CARRIZOZO, LINCOLN COUNTY, NEW MEXICO, JULY 16, 1915.

NUMBER 26

Greatest Crop in History

Last year we thought we had something of a bumper crop, and we did, but this year's yield promises to exceed it. With each monthly forecast the figures climb upward, and now it is estimated the wheat crop will amount total a billion bushels. Corn and oats, also, are given a much larger production this year.

The final figures on wheat last year were 891,017,000 bushels, while the estimate on July 1, this year, is 963,000,000. Since the issuance of the July forecast it is claimed the wheat situation continues to improve, and that the production will quite likely reach the billion mark.

Final results on the production last year were 2,672,804,000 bushels, and the present forecast is 2,810,000,000 bushels.

Oats were given last year a yield of 1,141,060,000 bushels. This year the estimate is 1,400,000,000 bushels.

The estimate on potatoes is slightly under that of last year, the actual production last year being 405,921,000 bushels, while this year the crop is estimated at 393,000,000 bushels.

Estimates on apples show quite a falling off. Last year's crop was 253,240,000 bushels, while this year the crop is estimated at 194,000,000 bushels.

Hay, alfalfa and pasture are running a slightly better percentage than last year.

K. Ps. Install Officers

Monday night of this week the officers of Carrizozo Lodge No. 11, K. of P., were publicly installed. In addition to the regular installation services "The Lesson of Friendship" was given, slides from a stereopticon throwing the scenes representative of that ancient episode on canvas, in harmony with the word picture painted by the founder of the order, Justus H. Rathbone. Rev. E. D. Lewis delivered the invocation and the benediction. Following the installation ceremonies the guests and members and their families adjourned to the banquet room where ice cream, cake and fruit were served. It was a very pleasant evening's entertainment.

Some Ride

Hal Herring, whose home is near the Gallinas mountains, had a unique experience last Friday. He was here on business and before he could complete it and reach the depot No. 8, the noon train was on its way east. It was imperative, however, that he reach home that afternoon, so he asked Harry Johnson to trail in after the train in his racer. Harry opened the throttle wide and only left a dust trail behind. At Aducho No. 8 was again pulling out and the race was renewed. At Tecolote the racer was 3 minutes ahead of the train, Hal boarded it and probably had a smoother ride the latter part of his journey.

Splendid Return

A 21-ton shipment of ore from the Deadwood-Redcloud group in the Gallinas, made by Schaeffer, Hoffman and Adouts, gave very satisfactory returns. The ore carried a gross value of $33.60 to the ton, of which lead was the greater value, copper second and silver third. The work of development and extraction continues and these gentlemen hope to have another shipment on the road at an early date.

SEEING LIFE with JOHN HENRY

by George V. Hobart

John Henry On Getting Grip

SAY! did you ever get on the goggles and go joy riding with an attack of the grip?

It has all other forms of amusement hustled to a lullaby—take it from Uncle Hank.

As a kid boy the grip has every other disease slapped to a sobbing standstill.

It's dollars to pretzels that the grip germ is the brainiest little bug that was ever chased by a doctor.

I was sitting quietly at home reading Maeterlinck on Auction Bridge when suddenly I began to sneeze like a Russian regiment answering roll call.

Friend wife was deep in the mysteries of Ibsen's latest achievement, "The Rise and Fall of the Hobbler Hsiri," but she politely acknowledged my first sneeze with the customary "Gesundheit!"

Then she trailed along bravely with her response for ten or fifteen minutes, but it was no use—I had more sneezes in my system than there are "Gesundheits" in the entire German nation, including principalities, possessions across the sea, and the Moral Union.

John, she ventured after a time, "you are getting a cold!"

"I'm not getting it," I sniffed, "I have it now."

What a mean, contemptible little creature a grip germ must be. Absolutely without any of the finer instincts it sneaks into people's systems disguised as an ordinary cold. It isn't on the level like appendicitis or inflammatory rheumatism, both of which are brave and fearless and will walk right up to you and kick you on the shins big as you are.

Nobody ever knows just what make-up the grip germ will put on to break into the human system, but once they get a foothold in the epiglottis nothing can remove them except inward applications of dynamite.

The grip germ hates the idea of race suicide.

I discovered shortly after I had sneezed myself into a condition of pale blue profanity that a newly-married couple of grip germs had taken a notion to build a nest somewhere on the outskirts of my solar plexus, and two hours later they had about 253

"Right again," I whispered. "Do the joints feel sore and pinched like a poolroom?" he said.

"Right!"

"Does your tongue feel rare and high priced like a porterhouse steak at a summer resort?"

"Exactly!"

