

Taxpayers' Association's Statement on Subject

Santa Fe, N. M., Sept. 9.—At the meetings recently held in Santa Fe for the formation of a State Taxpayers' Association there was some discussion of the question of the finances of the state for the fourth or coming fiscal year. It was suggested that the executive committee of the association ascertain, if possible, just what are the requirements and resources of the state, and publish the same, so that the public might have the necessary data for forming an intelligent opinion on the question. The most reliable information obtainable at this time is included in the following summary:

The state appropriation, for convenience, may be divided into three classes:

1. Appropriations by special acts of the 1915 legislature.
2. Continuing appropriations by special acts prior to the 1915 legislature.
3. Appropriations in the general appropriation bill of the last, or 1915, legislature.

Under the first heading, appropriations by special acts of the 1915 legislature, are included the following items, which are binding appropriations:

Museum of New Mexico	$10,000
U. S. Army of Normal School students	7,000
State Tax Commission	10,000
State traveling auditor and bank exam- iner	11,700
San Diego Exposition	12,000
M. M. Building reproduction	15,000
Charitable institutions	32,000
Total	$104,500

The second heading, Postulating appropriations by special acts prior to the 1915 legislature, including those appropriations made in chapters 24, laws of 1912; chapter 22, laws of 1913; chapter 126, laws of 1914, and chapters 24 and 51, laws of 1915, and amount in the aggregate

Interest on bonded debt and principal on certificates of indebtedness	$ 55,540
Miscellaneous institutions, including the University, school of Mines, Military Institute, Normal schools, Deaf and Dumb school and Blind Institute	317,500
Other state institutions, including the Insane asylum, Reform school, Miners' Hospital and Penitentiary	168,220
Expenses of the general government, including salaries of officials and assistants, expenses of National Guard, the library, courts, Corporation Com-

Tax Association Will Work In Every County

It is predicted by those familiar with the aims and working organization of Taxpayer's Association of New Mexico, recently perfected at Santa Fe, that the membership will run into the hundreds of taxpayers in every county in the state within the next thirty days. Membership in the association will entitle the member to the publications of the association, and these alone will be worth

Mission, printing, buildings, etc.	$13,700
For the Legislature	25,000
Miscellaneous	1,419
Total	$40,119
Total outstanding appropriations	$182,379
Add to the above the estimated expenses of state traveling auditor and state bank examiner	5,000
Total	$187,379

RECAPITULATION

Appropriations, Class 1	$104,500
Class 2	23,100
Class 3	757,379
Total	$924,979

Total requirements for all purposes

From this, in figuring the sum which must be raised by taxation on a 3 mill levy we must deduct:
1st. Interest (which is not included in the 3 mill maximum levy)	$ 59,540
2d. The appropriation for the legislature, not required until 1917	25,000
3d. Estimated income available either than by taxation, including fees	30,000
4th. Estimated income available from tax on production of mines	30,000
Total deductions	114,540
Net total to be raised by taxation	$772,159

What is there available to meet these requirements? The total assessment of all property in the state, as shown by the tax rolls as they have been filed by the assessors with the state tax commission, is $283,276,934. Now a 3 mill levy, if all collected, would produce on the above assessment a total of $849,830.80. If but 90 per cent of the whole be collected said levy would produce a total of $764,847.72.

This shows probable resources of... To meet appropriations amounting to 772,159.00 Or an apparent deficit of... $ 7,391.38 In case only 85 per cent of the taxes should be collected the net income would be... $722,356.18 To meet appropriations as above... 772,159.00 Or an apparent deficit of... $ 49,792.82

It is reasonable to expect, in view of the state's extreme need, that all collecting officials will bend every effort to secure at least a ninety per cent collection of the taxes and that under the condi-

the small membership dues assessed. H. J. Hagerman, of Roswell, president of the association, has established an organization office at Albuquerque and has taken personal charge of directing the membership campaign. Full information about the association and membership applications may be had from T. A. Spencer, member of the general council for this county, or on application to the Taxpayers' Association of New Mexico, P. O. Box 601, Albuquerque, N. M.

tions public sentiment will require such officials to do so. The income from the mine output tax, shown above as "estimated", is an unknown quantity. The best authorities estimate it variously at from $25,000 to $55,000. It seems safe, therefore, to estimate this income at $30,000, while an equally conservative estimate would place the income available from fees, etc., at approximately an equal amount, or a total of $60,000, as shown above, which may be expected with reason to become available from these two sources.

A special levy of one third of one mill for road purposes was authorized by the last legislature. Whether or not this levy is to be included in the three mill maximum permitted for state purposes, or may, in whole or in part be added to the 3 mill levy, is a question, which we understand is now being considered by the taxing officials of the state. If it should be decided that this one third of one mill could be added to the 3 mills the interest on the state road bond issue of $500,000 would be provided for and thus reduce the estimated deficit, on the basis of an 85 per cent collection of taxes, to approximately $25,000.

On a basis of a 90 per cent collection of taxes the availability of this extra one third of one mill would leave a balance of about $17,000. It would seem from the above statement, drawn from all official sources available, that there is no present cause for serious alarm, and that there is little prospect of a deficit which would require any extraordinary measures of relief.

Jack's Peak

There was a wedding last week at the residence of Nicolas Maes. The bride is his niece, and a daughter of Cornelius Maes, the groom is Grayville Richardson, of Arabela, a son of the late Andrew Richardson.

Mrs. E. H. Talbert left Saturday for Colorado Springs to visit with her family.

Bivia Brookin and wife visited in the settlement Sunday.

Mr. T. W. Stonerod was over from Jicarilla Sunday looking after his horses.

Mr. E. H. Talbert went to Lincoln Saturday for a load of hogs, which are now helping to diminish the acorn crop.

There have been a series of religious lectures in the school house at Jicarilla by Mr. S. C. Burnett, to which some of the "Jackites" went, and greatly appreciated.

There is a stone mason here soliciting work. And we think he will not be disappointed.

It is queer what judgement some people display in naming the "best" Lincoln county newspaper. This would make an interesting contest, friends.

Ed Wilson is cutting his cane, to be ahead of the early touches of frost.

September brings with it the soft Indian summer with its beautiful veil-like atmosphere and balmy weather, and "Jack Crawford", always austere, surmounts the billowy haze in silent grandeur.

A. H. Norton has just completed the cutting and shocking of his cane.

Messrs. Pitts, Talbert and Stubbs are busily at work harvesting their oats.

The housewives are all putting up fruit in the various ways of keeping it through the winter.

