New Mexico State Fair 'Delivered the Goods'

The big 1915 state fair at Albuquerque has passed into history—and what a glorious history it is. From the time Governor McDonald formally opened the fair Monday, the 11th of October, to the closing of the gates Saturday night, October 16, the fair grounds were crowded with people from every part of the state and many from the outside as well. Night and day the entertainment proceeded and the assembled throng never seemed to tire, never stopped visiting the big exhibition hall that held New Mexico's products; made frequent calls at the boys' and girls' encampment; admired the fine stock, cattle, sheep, goats and horses; applauded every feat performed in front of the grand stand; encored the Kilties and other musical productions as well and were lost in admiration of the magnificent display of fireworks, the most stupendous ever given in the southwest.

The press reports kept the world informed of what was doing day by day, and the public, generally, has an inkling of what was going on during the epoch-making week that closed Saturday the 16th. But to appreciate what the fair was and its possible advantages to New Mexico requires more than a pen description, and those who saw the first real state fair can appreciate the difference between seeing its magnitude, its splendid displays and interesting attractions—and reading about them. Never did such crowds attend a New Mexico state fair, and never were the different parts of the state so thoroughly represented. Lincoln county, alone, sent twenty times as many people as at any other time and many other counties sent proportionate increases. On every hand were heard expressions of approval and the reiteration that "we'll be here next year with a bigger and better exhibit and a still larger crowd."

In the competition for the big prizes offered counties for the display of its products, it was evident from the first that Lincoln county was not "in it" with some of the counties, whose exhibits were on a vast scale and whose people had expended a large sum of money and a vast amount of labor to collect and display. Of these three big prizes, viz: $1,000, $500 and $250 offered by the fair association, Roosevelt county won first, Eddy county second and Colfax county third. Ribbons were also awarded on individual merit, blue, red and yellow representing respectively first, second and third. In the distribution of these awards Lincoln county came off fairly well and its representatives were well satisfied with results. The only reason we secured no more awards was the lack of variety, and quantity shown by many of the larger and wealthier counties. Herewith are submitted the ribbons awarded Lincoln county by the judges:

- APPLES
Staymen Winesap—F. B. Coe, Glencoe, blue.
Black Ben—L. R. Hust, Nogal, red.
Arkansas Black—W. H. Servier, Lincoln, red.
White Winter Pearmain—F. B. Coe, Glencoe, yellow.
- VEGETABLES
Cabbage—Mrs. Teodora Chavez, Lincoln, blue.

San Patricio

Mr. Lofio Gallagos will soon have his house ready for occupancy.

Mr. A. Gallagos is preparing for cold weather by having his house remodelled, a new roof put on and otherwise fixed up.

Mr. Ramon Maes is putting a new floor in his house.

Mr. Buster Wootson is baling hay for Mr. Stover and Mr. Reeves. He also will bale some for Mr. David Gallagos and Mr. Rose.

Mr. J. L. Poole has moved back to his old home in Texas. He went across country, taking his stock with him. Mr. Poole is a good citizen and will be missed in this community.

The telephone line from Hondo to Lincoln has been put in good shape and the contract will be let soon for fixing up this end of the line. Fifty to 75 new poles will be put in and the line put in first class condition. The line is needed here and we are glad the subscribers have decided to put it in good shape.

Mr. David Gallagos began road work Monday. Mr. Gallagos has worked the roads before and knows how and when to do it.

Miss Hoard, who expected to open her school above Tinnie Monday, and Mrs. Wootson, visited our school last week.

There was a dance in town Saturday night and some of the boys needed the help of the constable to behave.

There are two saloons here, and some who think they know say that according to law there are two more than the law allows. "There's something rotten in Denmark" when saloon licenses are granted contrary to law.

Mr. Allie Stover and wife and Mr. Stover, Sr., were visitors at Mr. Reeves' Sunday.

The farmers are all busy this fine weather getting their work done up for the winter.

Pupils Give Recital

The music pupils of Mrs. D. S. Donaldson gave a recital at the Kimbell home Monday evening. The members of the class acquitted themselves creditably, which was a source of gratification to their teacher and a measure of pride to the parents. In addition to the musical features presented by the pupils, there were readings by Mrs. R. T. Lucas and Miss Nona Neel, which were well received.

Summer Squash—Paul Bentley, Carrizozo, blue.

Hubbard Squash—Roy Skinner, Nogal, red.

Squash, variety unknown—Will Copeland, Capitan, blue.

Sweet Potatoes—Luis Montana, San Patricio, red.

Denia Onions—Murray & Rose, San Patricio, yellow.

CORN

Red Goose—W. M. Ferguson, Nogal, blue.

ORNS

Tungsten—Wild Cat Leasing Co., White Oaks, red.

Gold and Tungsten—Wild Cat Leasing Co., White Oaks, red.

The last two prizes, tungsten, and gold and tungsten, were awarded red ribbons, when in fact the award really meant blue, but there being no competition in this class of ore the judges could not give them first.

So, taking the foregoing paragraph as a basis, Lincoln county won eight firsts, five seconds and two yellows; or, taking the ribbons as they are, the county secured six firsts, seven seconds and two thirds—a total of thirteen awards.

John H. Williamson Killed In Arizona

John H. Williamson was shot and instantly killed last Sunday morning at about 5 o'clock. The shooting occurred in a rooming house in Douglas, Arizona, and the man charged with the crime is Norman Messenger, a restaurant man of Douglas. The remains were brought here for interment, arriving on train No. 8 Tuesday. The funeral was held at 4:30 that afternoon at the home of W. M. Reily, a brother-in-law of the deceased, Rev. E. D. Lewis, the Methodist pastor, conducting the ceremonies. Interment was made the same evening in Carrizozo cemetery.

The deceased leaves a wife, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. T. Gray, of Capitan, a father, brother and three sisters, all of whom were present at the last sad obsequies, except the sisters, who could not attend.

