Second War Fund Drive

WEEK MAY 20=27

HAVE you ever lain in No Man's Land, with a shattered thigh and a throat that burned with thirst?

Has your wife ever begged food for her children and herself at the mess-kitchen of a soldiers' camp?

Has your little son ever torn his mother's heart with a plaintive cry, day after day, for food she couldn't give him?

Has your little daughter, clad in a ragged dress, her only dress, ever shivered night after night in the ruined cellar of what was once her home?

Has your city ever been destroyed—nay, powdered, bricks, stone, timbers and all so ground into the dust that no one scarce knew where street ended and building began?

It is exactly such suffering that the Red Cross is organized, here and in Europe, to relieve.

The Red Cross asks for One Hundred Million Dollars as the least it needs to carry on this work.

Can you—dare you—refuse to give to this work—and give till the heart says stop?

Every cent of every dollar received for the Red Cross War Fund goes for War Relief

The American Red Cross is the largest and most efficient organization for the relief of suffering that the World has ever seen.

It is made up almost entirely of volunteer workers, the higher executives being without exception men accustomed to large affairs, who are in almost all cases giving their services without pay.

It is supported entirely by its membership fees and by voluntary contributions.

It is today bringing relief to suffering humanity, both military and civil, in every War torn allied country.

It plans tomorrow to help in the work of restoration throughout the world.

It feeds and clothes entire populations in times of great calamity.

It is there to help your soldier boy in his time of need.

With its thousands of workers, its tremendous stores and smooth unning transportation facilities it is serving as America's advance guard running transportation facilities it is serving as America's advance guard —and thus helping to win the war.

Congress authorizes it.

President Wilson heads it.

The War Department audits its accounts.

Your Army, your Navy and your Allies enthusiastically endorse it.

Twenty-two million Americans have joined it.

We, the undersigned hereby agree to contribute the number of inches advertising space set opposite our names, in the Carrizozo News, issue of May 10, 1918. This space to be used exclusively by the Red Cross to help "put over' THE SECOND WAR FUND DRIVE OF THE RED CROSS.

EMPEY LEARNS HOW THE TOMMIES ARE FED IN THE FRONT-LINE TRENCH AND BACK OF IT.

Synopsis.—Fired by the sinking of the Lusitania, with the loss of American lives, Arthur Guy Empey, an American living in Jersey City, goes to England and enlists as a private in the British army. After a short experience as a recruiting officer in London, he is sent to training quarters in France, where he first hears the sound of big guns and makes the acquaintance of "cooties." After a brief period of training Empoy's company is sent into the front-line trenches, where he takes his first turn on the fire step while the bullets whiz overhead.

The quartermaster sergeant had poured in some water, and with his hands scoured the dixie inside and out. I thought he was taking an awful risk. Supposing the cook should have seen the left of the corporal the rations him! After half no hour of unsucconsful efforts I returned my dixle to the cook shack, being careful to put on the cover, and returned to the billet Pretty soon the cook poked his head in the door and shouted: "Hey, Yank come out here and clean your dixle! I protested that I had wasted a halfhour on it already, and had used up my only remaining shirt in the at tempt. With a look of disdain he exclaimed: "Blow me, your shirt! Why in --- didn't you use mud?"

Without a word in reply I got busy with the mud, and soon my dixle was bright and shining.

Most of the afternoon was spent by the men writing letters home. I used my spare time to chop wood for the cook and go with the quartermaster to draw coal. I got back just in time to lasue our third meal, which consisted of hot ten. I rinsed out my dixto and returned it to the cookhouse, and went back to the billet with an exhibitanted feeling that my day's labor was done I had follow asises on the steam when per and floor once again the cook appeared in the door of the billet with "Blime me, you Yanks are lasy. I filled the dixle with water from an old squeaking well. and once again lay down in the straw.

Rations

sergeant is called, receives daily from the orderly room (captain's office) a ally showing the number of men entitled to rations, so there is no chance of putting anything over on him Many arguments take place between the "quarter" and the platoon noncom, but the former always wins out. Tommy eave the "uparter" got his job because he was a burglar in civil life. Then I spread the waterproof sheet on the ground, while the quartermastor's batman dumped the rations on it. The corporal was smoking a fag. carried the rations back to the billet. The corporal looked his gratitude. The corporal was still smoking a fag.