First Week of School Work

A teacher's meeting was held at the superintendent's residence Saturday afternoon and preliminaries arranged for the opening of school.

If any of the town people have any towels, table-cloths, napkins, dust-cloths, or any other articles to be hemmed, the girls of the sewing class in the high school will be glad to do this free of charge. They will also embroider one letter on any piece of linen, all materials to be furnished by owners.

The first week of school shows a large enrollment in all grades. The spirit of work is in the school building and in spite of the tardy arrival of the newly adopted texts, no time has been lost. The teachers report good work, and reviews bring out a good memory of last term's work.

Mrs. Clunn is enthusiastic over the outlook for public school music. She finds the pupils well prepared by last year's music work to accomplish still greater things this year. There is still room for two or three more special piano pupils, though a goodly number have already enrolled. The charge for this special instruction will be $4.00 for four weeks instead of $5.00 per month previously announced. This will be two lessons a week of one half hour's duration.

There was an abundant yield of all sorts of fruit in the little orchards around here.

We learn that Mr. Sheeler left for Mountainair a few days ago, to bring back a valuable work horse, which was stolen from him a year ago. He recovered the animal through the kindness of Mr. Ross, who for years lived in this section of country.

The Burnett boys have just finished cutting their cane. They had a fine, heavy crop.

Parsons

Mr. and Mrs. A. T. Anderson have returned from El Paso, where they spent several days. They were not inclined to prolong their stay in the metropolis as the weather seemed intolerably hot after the cool mountain climate.

The Misses Keiller, who have spent the summer with the Rice family, returned to their home in Galveston Thursday.

Dr. and Mrs. Dryden celebrated their twentieth wedding anniversary in Parsons last Saturday and are now visiting friends in Fort Stanton before preparing for their return trip to Arizona in their car.

Miss Johnnie Spiller, who has been visiting her sister here for several weeks, has returned to her home in Carrizozo to attend the high school.

Little Eva Grafton and Willis Jennings have been ill during the past week.

These cool days begin to make people think of the necessity of replenishing their wood piles.

Mrs. J. D. Brack, of Corpus Christi, Texas, arrived this week and will spend the winter with her sister, Mrs. Hugh Coombs.

Mrs. Thomas Bragg and children spent Sunday with the family of Mr. Lucas.

The orchards along the Bonito are loaded with fruit and if cold weather keeps off a little longer the crop ought to be a bumper one.

Albert Ross has been sick all the past week with a very bad cold.

Levi Currant is breaking broncos for Sam Frambough.

Mr. S. C. Burnett was over Saturday and Sunday to visit home folks.

Dr. J. W. Laws passed through Saturday from Lincoln on his way to Las Vegas via El Paso. He went to attend a meeting of the medical association held at the Meadow City.

THE CHARM OF MOTHERHOOD

Enhanced By Perfect Physical Health

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism untrained for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once children there are now children because of the fact that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes women normal, healthy and strong.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (consultant) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

BLACK LEG

LOSSES SOONLY PREVENTED BY CUTLER'S BLACK LEG OINTMENT

GETS 2-CENT MONEY ORDER

The smallest money order ever made out by the agent for the local express company was given to a woman to pay on an account owed to a mail-order house, according to a Blackwell story printed in the Ardmoreite. The woman had received a letter from the mail-order house notifying her that she owed the firm two cents. Indignant and unable to realize the spirit that would prompt anyone to mail a bill for two cents, the woman decided that a post office stamp would not suffice and that only a money order would do. The fee for the order was three cents and the postage stamp necessary to carry it cost two cents more, so that with the two-cent postage stamp that carried the bill to the woman seven cents was expended in collecting a two-cent debt. —Kansas City Journal.

NO IDEA What Caused the Trouble.

"I always drink coffee with the rest of the family, for it seemed as if there was nothing for breakfast if we did not have it on the table."

"I had been troubled for some time with my heart, which did not feel right. This trouble grew worse steadily."

"Sometimes it would beat fast, and at other times very slowly, so that I would hardly be able to do work for an hour or two after breakfast, and if I walked up a hill, it gave me a severe pain."

"I had no idea of what the trouble was until a friend suggested that perhaps it might be coffee drinking. I tried leaving off the coffee and began drinking Postum. The change came quickly. I am glad to say that I am now entirely free from heart trouble and attribute the relief to leaving off coffee and the use of Postum."

"A number of my friends have abandoned coffee and have taken up Postum, which they are using steadily. There are some people that make Postum very weak and tasteless, but if made according to directions, it is a very delicious beverage." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

Postum comes in two forms: Postum Cereal—the original formula—must be well boiled. 16c and 25c packages. Instant Postum—a soluble powder—dissolves quickly in a cup of hot water, and, with cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage instantly. 25c and 50c tins. Both kinds are equally delicious and cost about the same per cup. "There's a Reason" for Postum. —sold by Greenes.

NATIONAL CAPITAL AFFAIRS

Songbirds That Spend the Summer in Washington

WASHINGTON.—Certain varieties of songbirds come to Washington for the summer months only, and at present numbers of these visitors can be seen in the city parks, in the grounds of the capitol, White House or agricultural department. They are recognized both by their tuneful songs and by their vivid coloring. The summer birds have bright reds, yellows, green and blues in their coats, in marked contrast to the sober grays and browns of those which fly about during the drearier months of the year. The warblers, thrushes, vireos, tanagers, swallows and orioles make up this summer colony which settles in the heart of the city and in its many beautiful suburbs beyond.

The warblers are a "busy little group that frequent the Virginia side of the Potomac from Rosslyn to Chain bridge. They are small birds with thin voices that are not especially musical, although one or two varieties have some really fine singers.

The thrush family contains some of the sweetest singers, and with many bird lovers they are the favorite songsters. The wood thrush, which is larger than the other varieties, is a bright brown in color, with large dark spots on its creamy breast. It is found in most woods around Washington, and generally sings at sunset, early in the morning or on a cloudy day. Its song is clear and thrilling, while its call-note is a soft "whit, whit."

Another interesting group are the vireos, dainty little birds whose coloring harmonizes so well with the leaves around which they live that they are often passed by unnoticed. They have sweet voices and build little basket nests suspended from forked twigs.

The Smithsonian grounds are a favorite place for the orioles, both the Baltimore and orchard.

The tanagers are the most brilliant of all the colony. The scarlet tanager, as its name implies, is a seven-inch bird with bright flaming body and jet black wings. He mostly keeps well outside the city limits; as his bright coloring is a sure mark for his enemies.