We are in receipt of two Douglas papers, the Dispatch and the International, both of which give somewhat lengthy accounts of the tragedy, both agreeing in the main and each lacking important particulars. The following statement from the Dispatch corresponds with a similar one in the International and reads as follows:

"By agreement of counsel, Norman Messenger, a restaurant man and one of the proprietors of the Little Gadsden cafe, 1120 G avenue, will be taken to Tombstone today and will appear in the superior court to plead guilty to the charge of manslaughter in shooting John Williamson. With this in view, Assistant County Attorney Bruce Stephenson allowed Messenger to waive preliminary examination yesterday afternoon before Justice of the Peace W. M. Taylor in Pirtleville. Judge Taylor bound him over to await the action of the superior court with bond fixed at $5000. Messenger was unable to raise that amount and remained in jail over night. The agreement was made between Frank W. Doan, representing Messenger, and Mr. Stephenson. In explanation of the move, Mr. Stephenson said that he felt morally certain that no jury, after hearing the evidence, would have returned a verdict of greater gravity than manslaughter; he therefore decided to accept the offered compromise and save the taxpayers money. He also took into consideration that the only eye-witnesses are residents of Mexico, he said.

"The original complaint sworn to by Deputy Sheriff Bowden charged murder. It is understood this was altered in court, Bowden being present, but not consulted. Whether he will consent to his name appearing on the altered complaint, to which he did not subscribe, is unknown.

"This was the ending of the second chapter of a shooting which caused the death of John Williamson, aged 32, an employe of Wamel's grocery store, about 5 o'clock Sunday morning at the International hotel. Messenger, it is claimed, was so drunk at the time that he hardly realized the act when he shot Williamson, apparently without cause, and two hours later when arrested claimed to have no remembrance of the shooting.

"As nearly as can be gathered from the statements of the various witnesses, Williamson was at the Wamel store up to midnight, when his brother, Charles Williamson, who is one of the proprietors of the business, went home. John Williamson was going hunting Sunday morning

Fall Musical Festival Planned, Albuquerque

When the New Mexico Teachers' association meets in Albuquerque November 20 it will consider details of a plan, first proposed last year, to hold an annual musical convention at the University of New Mexico, in connection with the annual inter-scholastic track meet held each year in May; and probably a further plan to combine with the two events the annual oratorical contests now held during the teachers' conventions. The inter-scholastic track meet has proven so successful that it is the athletic event of the year looked forward to by all high school track team boys, and competition to make the inter-scholastic team has done much to encourage interest in the right kind of athletics.

Music is now taught in all the high schools and in many grade schools in New Mexico, and it is believed that an annual competition in music would do much to encourage high class musical work all through the state school system. Albuquerque music lovers have indicated a desire to provide handsome prizes for such a competition, if it can be arranged, and the contests as planned would include individual vocal and instrumental contests, orchestra and choral work. The teachers' convention program has grown so large that little of the attention merited is given the oratorical contests. These would be a strong feature of the proposed annual school carnival at the university, which it is confidently expected the teachers will endorse in some form when they meet next month.

Just received, a car of fine Colorado Potatoes. Also a car of Cotton Seed Meal and Cake. Humphrey Bros.

with Mr. Wamel and discussed the details of the proposed trip before leaving the store.

"Just where Williamson went or what he did between that hour and about 5 o'clock is not definitely established. At that hour he was in Messenger's room, No. 30, International hotel. According to Jesse Billings and Jack Coughlin, Sonora cattlemen, who were guests of the hotel, they had risen and were on their way downtown for an early breakfast, when Messenger stopped them on the stairway and invited them into his room for a drink. He was very drunk and quarrelsome. On entering the room, Williamson was found inside seated. Messenger opened a bottle of beer for each and after they had drunk it, forced them to drink another at the point of his revolver. He was preparing to make them drink a third when he discovered that he had mislaid his bottle opener. He asked Williamson where it was and Williamson is said to have replied that he had handed it to him. This seemed to infuriate Messenger, who said, 'Whose room is this, anyway?' Upon Williamson replying, 'It's yours, of course,' Messenger is said to have drawn his revolver and said: 'Well, get the hell out of here, then.' With that Messenger staggered backward toward the door, keeping Williamson covered, and Williamson, drawing on his coat as he walked, followed him. Just as they arrived at the door, Messenger pulled the trigger and Williamson fell expiring through his heart. Messenger then covered the two cattlemen and ordered them to leave at once, which they did."

Grand Lodge, K. of P.

Last week, in Albuquerque, the Knights of Pythias of the domain of New Mexico held a two-day session, it being the regular annual session of the grand lodge of the order. A large attendance of the representatives and members was on hand—one of the largest in recent years—and the sessions were marked by enthusiasm and interest from beginning to end.

The officers chosen for the ensuing year were:

Grand Chancellor, C. L. Berudtson, Albuquerque.

Grand Vice Chancellor, T. L. Kinney, Dawson.

Grand Prelate, Charles C. Gunton, Gallup.

Grand Keeper of Records and Seal, J. E. Elder, Albuquerque.

Grand Master of Exchequer, James A. Smiley, Socorro.

Grand Master at Arms, A. W. Fossberg, Cerrillos.

Inner Guard, John M. Rose, Roswell.

Outer Guard, George J. Dingwall, Carrizozo.

Grand Tribune, George W. Prichard, Santa Fe.

Supreme Representative, Hugh H. Williams, Deming.

Methodist Church

Rev. E. D. Lewis, Pastor.

Tomorrow begins another conference year. The year that has just closed was one of progress in many ways. When we compare last year's work with the year preceding it we really see the development. Last year there were received into the church twenty-two members and ten of these on profession of faith, while the year before only six were received and none of these on profession of faith. Last year there was paid on salaries $593 10 the year before $325. Equally as substantial growth was realized in the Sunday school and other organizations of the church. I give these figures not to boast but to encourage. Let them be prophetic of larger things this year. The town is growing materially, no one can deny; and the church must grow or die. The call is to arms, and let every Christian buckle on the armor and fall in line.

