

THE OLD GUARD STILL COMMANDS

That the Republican party is a party of inaction as well as of reaction is shown by the vote in the Senate on the Emergency Revenue measure.

Of such are the leaders of the forces that have nominated Hughes, and who will be in power in the event of Republican success.

IT'S A BIG JOB

No President since Lincoln has had to handle such complex problems as President Wilson has been confronted with.

'Taxers' Meet, Fair Week

The indication is that there will be a large attendance at the annual meeting of the Taxpayers' Association in Albuquerque, September 28 and 29, in the high school auditorium.

The morning meetings will include the annual report of Director James, and simple details that will not detain those in attendance from giving the State Fair a complete look-over while in the Duke City.

One of the gratifying features of the association's work is the promptness with which renewals of memberships and payment of dues for the second year have come in, indicating satisfaction with the work of the organization.

Episcopalians Meet

Episcopal Services were held Monday night, and Tuesday morning. Next service to be Monday evening, October 2, at Crystal Theater.

The Episcopal rector of Tucumcari, Rev. Edward J. Hoering, made his monthly visit to Carrizozo on Monday last, and remained over for an extra service on Tuesday morning for the benefit of those who were busy with the primary election on Monday.

Choosing the text, "Who is My Neighbor?", the rector brought out the point that the true follower of Christ must be too "big" to regard only those of a certain set or sect as "neighbors"; he must be neighbor to the whole world.

Rev. Mr. Hoering is scoutmaster and honorary chief of the Camp Fire Girls in Tucumcari. Said he: "I shall never forget the impression recorded on my soul as the Boy Scouts and the Camp Fire Girls rose up at 3:30 last Sunday morning and worshipped God in the open air, fully an hour before sunrise."

Rector Hoering will hold service in Carrizozo again the first Monday evening in October at the Crystal Theater.

G. T. McQuillen left Wednesday night for Albuquerque to look after the Lincoln county fair exhibit, shipped that day.

close to its goal of 1,000 members. At the annual meeting plans for a membership of 2,000 during 1916-1917 will be perfected.

Republicans Revolt In Disgust; Unite With Democrats For Right

Santa Fe, Sept. 20.—Dissatisfaction and disgust within the ranks of the Republican party have developed into open revolt. In Santa Fe, last week, at the largest county convention in the history of New Mexico, Independent Republicans of Santa Fe county joined with the Democratic voters in the nomination of a strong fusion ticket, and will now support it vigorously in opposition to the Republican county ticket named in August.

The action has caused consternation among Republican forces throughout the state. It was taken despite efforts on the part of the leading candidates on the Republican state ticket to prevent the party split. And its full significance can be appreciated only when it is remembered that Santa Fe county has been considered so impregnablely Republican that the Republican gang leaders have openly sneered at every effort in behalf of clean methods and good government; have brazenly exhibited every trick of corrupt politics, and have boldly dared decent citizens to do their utmost.

The fusion convention was remarkable, and demonstrated thoroughly the earnestness behind the Republican revolt. A total of 273 delegates, representing every precinct of the county, were in attendance, the gathering exceeding in size most of the state conventions that have been held. Unbounded enthusiasm was displayed, and every reference to the repudiation of the Republican ring and the elimination of gang control was greeted with cheers.

A division of the offices was made, and every nomination was ratified unanimously. The spirit of revolt against Republican methods now is in the air, and other Republican counties are preparing to follow Santa Fe's lead.

in county matters. Independent voters everywhere are waking up to the fact that the safety and welfare of the state demand that the Republican machine leaders be kept out of power; that the cause of good government depends wholly on the election of the Democratic ticket, and their determination to aid in Democratic success is becoming more firmly fixed daily.

Democratic campaign activities had a most auspicious opening, last week, at the town of Mora, when A. A. Jones, candidate for U. S. senator; E. C. de Baca, candidate for governor; William B. Walton, candidate for congressman; and Antonio Lucero, nominated for secretary of state, addressed the largest political gathering in the history of Mora county. The court room of the county court house was packed, and many were unable to gain admission.

