OLDEST AND LEADING NEWSPAPER IN CIRCULATION IN THE COUNTY OF LINCOLN, NEW MEXICO

VOLUME 20

New Mexico as an Oil Field

Efforts to find oil in New Mexico go back to 1890, when the first test in the state was made near the town of Farmington, in the San Juan Basin, northwest part of the state, and a small amount of gas was found. In 1907 another well was drilled to 2700 feet in the same vicinity, and developed a "little oil," but not sufficient to be of commercial importance. The well developed a flow of salt water.

During the past few years renewed efforts have been made in practically every section of the state, and test wells are being made now from Aktec to Union county, and south to Eddy county, there being 26 wells reported under way at the present time.

This renewed activity is due to a combination of circumstances. The development of the fields of West Texas aroused interest in the neighboring state, and wildcatting extends in Texas as far as the New Mexico line on the west. The high price of crude during the past three years is also a factor in stimulating efforts for production, not only in New Mexico, but throughout the country.

Several of the major companies have recently taken large blocks of acreage in the state, especially along the Texas side, and tests are being made all the way from Clayton to Carlsbad. Many of these tests are by stock companies or individuals, but some of them are financed by major operating companies in other states. The joint test of the Ohio Cities Gas company, southwest of Santa Rosa in Guadalupe county, is both one of the most interesting tests of the state. These companies have leases covering a big area in this part of New Mexico. In Union county, north of Guadalupe, a gas sand was recently found at about 1600 feet, and drilling is being continued. The Empire Gas & Fuel company, Corder Oil & Gas company, Sinclair interests, the Texas States, Gypsy, the Ohio Cities Gas company, and other nationally known producing companies have protections in various counties along the eastern edge of the state, and scores of smaller companies are buying acreage, organizing drilling companies, or speculating in leases.

New Mexico has been geologically possibly the state in the union has had a more detailed study by the rock geologists than New Mexico. A geologist returning from there during the past summer said that he met more real geologists in New Mexico than he had ever seen in one territory at the same time. The surface conditions are being studied in every part of the state, and by men whose clients are among the best known producing organizations in the southwest.

And from the standpoint of geology, New Mexico has good prospects for oil production. The Permian and Pennsylvanian sands both under the eastern part of the state, and at depths which make them profitable. It is believed that the Permian was deposited in the western part of the state, and the Pennsylvanian as slightly more than 200 feet, being partly covered by the Permian. It is believed that the Permian was deposited in the western part of the state, and the Pennsylvanian as slightly more than 200 feet, being partly covered by the Permian.

Oil development is passing through the first stage in New Mexico. The geologists are...

busy gaining control of lands, capitalists are being interested to provide money for test drilling. The geologists are already instructed to select locations for wells.

The Red Cross Campaign

AS THE ZERO HOUR APPROACHES Glencoe reports that they are ready and will go over with their quota.

Fort Stanton has asked for additional official enrollment blanks and additional Red Cross Buttons. They had already been sent a large supply of both. There is no question but that Fort Stanton's will be "among those present."

Mr. E. L. Moulton of Corona found it necessary to be away from home during the greater part of the time the Drive would be on. J. C. Hester, Asst. Cashier of the Stockmens State Bank has assumed the office of Chairman for Corona. He has written for instructions and states that he will do all he can.

The following Red Cross Films have been reserved for Carrizozo and will be run at the local theatre Nov. 4th or 5th. "The Greatest Gift," and "Rebuilding Broken Lives." They will be available for four days from the date received here.

The following four minute speakers for the local theatre will hold themselves in readiness to respond at the call of the County Chairman, Dr. E. E. Cole. Mrs. T. A. Spencer, Jno. A. Haley, Henry Lutz, Jr., Mrs. J. B. French, Ed. Kenalk Jones. Other names may be added to this list later. Speakers are available for local precincts if they are wanted.

Each and every individual in Lincoln County is requested to ask themselves the question "Am I preparing to do all I can to make the Drive a success?" If you are not then get in to the "band wagon." Funds collected are for the National Committee and for Lincoln County, four-fifths for Lincoln County. We want your dollars and we want your help. Be a "pusher" not a "sifter."

W. M. BUCKLEY, Roll Call Chairman

FOR THE ATTENTION OF LOCAL CHAIRMEN AND WORKERS IN THE RED CROSS DRIVE

It has been decided upon that any person donating at least $1.00 to the Red Cross Drive will be enrolled as a member of the Red Cross. Out of every donation of $1.00 or more, $1.00 will be set aside as a membership fee in the Red Cross. We get so keenly 50 cents of this, the balance goes to the National Organization. Keep this in mind in figuring your quota and try and get your quota without considering the $1 for membership at all. What you have in this fund will help make up for donations you hoped for and did not get, or donations that others hoped for and did not get.

The $1 subscription to the Red Cross Magazine is separate and apart from the Drive for Funds. Plus all goes to the Red Cross Magazine which sells for $1.50 a year, $1.00 during the Drive. It is necessary to have an official organization of any society, the Red Cross Magazine membership is according Red Cross information and sentiment. Get all the subscriptions you can but do not count them in your quota.

Hear the Great Soldier Story at the Methodist Church

COL. DAN MORGAN SMITH

COL. DAN MORGAN SMITH, commander of 388th Inf., known as the Central Postal Directory Battalion, will make a number of addresses in New Mexico. He will speak at Carrizozo in the Methodist church on Friday, Nov. 7th, at 7:30 p.m.