"Do you feel a spasmodic fluttering in the concertina?"

"Yes!"

"Have you a sort of nervous heaving in your hunger and does everything you eat taste like an impossible sandwich made by a ghostly baker from disappearing bread and phantom ham?"

"Kemo!"

"Does your nerve center tinkle-tinkle like a breakfast bell in a kitchenless boarding house?"

"Right again!"

"Have you a feeling that the germs have attacked your Adam's apple and that there won't be any core?"

"Yes!"

"When you look at the wall paper does your brain do a sort of loop-the-loop and cause you to meld 100 aces or double pinochle?"

"Yes, and 80 kings, too!"

"Do you feel a slight palpitation of the membrane of the Colorado madura and is there a confused murmur in your brain like the sound of a hard-working gas meter?"

"You've got me sized good and plenty, Doc!"

"Do you have insomnia, nightmares, loss of appetite, chills and fever and concealed respiration in the Carolina perfect?"

"That's the idea, Doc!"

"When you lie on your right side do you have an impulse to turn over on your left side, and when you turn over on your left side do you feel an impulse to jump out of bed and throw stones at a policeman?"

"There isn't anything you can mention, Doc, that I haven't got."

"Ah!" said the doctor, "then that settles it."

"Tell me the truth," I groaned. "What is it—bubonic plague?"

"You have something worse—you have the grip," Doctor Leiser whispered gently. "You see I tried hard to mention some symptom which you didn't have, but you had them and phenacetin, and a hot whisky toddy every half hour before meals.

If I found it hard to take the toddy he volunteered to run in every half hour and help me.

Then his wife, Aunt Jessica, blew in with a deduction she called catnip tea. She brought it all the way from the Bronx in a thermos bottle so I had to drink it or lose a perfectly respectable old aunt.

It tasted like a Holoetum cocktail—wegow!

During the rest of the day every friend and relative I have in the world rushed in, suggested a sure cure and then rushed out again.

Peaches tried them all on me and I felt like the inside of a medicine chest.

To make matters worse, I drank some dogberry cordial and it chased the catnip tea all over my coccyx.

Then Peaches, being a student of natural history, insisted that I take some hoshound, I suppose to bite the dogberry, but it didn't.

Blood will tell, so the hoshound joined forces with the dogberry and chased the catnip up my family tree.

Suffering antiseptics! everybody with a different remedy, from snake poison to soothing syrup—but it cured the grip.

Now all I have to do is to cure the medicine.

That Stamped Return Envelope.

"Among the many letters I receive from charitable enterprises asking me to contribute," said a man who gives occasionally, "I get now and then one that contains a return addressed envelope with a stamp on it."

"This must be an expensive way of sending out circulars, but I am inclined to think it pays. At any rate I know how it impresses one."

"I should not feel warranted in using that stamp for my own personal purposes, and of course it would be wasteful to throw it away; and then it seems to me a businesslike method of proceeding, thus to make it very easy for the person addressed to reply. Further, I rather admire the sporting spirit of an institution that is willing to risk a two-cent stamp on the chances of getting something more in return."

"So when I get one of those appeals containing an addressed and stamped return envelope I usually put into it and forward a small contribution."

Brass Band Curses Catalepsy.

An extraordinary instance of the curative power of music is recorded in newspapers recently arrived from Italy. In a Naples hospital lay a certain Francesco Messina who had arrived from New York in a condition of coma. He had been asleep for seven months and nothing the doctors could do would arouse him.

The Countess-Celli, visiting the hospital, suggested that a brass band be engaged to play expressly for the sleeper. The doctors laughed at her, but she got the band, brought it to the hospital, stationed it under the window of the ward in which Messina was sleeping and made it play its loudest and liveliest pieces. After an hour of drumming and trumpeting, Messina suddenly sat up, wide awake. He was cured and was at once discharged. This is the third time he has had such a cataleptic attack, the first having been precipitated by his sweetheart jilting him.

Co-Operation.

My Friends and Relatives Began to Drop In.

children attending the public school of my medusa oblongata; and every time school would let out for recess I would go up in the air and hit the ceiling with my limbs.

Before daylight came all these grip children had graduated from school and after tearing down the schoolhouse the whole bunch had married and had large families of their own, and all hands were out paddling their canoes on my alimentary canal.

By nine o'clock that morning there must have been eighty-five million grip germs armed with self-loading revolvers all trying to shoot their initials over the walls of my interior department.

It was fierce!

When Doctor Leiser arrived on the scene I was carrying enough concealed weapons to start something in Mexico.

The good old pill pusher threw his saws behind the sofa, put his dip net on the mantelpiece, and took a fall out of my pulse.