Come to the church Sunday and try to get somebody to come with you. Services both morning and evening. Subject of the morning: "Reciprocity in Giving." The evening subject will be, "The Problem of Evil." There are those who deny the personality of the devil, and they do not see why God permits evil to exist, and want to lay all responsibility of evil on God. We want to think about these things. Come and worship with us. Prayer meeting—yes we have a prayer meeting at the Baptist church Wednesday night. Sunday school at 9:45; Junior church at 3 p. m. and Senior league at 6:30.

Joins Silent Majority

The death of Numa Reymond in El Paso last Saturday closed the career of one of the best known early pioneers in this section. A native of Switzerland, Mr. Reymond came to this country in his youth, and for years was a prominent figure in the social, business and political life of New Mexico. He lived the greater part of his time in Las Cruces until about seventeen years ago, when he returned to the land of his birth. This year he returned to his adopted country, and here he died among the scenes of his activities.

He amassed quite a large property, was greatly beloved for his boundless charities, and is held in the deepest reverence by many pioneers of Lincoln county, among whom he was highly honored.

IN TEHUANTEPEC

VIEW OF TEHUANTEPEC

AN EPOCH marking event in the development of closer trade and traffic relations between the United States and the countries of Central America will be the opening of the new railway connecting Mexico and Guatemala, writes W. D. Hornaday in Grit. But for the revolution in Mexico this important link in the long-talked-of line of railway, that is destined ultimately to extend all the way to the Isthmus of Panama, and perhaps to the countries of South America that border upon the Pacific ocean, would have been in regular operation ere this.

According to reports from Guatemala the work of extending the Pacific division of the International Railways of Central America from Champerico to Ayutla, situated on the Mexico-Guatemala border, is practically finished. At Ayutla this line connects with the Pan-American railroad, which runs to San Gerónimo on the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, a distance of 284 miles. The Suchiate river forms the boundary line between Mexico and Guatemala. This stream is spanned by a costly bridge. On the Mexican side is the town of Mariscal and just across the river is Ayutla.

The Guatemala link in the Pan-American keeps close in towards the Pacific coast, and in places the blue waters of the ocean may be seen by travelers on the trains. At the port of San José the road connects with the main line that crosses Guatemala from southwest to northeast, forming a direct route to the capital and to Port Barrios, the Atlantic terminus.

The Isthmus of Tehuantepec and that part of far southeastern Mexico that is traversed by the Pan-American railroad possesses many features of interest to the world-traveler or to the man who takes delight in penetrating out-of-the-way places and who loves the beauties of nature. It also has attracted many American colonists. When travel to and from Mexico was interrupted by the internal strife that has so long afflicted the country, American colonists and tourists were just beginning to get acquainted with the remote region that was made accessible to them by the construction of the Mexico division of the Pan-American railroad.

Region of Great Interest.
All the way from Cordoba to Mariscal there are many wonderful things to be seen, but it is not until the Isthmus of Tehuantepec is reached that the full bloom beauty of riotous nature, with its deep-green hued verdure, its picturesque life and customs of the careful natives, greet the eye.

The encroachment of civilization influences has left but little impress upon the town and village of the Tehuana Indians. Their chief population center is Tehuantepec, which is located on the National Tehuantepec railroad within a few miles of Salina Cruz, the Pacific coast terminus of that trans-isthmian line. In all Mexico there is no place of more absorbing interest and strange attraction to the visitor than Tehuantepec. There is little in common between the Tehuana Indians and the other native tribes of the country in the matter of customs and everyday life.

The Tehuana men are of very ordinary type, both in point of physique and standard of intelligence, but the women as a class are the prettiest and most attractive in all Mexico. They resemble in mobility and beauty of features as well as in physical charm the famous native Polynesian women of some of the groups of South Pacific islands. They are the heads of the households. The Tehuana men are anything but their lords and masters. Practically all of the trade in the markets and stores is carried on by the women. The more unattractive and unattractive male members of the tribe lounge around and live off of the labors of their women folk. Occasionally, the local authorities round up a bunch of the men and set them to work upon neighboring plantations, but it is said that they are so weak and indolent as to be of little value when it comes to manual labor.

The women are noted for their love of gold coins and colored finery of dress. Their penchant for collecting gold coins which they wear in the form of necklaces had its origin, it is said, during the period when great numbers of American adventurers made their mad rush across the Isthmus of Tehuantepec on their way to the California gold fields in the late 40's. When a Tehuana woman once comes into possession of a gold piece she will not part with it no matter to what degree of poverty she may become reduced. Many of these women, whom one sees in the wonderful market places, wear strings of gold coins aggregating several hundred dollars.

Great Chiapas Forests.
Bordering on the north the level region through which the Pan-American railroad runs is a stretch of rich timber and agricultural lands of the state of Chiapas. The hand of modern developers and upbuilders has barely touched that little known port of Mexico. The state is abundantly supplied with perpetual flowing rivers, the most notable of which are the Orizaba and the Usumacinta, which are navigable for large boats for long distances. The forests have been little explored. They are filled with many kinds of birds of brilliant plumage, and roaming through the wilderness of tropical trees and plants are leopards, tigers, wild boars, deer, monkeys and many other animals. The interior region is a veritable sportsman's paradise. Orchids of enormous size and the deepest colors add to the wonderful beauty of the pristine forests. It is said that more than 12,000 different varieties of orchids have been collected and classified.

It is interesting to note that several celebrated ethnologists who made research into the existing native tribes of Chiapas and the ruins of a prehistoric civilization that existed there, believe it to have been the "cradle of the human race." In this connection it may be stated that the mountain tribes of Indians of Chiapas as well as the Tehuana Indians of Tehuantepec bear in many respects a remarkable resemblance to the Orientals, both in personal characteristics and in their established customs. It is in the northern part of Chiapas that the ruins of Palenque, which have long afforded an inspiring work of research on the part of archeologists, are located. The most authentic estimate of the history of the remains of the city that is now called Palenque is that it was abandoned more than 800 years ago.