The Democratic candidate for governor outlined his well known views on the necessity for election reforms, extensive systems of good roads, and the best possible school facilities, and paid an eloquent tribute to the splendid administration of Governor McDonald. The interest and enthusiasm shown at Mora were duplicated at Taos and Tierra Amarilla, and at smaller towns in Taos and Rio Arriba counties. The first speaking tour of Democratic candidates has proved that the people have a keen realization of the vital importance of the election this year; that they have not forgotten the records of Bursum and Hubbell, and others of the Republican candidates; and that there exists every reason for confidence in the success of the Democratic ticket.

Carrizozo School Notes

The High school enrollment of Carrizozo's schools is forty-three regulars and two specials.

Basket ball is in the air, and the prospects are propitious for Carrizozo's usually strong team, though the boys, with all their enthusiasm, are even lighter than usual. Practice will begin immediately under the coaching of Mr. Frankling, as the date for Field Day may be made public at any time, and basket ball has never failed to hold a prominent place in the line of events scheduled each season.

Rev. Jerry Jeter, the evangelist, highly entertained the entire student body at the main building last week with a series of crayon cartoons. The work was skilfully executed and was accorded attentive interest and applause throughout.

For the purpose of rendering more attractive the new assembly room, an improvement committee has been appointed. The school principal is chairman, and four of the upper classmen complete the number. It is proposed to keep the committee actively engaged from term to term, seniority and enthusiasm being the chief qualifications for membership.

Another movement for general school improvement is the leveling of the new school property, that it may afford a playground with ample room for baseball, basketball, tennis and the other sports. The superintendent expects the new arrangement will prevent many misdemeanors, by providing the necessary space for overly energetic youngsters to "blow off steam" and other surplus energy; which has heretofore been used to the detriment of the system. To this end the townspeople are earnestly requested to accord the new movement every support. Work will begin with the road grader right away; arrangements having been made for its use.

Just a Little Visit

Mr. and Mrs. M. B. May and daughter departed Sunday for a trip that will include stops in Oklahoma, Missouri, and possibly other states, spending some time in Stone county, Missouri, where relatives reside. They expect to be away from Carrizozo for two to three months. And it is thirty-two years since Mr. and Mrs. May have been east of New Mexico's boundary, they having resided

THINK AGAIN, MR. JOHN-SON?

(St. Louis Post Dispatch.) Mr. Jackson Johnson, a St. Louis manufacturer, while admitting that a railroad strike would have cost his company $200,000 a month, asserts that he has been unable to get anyone to explain to his satisfaction how President Wilson's course was right. Very well. If Mr. Johnson's factory were to catch fire would he have the fire department stand around and argue how the building laws should be revised, or would he have them start immediately to extinguish the blaze?

If a surgeon is called upon to perform an operation to save a man's life, would he have him first prepare a thesis on the wrong mode of living that made the operation necessary, or should he go ahead at once and operate?

If, to save a city from destruction by flood, it became necessary to cut a dike and submerge a farmer's wheat field, would it not be better to do that than argue over future methods of flood control?

In the emergency the President and Congress obeyed the old Roman maxim "Public welfare is the supreme law." A prolonged railroad strike would have cost the people of the United States hundreds of millions and inestimable suffering which no future legislation could have averted. The settlement made by Congress has prevented all that loss and misery and has done no injustice for which future laws can not provide compensation.

The changes they will see! And the East will get the cash, in negotiable exchange, and for every fraction of service rendered. For these old-timers of New Mexico know, by the experience of effort, not only the cost of independence, but the value of its maintenance. There was a time when the West looked to the East for capital: M. B. May may lug an eastern traction company—or some other attractive investment—under his arm, when he comes home. You can never be sure of those Nogal "farmers." They till the soil right well—and they do a devil of a thinking, and prospering.