"Ah!" he said, after he had noted that my tongue looked like a curry-comb.

"The same to you, Doc," I said.

"Ah!" he said, looking hard at the wall.

"Say, Doc!" I whispered; "there's no use to cut off my leg, because the germs will hide in my elbow."

"Do you feel shooting pains in the cerebellum near the apex of the com-mobiliflex?" inquired the doctor.

"Surest thing you know," I said.

"Have you a burning in the ears, and a confused sound like distant laughter in the paranasals?" he asked.

"It's a cinch, Doc," I said.

"Do you feel a restiack in the cornucopia with a tickling sensation in the diaphragm?" he asked.

SOLDIERS WHO WEAR HELLS

British Troops in Southwest Africa Have to Conduct Campaign Under Difficulties.

One of the hottest places where the British are fighting is in German Southwest Africa, where General Botha is in command of an expedition against the enemy. The habitable part of German Southwest Africa lies in the center of a sun-scorched, waterless, shadowless desert of shifting sand, and General Botha's men have to carry everything they need, for nothing whatever can be obtained from the country, not even fodder for the animals.

The sand penetrates everywhere, and the heat of the sun is so terrific that all the troops fighting with General Botha have been served out with vells and "goggles." Without them, indeed, it would be impossible to get along at all, and, as it is, hundreds of the Boer burghers, though hardened campaigners, have been so blistered by the heat that they are in hospital.

The heat at midday is 122 degrees in the shade and the "shade" is a sweltering tent. Many of the troops pass that time of the day with nothing on but a sun helmet and a pair of boots.

Horse Chestnut.

"I was sitting on the bootblack's stand," said the story-teller, "when the parade came along the grand marshal riding a big bay horse at its head. Well, just as the head of the parade came opposite me, it stopped. The grand marshal's horse wouldn't go another step."

"Recognized you as his long lost half brother, I suppose," said one of his listeners maliciously.

"Think you're smart, don't you? Well, I'll tell you, anyhow. It was pride that made that horse stop—nothing but pride. He wanted his shoes shined."

Perfect Vision.

"You big nut," said the batter, as the umpire called the third strike. "That was a foot outside. What's the matter with your eyes?"

"Nothing at all," replied the arbitrator in chilling tones. "I can see from here to the clubhouse, and if I don't see you over there in five minutes it'll cost you fifty dollars."

Thoughtful Old Soul.

"My dear, I've an idea," said old Mrs. Goodart to her caller. "You know we frequently read of the soldiers making sorties. Now why not make up a lot of those sorties and send them to the poor fellows at the front?"—Boston Evening Transcript.

One of the Two.

He—Have you folks decided yet where you are all going to spend the summer?

She—Not quite. He says it's at the White mountains, but she declares it'll be at the poorhouse.—Boston Evening Transcript.

Lost to Sight.

"How annoying! The English and German accounts of the latest battle don't agree."

"What can you expect? Truth and Veracity 'dug themselves in' when the first shot of the war was fired."

A Discovery.

"What I want to find for the summer is a nice, quiet place where I can do as I please."

"That's my idea exactly. I'm going to stay home."

SHE QUIT

But It Was a Hard Pull.

It is hard to believe that coffee will put a person in such a condition as it did an Ohio woman. She tells her own story:

"I did not believe coffee caused my trouble, and frequently said I liked it so well I would not, and could not, quit drinking it, but I was a miserable sufferer from heart trouble and nervous prostration for four years."

"I was scarcely able to be around, had no energy and did not care for anything. Was emaciated and had a constant pain around my heart until I thought I could not endure it."

"Frequently I had nervous chills and the least excitement would drive sleep away, and any little noise would upset me terribly. I was gradually getting worse until finally I asked myself what's the use of being sick all the time and buying medicine so that I could indulge myself in coffee?"

"So I got some Postum to help me quit. I made it strictly according to directions and I want to tell you that change was the greatest step in my life. It was easy to quit coffee because I now like Postum better than the coffee."

"One by one the old troubles left until now I am in splendid health, nerves steady, heart all right and the pain all gone. Never have any more nervous chills, don't take any medicine, can do all my house work and have done a great deal besides."

Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read "The Road to Wellville," in pks.

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original form—must be well boiled. 15c and 25c packages.

Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 25c and 50c tins.

Both kinds are equally delicious and best about the same per cup.

GOOD ROADS

WIDE TIRES IMPROVE ROADS

Mechanical Expert of Kansas College Gives Farmers Advice Based on Practical Experience.