Hand Shaking.
A nonprofessor, defending his position outside the church, said: "Why should I join the church and receive the sacraments? How much better would I be for the observance of a mere formality, like hand-shaking?"
The answer was: "If you think that hand-shaking is a mere formality, refuse to take the hand of your friend some day, and you will learn that it has a meaning, and that your action will be interpreted as an expression of distrust or dislike. Then remember that you are treating your best friend as you could treat no other friend and retain his friendship."

200,000 USE DRUGS

Number of Addicts in United States Overestimated.

Officials of the Government Public Health Service Make Thorough Investigation of the Matter—Figures Based on Tax.

Washington.—While holding it true that the amount of opium and coca consumed in this country annually is out of all proportion to the actual need for medicinal purposes, Martin I. Wilbert, technical assistant, division of pharmacology, hygienic laboratory of the United States public health service, is of the opinion that the number of drug fiends is overestimated. To correct existing impressions the health service has been looking into the subject.

Practically all the opium and coca used in this country is imported through legitimate channels, Mr. Wilbert finds. Because of the comparatively high import tax, care is exercised to insure the reporting and recording of all the products so that fairly accurate data are at the disposal of the investigator. The records show that for several years the total amount of such drugs imported has been fairly uniform and will aggregate an average of approximately 2,500,000,000 doses of opium, its derivatives and alkaloids, and 325,000,000 doses of coca leaves and cocaine. These figures serve to definitely fix the amount of available material, and quite regardless of the proportion of the several drugs that may be used legitimately or illegitimately, the sum total of illegitimate use cannot well exceed the sum total of the available material.

The investigator found a rather interesting source of information regarding the actual number and kind of addicts through the reports of the enforcement of the Tennessee anti-narcotic law of 1913. Lucian P. Brown, the state food and drugs commissioner of Tennessee, in a recent report says that after 12 months of operation there were registered in the state of Tennessee under the provisions of the anti-narcotic law 2,370 persons of all ages and color.

"The average consumption per day of morphine addicts was 8.5 grains, or approximately 1,000 doses each month, or 12,000 doses a year," said Mr. Wilbert. "Tennessee contains slightly more than 2 per cent of the total population of the United States, and on the supposition that the same ratio of addicts and the amount of material consumed will hold good

SECRET OF EGYPTIAN DANCES

High Priestess of Dancing.

Lubowaka, the twenty-two-year-old Russian nymph who translates into dances the ancient hieroglyphic language of the Egyptians, is said, by one of the foremost Egyptian authorities, to be the greatest exponent of the "mourning dance" performed in times of bereavement by the ancients.

She has made a study of the psychology of the dances and put together the forms of the expression inscribed in stone by those who held the Children of Israel in captivity for so many centuries.

She has made the study of Egyptology her life's business and has discovered why the Egyptians made their hands work in such peculiar movements during the performance of their dances. It seems that "every little movement of the hands has a meaning of its own." What that meaning is, Lubowaka discloses in her own dances. She has had an interesting career considering her youth. She was married at a very tender age and lost her husband seven months after the nuptial knot was tied. Her parents are Russians, but she has spent much time in South America, especially in Ecuador, where during one of the recent revolutions she carried a gun for 24 hours. As the protegee of Porfirio Diaz, the Grand Old Man of Mexico, she spent much time in his court at Chapultepec where he gave her every facility and aid in studying and translating in her own way the Egyptian language transcribed on stone.

AMMUNITION TRAIN AT AN OASIS

This photograph shows a Turkish ammunition train halted at an oasis for the purpose of watering the camels.

throughout the country, we would have a total of something more than 118,000 drug habitues, consuming approximately 1,146,000,000 average doses a year.

"Granting the somewhat improbable assertion that 90 per cent of the opium imported is used illegitimately, at the rate that it is said to be consumed in Tennessee, we could have as a maximum not more than 187,000 users of opium, its derivatives and alkaloids. In all parts of the United States.

"In regard to the use of cocaine, a recent authority asserts that one ounce of cocaine is enough to keep 50 fiends thoroughly well doped for a year. Granting that all the available 150,000 ounces of cocaine were used illegitimately, there could be at this rate a total of 150,000 cocaine fiends in the United States.

"That this estimate is somewhat high would appear from a report by C. G. Steinmetz, who made a study of 15 men who acquired the habit while employed where the drug is manufactured. The daily quantity taken varied from 20 to 30 grains; the method of taking it was solely by snuffing it. Even on the basis of the lower quality the consumption per annum would be in the neighborhood of 15 ounces, and this would reduce the possible number of cocaine fiends very materially.

"Pharmacists will appreciate that the figures given by Steinmetz are much more in accord with actual practice than are the figures previously quoted. Taking all the available facts into consideration, it would appear that the estimate made by the Committee of the American Pharmaceutical Association some years ago that the drug addicts in this country do not exceed 200,000 in number is approximately correct, even at the present time.

"That other previously made estimates of the number of addicts in this country were altogether erroneous is further evidenced by the published reports on hospital admissions since the Federal Anti-narcotic law came into effect. It has been predicted that the result of the enforcement of that law would be a besieging of hospitals by drug addicts and a crime wave of national scope accompanied by a trail of suicide and death. While the effects of the enforcement of the federal law have been clearly evidenced by hospital reports, the results have been by no means so far-reaching or so startling as had been expected."

One conclusion reached by investigators is that from 90 to 95 per cent of narcotic users do so unnecessarily. It has been asserted, he found, that the average person will develop an addiction to opium or one of its alkaloids after 20 days of daily use, and after continuing the use for three months or more it is impossible to discontinue its use without medical aid.

PIPES FOR THESE WOMEN

Minnesota Poor Farm Will Have Smoking Room for Aged Women Inmates.

St. Paul, Minn.—When the new $150,000 women's building being erected at the Ramsey county poor farm is completed its inmates may smoke their pipes in peace.

For they are to have an elaborate smoking room, fitted in modern style, and, said Mrs. Albert Moore, wife of the farm superintendent, "if the dear old souls want the walls covered with pictures of race horses, prize fighters and baseball players, they may have them."