He passed around the jam, and there was another riot. Some didn't like apple, while others who received plum were partial to apple. After a while differences were adjusted and cooked over a little spirit stove known the lasue went on.

"Bermuda onions, seventeen." The corporal avoided a row by maying that he did not want an onlen, and I guessed I would do without one too.

"Cheese, pounds two."

Taking Provisions to the Fren

The corporal borrowed a jackknife (corporals are always borrowing), and sliced the cheese—each slicing bringing forth a pert remark from the onlookers as to the corporal's eyesight. "Raisins, ounces, eight."

By this time the corporal's nerves had gone west; and in despair he said that the raisins were to be turned over to the cook for "duff" (plum pudding). This decision elicited a little "grousing," but quiet was finally restored.

"Biscults, tins, one."

With his borrowed jackknife, the corporal opened the tin of biscuits, and told everyone to help themselves-nobody responded to this invitation. Tommy is "fed up" with biscults. "Butter, tins, two."

"Nine in one, ten in the other." Another rumpus.

"Pickles, mustard, bottles, one." Nineteen names were put in a steel helmet, the last one out winning the pickles. On the next issue there were only 18 names, as the winner is eliminated until every man in the section has won a bottle.

The raffle is closely watched, because Tommy is suspicious when it comes to

When he goes into the fire trench (front line). Tommy's menu takes a tumble. He carries in his haversack what the government calls emergency or iron rations. They are not supposed to be opened until Tommy dies of starvation. They consist of one tin of bully beef, four biscults, a little tin The "bully beef," spuds, condensed which contains ten, sugar and Oxo milk, fresh ment, bacon and "Macono- cubes (concentrated beef tablets). as "Tommy's cooker." (A firm in Blighty widely advertises these cookers as a necessity for the men in the trenches. Guilible people I said they make your breath smell, so buy them-ship them to the Tommies, who, immediately upon receipt of mane throw them over the parapet. Sometimes a Tommy falls for the ad. and uses the cooker in a durout to the disgust and discomfort of the other occupants.)

This mess is stirred up in a tin and allowed to simmer over the finnes from the cooker until Tommy decides that it has reached sufficient (gluelike) consistency. He takes his bayonet and by means of the handle carries the meas up in the front trench to cool After it has cooled off he tries to eat it Generally one or two Tommies in a section have east-iron stomachs and the tin is soon emptied. Once I tasted trench pudding, but only once.

In addition to the regular ration is sue Tommy uses another channel to enlarge his menu.

In the English papers a "Lonely Soldier" column is run. This is for the soldiers at the front who are supposed to be without friends or relatives. They welte to the papers and their names are published. Girls and women in England answer them, and sond out parcels of foodstuffs, cigarettes, candy, etc. I have known a "lonely" soldler to receive as many as five parcels and cleven letters in one

BONDS LIBERTY

Uncle Sam's Bank Is the Safest in Entire World.

You Could Not Place Your Money Better Advantage, at Same Time Helping the Greatest Cause of Humanity.

(By BOOTH TARRINGTON.)

When we intrust our savings to a bank, we like to know that it's a sound bank. We feel safe then to leave our money in charge of that bank and its officers. They will use it in various ways which seem good to them, but we will get it all back, if the bank is sound. Yet no bank in the United States of America can be as sound as the United States itself. Therefore, when the United States government turns banker, the safest place for our money to be put is in the hands of this government. Anybody can see that, without bothering to look twice. Uncle Sam himself will take care of our money, and we'll get it back. We know that. His word is so good that we can get the money back whenever we need it, because his bonds will sell, any time, for just about what we pay for them, A few years hence of course, they will sell for more than we pay for them.