Col. Smith started in the drive of Saint Mihiel with more than 1100 men. He came out with a few over 300. But his men were not given in vain, for the command won its sobriquet, the "Battalion of Death," because of the effectiveness of its assault on the Hun lines.

The speaker will tell his audience of the war as he and his men saw it. He will recall incidents of the trenches, the march, the attack and the result of the battle.

Col. Smith will tell his hearers how the soldiers stand on the question of prohibition. He will urge enforcement of the state and national dry laws; he will answer a lot of false statements put out by the wets. One of them will be that under prohibition churches will not be able to get sacramental wines.

World prohibition as the next step in temperance reform will be one of the principal subjects of his lecture. Col. Smith will have much to say about the program of the League for cooperating with temperance organizations in all lands, to the end that all lands may be made dry. The lecture will be free, and all are invited to attend. His story is a thrilling one, and Col. Smith is a brilliant speaker. Be sure to hear him.

EX-SERVICE MEN'S COLUMN

Answers to Questions

1.—I registered at Duncan, Oklahoma June 9, 1917. Filled out my questionnaire here, took my physical examination at Duncan, proceeded there and was inducted into service May 27, 1916. After being discharged on Dec. 19, 1919, I returned to Raton, resumed my former occupation with the Santa Fe. Was allowed mileage at the rate of 2 1/2 cent a mile to Duncan, and later granted 1 1/2 per mile; difference to that point. Am I allowed the 5 cent mileage to my actual home, which is Raton? Was stationed the entire time at Camp Bowie, Texas.—C. L. L. Raton, N. M.

Answer.—You are entitled to travel pay at 5 cent per mile to your actual bona fide residence, and your mileage should be 5 cent per mile from place of discharge to Raton. Go to Mrs. Emma T. Kege, Red Cross Home Service Secretary in your town and ask her to assist you in filling out claim for additional travel pay for the difference between the amount actually received for fare to Duncan and what actual fare would have been from place of discharge to Raton, accompanied by additional affidavit setting facts to what point your fare was paid and the circumstances which show you should have been paid to Raton.

2.—I established a homestead, or rather took up squatter's rights on 640 acres of undesignated land in Taos County on May 2nd. Retained my owners, and built a house on same. On being called into service, I intended the Land Office. I was inducted May 27, 1916. How much time will this give me on my homestead, and how long will I have to live on it to hold it. How long after that can I...

C. L. L. Raton, N. M.

Answer.—You will be allowed as a credit on the time you must live on your homestead, the time which you spent in the service, that is from May 27, 1916 to date of discharge, Dec. 19, 1918. The time regularly required to prove up is three years; in your case, it will be three years less the time spent in the service. Any rights you acquired as a squatter will not be lost, because of any omissions of residence, because you were in the service. As to the time which you will be required to get back to your homestead, the safest thing for you to do is to write to the Land Office at once, stating the circumstances in full, and they will advise you of just when, under the given circumstances, you will be required to move on to the land. They will also advise you as to the necessary steps to be taken in filing your application for the land which you hold under the squatter's rights. After filing, your rights will relate back to the date of your original settlement.

3.—I am an ex-soldier, served twenty-five months in the service, eighteen of which was overseas. At point of demobilization I was held up two weeks by the Board of Examiners because of disability due to exposure while in service overseas. Was then mustered out, after I had vouched to the Board that I was O. K. I knew I was not well, and feel that they knew it, but I was lonesome for home and mother, and am now wondering if I lost my chance to obtain benefits that have been offered to disabled ex-soldiers in the way of compensation and Government education.—An Ex-Rainbow Doughboy, Casper, Wyo.

Answer.—The medical showing on a discharge certificate is just necessary that the...

Bureau of War Risk Insurance, which takes care of compensation upon application to their Public Health Service Representative, I presume you have such representative in your town. The thing to do is to go to Mr. George B. Nelson, Red Cross Chapter, Secretary, state your case and ask him to fill out a form 526, application for compensation and to make arrangements for the Public Health Service examination. He will also give you information about the Government training for disabled soldiers.

4.—I am very anxious to locate a friend who I believe enlisted in the army. I do not know from which state he enlisted. Will it be possible to get any information from the War Department?—I. Z. Fort Collins, Colo.

Answer.—Write to the Adjutant General of the Army, Washington, D. C., giving the man's full name, add as many facts as possible about him. It may be possible to locate his record among the War Department files. Hundreds of men bear the same name, however, and your inquiry may be unsuccessful.

5.—I am a Canadian soldier who served overseas for thirteen months. I have heard that the Government is giving a gratuity to all men who served overseas. Can you tell me how I can get this, as I could use a little extra money very nicely.—H. F., Denver.

Answer.—The War Service Gratuity provided by the Canadian Government, consists of a bonus of $100.00 a month or less, for a period of six months after the man is discharged, depending on the amount of his pay and allowances during the time he was in active service, and the kind of service he performed. For instance, in view of the fact that you served overseas for thirteen months, you would receive more pay than a man who served in Canada during the whole period of the war. The necessary forms to be filled out in support of each claim, may be obtained from the military headquarters of each district; from district and unit paymasters and from officers commanding militia units. You may also properly take up this matter with the Repatriation Committee, 75 Rideau, Ottawa, Canada.

6.—Can you help me? I am a poor widow and my son made an allotment of $15.00 a month to me in December, 1917, and it came until June 30, 1918, and then stopped. The $15.00 has been taken from my boy's pay every month until his discharge last July. How can we get this money?—B. T., Denver.

Answer.—Have your son write to the "Director of Finance, Enlisted Men's Claims Section, Munition Building, Washington, D. C.," giving fully, his service record and the facts of the case.