"Wide-tired wagons pull more easily than narrow-tired ones 30 per cent of the times when they are used," says F. A. Wirt, instructor in farm mechanics in the Kansas state agricultural college. Professor Wirt has just completed experiments with wide and narrow-tired wagons.

Narrow tires pull harder than wide tires, says Professor Wirt, because the narrow tire cuts deeper into the top soil. The wide tire does not cut so deep and makes a better track on roads which are traveled while the ground is soft. The wide tire packs the surface into a firm roadbed.

The experiments show that in cornfields, plowed fields, field lanes, and on pasture and on alfalfa land, the draft of the wide tire is considerably less no matter what the condition of the soil.

In places where the mud is deep and rolls up on the wheels, in ruts made by narrow wheels, or in a surface of mud with a hard ground beneath, the narrow tire will pull more easily. The narrow wheel fits the rut, on the hard bottom of which it runs, and it collects less mud than the wide tire.

Width of tire and height of wheel have a great effect upon the draft. The usual width of the narrow tire is one and three-fourths inches; while the wide tire is usually three or four inches wide respectively. Six-inch wheels are used only on low trucks. One type of wheel rarely found is the low wheel with narrow tire. The draft with this is so great that a team can hardly pull a load in soft field surfaces.

A farmer who can afford only one wagon will find many factors entering into his selection. If he has to go on the roads in all kinds of weather, he will find the narrow tires better because they will collect less mud when the roads are bad. On the other hand, if he goes only when the roads are good, or uses the wagon in the fields a great deal, he will find the wide tire will be preferred because of the lighter draft and less damage to the fields.

One of the main points in favor of the wide tires is that their use greatly improves the roadbed, as they will pack the top soil making the roadbed firm and thus enabling it to drain well in time of rain. The wide tire will not cut up the meadow or field as does the narrow tire. This is also important, as a smooth surface in the meadow is much easier to mow over.

BAD ROADS CAUSE ACCIDENTS

Claims Made on Insurance Company for Four Deaths From Mishaps Due to Faulty Highways.

Do we need good roads? The report of a Chicago traveling man's insurance organization covers the payment of ten death claims for the first 55 days of the year, and of these four were deaths resulting from motor-car accidents due to bad roads.

It is singular that these four deaths occurred one each in the four northwestern states of Minnesota, the Dakotas and Montana.

In each case the traveling man's organization paid $5,000.

This furnishes a striking example of the financial and economic loss charged up directly to bad roads.

The American Road Builders' association and the American Highway Association are to meet together for the first time next September, Gov. C. V. Gates announces. The convention will be held either at Oakland, Cal., or San Francisco.

How It Happened.

"It was this way," said the tattooed man to his circle of interested listeners. "I was marooned on an island in the South Pacific and captured by a band of savages. They demanded a thousand dollars for my release. I was in a terrible predicament—all my money was in a New York bank, and I hadn't a cent with me."

"What did you do?" asked one of the listeners as the tattooed man paused for breath.

"I told them to draw on me, and they did."

University Students Hear Famous Men

Students at the University of New Mexico during the coming college year, which opens August 17th, will have the opportunity during the year of hearing a series of lectures such as seldom can be heard anywhere in the United States during a similar period, even in the great cities. For some years past the Tuesday morning assembly hour has been made the occasion for a brief lecture on some subject of general practical interest, by some men or women not connected with the institution. In the list from time to time some notable men have appeared and the lectures have proven one of the most valuable features of life at the university. But during the coming year, through fortunate circumstances, almost every assembly period on Tuesday will bring a speaker of national reputation; or an authority in his special line. President Boyd for some time has been searching out these men from among the hundreds who will go to the Pacific coast expositions, during the fall and early winter, and already has secured the promises of a number who will stop off in Albuquerque to speak to the students. Dr. Boyd went to California the first of this week, not only for a vacation, but to meet a number of speakers of national reputation on the coast, who he expects to get to make the stop at Albuquerque for a Tuesday morning assembly lecture. The lectures thus are secured at very little cost to the university and at no cost at all to the students. Professor Stanley Seder, head of the university school of music has concluded arrangements for a few noteworthy musical events by famous musicians, which will vary the lecture series.

Moose Pass Through

Eastern delegates to the Moose convention passed through today enroute to San Diego. They are traveling in a special which is being run as second No. 3. This order will hold its convention in the California city.

One of the important features to come before their convention will be the selection of a place for a national sanatorium for the order, principally for the treatment of lung trouble. Naturally, the institution is expected to be located in the west, and New Mexico, in common with other western states, will endeavor to secure it. And with this end in view, the Carrizozo Commercial Club had a committee to meet the train here, discussed the matter with some of the Moose representatives and distributed a large amount of literature throughout the train.