During the time that we leave our money with Uncle Sam-what we call the Liberty Lonn—he pays us interest. Well. I've had a higher per cent than he pays-not for a loan, because I had to pay taxes that reduced the per cent to 814—but on investments. Once I made an investment that paid 19 per cent, but it only paid it once, and then the fellow who talked me into it left town without telling anybody good-by. I've found, since then, that I can't get much better than Uncle Sam's rate in the long run. When 1. think I can, usually the factory has to have new boilers, after my first dividend comes in, or the ore "isn't quite the quality we had reason to expect," and I begin the long squirm to get out with something reasonably near what I put in. No; nowadays I think the government rate is about all I'm going to get from any investment which I place with regard to the investment's margin of safety. Therefore I set all I can of Uncle Sam's Liberty bonds because they are today, of all the possible investments in the whole world, absolutely the salest. Nobody except Uncle Bam Will or can give us his rate and the same absolute certainty that we'll get our intercet paid promptly and the principal what it is due.

That's the selfish side of it: we can't do better with the money for our selfish selves. The other side of it is that Uncle Sam uses the money for our own boys in France and our boys on the seas-our boys whose hard and terrible daily work is done so gayly; and death always with them-dropping from the air above them, ready to strike up at them from the ground, or from the water beneath thom. They bear this for us, that our ideal of freedom may not be lost forever and that we shall not become the Prussian's servant. A good interest rate and safety for the money, and safety for our ideals, and for our liberty-that's what we get when we invest in the Liberty loan!

WORDS AND DEEDS .

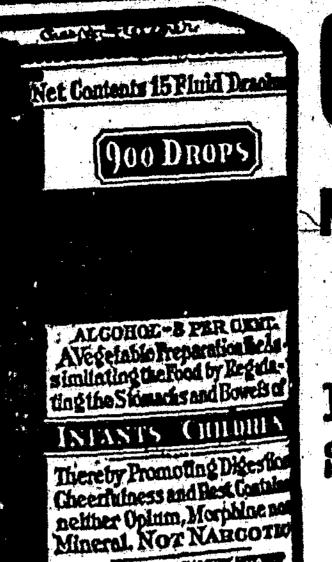

(By WALT MASON.)

- Long the lengther till I Diske De mosthenes look like a fake. I may rear un some nine feet high, and tell hew I would bleed and die, if I were not es old and gray and crippled up and full of hay. I may denounce the foreign foe and tell how gladly I would go to wield a shotgun in the scrap and shoe the kaiser off the map; but if I think more of my wad then of my country and my God, the things I say won't cut much grass; my words are merely sounding brase. Our Uncle Sam is needing men: he's needing thine by the ten; he can't conduct a high-class scrap without a let of dough on tap. To raise the dust he asks all lads to lend him all their surplus scads, to buy his bonds-security the safest ever man will see. And if I do not gambol up, as gay and frisky as a pup, and buy the bonds till I-go broke, my loyal spiels are merely smoke. Oh, boys, most any tis-horn skate can work his jawbones and orate; most any bick can chew the rag and say nice things about the fax: but when we come right down to tacks, the patriot who's smooth as wax is he who comes, as ardent soul, for Liberty bonds to blow his roll.

They Bayoneted the Wounded. A returned Canadian officer, in telling of an engagement in which he had taken part said: "We retook the trench from which we had been driven and found the Huns had bayoneted all our wounded when they had to get out" Those are the fellows your boy has to fight over there. Give him your whole-hearted support! Buy bonds!

Grit Your Teeth and Buy a Bond. Casualty lists are being printed in the papers and occasionally we see pictures of our wounded at the hospitals in France War is being brought home to us in the middle West. We know now that Americans are fighting over there and this third Liberty loss should find us more willing to than ever before, and more eager, to contribute our share toward defeating the kaiser.

Buying Liberty bonds is now as grit their teeth and best the Hun.

In that year the czar informed the Diet (Congress) stitutes the felt want of the moment that the military service must be made to conform to that of the rest of the empiré. In residential neighborhoods in every town, in every village throughout the length and breadth of the land there is no opening for supply kitchens worked on really practical business lines, where well cooked food of the plain and wholesome variety could be bought at reasonable prices—all ready to serve or merely requiring to be heated up.

Not only would such a system materially help to solve the servant difficulty, but it would insure an enormous saving in coal, in labor, in time and money—to say nothing of lessening the waste of food that is so flagrant a grandal in hundreds of homes today, while at the same time it would set fred numbers of woman war workers.