"When we took a poll regarding the establishment of a den for smoking," she continued, "there was hardly a dissenting vote. We shall furnish the tobacco and we expect the 'smoker' to be one of the most popular places of the institution."

Doesn't Like Water.

Marion, Ind.—John Dislike, arrested for vagrancy, told the police he had not taken a bath for 17 years. When he was turned over to O. F. Wright, sheriff, it was directed a bath be given the man. Trustee of the jail applied soap and brushes with the result that Dislike received a scolding he will remember for some days.

WAR ON "TWO FOR" CIGARS

Montclair Citizens Want Health Board to Pry into Manufacture of Cheap Smokes.

Montclair, N. J.—Captious citizens want the health department of this town to extend its paternalism to the "two for" cigars sold here. The board of health's operations now include, among other things, the supervision of the milk supply and the manufacture of ice cream, the dispensing of soda water, the washing of glasses in beer saloons and the elimination of mosquitoes.

Those who would have the health authorities pry into the manufacture of the cheaper cigars assert that they are as much a menace to health as impure milk, infected beer glasses and the mosquito. Few cigars are manufactured in this town, but it is asserted that the health department has as much right to control the source of the cigar supply as it has to insist on certain regulations for the protection of the town's milk supply, most of which comes from New York state.

DON'T KISS, JUST "PAT PAT"

Tap Her Lightly on the Cheek, You Might Spread Disease, Says Health Chief.

Huntington, W. Va.—Dr. E. W. Grover, president of the board of health here, has announced that the ancient custom of kissing must stop, because, he says, it spreads tuberculosis and other diseases.

Doctor Grover advocates the "pat pat" as a substitute. This method of greeting was originated in the Republic of Dominica, where a campaign against the kiss was waged with disastrous results to Cupid.

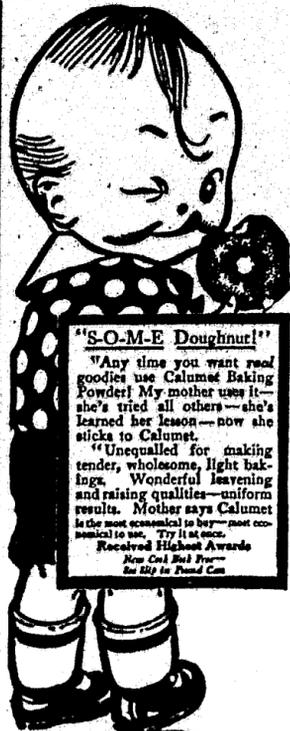

To apply the "pat pat," the doctor explains, a couple osculatorily inclined should approach each other within hand-shaking distance, pat each other lightly on the cheek and smile. Doctor Grover says there is too much kissing.

Makes Rapid Headway

Kidney disease often advances so rapidly that many a person is firmly in its grasp before aware of its progress. Prompt attention should be given the slightest symptom of kidney disorder. If there is a dull pain in the back, headache, dizzy spells or a tired, worn-out feeling, or if the kidney secretions are offensive, irregular and attended by pain, use Doan's Kidney Pills at once. No other kidney medicine is so well-recommended.

Christianity and War

The following paper, taken from an address of Archbishop Glennon, was read by Mr. Edwin T. Carroll at the Peace service held in Library hall at Fort Stanton last Sunday evening.

The peace that in these days is talked of and sought by the nations at war should be a peace based on justice, rooted in honor, promoted with due recognition of the blessed Father in Heaven, and perpetuated under His benediction.

Christianity was not heard of, Christianity was not consulted in the beginning of this war. In vain you will seek through the long correspondence, proclamations and ultimatums for any reference to the religion of Christendom, any willingness to be advised by its spiritual leaders, any thought of referring to its courts the matters in dispute.

On the other hand you will hear much of the rights of nations, the mobilization of armies, and strategic railways, impregnable forts and war loans. And you will read in the progress of the war of men and armies of the enemy that were slaughtered, the prisoners that were taken, the blood that was shed; and sometimes, too, reference has been made to Almighty God, and thanks (the propriety and sincerity may well be questioned) offered Him because He gave victory to one side or the other.

There were some who thought because Christianity was a negligible quantity at the beginning of the war, therefore Christianity itself was a failure. Now, they who said so know little of Christianity or its spirit. For years, yes for centuries, Christianity has found little place in the governments of the nations, and little influence in the courts of kings; but though banished therefrom, it finds a home in the hearts of the people. In their hearts and lives it lives and remains; perhaps unheard from in war's beginnings; but most certainly to be heard from when people begin to think and act. When the first crimson tide of battle passes o'er the nation—when the dead are to be buried, and the wounded nursed, and the widows and orphans to be consoled and provided for—then the value of human life, then the question of human rights, then the spirit of brotherhood and religion all rise in denunciation of barbarous war and in demand of peace.

So in this war there was no Christianity, at its beginning. Let us hope there will be at its end. Let us hope that with the rights of man and the rights of nations, there will also be re-established the rights of conscience—there will be re-created a brotherhood among the nations founded upon the equal dependence of them all on their Father who is in Heaven. Let us hope that with the advent of peace they shall restore to His kingdom the Prince of Peace—they shall again bring back Christ to Christendom—that they shall seek to make peace under His divine auspices permanent; so that, returning home their recession may be—

Fort Stanton

Mr. and Mrs. Weber, of 13 B, entertained a number of friends last Sunday, October 17, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Rise, Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Anderson, of Parsons, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Kimbell and Mr. and Mrs. Harry Dawson, of Carrizozo.

Master Billy Weber and his sister, Miss Alice, were given a birthday party last Saturday at Parsons by their aunt, Miss Charlotte Rice. Nineteen children were present. Miss Alice's birthday, age 4, was some ten days prior to Master Billy's, who was 2 last Saturday. A most enjoyable time was had by all, both old and young.