7.—Can you tell me whether or not the Bill providing extra pay for Aviation Cadets was ever passed? If so, how will I get the money due me. G. N., Denver.

Answer.—The Bill has been passed providing that Aviation Cadets who formerly got $30.00 per month, should be paid $100.00, also 50 per cent extra for regular flying duty. Write to the "Director of Finance, Room 3302, Munition Building, Washington, D. C.," giving full information as to your service and request blanks upon which to apply for the extra pay.

CARRIZOZO SCHOOL NOTES

SURF. R. F. COBB

Miss Marjorie Braunum, a special student, is taking typewriting in the Commercial department.

At the literary society of the High School, last Friday, Miss Florence Spence, assisted by Miss Hilary Cooper, gave us a very delightful piano duet. The young ladies were compelled to respond to a very enthusiastic encore.

A large number of students have joined the club taking Current Events. This is a very fine little weekly paper containing the events of the day boiled down into small mass. We do not see how we could do without Current Events.

The Freshmen are to entertain the Eighth Grade some time this week. How much better is such an event than the old class scraps and fights of the past?

The Basketball supplies are here and we shall soon be ready to actively begin work in this department. Tularosa High School wants a game with us and we shall soon be ready for them.

The supplies for the lower grades are here and both teachers and pupils are anxious to begin work with that kind of material which makes their activities correspond with manual training in the grades.

Some of the supplies for the department of Physics have come and the class has already begun laboratory work. The new table for laboratory work in Physics has been made by the Maquat Training department and looks like a fine piece of parlor furniture in oak.

The subscriptions for the Red Cross, the Junior Red Cross, are coming in rapidly. Some of the grades have already come over the 100 per cent mark. This, too, has come voluntarily. The superintendent has urged the teachers to be very careful that the solicitation be in the form of an invitation; not in any way in the form of compulsion.

The wisdom of the Junior-Senior form of High School is seen in the splendid attitude of the present Eighth Grade. It is seated with the four upper grades of the school and has all their privileges. The present Eighth Grade has six boys and seven girls and all are making good, not only in their studies but also socially. We should like to see the Seventh Grade included in the Junior-Senior High School.

There is one distressing circumstance in connection with the school. The Manual Training department occupies about two-fifths of the room when it should have the whole room. The Home Economics department uses about two-fifths of the same room when it should have the whole room for the stoves, the tables and many other things which go with this department. Besides this, another part of the room is used for class recitations part of the day. The laboratory for Chemistry and Physics should be a large room by itself, instead of crowded into recitation room. The same can be said of the Commercial department. Even the little office is used as a recitation room four periods of the day. All this prevents the very best work in these departments.

Did it ever occur to you, Mr. Businessman, that you are not in business for the purpose of conducting a happy home enterprise, so see to it that your employees get the wages you pay them, and your customers pay for what they get.

Furs Almost Beyond Reach

Of course we are appalled at the tremendous cost of even the smallest pieces of fur, but when the manufacturers tell us that the cost of making is equal practically to the cost of the skins we must bow to the inevitable and pay if we can. Because of the peculiar conditions which exist in the fur world, we may look for a great volume in the plush, velvet, astrachan and other materials which may be called "near" fur, as they give the same degree of warmth without costing anything like so much. Even pony skins are likely to return, it is hinted, and the so-called caracul also, writes Martha Good Anderson in the New Sun.

It will be recognized at a glance that many of the new garments are really triumphs of the furmaker's art for the soft and exquisite grace of many of the minkskin wraps would alone prove this assertion if those of no other pelts were considered. Because of the small size of the soft and velvety mink the makers of wraps of this rodent have achieved a beautiful result by blocking the skins in squares, which presents a handsomely shaded surface. This effect is attained by the use of hot irons which mark the skins in squares or rows, running now and then along the borders of the long dolmans and capes. One of the handiwork of the minkskin wraps is made up in a dolman effect by outlining a yoke across the back. From underneath this yoke the back of the wrap falls in rather flaring lines quite to the edge of the skirt. An enormous collar of the shawl type folds over the yoke in the back and extends quite to the waistline in front, where it fastens with a huge fur button. There are no sleeves, but long softer texture and a deeper color, nothing makes a more exquisite wrap. There seems to be a determined effort to produce a demand for monkey fur. It goes well as a trimming for other garments, as I have recently observed it used fringed on a voluminous and gorgeous evening cape of black satin, faced inside with orchid satin veiled in the same colored chiffon. It is said that monkey skins have almost vanished from the market, and that mink will probably disappear also, so great has been the demand for both of these.

Sparta Coats in Fur.
Last year muskrat came to be so much in demand as a winter sports coat that the price was pushed almost as high as seal. The muskrat coats are again in high favor for general utility wear, such as motoring, traveling, skating and such allied uses. The skins are blocked and matched with great perfection and made up into whole garments as neatly tailored as a fur coat can be. These are particularly esteemed by younger women, as are the short jackets of gray squirrel. The latter are very smart indeed when made up into the hip length styles and untrimmed by any other fur. Children's coats are especially in demand in this fur and some are also made up in the brown squirrel. As to the smaller wraps, the little coats which were brought out last season are again to be much used, for the fashion makers are kind enough to permit the use of a last year's model this year, thus doing away with the necessity of paying enormous prices for the making over. The Eton jacket is the newest in the coatline models. The cape coats are of the same belted models used last year, fitted in at the back and

WASHINGTON CITY SIGHTS

Inventor Lifts Terrors of the Fog From Harbors

WASHINGTON—Ocean fog has been feared by the navy, so that it will no longer be necessary for battleships and liners to lie outside harbors waiting a chance to creep in when the weather lightens. In a contract signed with Earl O. Hanson, a young inventor of Los Angeles, the navy department took the first step to make practical a new device to control vessels in a fog outside harbors.