DO YOU WANT A STATESMAN OR A SHEEP-HERDER FOR U. S. SENATOR? WE DARE THEM TO SPEAK!

Frank A. Hubbell is the Republican candidate for U. S. Senator from New Mexico. His fitness is judged by his official record. That record is almost entirely his record as school superintendent and county treasurer in Bernalillo county. Naturally that record is the first thing the voters are interested in. Nothing has been said about it by Mr. Hubbell or his managers. THERE'S A REASON. We dare Mr. Hubbell or his campaign managers to publish a review of his career as school superintendent and county treasurer in Bernalillo county. We dare Mr. Hubbell or his managers to tell Mr. Hubbell's connection with the passage of the School Visit Law and the story of the School Visits he made thereunder. Mr. Hubbell's political and official record is what he must be judged by. Not a word has been said about it. He merely plaintively whines that he "fed sheep and got rich." What do you know about a candidate for a U. S. Senatorship whose official and political record can't be talked about?

A LIBRARY IN SIGHT FOR CARRIZOZO SCHOOL

A serious handicap in the work of Carrizozo school is the lack of suitably reference and reading books, especially for High school pupils, who are required to do a certain amount of outside reading during the year. Last spring a few books were bought for each class room, and the school now owns about 200. The committee hopes to double this number before the end of the term. Each

High school pupil has pledged 10 cents a month to the library fund, which will purchase at least one new book a week. Other means to increase the fund will be used, and the aid of patrons of the school is confidently relied upon to assist the pupils in their efforts. Last year a nice bookcase was purchased for each class-room and the office, from which pupils draw books under careful regulation.

WAR'S DARK TRAIL in the BALKANS STYLES IN CAPES

PICTURESQUE BALKAN TOWN

David Starr Jordan, noted educator and pacifist, tells what frightfulness has been wrought by conflict in the little countries of Eastern Europe :: A grave problem still unsolved

(Courtesy American Museum Journal)

I WAS my fortune, not long ago, with three good friends and two soldiers, to follow in a king's automobile along the trail of war. This was in Macedonia. The line of an army's march is not pleasant to look upon even though the people along it had not much to lose. The pluck of suffering in very real even if, as in the Balkans, folk have grown used to it. There are two main marks by which you may recognize the path of war in a land of farmers. The one is the charred village, with its whitewashed stone walls blackened by fire. The other is the presence here and there in the plowed fields of three poles fastened together at the top, and from the crotch a bulby suspended just high enough to balk inquisitive dogs or goats. Somewhere in the field, anywhere in the Balkan valleys in May, you will see one woman driving or leading a bullock or a buffalo, while another behind her holds the plow. The men are in the army or else they were there.

The memory I shall longest hold of Montenegro is a picture taken by my guide, Antonio Rejweh, of this land of stony graves, of the resolute people of the limestone crags who have never done homage to the Turks nor to any other outside power. It will be remembered that all these Balkan folk were for years under the dominion of the Turk, and that none of them have been free for half a century. The Turk was most acceptable when he was asleep. When he was awake, he had his own ideas of "Union and Progress." Union meant uniformity. A nation should have one ruler, one flag, one religion, one language. Progress was his way of bringing about this condition. This was by massacre. And as the actual Turks were few in number, ruling over an empire of Slavs, Greeks, Italians, Jews, Armenians, Albanians, Kurds, Egyptians, Moors and Arabs, it demanded eternal vigilance to keep them all in a state of union and progress.

These people have had constantly before them the choice of revolt, conversion, assimilation, banishment and massacre. And at one time or another some of each race have chosen each one of those, often two or three of them at once. Albanians, following the wicked lead of Bismarck and Drazich, Europe has kept the Turk alive, because from conquerors in each nation, the Ottoman sultan has borrowed considerable sums of money.