The Future of Great Possibilities.

Some idea of the great wealth that the Western Canada farmer had inview a few years ago is now being realized. The amount received from the sale of wheat, oats, barley, flax and rye in 1917 was $270,000,000, while the sales of live stock at Winnipeg alone netted $40,000,000 additional. Of this sum hogs alone gave over eleven million dollars. The increases at Calgary and Edmonton were over 614 million dollars.*

This money, so easily earned, is being spent in improvements in farm property, purchasing additional land, buying tractors, automobiles, and improving home conditions, providing electric light, steam heat, new furniture, planos, buying Victory bonds, paying up old debts, etc.

Over five hundred tractors were sold in Southern Alberta in 1917. One implement agent reports that the increase in his business in 1917, over that of 1916, was equal to the total business in 1915. It is the same story all over the country. And it is not this evidence glone which proves the advancement and growth of the three prairie provinces, but the large increase in the number of settlers; the of Finland, where bloody, civil light had scarcely disappeared before improvement in the extent of the cultivated areas and agricultural production; the increase in value of which over 1916 was $77,000,000.

> This wonderful progress that has been made in agriculture in Western Canada is but the beginning which marks the future of the greatest agricultural country on the continent, showing a future of great possibilities. There are millions of acres yet untilled, and of land as good as any of that which is now giving its owners a return of from twenty to thirty dollars an acre, figures that in many cases represent the cost of the land, with all cultivation costs included. It is true that the cost of production has increased during the past few years, but the price of the product has also increased to a figure which leaves a large balance to the credit of the pro-

Telephone Service Have Automatic

TITASHINGTON.-Washington will have an automatic telephone system within the next 18 months. The work of installing this system, which will involve millions of dollars, will begin in the business section of the capital within a few weeks, probably within the next ten days. It will be in full operation in the business section before the summer is over, according to statements made by the telephone

Nine out of every ten telephone girls now employed will lose their jobs, is the prediction of T. P. Sylvan, assistant to the president of the Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone company, when the new system is in full operation here. Mr. Sylvan was asked how long it would take to install the system here. He said it depended upon the labor conditions. "Unfortunately." continued Mr. Sylvan, "the company's present buildings are all filled to the doors with the now heavily worked apparatus, and unless the service being rendered is to be-completely suspended, it is, of course, utterly impossible to install automatic equipment without first providing new buildings.

"On account of the weight of such apparatus and the necessity of protecting it from fire hazards, the buildings must be of substantial construction. "To expedite the early completion of the automatic installation, the company must count on some immediate relief in the form of an order from the utility commission. Unless as a war measure the commission asks the people to eliminate unnecessary calling, the company will be compelled to continuo expending large sums on installation of temporary equipment to care for such

"As President Wilson said in his letter to the secretary of the treasury: It is essential that these utilities should be maintained at their maximum efficiency, and that everything reasonably possible should be done with that end in

The new system will be operated by a dial. By turning numbers on this dial to correspond to the number you desire and pushing a signal the connection will be made automatically. It will save considerable time in making connections, said Mr. Sylvan.

Washingtonians Have No Doubt About Spring

THE chief thing that makes one sure spring is here is the appearance on our streets, although in a mild form, of a certain sport-namely: Tops. Once tops appear on the streets, flung from the hands of small boys, there is no escaping the fact that spring is somewhere in the vicinity. Her eyes may appear froatbitten, and she may seem clothed in such filmsy garments as our Trusts commonly clothe her with, but you may be sure she is somewhere in the vicinity, that fair divinity.

I talked with an elderly man in a tage hat and gold-rimmed spectacies the other afternoon, as we stood and watched a group of small boys spinning tops. "They don't seem to do it with the old spirit, the old-er-pep."

he said, pleased with he familiarity with the latter word. "Why, now, when I was a boy, we spun-er span-er-spinned tops like a house afire. These little fellows seem to be afraid of denting the adewalk."

"When I spun-er-spinned tops, now," I replied, "I whipped 'em for a block. 'Whipping' tops was regarded a greater feat than knocking them out of

MATBE IM GOING

Grandmaw -

TO LAY AN EGG.