Dr. and Mrs. F. C. Smith left last Saturday morning for Carrizozo, El Paso and Albuquerque, as Dr. Smith has been ordered by the bureau of the U. S. P. H. S. at Washington to investigate an epidemic at Gallup, New Mexico. He will, provided circumstances permit, follow Mrs. Smith and daughter, Dorothy, who left El Paso Sunday for San Francisco, to attend the expositions.

Chaplain Frund, P. H. S., visited friends in Lincoln last Saturday afternoon.

The decorations in Library hall for the peace services conducted by the chaplain last Sunday evening were exceptionally artistic, which, with the splendid program of music, song, declamation and meditation, was greatly appreciated by the large number present.

Messrs. P. W. Alton and J. D. Alston spent Saturday and Sunday visiting at Roswell, where Mr. Alton arranged for the coming glove contest to take place.

Mr. George Oliver has returned from a visit to his old home in Oklahoma.

The many friends of Messrs. J. J. Brown and Peter Duffy will be pleased to learn at this writing, they are much improved, having been rather seriously ill for the past ten days.

The Very Rev. Father Lawrence, O. F. M., superior of the Franciscan Monastery at Roswell, and Rev. J. H. Girma, of Lincoln, visited with the chaplain last Friday afternoon. The Rev. Franciscan Father seemed much impressed with the Fort Stanton,

In last week's paper we stated that the Misses Dale had gone to Albuquerque, when, really they went with their parents to the springs at Palomas.

Messrs. St. John and McKenna, of the Prospect mine in Jicarilla, were in the settlement Sunday last.

Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Wilson made a business trip to White Oaks Friday last.

Andrew McBrayer, of Jicarilla, is working with Harry Comery, on the Talbert place drilling for water.

Mr. Marsh went to White Oaks a few days ago.

Our school is to terminate in less than a month, and instead of rejoicing over the leisure they will have, some of the children are really sorry to be turned loose.

The state surveyors, we learn, are now near the Carabajal place in township 5.

Mr. Sam Woods, of Ancho, was at the Wilson ranch Sunday.

Now is the time of the year that the pinon bird gets in its most mischievous work. After destroying the pinon nuts they take over the fields and corn, kaffir and all grain vanishes before their greedy numbers. In thousands they go, with loud and discordant screams, making night and day alike hideous with their noise. The sportsman would be doing well to practice upon them.

The loco, that much dreaded plant, is now dividing its terrors with a strange plant which is gaining ground in this vicinity. It is called "death camas," and is said to be very poisonous, killing much quicker than the loco. It has been fully described in one of the reports of the department of agriculture. After getting the description, it is easily recognized. But until it blooms it so much resembles the grass with which it is found that stock eat it without noting the difference.

Mr. P. G. Peters and little daughter, Josephine, were guests Saturday of the Graften family and Sunday called on friends in town.

Mr. Bourgeois returned from Captain Saturday. Mr. Bush seems to prefer the climate of Captain to that of the mountains.

Mr. and Mrs. Anderson and Mr. and Mrs. Rice motored to Stanton Sunday and spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Weber.

Alice and Billy Weber, who have been visiting their grand parents in Parsons, returned home Sunday.

Everybody along the upper Bonito is busy getting in their hay and harvesting their apples. The hay crop is light this year and the barley not well filled out, but it is a better crop than anyone expected.

The best potatoes in the valley this year were grown by Mr. W. G. Wells up Bear canon.

Mrs. Bixler, who lives on the Austin place below Angus, chaperoned a picnic party up this way Sunday. They visited the Parsons mill and mine and after a picnic party dinner in the woods attended the Sunday school before returning home.

The Misses Lindsay were visitors in Parsons Sunday.

Alice and Billy Weber entertained their friends at a birthday party on Saturday, October 16. The afternoon was spent in playing games, after which the children enjoyed a dainty lunch. The dining room table was decorated with the autumn colors. The favors were small baskets filled with candy and popcorn. Eighteen children were present and all went home satisfied with their day's pleasure.

Hon. Elihu Root On Woman's Sphere

The question of Woman's Suffrage is an issue before the American people. Twelve states have adopted it, four more states vote upon it this fall and it is strongly urged that it become a platform demand of the national political parties. It is therefore the privilege and the duty of every voter to study carefully this subject. Hon. Elihu Root, in discussing this question before the constitutional convention of New York, recently said in part:

"I am opposed to the granting of suffrage to women, because I believe that it would be a loss to women, to all women and to every woman; and because I believe it would be an injury to the state, and to every man and every woman in the state. It would be useless to argue this if the right of suffrage were a natural right. If it were a natural right, then women should have it though the heavens fall. But if there be any one thing settled in the long discussion of this subject, it is that suffrage is not a natural right, but is simply a means of government, and the sole question to be discussed is whether government by the suffrage of men and women will be better government than by the suffrage of men alone.

"Into my judgment, sir, there enters no element of the inferiority of woman. It is not that woman is inferior to man, but it is that woman is different from man; that in the distribution of powers, of capacities, of qualities, our Maker has created man adapted to the performance of certain functions in the economy of nature and society, and woman adapted to the performance of other functions.

"Woman rules today by the sweet and noble influences of her character. Put woman into the arena of conflict and she abandons these great weapons which control the world, and she takes into her hands, feeble and nerveless for strife, weapons with which she is unfamiliar and which she is unable to wield. Woman in strife becomes hard, harsh, unlovable, repulsive; as far removed from that gentle creature to whom we all owe allegiance and to whom we confess submission, as the heaven is removed from the earth.

"The whole science of government is the science of protecting life and liberty and the pursuit of happiness. In the divine distribution of powers, the duty and the right of protection rests with the male. It is so throughout nature. It is so with men, and I, for one, will never consent to part with the divine right of protecting my wife, my daughter, the women whom I love, and the women whom I respect, exercising the birthright of man, and place that high duty in the weak and nerveless hands of those designed by God to be protected rather than to engage in the stern warfare of government. In my judgment, this whole movement arises from a false conception of the duty and of the right of both men and women.