Tests will be made at once at the naval base at New London and later in Ambrose channel in New York harbor. By the use of the invention in connection with the radio compass, which the navy has now perfected, delay in ocean travel due to weather is to be eliminated. The radio compass brings all shipping "in sight of land" and the new device, like a friendly hand, reaches out and takes the biggest of ships through the most tortuous channels safely and quickly to its pier.

The new device is a simple one. A cable is laid in the center of the ship channel. Through it is sent an electric current of low frequency, which through the listening devices on board ship gives off a sound of certain pitch that cannot be mistaken for any other sound.

The ship hugs the cable from harbor line to the dock. On the bridge and in the captain's cabin listening devices like telephone receivers are placed and attached by wires to the hull of the ship. The ship follows the course of the cable.

Boys' Working Reserve Proves a Great Success

Few things that came out of the war have been of greater significance than the benefits derived from the United States Boys' Working Reserve, though they are still too close to the movement to appreciate its results. Back in the early summer of 1917 President Wilson wrote: "I call upon the able-bodied boys of the land to turn in hordes to the farms and make certain that no pains and no labor are lacking in this great nation."

The result was that "our second line of defense," as Mr. Hoover first called it, the Boys' Working Reserve, was formed. There was a spontaneous response in every state, many schools and other organizations undertaking the work of placing thousands of boys who went out to help the farmers with their work. In 1918 this army of boys from sixteen to twenty-one years old was more than 250,000 in the United States.

Of these 250,000 no less than 21,000 were from the high schools of Illinois. So a glance at the Illinois report will give an idea of the results in the whole country.

The Illinois boys produced crops worth $23,000,000 and earned for themselves $1,500,000. Less than 1 per cent of the boys have proved unworthy of the opportunity given them. About the same proportion of farmers proved unworthy of having a good boy sent them.

The boys made the farmers open their eyes, and in a few weeks the skeptical farmer was saying: "Send me more boys; the boys are certainly making good." It wasn't long until there were boys scattered here and there by the thousands. This meant much to the farmers, for there was an average of one worker from every farm in service, and the boys took their places.

Teachers bear witness that the effect upon the boys was exceedingly beneficial in all ways.

"Buck Privates" Would Have "Dugouts" Everywhere

IN THE long night watches on the firing line or in hospitals or rest billets, our fighting men found that tempo failed to fugit with its customary alacrity. They yearned for amusement. To be sure, there were various patriotic organizations catering to the social instinct, but somehow they did not satisfy. So one day there sprang into being the Buck Private society, its success was instantaneous.

Originally organized in the Sixth United States field artillery of the First division, which artillery regiment, by the way, fired the first American shot in the war, the Buck Privates' society soon numbered thousands of members in every branch of the service. There was no formality of initiation. The only qualification was that you had to be an overseas buck private.

In order that the society may become a permanent institution the charter members, now discharged, are beginning a campaign for organization. The original overseas organizer, Private Paul F. Collins, Battery D, Sixth field artillery, lives in Los Angeles. He is president and chief buck private.

But one of his comrades, First Sergeant Edward M. McGuire, opened headquarters the other day in Chicago as national field representative.

"The Buck Privates' society in no way conflicts with the American Legion," Sergeant McGuire said. "In fact, I might say one of its aims is that of co-operation with the legion. There is no question that it will be the means of strengthening that body. We hope to establish a dugout in Chicago with a membership of at least 50,000 men."

As its platform the society has adopted these planks: Broader educational work; cleaner politics; compulsory schooling for all boys under sixteen in order to make bigger and better Americans; and active study of conditions in industry, commerce and labor.

Women as Special Agents Under Food Control Act

OFFICIAL consideration is to be given the appointment of women as special agents for the department of justice in the enforcement of the food control act. It has been said informally that a recommendation will be made to name women among the agents necessary to enforcement of this new legislation. This recommendation will be placed before Frank Burke, chief of the bureau of investigations of the department of justice.

The department of justice has employed women agents previously. A number of them did spy work in this country during the war. They were stationed in many of the larger cities of the country—New York, Boston, Chicago, Baltimore and others.

"I think women would be most valuable as agents in the enforcement of this law," said one of the officials of the department of justice. "Women have been the purchasers of these commodities for years and they ought to make good detectors of products."

Housewives who have long cherished the desire to get legal action against the retailer who has taken too much for little Johnny's shoes or the family bookshop may yet have the gratification of pouring their woes into the ear of a feminine department of justice agent.

It will be interesting to watch the effect on clothing and food prices should women agents be named.

As the food administration acts during the war educated the women of the country, this new bill may give them additional insight into the matter of buying and selling in quantities.

TRAVELING COAT OF ENGLISH BRIDGE, BEISUE-FUR COLLAR. MOST ATTRACTIVE FOR FALL WEAR.

and deep slits at the sides for the arms. Inside the lining is of the handsome and most beautiful of flesh-pink brocaded satin, with ample pockets fitted at the sides. Of course such a sumptuous wrap is intended for only sumptuous wearing, so to speak. Its cost is close to $1,000, while a companion coat of mink as soft as a baby's skin is well over $2,000. There is a story going the rounds of a certain newly rich lady who showed her new string of pearls to a wealthy woman whose wealth had been with her long enough for her to be entirely accustomed to it. Said the newest rich lady: "My pearls cost $200,000. What did yours cost, Mrs. Brown?" The answer came like a flash and a revelation. "I should hate to have mine look as sorry as the face."

flaring and full in cape effect in front. They, too, have the high, rolling shawl collar seen on all the new fall models. The demand seems to be greatest for the darker furs such as skunk, seal, sable, dyed muskrat and dyed squirrel, but as I said above these are just as often seen in a combination with one of the domestic furs in natural colors.