Macedonia lies along the southern slopes of the Balkan peninsula. It is a fertile region crossed by chains of rounded mountains, with green valleys and swift streams in pleasant conditions, not unlike the south of France. It has 45,000 square miles of territory, is about as large as the state of Maine, with a population nearly two-thirds that of the city of New York, and before the war of liberation it had about 2,250,000 people. The majority of these were Bulgarian in blood and they were allowed to have their own churches and schools.

As to the campaigns which have desolated Macedonia in the last few years we need say only a word. The history of the two Balkan wars is given with accuracy and justice in the monumental report of the Balkan commission of the Carnegie endowment, a document of especial value in any study of the conditions preceding the "third Balkan war" which today has set the world in flames. The first Balkan war was altruistic as far as any war can be. Its purpose was the relief of a distressed people, suffering for centuries from the battles of Turkish rule, always incompetent and everywhere unscrupulous, and on the other hand continuously overrun by the outlaw patriots which kept the land in incessant turmoil.

The Balkan alliance was a Russian inspiration. It was planned by Hartwig, Russian minister at Belgrade, "the evil genius of the Balkans." It ended in the treaty of London, where the blind intermeddling of the powers, baffled by Austrian intrigues, agreed only on the kingdom of Albania, leaving the states to fight it out so far as Macedonia was concerned. This brought on the second Balkan war, in which Bulgarian diplomacy made all the mistakes it had a chance to make.

WOMEN SUFFER MOST

by artificial boundaries. The effect of intolerance, worst in Greece, had enough everywhere, was to drive out of each nation all who belonged to the wrong language or religion. I do not say race, for they are all of the same general stock, even the bulk of the "Turks" and Greeks. This has filled the region with refugees, men and women whose fault is that they lived on the wrong side of the boundaries made for them in the treaty of Bucharest.

Passing down the long highway which leads over 200 miles from Sofia to Skopovo and Dubritza in old Bulgaria, then across the border of Macedonia, down the Struma river past Dzumala to Petritch, we found everywhere the Bulgarian refugees from the Saloniki district in Greek Macedonia. These have been roughly estimated at 60,000 in number. Some of these have been given farms or houses abandoned in Macedonia by Turks who followed the Turkish army away. Others received farms left by Greeks when the Greek army went back after the treaty of Bucharest. The government grants each person some fourpence a day. Some find work, but after the war there are few employers. The cost of living has doubled, the means of living has fallen. At Petritch, near the present boundary of Greece, there were hundreds of these walking about on the stone sidewalks day by day. They were waiting for the powers to revise the treaty of Bucharest and give them back their homes in the region above Saloniki. Some local journals had said that this revision was coming soon. It was my duty to assure them that it would never come. The phrase in Sofia, "Europe exists no more," is the truth so far as Balkan affairs are concerned.

The reason for that is clearer now. Europe was paralyzed by the great terror which has since come on it in an unthinkable catastrophe. There were some in the "concert of powers," who were striving to bring on this catastrophe. The "war of steel and gold" was about to give place to real war, which would end, they hoped, in speedy victory and world peace; it has not ended in that way. It has not yet ended at all. But those who most looked forward to war were the ones who had least conception of its certain consequences.

In the whole length of the Struma valley in western Macedonia, towns have been burned in whole or part by the Greek army which pursued the Bulgarians as far as the old border of Bulgaria. In Greek Macedonia, at the hands of some one or all of the three successive armies—Turkish, Bulgarian and Greek—most of the towns between Saloniki and Drama have suffered the same fate. Each of these towns has now its share of Greek refugees from Turkish Thrace. These have been estimated by Greek authorities as numbering 800,000. They have come by railway from Adrianople in box cars belonging to the Greek government.

These cars are left at the various stations, a dozen or more at each. In these the people keep their bedding and their scanty effects. The government of Greece allows them two or three sous a day, with rice which they cook on fires of thistles and other weeds.