District of Columbia 125 Years Old This Year

THE district of Columbia was established as the seat of the government of the United States by congress 125 years ago—July 16, 1790. The requisite area for the District was offered to congress by the states of Maryland and Virginia, and originally was a square, the sides of which were about ten miles each.

After the war was over it was deemed advisable to look about for a permanent residence of congress. The articles of confederation left congress free to meet where it would. There were shortly many competitors. Of the 13 states which at that time fringed the Atlantic, the central point was in Maryland and Virginia. Early in 1782 New York tendered Kingston; in May, Maryland urged the choice of Annapolis; in June, New Jersey offered a district below the falls of the Delaware. Virginia, having Georgetown for its object, invited Maryland to join in a cession of equal portions of territory lying together on the Potomac, leaving congress to fix its residence on either side.

During the summer congress appointed a committee to consider what jurisdiction it should exercise in its abiding place. Things drifted on for some time, and finally, partly in deference to Washington's judgment, the Potomac country was selected. By an act of March 30, 1791, Washington was authorized to select the site and mark the boundaries, and this he did early in the year, the corner stone of the Federal territory being laid on April 10.

Maj. Pierre Charles l'Enfant, a French engineer, who had served in the Continental army, was chosen to lay out the town, and though dismissed in March, 1793, he drew up a plan which was adopted by the commissioners in charge, and in accordance with this Andrew Ellicott laid out the city.

Album of Escaped Federal Convicts Is Prepared

SOMEWHERE beyond the reach of the long fingers of the law a scattered, furtive company of criminals are "hiding out" today. They are men who have escaped from federal prisons during the past six years. Some of them may have dived in their self-sought obscurity. Others may have made perilous going to some strange port where extradition is an unknown menace.

Yet, whether they are alive or dead, and whether they are in a zone of safety or skulking in some underworld dive from which they could be dragged forth to pay the penalty for their offenses, the superintendent of prisons in the department of justice and county sheriffs and prison officials throughout the country are anxious to learn their whereabouts. This is why a small volume containing the photographs of the escaped criminals, their descriptions, details of the crimes for which they are wanted and facts concerning their escapes has just been prepared for publication.

These escaped convict albums will be distributed broadcast throughout the country. One of the most interesting features of the album, aside from the fact that each page of it will contain the record of crime or tragedy, is the fact that it emphasizes, perhaps, more than anything else has ever done, the comparative infrequency of escapes from federal penitentiaries and jails. There are approximately only 150 convicts at large today who have won their ways clear of federal prisons without the formality of discharge or pardon.

Cranks From Everywhere Flock to the Capital

WASHINGTON has been declared the mecca for cranks. Stowed away in corners of their diseased minds are wonderfully fantastic schemes which they hope to carry out with the aid of the president. For the majority of these monomaniacs—that is the scientific name for them—have a keen desire to see the chief representative of the United States.

There are many different varieties of cranks. Most of them are harmless and imagine themselves people of importance. They assume dignified postures in front of the White House, and haughtily demand that the policeman on guard present their cards and respects to the president. Still others, cranks of the inventive turn of mind, have just invented flying yachts or engineless autos, and wish to have President Wilson put his stamp of approval on them.

There are a few dangerous cranks. Frank Hill, who placed a bomb in the capitol, shot J. P. Morgan, threatened to dynamite several big ocean liners and committed suicide in jail, was of this latter class. These monomaniacal labor under the delusion that they have "received orders from on high" to perform a certain "task for the benefit of mankind." Whatever crimes they commit they believe are wise acts which will aid humanity.

In order to safeguard the high officials of this country, the chief targets for these individuals of strange hallucinations, and the residents of Washington against any acts of violence which they might commit, squads of uniformed police had post-station men are on the alert day and night for the cranks who arrive in the city from time to time with their wild plans matured and ready to put in action.

HIGHWAY IMPROVEMENT

1,000-MILE ROAD PROPOSED

Canada to Build Route Similar to Lincoln Highway—To Extend From Winnipeg to Calgary.

Central-western Canada will have a federal highway much after the plan of the Lincoln highway proposed across the United States if the project being tried by the board of control of Winnipeg is carried out. This project contemplates the construction of a concrete highway from Winnipeg to Calgary, to go through the more thickly settled territory tapped by the Canadian Pacific railway.

The thousand miles of highway through the provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and halfway into Alberta will be financed by the municipalities by which the roadway would be traversed. Special appropriations also will be sought from the provincial governments. The project has been received with enthusiasm in a number of the larger cities along the proposed route.

It has been pointed out by the promoters of the highway through the prairie provinces that its construction would enhance the value of the farm lands for several miles on both sides of the concrete roadway.

LOOKING AFTER GOOD ROADS

Splitting Drag Can Be Employed to Good Advantage—Prompt, Intelligent Action Needed.

Every farmer should spend some time looking after the roads. The splitting drag can be used to good advantage. Road dragging at the proper time will insure good dirt roads the greater part of the year. All it needs is prompt, intelligent action. It must, however, be done at the right time to get the best results.

Yes! It is true in many places that the road dragging should be done by the county, but every farmer should take enough interest in the community welfare to see that the road in front of his farm is gone over with a splitting drag.

There is no other one thing that would add to our advancement, both commercial and social as much as would good roads. Spend a few hours at this season of the year, when the frost is coming out of the ground and the wet from rain and snow is drying up, with a splitting drag and it will result in better roads, a good advertisement for your farm and its owner.

NEW YORK'S IMPROVED ROADS

State Spending One Hundred Million Dollars on High-Class Thoroughfares—Money Well Spent.

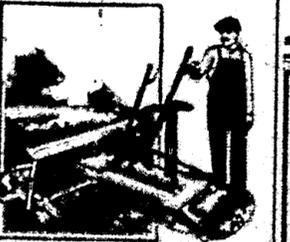

The state of New York is spending one hundred millions of dollars in building good roads. That seems like an enormous sum of money, but there was a demand for good roads, and the results so far secured are worth all the effort.

Over fifty million dollars have already been spent and about as much more is now available, and in a few years almost every portion of the state will be reached by high-class finished roads. They are like boulevards, well-constructed, well cared for and ought to be very permanent.

Save the Babies.

INFANT MORTALITY is something frightful. We can hardly realize that of all the children born in civilized countries, twenty-two per cent., or nearly one-quarter, die before they reach one year; thirty-seven per cent., or more than one-third, before they are five, and one-half before they are fifteen!