Right in the heart of our big city exists a modest backyard that contains quite a number of hens.

There is a white-haired grandmother who is guardian angel to said hens, and there is a little boy with wide, wondering eyes, who sometimes acts as guardian angel for "grandmaw," as he calls her.

One day recently grandmaw came in from the backyard, bustling with excitement. "The hen's combs are so red, I think they are going to lay some eggs," she said, while little Willie listened intently. Several days after that, William came in from the backyard, where he had been playing, his cheeks aglow from exercise. He sat on the edge of a chair to get his breath and it was there his grandmother noticed him. "Why, Williel, she excitined" ... Must makes long cusers so seat. Willie, from his perch on the chair, solemnly raplied: Maybe I'm going to lay an egg."

Red-blooded men of courage are on the firing line-and there are many anemic, weak, discouraged men and women left at home.

At this time of the year most people suffer from a condition often called Spring Fever. They feel tired, worn gut, before the day is half thru. They may have frequent headaches and sometimes "pimply" or pale skin.

Bloodless people, thin, anemic people, those with pale cheeks and lips, who have a poor appetite and feel that tired, worn or feverish condition in the springtime of the year, should try the refreshing tonic powers of a good alscrative and blood purifier. Such a one is extracted from Blood root, Golden Seal and Stone root, Queen's root and Oregon Grape root, made up with chemically puro glycerine and without the use of alcohol. This can be obtained in ready-to-use tablet form in sixty-cent vials, as druggists have sold it for fifty years as Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is a standard remedy that can be obtained in tablet or liquid form.

A good purge should be taken once week even by persons who have a movement daily, in order to eliminate matter which may remain and cause a sondition of auto-intoxication, poisoning the whole system. To clean the system at least once a week is to practice health measures. There is nothing so good for this purpose as tiny pills made up of the May-apple, leaves of aloe and jalap, and sold by almost all druggists in this country as Doctor Plerco's Pleasant Pellets, sugar-coated, sety to take.

Marcel Gets His Barn Mended

Red Cross Helps This 15 Year Old French Boy-and His. Family.

Marcel is a man. He is just fifteen years old, but yet he is a man. I say he is a man because in the last four years' time has burned into his child heart marks that should wait for sterner muturity. He is a man because he has the responsibility of a woman. He has no father. The Germans saw to that. Murcel has had to stand by and see his small brothers and baby sister ask in vain for food while he fought off the pressing call from his growing boy's stomach. He has had to see tears from his mother's eyes drop on the plowed ground as she worked the soll bis father would have tilled had he not gone away out of the peacefulness of the Marne valley into the iron hall of the Aisne and on into the hereafter.

The boy, who was now a man, worked hard, yes, too hard. With his hair less hands and his boy's strength he fought almost alone the unequal fight against want with what little help his frail mother could give, &

THE EMBLEM OF HUMAN MERCY

By SAMUEL GOMPERS

The Red Cross is an emblem typifying human mercy and sympathy. Its mission to relieve physical pain and minister to mind and body has given it a place deep in the hearts of all our people. For those whose dear ones are in places of great danger it is a comfort to know that the American Red Cross is performing more effective service on a larger scale than ever before.

In addition to serving our enlisted forces, it is assisting in the work of civil relief among our allies whose soil is being devastated by the fighting.

Thus the Red Cross is helping to interpret the constructive spirit of our Republic which holds sacred human life and the ideals it seeks.

As time goes on the scope of the work of the Red Cross in Europe will increase in order that the organization may meet the demands that will be made upon it. It must receive the full and hearty support of the American people. It is only through such an agency that we can be assured relief and necessary ministration to our young men forming our military force.

It is my sincere desire that adequate funds will be secured for the work of the Red Cross.

Serving in a World at War

We are doing our utmost to serve the public as satisfactorily today as as we did before the war upset the commercial world.

In the face of greatly increased costs of material we are endeavoring to maintain our plant at the highest point of efficiency.

Despite the high cost of labor, we are maintaining full crews that there may be no part of the work slighted or neglected.