In selecting the short jackets it must be remembered that nearly all are fitted with the high choker collar and whereas one sees the shawl and rolling collars on the longer coats, and dolmans and capes, the straight-around and high, tight collar seems to be preferred on the shorter coat. This of course permits the use of the extra stole if desired and is therefore advantageous.

Smaller Pieces Are Combined.
As to the demand for the smaller pieces, the one, two and three skins are made up in mink, sable, skunk and fox, though the latter is quite sufficient in one piece. The beauty of skunk cannot be denied. In one instance it is put together in a straight strip of the skin to make a stole at least a yard and a half long and half a yard wide. The skin, perfectly matched and blended, are marked by the hot iron where they are put together, and this sort of marking forms a good effect in the whole piece. The ends are finished with many tails woven on like tassels. As to mink, they are quiet and round and small, like the Kate Greenway models. The fashion of using mink disappeared somewhat last year when the fur dolman and cape and long stoles were introduced. It was found that the long sides of the cape served as cover for the hands and gave excellent warmth. However, mink was in its own right a

To return now to our skins—furs, I mean. It is astonishing the way fox holds on. First we have a season when the white coats are in such demand it seems impossible to meet it, then comes the wonderful season for the rich blend of yellow and brown, and then the less beautiful brown and silver skins. The rage for these beautiful pieces is just as insistent now as it was last fall, and again this spring. The long hair of the fox makes it particularly desirable to use the many shades in which it can be bought have much to do with the demand. Black fox, too, is in the favor which never seems to lose its popularity. It, too, has the long and very soft and silky hair of the fox. Mink, with its shorter hair, has always seemed to be particularly valued by elderly women, but when it is combined, as it is this year, with deep blue or black or some fur with a

The Effects of Opiates.

THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as insupportable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.

The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics.

THE MOST DANGEROUS OF ALL DISEASES

No organs of the human body are so important to health and long life as the kidneys. When they slow up and commence to lag in their duties, look out! Danger is in sight.
Find out what the trouble is—without delay. Whenever you feel nervous, weak, dizzy, suffer from sleeplessness, or have pain in the back, wake up at once. Your kidneys need help. There are signs to warn you that your kidneys are not performing their functions properly. They are only half doing their work and are allowing impurities to accumulate and be converted into uric acid and other poisons which are causing you distress and will destroy you unless they are driven from your system.

It Was Not Dread of Influenza That Led Spinster to Dwell on Kissing Episode.

Excellent Reason Why Old Gentleman Could Not Decipher the Letters on the Card.

The spinster waited two or three hours to be admitted to the presence of the man who visited their town once a month to retail good advice and his own proprietary medicine to the come-ons.

The old man was applying at the eye hospital for some spectacles and the doctor was making a test of his eyes. A card was fixed on the wall twenty feet away from where the old man was sitting, and the doctor asked him: "Can you read that, my man?"

At last she was admitted. "Yes, yes," said the brusque doctor. "I want to know if influenza can be transmitted by kissing?"

"No, sir," said the old man. "I can't." The doctor told him to go nearer. "Well, can you read it now?" Again the old man replied. "No, sir."

"Well a man with a pronounced case of influenza kissed me." "Set! How long ago was this?" "Well—let's see, I think it was about two months ago."

"The doctor angrily pulled him forward until his nose almost touched the placard. "Well, can you read it now?" "No, sir," said the old man sadly, shaking his head. "You see, sir, I never learnt to read."

Only Popularity Worth While. I wish popularity; but it is, that popularity which follows, not that which is run after—it is that popularity which sooner or later never fails to do justice to the pursuit of noble ends by noble means.—Lord Mansfield.

Lodge Vs. Lodge

Nobody could have been more scandalized by a proposal to amend or reject a treaty of peace than was Henry Cabot Lodge in 1899, says the New York World.

At that time Senator Lodge's Republican colleague from Massachusetts was opposed to the treaty of peace with Spain which President McKinley had negotiated, and many Democrats were against it because of the acquisition of the Philippines. There was the possibility that a minority of the Senate would prevent the ratification of the treaty, and Senator Lodge was appalled at the possibility that the treaty might be rejected.

"We must either ratify the treaty or reject it," he said. "Suppose we reject the treaty, what follow?" This was his answer:

Let us look at it practically. We continue the state of war, and every sensible man in the country, every business interest, desires the re-establishment of peace in law as well as in fact. At the same time we repudiate the President and his action before the whole world, and the repudiation of the President in such a matter as this is, to my mind, the humiliation of the United States in the eyes of civilized mankind and brands us as a people incapable of great affairs or of taking rank where we belong as one of the greatest of the great world powers.

This is what Henry Cabot Lodge thought on Jan. 24, 1899, about the kind of politics that Henry Cabot Lodge is playing with a treaty of peace in October, 1919.

To continue:

The President cannot be sent back across the Atlantic in the person of his Commissioners, but in hand, to say to Spain with bated breath, "I am here in obedience to the mandate of a minority of one-third of the Senate to tell you that we have been victorious, and that you have yielded us too much and that I am very sorry that I took the Philippines from you." I do not think any American President would do that, or that any American would wish him to.