We do not hesitate to say that a timely use of Castoria would save a majority of these precious lives. Mothers do not hesitate to say that many of their infants' ailments are occasioned by the use of narcotic preparations. Laxatives, cathartics and soothing syrups sold for children's complaints contain more or less opium or morphine. They are, in considerable quantities, deadly poisons. In any quantity, they paralyze, retard circulation and lead to congestion, sickness, death. Castoria operates exactly the reverse, but you must see that it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher. Castoria causes the blood to circulate properly, opens the pores of the skin and allays fever. Genuine Castoria always bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher

BILL SOLVED THE PROBLEM

Some very funny things happen when you least expect them. A relative of mine wrote me from Chicago that he and his wife were coming here to live with me. So I wrote them to come and bring all their things, never for a moment thinking any of the family could have hustled together so many things. Soon I received a bill of lading for their household goods. It caused me a sleepless night. What could I ever do with so many goods? There were three big loads and it took two men and a team three days to get them from the station, where they left the train from Chicago. It was only with our help they got out of the car at all. The railroad folks simply left the car on the sidetrack.

What got me in the first place was that the freight had to be paid before we could take them out of the car. But the agent for the railroad made the discovery that the freight had been paid before leaving Chicago. Nothing could have delighted me more.

There were a good many things that had a looking glass running up over them in a frame. One of these things was the occasion of much vexation to me in trying to figure out what it could be for. It had a big box with a kiver that lifted. Then on each end of the box, just outside the kiver, was a railing to keep one from falling over its ends, just like a seat in a railroad car. I finally decided that this must be a feed box, which could also furnish a seat in the wagon. But I could not for the life of me figure it out why it should have a looking-glass attached to it that ran up towards the clouds about four feet.

There, however, were some other things that had this looking-glass attachment. There was a buffet and a chiffonier. Bill knew their names—Bill is a miser here and is up on parlor furniture. He used to live in New York before the civil war.

After getting a good many of the neighbors together after the fashion of a house-raising—excepting the cidee and refreshments—I ventured to suggest to Bill that the other thing with a looking-glass must be a feed box, and the looking-glass on top of it was for their pet pug, which they would probably bring with them, to see himself while he was eating.

I have seen expressions of disgust and contempt sweep across Bill's face before, like clouds in front of the sun, but nothing to compare.

"Why, no!" he said. "You d—n fool! That's a hall tree." That's the first one I ever saw here. Even halls don't grow here. There are some in Carrizozo and a few in White Oaks. Some way-up folks in those places. I guess Bill was right, for since the people came they call it a hall-rack.

There was furniture enough to start a hotel, and my cabin would make only a couple of rooms in a hotel. But here was an opportunity for me to exercise my architectural skill. What's the use of having anything unless you use it? I thought I could make a hall out of a couple of piano boxes that came filled with plunder. By arranging them one on each side of the window that came into the cabin from the gable end there would be a hall, which I could cover with limbs and leaves. Take the pass in the mountains at Capitan on the road to Lincoln and cover it with limbs, and there you have a hall.

had told her that mistletoe grew there.

I got the boxes around and took the hall tree out to find the right width for the hall. Just then I heard a hen cackling and I carelessly left the hall tree standing there while I went to see if the chicken had laid another egg for breakfast. When I was coming back with my breakfast in my hand I saw a steer twist his tail and dive for the looking-glass on the hall tree. Then there was a rattling of glass. I was so excited that I broke the egg in my hand. The steer had probably seen his picture in the looking-glass and dove for it. When I first saw my own picture in the glass I felt like fighting. That steer can whip e'ry other steer on the ranch.

There was one thing among the goods that has revolutionized my mode of living. There was a bed spring and a bed tick. I arranged them on my own bed in the tent. Bill told me how. Talk about comfort! I never had any before! I had practiced for years the motto, "Early to bed and early to rise," etc., and never got anything out of it but health. I now go to bed early but get up late. I don't see but what I am just as healthy as ever, either.

Since my relations came they have got me in doubt on the subject of woman's suffrage. Women want to vote to elevate politics. I heard one woman say they would clean out the Augean stable of politics. I can't see how politics can have any use for an Augean stable of any other stable. They have stalls for voting. I know, but never knew that there were regular stables. What kind of voters the Augueans are to need a stable I have to guess. Perhaps this is a metaphor, as the school teachers say. It is clear, anyway, that women will be expected to clean up something when they get the ballot. They can do that all right. Since my relative's wife came to the ranch it is hard to recognize it as the same place. The window is washed and got a curtain. OAKS WHITE.

State Fair Cuts Rate On Fun

A bargain sale in night tickets for the state fair is to be held throughout the state this week at which the people who expect to visit the fair will have an opportunity to purchase night admissions and grandstand privileges for just half price. The sale opened Tuesday and will close October 1st, after which time no more tickets will be sold at the bargain rate.

The regular night admission to the fair grounds is to be twenty-five cents with an additional twenty-five cents for grandstand. During the time of the sale a ticket will be issued for the six nights for both gate and grandstand for $1.50, or just half price. Checks, money orders, stamps or express orders should be sent from points outside Albuquerque to the state fair commission, which will take care of all orders received by letter.

This sale is a unique one and is planned to insure good crowds at the night performances, which are costing the fair management thousands of dollars. Two thousand tickets will be sold in Albuquerque alone by committees, which will cover the entire city, going from house to house.

The fair advertises this sale as a real bargain sale in fun and amusement. The night programs are to be filled with the best attractions that money can buy.

In the first place there is the Kilties band concert, which alone is worth the price of admission. Wherever the Kilties play, fifty and seventy-five cents is paid to hear the band, yet at the state fair this is but one of the many attractions for the night performances. Three thousand dollars worth of fireworks displays will be seen, showing some of the big events of the present war, aerial warfare and the battle of the Dardanelles.

One of the other attractions is a high wire act direct from the Panama Pacific Exposition. Another is the sensational Whit-takers, a bicycle high dive and high wire act, where the performers sweep through space and into a tank of fire with their clothes in flames. Still another attraction is the illuminated balloon ascensions.

In addition, Scotch singers, bagpipers, dancers and soloists will be seen and heard at night. There will be horse shows in illuminated rings, the U. S. cavalry band, moving pictures of New Mexico, such as are seen at San Diego, riding and other attractions. The night programs of the fair are as good as can be seen any place in the country. Additional seating capacity is being added to the grounds. Everyone expecting to attend the fair should send in their money for night tickets before the sale closes.