While the demands of the signal service of our armies have deprived us of many technically trained men, those who remain have spread out to fill the gaps by extra effort.

In some places congestion has occurred because we have been unable to secure equipment for relief, but in such cases the traffic is being handled tothe full extent of human ability.

With the world rocking under the weight of war; with economic conditions unsettled and abnormal, we are striving always to coordinate our efforts to the great problems involved in the winning of the war,

We feel that uninterrupted, efficient telephone service is playing a conspicuous part in the forces that will bring ultimate victory.

Many thousands of women suffering from womanly trouble, have been benefited by the use of Cardul, the woman's tonic, according to letters we receive, similar to this one from Mrs. Z.V. For About Twe Cents a Desen Eggs Can Be Preserved in Water Glass Eigh to Twelve Menths.

EGGS PRESERVED FOR WINTER USE

Either Water-Glass or Limewater May Be Used by Any Housewife.

TWU PLANS ARE DESCRIBED

Use Only Firm-Shelled, Fresh, Clean, and if Pessible, infertile Eggs-Cost is Estimated at Two Cents Per Dazen.

While high prices for eggs last emiter are still fresh in your mind it Is well to make a resolve to preserve eggs this spring when they are pienti ful for the season of scarcity which tomes to the fall and winter. Putting up eggs in a water-glass solution or limewater is not an experimental en terprise. Thousands of momen preserve eggs by these methods in the spring and early summer and keep them for winter use. Fresh eggs properly preserved will keep for eight to twelve months in excellent condition and may be used with good re-if satisfactory results are to be obisined the eggs should be fresh and rican, firm shelled and, if possible, in fortile Eggs laid during April May and early June have been found to keep better than those laid later in the season. Eggs that float when placed in the solution are not fresh and therefore, cannot be preserved. When nn egg is only slightly solled a cloth dampened with vinegar can be used to remove such stains. Under he cir cumstances should hadly soiled eggs be used for preserving. If put into the jar while dirty they will spott, and washing removes a protective conting which prevents spelling.

Cost of Preserving.

By the water-glass or sedium cili tate method oggs may be preserved at a cost of about two cents a dozen if the price of sodium silicate is 80 cents a quart. It is not desirable to use the water glass solution a second time Here is the water-glass method as described by specialists of the United State department of agriculture

Use I quart of modium silicate to 9 quarts of water that has been boiled and cooled. Place the mixture in a B gallon crock or jar. This will be sufficient to preserve 15 dozen eggs and will serve as a guide for the quantity needed to preserve larger num bern of eggn Relect a five-gallon crock and clean if thoroughly, after which it should be scalded and allowed to dry. Heat a quantity of water to the boiling point and allow it to cool. When cool measure out 9 quarts of water, place it in the crock and add I quart of sodium silicate, stirring the mixture thoroughly. The eggs should be placed in the solution. If sufficient eggs are not obtainable when the solution is first made, additional eggs may be added from time to time. Be very careful to allow at least two inches of the colution to cover the eggs at all Imes. Place the crock containing the preserved eggs in a cool, dry place. well covered to prevent evaporation. Waxed paper covered over and tied around the top of the crock will apewer this purpose.

Limewater May Be Used. When water-glass cannot be obtolord, limewater may be used in its Disselve 2 or & pounds of unslaked lime in 5 gallons of water that has previously been boiled and allowed to cool, and allow the mixfure to stand until the lime settles and the liquid is clear. or keg, and pour the clear limewater into the vessel until the eggs are covered. At least 2 inches of the solution should cover the top layer of egs. Bometimes a pound of sait is used with the lime, but experience has shown that in general the lime without the sait is more satisfactory.

Fresh, clean eggs, proporty proserved, can be used satisfactorily for all purposes in cooking and for the table. When eggs are preserved in water glass are to be boiled, a small hole should be made in the shell with a pin at the large end before placing them in the water.

Incubators should be well aired before they are used after disinfecting, especially when fermaldehyde or any disinfectant which produces a gas has been used.