In a Turkish journal, vigorous complaint was made against the Albanian refugees in Thrace as more "proficient with the Mauser than with the plow, and skillful only as cattle thieves." A plea was made for bringing back the Bulgarian farmers as far more desirable neighbors. "The Bulgarians are now our friends."

In the larger towns, as Saloniki and Kilkush, the refugees are ranged in tent cities, ten thousand or more in one encampment. There were perhaps 60,000 Greek refugees a little more than a year ago along the road from Drama to Saloniki.

When I was at Saloniki the Turks were leaving in great numbers; 212,000 took steamer passage for Stambul in one month. Saloniki (Thessalonike), beautifully situated, in full face of Mount Olympus and with a noble harbor, should be one of the great cities of the world. In the aftermath of the second Balkan war it lost half its population. It is no better or today than in the times when St. Paul called out for help in Macedonia.

Harsh and often terribly brutal operations in Serbia and Greece result from the unchecked operations of the military element. The soldier, as such, considers neither economic conditions nor the soul of man. It was claimed that the two wise ministers Pashitch in Belgrade and Venizelos in Athens were both opposed to the policy of repression. Both would, if they could, have proclaimed religious linguistic tolerance in those parts of Macedonia turned over to them by the treaty of Bucharest. But the fact of victory, and especially victory over their sister state, Bulgaria, intoxicates the military, and fills the job with the "east wind." In such times the civil authority cannot hold its own against the military.

Bulgaria recognized better the value of tolerance. A Greek church and school stand undisturbed in Sofia. In the Bulgarian national assembly there are about a dozen Turkish deputies, representing Thrace. These Turks, supporters all of the king, hold the balance of power against the combined democrats and socialists, the group opposed to all war. The spirit of hate is still very strong among the people of Bulgaria. They hate Roumanians, as the robber-state who has done them the most harm. They hate Greeks.

There can never be settled quiet in the East until the "Balkans belong to the Balkans," until civil authority everywhere dominates the military and until customs, unions and other unions cause these people to realize that one fate befalls them all and that the welfare of each state is bound up in that of its neighbor.

PEASANT DESIGN MAY BE SAID TO HAVE PREFERENCE;

In All Sorts of Materials It Has Proved Popular, and Undoubtedly Has Come to Stay—Cape for Motoring.

The Victorian capes which were ushered in last February with 1840 and 1870 hats to match, did not succeed, but the Victorian shoulder scarf—that wide piece of fur which looked like a postillon collar slipped to the top of the arms, has been entirely successful.

But the peasant cape has outdone all others. It may be short or long, of trills and ermine, or of black satin faced with blue, with a hood that stretches across the shoulders built of the two colors. Wherever possible, the dressmakers use a contrasting color as a lining.

GIVE AWAY PERSON'S AGE MARKS CHANGE IN STYLES

Hands Are Treacherous in That Way and Must Therefore Be Given the Greatest Care. Increased Fullness Gives an Indication of What the Fall Costumes Are to Be Like.

The hands, being used more than any other parts of the body, age first. That is the reason a woman who does manual labor has older hands than has a woman of the leisure class. The first signs of age appear in the hands. The hands are the greatest telltales of age. Take good care of them. Your age is in your hands.

Aging hands are starved hands. The skin becomes dry and withered like a faded rose leaf. When a woman has passed the thirty-year milestone she should give especial attention to keeping the hands well fed. The backs of the hands need the greater part of the nutriment, for it is there that the infallible signs of age first manifest themselves. At least once a day cold cream or olive oil should be well rubbed in. To prevent the yellowing effect of the oil, two drops of tincture of benzoin in every teaspoonful of olive oil used will be efficacious, for tincture of benzoin is a bleaching agent. For the same purpose a half dozen drops of lemon juice in a teaspoonful of olive oil may be used.

FADS AND FASHIONS

A pretty blouse is of handkerchief linen in white dotted with delicate color.

Blouses of contrasting color are now favored for dressy tailored suits of silk.