Saved Girl's Life. "I want to tell you what wonderful benefit I have received from the use of Thedford's Black-Draught," writes Mrs. Sylvania Woods, of Clifton Mills, Ky. "It certainly has no equal for la grippe, bad colds, liver and stomach troubles. I firmly believe Black-Draught saved my little girl's life. When she had the measles, they went in on her, but one good dose of Thedford's Black-Draught made them break out, and she has had no more trouble. I shall never be without THEDFORD'S BLACK-DRAUGHT in my home." For constipation, indigestion, headache, dizziness, malaria, chills and fever, biliousness, and all similar ailments, Thedford's Black-Draught has proved itself a safe, reliable, gentle and valuable remedy. If you suffer from any of these complaints, try Black-Draught. It is a medicine of known merit. Seventy-five years of splendid success proves its value. Good for young and old. For sale everywhere. Price 25 cents.

She Must be a Live One

We would respectfully call the attention of Mrs. Gumm, county superintendent of schools, to the following from the New Mexican, and, if not deemed officious, take the liberty of suggesting that the author of such a gay, glad, bonny, blithesome letter is entitled to distinguished consideration:

"Every year I have made a homerun with numerous touch downs on the diamond amidst wild applause from the bleachers occupied by critical parents and scrutinizing city superintendents. I have always been invited to stay longer on the team with the promise of more rocks at each monthly base."

In these words a California girl applies to the state superintendent of public instruction for a job to teach school in Santa Fe, or some other place in New Mexico. Her letter differs slightly in tone from the usual applications. She declines to send testimonials, saying they are of no use as they were written by her friends; she explains her failure to enclose a photograph on the ground that when her picture was taken she was "all doped up to go to the city" and would not be recognized in ordinary teacher's garb. "I am just a plain, prosy, harmless bachelor girl of uncertain years whose chief aim in life has been to teach school and to do it well," she adds concerning her ability. Her specialty is "English as she speaks," with a garnishment of Latin. She makes it plain she is willing to try, her luck with a letter written in unconventional style, adding: "After all, life is a game of lottery. Wealth, matrimony, position all frequently depend on the throw of a die."

After suggesting that the department of education may be doing already "a big mail order business," the applicant says that a telegram will fetch her here any time. In a postscript appears this tender thought: "Please give my kindest regards to the director."

Mr. Whit, head of the department, is going to look around to see whether there is an opening for this breezy California girl, for she seems to be a live wire.

SEEING LIFE with JOHN HENRY & George V. Hobart

John Henry on Servant Problem

WHEN Peaches and I get tired of the Big Town—tired of its noises and hubbub; tired of being tagged by taxis as we cross a street; tired of watching grocers and butchers holding higher the highest coat of living—that's our cue to grab a choo-choo and breeze out to Uncle Peter Grant's farm and bungalow in the wilds of Westchester, which he calls Troolyrooral.

Just to even matters up, Uncle Peter and his wife visit us from time to time in our amateur apartment in the Big Town.

Uncle Peter is a very stout old gentleman. When he squeezes into our little flat, the walls act as if they were bowlegged.

Uncle Peter always goes through the folding doors sideways, and every time he sits down the man in the apartment below us kicks because we move the piano so often.

Aunt Martha is Uncle Peter's wife and she weighs more and breathes heavier.

When the two of them visit our bird cage at the same time the janitor has to go out and stand in front of the building with a view to catching it if it falls.

When we reached Troolyrooral we found that "Cousin Elsie" Schulz was also a visitor there.

"Cousin Elsie" is a sort of privileged character in the family, having lived with Aunt Maria for over twenty years as a sort of housekeeper.

They call her "Cousin Elsie" just to make it more difficult.

Three or four years ago Elsie married Gustave Bierbauer and quit her job.

"Cousin Elsie" believes that conversation was invented for her exclusive use, and the way she can grab a bundle of the English language and break it up is a caution.

Two years after their marriage old Gustave stopped living so abruptly that the coroner had to sit on him.

The post mortem found out that Gustave had died from a rush of words to his brainpan.

The coroner also found, upon further examination, that all of these words had formerly belonged to Elsie.

joy. "I got it!" she said. "I had untied der messing of dot R. S. V. P. It means Real Silver Wedding Present!"

I was just about to drink a glass of water, so I changed my mind and nearly choked to death.

Elsie's interpretation of that wedding invitation is going to set Herman Schulz back several dollars, or I'm not a foot high.

And maybe they don't have their troubles at Troolyrooral with the servant problem.

One morning later on Peaches and I were out on the top porch drinking in the glorious air, and chatting with Hep Hardy, who had come out to spend Sunday with us, when Aunt Martha came bustling out, followed by Uncle Peter, who, in turn, was followed by Lizzie Joyce, their latest cook.

Lizzie wore a new lid, trimmed with prairie grass and field daisies, hanging like a shade over the left lamp; she had a grouchy looking grip in one hand and a green umbrella with black freckles in the other.

She was made up to catch the first train that snuffed into the station.

Aunt Martha whispered to us plaintively: "Lizzie has been here only two days, and this makes the seventh time she has started for town."

But Lizzie took the center of the stage and scowled at her audience. "I'm takin' the next train for town, mem!" she announced with considerable bitterness.

"What is it this time, Lizzie?" inquired Aunt Martha.

Lizzie put the grouchy grip down, folded her arms, and said: "Oh, I have no grievances!"

Uncle Peter sidled up to Aunt Martha and said in a hoarse whisper: "My dear, this shows a lack of firmness on your part. Now leave everything to me and let me settle this obstreperous servant once and for all!"

Uncle Peter crossed over and got in the limelight with Lizzie.

"It occurs to me," he began in polished accents, "that this is an occasion upon which I should publicly point out to you the error of your ways, and send you back to your humble station with a better knowledge of your status in this household."

"Beat!" said Lizzie, and Uncle Peter began to fish for his next line.

"I want you to understand," he went on, "that I pay you your wages!"

"Sure, if you didn't," was Lizzie's come-back. "I'd land on you good and hard, that I would. What else are you here for, you fathead?"

"Fathead!" echoed Uncle Peter in astonishment.

"Peter, leave her to me," pleaded Aunt Martha.

But Uncle Peter rushed blindly on to destruction. "Elizabeth," he said sternly, "in view of your most unrefined and unladylike language, it behooves me to reprimand you severely. I will therefore—"

Then Lizzie and the green umbrella struck a Casey-at-the-Bat pose, and cut in: "G'wan away from me with your dime novel talk or I'll place the back of me unladylike hand on your jaw!"