Protect Chicks From Lies. Dust the hen with a good insect powder before moving her and the chickens to the broad coop. The hen should be dusted every two weeks or as often as necessary until the chickwas are weared. If lice become numerous on chickens or if they are droubled with "head lice" a very little grease such as lard or vaseline may be applied with the fingers on the head, neck, under the wings, and around the vent. Great care should be taken, however, not to get too much grease on the chickens as it will stop their growth and in some cases may prove fatal. Sodium fluorid, a white powder, is an excellent remedy for all lice of chickens, entomologists of the United States department of agriculture have discovered. Horace M. Emery Decorated by King of Great Britain for Distinguished War Service.

Memphis, Tenn.—Horace M. Emery, a Memphis boy, has been decorated by King George of England for distinguished war service. He was wounded in the battle of the Somme and was sent to a hospital in London, where he has just recovered. When restored to health young Emery was summoned to the king's palace. King George met American fashion, and said:

"I am glad to meet you as an American citizen who came to my country as a member of our Canadian troops." Then the king pinned the medal on Emery's coat.

U. STOEPT, OF AGRICULTURE

ASPARAGUS.

This crop is one of the most enduring and satisfactory vegetables. can be grown on almost any welldrained soll, but will do best on a deep sandy loam. There is little possibility of having the ground too rich, and liberal applications of partly rotted barnyard manure should be made before the plants are set. The seeds of asparagus may be sown during the spring in rows where the plants are to remain, and the seedlings thinned to stand 14 feet apart in rows.

It is usually more satisfactory to cauliflower, purchase two-year-old roots, as considerable time is saved in this way. As the asparagus bed is a permanent feature of the garden, it should be located accordingly. Before setting the plants the soil should be loosened very deeply, either by subsoil plowing or by deep spading. It is a good plan to remove the top soil and spade manure into the subsoil to a depth of 14 or 16 inches. The plants may be set in rows for horse cultivation or in beds. If in rows they should be set 14 inches apart, with the rows 81/2 feet apart. the proper distance to set the plants. In setting the plants the crowns should be covered 4 or 5 inches deep.

In the North the plants should receive a mulch of 4 or 5 inches of manure in winter." In the South the mulch is not necessary, but the plants should receive a cont of manure or au application of fertilizer, preferably in autumn.

No shoots should be removed during the first year the plants are set in the permanent bed, and the period of cut ting should be short during the second

LIMA BEANS.

Lima beans should not be planted until the ground is thoroughly warmed up, as they are a heat-loving crop and the seed will rot if planted when the ground is cold. Most gardeners preder the pole varieties, as they yield better than the bush varieties and are superior to the bush varieties in many other respects. One marked advantage of the pole beans is that they may be planted around the fence, utilizing the fence as a support for the vines. In this manner a crop of beans can be secured with the use of a minimum amount of spacing,

When planted in rows in the garden, pole lima beans are usually planted in hills 8 to 4 feet apart and supported on poles or a string and wire trellia.

The bush limas are usually drilled in rows some 8% feet apart for horse cultivation, or slightly closer for hand cultivation. The lima beans are a full season crop, that is, they occupy the ground for the entire growing senson, and a sufficient amount should be planted to provide for the needs of the family for the entire senson. Any surplus not used green may be allowed to dry-on the vines, picked and stored for winter use.

Lima beans constitute one of the most satisfactory crops for growing for winter's use, as the only care necessary to save them is to pick the ripe pods, dry them thoroughly and shell the beans. In the northern portion of the country where ilma beans do not thrive, pole beans of the Lazy Wife variety will give satisfaction.

RADISHES.

The radish is quite hardy and may be grown throughout the winter in the middle section of the United States. In many portions of the South it is possible to grow it in the open ground throughout the winter. For the home garden the seed should be sown in the open ground about the time of the last killing frost. The seed should be sown in drills at a convenient distance for cultivation, usually about 18 inches. To be of good quality, radishes must be grown quickly in rich soil, and be used as soon as of sufficient size. Successive plantings should be made every few days until the weather becomes warm. They will not withstand hot weather and are suited to early spring and late autumn planting.

There are autumn varieties of radishes which may be grown late in the season and stored for winter use the same as beets or turnips. A few of these will add variety to the winter supply of vegetables.