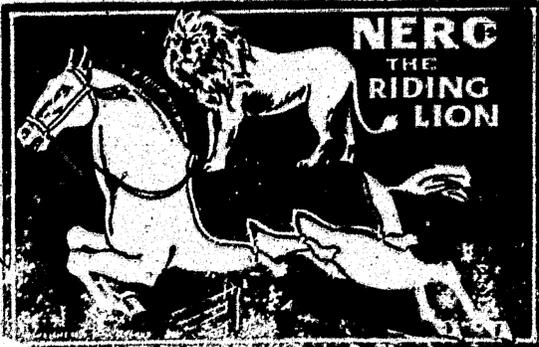

But that is exactly what Senator Lodge now demands of President Wilson. He insists that the treaty must be so amended that it will be sent back to the Peace Congress, which means that it must be sent back to Germany and that the President must be sent back across the Atlantic, hat in hand, to ask Germany if it will make peace in accordance with the mandate of a minority of one-third of the Senate.

Must Claim Exemption

Mining men and prospectors should not overlook the act of congress providing for the exemption of assessment work during the year 1919 on mining claims. The number of claims so exempted is limited to five and due notice of such exemption must be filed with the county clerk of the county in which such claims are located, before December 31.

Mastodonic Dancing Horse in Barnes Circus

Dancing Horses and highly educated animals of almost every description are featured in the A. G. Barnes wild animal circus, which comes to Carrizozo November 5. The Barnes paddock has been his pride ever since his advent into the circus world more than 35 years ago, and each season has seen his horses in some new performance. This year his offering of equine exhibits on one number on the 110 feature act program, is an act containing 40 dancing horses and 40 dancing girls; after taking their mounts through intricate and varied dancing steps, the girls dismount, the horses striking picturesque posing attitudes, while the girls trip fancy steps. A 40 piece marine band furnishes the music.

There will be a street parade in the morning at 10:30 and doors to the main tent will open at 1 and 7 p. m., allowing an hour before the performance.

Indian Lands Open

The secretary of the interior has announced that on November 1, Indian reservations in New Mexico and Arizona will be opened for prospecting for metaliferous mining. This new ruling is of great interest to prospectors, generally, and doubtless will stimulate prospecting on an extensive scale.

Our Mineral Wealth

New Mexico's future prosperity in large measure depends primarily on the further development of its mineral resources. For years the state has attracted outside capital because of its virgin mineral wealth.

New Mexico has mineral resources which if properly developed will mean double the present population and added prosperity in which all will share.

But to bring about this development, capital must be encouraged. A State Bureau of Mines should be created and the legislature should make liberal appropriations for its maintenance.

Such a bureau, if in existence at this time, could do much to stimulate preliminary operations now under way to develop oil in paying quantities in New Mexico.

IN WILD FRENZY TO GET SHOES

Italy's Need of Footwear Most Crying Demand of Postwar Days.

SEIZED REGARDLESS OF SIZE

Sales of Commandeered Profiteer Footwear Cause Excitement in Many Cities—Stores Ransacked by Mob for Food.

Florence, Italy.—If Dante Alighieri lived in Florence today he might be inspired to write another "Inferno," with shoes as the prime cause of evil.

The recent public demonstrations backed by the Camera del Lavoro, or "chambers of labor," whose stocks of goods of all descriptions in the hands of profiteers in many cities were commandeered and ordered sold at reduced prices, precipitated unusual commotions of trade, but the wildest scenes were in the shoe stores.

In Rome, Milan, Turin, Bologna and Naples the search for shoes continued many days. The struggles in each city were so great that few law-abiding persons tried to secure shoes.

LAUGH AND GROW FAT

There is no definite information as to how much Miss Hilda Fleck (the young lady in the above photo) laughs, but there is indisputable visual evidence of her stoutness.

shoes several hours before the scheduled time arrived. Impatience on the part of the crowds caused, in most cases, the summary seizure of goods and the resort to ransacking. Food stores were treated first in this way, but the lawlessness soon spread to clothing and shoe shops.

It seemed as if the mob had designated for them the stores to be looted. There was apparently the most systematic pillaging of those accused of war profiteering. Merchants known to have violated governmental regulations by selling prohibited articles during the war were treated in the same way.

Brave Death to Serve Armenians

American Nurses Ignore Perils of Massacre to Care for Sufferers.

CHILDREN ARE DYING DAILY

Starving Refugees Eat Grass and Alfalfa—American Commission for Relief is Doing Great Work in the Near East.

Constantinople, Turkey.—Two American nurses, Miss Margaret Mack of Hillsburn, N. Y., and Miss Ruth Stuart of New York city, working for the American commission for relief in the near East, declined to abandon the sick and wounded at Shusha, Armenia, after having themselves survived a massacre by Tartars of 700 of the Christian inhabitants of the town.

"Our doctor and nurses were in the midst of the fight, but were unharmed," says the letter. "On advice from General Beach I recalled the two nurses. They came reluctantly as there was an urgent need for them among the survivors. The spirit Miss Mack and Miss Stuart have shown has been splendid and I feel that they should be allowed to return if they want as volunteers. They signed papers to the effect that they knew the danger and that they were returning to their work at their own request."