"Peter!" warningly exclaimed the perturbed Aunt Martha.

"Yes, Martha, you're right," the old gentleman said, turning hastily. "I must hurry and finish my correspondence before the morning mail goes." And he faded away.

"It isn't an easy matter to get servants out here," Aunt Martha whispered to us. "I must humor her. Now, Lizzie, what's wrong?"

"You told me, mem, that I should have a room with a southern exposure," said the Queen of the Hunga-few.

"And isn't the room as described?" asked Aunt Martha.

"The room is all right, but I don't care for the exposure," said the Princess of Porkchops.

maid in a cold storage. I'm a cook, mem, it's true, but I'm no relation to Doctor Cook, and I ain't eager to sleep in a room where even a Polar bear would be growlin' for a fur coat."

"Very well, Lizzie," said Aunt Martha, soothingly. "I'll have storm windows put on at once and extra quilts sent to the room, and a gas stove if you wish."

"All right, mem," said the Countess of Cornbeef, removing the lid. "I'll stay, but keep that husband of yours with the woody lingo out of the kitchen, because I'm a nervous woman—I am that!" And then the Duchess of Devil'd Kidneys got a strange hold on her green umbrella and ducked for the grub foundry.

Aunt Martha sighed and went in the house.

"Hep," I said; "this scene with Her Highness of Glamchowder ought to be an awful warning to you. No man should get married these days unless he's sure his wife can juggle the frying pan and take a fall out of an eggbeater. They've had eight cooks in eight days, and every time a new face comes in the kitchen the coalscuttle screams with fright.

"We had one last week who answered roll call when you yelled Phyllis."

"Isn't that a peach of a handle for a kitchen queen with a map like the Borough of Bronx on a dark night?"

"She came here well recommended—by herself. She said she knew how to cook backward."

"We beloved her after the first meal, because that's how she cooked. When Phyllis found there was no shredded oats in the house for breakfast she changed the cover of the washtub into sawdust and sprinkled it with the whisk broom, chopped fine."

"It wasn't a half bad breakfast food of the homestead kind, but every time I took a drink of water the sawdust used to float up in my throat and tickle me."

"The first and only day, she was with us Phyllis squandered two dollars' worth of eggs to make a lemon meringue poppie."

"She tried to be artistic with this, but one of the eggs was old and nervous and it slipped."

"Uncle Peter asked Phyllis if she could cook some Hungarian goulash, and Phyllis screamed: 'No; my parents have been Swedes all their lives!' Then she ran him across the lawn with the carving knife."

"Aunt Martha went to the kitchen to ask what was for dinner, and Phyllis got back at her: 'I'm a woman, it is true, but I will show you that I can keep a secret!'"

"When the meal came on the table we were compelled to keep the secret with her."

"On the second day it suddenly occurred to Phyllis that she was working, so she handed in her resignation, handed Hank, the gardener, a jolt in his cafe department, handed out a lot of unnecessary talk, and left us flat."

"The next rebate we got in the kitchen was a colored man named James Buchanan Pendergrast."

"James was all there is and carry four. He was one of the most careful cooks that ever made faces at roast beef."

"The evening he arrived we intended to have shad roe for dinner, and James informed us that that was where he lived."

"Eight o'clock came, and no dinner. Then Aunt Martha went in the kitchen to convince him that we were human beings with appetites."

"She found Careful James counting the roe to see if the fish dealer had sent the right number."

"He was up to 2,196,493, and still had half a pound to go."

"James left that night, followed by shouts of approval from all present."

"I'm telling you all this, Hep, just to prove that fate is kind while it delays your wedding until some genius invents an automatic cook made of aluminum and electricity."

Hep laughed and shook his head. "This servant problem won't delay my wedding," he choriced; "if there wasn't a cook left in the world we wouldn't care; we're going to be vegetarians because we're going to live in the Garden of Eden."

"Tush!" I snickered. "Tush, yourself!" said Hep. "Oh, tush, both of you," said Peaches. "John said that very thing to me three weeks before we were married."

"Sure I did, I went back, and we're still in the Garden, aren't we? Of course if you want to subset part of it and have Hep and his-bridge roaming moonstruck through your strawberry beds, that's up to you!"

"Well," said friend wife, "being alone in the Garden of Eden is all right, but after you've been there three or four years there's a mild excitement in hearing a strange voice, even if it is that of a serpent!"

Close the door, Della, I feel a draft.

Uncle Peter is a Very Stout Old Gentleman.

Uncle Peter is a Very Stout Old Gentleman.

Then Lizzie and the Green Umbrella Struck a Casey-at-the-Bat Pose.

with the exception of a few which were once the property of Gustave's favorite bartender.

After Gustave's exit, Aunt Maria tried to get Elsie back on her job, but the old Dutch had her eye on Herman Schulz, and finally married him.

So now every once in a while Elsie moseys over from Plainfield, N. J., where she lives with Herman, and proceeds to sew a lot of pillow slips and things for Aunt Martha.

One morning while Peaches and I were at breakfast, Elsie meandered in, bearing in her hand a wedding invitation which Herman had forwarded to her from Plainfield.

Elsie read the invitation: "Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Ganderkurda request der honor of your presence at der marriage of der daughter, Verbens, to Galahad Schmalzenberger, at der home of der bride's parents, Plainfield, N. J. March Sixteenth, R. S. V. P."

"Vel," said Elsie, "I know der Ganderkurds and I know der daughter, Verbens, and I know Galahad Schmalzenberger; he's a floorwalker in Bauerhaupt's grocery store, but I don't know vot it is dot R. S. V. P. yet!"

I gently kicked Peaches on the instep under the table, and said to Elsie, "Well, that is a new one on me. Are you sure it isn't B. & O. or C. R. R. of N. J. I've heard of those two railroads in New Jersey, but I never heard of the R. S. V. P."

For the first time in her life since she's been able to grab a sentence between her teeth and shake the pronouns out of it Elsie was fazed.

She kept looking at the invitation and saying to herself, "R. S. V. P. Vot is it? I know der honor of your presence; I know der bride's parents, but I don't know R. S. V. P."

All that day Elsie wandered through the house muttering to herself: "R. S. V. P. Vot is it? Is it some secret between the bride and groom? R. S. V. P. It ain't my initials, because they begin with M. E. Vot is dot R. S. V. P. Vot is it? Vot is it?"

