead?"

"Oh, that Polander I worked with died yesterday."

"What did he die of?"

"A rock fell and hit him."

"You don't say! How big a rock was it?"

"Oh, three or four tons, maybe. Them Polanders can't stand much. I purty near got hurt myself yesterday."

"How was that?"

"The rock that killed the Polander hit me first, but luckily it bounced off."

Rather Effeminate.

Congressman Peter J. Dooley of New York smiled the other evening when reference was made to effeminate ways.

Some time ago the Smiths attended a reception where they met a man named Brown. On the way home, while exchanging opinions of the guests, Brown was mentioned.

"Speaking of that man Brown," vigorously remarked Smith, "he certainly has an effeminate way of talking."

"Why, John," was the wondering rejoinder of Mrs. Smith, "how can you say that? He certainly has a very loud and masculine voice!"

"Yes, I know he has," explained Smith, "but what I mean is that he talks all the time."—Philadelphia Telegraph.

Heartless.

Absorbed in her own sweet thoughts Miranda wandered through the meadow, coyly aware that in the distance her lover awaited her coming.

The sun just popped off this earth as Miranda was clasped in her lover's Sandow embrace.

"It has been the longest day in the year," he whispered ardently as he held her still closer.

How perfectly sweet of him, thought Miranda, as she closed her eyes in an ecstasy of happiness.

"Sweetheart," she breathed, raising her face to his, "why has it been so long?"

"Because—because," he answered lamely—"well, because, my dear girl, it's the twenty-first of June."

Following Precedent.

Pat was servant of a farmer, and in his charge was a donkey which was kept to amuse his employer's children.

The donkey was following the farmer's wife round the yard one day, and the farmer, turning to Pat, said:

"I think that donkey is taking a liking to my wife."

"Oh," said Pat, "ahuro and it's not the first donkey that's took a liking to her, sir."

She Wouldn't Squeal.

He—If I squeeze you, will you squeal?

She—What do you think I am—a talking doll?

His Mistake.

"He's a self-made man."

"I know. He surely made a mistake in not consulting an expert."

Points on Advertising

By HERBERT KAUFMAN

The Cannon That Modernized Japan.

Business is no longer a man to man contact, in which the seller and the buyer establish a personal bond, any more than battle is a hand-to-hand grapple wherein bone and muscle and sword decide the outcome. Trade as well as war has changed aspect—both are now fought at long range.

Just as a present day army of heroes would have opportunity to display the individual valor of its members, just so a merchant who counts upon his direct acquaintance for success, is a relic of the past—a business dodo.

Japan changed her policy of exclusion to foreigners, after a fleet of warships battered down the Satsuma fortifications. The Samurai, who had hitherto considered their blades and bows efficient, discovered that one cannon was mightier than all the swords in creation—if they could not get near enough to use them, Japan profited by the lesson. She did not wait until further ramparts were pounded to pieces, but was satisfied with her one experience and proceeded to modernize her methods.

The merchant who doesn't advertise is pretty much in the same position as that in which Japan stood when her eyes were opened to the fact that times had changed. The long range publicity of a competitor will as surely destroy his business as the cannon of the foreigners crumbled the walls of Satsuma. Unless you take the lesson to heart, unless you realize the importance of advertising, not only as a means of extending your business but for defending it as well, you must be prepared to face the consequences of a folly as great as that of a duelist who expects to survive in a contest in which his adversary bears a sword twice the length of his own.

Don't think that it's too late to begin because there are so many voices which have had the advantage of years of cumulative advertising. The town is growing. It will grow even more next year. It needs increased trading facilities just as it's hungry for new neighborhoods.

Newspaper advertising has reduced the value of being locally prominent, and five-cent street car fares cut out the advantage of being "around the corner." A store five miles away can reach through the columns of the newspaper and draw your next door neighbor to its aisles, while you sit by and see the people on your own block cut off away, without your being able to retaliate or secure new customers to take their place.

It is not a question of your ability to stand the cost of advertising but of holding what you already have.

Advertising is an investment, the cost of which is in the same proportion to its returns as seeds are to the harvest. And it is just as preparatory for you to consider publicity as an expense as it would be for a farmer to hesitate over purchasing a fertilizer if he discovered that he could profitably increase his crops by employing it.

The Man Who Retreats Before His Defeat.

Advertising isn't magic. There is no element of the black art about it. In its best and highest form it is plain talk, sane talk—selling talk. Its results are in proportion to the merit of the subject advertised and the ability with which the advertising is done.

There are two great obstacles to advertising profit, and both of them arise from ignorance of the real functions and workings of publicity.

The first is to advertise promises which will not be fulfilled,—because all that advertising can do when it accomplishes most is to influence the reader to investigate your claims.

If you promise the earth and deliver the moon, advertising will not pay you.

If you bring men and women to your store on pretense and fail to make good, advertising will have harmed you, because it has only drawn attention to the fact that you are to be avoided.

It is as unjust to charge advertising with failure under these conditions, as it would be for your neighbor to rob a bank and make you responsible for his misdeed. In brief, advertised dishonesty is even more profitless than unadvertised deception.

The other great error in advertising is to expect more out of advertising than there is in it.

times, a great many more at the end of a month.