Mending Magnetics With Thread. A humorous touch to an otherwise tragic situation is related by a relief worker at Ouzun Kishia, who writes: "The men working out from Ouzun Kishia are covering a large territory and obtaining large quantities. Their chief outdoor sport is dodging camel trains and keeping camels. One of the mending workmen from the mending place was with mending magnetics with thread on the other side of the river. It is a rule that after the mending is finished the men should come back to the mending place with their mending work. One day the mending workmen were mending with very fine magnetics in the vicinity, and giving a treat to the mending workmen. There is a man who is in

Made Wife Wield Pick; She Seeks Divorce

Providence, R. I.—The word "obey" in the marriage vows does not necessarily mean that a woman must juggle a pick and shovel to please her husband. Mary A. Satchell was awarded a counsel fee of $25 and $7 a week pending further hearing after telling Judge E. W. Bloodgett of the Superior court her husband made her wield these implements. The woman wants a divorce from Joseph A. Satchell, who rested his case after saying he had been married seven years, and that they seemed to him like seventy-seven years. The warring couple left the courthouse by separate exits.

of prices is now beginning to react. Storekeepers are refusing to run their businesses on the new basis, while there is evidently a general shortage throughout the various cities affected by the new economic changes. Many well-to-do families who have always been law-abiding have found themselves suddenly unable to buy food.

Some merchants have closed their shops and gone to summer resorts in the hope that when summer ends the eruption will have subsided and there will be a return to normal conditions.

EX-CORPORAL HAD NO SHOW

Not Exactly a Willing Father-in-Law, but He Couldn't Forget His Army Training.

The youthful ex-lieutenant felt ill at ease as he approached the young looking but the older ex-corporal. They had been in the same company. That was before the young officer knew the corporal had a beautiful daughter.

"Er—Mr. Jenkins," the young man addressed the other. "I—er—wish to—"

"Speak freely, sir, sir—er—Mr. Hadley," replied the older man.

"Well, the fact of the matter is I want to marry your daughter."

"Not by a darned sight. Why, you impudent young dog, if I had you outside I'd whale you good and proper. You stay off that stuff. Get me?"

Whereupon the angry Jenkins started for the young man, Hadley simply straightened up.

"Shun!" he snapped, as only one who has been in the army can say it. Involuntarily the other drew himself up a second quicker than greased lightning. Hadley went on.

"Now, Bernice and I love each other and—"

"Cut it out. By George—"

"It's K. P. for you if I hear any more talk like that."

"But—"

"No liberty for ten days, either."

"Say, whose house is this? You are not my—"

"Shun!"

Flight was too strong and Jenkins came up standing. Then he burst out:

"You get the—"

"Extra guard duty for that. If I have to speak again I'll be thirty days in the brig."

Bernice herself came into the room at that moment. She annexed herself to young Hadley, who promptly put his arm around her. Jenkins advanced as if to separate them when Hadley roared:

"As you were!"

"Look here—"

"Shun!"

The older man's eyes blazed for an instant. His mouth set in a fine line. Then he spoke quietly but firmly, as a man who has difficulty in keeping control of himself.

"Sir, the war is over, although you don't seem to know it. Take that girl away from here and marry her. As an ex-corporal, I can't seem to get your number, and you know it. But as your father-in-law, I can tell you where to get off at. Beat it!"—Cartoons Magazine.

Japanese Rockfaller

A formidable oil field described by William Dietrich in a recent issue of the Petroleum Age lies in the Higashiyama district on the Sea of Japan.

"Coolies dig a hole with a pick and shovel," says the writer, "and crib or brace the walls as they go down. Their wires pull up the dirt and the shale. Some of these hand-dug wells are exceedingly deep, and the natives pump air into them with an old-fashioned blower."

"The field covers about sixteen square miles, and in this are several producing wells. The largest of these produces about ten koku (or 430 gallons) a day. Other wells furnish not more than five gallons daily."

"It is a common practice for the head of a family to go to the oil wells with two of the familiar five-gallon oil-tins hanging from a yoke about his neck. He carries the tins, filled with crude oil, from five to seven miles to his little-home refinery, and the whole family then turn to and help him refine it. When that is finished, the children take the oil to residential districts nearby, and peddle it from house-to-house in one or two sets."

Britain's Debt to Gordon

Sir Reginald Wingate talked of the Sudan in war and peace, the other day, and asked a question. "It is realized that this country, which Gordon characterized as an 'utterly useless possession,' comprises a territory of considerably over a million square miles, a large portion desert and wilderness. It is true, but through which the great Nile flows, spreading its fertilizing waters over vast areas."

Three outstanding dates, 1862, 1868, and 1818, milestones of Sudanese history, and then peace. Gordon, Omdurman, the defeat of All Dinar of Darfur, and then the Sudanese chiefs congratulating the king of England on victory in his own capital. That is 1918. Nineteen hundred and fourteen saw the great Sudanese leaders in Khartoum vow loyalty to the cause for which Great Britain had taken up arms. And none of it would have been but for Gordon's sacrifice.

Ancient Idol dug Up

Kallipol, Mont.—An idol, pronounced officially by the Smithsonian Institution Washington, to be of Aztec origin and at least 10,000 years old, has been dug up in a mound near Kureka. The idol is of stone. It is evidently of a god and sits on its legs with its hands folded in its lap. The thing has a Chinese look, but photographs sent to Washington brought a reply that it is an Aztec idol. The sculpturing is of a high character. The question now is how did the Aztec idol get to Montesa.

Misses' Outlets With Cows

Wester, Mo.—John Whitman, a Drexler banker along the banks of the Meramec near Cynara river, near here, has a famous herd of some 30 cows, which heretofore have been wonderful milk producers. Recently he noticed a decrease in the amount of milk they gave. One hot afternoon Mr. Whitman found the cows wading in the river to keep cool. While in the river outbreak were striking the cows, thus reducing the amount of milk he received.