White georgette crepe, heavily embroidered in color, is delightful for blouses.

The transparent hat with under-brim trimming is the latest fancy of millinery.

A cabinet to keep card recipes in is a great convenience for a young housekeeper.

Witchhazel and rose water, half and half, is good for wind-tortured complexions.

If going on a picnic or long automobile trip, fold a bungalow apron over the lunch basket. It will then be handy to put on when you spread the lunch.

A teaspoonful of vinegar put into homemade candy keeps it from being sickly sweet.

EMERGENCY REMEDIES

Bathing behind the ears with right hot water often relieves a headache. When a cut will not stop bleeding, apply ground rice or flour. Either one is efficacious.

A good long stretch immediately upon waking in the morning is excellent exercise with which to begin the day.

At the first intimation of a sore throat try a gargle of one teaspoonful of salt and one of carbonate of soda to half a glass of water.

Hold the hammered finger in water as hot as can be borne for a few minutes. This treatment will draw out the inflammation almost at once.

A small onion-eaten before retiring will often induce sleep. The taste may be removed after eating by chewing a bit of parsley or a few drops of eau de cologne on a lump of sugar.

Remedy for Feet Burning: Buy five cents' worth of tannin at the drug store, put it into an empty powder box. Shake a little into your stockings every few days and you will soon forget you were ever troubled with burning feet.

avenues this season. The model is fashioned of softly finished dark green broadcloth trimmed with velvet in a still darker shade. The silhouette is clearly defined in this modish coat. The hat is of a shade to match the trimming and is adorned with a small feather.

Silence Cloths

Far better than either the felt or quilted silence cloth is the one of asbestos. This cloth protects the table top, not only from the spots made by hot dishes, but also from stains and damage done by hot liquids being spilled. The cloth is waterproof as well as heat proof. It is, of course, lintless and is finished with a neat binding. It is made in halves, each consisting of three strongly bound and hinged sections. It does not warp, and may be folded and put in the side-board drawer when not in use.

Long Capes

Trimming for the long capes of taffeta is delightfully varied. One rose pink cape seen recently had a collar and cape edged with a narrow roll of ostrich, of rose color, with occasional fringes of white. An emerald green silk cape had a second waist depth cape. This was trimmed along the lower edge with three spaced rushes of the green silk, the edges finished with a plait. The collar was a large ruche. The cape hem was simply a facing fold of the silk, with a piping on the upper edge.

'Wilson, the Efficient,' Say These Master Minds

To President Wilson, at Shadow Lawn, Henry Ford wired congratulations in ending the strike, thus: "Your efforts are appreciated here and should be commended by every citizen in the country."

"It has been just One Big Thing After Another with Wilson," says Thomas A. Edison, the famous inventor; and, though a life-long Republican, Edison declares, "I am for Woodrow Wilson."

If there are two Americans who above all others have the fame of making good in business and of discovering the road to the highest efficiency, they are Henry Ford and Thomas A. Edison. For maximum efficiency in the chair of the nation's chief magistracy, they declare for Woodrow Wilson.

Edison admits as to Hughes, that "his capacity for hindsight, as we learn from his speeches, is highly developed"; but for courage, sanity and foresight, Edison finds that Wilson holds the record; and, he adds, "I do not think it a logical or sensible thing to change to an inexperienced and untried man just for the sake of a change."

A Non-partisan View

Europe's demand on the productive industries and energies of America will be as great, and longer continued, in her rehabilitation than in her destruction. The rehabilitation, the reorganization of her productive energies, will require generations, rather than years. This is not our dilemma, but that of William Rockefeller.

Did Hughes really want the railway strike? It seems so.

Hughes has taken a definite stand somewhere between an eight and eighteen-hour day.