You cannot expect to win the confidence of the community to the same degree that other men have obtained it, without taking pretty much the same length of time that they did. But you can cut short the period between your introduction to your readers and your introduction to your country, by spending more effort in preparing your copy and displaying a greater amount of convincingness.

You mustn't act like the little girl who sowed a garden and came out the next day expecting to find it in full bloom. Her father had to explain to her that plants require roots and that, although she could not see what was going on, the seeds were doing their most important work just before the flowers showed above ground.

So advertising is doing its most important work before the big results, eventuate, and to abandon the money which has been invested just before results arrive, is not only foolish but childish. It would be just as logical for a farmer to desert his fields because he cannot harvest his grain a week after he planted it.

Advertising does not require faith—merely common sense. If it is begun in doubt and relinquished before normal results can be reasonably looked for, the fault does not lie with the newspaper nor with publicity—the blame is solely on the head of the coward who retreated before he was defeated.

The Pass of Thermopylae.

Xerxes once led a million soldiers out of Persia in an effort to capture Greece, but his invasion failed utterly, because a Spartan captain had entrenched a hundred men in a narrow mountain pass which controlled the road into Lacedaemon. The man who was first on the ground had the advantage.

Advertising is full of opportunities for men who are first on the ground.

There are hundreds of advertising passes waiting for some one to occupy them. The first man who realizes that his line will be held by publicity has a tremendous opportunity. He can gain an advantage over his competitors that they can never possess. Those who follow him must spend more money to equal his returns. They must not only invest as much, to get as much, but they must, as well, spend an extra sum to counteract the influence that he has already established in the community.

Whatever men sell, whether it is actual merchandise or brain vibrations, can be more easily sold with the aid of advertising. Not one-half of the businesses which should be exploited are appearing in the newspapers. Trade grows as reputation grows and advertising spreads reputation.

If you are engaged in a line which is waiting for an advertising pioneer, realize what a wonderful chance you have of being the first of your kind to appeal directly to the public. You stand a better chance of leadership than those who have handicapped their strength by permitting you to get on the ground before they could outstrip you. You gain a prestige that those who follow you must spend more money to counteract.

If your particular line is similar to some other trade or business which has already been introduced to the reading public, it's up to you to start in right now and join your competitors in contending for the attention of the community. The longer you delay the more you decrease your chances of surviving. Every man who outstrips you is another opponent, who must be met and grappled with for the right of way.

Electricity Gains on Steam.

Steam is rapidly giving place to electricity as a source of power in the United States. Although steam had a start of centuries, already one-fourth the industrial power in use comes from the dynamo, and it is predicted that in a few years four-fifths of the work of the nation will derive energy from this source. It is estimated that there is 150,000,000-horsepower at work daily in the United States. Of this 30,000,000 is animal, 75,000,000 steam and about 37,000,000 electric. The balance is divided between gas and water.

Two-thirds of the steam power is employed in operating locomotives, and it is here that electricity is destined to make its most sweeping conquest.

Peer Plan, indeed.

Little Willie persisted in bothering the man who was planting corn for his father. "Willie," said one of the men, "if you don't stop bothering us we'll put you in the corn planter and plant you a little at a time." "That won't do you any good," laughed Willie. "If you do that a whole lot of little Willies will grow up and bother you all the more."

REVELATION WAS TOO MUCH

Picture of "Hollering Jones" at Favorite Diversion Caused Him to Reform.

A well-known illustrator, who makes interesting western pictures, once made the acquaintance of a noisy but good-natured cowboy who rejoiced in the appellation of "Hollering Jones."

In physical appearance this man was typical of his kind, and the artist made several studies of him, both in repose and in his favorite diversion of "hollering." Some of the studies were sold by the artist to an eastern magazine. They showed Jones in his most violent state.

A year later the artist again visited the region. He was soon approached by Mr. Jones himself, bearing one of the pictures, which he had torn from the magazine in which it was printed. Pointing to it, he asked:

"Is that me?"

"Well," replied the artist, evasively, "I got the general idea from you, of course, but—"

"Oh, I ain't takin' no offense," Jones made haste to say. "It's all right; only if it's me, say so."

"If you put it to me that way," said the artist, "I can only reply that it is a fairly good portrait of you."

"The men here on the ranch agree with you. So I look like that when I holler, do I?"

"I think you do."

"In that case," said Hollering Jones, "all I've got to say is that Hollering Jones has hollered his last holler. Hereafter, when I celebrate, I do so with a tin horn. In my own opinion, no man has a right to look like that—not round white folks, anyhow."—Youth's Companion.

Perfectly Natural.

As Herbert Cory tells it, he went to a dinner once where Andrew Carnegie was a guest.

"After the eating was over and the speechmaking had started," said Cory, "Mr. Carnegie reached in his pocket for something and pulled out a handful of small change. A dime got away from him and fell on the floor, and at the first chance Mr. Carnegie got down under the table and looked for it."

"Did he find it?" asked one of the audience to whom Cory was narrating the incident.

"Did he find it?" echoed Cory. "He found 15 cents!"—Saturday Evening Post.

At Newport.

"So your daughter is down and out?"

"Yes; she took the count."—Chicago Journal.