Wrecking a Good Man

"I see you have brought your dear old-fashioned father to the Catalina again this season, Miss Bick."

"Oh, yes, Miss Peck, we could hardly get along without papa, even if his manners are horrid."

"That I see a great improvement in his style of eating."

"In what way?"

"Why, now he invariably sees his fork."

"Yes, yes. You see, we bring the waiter to get soap on papa's knife."

ROAD BUILDING

BOND ISSUE IS BIG PROBLEM

Best Means to Pull Counties Out of Land of Mud—Make All Improvements Permanent.

The biggest single issue before the people today is good roads; biggest not alone of itself, but biggest because the prompt and satisfactory solution of a permanent road system in every state will help to solve a half-dozen fundamental problems and indirectly affect for good, as well as in dollars and cents, almost every phase of farm, social and industrial life in the state. We cannot expect to have a real system of roads unless it is based on large units and this is best accomplished by accepting the county and state basis with a few experienced and responsible men in charge in each case. We must have roads that begin and end somewhere.

Many counties are presenting to the taxpayers the question of a bond issue for the improvement of their highways. The bond issue for a public improvement should be governed by the same considerations which govern a bond issue by any business organization. When a manufacturing concern issues bonds, the money raised is placed in permanent improvements in the plant which will last far beyond the life of the bonds, or else no investor would purchase the securities. Bonds for municipal purposes or for public improvements are not always subjected to this acid test, and instances are numerous in this country where bonds for twenty years have been issued for the construction of public roads, where the type of roads built with the proceeds of the bond issue could not possibly last more than ten years, and even then expensive maintenance is continually necessary. In some instances history shows that during the life of such a bond issue the original road has been worn out and rebuilt with a different material, and with the proceeds of subsequent bond issues as many as three times, and still the original bonds are a liability on the community.

Bond issues for better roads are the best means to pull counties out of the Land of Mud. But it must be certain that the road improvements will last the life of the bonds. This can be assured by securing expert and unprejudiced engineering advice on the best kind of roads for the soil. The banker can perform yeoman service in this connection.

In the state of Iowa the man who began with nothing and now owns a $50,000 farm, believes in paying as he goes when building a road, but he will borrow money from an insurance company with which to buy more land, and he has not yet seen that when he builds a concrete bridge with one year's tax money, he has made a Christmas present of that bridge to posterity for the next one hundred years. He says that thirty-year paved roads are impossible because $10,000 per mile is too much to pay out of one year's tax money, and it has not occurred to him that there will still be taxpayers when he is dead and gone, who will be using that road, and by rights should have to pay some of it.—Wallace's Farmer.

COST OF VARIOUS HIGHWAYS

Masonry Road is Most Expensive, But When Built is Satisfactory and Permanent.

Dirt roads are ordinarily surfaced with sand, mixed with clay or with gravel, or brick, or crushed stone, concrete or other like material. The gravel road will cost from $1,000 to $2,000 a mile—the difference in cost depending upon the accessibility of gravel. The masonroad road costs from $5,000 to $10,000 per mile. It is the most expensive, but when well built is both satisfactory and permanent.

Essential Foundation

Permanent foundations, having sufficient bearing capacity, are essential to all types of engineering structures. Roads are no exception.

During the past few years rapid advancement has been made in lighting poultry houses in the winter months. Most poultrymen who use this system also turn on lights at six or six-thirty on the winter mornings.

Flavor and Quality of Honey Vary With Plants Upon Which Bee Feeds.

Honey, which is now a luxury, was in old times a necessity; for it was then the principal sweetener of food. Sugar was not introduced until the latter days of the Roman Empire, and was first oddly described as an Indian salt that was as sweet as honey.

The proper way to eat honey in the comb is to place a piece of the comb on one's plate, with the cells in a vertical position, and press one's knife firmly upon it, so that all the honey runs out. Eat the honey and leave the wax.

The bees do not care for blossoming flowers, as the poets imagine. They are practical, utilitarian creatures and prefer the period just before fructification. They dearly love clover, but most kinds of forest trees are very useful to them.

Carrizozo Coal

With the country on the eve of the biggest coal strike in history, and the winter season fast approaching, opportunity is knocking at the door of Lincoln county. There are many coal deposits in this county, some developed and some with the outer shale only stripped off, exposing the coal. There will be no danger of freezing, if the parties owning these coal deposits get busy. We will have enough coal to burn and to sell to those less fortunately situated. There is White Oaks, Capitan, and Ruidoso, with vast deposits of coal ready to be taken out, and several large deposits of bituminous coal within a few miles of Carrizozo. A number of miners are at present engaged taking out coal in the Willow Springs mine, about seven miles from town, and it is said to be of a superior quality, without the bone usually found in imported coal, which does not burn, but has to be paid for as coal.

Wedded

Ramon St. John, (recently discharged from the army, where he spent over two years, one on foreign service), and Miss Agnes Baca, of Lincoln, were married last Saturday at the Catholic church. Both parties grew up together in Lincoln, and come of good stock. The groom is a son of the late Marshal St. John, of Carrizozo, and the bride is a daughter of the late Boni Baca of Lincoln, who held office in this county for many years, and was considered the best Spanish-English scholar in the county. The bride has been engaged in school work in Lincoln county the past two years. The News wishes both young people long life and happiness.

Undergoes Operation

Mrs. Ira Greer underwent a major operation Wednesday night at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Johnson. Dr. W. L. Brown, accompanied by a nurse, came up from El Paso and performed the operation. The operation was of a most delicate and unusual nature and the utmost care and attention is accorded the patient.