"The time will never come when the line of demarcation between the functions of the two sexes will be broken down. I believe it to be false philosophy; I believe that it is an attempt to turn backward upon the line of social development, and that if the step ever be taken, we go centuries backward on the march towards a higher, nobler and purer civilization, which must be found not in the confusion, but in the higher differentiation of the sexes."

NEW CURE FOR RHEUMATISM

Woman Who Had Suffered for Many Years Is Cured by Bolt of Lightning.

The medical faculty was put to shame by a bolt of lightning which the other night struck the farmhouse of Charles A. Burdick, on Washington Ridge, says the Herlin (Conn.) correspondent of the New York Herald. The electric bolt destroyed articles in all the eight rooms of the house and did damage exceeding $1,000, but it cured Mrs. Burdick of rheumatism, from which she had suffered for many years.

Mrs. Burdick was about to put wood in the kitchen stove when the bolt struck her, knocking her down and rendering her unconscious. One of her feet was on zinc beneath the stove. The lightning took a nail out of the sole of her shoes and her foot was severely burned. Dr. Thomas Mulligan of New Britain soon revived her.

Today Mrs. Burdick, although suffering from the burns on her foot, was free from rheumatic pains. She does not think the price her husband must pay in repairs to the house too high, but Mr. Burdick is discreetly silent.

Because some London streets are too narrow for motor omnibuses to be turned around, vehicles are being tried with controlling apparatus at each end.

Building Master Men

Potash, sodium, lime and iron are some of the vital mineral salts necessary to proper nourishment of muscle, brain and nerves, but are not found in proper abundance in white bread and many other foods.

Grape-Nuts

—made from whole wheat and malted barley—richly supplies these needed mineral elements and is a delicious dish served with cream or rich milk.

Grape-Nuts food is splendid for brain workers, and ideal for school children. Being partially pre-digested, it is quickly absorbed by the system—going directly to the up-building of sinew, brain and nerves without overloading the stomach.

GOOD ROADS

ROADS MUST BE MAINTAINED

No Phase of Public Thoroughfare Problem of More Importance—Keep Surface Well Drained.

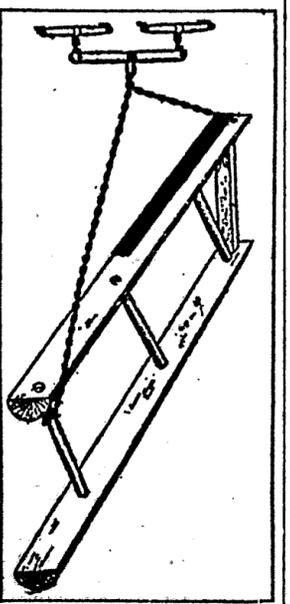

There is no phase of the road problem more important than that of maintenance. The general impression that there are certain types of roads that are permanent is erroneous. No permanent road has ever been constructed or ever will be. The only things about a road that may be considered permanent are the grading, culverts and bridges. Roads constructed by the most skillful highway engineers will soon be destroyed by the traffic, frost, rain and wind, unless they are properly maintained. But the life of these roads may be prolonged by systematic maintenance. A poor road will not only be improved by proper maintenance, but may become better in time than a good road without it.

The first and last commandment in earth road maintenance is to keep the surface well drained. To insure good drainage the ditches should be kept open, all obstructions removed and a smooth crown maintained. Except for very stony soil, the road machine or scraper may be used very effectively for this work. The machine should be used once or twice a year, and the work should be done when the soil is damp, so that it will pack and bake into a hard crust. Wide and shallow side ditches should be maintained, with sufficient fall and capacity to dispose of surface water. These ditches can in most cases be constructed and repaired with a road machine.

All vegetable matter such as sods and weeds should be kept out of the road, as they make a spongy surface which retains moisture. Clods are also objectionable, for they soon turn to dust or mud, and for that reason roads should never be worked when dry or hard. Bowlders or loose stones are equally objectionable if a smooth surface is to be secured.

A spit-log drag or some similar device is very useful in maintaining the surface after suitable ditches and cross sections have once been secured. This drag can also be used to advantage on a gravel road as well as on an earth road. The principle involved in dragging is that clays and most heavy soils will puddle when wet and set very hard when dry. The little attention that the earth road needs must be given promptly and at the proper time if the best results are to be obtained. In dragging roads only a small amount of earth is moved, just enough to fill the ruts and depressions with a thin layer of plastic clay or earth which packs very hard, so that the next rain, instead of finding ruts, depressions and clods in which to collect, runs off, leaving the surface but little affected.

The drag should be light and should be drawn over the road at an angle of about 45 degrees. The driver should ride on the drag and should not drive faster than a walk. One round trip, each trip studding a wheel track, is usually sufficient to fill the ruts and smooth the surface. If necessary the road should be dragged after every bad spell of weather, when the soil is in proper condition to puddle well and still not adhere to the drag. If the road is very bad it may be dragged when very wet and again when it begins to dry out.

Crown of Earth Road. The slope or crown of an earth road should be about one inch to the foot. If the crown becomes too high it may be reduced by dragging toward the ditch instead of from it. If the drag cuts too much, shorten the hitch and change your position on the drag. If it is necessary to protect the face of the drag with a strip of iron, it should be placed flush with the edge of the drag and not projecting. A cutting edge should be avoided, as the main object in dragging is to smear the damp soil into position.

WASHINGTON GOSSIP

Hunting for Real Haunted House in Washington

WASHINGTON.—Most persons are satisfied if they can locate a place where the ghost can be relied upon to walk once a week, but in New York a society that is devoted to psychical research is much more exorbitant in its demands. It is seeking in Washington a house where the ghost is guaranteed to walk five times a week.

For such a haunted house the society will pay five times its assessed value, especially if it is inhabited by a first-class ghost—one of exorcising moans and whose chains clank most dolefully; preferably a ghost with a gory history—the ghastlier the ghost the merrier.