That evening we were all at dinner when Elsie roared in with a cry of

joy. "I got it!" she said. "I had untied der messing of dot R. S. V. P. It means Real Silver Wedding Present!"

MUSSEL MUD AS FERTILIZER

Organic Remains of Shellfish Secure Fertility to Poorest and Most Exhausted Soil.

Consul Frank Doedmeyer writes from Charlottetown, P. E. I., Canada: In most of the bays indenting the shores of Prince Edward Island are found extensive deposits of mussel shells, so called locally, being organic remains of countless generations of oysters, mussels, clams, and other bivalves of the ocean, and of crustaceous animals generally. The shells, usually more or less intact, are found imbedded in dense deposits of mud-like substance and this combination is a fertilizer of high value and potency. It supplies small quantities of phosphates and alkalies. An ordinary dressing of it secures fertility in a striking manner to the poorest or most exhausted soil. The shells decay slowly, year by year, throwing off a film of fertilizing stuffs. The deposits around Prince Edward Island vary from five to twenty-five feet in depth. They are taken up by dredging machines worked from rafts in summer or from the ice in winter.

Guests Forced to Drink.

Compulsory abstinence would have seemed a complete inversion of the natural order to some of our ancestors. They believed in compulsory drinking, and in some old country manions may still be seen, I believe, a ring let into the wall of the dining hall for the punishment of the man who would not, or could not, drink his allotted share of liquor.

The culprit's arm was fixed in the ring, and he was given choice of drinking in the ordinary way or having the liquor he refused poured down his sleeve. Hence the medieval jest, "Leaving's sleeveing."—London Chronicle.

PLENTY FROM TIME BEFORE

Old Parishioner Found Way to Cling to His Original Position About Miracle.

One Sunday morning a certain young pastor in his first charge announced nervously: "I will take for my text the words, 'And they fed five men with five thousand loaves of bread and two thousand fishes.'" At this misquotation an old parishioner said audibly: "That's no miracle—I could do it myself." The young preacher said nothing at the time, but the next Sunday he announced the same text again. This time he got it right: "And they fed five thousand men on five loaves of bread and two fishes." He waited a moment and then, leaning over the pulpit and looking at the amen corner, he said: "And could you do that, too, Mr. Smith?" "Of course I could," Mr. Smith replied. "And how could you do it?" said the preacher. "With what was left over from last Sunday," said Mr. Smith.—Advanco.

An Empire Ranch.

We hear often of "captains of industry," "Napoleons of Finance," and "land barons," but what title is imposing enough to fit the Australian cattleman who owns or controls 28,800,000 acres of ranch land—a domain as large as Pennsylvania?—Youth's Companion.

Whom He Dreads.

It isn't the girl who grows indignant when he tries to kiss her that a man dreads. It is the one who laughs at him.

HE NEEDED PLENTY OF ROOM

And Was Willing to Pay for Two as One Didn't Seem to Serve.

During the run of a play at the Cohan theater in New York last winter a wobbly person teetered up to the box office one Saturday night when the place was packed and demanded a good seat. "Nothing left except standing room," said the box office man. "Sell your standing room for a dollar." The wavering one produced a dollar and went inside. But so many general admissions were grouped at the rear that, over the intervening hedge of heads he caught only vagrant glimpses of what went on upon the stage. He foggily considered the situation for a spell. Then he rocked his weeping way back to the box office window and put a second dollar on the shelf. "Gimme nozzil one of them standin' rooms," he ordered. "can't see the show at all if you only got one."—Saturday Evening Post.

$10,000 Conscience Fund.

Ten thousand dollars was added to the treasury department's conscience fund the other day when a special delivery letter from New York, containing that sum in currency, was received at Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo's office. "While the sender has paid double to the United States the amount he stole, yet his conscience is not satisfied, and here's another payment," read a letter accompanying the contribution. This is the third largest contribution to the conscience fund. Some contributions are as low as a penny. In 1898 fathers in Boston made $15 for a 64-hour week. They now receive $28.00 for a 44-hour week.

LOCAL & PERSONAL

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Adams are in El Paso, and may locate there. Fbb Jones, who is working now in El Paso, was up Sunday for a few hours.

Colorado potatoes at $1.80 per hundred pounds. Welch & Titsworth, Capitan.

William H. Sexton was in town Tuesday from his Mesa home with a load of fruit grown on his place.

Mrs. Leo Oswald and daughter arrived yesterday from Quemado, Socorro county, and are visiting Mrs. Frank Gray.

Little Miss Lucille Jones royally entertained a number of her little friends Tuesday afternoon with a birthday party.

E. W. Hulbert was here Monday and Tuesday from Lincoln. Mr. Hulbert reports a magnificent fruit crop in his section.

Harry Dixon arrived Tuesday from Douglas, Arizona, to be present at the sale of state lands on that day and also to visit his family.

Geo. Ferguson left this week for Indiana, where he will join his wife, who has been visiting there and the two will return together.

Governor McDonald was here this week from Santa Fe, attending the land sale and shipping out a bunch of cattle, which he had sold to Panhandle buyers.

We handle Flour, Feed and Stock Salt. Just received a car of fine Alfalfa and Oat Hay. And we are always pleased to quote prices. Humphrey Bros.

Eck McCamont and Joe Wilhingham were here Tuesday from Corona. They were here to attend the state land sale and purchased a block of land in their section.

The Western Garage has moved into the new Westmore building on Alamogordo avenue. It is a roomy building and gives the lessees much additional capacity for cars.

Sam Hale was here Wednesday from Capitan. Mr. Hale is a member of the school board at Capitan and reports the county high school and Capitan public school to be moving along in fine shape.

W. J. Diering was here a couple of days this week from El Paso on his way to and return from Vaughn, where he had gone to install a lighting system for the railroad company. He reports business in his line to be moving along nicely. He returned yesterday afternoon.

E. G. Raffety, Felton Grey and Lee B. Chase were here Wednesday from Oscurto. The experiments in fruit growing in their section have been very satisfactory, and are so encouraging that, with the development of more water, larger areas will be planted to orchards.

Rev. E. D. Lewis, accompanied by his cousin, Miss Neel, left by motor early Sunday morning for Tularosa, where Brother Lewis preached that day. He is now engaged in a meeting at Cloudcroft. Miss Neel gave an evening's entertainment at Alamogordo Monday and at Cloudcroft Tuesday.

Charles F. Henley and family left Wednesday for Quemado, Socorro county, where they will in future reside. They go overland, driving their stock, and were accompanied by Jesse Roberts, George Sharpe, Dan Wilson and Julian Moody, all assisting in the drive and most of them also having cattle.