BRUSSELS SPROUTS.

Brussels aprouts are closely related to cabbage and cauliflower, and may be grown in very much the same manner. The seed may be started in the window box or in the hothed and transplanted to the garden when the ground is in condition to work,

Instead of a single head, Brussels bench if there is light enough to prosprouts produce a large number of small heads, these heads being formed in the axils of the leaves, if the beads become too crowded, the leaves are being formed. Brussels sprouts are more hardy than cabbage and in many sections may be planted in the fall. They should be set in rows 30 to 36 inches apart if for horse cultivation. The plants should be set from 20 to 24 inches apart in the rows.

Brussels sprouts may be stored for winter use in much the same way as cabbage. The best method is to take up the plants, pack them closely together in a trench, covering them with straw or other litter to protect them from freezing and thawing.

KOHL-RABI.

The edible portion of the kohl-rabi is the thickened stem. It is closely related to cabbage and cauliflower. It should be started in the hotbed or window box and set in the open ground about the time of the last frost. The method of planting and the cultivation is similar to that practiced for cabbage. It can be planted in the open at the same time. Early solvings are made, and if thinned to 4 to 6 inches apart the plants will soon grow to edible size under favorable weather conditions. This plant should receive much more consideration than usually is given it. It is really a poor man's

COLLARDS,

The culture and uses of collards are the same as for cabbage. The plants should be started in very early spring and set out as soon as the ground is in condition. They withstand the heat better than cabbage and are much used in the southern portion of the country. Collards do not form a true head, but instead a loose rosette of leaves, which, when blanched, are very tender and of delicate flavor.

No southern garden is complete without this plant. Too often, however, it has constituted the sum total in the shape of garden supplies. Use it, but don't abuse it.

PARSLEY.

The seeds of parsley should be soaked for a few hours before planting to insure germination. They are slow in germinating and should be handled very carefully. After one or two transplantings they should be set in the open ground in rows 12 to 18 inches apart and 8 to 4 inches apart in the rows as early as the soil can be put in condition. A small area devoted to this crop will be sufficient for the average family.

-It is used as a garnishing and for flavoring soups. Keep a little of it growing at all times. It gives a pleasing touch to many dainty dishes.

PEPPER&

Plant the seeds of peppers in the hothed about six weeks to two months before time to set them in the open ground. They should be transplanted at least once and should not be set in the open until the ground is thoroughly warm. When grown in the garden the large bull-nosed types should be placed in rows 3 feet apart with tho plants from 16 to 17 inches apart in rows. Frequent shallow cultivation should be given, and the plants will continue to bear until frost kills them.

IN YOUR HOME GARDEN

"Dig deep, manure well, work often.". Thus Pliny the Elder. nearly 2,000 years ago, summed up gardening. His advice is Enthusiasm must be backed by solid purpose-enough of It to surmount obstacles and survive disappointments. The best insurance against accidents in gardening is knowing how to garden.

PROFITABLE USE OF MANURE

Garden and Orchard Will Take Good Care of All Fertilizer Produced on Farm.

Save and apply all of the barnyard manure that is produced on your farm. The garden and the orchard are like prospective candidates—they are "In a receptive mood." It is difficult to get garden land too rich. In case there seems to be more nitrogen from heavy applications of manure than the other constituents, apply acid phosphate and hardwood ashes to balance the fertility constituents.

Find Amount of Seed Needed. Aim to make every seed count. Remember the supply of some of the more important varieties of garden seed is limited, and in order that all may obtain enough to meet their needs. everyone should co-operate to make what is used produce a maximum crop.

Broadcasting Manure.

Manure for brondensting on top of the plowed ground should be well rotted and fine. After spreading mix it well with the harrow before drilling

Grown in Greenhouse. Swiss chard is sometimes grown in the greenhouse to advantage. Beets may be started under the greenhouse vent their becoming spindling.

Place for Permanent Crops. Berry bushes, rhubarb, asparagus should be broken off so as to give the and such garden stuff that is permaheads more room. However, a few nently established should be grouped leaves should always be left in the on one side of the garden and extend top of the stem where the new heads in rows the full length of the garden