The New York spook-hunting society has appealed to the Association of Columbia to please tell it of the existence of such a house, and in the letter the society mentions that it has heard that such a ghost rendezvous exists in a house "in Georgetown" and of another "near the navy yard."

The country negroes of Georgetown and those who live near the navy yard have not been especially glad to hear this. They are digging up rabbit feet and rubbing them, they are burying newly pulled teeth with incantations, and, in short, using every ghost layer they know anything about. If this, psychical research society wants ghosts, emphatically the Ethiopian Society of Pork Chop Destroyers doesn't want 'em.

Washington Women Are Very Fond of Cigarettes

MAYBE you didn't know that many a young girl who walks F street in the afternoon promenade carries her silver case just the same as the young dude who fits along at her side with his cane hung upon his arm?

Surprised? Well, it is not astonishing. For, you know, they don't smoke on F street and they don't open their cigarette cases in the full glare of the sunlight while the throngs are looking on. But they smoke just the same.

Proprietors of cafes will tell you they have a hard task preventing women from smoking in public. A proprietor said recently that more than once respectable-looking woman patrons have taken out their cigarettes and have been on the verge of lighting up when a waiter has spied them and passed them the tip that the rules prohibit women doing such things.

"You know," said the proprietor, "it wouldn't just look right to see women sitting here at our tables in this fashionable cafe smoking cigarettes. With men it is different. But if the women started it, our place would be tabooed by the majority of our present class of patrons."

"Do the women smoke much?" a maid who serves as an attendant in the ladies' lounging room of one of the popular cafes was asked. "There are plenty of them who smoke," she replied. "And they carry their smokes around with them all the time. But no one would know it. Their cigarette cases look just like vanity cases."

Great Falls to Be Harnessed for the District

IN less than five years it is not improbable that the District will be using in its street-lighting system and in other ways electric energy from Great Falls, while the federal government will at the same time be using thousands of kilowatts of current in its various activities and a large surplus will be available for sale to the public.

This five-year estimate was given as conservative by Colonel Langfit, who made the most recent survey of the power possibilities, and it is thought that under present conditions the work could be completed in a less period of time.

This estimate also took into account necessary delays in obtaining title to overflow lands and other matters.

The army engineers, who undoubtedly will be intrusted with the job, will be able to draw upon much valuable experience in their corps, for the design of the dam which is to impound the waters of the Potomac is practically the same as that of the Gatun spillway dam in the Canal zone.

Like the isthmian prototype the Potomac dam will swoop across the space to be filled in an arc of a circle and will be surmounted by 18 gates which can be opened in time of flood. These gates will be designed so as to allow the passage of all surplus water even in such volumes as in 1889, when the highest known point was reached. Provision will also be made for the passage of ice through the gates, a problem which was not encountered in the Panama canal work.

In addition to the main dam which will keep the lake at the 115-foot level, there will be an intake dam 119 feet high protecting the power house, which will lie within the District on the north side of the river.

Weather Forecasts by the "Movie" and Wireless

WEATHER forecasts which have been disseminated over the inland states of the country for years by means of the telegraph and the printing press are beginning to reach the people of this territory through brand-new channels—by way of the "movie" and the wireless.

An enterprising proprietor of a motion picture theater in Birmingham, Ala., was the first to see the possibilities of "weather by movie," and he found Uncle Sam's weather bureau ready to co-operate with him. The forecasts were printed by the local official in charge of weather matters on celluloid films from which the emulsion had been removed, and were turned over to the theater authorities, who had them projected as an informative interlude between shows of comedy and tragedy.

Since then the display of weather information on screens has spread to 15 cities and 27 theaters. Entirely independent of the "movie" weather reports, wireless is coming into use for spreading weather news on land after having already proved itself to be invaluable on water. Arrangements have been made to have forecasts for Illinois distributed by wireless from Lillopolis. In that state, to points within a radius of 125 miles that are equipped with the necessary receiving apparatus. It is proposed to send the messages at a slow rate in order that amateurs may take them, as most of the operators in reach of the sending station will be of this class.

Alas! Poor Man.
"Doctor," said the bride of a year, "I wish you would try to persuade my husband to lay aside the cares of business and take a few weeks' rest. I am sure he is killing himself with overwork."
"What particular reason have you for thinking so?" asked the physician.
"Why, when we were first married," she explained, "he always got home from the office before five o'clock, but now he is often detained until after midnight."

Hard to Explain.
"Here's an interesting case. A married woman with black hair comes home from a little trip and finds bronze hairpins on her dressing table."
"Where has hubby about that time?"
"From all reports he was up in the air."

Lusitania.
Lusitania is the ancient Latin name for a country whose borders were at most identical with those of modern Portugal.

Two Birds Indicted.
The complaints against the robin have dwelt on his fondness for cherries, strawberries, blackberries, raspberries, pears, peaches, prunes, grapes and even olives in California. The bluebirds' consumption of cultivated fruits seems more limited, being practically confined to cherries, raspberries and blackberries, and its fruit-eating period is very short, being only from late fall to early spring when the insects which it prefers are scarce.

WHY FAMOUS PASTRY COOKS USE KC BAKING POWDER

The patrons of our first class hotels and restaurants are exacting—they demand the best. Women go where the pastry and cakes are noted for their excellence. Men are attracted by hot bread and biscuits—when fresh and moist and light.

The pastry cook with a reputation uses K C Baking Powder because he knows that results are certain; every time everything is as good as his best.

Then, too, with K C Baking Powder he can mix the various kinds of batter before the rush of the meal begins and bake as needed so that every order goes to the table fresh and hot, yet the last he bakes are just as good as the first.

The reasons behind these reasons is that K C is really a blend of two baking powders. One commences to give off leavening gas as soon as moistened. The other requires both moisture and heat to make it active. Dough or batter will remain in a partially leavened condition for hours, and when put in the oven, will come up as light as if mixed a moment before.

For cookies, pancakes, doughnuts and the like, which cannot all be baked at once, K C is indispensable. For all baking the double raise makes doubly certain.

Follow the example of the professional cook and your baking will be equal to his.