Will P. Dolan and Morgan Reily returned Tuesday from Roswell, to which point they went with the Fort Stanton base ball team. They report two magnificent games, although Roswell was victor in both. The first game was Roswell 2, Fort Stanton 1; the second game Roswell 3, Fort Stanton 2.

Fort Stanton

Mrs. F. H. McKeon, of No. 2, returned yesterday from a six weeks' visit to Seattle, Denver and other points. She was accompanied by her son, William.

Lieut. and Mrs. J. R. Besse visited relatives at Spencer, Iowa recently. Mrs. Besse will remain east for some time, while the lieutenant will spend the winter at Fort Stanton.

Mr. Hugh Goodwin, of New York, visited a few days with his cousin, Mrs. F. C. Smith, and family at No. 1, returning east on the first.

Mrs. Weber, mother of our expert farmer, after spending the summer at the Post, left on the first for Salt Lake to visit another son before returning to her home in the east.

Mrs. Harry Leach and children left on the first for Cleveland and other points to visit relatives. She expects to remain in the east until November.

The "Fort Stanton Invincibles" spent last Sunday and Monday at Roswell, where they played three games, entertaining large crowds and playing the best ball of the season.

Messrs. Henry O'Bannon, Captain Van Zant and W. H. Smith motored to El Paso recently on a pleasure trip. They returned highly pleased with the sights and general good time given them.

Miss Mozelle Irwin, of Capitan, visited Dr. and Mrs. Ruoff the fore part of the week.

The regular non-sectarian services were held last Sunday evening, with Chaplain Freund, P. H. S., presiding. Announcements were made for a series of lectures, song services and reading to be held during the fall and winter.

Chapel service every Sunday, consisting of mass, is held at 9 a. m. and on every alternate Sunday vespers is held at 7:30 p. m. Non-sectarian services held in the library hall every alternate day at 7:30 p. m.

Chief A. V. Sitton has returned from El Paso, where at the Hotel Dieu he underwent a slight operation.

Governor McDonald stopped off between mail cars last Sunday, and enjoyed meeting a number of friends.

Number 11 has just recently been painted on the interior making a notable change throughout in appearance.

Lieut. J. R. Besse and Dr. C. R. Irby are the local organists, presiding respectively at the chapel and library hall.

The regular popular moving picture shows, are held weekly in the library hall.

Mr. J. J. Brown, of the Van Zant Emporium, is visiting with relatives at Chicago. He will return this month.

Mr. Falconio, our local wireless operator, gave us quite an interview the other day on the progress he is making with the new location of the local station. He is in daily communication with the leading stations of the country. Notably, he mentions of his hearing Key West, Arlington, San Antonio, Cuba, Swan Island off Honduras, North Head, San Francisco, San Diego, and from ships two thousand miles out; as for example he heard the other evening the ship Santa Cruz sailing near Panama, giving her position as 1064 miles south of San Francisco on her way to New York.

Mrs. Ruoff contemplates a trip to her old home at Natchez, Mississippi, in the early part of October. Her husband will join her later in the season, after which both will return to Fort Stanton.

The local Sunday class, held weekly in the library hall, proves quite interesting and is doing much good. The promoters deserve credit for the interest manifested.

Saw the Elephant

From Saturday to Monday objective point for many Lincoln county people was El Paso. With a side-trip to Juarez. Motorcycle and automobile races were pulled off in Juarez both Sunday and Monday, a big labor day parade in El Paso Monday, a prize fight in Juarez Monday night between Battling Nelson and Bobby Waugh, and the bright lights were continually burning.

Some went to encourage the Johnson boys, who had a car in the race, some to see the parade, some to see the prize fight and all to see the elephant. There were just an even twenty there and back and they were: Harry and Allen Johnson, Ed Oliver, Frank Thorpe, G. H. Brown, Frank Gray, Dr. M. G. Paden, D. L. Jackson, Dr. J. W. Laws, C. P. Lemos, Mr. and Mrs. George Rustie, Mr. and Mrs. George Dingwall, D. D. Tiffany, H. B. Dawson, A. J. Rolland, O. W. Bamberger, Jno. A. Haley and Wayne Hamilton. H. B. Hamilton also went down with the crowd, but had to go to Las Cruces Monday to be present at the opening of court for Dona Ana county. So it may be truthfully said that there is none missing, captured none and that all saw the elephant.

C. Smith, made a pleasant call socially on Dr. and Mrs. Lanza at Joplin, Mo., where the later is stationed in the interest of the U. S. P. H. S. It was while Dr. Smith was homeward bound from Washington, D. C., that he took the opportunity of stopping over to visit with Dr. and Mrs. Lanza, former residents of Fort Stanton, who have many dear friends here still.

Dr. and Mrs. R. C. Dryden, of Pima, Arizona, visited with Mr. and Mrs. Weber at 13 B a few days this week, leaving Tuesday for other points before returning home.

Methodist Church

Because of the necessary absence of the pastor, special services in charge of Mrs. Lewis will be held both morning and evening. At the 11:00 o'clock service several of the Home Mission members will participate in the program, and special music is being arranged for.

The boys and girls of the Junior Church will have charge of the 8:00 o'clock service and are preparing a program, which they hope will both entertain you and lift you to a better life. The public is cordially invited to be present at both of these services.

If you are a member of another Sunday School, be loyal to it. But if you are not, then you will find a warm welcome awaiting you at the Methodist Sunday School and a class to fit your age, no matter how old or how young you are.

We meet at 9:45 each Sunday morning. Junior Church at 3:00 p. m. each Sunday. Epworth League at 7:00 p. m. each Sunday.

Beginning next Wednesday evening at 8:00 o'clock the cottage prayer meetings will be resumed. The first one will be held at the home of Mrs. R. T. Cribb, and in connection with it there will be a council meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sunday school.

Changes at the Crystal

The Crystal Theatre continues to improve along modern lines. It has just installed a large double deck piano, with so many attachments that it sounds like a full-fledged band. Pipes, horns, drums and string instruments, as well, go to make up the pieces in this wonderful musical combination that is novel in its music-producing possibilities. To install this instrument meant an outlay of over a thousand dollars. A new screen, gold finish, has also been hung—and it is right up-to-the-minute. In fact, the management has spared no expense to make its place and its productions good as the best and better than most. Come out; hear the big musical wonder, see the attractive pictures thrown on the new screen.