Governors Coming

The past, present and future will be represented tomorrow night, Saturday, 23d, when an ex-governor, the present governor and the future governor of New Mexico appear upon the stage in the Watmore opera house. Ex-Governor M. A. Otero, Governor W. C. McDonald, and Lieutenant-Governor E. C. de Baca will be here and address the people. Irrespective of political beliefs, a general invitation is extended for all to be present.

You can listen - then decide.

What's a Pet?

"Where'd you get the nice little dog?" asked a passer, of a man with a country wagon. "Nice little dog!" I'll sell him to you. "Not to me! I've fingers, and still have use for them." The "nice little dog" was a cub coyote. And he was surely cute.

"What you doing with that mountain lion?" asked a passer of one of our town boys, totting the life image of a wild cat—even if its name was "Bob." "What am I doing with him? Why, he growed in our family, he's our pet!" And "little pet" looked the part he might act if strangers annoyed his family. But he was seemingly all right and contented in the arms of the young fellow who had him, and no doubt likes him.

You Need a Tonic There are times in every woman's life when she needs a tonic to help her over the hard places. When that time comes to you, you know what tonic to take—CARDUI, the woman's tonic. CARDUI is composed of purely vegetable ingredients, which act gently, yet surely, on the weakened womanly organs, and helps build them back to strength and health.

LINCOLN COUNTY'S PRIMARIES

The Republicans held their primary conventions throughout the county Monday and Monday night of this week. In most of the precincts the contests waged for a number of the county offices was active, earnest, and in some cases a little acrimonious. The principal contests were on treasurer, clerk, sheriff, and superintendent of schools; and in the various commissioners' districts, over preferences for candidates for commissioners.

All precincts have not made reports, but in those from which reports have been received, A. J. Rolland for treasurer appears to be leading Dr. T. W. Watson, although Dr. Watson is making a stubborn fight and has by no means given up the ship. In the fight for the clerkship, O. T. Nye appears to have a safe lead over his opponent, E. W. Hulbert, and his nomination is practically conceded.

The sheriff fight is badly mixed: Henry Corn holding down one corner, Phillip H. Blanchard one, Allie Stover one and Rinaldo Duran the other. Those best informed place Henry Corn in the lead, but far from the goal.

The contest for county superintendent is a three-cornered affair, the candidates being Mrs. Gumm, the present incumbent, Mrs. De Nisson and Samuel Kelsey. Each candidate has instructed delegations from various precincts, but it is difficult, with the information at hand, to ascertain who is in the lead. Many figure Mrs. Gumm for the winner, while others make similar claims for Mrs. De Nisson and Mr. Kelsey.

The Carrizozo primary Monday night was a hot one and was fought mainly between the candidates for treasurer, A. J. Rolland and Dr. T. W. Watson, although other candidates' fates were tied up in the result. Rolland won, by a substantial majority, four delegates from this precinct—and the delegates were instructed accordingly. The delegation was also instructed, for O. T. Nye for clerk and Mrs. Gumm for superintendent. The delegation was also instructed to present the names of Ira O. Wetmore for representative and that of J. B. French for commissioner from this district. Some one was unkind enough to assert that the Carrizozo Republicans, when once their nose was in the trough, didn't stop but placed both feet in it. However, we are not disposed to believe that the winners of the local contest seriously expect to put over the entire list, but merely suggested that these men were capable for the positions for which they were endorsed. Anyhow, the merry fight goes on and the result in a number of cases will not be known until the final vote is announced in the Republican county convention.

Democrats Understood Not to Have "Instructed"

Democrats throughout the county held primaries Wednesday of this week, but only a few of the precincts have reported. In Carrizozo precinct eleven delegates were chosen, and no instructions of any kind were given. It is understood that that has been the result throughout the county, but it may appear at the convention that one or two precincts deviated from this rule.

Fine Ranch Sold

One of the best ranches in Lincoln county changed hands this week, involving about $75,000. It is the I-X ranch, which was owned by Mr. and Mrs. Mathews. Lin Branum was the purchaser. The transaction included the cattle, horses and everything.
